The Crigler reunion was held on the 1st inst. at Ed Riggs' near Hebron. It was a delightful day and will long be remembered. Those present were Dutton Crigler and his two sisters, Mrs. Martha Stevens and Mrs. Harriet McGlasson, the only three living children; Mrs. Adda Crigler, Robert Rouse and wife, Mrs. Sallie McAlpin and son, Mrs. Amanda Lodge, Mrs. Hattie Aylor, Mrs. Kate Gordon, Mrs. Rose Crigler, Henry McGlasson, Mrs. Permelia Crigler, Mr. and Mrs. Riggs are noted as entertainers, and were at their best on this occasion. A most appetising dinner was spread and enjoyed by all at the noon hour. Those participating in the pleasures pronounced it one of the pleasantest days they ever spent, and all hope to meet next year on a like occasion.

DEVON.

The little Miss Melman's will return to school Sept. 14th.

Jim Carey and Robt. Rouse attended the Alexandria fair Friday.

The young ladies who were guests of Mrs. J. Melman during the fair, left for their homes after a gay time visiting in Boone.

The Misses Parker, of Walnut Hills who have had a week's visit during the Florence fair with Miss Carey, have returned home.

IDLEWILD.

Sept. 3—The extreme warm weather of last week and rush of other business is the reason of our failure in items.

Farmer Jones and hetter half were calling on Will Kinney and sister, Sunday evening.

The Corcoran Bros., are the only ones that have hauled any tomatoes through Pushburg to the Petersburg cannery.

John Nelman and wife, of Home City, spent Saturday night and Sunday with brother-in-law L. C. Scothorn and wife.

R. C. Gaines, wife and daughter, attended the Florence fair Saturday and spent the night and Sunday with his brother, Lee, near Walton.

Fletcher Clore, Andrew Gaines and James Day have formed a trust in the hay business. Fletcher is president, Andrew secretary and Jim the brains of the combine, holds the honorable position of roust-a-bout.

Mr. Gray's ad in the RECORDER for his turkeys brought them upon short notice. Mr. Gray says his health is better and he sleeps more soundly at night and his wife is more loving since subscribing for the RECORDER.

James Day has been badly crippled up with inflammation of one of his knee joints, or inflammation of the oil of the knee cap, for a week or more, and was so he couldn't walk a step. We are glad to report him better and able to walk around a little.

Fletcher Clore met with a mishap Wednesday while unloading a load of hay in the city. He always gives the word when ready. They started up with a fork of hay before the word was given, knocking him off the wagon, bruising him up considerably.

We are under obligations to Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Farmer Jones for favors. They are each kind and thoughtful ladies. Mrs. Hall brought us some green beans, corn and a half peck of the largest potatoes we have seen this season. Mrs. Jones brought us some fried chicken, boiled cabbage and some nice cake. Albert Gray keeps us supplied with tomatoes and brings milk so we can have cream to whip which we are very fond of. Many thanks to all.

L. C. Scothorn went to Cincinnati, Wednesday, and got in company with Allie Corn, of Bullittsville. Mr. Corn has a bay horse that he thinks is a very fast stepper. Mr. Corn was in the lead on the road and driving leisurely, and as Mr. Scothorn was in a hurry he passed Mr. Corn, who didn't like to have it said any horse passed his, and he attempted to again take the lead, but Scothorn noticed him and said, "git," to his gray mare, Maud, and the race was then on, but the bay wasn't in it a little bit with the gray, which gradually gained as long as they raced. Mr. Corn would better not buck up against any of the fast steppers about Idlewild, or he will be left every time.

GUNPOWDER.

A good crop of tobacco is being harvested.

Carl Craven, of Constance, with his best girl passed through our burg last Sunday afternoon.

J. H. Tanner and family broke bread with P. J. Allen and wife in Ft. Pleasant neighborhood, Sunday.

Jack frost made his appearance Wednesday morning, of last week, but it was in a mild form and did no damage.

The many friends of Mrs. Nancy L. Rouse will be grieved to learn of her death, which occurred at her home near Florence, last Sunday.

We are under obligations to E. H. Snyder for a basket of muskmelons, which he presented to us a few days since. To say they were good doesn't express it—they were immense.

Billy Busby, who has been assisting his father in his blacksmith shop has thrown up his job there and will open a shop in Erlanger, where he will be glad to serve his friends to anything in his line of business. We wish him success.

LIMABURG.

Mrs. J. W. Utz spent Monday with Mrs. Jas. Petit.

L. C. Aora has moved to his new home near here.

Jas. Beall and family were Sunday guests at G. W. Baker's.

C. L. Aylor and family spent Sunday with C. E. Beemon and wife.

C. O. Beemon and wife were Sunday guests of L. C. Aora and family.

O. E. Aylor and family spent Sunday with Albert Beemon and family.

Little Jessie Petit, who has been very sick for several days, is improving.

Mamie Davis spent Saturday night and Sunday with her parents, J. T. Davis and wife.

C. L. Tanner and wife entertained H. L. Tanner and family, Noah Zimmerman and Essie Beemon, Sunday.

Mrs. William Garnett and son spent from Friday until Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Henry Quick, of Ludlow.

Mr. Fleek died Friday morning and was buried Saturday at Petersburg. The family have the sympathy of the entire neighborhood in their sad bereavement. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn his death.

Miles Smith, of Erlanger, preached two interesting discourses for the Baptist church congregation, last Sunday. Mr. Smith is a student at the college at Liberty, Missouri, and ranks high in the studies he is pursuing, which are preparatory to the ministry. His friends here predict for him a bright and useful career in his chosen profession.

FLORENCE.

Mrs. Kate Sweatman, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Anna Crigler.

Mrs. Wm. Rice, who has been very low with typhoid fever, is better.

Miss Ollie Brown, of Newport, was the guest of Mrs. Wm. Starr, last week.

Preaching at the Christian church, here Sunday morning and evening by S. S. Lappin, of Erlanger.

Miss Gladys Rouse entertained with a lawn party, Monday evening, Angust 30th, in honor of the guests of her house party. Contests were the main features of the evening. The study in forestry was very interesting and as several had the same number of questions answered correctly straws had to be drawn. Mr. Garnett Renaker, having drawn the shortest straw, received the dainty little wind bell, and Mr. Rassel Bradford, who was so anxious about one query that he forgot to answer the others, came into possession of the little music box. After refreshments were served on the beautifully illuminated lawn, the shaping of dogs from chewing gum and boxes of tooth picks, created much merriment among the guests. Mr. Lewis T. Utz was the most successful and was the proud owner of a genuine chewing gum puppy. Those present were Misses Martha Wheeler, of Vanceburg, Ky.; Grace Riley, of Covington; Eda Herrman, of Crescent Springs; Iantha Utz, Lottie Utz, Mayme Dixon, Stella Dixon, of Richwood; Stella Carpenter, Coreta Tanner, Arminta Tanner, Ruth Marx, Ruby Corbin, Nannie Corbin, Annabel Childress, Lena Tanner, Edna Tanner, of Ft. Pleasant; Lorena Hafer and Jessie Hampton, Messrs. Robert Rouse, Clifford Rouse, of Walton; Robt. McCollum, of Erlanger; Floyd Ryle, of Erlanger; Henry Dixon, of Richwood; L. T. Utz, Russell Bradford, Garnett Renaker, Allen Utz, James Rice, Rufus Tanner, Elwood Tanner, Carl Swim, Shelley Aylor, of Gunpowder; Milton Carpenter, Oliver Russ, of Limaburg, and Roy Clutterbuck.

RABBIT HASH.

Lawis Craig was the Sunday guest of J. Russell Stephens.

The public schools at Maple Hill and East Bend, opened Monday.

Our ferryman Benj. Wilson has his new gasoline launch in service.

Scott Myers, of Verona, threshed nearly all the week in this neighborhood.

One of Mr. C. G. Riddell's mules was very badly crippled, last week, by a kick from another mule.

Rev. Hensley, of Belleview, delivered two very interesting sermons Sunday at East Bend Baptist church.

Shelby Cowen, of Cincinnati, and James McConnell, of Danville, were visiting in this neighborhood recently.

Miss Ida M. Hodges, of East Bend, entertained quite a number of the young people from Constance, Sunday.

Misses Viola and Mayme Clore, two popular young ladies of Clore's Ridge, were visiting in Rabbit Hash Sunday.

Mrs. Hester Ryle and daughters, Miss Josie and Miss Stella Stephens, of East Bend, spent the past week visiting Mr. Ed. Lee, of Patriot, and attended the fair a couple of days.

Mr. Hugh Harris, who is well and favorably known in this neighborhood, had the misfortune, last Tuesday, to get his limb badly crushed in a hay press, and had to have it amputated above the knee.

B. L. Rich, M. J. Crouch and J. W. Kennedy, of Union, are wasting no time in their work securing the right of way for a traction road from Covington to Big Bone Springs, which they are confident will be constructed at an early date as the result of the work in which they are now engaged, looking to that end. As soon as the road is completed to Big Bone, and possibly before, some body of capitalist will be found who will finance the extension of the road on down the river, and it may be only a short time before Louisville will be reached, in which event the value of the road to Boone county people will be much greater, and Big Bone Springs will become one of the most popular health resorts in the middle States. The readiness with which the right of way is being granted shows that the land owners realize the advantage the road will be to them and they are willing to contribute to that extent, at least, to its construction. The people of Union are very much elated over the outlook, and are aiding Messrs. Rice, Kennedy and Crouch in their work in every way possible.

Henry Adams, who married Miss Zellah Barker, of Covington, last Wednesday, brought his bride to the home of his mother, Mrs. Alice Adams, that evening. They remained in Burlington until Saturday, when they left for Washington, D. C., where the groom holds the position of stenographer in a government office and is drawing a good salary. Mr. Adams is a model young man, and everybody with whom he is acquainted wishes him and his wife a happy and prosperous life The boys could not let the opportunity escape to give Henry Adams a regular, old time Kentucky charivari, which they pulled off last Thursday night. All kinds of noisy instruments were used by the crowd, which created a pandemonium about Mrs. Alice Adam's residence until the groom, in a leisurely manner, appeared at the door and said to the crowd, "I thought I'd let you pound awhile." A box of cigars were passed around and the band of noise producers dispersed, each and every member thereof wishing Mr. and Mrs. Adams a pleasant journey down the stream of life.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. E. E. Kelly is improving.

Miss Bessie Berkshire, who has been very sick for several weeks, is improving.

Miss Laura Porter left tomorrow morning for Danville, where she will enter school.

Mrs. B. R. Hume, who was very sick several days the past week, is very much better.

B. W. Southgate and wife, of Covington, were looking after business in Burlington, last Monday.

A. B. Ronse was the only Burlington representative at the big Democratic barbecue at Louisville, last week.

Dr. H. H. Hays, of Bullittsville, was in town a short time one afternoon last week in charge of the county judge and a deputy sheriff.

Mr. Beick and wife, of Cincinnati, came out last Saturday afternoon, and remained until Monday afternoon, guests of J. F. Blyth and wife.

Misses Mary Furlong, Sadie Crisler and Emma Adams, are enjoying themselves this week viewing the wonderful beauties of Mammoth Cave.

Dr. L. C. Cowen and wife, of Rising Sun, spent Monday in Burlington. The doctor's Kentucky friends are glad to see that he is recovering his health.

Andy Cook, of Belleview neighborhood, was in town, last Saturday, with a load of watermelons for which he was hunting a purchaser, and he found him.

Miss Alma Corbin, of Belleview, entertained quite a crowd of her young friends, last Saturday afternoon and evening, in a most handsome manner.

Walter Kettle, who works for V. W. Gaines near Idlewild, felt quite a distance while tiering tobacco in a barn, one day last week, and was injured considerably.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Kelly, of Wright's Corner, Indiana, were guests of A. W. Clark and wife, several days last week. Mrs. Kelly is Mr. Clark's mother.

C. P. Baker, a thrifty farmer of Union neighborhood, was a caller at this office a few days since. He is one of the RECORDER'S valuable supporters all the time.

Capt. Ben Wilson, of Rabbit Hash, was a caller at this office, Monday. He has recently installed a gasoline launch at his ferry, and is delighted with it as both a time and labor saver.

J. J. Ferris, wife and daughter, of Cincinnati, were guests at J. E. Smith's several days the past week. Their Kentucky friends were exceedingly glad to have them with them.

J. O. Griffith, of Beaver, is a very successful operator of an automobile. He has been using his auto nearly two years at a cost of about $25, which amount has been expended for gasoline and repairs.

Otto Crisler will leave next Monday for Indianapolis, where he will resume his studies in the Indiana Veterinary College, at which he will complete his third year's course, and pull down his diploma.

Miss Louise Blyth returned to her home in Lawrenceburg, last Thursday, after a visit of several days with her aunt, Mrs. Dudley Ronse. She was accompanied by Miss Mary Castleman who will be her guest for a few days.

O. P. Phipps will become a citizen of Burlington about the first of October, at which time he and his partner, E. K. Stephens, of Petersburg, will take possession of the livery stable and mail route they bought of B. B. Hume.

Joe Weaver, of Long Branch, was transacting business in Burlington, last Friday. He says he has discovered a lazy man's potato—one that will grow and is a good producer, without any cultivation. He is digging his.

James Hughes and daughter, of Cincinnati, were guests at the Boone House several days last week. Mr. Hughes is a cousin of Atty. G. G. Hughes and E. F. and Geo. Blyth. He is proprietor of a restaurant on Fifth street between Race and Vine.

J. M. Campbell and wife, of Cincinnati, were guests at the Boone House, last Sunday. Mr. Campbell is a Burlington boy who has led a successful life. When yet a lad he joined the confederate army and followed the stars and bars until they went down at Appamattox to rise no more. He came back home at the close of the rebellion and in a few years he became a member of the Cincinnati fire department, in which he served until a few months ago, and where he distinguished himself by his fearless work and always responding promptly to the call of duty. After about thirty years service he was retired, recently, on a pension, ample to support him and his wife, the remainder of his days, which, from his looks at present will cover many years.

The Road to Success

has many obstructions, but none so desperate as poor health. Success to-day demands health, but Electric Bitters is the greatest health builder the world has ever known. It compels perfect action of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, purifies and enriches the blood, and tones and invigorates the whole system. Vigorous body and keen brain follow its use. You can't afford to be sick or sickly. Only 50c. Guaranteed by Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Light frost was seen in this locality, two or three mornings of the past week.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed Into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

Paris J. Cox, for three years minister of Friends' church of Laporte, Ind., severed his connection with the Friends and will enter the Methodist ministry.

James Bryce, British ambassador at Washington, arrived in Ottawa, Ont., to consult with Sir Wilfrid Laurier on trade conditions consequent upon the Payne tariff law.

Levi H. Bancroft, speaker of the Wisconsin assembly, was the orator at the Wisconsin day celebration at the Seattle exposition.

Edward Butler, Jr., son of Col Butler, political boss of St. Louis, died suddenly in that city of heart failure while talking to his wife.

Justice William R. Day of the United States supreme court, delivered the address at Mackinac Island, Mich., at the unveiling of the new $7,000 statue of Pere Marquette.

President Taft has appointed A. P. Sawyer of Seatle to be auditor of Porto Rico, to succeed G. C. Ward.

Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, narrowly escaped death when he was lost and wandered for hours in the wilds of the northwest. A rescuing party found him.

Edward H. Harriman in a personal statement concerning his health said "I am all right."

Harry K. Thaw has been made librarian of the hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan, N. Y.

Senator Carter of Montana declared at Seattle that charges of water power grabbing in his state were without foundation.

Glenn H. Curtiss won the international cup for the highest speed in the aviation events at Rheims, France, flying at the rate of 47.65 miles an hour.

Charles W. Morse, recently released from the Tombs prison, New York, on $125,000 bail, has begun his efforts to restore his fallen fortunes by attempting to regain control of the Metropolitan Steamship Company.

GENERAL NEWS.

John F. Hayner, who shot former Senator Summerville at Sleepy Eye, Minn., committed suicide by hanging in a cell in the jail at New Ulm, Minn.

Eastern Pennsylvania has had no real rain in the last several months and crops and pasturage have been destroyed by drought. Several factories have been closed because of the lack of water.

Ten thousand American and Mexican children will sing the national anthems of both nations at El Paso when Presidents Taft and Diaz meet.

Spokane, Wash., plans to give President Taft a "ciderfest" that will eclipse the possum dinner in Georgia.

Thirteen persons were injured, two perhaps fatally, when a Rock Island train struck a street car at Des Moines, Ia.

A circular sent by the Turkish government to all its provincial authorities discredits the reported sedition of Armenians and asserts that the purpose of Turkey is to treat Moslem and non-Moslem alike hereafter.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Cornwall, for 20 years Presbyterian missionaries in Foochoo, China, are reported dead from cholera.

"President Taft is a wise, just, magnanimous man, whose policies will secure for the colored people their full rights," declared Dr. William M. Alexander of Baltimore, secretary of the Lott Carey Colored Baptist Foreign Missionary conference.

The color line was obliterated at the state convention of Spanish war veterans at Pasadena, Cal., when a negro delegate said the black men's right to carry a musket beside the white gave him the privilege of comradeship.

A monument to Rev. James Lemen, Sr., a pioneer Baptist minister, was unveiled at Waterloo, Ia.

Delegates to the convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers at St. Paul, Minn., balloted for officers.

Squatter Town, Nev., ten miles from Rawhide, was practically wiped off the map by a cloudburst, a wall of water ten feet high tearing down 130 buildings.

The west wing of the parliament buildings in Toronto, Can., were destroyed by fire, causing $100,000 loss.

Secretary of War Dickinson has directed that the engineer officers who made [illegible] station on the night of [illegible] be removed to the posts [illegible]

Four thousand policemen will protect trees and shrubs in Riverside Park, New York, from the crowds which will watch the international naval parade at the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

Secretary Dickinson at Nashville, Tenn., intimated that investigation of the case of J. H. Booker, charged with hazing at West Point, will be reopened.

The National Association of Supervisory Post Office Employes met in annual convention in Chicago.

A "peace fleet" of eight armored United States cruisers sailed from San Francisco on a five months' trip to Japan and China.

A monument to Chief Menominee and his band of Pottawattomie Indians who were unjustly evicted from their reservation in Indiana in 1838 was unveiled at Twin Lake, Ind.

Thirty Japanese sent by their government to study commerce and trade in the United States, landed at Seattle. They will travel through 24 states.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn, N. Y., on April 21, 1908, discovered the north pole, according to a message received from him by his wife and information sent to Copenhagen by the captain of the vessel on which he returned to that point.

Through a conference between the operators and the national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America the dispute with the 18,000 miners in the Pittsburg district has been settled, and 7,000 men now on strike will return to work.

At Sleepyeye, Minn., George W. Sommerville, former state senator, lawyer and politician, was shot and fatally wounded, in his private office, by John S. Hayner, manager of a large business block, in a dispute over money matters.

A message received by relatives at White Plains, N. Y., announced the death from cholera at Foo Choo, China, of Rev. and Mrs. George Cornwall, for 20 years Presbyterian missionaries in that country.

Through a deal involving millions the United States Steel Corporation has taken over the property known as the Kelly lands and Mines in Danville, Ill., district on which it held an option from the Hammond Company.

Krasnoyarsk, Siberia, is to be the place of exile of Alexander Lopukine, former chief of the Russian police department, who was convicted of activity as a revolutionary.

John R. Myrick, who enlisted in the union army as a private at the outbreak of the civil war, and who was retired as a brigadier-general in 1903, is dead in New York.

While playing with a shotgun at Nicholasville, Ky., James Littrell, eight years old, accidentally discharged the weapon and blew off the head of his six-year-old sister.

Fire destroyed the Savoy theater at Hamilton, Ont. Loss, $60,000. The theater belonged to the Stroud-Bennett syndicate, but was to have been taken over by the Shuberts.

During the funeral at Seattle of George E. Eccles, the wireless operator who perished on the steamer Ohio, every wireless telegraph instrument in the western division was silent for half an hour.

Mrs. Katherine Miller, formerly Mrs Kate Soffel, who served a two-year prison term for helping Jack and Edward Biddle, the murderers, escape from the county jail at Pittsburg, died of typhoid fever.

Tied to a tree by robbers, an employe of the Ingram-Day Lumber Company, suffered tortures for three days near Nugent, Miss. His mouth was stuffed with paper and rags and he was without food, while mosquitoes were torturing him.

President Taft has decided that Beverly, Mass., shall be the summer capital again next year, and has leased the cottage he now is occuying for the season.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and a delegate from Austria engaged in a war of words at the International Trades Unions congress in Paris when the latter attacked American labor for not joining the organization.

The United States and Europe were brought nearly three hours closer together when the great liner, Mauretania reduced her record from New York to Queenstown to four days, 14 hours and 27 minutes.

After slaying Cecil Norton, 15 years old, daughter of his housekeeper; his daughter Dorothy, aged 12, and setting fire to his house, Will Tibbetts, a wealthy farmer of Red Wood Falls, Minn., committed suicide.

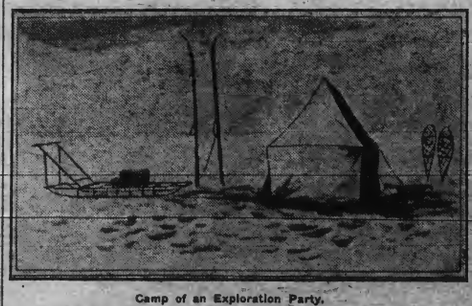
Five persons, all relatives, were killed when a street car struck an automobile, near St. Louis.

A new tobacco war has been started at Covington, Ky., by the filing of a suit by Clark & Scott, independent manufacturers, against the Burley society, demanding $135,520, said to have been overcharged on tobacco bought by them.

An important amendment has been made to the navy regulations which places the engineer officer attached to a ship of war in line to succeed the executive officer.

Mrs. Fred Young, wife of a farmer near Barnum, Minn., threw their three children, one, two and five years, into a well, set fire to a barn, destroying it, fired the family dwelling, swallowed poison and then gashed her throat with a knife, afterward being taken to an asylum.

Rev. J. Holmes McGuiness, Edward H. Harriman's private chaplain, in the first authoritative statement made at Arden, declared the "rail king" is much improved, giving his word as a clergyman, that reports about Mr. Harriman's condition were exagger-



DISCOVERY OF POLE ENDS QUEST OF AGES

Record of Arctic Explorations Runs Back for Centuries and Is Recital of Dire Adventure and Tragedies

An American, Dr. Frederick A. Cook, has captured the honor for which daring spirits for centuries have sacrificed life and limb. That magic point known as the north pole has finally been located by man, and the quest of ages is at an end.

The story of explorations is a recital of dire adventure and tragedies which runs back 1,000 years to the time when the Irish monk, Dicuil, with a number of his clerical brothers, sailed as far north as Iceland and found, as the writings of Dicuil state, that there was no darkness in Iceland during the summer solstice.

But long before the ninth century the ancients, according to Phtheas, had a legendry knowledge of a far northern island known as Thule. And in the first book of his translation of Orosius, King Alfred told of the first voyages for discovery made by Other and Wulfstan. While the localities mentioned cannot now be located, it is probable that Other rounded North cape and visited the coast of Lapland.

Camp of an Exploration Party.

In 1815 polar exploration found a promoter in Sir John Barrow, who offered a reward of £20,000 sterling to anyone making the northwest passage, and £5,000 for reaching 89 degrees north latitude, which would be 69 miles south of the pole.

After Barrow Prize.

Two years later, in 1817, two expeditions set out, one by way of Spitzbergen, the other by Baffin's bay. The Dorothea and the Trent, on the Spitzbergen route, were commanded by Capt. David Buchen and Lieut. John Franklin. The other expedition was in charge of Capt. John Ross and Lieut. Edward Parry. Neither expedition was a success. In 1827 Parry on his third voyage made his historic dash for the pole from Spitzbergen by sledge boats and reached latitude 82 degrees and 42 minutes.

In 1845 Sir John Franklin made his

A Polar Exploration Vessel Banked with Snow.

tragic voyage. His ships, the Erebus and the Terror, were seen by a whaler in July, 1845, and that was the last trace. For three years the British admiralty, spurred on by Lady Franklin, sent out relief expeditions, but the only reward of the searchers was the discovery of the grewsome relics of a frightful tragedy. One vessel had been crushed in the ice, the other had been stranded on the shore of King William's island. Three winters in the north had reduced the explorers to skeletons, and they had fallen one by one by the way in an effort to drag their sledges over the ice to a land [illegible] made his effort to reach the pole with sledge and boat, using a ship from Spitsbergen, scene of his later attempts by balloon flight. His vessel, the Ragnvald Jarl, was crushed by floes, May 28, 1894, at Walden Island. He continued north by sledge after the wreck occurred. He was obliged to abandon the attempt six miles from Platen island, near the eighty-first parallel. His second expedition was in 1898-9, when he penetrated Franz Josef Land. He had raised the funds for the expedition without assistance. His ship was the Frithjof, a Norwegian vessel.

The [illegible] was [illegible] by Prather [illegible]

In 1899 the ship of the duke of Abruzzi touched at Franz Josef Land and Wellman, as the first settler, welcomed the duke. Then, in 1906, Wellman was prepared to start in his first attempt to reach the pole in a dirigible balloon. Atmospheric conditions were such as to make a start impracticable.

He started, however, a year later, but was forced to halt. Again last month he started, but the accident to his balloon forced him again to relinquish the project. He announced then that he would try again.

In 1897 Andree and two companions left Danes island from a point only a few hundred yards from Walter Wellman's camp in an attempt to reach the pole by balloon. It was not a dirigible balloon and the hope of the explorers was that the winds would blow it up to the pole. The last seen of the balloon it was drifting out over the Barents sea, and since then nothing has been heard of it nor has a trace been found.

The adventures of Frithjof Nansen, the Norwegian explorer, who in 1896 got as far north as latitude 86 degrees 14 minutes, are recent enough to be comparatively fresh in the public memory. He sailed from Christiania in the Fram, with the intention of forcing his way into the arctic ice near the New Siberian islands and then drifting to the pole.

A party was sent out to establish supply stations to which the explorer might retreat if necessary, and the cross country work was to be done on skis. Nansen was absent a long time and fears were entertained for his safety, but he returned, having penetrated farther north than any other explorer up to that time.

In 1900 the Duke of Abruzzi, nephew of the King of Italy, sailed from Christiania in the Stella Polari. He was considered an amateur, but he planted his standard in latitude 86 degrees 34 minutes, a new record and more than

DEFEAT ADMITTED BY STEEL COMPANY

But Car Plant at McKees Rocks Will Be Closed Unless Strikers Accept Offers.

Pittsburg.—The Pressed Steel Car Co., through its manager, James B. Rider, has admitted its defeat in its fight against the workmen. In spite of this the company refused to sign any agreement with its workmen or to grant any concessions.

General Manager Rider has, since the howl was raised against the method of the company, compelling strike breakers to remain in the plant, opened the gates and said that all who are willing are at liberty to leave. Manager Rider, Friday, also announced that T. A. Farrell, chief of police of the plant, had been dismissed and will not return.

Failure of the men to accept the last offer of the company, Rider says, will result in a lockout and the plant will be closed indefinitely.

Evidence tending to establish that peonage was practiced at the Schoenville plant is now in the hands of United States District Attorney John H. Jordan.

A labor agent of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Co. at Newcastle, Thursday, stole a march on the car company by entering the plant and inducing 30 of the new arrivals to desert and come to the sheet company. The car company threatens reprisals against the Newcastle concern, which is also fighting a strike of its workmen.

"ROYAL BLUE" FLYER WRECKED

Four Persons Killed and Scores Injured When Train Ran Into Broken Rail.

Pittsburg.—Four persons were killed and 35 others injured, several perhaps fatally, when Train No. 5, westbound on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, known as the Royal Blue Limited, running between New York and Chicago, was wrecked at Chawton, Pa., 45 miles from this city. The train ran into a broken rail, supposed to have been caused by train wreckers, and the engine, two Pullmans and two day coaches were thrown from the track. The cars immediately took fire.

The railroad officials claim the wreck was caused by men who removed two fish plates, moved the north rail inside and removed the spikes for a rail's length. An investigation after the wreck showed that the fish plates and spikes were missing.

Young Girl Student Commits Suicide.

Chicago.—Miss Bertha Shaw, 21, a student at Fairmont seminary, Washington, committed suicide at her home by turning on the gas in her bedroom. Two possible reasons for the young woman's act were given by relatives. One was that she was despondent because of the condition of her brother, Dr. Harry Shay. The other was that she killed herself because she did not wish to return to the seminary. Miss Shaw was fully dressed in street attire, except a hat and one shoe. She was alone in the flat so far as is known.

Guests Forced To Leap From Windows.

Lexington, Tenn.—Guests of the Huton house jumped for their lives early Friday morning when the building was burned. "Rube" Potter, of Paducah, railway fireman, was burned about the head. Mrs. George Morthland jumped from a second-story window and was caught in a blanket. Loss $6,000, including the guests' baggage. The fire was caused by a carelessly thrown cigarette.

Village Wiped Out By Wind.

Catania, Sicily.—The village of Scordia was wiped out by a cyclone. Five persons were killed and 50 injured, ten of whom suffered grave hurts. One hundred houses were completely demolished and many others unroofed. The cyclone was accompanied by a torrential rain.

$200,000 Fire in Arkansas.

Arkadelphia, Ark.—Fire destroyed the main building of the Arkadelphia Milling Co.'s plant, the Iron Mountain depot, 10 box cars on a siding and damaged residences near by. Loss, $200,000.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Sept. 3.—Cattle—Extra, $6.25. Calves—Extra, $9.25. Hogs—Choice, $8.30@8.35. Sheep—Extra, $4.10@4.25. Lambs—Extra, $7.25@7.50. Flour—Spring patent, $5.40@5.65. Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.07@1.10. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 70@71c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 36½@37c. Rye—No. 2 choice, 70@72c. Hay—Choice timothy, $14@14.50. Butter—Dairy, 23c. Eggs—Per doz., 22c. Apples—Choice, $3@3.50. Potatoes—Per brl., $1.50@1.75. Tobacco—Burley, $10.25@19.25.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.04@1.05. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 68¼@69¼c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 38@38½c. Pork—Prime mess, $22.32½@$22.80. Lard—Prime, $12.32½.

Louisville, Sept. 3.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.07@1.09. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 71c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 39c. Hay—Choice timothy, $16. [illegible]

$1.10@1.1[illegible]

OPENING OF CHEYENNE RIVER INDIAN RESERVATION.

The General Land Office at Washington has designated Le Beau and Aberdeen, So. Dak., on the Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R. as registration points.

There will be about 7000 quarter sections allotted to settlers.

Who May Secure a Homestead.

Under the homestead laws of the United States any person, male of female, who is not the owner of more than 160 acres of land in any state or territory, who is a native born citizen of the United States, or has been naturalized, or declared his intention to become a naturalized citizen of the United States (i. e., one who has taken out his first papers of citizenship), who is over the age of 21 years or the head of a family, may make a homestead entry of not exceeding 160 acres of any of the unoccupied public lands of the United States.

NOTHING DOING.

He—I'd kiss you if I dared.

She—Well, don't you dare to if that's the way you feel about it.

LOW COLONIST FARES TO THE WEST AND NORTHWEST.

Union Pacific Passenger Department announces that Colonist Fares will be in effect from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, 1909, to all points in the West and Northwest.

This year the West looks more promising than ever. Now is the time to secure land at low prices, and, at the same time, to visit the many interesting points in the West and Northwest, at which liberal stopover arrangements may be made.

A better estimate of raw lands can be made now than formerly, because these lands are in proximity to new farms that are producing wonderful crops.

For descriptive literature, write to E. L. Lomax, G. P. A., U. P. R. R., Omaha, Neb.

It Was His Way.

A Kansas farmer was telling recently about the eavesdropping that goes on along the farmers' telephone line he is on. He said that whenever he talked he could hear the "click, click" of different receivers coming down.

"And you can bet," he amended, "that they never hear my receiver coming down. No, sir; I always hold on to the thing and let it down so easy that it doesn't click!"—Kansas City Journal.

Cures Human Skin Troubles and Is Equally Good for Our Pets and Domestic Animals.

Resinol Salve is my ideal and favored remedy wherever a salve is needed. It is as good for horses, dogs, etc., as for mankind. Truly a universal healing Ointment.

W. P. Schmits, Vet., Hinsdale, Mass.

Naturally.

Magistrate (to witness)—I understand that you overheard the quarrel between the defendant and his wife?

Witness—Yes, sir.

Magistrate—Tell the court, if you can, what he seemed to be doing.

Witness—He seemed to be doin' the listenin'.—Pearson's Weekly.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

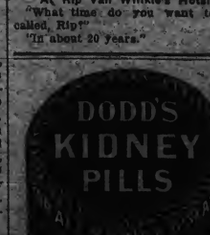
In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Language of Eden.

He (looking at the catalogue of women's styles)—They still use the language of the first fashion plate, don't they?



His Wife—What do you mean?

He—Fig. 1, Fig. 2, and so on.—Judge.

At Rip Van Winkle's Hotel.

"What time do you want to be called, Rip?"

"In about 20 years."

DYOLA DYES

SAVE PAINT AND OIL.

Your property is value added whether the house is worth one thousand dollars or ten thousand. Well painted means higher selling value, and higher assessment value—for there's an element of pleasure in living in the house that is well dressed.

National Lead Company assist in making the right use of the right paint by sending free upon request to all who ask for it, their "Housewares' Painting Outfit No. 49." This outfit includes a book of color schemes for either exterior or interior painting, a book of specifications and an instrument for detecting adulteration in paint materials. Address National Lead Company, 1902 Trinity Building, New York City, and the outfit will be promptly sent to you.

SPOILED.

Biggs—Waiter, this steak is too tough to cut. Take it back.

Waiter—Sorry, sir, but I can't; you've bent it.

FREE LANDS IN WYOMING.

Chicago & North Western Railway.

Send for booklet telling how to secure 320 acres of U. S. Government lands in Wyoming free of cost, and describing various irrigation projects and the most approved methods of scientific dry farming. Homeseekers' rates. Direct train service from Chicago. W. B. Kniskern, P. T. M., Chicago.

A Question of Grammar.

Hetty's uncle, who was a school teacher, met her on the street one beautiful May day and asked her if she was going out with the Maying party.

"No, I ain't going."

"Oh, my little dear," said her uncle, "you must not say 'I ain't going,'" and he proceeded to give her a little lesson in grammar. "You are not going. He is not going. We are not going. You are not going. They are not going. Now, can you say all that, Hetty?"

"Sure I can," she replied, making a courtesy. "There ain't nobody going." —Lutheran.

Not Ambiguous at All.

The donkey is—or has been—associated with party politics in other countries besides our own.

In one of England's elections a candidate for parliament, the late Lord Bath, called attention to himself by means of a donkey over whose back two panniers were slung, bearing a ribbon band on which was printed: "Vote for Papa."

It must be added, however, that in each pannier stood one of Lord Bath's daughters.—Youth's Companion.

Sage Advice for Husbands.

Rev. Father Bernard Vaughan, S. J., thus advises husbands about their wives: "Never attempt to check the flowing tide of her talk. Let her talk on while you possess your soul in peace. Remember that a woman needs many more safety valves and outlets for her temperament. Be patient with her."

SENSE ABOUT FOOD
Facts About Food Worth Knowing.

It is a serious question sometimes to know just what to eat when a person's stomach is out of order and most foods cause trouble.

Grape-Nuts food can be taken at any time with the certainty that it will digest. Actual experience of people is valuable to anyone interested in foods.

A Terre Haute woman writes: "I had suffered with indigestion for about four years, ever since an attack of typhoid fever, and at times could eat nothing but the very lightest food, and then suffer such agony with my stomach I could wish I never had to eat anything.

"I was urged to try Grape-Nuts and since using it I do not have to starve myself any more, but I can eat it at any time and feel nourished and satisfied, dyspepsia is a thing of the past, and I am now strong and well.

"My husband also had an experience with Grape-Nuts. He was very weak and sickly in the spring. Could not attend to his work. He was under the doctor's care but medicine did not seem to do him any good until he began to leave off ordinary food and use Grape-Nuts. It was positively surprising to see the change in him. He grew better right off, and naturally he had none but words of praise for Grape-Nuts.

"Our boy thinks he cannot eat a meal without Grape-Nuts, and he learns so fast at school that his teacher and other scholars comment on it. I am satisfied that it is because of the great nourishing elements in Grape-Nuts."

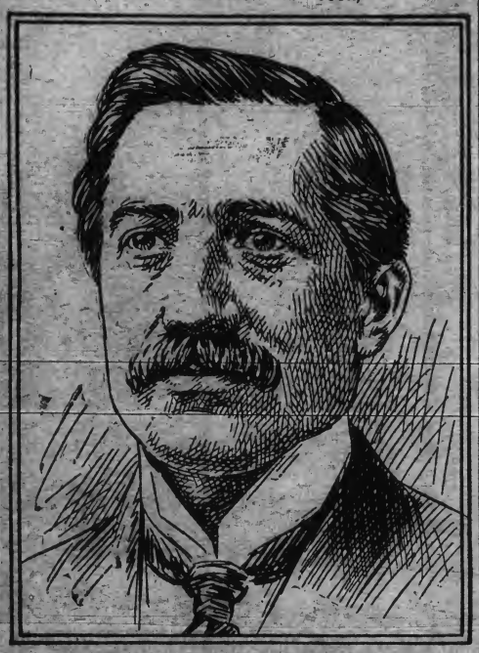
"There's a Reason."

It contains the phosphate of potash from wheat and barley which combine with albumen to make the gray matter to daily refill the brain and nerve centers.

It is a pity that people do not know what to feed their children. There are many mothers who give their youngsters almost any kind of food and when they become sick begin to pour the medicine down them. The real way is to stick to proper food and by plain facts and strong without medicine.

COOK TELLS STORY

AMERICAN EXPLORER CONFIRMS REPORT OF DISCOVERY OF NORTH POLE.



PLANTS STARS AND STRIPES

Months of Hardship and Trying Experiences Result in Greatest Accomplishment of the Age—Praises Sung by Scientists.

Copenhagen.—A very complete confirmation from Dr. Cook himself that he had succeeded in reaching the north pole has done much to dispel the uncertainty created by the first dispatches. Full details of the expedition are expected when Dr. Cook reaches this city.

Dr. Cook planted the stars and stripes at the north pole as a mark that this remarkable achievement belongs to an American.

DR. FREDERICK A. COOK,

American Explorer Who Discovered the North Pole.

Dr. Cook's Own Story.

Paris.—The Paris edition of the New York Herald publishes a signed statement from Dr. Frederick A. Cook, which is dated "Hans Egede Lerwick, Wednesday," on his discovery of the north pole and his experiences in the Arctic regions.

"After a prolonged fight with famine and frost," says Dr. Cook, "we have at last succeeded in reaching the north pole. A new highway, with an interesting strip of animated nature, has been explored and big game haunts located, which will delight sportsmen and extend the Esquimaux horizon.

"Land has been discovered on which rest the earth's northernmost rocks. A triangle of 30,000 square miles has been cut out of the terrestrial unknown. The expedition was the outcome of a summer cruise in the Arctic seas on the schooner Bradley, which arrived at the limits of navigation in Smith Sound late in August, 1907."

Describes Arrival at Pole.

After telling of the experiences of himself and Esquimaux guides, Dr. Cook says:

"On April 21 we had reached 89 degrees 59 minutes 46 seconds. The pole was in sight. We covered the remaining 14 seconds and made a few final observations. I told Etukishook and Akwelah (the accompanying Esquimaux) that we had reached the 'great nail.'

"Everywhere we turned was south. With a single step we could pass from one side of the earth to the other; from midday to midnight. At last the flag floated to the breezes at the pole. It was April 21, 1908. The temperature was minus 38 centigrade, barometer 29.82, latitude 90; as for the longitude, it was nothing, as it was but a word.

"On April 23 we started on our return."

Amundsen Is Pleased.

Christiania.—Capt. Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian Arctic explorer, was interviewed here on Dr. Cook's triumph. "Dr. Cook was my partner on the Belgica expedition as physician," he said, "and all on board appreciated highly his experience and his ability. His was an uncommonly staunch, persevering and energetic personality, and I admire him. The route chosen by Dr. Cook presented unusually difficult problems; this was proved by Commander Peary's experiences. The possible results from Dr. Cook's achievement will have no influence on my projected expedition; I am not planning to reach the point of the pole. My trip will be for oceanographic investigation. It would be highly interesting and important to know if Dr. Cook found a continent around the pole. But he was of necessity limited to mere visual impressions."

JOHN R. BRADLEY.

Man Who Financed Cook's Successful Exploration Expedition.

DR. COOK'S ROUTE TO THE NORTH POLE.

STATE HAPPENINGS

News of General Interest in a Summarized Form,

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENTS.

Crowd Estimated at Between 30,000 and 60,000 Attends Big Jeffersonian Barbecue Given by Democrats of Louisville.

Louisville, Ky.—Between 30,000 and 60,000 people attended the big Jeffersonian barbecue given by the democrats of Louisville to eat burgoo, roast lamb and shoat. For nearly three hours the vast multitude was fed. While they were eating and drinking there were four different points on the grounds where prominent democratic orators from Kentucky, Indiana, and elsewhere were pouring forth democratic doctrine with all the vigor that their tongues could command. In addition not less than 10 brass bands were making music, and all the time hundreds of democrats from Louisville were circulating among the party leaders and voters from the state, telling them that it was necessary for the democracy of the state to make the fight of the Louisville democracy its fight and to leave no stone unturned in an effort to rout the republican party here.

WILL DISTRIBUTE $900,000.

Burley Tobacco Society to Divide 80 Per Cent of 10 Per Cent Reserve of 1907 Crop.

Winchester, Ky.—The district board of the Burley Tobacco Society voted to distribute among growers having tobacco in the last pool 80 per cent of the 10 per cent reserve of the 1907 crop. This means the immediate distribution of approximately $900,000. Heretofore 10 per cent of this reserve had been returned to the counties for expenses, or direct payment to the growers where expenses had been paid by the counties, and the present action makes 99 per cent of the proceeds of the sale of the 1907 tobacco that has been paid to those in the pool. The remaining 1 per cent is reserved as a fund to meet expenses, or possible contingencies, and subject to final distribution when not drawn upon. All save 1 per cent of the proceeds for the 1906 crop had already been paid to the growers. The society is suing the independent manufacturers, who bought 4,200 hogsheads of pooled tobacco and failed to take the same, necessitating resale for $212,000, which will belong to members of the last pool.

SAYS IT IS A MONOPOLY.

Suit Filed in Covington Against Burley Tobacco Society in Sum of $135,520.40.

Covington, Ky.—A "new tobacco" war was begun in the federal court here when Clark & Scott, of Scranton, Pa., through Attorneys Outcalt and Hickenlooper, filed suit against the Burley Tobacco Society, alleging $135,520.40 damages. The defendants named in the action are Clarence Lebus, the president of the society; Stanley Sprewit, G. W. McMillan, R. B. Thomas, C. S. Williams, C. C. Patrick, J. E. Brown, G. A. Brooks, J. C. Hughes and N. J. Stroube. They and others, the petition asserts, conspired with tobacco growers in Kentucky and Ohio to control the white burley tobacco in the United States. The paper sets out that the burley society is a monopoly, and, it is alleged, organized in restraint of trade. The action is filed under the anti-trust law.

Henderson, Ky.—The will of John H. Barret, capitalist, financier and tobacconist, was probated here. It disposes of an estate valued at about $800,000. There are only two heirs, Mrs. Mary B. Heddens, of St. Joseph, Mo., and Mrs. Augusta Barret, daughters of the deceased.

Louisville, Ky.—Ben S. Washer, formerly managing editor of the Louisville Herald, who gave up his journalistic work in Louisville to take up active practice at the bar, was complimented by Judge McGee with a temporary appointment as prosecuting attorney.

Lexington, Ky.—An official call for a mass convention Saturday, September 4, in the various magisterial districts by the promoters of the fusion ticket, to name the candidates for magistrates and constables, was issued.

Louisville, Ky.—Masonic rites were observed at the funeral of Rev. Alphonzo V. Sizemore, scholar, linguist and theologian, which took place here. Dr. Sizemore was one of the best known Baptist ministers of the state.

Lexington, Ky.—Col. W. P. Walton, one of the best known of Kentucky journalists, who, a few months ago, sold to former Gov. Beckham the Frankfort State Journal, has purchased the controlling interest in the Kentucky Evening Gazette.

Henderson, Ky.—State Revenue Agent E. C. Huntsman filed suit in the county court here against the Henderson National bank for state and county taxes alleged to be due on its shares of capital stock of $250,000 for the year 1908.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. B. PIPER.
Phone, M. 2393.

The Applegate-Piper Co.
MERCHANT TAILORS.
Room 610, Traction Building.
Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,
BURLINGTON, KY.
The Oldest Bank in Boone County,
PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,
With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR
THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.
17c Pound—6 pounds for $1.00.
This is what everyone likes--
The Green—8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR
Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,
Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY
AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.
CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.
New Buggies, Runabouts
and Harness for Sale or Trade.
Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.
When in Burlington call and See me.
B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director and Embalmer
LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.
Lexington Pike, - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR
CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP
—TO—
C. C. SEAL & CO.
Union Stock Yards,
CINCINNATI, OHIO
And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.
J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

THE LECTURE.

"Behind the Scenes in The Late Philippine War."
By Captain Noell Gaines, Late Chief of Manila Secret Police.

Capt. Gaines was educated for a soldier at Kentucky's famous K. M. I. He was captain of Militia for twelve years, taking part in quelling the Turner-Howard and the French-Eversol feuds. Afterwards, he was Captain and Provost Marshal of Havana, Cuba, during the Spanish-American War; and then Captain in the U. S. Army in active campaign in the Philippines for two years. He organized and was chief of "The Manila Secret Police," therefore he fully understands the Filipinos; what caused their rebellion against the United States; the reason for the dreadful prolongation of the war; and whether or not the Filipinos have a capacity for independent self-government.

Captain Gaines says his object "is to open the eyes of the American people as to the truth in the Philippines." He speaks with authority, and his showing the people behind the scenes will certainly make some dry bones rattle in this country.

Capt. Gaines delivered his lecture on the Philippines, at the court house last Sunday afternoon, to a good sized audience. He is a forceful speaker, and those who heard his lecture last Sunday were highly entertained. He will lecture here again tonight, tomorrow night and Friday night, and you will be well paid if you come out to hear him.

At the Grand Chief colt show, last Monday, seven colts were exhibited, Elbert Clore's colt capturing the blue ribbon. The colts were all handsome young animals.

The RECORDER has mailed to each of its correspondents a ticket to the Harvest Home, next Saturday, and hopes all who can will make it convenient to attend and enjoy the day.

The Odd-Fellows had a big time at Hebron, last Saturday, at which meeting Deputy Sheriff Cropper was initiated into the mysteries of the order. The town was overrun by visiting members.

O. E. Rector, who lives near town, cultivated a pickle crop instead of tobacco this year. He had a fine yield, and sold in the city at good prices. He made two trips a week to the city, and finished marketing his crop last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Davrainville, of Newport, Mr. Will Creager, of Cincinnati, and his sister, Miss Lilie Creager, of Loveland, Ohio, and Miss Charlotte Hall, of Newport, spent from Saturday evening until Tuesday with F. A. Hall and family.

Go With A Rush.

The demand for that wonderful Stomach, Liver and Kidney cure, Dr. King's New Life Pills—is astounding..... say they never saw the like. Its because they never fail to cure Sour Stomach, Constipation, Indigestion, Billousness, Jaundice, Sick Headache, Chills and Malaria. Only 25c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Miss Ora York and Mr. Y. B. Reynolds, of Cincinnati, friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Clark, were married at the residence of Rev. Edgar Riley, last Wednesday. They returned to the city that afternoon. Mr. Reynolds is a claim agent in the employ of the Q. & C. Railroad, the territory which he goes over being southern Kentucky and Tennessee. The bride is an expert stenographer and typewriter.

According to reports from the creamery at both Union and Hebron these institutions are doing a business that removes them from the doubtful column so far as being a financial success is concerned, and they can now be considered as money makers for their patrons. The product of each has a reputation that will continue to find a quick sale at top prices, a fact that will cause the business of each to increase. The creamery, properly handled, makes a better quality of butter than can be obtained in the old way, while it removes a lot of hard work from the home where butter is prepared for market. The day is not far distant when there will be a very limited market for butter made by hand.

Some of the large taxpayers in the county, who keep a considerable balance in bank all the time, have adopted the plan of paying their taxes before the first day of September in each year, thereby reducing the amount of cash in bank, which, otherwise, would be assessed against them to the amount of the taxes they pay. For example if a man pays taxes to the amount of $300, and he pays it before September 1, his list of taxable property for the next year will be $300 less than it would, had he paid out the $300 on taxes after the first of September. This [illegible] clustering on the part of [illegible] considerable sums of [illegible] is increasing the [illegible] paid each year pre-

---

TOBACCO GROWERS

Coming to the Front in Boone County.

Enthusiastic Meeting Addressed by Senator Byron, at the Court House, Last Monday.

Much Information Given Out At the Meeting.

CONTRACT SATISFACTORY.

The tobacco growers of this county had a very interesting meeting at the court house in Burlington, last Monday afternoon. The meeting was addressed by Hon. W. A. Byron, of Bracken county. He is a pleasing speaker, and gave the growers a vast amount of desired information on the pooling proposition, and worked up considerable enthusiasm on the part of his hearers. His speech was lengthy, considering the pooling contract in all its phases, causing many of those who heretofore criticised the contract to reverse their opinion and accept it as the best that can be offered. The leaders in the move to pool the 1909 crop were delighted with the outlook at the conclusion of the meeting, Monday, and the work of getting the tobacco in this county signed for the pool will be pushed from now on, the County Board of Control at its meeting last Monday having placed pooling solicitors in every voting precinct in the county, and those who are taking part in the work say the outlook for the pool in Boone county was never better.

Only a few precincts in the county have been canvassed by solicitors, but where the solicitors have called on the growers they have had great success. Hamilton precinct has pooled 170 acres. All but two men who were solicited in that precinct pooled their tobacco.

Walton precinct has pooled 250 acres, up to date, which is 80 per cent of the crop in that territory, and the work is still in progress.

Beaver has pooled 140 acres, and the indications are that every acre in that precinct will be signed.

The above territory is about all that has been canvassed, and indicates the feeling of the growers in regard to the pool.

J. C Hughes, district committeeman, will attend the meeting of the State Board at Winchester on the 14th inst., and requests that each solicitor in the county report to him by the eveing of the 13th inst.

The young people for miles around who delight in tripping the light fantastic, are looking forward to next Saturday, when, at the Harvest Home, they will spend the day in that pleasure. The best music obtainable has been employed for the young people, who will appreciate it. Chas. Clore and his force of efficient assistants will hold down the refreshment stand, where the best of everything in that line will be served with a neatness that will be pleasing to the patrons. While the younger people are enjoying themselves at the dancing pavilion, the old folks will be packed around the ring looking at the exhibits of fine stock, farm produce, etc., etc. The Harvest Home is a great place at which to close out-door enjoyments for the season, and many take advantage of it to say good-bye to friends until the arrival of another year's festivities.

THE SHINGLE. THE APPLICATION. THE APPEARANCE.

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

FOR PERMANENT ROOFS

Roofs that will last as long as the building itself, and never need repairs. That are fire-proof, storm-proof, lightning-proof, handsome, light and adapted for all kinds of architecture whether it be home, school, church or any other building down to the humble barn

"CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES"

fill all conditions and their price permits of their use anywhere

Glad to show you samples any time. Write for our free book, "Concerning That Roof"

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

The Cough of Consumption

Your doctor will tell you that fresh air and good food are the real cures for consumption. But often the cough is very hard. Hence, we suggest that you ask your doctor about your taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It controls the tickling, quiets the cough.

We publish our formulas

Ayer's

We banish alcohol from our medicines

We urge you to consult your doctor

One of Ayer's Pills at bedtime will cause an increased flow of bile, and produce a gentle laxative effect the day following. Formula on each box. Show it to your doctor. He will understand at a glance. Dose, one pill at bedtime.

— Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass —

Important Notice to the Tobacco Growers.

The tobacco growers in each voting precinct in the county, who have pledged their tobacco with the Burley Tobacco Society, will meet at their respective voting places on the last Satusday in September, at 2 p. m., and elect one of their number to represent them on the Board of Control. The secretary and chairman will give a member elected his certificate of election.

T. F. CURLEY, Secretary.

PROGRAM

Of the Convention of the Christian Churches of Boone County, at Walton, Ky., Sept. 11th, 1909.

Friday night, Sept. 10th.

Conference of Delegates of County led by.....H. W. Elliott.

Satruday, Sept. 11th.

9:30 Devotional Service, A. S. Allphin.
9:45 President s Survey of County Work.....Edgar C. Riley.
10:05 Conference, "Our Methods."
10:25 Message from State, R. M. Hopkins.
10:50 The Whole Church at Work, H. T. Buck.
11:15 Roll Call of Churches. Appointment of Committees. General Announcement.
12:00 Dinner served on the ground.
1:00 Committee Meeting.
1:15 A Bible Lesson for our Present Need.....R. H. Carter.
1:35 Committee Reports. Secretary Reports.
2:00 The Bible School for the Whole Church.....J. W. Rogers.
2:20 The Future of the Country Church.....Milo Atkinson.
2:45 Training Workers, R. M. Hopkins.
3:10 Our Centennial,.. H. W. Elliott
Many other preachers will be present

Resolutions of Respect.

Walton Lodge No. 711, F. & A. M., Walton, Ky., Sept. 2, 1909:

Whereas, The Supreme Architect of the Universe has appointed unto every man one time to die, and in fulfillment of that appointment, called from labor in the lodge here below to rest and refreshment in the celestial lodge above, our friend and brother, Samuel C. Johnson, on August 12th, 1909.

Resolved, That while we deeply deplore the loss of our departed brother, we bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. Johnson this lodge has lost a cherished member, the community a good citizen, and his wife and son a devoted husband and father.

Resolved, That we commend the family of our departed brother to the care of One who has promised in His holy word that He is an ever present help in time of need.

That these resolutions be spread upon the lodge record, and a copy presented to his widow, and a copy mailed to the Masonic Home Journal and Boone County Recorder for publication.

C. SPENCER CHAMBERS,
O. C. METCALFE,
J. B. HARRIS, Committee.

One of the hind wheels on Wesley Underhill's watermelon wagon ran off as it was going over the crossing between the stores of Riddell, and Kelly & Roberts, yesterday about 1:30 p. m., dumping and bursting seven or eight nice melons, which he donated to a crowd that enjoyed the feast.

For Sale—Willow baby carriage with willow top, rubber tire. In first-class order; cost $20.

For Sale—2-horse wheat drill in first class order. Apply to A. L. Nichols, Burlington.

For Sale—500 Stock Ewes from one to three years old. Will sell for cash or on time. Apply to V. W. Gaines, near Bullittsburg Baptist church.

Phone 251 Burlington. tf.

Lest you Forget

We Cut the Price on all Medicines.

WE QUOTE A FEW.

Peruna	71c
Pinkham's Compound	71c
Swamp Root	71c
S. S. S	71c
Wine of Cardui	71c
Pierce's G. M. Discovery	71c
Pierces' Prescription	71c
Ozomulsion	71c
Scott's Emulsion	71c
Wampole's C. L. Oil	71c
Antiphlogistine	40-75c
Sal Hepatica	90c
S. S. S. (large)	$1.25
Fellows' Syrup	$1.00
Gombalt's Caustic Bal	$1.15
Sloan's Liniment	71c
Kitchell's Liniment	65c
Barb Wire Liniment	20c
Cuticura Soap	18c
Colgate's Palm Soap 6 for	25c
" Turk Soap 6 for	25c
Pure Castile Soap, lb	20c
Allcock's Porous Plasters	2 for 25c
Belladonna Plasters 2 for	25c
Water Bottles	49c
Fountain Syringes (Each 2-quart size)	59c
Doan's Kidney Pills	40c
King's Pills	20c
Cuticura Pills	20c
Pinkham's Pills	20c
Carter's Little Liver Pills	15c
Gooch's Pills	20c
Bucklin's Arnica Salve	20c
5 Drop Ointment	20c
Pyramid Pile Cure	40c
Pazo Pile Ointment	40c
Parker's Hair Balsam	40c
Hay's Hair Health	40c
Peroxide Hydrogen, lb	25c
Creolin, lb	75c
Vaseline, lb	25c
Pine Tar, gallon	30c
Pluto Water	30c
Castor Oil, quart	50c
Castoria	25c
Syrup Figs	38c
Beef Iron and Wine	40c
Warner's 3-gr. Lithia Tablets	20c
Quinine, ounce	50c
Capsules—box of 100	08c
Bromo Quinine	20c
Tetlow's Swan Down or 2 for 25	15c
Tetlow's Gassmer Powder	20c
Allen's Foot Ease	20c
Harleem Oil	05c
Bull's Worm Candy	20c
Absorbent Cotton, oz 4 oz. 15c, 1 lb. 35c	05c
Ground Flaxseed, lb	10c
Sulphur, lb	05c
Copperas, lb	03c
Moth Balls, lb	05c
Epsom Salts, lb	05c
Cream Tartar, lb	35c
Borax, lb	12c
Toilet Paper, 6 pads	25c
Tooth Picks, 2 boxes	05c
Hindoo Corn Remover	15c
Magee's Corn Plaster	10c
One Night Corn Cure	10c
Hostetter's Bitters	85c
All Chewing Gum, pkg	03c
Sulphate, Soda, lb	20c
Phosphate Soda, lb	20c
Garfield Tea	20c
Hard Rubber Syringe	20c
Schiffman's Asthma Cure	40c
New Skin Court Plaster	20c
Carpenter's Liquid Court Plaster—tube	10c
Prophefoctic Tooth Brushes	25c
Colgate's Tooth Paste	40c
Sanitol Tooth Paste	20c

We have many more at just as Low Prices.

SAVE THE DIMES.

Geo. C. Goode

AGENT.

Groceries & Medicines,

Pike & Washington, Covington, Kentucky.

TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS

That E. A. Anderson has opened a

New Clothing Store.

They may not read this paper and I am anxious that they know about it, so you tell them.

Everything New and Up-to-Date.

Suits for Men $5.00 to $20.00 | Suits for Boys $1.00 to $5.00

Dress Pants and Work Pants of Every Description.

In selecting our NEW STOCK we had you in mind. So it's here for you for LESS MONEY. Come and see. Come, get acquainted with our NEW STORE, Our motto is to PLEASE YOU so you will come again,

Store one door above Thorn's Drug Store.

WE ARE EXPECTING YOU.

E. A. ANDERSON,

RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

NOTICE

I want to thank my customers for their patronage, and the praise as to the Quality of William Tell Flour.

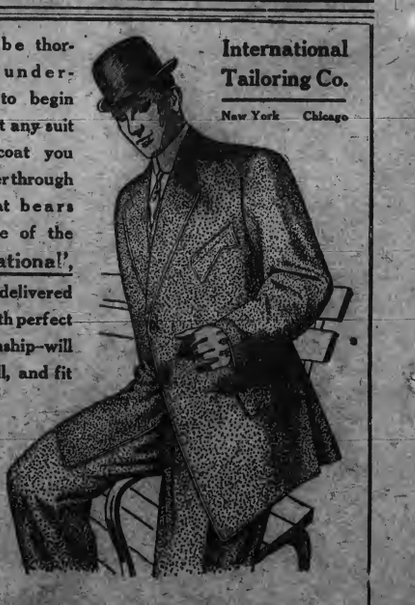
Talk about your light bread, what a difference between it and other flour; its Sweetness, Whiteness, Moisture. All bread when you eat William Tell.

A TRIAL WILL CONVINCE YOU.

C. M. BALDON,



BURLINGTON, . . . KENTUCKY.

Phones—Consolidated 92; Farmers, Three Long.

Let it be thoroughly understood to begin with that any suit or overcoat you may order through here, that bears the name of the 'International', will be delivered to you with perfect workmanship—will wear well, and fit well, and in all respects be in thorough keeping with the highest tailoring standards. Otherwise you may return it, and we'll refund your money.

International Tailoring Co.

New York Chicago

J. W. BERKSHIRE & SON, Agents, Petersburg, Ky.

Take Your County paper.

It Gives You All The County News.

Local News.

The turkey crop is below the average this year.

The melon crop in the bottoms is about exhausted.

The swallows have begun their journey towards the south.

Not much of an effort being made to put in a crop of wheat this fall.

The temperature was close to the frost line several mornings last week.

The coal haulers are having good roads and splendid weather for the work.

For Sale—Lot nice seed wheat. Apply to Mrs. Sallie Adams at Big Bone.

Capt. Noel S. Gaines returned last Friday to resume his work of inspecting the county offices.

Herbert Kirkpatrick drove the mail wagon last Friday for Harmie Jones, who was in the city.

Ben, son of B. F. Zimmer, of Constance, was seriously hurt by a vicious horse, one day last week.

It is really too soon to put up stoves, but numerous persons were considering that work last week.

Sidney Gaines and N. E. Riddell made their farewell bow to the Gunpowder finny tribe last Thursday.

When renewing your subscription to, or subscribing for, magazines or periodicals, remember C. L. Gaines can supply them.

Some are bragging on the yield of their Irish potatoes, although the grub worms have destroyed many potatoes in the hill.

The season for salmon fishing is at hand. It is fine sport but not equal to bass fishing in the creek when the bass are willing to do business.

The North Bend Association will be held with the church at Bullittsburg this year, the session commencing today and concluding tomorrow.

Very few acres of the 1909 crop of tobacco remain out of the pool in the Walton and Verona precincts. The growers in these localities signed up readily.

At Florence fair H. W. Rouse priced his pair of black mares at $450, but concluded he would not accept that amount before the man had time to take him up.

Good wheat for seed will be in demand this fall, and to obtain it if the quality of wheat generally is on a par with that threshed in this part of the county will be difficult.

The big Boone County Harvest Home, will be held at the grounds near Limaburg, next Saturday, and if the weather is favorable a very large crowd will be in attendance.

The coal yards at Constance supply a considerable scope of territory, much of their fuel coming to Burlington so long as the dirt roads are in a condition to haul heavy loads over.

Work on the Home City lock and dam has been progressing rapidly the past few weeks. The high water in the river prevented anything being done until the latter part of the summer.

The work of cutting corn will be unusually heavy this fall, and the tangled condition in which the crop will be found will add considerable to the labor. Corn that makes 8 to 10 barrels to the acre tries a man's nerve when cutting and putting it in the shock.

Farmer Chas. Clore, from out on the East Bend road was in town, a few days since, delivering a large load of old corn. He had to dispose of his old corn, or build cribs in which to put his large crop of new corn, and he figured that his old corn would bring a better price now than a little later on.

Most of the common schools in the county are in progress. For the first time in many years the county has enough of its own teachers and some to spare for other localities. It is pleasing to note that the young people of this age are manifesting an increased interest in education as is demonstrated by the large number who are prepared to teach in the common schools.

The work of threshing wheat was concluded last week, and the owners of the machines found themselves very little, if any, ahead in the financial feature. The crops were so small that the outfit was on the road too much of the time to make any money for the owner, while the machinery was being damaged more than would have resulted from constantly threshing.

The RECORDER was the means of locating the owners of the two watches found at the fair week before last. One of them it discovered before the paper was printed and the other before the night of publication day. The silver watch belonged to J. W. Kennedy, of Union, and the gold watch, to T. J. Walton, of Commissary. Each of the gentlemen thought he had been touched for his ticker, and was agreeably surprised when he learned otherwise.

Of the corn crop in Central Kentucky the Herald, published at Lexington says: "The corn crop is much better than was anticipated, and when it is cut it is predicted that it will prove far better than the crop of last week. The weeds have practically taken the fields, but standing high above the mat of weeds the stalks of corn, heavy with ears and now beginning to turn golden, promise a heavy yield and rich fodder for the stock the coming winter. The acreage of corn is much greater this year than last, and the production will probably be much greater and the harvesting will be easier than it has been in [illegible]

The North Kentucky Agricultural Association held its annual election on its grounds, at Florence, last Wednesday afternoon. There was not a large attendance of stockholders. The stockholders' meeting was organized by the election of B. F. McGlasson, chairman, and W. L. Riddell, secretary. Nominations for president of the society for the ensuing year was announced in order, when one of the stockholders nominated B. F. McGlasson. Mr. McGlasson began a speech telling why he ought not to be elected, when someone, utterly in disregard to the speaker's rights, moved that the secretary cast the vote of the society for B. F. McGlasson for president. The motion was seconded instantur and a vote taken, when a storm of Ds drowned Mr. McGlasson's protesting speech, and he subsided. F. A. Utz and E. H. Blankenbeker were nominated for vice-president. This election was by ballot, and Utz won out. N. E. Riddell, for secretary, and A. B. Rouse, for treasurer, were elected without opposition. It required two ballots to choose the five directors, E. H. Blankenbeker, J. L. Riley, J. O. Griffith and W. P. Carpenter landing on the first ballot. On the next ballot J. D. Cloud was elected to succeed J. M. Barlow. The reports made by the secretary and treasury showed that after paying all expenses for the fair the week before the society was about $100 to the good, which was several hundred dollars better than was expected when the exhibition closed on Saturday night.

For several years there has been a desire on the part of many of the stockholders to reduce the fair to three days because of the fact that the first day always fails to pay running expenses by a considerable amount. It has been argued all the time that the entire program can be put through in three days, and so many of the stockholders had become of that way of thinking that when a motion was made at last Wednesday's meeting to reduce the fair to three days in 1910, it was carried with a whoop, consequently the fair will begin on Thursday next year instead of on Wednesday as heretofore, and continue three days.

A proposition to cut out the show of beef cattle evoked a lively discussion, and it was finally sidetracked. A suggestion that a premium be given next year to a roadster ring, to be limited to horses owned in Boone county, met with favor.

The crop of tobacco now being housed may exceed in pounds any ever produced in this county, but in the matter of quality it is believed there will be a large per cent of very inferior tobacco. Much of the tobacco has been damaged in the patch while a great deal has been handled badly and will be still further carelessly handled. It is seldom that anything is gained by the farmer who over crops himself, a fact that will be clearly illustrated by this year's large acreage of tobacco. Had tobacco worms been as numerous this year as they have some years in the past they would have devoured many acres of the crop, but the plants are nearly entirely free of worm holes.

The Boone County Farmers' Institute will be held at Walton on Wednesday and Thursday the 29th and 30th inst., under the auspices of the State Department of Agriculture. Every farmer in Boone county, who possibly can, should attend the Institute, as he will hear many lectures that will contain valuable information. Several of the best lecturers in Kentucky will be present and talk upon live farm topics. The State pays the expense of holding the Institute. Mr. Farmer, remember the dates, and attend.

Dr. Peddicord and wife were called to Bracken county, early last week, on account of the serious illness of his wife's mother. In a few hours after they arrived the doctor was called to see his sister, who was very ill of appendicitis. A surgeon was summoned and an operation was performed, which she survived until Sunday morning. She was thought to be doing nicely up until some time Saturday night, when a change for the worse came. The doctor expects to be at home today or some time tonight.

Matthew Fleek, aged about 70, died at his home near Limaburg, one day last week. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Walterick, of Florence. The remains in charge of W. A. Bullock, undertaker at Hebron, were taken to Petersburg, where they were interred in the family lot in the cemetery. Mr. Fleek was a quiet, industrious citizen, highly esteemed in the neighborhood of which he had been a citizen several years. He had been in poor health for some time.

Dr. L. H. Crisler, veterinary, has been selected by the Democrats in the Covington city council, to fill the office of city meat and milk inspector. He won out on the second ballot. The office is worth $1,200 a year, which, with the doctor's practice, will bring to him considerable pin money. Dr. Crisler is a native of this county, having become a citizen of Covington only a few years ago, consequently his host of friends here are glad to hear of his success.

William Wilson brought to this office, one day last week, an Irish potato that is a first-class representation of a turtle that is travelling at the top of its speed. It was so life like that Mr. Wilson was afraid to handle the potato when first uncovered. Joe Weaver, of Union, saw the above potato, last Friday, and he said it looked so much like a turtle that he believed it would make a good article of turtle soup.

Some of the tobacco raised by Harry Roberts, this year, is so large that he could not handle it to stick it as the time it was cut. He split the stalk and cut it off, leaving it to wilt before attempting to handle it further.

A killing frost about now would injure a considerable area of corn, some of which will not even escape the frost several weeks hence.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.
S. D. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated—A. D. 1902.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

Everybody

In Boone County will be interested in the half-page announcement in this paper next week. Get your Recorder on Friday, or call up someone who has a paper and read about it,

WE DON'T KNOW WHETHER

You Know It or Not

Our Customers help to bring the trade to us. They know they get satisfaction. They will tell you, no matter where you go, you'll never find better Clothing than those handled by us.

OUR LINE OF

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing

CAN NOT BE SURPASSED.

We have a large assortment to select from and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP. We have some nice

MEN'S SUITS at..... $5.00 and $7.50

Better Grades MEN'S SUITS... $10.00 to $18.00

These include a great many high priced suits which we have reduced

BOYS' SUITS..... $4.00 to $10.00

We are giving especially great bargains in our Boys' Suits.

MEN'S PANTS... $1.00 to $5.00 CHILDREN'S SUITS... $1.25 to $5.00

Kindly visit our Store and you will be most favorably impressed with the bargains we are showing.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET, Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky

BARGAIN SALE

—OF—

CLOTHING & SHOES

—AT THE—

Northcutt Mercantile Company,

WALTON, KENTUCKY.

200 Suits of Nice Clothing ranging from..... $1.98 to $8.00

The Pick of a Bankrupt Sale bought for ONE-FOURTH THEIR VALUE

Shoes! ODD LOTS, at 29c to 98c. Comprises a nice lot of Serviceable Shoes.

COME AND GET THE BEST.

MORE SPECIALS

Large, Nice Lemons, per dozen.....12c
Sweetheart Soap, per bar.....04c
Ivory Soap, per bar.....04c
Palm Soap, per bar.....04c
Paris Green, per pound.....25c

In order that we might place our 20c Blue Package Coffee in more homes, well for a short time, sell it at 17c. Try it.

20 pounds of Granulated Sugar for.....$1.00
Mason Fruit Jars, per dozen.....42c

Inspect The Bargains for Yourself.

E. P. NORTHCUTT, Prop

WALTON, KY.

THE

Godman Shoes

Our large line of Godman Shoes just opened is now ready for you to make your selection. We sold a great many of these Shoes last winter and found they gave splendid wear. Come in and see them. We have all styles at prices to suit everyone.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

NOTICE!

The ANSTED & BURK CO., manufacturers of the noted WILLIAM TELL FLOUR has decided to give away for us to the ladies who bakes the best loaf of Bread out of

A PRIZE

William : Tell : Flour

Your application to enter the contest must be mailed to Ansted & Burk Co., Springfield, Ohio, not later than August 29th, 1909, so arrangements can be made.

Buy William Tell Flour

Get in the habit, win the prize.

Contest to be held at Harvest Home, September 11th.

Quigley & Beemon,

LIMABURG, KY.

Both Phones.

Lime, Salt, Corn and Mill Feed.

.....Always in stock.....

NEW STOCK OF

Mason Jars, Star Cans and Stoneware.

Fresh Groceries, Notions, Etc., at

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

WILLIAM TELL FLOUR ALWAYS ON HAND. GIVE ME A CALL.

WHICH?

Which way do you skim your milk? It is hard sometimes to realize just how great the loss of cream is with crocks and pans. Some people may not believe that a

U. S.

CREAM SEPARATOR

skims enough closer than the old way to increase their butter yield one-fourth or more. But it does, and there's a plain reason for it. When you set milk the cream and skim milk are separated from one another by the force of gravity, but when you skim milk with a U. S. Separator centrifugal force, which is thousands of times stronger than gravity, does the separating. It squeezes out the last drop of cream. Cream is money—you can't afford to waste it. If you keep three or more cows, it will pay you to buy a U. S. Separator. Come in and look one over, anyway. They are sold by

The Mersman Hwd. Co., Covington, Ky.

Some Have Learned—Others Are Learning

That, laying aside the question of convenience; they can still do a whole lot better by buying their glasses of us. We have the same facilities for grinding lenses and turning out the best work promptly as any of the large Cincinnati firms. In fact we have a large number of patrons who come to us from Cincinnati. If you are not one of our patrons [illegible]

N. F. Penn, M. S. [illegible] Manager

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. G. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
S. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1866.)
CAPITAL,.....$30,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000
Surplus,.....$5,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

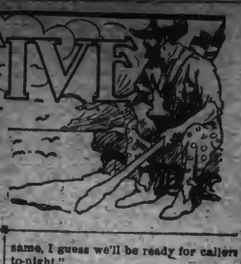
W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, Ky
F. A. Uts, Treas., Florence, Ky
Malehus Souther, Secy.,
R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, Ky
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Warerooms:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
Mrs. FORD AGENT, Grant, Ky

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
...ate of ... sums of ... is increasing the ... sums paid each year pre- ... 1.



INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT 1908 BY MCCLURE & CO.

Blake Pushed Out from Among the Close Thickets.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness.

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

At first his throat was so dry that he could no more than rinse his mouth. With the first swallow his swollen tongue mocked him with the salt, bitter taste of sea-water. The tide was flowing! He rose, sputtering and choking and gasping He stared around. There was no question that he was on the bank of a river and would be certain of fresh water with the ebb tide. But could he endure the agony of his thirst all those hours?

He thought of his companions.

"Good God!" he groaned, "they're goners, anyway!"

He stared dully up the river at the thousands of waterfowl which lined its banks. Within close view were herons and black ibises, geese, pelicans, flamingoes, and a dozen other species of birds of which he did not know the names. But he sat as though in a stupor, and did not move even when one of the driftwood logs on a mudshoal a few yards up-stream opened an enormous mouth and displayed two rows of hooked fangs. It was otherwise when the noontime stillness was broken by a violent splashing and loud snortings down-stream. He glanced about and saw six or eight monstrous heads drifting towards him with the tide.

"What in— Whee! a whole herd of hippos!" he muttered. "That's what the holes mean."

The foremost hippopotamus was headed directly for him. He glared at the huge head with sullen resentment. For all his stupor he perceived at once that the beast intended to land; and he sat in the middle of its accustomed path. His first impulse was to spring up and yell at the creature. Then he remembered hearing that a white hunter had recently been killed by these beasts on one of the South African lakes. Instead of leaping up he sank down almost flat and crawled back around the turn in the path. Once certain that he was hidden from the beasts he rose to his feet and hastened back through the jungle.

He was almost in view of the spot where he had left Winthrope and Miss Leslie, when he stopped and stood hesitating.

"I can't do it," he muttered; "I can't tell her—poor girl!"

He turned and pushed into the thicket. Forcing a way through the tangle of thorny shrubs and creepers until several yards from the path he began to edge towards the face of the jungle, that he might peer out at his companions unseen by them.

There was more of the thicket before him than he had thought, and he was still fighting his way through it when he was brought to a stand by a peculiar cry that might have been the bleat of a young lamb; "Ba—ba!"

"What's that?" he croaked.

He stood listening, and in a moment he again heard the cry, this time more distinctly: "Blak!—Blak!"

There could be no mistake. It was Winthrope calling for him, and calling with a clearness of voice that would have been physically impossible half an hour since. Blake's sunken eyes lighted with hope. He burst through the last screen of jungle and stared towards the palm under which he had left his companions. They were not there.

Another call from Winthrope directed his gaze more seaward. The two were seated beside a fallen palm, and Miss Leslie had a large round object raised to her lips. Winthrop was waving to him.

"Cocoanuts!" he yelled. "Come on!"

Three of the palms had been overthrown by the hurricane, and when Blake came up he found the ground strewn with nuts. He seized the first he came to; but Winthrope held out one already opened. He snatched it from him and placed the hole to his swollen lips. Never had champagne tasted half so delicious as that cocoanut milk. Before he could drain the last of it through the little opening Winthrope had the husks torn from the ends of two other nuts, and the convenient germinal spots gouged open with his penknife.

Blake emptied the third before he spoke. Even then his voice was hoarse and strained. "How'd you strike 'em?"

"I couldn't help it," explained Winthrope. "Hardly had you disappeared when I noticed the tops of the fallen palms, and thought of the nuts. There for the ... the grass mat 30 feet from friends unth" ... year's festivities ... and ... [illegible] three down for the count. But this settles the first round in our favor. How do you like the picnic, Miss Jenny?"

"Miss Leslie, if you please," replied the girl, with hauteur.

"Oh, say, Miss Jenny!" protested Blake, genially. "We live in the same boarding house now. Why not be folksy? You're free to call me Tom. Pass me another nut, Winthrope. Thanks! By the way, what's your front name? Saw it aboard ship—Cyril—"

"Cecil," corrected Winthrope, in a low tone.

"Cecil—Lord Cecil, eh?—or is it only the Honorable Cecil?"

"My dear sir, I have intimated before that, for reasons of—er—state—"

"Oh, yes; you're traveling incog., in the secret service. Sort of detective—"

"Detective!" echoed Winthrope, in a peculiar tone.

Blake grinned. "Well, it is rawther a nawsty business for your honorable ludship. But there's nothing like calling things by their right names."

"Right names—er—I don't quite take you. I have told you distinctly my name is Cecil Winthrope!"

"O-h-h! how lovely!—See-sill! See-see!—Bet they called you Sissy at school. English chum of mine told me your schools are corkers for nicknames. What'll we make it—Sis or Sissy?"

"I prefer my patronymic, Mr. Blake," replied Winthrope.

"All right, then; we'll make it Pat, if that's your choice. I say, Pat, this juice is the stuff for wetness, but it makes a fellow remember his grub. Where'd you leave that fish?"

"Really, I can't just say, but it must have been where I wrenched my ankle."

"You cawn't just say! And what are we going to eat?"

"Here are the cocoanuts."

"Bright boy! go to the head of the class! Just take some more husk off those empty ones."

Winthrope caught up one of the nuts, and with the aid of his knife stripped it of its husk. At a gesture from Blake he laid it on the bare ground and the American burst it open with a blow of his heel. It was an immature nut, and the meat proved to be little thicker than clotted cream. Blake divided it into three parts, handing Miss Leslie the cleanest.

Though his companions began with more restraint, they finished their shares with equal gusto. Winthrope needed no further orders to return to his husking. One after another the nuts were cracked and divided among the three, until even Blake could not swallow another mouthful of the luscious cream.

Toward the end Miss Leslie had become drowsy. At Winthrope's urging, she now lay down for a nap, Blake's coat serving as a pillow. She fell asleep while Winthrope was yet arranging it for her. Blake had sat down on the palm trunk beside him.

"I say, Blake," he suggested, "I feel deuced fagged myself. Why not all take a nap?"

"'And when they awoke, they were all dead men,'" remarked Blake.

"By Jove, that sounds like a joke," protested the Englishman. "Don't rag me now."

"Joke!" repeated Blake. "Why, that's Scripture, Pat, Scripture! Anyway, you'd think it no joke to wake up and find yourself going down the throat of a hippo."

"Hippo?"

"Dozens of them over in the river. Shouldn't wonder if they've all landed and're tracking me down by this time."

"But hippopotami are not carnivorous—they're not at all dangerous, unless one wounds them, out in the water."

"That may be; but I'm not taking chances. They've got mouths like sperm whales—I saw one take a yawn. Another thing, that bayou is chuck full of alligators, and a fellow down on the Rand told me they're like the Central American gavials for keenness to nip a swimmer."

"They will not come out on this dry land."

"Suppose they won't—there're no other animals in Africa but sheep, eh?"

"What can we do? The captain told me that there are both lions and leopards on this coast."

"Nice place for them, too, around these trees," added Blake. "Lucky for us, they're night-birds mostly—if that Rand fellow didn't lie. He was a Boer, so I guess he ought to know."

"To be sure. It's a nasty fix we're in for to-night. Could we not build some kind of a barricade?"

"With a penknife! Guess we'll roost in a tree."

"But cannot leopards climb? It seems to me that I have heard—"

"How about lions?"

"They cannot; I'm sure of that."

"Then we'll chance the leopards. Just stretch out here and nurse that ankle of yours. I don't want to be lugging you all year. I'm going to hunt a likely tree."

CHAPTER V.

The Re-Ascent of Man.

AFTERNOON was far advanced and Winthrope was beginning to feel anxious when at last Blake pushed out from among the close thickets. As he approached he swung an unshapely club of green wood, pausing every few paces to test its weight and balance on a bush or knob of dirt.

"By Jove!" called Winthrope; "that's not half bad! You look as if you could bowl over an ox."

[illegible] same, I guess we'll be ready for callers to-night."

"How's that?"

"Show you later, Pat, me b'y. Now trot out some nuts. We'll feed before we move camp."

"Miss Leslie is still sleeping."

"Time, then, to roust her out. Hey, Miss Jenny, turn out! Time to chew."

Miss Leslie sat up and gazed around in bewilderment.

"It's all right, Miss Genevieve," reassured Winthrope. "Blake has found a safe place for the night, and he wishes us to eat before we leave here."

"Save lugging the grub," added Blake. "Get busy, Pat."

As Winthrope caught up a nut the girl began to arrange her disordered hair and dress with the deft and graceful movements of a woman thoroughly trained in the art of self-adornment. There was admiration in Blake's deep eyes as he watched her dainty preening. She was not a beautiful girl—at present she could hardly be termed pretty; yet even in her draggled, muddy dress she retained all the subtle charms of culture which appeal so strongly to a man. Blake was subdued. His feelings even carried him so far as an attempt at formal politeness when they had finished their meal.

"Now, Miss Leslie," he began, "it's little more than half an hour to sundown; so, if you please, if you're ready, we'd best be starting."

"Is it far?"

"Not so very. But we've got to chase through the jungle. Are you sure you're quite ready?"

"Quite, thank you. But how about Mr. Winthrope's ankle?"

"He'll ride as far as the trees. I can't squeeze through with him, though."

"I shall walk all the way," put in Winthrope.

"No, you won't. Climb aboard," replied Blake, and catching up his club he stooped for Winthrope to mount his back. As he rose with his burden Miss Leslie caught sight of his coat, which still lay in a roll beside the palm trunk.

"How about your coat, Mr. Blake?" she asked. "Should you not put it on?"

"No; I'm loaded now. Have to ask you to look after it. You may need it before morning, anyway. If the dews here are like those in Central America they are d-darned liable to bring on malarial fever."

Nothing more was said until they had crossed the open space between the palms and the belt of jungle along the river. At other times Winthrope and Miss Leslie might have been interested in the towering screw palms, festooned to the top with climbers, and in the huge ferns which they could see beneath the mangroves in the swampy ground on their left. Now, however, they were far too concerned with the question of how they should penetrate the dense tangle of thorny brush and creepers which rose before them like a green wall. Even Blake hesitated as he released Winthrope and looked at Miss Leslie's costume. Her white skirt was of stout duck; but the flimsy material of her waist was ill-suited for rough usage.

"Better put the coat on unless you want to come out on the other side in full evening dress," he said. "There's no use kicking, but I wish you'd happened to have on some sort of a jacket when we got spilled."

"Is there no path through the thicket?" inquired Winthrope.

"Only the hippo trail, and it don't go our way. We've got to run our own line. Here's a stick for your game ankle."

Winthrope took the half-green branch which Blake broke from the nearest tree and turned to assist Miss Leslie with the coat. The garment was of such coarse cloth that as Winthrope drew the collar close about her throat Miss Leslie could not forego a little grimace of repugnance. The crease between Blake's eyes deepened, and the girl hastened to utter an explanatory exclamation: "Not so tight, Mr. Winthrope, please! It scratches my neck."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Crocodiles Along the Nile.

At the sound of the shot the whole of this bank of the river, over the extent of at least a quarter of a mile, sprang into hideous life, and my companions and I saw hundreds of crocodiles, of all sorts and sizes, rushing madly into the Nile, whose waters along the line of the shore were lashed into white foam, exactly as a heavy wave had broken.

It could be no exaggeration to say that at least a thousand of these saurians had been disturbed at a single shot.—Strand Magazine.

Wretched Pay for Labor.

At a hearing last summer in London on the "sweating" question, evidence was brought forward showing that 56 women who sewed hooks and eyes on cards earned at an average a little over 75 cents a week. Another woman was discovered who earned [illegible]

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Willimantic, Conn.—"For five years I suffered untold agony from female troubles, causing backache, irregularities, dizziness and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk upstairs without stopping on the way. I tried three different doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them, but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor said nothing would restore my health. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and I am restored to my natural health."—Mrs. ETTA DONOVAN, Box 209, Willimantic, Conn.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

$33 to Pacific Coast

Colonist one-way second-class tickets on sale daily from Chicago, September 15 to October 15, via the Chicago, Union Pacific & North Western Line to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland and Puget Sound points. Correspondingly low rates from all points. Daily and personally conducted tours in through Pullman tourist sleeping cars accompanied by experienced conductors and handled on fast trains.

A most economical and comfortable means of travel.

For full particulars write S. A. Hutchison, Manager Tourist Department, 212 Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

NORTH-WESTERN LINE

PLAN YOUR TRIP NOW

POLISH

KNOWN AND USED AS RELIABLE
PLANTEN'S C&C BLACK CAPSULES
SUPERIOR IN ... PURITY ...
IN PLANTEN'S ... BOX

Buy Bulbs Direct from Importers

Save the Difference
Crocus 100 per dozen
Tulips 400 per dozen
Narcissus 500 per dozen
Hyacinths 600 per dozen
Our Cultural Book—Full Planting of Bulbs—FREE on request.
Meier & ...
Dept. A, ... Sycamore St., Cincinnati, Ohio

TYPEWRITERS

Are Doomed

[illegible] women to be attacked with backache, urinary [illegible] and other symptoms of kidney disease. There is no way to cure these troubles quicker, Mrs. Hannah B. Wright, 906 East First St., Mitchell, S. D., says: "I suffered ten years with kidney complaint and a doctor told me I would never get more than temporary relief. A dragging pain and lameness in my back almost disabled me. Dizzy spells came and went and the kidney secretions were irregular. Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of these troubles and I feel better than for years past."

Sold by all dealers. 50c. a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

FOR WET FEET.

The Chick—What's the matter? The Duckling—You'd cry, too, if your ma made you wear overshoes when you went swimming.

BABY HORRIBLY BURNED.

By Boiling Grease—Skin All Came Off One Side of Face and Head—Thought Her Disfigured for Life.

Used Cuticura: No Scar Left.

"My baby was sitting beside the fender and we were preparing the breakfast when the frying-pan full of boiling grease was upset and it went all over one side of her face and head. Some one wiped the scald with a towel, pulling the entire skin off. We took her to a doctor. He tended her a week and gave me some stuff to put on. But it all festered and I thought the baby was disfigured for life. I used about three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and it was wonderful how it healed. In about five weeks it was better and there wasn't a mark to tell where the scald had been. Her skin is just like velvet. Mrs. Hare, 1, Henry St., South Shields, Durham, England, March 22, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

When the Umbrella Took Fire.

Thomas Simpson, the Detroit malleable iron man, is a grave and dignified person, but once he made a joke.

He was sitting with a party of friends, one of whom was smoking an enormous cigar. The friend had difficulty in keeping the cigar going, and by his repeated lightings had frazzled the end of it until it was about twice its original size. But he kept bravely at it.

Suddenly Simpson began to laugh.

"What are you laughing at, Tom?" asked another member of the party.

"I was wondering what Jim would do when that umbrella he is smoking begins to blaze," he said.—Saturday Evening Post.

Care in Preparing Food.

In recent years scientists have proved that the value of food is measured largely by its purity; the result is the most stringent pure food laws that have ever been known.

One food that has stood out prominently as a perfectly clean and pure food and which was as pure before the enactment of these laws as it could possibly be is Quaker Oats; conceded by the experts to be the ideal food for making strength of muscle and brain. The best and cheapest of all foods. The Quaker Oats Company is the only manufacturer of oatmeal that has satisfactorily solved the problem of removing the husks and black specks which are so annoying when other brands are eaten. If you are convenient to the store buy the regular size packages; if not near the store buy the large size family packages.

Pests Worried by Pests.

Since the Dutch philosopher Leeuwenhoek discovered that the pups of the flea was sometimes preyed on by the larvae of a mite it has been well known that various small insects have their external parasites. And a recent communication to the Comptes Rendus of the Biological society of Paris by M. Bruyant shows that many mosquitoes carry about mites in the larval stage. Those described belong to four different genera. They probably feed on the integumentary structures of the mosquitoes.

GOVERNMENT HOMESTEADS

One and one-half million acres of farming land [illegible] will be opened for settlement in the Cheyenne River and Standing Rock Indian Reservation October 4th to 23rd. Trains daily through Aberdeen, [illegible] Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R. [illegible] as places to register for the drawing. [illegible] to the Commissioner [illegible] Minneapolis & St. Louis road or A. B. Cutts, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Minneapolis, Minn.

MATTATHIAS LOYALTY

Father of First of the Maccabees Aroused to Action

BY THE "HIGHWAY AND BYWAY" PREACHER

(Copyright, 1908, by the Author, W. S. Bacon.)

The Books of Maccabees.—The original authorities for the history of the Maccabees are extremely scanty, but, for the course of the war itself, the first book of the Maccabees is a most trustworthy, if an incomplete, witness. The second book adds more important details to the history of the earlier part of the struggle, and of the events which immediately preceded it; but all the statements which it contains require close examination, and must be received with caution. Josephus follows 1 Maccabees for the period which it embraces, very closely; but the slight additions of names and minute particulars indicate that he was in possession of other materials, probably oral traditions which have been elsewhere preserved. On the other hand, there are cases in which, from haste or carelessness, he has misinterpreted his authority. From other sources little can be gleaned. The Maccabean war may be termed the war of Jewish independence. The annals of the Maccabean family, "by whose hand deliverance was given unto Israel" (1 Macc. 5:62), present the record of its progress.

Based on the Apocryphal Books of the Maccabees.—Chapter 2:1-28.

SERMONETTE.

Mattathias is entitled to a place amongst the heroes of faith enumerated in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews.

After giving the long list of heroes, Paul exclaims:

"And what shall I more say? for the time would fail me to tell of Gideon, and of Barak and of Samson and of Jephthae, of David also, and Samuel, and of the prophets. Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens. Women received their dead raised to life again: and others were tortured; not accepting deliverance; that they might obtain a better resurrection. And others had trial of cruel mockings and scourgings, yea, moreover of bonds and imprisonment. They were stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the sword: they wandered about in sheep-skins, and goat-skins; being destitute, afflicted, tormented; (of whom the world was not worthy:) they wandered in deserts, and in mountains, and in dens and caves of the earth." There can be no question, although unnamed, that Mattathias and his noble sons are to be included amongst these.

Notwithstanding persecution and trial and suffering, there is a sense of security in knowing that one is in God's hands and that ultimate victory is with him. The Third Psalm is expressive of this:

"Lord, how are they increased that trouble me! many are they that rise up against me.

"Many are they which say of my soul, There is no help for him in God.

"But thou, O Lord, art a shield for me; my glory and the lifter up of mine head.

"I cried unto the Lord with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy hill.

"I laid me down and slept; I awaked; for the Lord sustained me.

"I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people, that have set themselves against me round about.

Arise, O Lord; save me, O my God: for thou hast broken the teeth of the ungodly.

"Salvation belongeth unto the Lord: thy blessing is upon thy people."

THE STORY.

AMONG all the families of Judah there was none more noble, or more honorable than the family of Mattathias. He was of the line of the priests, having his place in the first of the 24 courses of the priesthood, among the sons of Joarib.

Now, Mattathias was very devout, and a sincere worshiper of the God of Israel. He refused to conform in any degree to the liberal conditions which had come to prevail among many of his people. He strove to maintain the worship of God according to the laws and ordinances given by Moses. It brought great sorrow to his heart to see so many of the Jews conforming to the customs of the heathen and making alliances with them, and when Antiochus Epiphanes came into power and the heavy hand of persecution was felt against the Jews who did not worship and serve the heathen gods Mattathias [illegible] earnestly than ever [illegible] from the tide of irreligion, and [illegible] to loyalty to the [illegible] God.

[illegible] eyes soon [illegible] surname was Apphus. Of these Judas was the most devout and the most able on the field of battle as was clearly proved after his father's death, and the burden of the movement for the deliverance of his people rested upon him. The wisdom of his father's choice in naming him as his successor was thus made manifest.

But to return to Mattathias. As we said he stood firm against the encroachments of the heathen customs and refused in any way to make alliances with the heathen, and his influence was so great that he kept many faithful to the true God. This proved a source of great annoyance to their Gentile rulers, and they determined to either win Mattathias over or break his power and crush him as many another Jew who refused to yield to the foreign rulers had been crushed.

When Antiochus had come into power the persecution of the loyal Jews became more severe, and the city of Jerusalem and of the land of Judah was filled with the cries of those who refused to yield. Thus it came to pass more and more that the iniquities and the abominations of the heathen prevailed.

Mattathias had just returned to Modin from Jerusalem after serving in his course and was in deep heariness because of what he saw. As his family gathered about him he gave way to his grief, exclaiming:

"Woe is me! wherefore was I born to see this misery and shame of my people, and of the holy city? Her temple has become as a man without glory. Her glorious vessels have been carried away into captivity, her infants are slain in the streets, and her young men with the sword of the enemy."

"But, father," spoke up Judas, who had arisen and was striding up and down the small room in great agitation, "why should we permit such things?"

"How can it be helped when we are in the hands of so powerful a one as Antiochus?" replied the father, with an air of utter discouragement. "Hath he not settled a great army in Judah and have the people which he has brought in filled Jerusalem, so that whatever way you turn you are face to face with a blasphemous and arrogant Gentile? What nation is not in our midst to strip Judah of her glory and lead the Jews astray? The free woman of the Jews has become the slave of our conquerors. And the Gentiles do daily profane the temple with their presence. Yea, to what end, therefore, shall we live any longer?"

From that day forth Mattathias and his sons put on sackcloth and mourned very sore.

Not long after this, certain officers of the Jews came to Modin, the place where Mattathias and his sons dwelt, for the purpose of establishing the worship of the heathen gods which the king had caused to be set up. And all the people round about the city were gathered together, and Mattathias and his sons went out to see how matters stood. And when the people saw Mattathias in their midst they withstood the demands of the officers of the king and would not worship before the heathen altar when commanded.

Now when the officers perceived the way matters stood and knew that the influence of Mattathias was great, they took him and his sons one side into the tent of the chief officer and spoke many soft and pleasant words, saying:

"Thou art a ruler and an honorable and great man in this city, and strengthened with sons and brethren. Now, therefore, come thou first, and fill the king's commandment, like as all the heathen have done, yea, and the men of Juda also and such as remain at Jerusalem: so shalt thou and thy house be in the number of the king's friends, and thou and thy children shall be honored with silver and gold and many rewards."

Mattathias' face was a study when the servant of the king was speaking, and his sons who surrounded him were uncertain whether the indignation which he felt within would burst forth and lead him to do violence to the man or not. With a mighty effort he controlled himself, and his voice shook the air as he shouted:

"Though all the nations that are under the king's dominion obey him, and fall away every man from the religion of their fathers, and give consent to his commandments; yet will I and my sons and my brethren walk in the covenant of our fathers. God forbid that we should forsake the laws and ordinances. We will not hearken to the king's words, to go from our religion, either on the right hand or on the left."

Now when he had left speaking these words, there came one of the Jews in the sight of all to sacrifice on the altar which was at Modin, according to the king's commandment. Which thing when Mattathias saw, he was inflamed with zeal, and he trembled violently, so great was his anger. Then rushing forward he drew his sword and slew the man upon the altar. Which when he had done he turned himself about and was about to speak, when his eyes fell upon the king's commissioner who had caused the people to depart from the true worship, and leaping from the altar, he thrust his sword into his vitals, and as he lay writhing in death agonies upon the ground, he and his sons tore down the altar.

Such a bold deed soon aroused the city, and while the soldiers were gathering Mattathias and his sons fled through the city crying:

"Whosoever is zealous of the law, and maintaineth the covenant let him [illegible]

White Steamers Use Kerosene as Fuel

THE WHITE STEAMER WHICH MADE A SUCCESSFUL PUBLIC DEMONSTRATION OF KEROSENE AS FUEL ON THE RECENT 2650-MILE GLIDDEN TOUR.

The most interesting announcement ever made in connection with the automobile industry was undoubtedly that made a month or two ago to the effect that the new models of the White Steam Cars could be run on kerosene, or coal oil, instead of gasoline. Everyone at once recognized that the use of the new fuel would add materially to the advantages which the White already possessed over other types of cars. There were some people, however, who were sceptical as to whether or not the new fuel could be used with complete success, and, therefore, the makers of the White Car, the White Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, determined to make a public demonstration of the new fuel in the 1909 Glidden Tour.

From the standpoint of the public, no test more satisfactory could have been selected. First of all, the distance covered on the Glidden Tour, from Detroit to Denver and thence to Kansas City, was 2650 miles. This was certainly more than sufficient to bring out any weaknesses, if such had existed. Still more important was the fact that the car was at all times while on the road under the supervision of observers, named by those who entered other contesting cars. Therefore, it would have been impossible for the driver of the White to have even tightened a bolt without the fact being noted and a penalty inflicted. At night the cars were guarded by Pinkerton detectives and could not be approached by any one.

The complete success of the new fuel while on the 2650-mile public test and the advantages gained through its use were well described in the following dispatch which the correspondent of the New York Sun sent to his paper at the conclusion of the tour:

"A feature of the tour which was watched with special interest was that the White Steamer used kerosene, or 'coal oil,' as fuel instead of gasoline. The new fuel worked splendidly throughout the 2650-mile journey, and all claims made in its behalf were fully proven. First of all, as regards cheapness, the White driver secured kerosene all along the route from 6 cents to 10 cents cheaper per gallon than was paid for gasoline. Secondly, the new fuel was handled without any precautions, and it was not unusual to see kerosene being poured into the fuel tank while the crew of the car and an interested crowd stood by with lighted cigars and cigarettes. At the finish of the tour, the White was the only car permitted by the authorities to enter Convention Hall, where the technical examination took place, without draining its fuel tank. Thirdly, the new fuel proved to be absolutely without smoke or smell. Fourthly, kerosene could be purchased at whatever part of the route was most convenient, and not once during the trip through the ten States of the Middle West was there found a grocery store where kerosene was not readily and cheaply obtainable. Finally, the amount of fuel used on the trip showed that kerosene is at least fifteen per cent. more efficient, gallon for gallon, than gasoline. The car in other respects made a most creditable showing, and there was the usual rivalry among the observers to be assigned to the White so that they could ride with the maximum of comfort. The only adjustments or repairs charged against the car during the long trip were tightening a lubricator pipe and wiring a damaged mud guard. These penalties were not inflicted until more than 2000 miles had been completed with an absolutely perfect score."

A particularly interesting feature of the new White Steamer is that either kerosene or gasoline may be used as fuel. The necessary adjustments so that the fuel may be changed from kerosene to gasoline, or vice versa, may be made in a couple of minutes; but so completely successful has kerosene proved to be, that it is not believed that any purchasers will care to use gasoline.

The White Company report that the demand for their new steam cars—both the $2000-model and the $4000-model—exceed their most sanguine expectations. It is evident that the combination of steam—the power which everyone understands and has confidence in—with kerosene—the fuel which everyone has on hand and can handle without any danger—is thoroughly appreciated by up-to-date purchasers of automobiles.

And All with Company There.

"Now, children," said the mother, as a whole roomful of company had come in, "suppose you run off and play by yourselves."

"All right, mother," replied Edith. "Can we go up and play Hamlet and Ophelia?"

"Certainly," smiled the mother, while her guests looked on at the tableau.

"Goody!" replied Edith; then, turning to her sister, she said: "Now, Maude, you run up to mamma's room and get all her false hair that you can find."—Judge.

Do your feet ever feel tired, achy and sore at night? Rub them with a little Hamlins Wizard Oil. They'll be glad in the morning and so will you.

I have lived to know that the secret of happiness is never to allow your energies to stagnate.—Adam Clarke.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Her string is soon worn out if a girl has too many beaux.

IF YOUR CHILD NEEDS A TONIC

—if your little boy or girl is delicate and sickly—go to the nearest druggist and get a bottle of

Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge

This splendid tonic has been successful for four generations in making sickly children strong and healthy, and effectively expelling worms.

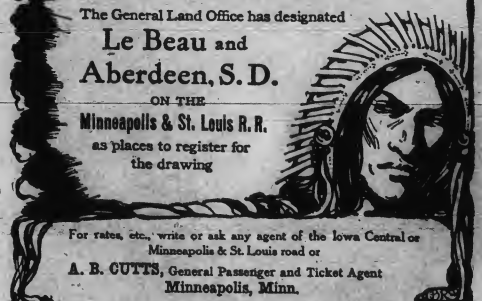
It is likewise a natural tonic for adults, and restores lasting health and strength to "run-down" systems by toning up the stomach and other digestive organs.

Sold by All Druggists—

Bartlett College

The School that trains for Expert Positions as Bookkeepers, Stenographers, for the Civil Service Examinations and for Teachers. It is the oldest in years, the most progressive in methods and the most advanced in Systems. Both Gregg and Pitman Systems of Shorthand taught. Write for our New Catalog. Address T. W. BOOKMYER, President

BARTLETT COLLEGE, 1005 TRIBUNE BLDG., CINCINNATI, OHIO



LAST CHANCE TO GET 160 ACRES OF LAND FREE!

CHEYENNE RIVER RESERVATION

3,000,000 Acres

of good land will be thrown open to Settlers Oct. 4th to 23rd, '09.

The General Land Office has designated Le Beau and Aberdeen, S. D. ON THE Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R. as places to register for the drawing

For rates, etc., write or ask any agent of the Iowa Central or Minneapolis & St. Louis road or

A. B. CUTTS, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Minneapolis, Minn.

This Trade-mark Eliminates All Uncertainty

in the purchase of paint materials. It is an absolute guarantee of purity and quality. For your own protection, see that it is on the side of every keg of white lead you buy.

NATIONAL LEAD Company, 1902 Trinity Building, New York

RUBBER STAMPS

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 37–1909.

Sticky Sweating Palms

after taking salts or cathartic waters—did you ever notice that weary all gone feeling—the palms of your hands sweat—and rotten taste in your mouth — Cathartics only move by sweating your bowels —Do a lot of hurt—Try a CASCARET and see how much easier the job is done — how much better you feel.

CASCARETS 10c a [illegible] Druggist, all over [illegible]

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to recieve snbscriptions and collect other accounts.

Miss Vina Richey, of Latonia, was the guest of the Misses Graham, Sunday.

G. Wesley Murphy, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday here with his parents, Geo. Murphy and wife.

Mrs. Sara Barss, of Maysville, was the guest of Mrs. Elisha Hudson, of near town, the past week.

Dr. R. P. Thomas, of Glencoe, and Jas. L. Hendrix, of Napoleon, were here Monday on business.

Mr. O. P. Maxwell and children returned Monday from a pleasant visit to relatives at Ryle, Gallatin-co.

Prof. Cleveland Hedges and wife, of New York, were guests of his parents, Jas. Hedges and wife, the past week.

Miss Virginia Graham, who has been seriously ill with fever, is on the road to recovery and will soon be able to be out again.

Mrs. George Graham, of Covington, is spending a couple of weeks with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Black at "White Haven" near Union.

Mrs. John T. Williford and three children, of Ryle, Gallatin-co, spent a couple of days the first of the week here the guests of J. T. Boulton and family.

Miss Emma Graham, our popular young milliner, is spending a couple of weeks at Cincinnati in the wholesale house getting fall pattern hats ready for the fall opening.

Louis Short, of East Walnut Hills, Ohio, and Wesley Murphy of this place enjoyed a pleasant visit to New Albany, Ind., last week, and were the guests of Miss Martha Enos and Miss Merd Williams.

Wm. B. Norman, who recently returned from Harveysburg, Ohio, has accepted a clerkship in the store of Edward Bros. He is a first-class clerk and will add to the business of the establishment.

Mrs. W. H. Beall, of Warsaw, and Miss Thomas, of Georgetown, were here Mouday, enroute to Georgetown. Miss Thomas returning home from a visit and Mrs. Beall going there to spend a couple of weeks with relatives.

Mrs. M. E. Fields entertained Jno. Matson and wife with a six o'clock dinner Monday evening at her pretty home near town previous to their departure for Atlanta, Ga., from which point Mr. and Mrs. Matson will go to Daytonia, Fla., for the winter.

Hon. Robt. L. Johnson and H. A. Bobrink, of Lawrenceburg, Indiana, were visitors here last Friday. Mr. Johnson is mayor of Lawrenceburg, and Mr. Bobrink is connected with the banking interest of that city, and both are very clever, affable gentlemen.

The protracted meeting at Walton Christian church, conducted by Rev. Merit Owen, of Carthage, Ohio, and Rev. Edgar Riley, the pastor, of Burlington, is meeting with very satisfactory results and having a large attendance. The preaching and the singing are very attractive.

W. H. Strange, of Munsfordsville, Hart county, was here Friday making arrangements for the Farmers' Institute to be held at Walton on the 29th and 30th inst., when an extensive and very interesting program will be rendered at the opera house. The Institute will be conducted by John G. Blair, of Carlisle, Nicholas county, and W. D. Mitchell, of Bloomfield, Nelson county, assisted by local talent. Mr. Strange was a member of the last Kentucky legislature, and is preparing the program for the institutes to be held by the farmers in this district, and assisting in the organization of the farmers.

Mrs. Mary E. Fields entertained the following guests at her country home near Walton last Sunday: Richard Carran, sr., Miss Stella Carran, Miss Sarah Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carran, Richard Carran, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Otis Acra, Ernest DeMolsey, all of Ludlow; Mrs. Bettie Davies of Florida, Robert Langfelt, Miss Bertha Taylor, Lee Langfelt, of Covington; Claude Rice, of Los Angeles, California, Mrs. Lizzie Carpenter and son, and Miss Maggie Rice, of Richwood, and Miss Louvenia Edwards, of Walton; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hist, of Covington. A very pleasant day was spent together at this hospitable home.

J. Waite Cross, who recently secured a position as traveling salesman of the Capewell Horse Nail Co. at St. Louis, writes from that place that he has just returned from a two weeks' trip through Ozark and Douglas counties, Missouri, with the head salesman who instructed him in the general details of the business. There are no railroads in either county, and the trip had to be made in a buggy over mountains and under the most trying conditions, having to walk some times and hold the buggy to keep it from overturning. But it is a good selling territory and Mr. Cross writes that one would be surprised at the good quality of the stores and the amount of goods that can be sold in the territory. He says the corn crop in Missouri has been burned up in places by the extensive dry weather. He expects to be home at Walton during the Christmas holidays, and in the meantime he is having the Recorder sent to him to give him the news from Boone county. Mr. Cross sends his kindest regards to all of his friends in this quarter.

On Thursday of last week, S. M. Billiter, wife and three children, had for their guests to the Florence Fair, in their handsome touring car, Judge J. D. McMillan and wife and John Conard. Elbert McMillan was the chauffeur. After spending the day [illegible] early started for home [illegible] half past four o'clock [illegible] the railroad crossing [illegible] discovered [illegible] Cincinnati at [illegible] ties. The engineer on the train, seeing that a collision was inevitable if the car come on to the crossing, got busy with his lever and brakes, reversing instantly and locking every wheel. The automobile and train came to a stand still at the same time and side by side and so close together that they could shake hands with each other in congratulation over their next to miraculous deliverance, without leaving their seats. No member of the party cares to ever repeat the experience.—Williamstown Courier.

Lumber, Shiugles and Tobacco Sticks.

Our large saw mill and lumber yard is now in full operation at Walton, Ky., near the L. & N. Railroad depot, and we solicit the patronage of the public needing anything in the lumber line as we have a full assortment at the bottom prices. Cedar shingles at $3.75 per 1,000. Choice lot of Tobacco Sticks. Get estimates from us on lumber bills, and call and see us when convenient.

Respectfully yours,
G. W. MAINES, Walton, Ky.

Custom Grinding.

The new flouring mill firm of W. O. Rouse & Co., Walton, Ky., invite the patronage of the public to their enlarged facilities for handling exchange milling for which the most liberal conditions will be extended to all having wheat to grind. They also pay the highest market price for good, dry wheat. Call or write them, or telephone.

W. O. ROUSE & Co., Walton, Ky

BASE BALL.

The game of ball which the Burlington and Belleview teams began playing here last Saturday afternoon, was a splendid game for six innings, the score standing 1 to 1, only three hits having been made off of each pitcher. The visitors had played their half of the seventh inning and failed to score. In the seventh inning Sandford got up in the air and gave two Burlington men their base on balls, while another had reached first on an error at short. With all the bases full and a strike on Walton, Sandford made what Burlington claimed to be the rankest kind of a balk, but which the umpire, who had asserted that he was not familiar with the rules, did not call. An argument resulted and some of the visitors, as though it was premeditated, ran in from the out field, yelling, "let's quit," and in a few minutes three of them had gone. Instead of trying to compromise the matter some of the Burlington boys continued to quibble over the technicality until many of the spectators became disgusted at their conduct, and the proceedings resulted in the hardest jolt base ball ever got here. Many who have been regular patrons of the game were so disgusted at the unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of some of the players on each team that they declare they will nevergo to see another game. The teams ought to have born in mind that the people had paid to see a game of ball between two clubs that claimed to be composed of sportsmen, teams on which there were no quitters nor players who would deprive them, by quibbling, of that for which they had paid. It is a pleasure to note, however, that the abrupt termination of the game was due only to the conduct of three or four players in each team. Base ball players must understand that those who pay at the gate have some rights that must be respected or the game will be dumped by the public.

The Burlington and Erlanger ball teams hooked up at the local park, last Monday afternoon. The contest throughout was conducted in a most gentlemanly manner by both teams, although the result was one sided being 12 to 6 in favor of Burlington. Shinkle and Slayback were the battery for the local team, Shinkle holding the Erlanger sluggers down to 7 hits, and struck out 14. Bentler was in the box for the visitors at the beginning of the game but lasted only five innings, during which eleven hits were made off of him. He was succeeded by Victor, who allowed only two hits darling the remainder of the game. Bentler struck out one man in five lnnings, and Victor 6 in three innings.

In the 16 innings that Shinkle has pitched for the Burlington team this year he has struck out 28 men. A good catcher is a great help to the pitcher.

Miss Mollie Conner, daughter of the late Lewis Conner, of Hebron neighborhood, committed suicide by hanging, last Monday. As she had not been seen for some time it is not known how long she had been dead when found. She had been treated in a sanitarium some time since.

Robt. Wilson, son of R. M. Wilson, left home August 29th, since which time nothing has been heard of him. Any information as to his whereabouts will be gladly received by his wife near Burlington.

NOTICE.—The Confederate Cross of Honor will be conferred on Dr. H. H. Hays, of Bullittsville, on the 26th inst., in Covington, by Ason Madeira Chapter U. D. C.

Ed Botts, proprietor of Sorrel Horse stock farm, Plattsburg, sold to Atty. O. M. Rogers, of Erlanger, a few days ago, a yearling Wilstar colt for $150.

Rev. Brooks, Baptist, is engaged in a very interesting protracted meeting at Petersburg. Services every day at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m.

NOTICE, TAX-PAYERS.

The Taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the places and on the dates named below to collect 1909 taxes:

Beaver, July 12th and October 11th.
Verona, July 13th and October 12th.
Walton, July 14th and October 13th.
Bullittsville, July 15th and Oct. 21st.
Constance, July 16th and October 8th.
Union, July 19th and October 18th.
Big Bone, July 20th and October 19th.
Petersburg, July 22d and October 15th.
Bellevue, July 23d and October 14th.
Florence, July 26th and October 20th.
Rabbit Hash, July 27th and Oct. 7th.
Hebron, October 22d.
Gunpowder, October 25th.
Richwood, October 26th.

Rates—State, 50c; County, 25c; School, 15c on the $100.

Poll-Tax—County, $1 50; School, 50c; Dog Tax: $1 00.

All unpaid taxes become delinquent after November 30th. 6 per cent penalty, due county and state, added December 1st on all delinquent taxes; 6 per cent commission in addition to penalty is allowed Sheriff for collecting delinquent taxes. Cost of levying, 60c; advertising: $1 00. Delinquent Taxes bear 6 per cent interest from Nov. 30th uutil paid.

M. F. WINGATE,
Sheriff Boone County.

Fisher's Liniment.

These stores sell Fisher's Family Liniment, of Lawrenceburg, 25c and 50 cents. It's guaranteed:

Miss Buchanan, Petersburg;
Luther Scothorn, Idlewild;
Riley & Gaar, Bullittsville;
W. A. Bullock, Hebron;
W. R. Tanner, Constance;
Quigley & Beemon, Limaburg;
Kelly & Roberts, Burlington;
Rogers Bros., Belleview.
J. W. Kite, Waterloo;
C. G. Riddell, Rabbit Hash;
Tom Huff, Hamilton;
Douglas Moore, Big Bone;
Jerry Jackson, Hume;
L. J. Hume, Verona;
Smith's Drug Store, Walton;
Beaver Mercantile Co., Beaver;
Claud Carpenter, Union;
J. W. Williams, Gunpowder;
B. C. Surface, Dixon Station;
L. D. Jackson, Richwood;
S. Berberick, Nicholson;
N. S. Blau, Independence;
James Steffins, Sandfordtown;
Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger;
Henry Oelsner, Florence.

"$2,000.00"

Mr. Luther Guthrie, of Beaufort, N. C. spent money freely in employing doctors to cure his wife from continual headache. He writes:

"One bottle of Cardui did my wife more good than anything she has taken for ten years past. She had suffered with headache for ten years and I had spent $300.00 for doctors' bills for her, but nothing did her any good.

Take CARDUI

She has taken two bottles of Cardui and it has done her two thousand dollars ($2,000) worth of good. Just as long as it is made, I shall have Cardui in my home."

For all forms of female pain, like headache, side ache, pain in limbs, dizzy feelings, dragging down sensations, etc —Cardui has been found to be an effectual remedy. Don't wait till you are "all run down."

Try Cardui at once.
Sold everywhere.

E 46

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

FARM FOR SALE.

140 acres, 2½ miles from Burlington, Ky., on which there is a frame house of 6 rooms and porch, tenant house, 2 barns, all necessary outbuildings, 3 cisterns and well, 7 never-failing springs, large pond, orchard and timber. All in grass except 13 acres in cultivation; all under good fence—good dairy farm; ¾ mile to good school. For further information call on or address

JAMES WILLIAM UTZ,
R. R. 1. Florence, Ky.
Phone 64, Bell connection.

FOR RENT.

125 acre farm on Woolper, Boone county, Ky., about 20 acres for wheat, 25 acres for corn, 4 acres for tobacco, balance in grass and timber. Good 7-room house, cistern, orchard and all necessary outbuildings, 2 tobacco barns. Terms cash first of March. Call on or address C. J. SEBEEN, 207 Miami Ave., Cleves, Ohio. sept-9

For Sale—Good [illegible] mill. Year [illegible]

Believing that the people of Kentucky will be interested in the organization of the

Citizens National Life Insurance Company

Believing that they WANT such a company; believing that they will SUPPORT such a company by subscribing for its stock—we will publish in this paper every week the amount of subscriptions to date. The work of getting subscriptions was begun Monday, July 26; and below are the amounts of subscriptions for each week:

First Week, August 2
$106,960.00

Total Second Week, August 9,
$200,240.00

Total Third Week, August 16,
$345,000.00

Total Fourth Week, August 23,
$469,460.00

Tatal Fifth Week, August 30,
$601,700.00

Total Sixth week, September 6,
$738,220.00

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED, FILL OUT AND MAIL THIS COUPON.

W. H. GREGORY, LOUISVILLE, KY.

Boone County Recorder, Burlington, Ky.

Please send me full information as to the CITIZENS NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

NAME

Address

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Spring and Summer samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices.

All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,

HEBRON, KY.

Administrators Notice.

All persons indebted to the estate of O. W. Gaines, dec'd, will come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate will present them to the undersigned properly proven.

MARY V. GAINES, Admr'x.

FOR SALE.

100,000 Oak Tobacco Sticks.
THE J. D. MAYHUGH MFG. Co.
Walton, Ky.

C. H. ACRA, AUCTIONEER

GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

Take the Recorder

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,
WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.
CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.
Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

FARM FOR SALE.

101 acres 2½ miles from Florence, on good road, dwelling of 7 rooms, two barns, all necessary out buildings, never failing well in yard, 7 never failing springs, nice young orchard, good fencing, all in grass except 20 acres that is in corn. For further information call on or address Henry L. Tanner, Florence, R. R. No. 1. Boone County Consolidated Telephone, No. 112 North.

NOTICE.

Those indebted to me for the service of the Stallion, Ace of Trumps, and my Jack for 1908, are requested to come forward and settle at once.

aug 25 4t T. E. RANDALL.

FOR SALE.

Two vacant lots in town of Walton, Boone County, Ky., situated on the north side of High St.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875.
Subsciption $1.50 year.
Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 15, 1909. NO 48.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

HATHAWAY.

Sept. 18.—Some few are about done housing tobacco.—R. Lee Huey is having his 90 ton silo filled.—Elijah Stephens began teaching the public school here last Monday.—P. O. Neal has for sale 100 bushels of seed rye.—Willie Smith commenced teaching the public school Beech Grove today.—Dave Willinson caught a 3-pound bass with hook and line one day last week.—Some day last week Kirb Conner, of Cincinnati, and Ray Conner and their families and Mrs. Dr. Richardson and children of Rising Sun, all came out on Gunpowder for an outing and a good time fishing, bathing etc., they enjoyed the sport very much and returned home very well pleased.

ERLANGER.

Owen Hoard had for his guest, Sunday Mr. Brent Fight, of Covington.—Miss Ethel Bramalage was the guest of Miss Lauretta Geiger, last Sunday.—Miss Fannie Prockner, of Grant county, is here with her sister, Mrs. T. Foster.—Miss Lola Geiger was the week's end guest of her cousin, Miss Jennie Geiger.—The G. T. Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Ed Westerman next week.—The S. S. Home Department will meet at the home of Mrs. Maxie Tuesday.—Carl Edwards has returned after a visit with relatives and friends at Dry Ridge.—R. C. Hoard spent Saturday and Sunday at Sherman with his daughter, Mrs. Ethel Martin.—Leroy Foster entertained a number of guests Tuesday in honor of Miss Fannie Proctor.

PT. PLEASANT.

A piano is for sale here at the church put there by the Woodmanse Co., Cincinnati.—Quite a number from this neighborhood attended the convention at Hebron Thursday in spite of bad weather, and a very pleasant and profitable day was spent.—Mr. B. F. McGlasson and M. L. Kenyon attended the convention at Walton, Saturday, as delegates.—Warren England is building a house to be his future residence. Kent Whitcome, of Latonia, is the caretaker and is staying with his sister Mrs. Kate Tupman.—A musical program was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Tanner, Sept. 11, at 2 p. m, by the pupils of Mrs. Craven. The numbers were most delightfully rendered. The audience was also favored by several vocal selections rendered by Mrs. Charles Tyler and an instrumental duet by Misses Virgie Riggs and Mrs. Craven. A concert will be given for the benefit of the church in the near future by Mrs. Craven's pupils. Due notice will be given.

BELLEVIEW.

Many are about through cutting and housing tobacco.—Quite a number from here attended the Harvest Home last Saturday.—Chas. Maurer and wife, Ewing Flick and his sister Masella, and J. L. Kite and wife, attended the Christian church convention at Walton, last Saturday.—Maurer and Flick represented the Belleview Christian church as delegates. They report the convention a success.—Bro. Edgar C. Riley will preach here next Saturday night. He hopes to meet each and every member at the service.—Don't forget to come on Monday night, the 20th, at 7 o'clock p. m., and hear Bro. W. Douglas Darnall, of Guthrie.—Amy Smith, of Lawrenceburg, is here visiting her Aunts Mrs. Laura Botts and Mrs. Genis Green.—Our Belleview correspondent extends thanks and appreciates the courtesy shown him by the dear old RECORDER, for a complimentary ticket to the Harvest Home, but circumstances prevented him from using it, but that did not lessen the spirit in which it was given.

GRANT.

Mr. and Mrs. Cad Berkshire, of Middle creek, were treated to a pleasant surprise, last Saturday evening, by their many friends and relatives from here and Rising Sun, the occasion being the 20th anniversary of their marriage. About forty people were present, each bringing some delicacy of the season, loading the supper table with tempting viands. Mr. and Mrs. Berkshire also received many handsome presents from those present and it was an enjoable evening that will be long remembered by those who participated.—Henry Lindenburn and wife and Miss Rose Lindenburn were guests of Joseph Maurer and family Sunday.—Wade Ryle and wife and Sunday with Pepper Smith and wife.—The cannery is having trouble about getting empty cans.—400 bushel were made into kraut.—The brick layers are working on the second story of the new M. E. building.—Misses Genevieve and Thelma Powell and their brother Master Wilford, of Indiana, were the guests at W. W. Grant's.—Douglas Neace is home from Conersville on a visit, and when he returns he will take Al Smith with him.

For Sale—Good Jersey cow—first calf. Apply to J. P. Tanner.

IDLEWILD.

Sept. 11.—Mrs. H. C. Duncan was down to Idlewild last Saturday, the first time she has been away from home since her recovery from the typhoid fever.

If as many went to the Harvest Home on other roads as passed through Pnshburg it was a record breaker.

A great many logs are being hauled to the mill at Idlewild. The mill gives a few a good chance to lay in a supply of wood.

We believe turkeys will bring a good price this fall and winter as there is a short crop, at least its short in this neighborhood.

The Baptist association at Bullittsburg church Wednesday and Thursday was largely attended each day. The rain Thursday didn't lessen the crown much if any.

Samuel Houston moved from Bullittsville to Cleves, the last of last week. He took with him the best looking young lady in Bullittsville, and it is said relieved the town of 14 dogs.

There is a cataract growing on one of Albert Gray's eyes, and it is so bad that he cannot see out of it. He was up to the city to an eye specialist last month and will go again this month.

Uncle Josh Masters, of Bullittsville, has gone down on Ashby on Saturday morning for the last three weeks and helped his son in his tobacco until Tuesday evening of the next week.

We are sorry to report the death of Josephine Vinson, daughter of Joseph Vinson and wife, (nee Walton). She died at her home near Wrights Corner, Ind., Sept. 1, and interred at Petersburg on Sept 3d.

Ed Lonisker, star route mail carrier from Idlewild to Ludlow, and who has been living in Bullittsville, has moved back to Idlewild, Omer McGuire having thrown up the job of carrying from Idlewild to Bullittsville on his bike.

Geo. Keaton and Ben Jones, of Bullittsville, and Samuel Rogers, of Cincinnati, and their families, were Sunday guests of T. C. Masters, of Ashby. Mr. Keaton and Mr. Rogers are sons-in-law of Mr. Jones.

Mrs. Wm. Hall, of Gaines Height, is the first to respond to our call for a glass of jelly from each of our neighbors and friends. It is no baby glass, it is nearer a pint can than glass. We swatted her one in return with a basket of fine peaches.

Some weeks since we were asked the age of the Bullittsburg church. We don't know whether they meant the organization of the church or the church building, but we couldn't answer either at the time. We have since learned that the 100th anniversary of the organization of the church was celebrated when the last association was held at the church, which was 15 years ago this fall. The church building is near 100 years old. The source from which we received this information is reliable.

GUNPOWDER.

W. H. Rice, who has been confined to his bed with a severe case of typhoid fever for about three weeks, is on the road to recovery.—Pioneer Day, a Centennial exercise consisting of the songs the pioneer sang and up-to-date addresses, at the Christian church, Florence next Saturday at 7:30 p. m.—Harvey, son of M. F. Barlow, is seriously sick.—Ezra Blankenbeker and wife, Misses Edna Barlow and Alma Blankenbeker, Mrs. J. M. Utz and H. F. Utz, mixed up with L. N. Crigler's auto on their way to church last Sunday. Miss Barlow was thrown from the buggy, Mr. Utz let his horse go and went to her assistance and succeeded in getting things adjusted. While there was no serious damage done it was a narrow escape for them.—School opened at Pleasant Ridge last Monday with Mr. Rageubgen, teacher.—Mrs. House's obituary will appear next week.

LIMABURG.

The men are busy housing tobacco.—Prof. D. I. Tanner and family, of Newport, are spending a few days with Mr. L. Tanner and family.—Mrs. L. E. Aylor, of Ludlow, is spending a few days with her sister-in-law while her husband is in Nebraska.—Jerry Beemon and family entertained Mrs. Alice Daughters, J. F. Utz Will Garnett and family and Mrs. Henry Quick and daughter Sunday.—Dr. Cole and wife are visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Bradford.

BUFFALO.

Sept. 13th.—Cutting and housing tobacco is the order of the day, several of the farmers having finished.—L. W. Adams, of Cincinnati, spent Saturday night and Sunday with his mother Mrs. P. A. Weaver.—James F. Ryle, from near Burlington, has bought a considerable lot of fruit in this neighborhood.—P. P. Neal has built an addition to his house.—Miss Nellie Rouse left last Thursday for Danville, Ind., where she will attend school for a few months.

For Sale—McCormack corn binder in good order—just the thing to cut silo corn. Apply to J. B. Gaston, Devon.

DEVON.

Master Elmer Groger is improving nicely from typhoid fever.

Howard Stafford, of Independence, was a visitor here recently.

The Teachers Institute of Kenton county was in session at Independence, last week.

Emile Rivard, Devon's young attorney, made a business trip to Oakley, Ohio, a few days ago.

B. C. Surface and wife had as their guests recently Messrs. Howe and Freckling, of Hamilton, Ohio.

The school at Beech Grove began Sept. 13th, in charge of Miss May Sandford, who is a proficient teacher.

Messrs. Howard Callahan and Herman Craven, of Verona, and Fred Connely, of Newport, were guests of friends here a few days ago.

Mrs. Clay's little daughter, Edith, whom the physicians thought was taking typhoid fever, we are glad to report, had a case of poisoning, and will soon be well.

Mrs. Cora Davies and little daughter, Annie Marie, of Dayton, were guests of Miss Camila Perry a few days last week.—Effie Hogriffe of near Independence, who has been quite sick, is improving.—Mrs. Alfred Rivard had for her guests last week Mr. and Mrs. Majors of Chicago.—Laban Carpenter, formerly of this place but now of Latonia, will enter the Cincinnati College of Pharmacy Sept. 13th.—Miss Flosrie Vaughn, of Walnut Hills, is a guest of her aunt, Mrs. Jennie Vaughn.—Miss Jane Bristow and Master Jas. Bristow will attend Prof. Lucy's High School at Independence, this year.—Miss May Sandford of Covington will begin her school here Sept. 20th.

James Carey had a barn raising on Wednesday.—Mrs. Geo. Meiman and daughter, Frances, were guests of J. Meiman and wife, Friday.—Mrs. Charles Scott and daughter, Lucille, were visiting friends near Devon, Thursday.—Robert Rouse, returned, Monday evening from Alexandria fair, and reported a jolly good time.—Mrs. Lou Bristow is quite indisposed—The Devon postoffice is a thing of the past. The patrons are receiving their mail by Erlanger R. F. D.

RICHWOOD.

Earl Robinson has returned to school at Lexington.

Albert Robinson cut 700 sticks of tobacco in one day, which was going some.

The farmers here observed labor day in their corn fields and tobacco patches.

Charles, Ben and Theodore Carpenter, and Wood Carpenter and wife attended the fair at Alexandria.

Theodore Carpenter's Ormonde colt wore two blues at Alexandria. It made four shows at three fairs and took first premium each time.

Silos have become quite popular in this neighborhood, and material was received here last week for four, and John Finnell, John Cleek and Jasper Booth will each build one in time for use this fall.

HEBRON.

Mrs. Joseph Schwarts is very ill.—Ed Stephens and wife, of Richwood, and Mrs. Martha Stephens and Miss Maud Stephens, of Erlanger, were Sunday guests at Jacob Lodge's.—The Sunday School convention held at the church here last Wednesday evening and Thursday was attended by a large crowd, and the proceedings were very interesting to all. An abundant and splendidly prepared dinner was served at the church on Thursday.—A protracted meeting will begin at the church here next Sunday night.—This community was shocked by the death of Miss Mollie Conner on Monday of last week. The funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Walterick, last Wednesday, at 10 a. m. She left two brothers and one sister to mourn her death. At the age of 18 she united with the Lutheran church, and for 35 years was a faithful member. She was always ready to go to the relief of those in distress.—Mrs. Mollie Aylor, wife of Martin L. Aylor, died on the 10th inst., of consumption, leaving a husband, four sons and one daughter to mourn her death. She was a loving wife and indulgent mother, whose place cannot be filled. She bore her long suffering with a true christian spirit. The funeral services were held at the Hebron church last Sunday at 10 o'clock.

SULLITTSVILLE.

About 50 guests from this and adjoining neighborhoods, were entertained in a most delightful manner by Mr. and Mrs. John Gaar, last Saturday night. The Zellers colored band, of Burlington, made sweet music to which flying feet kept time.—The hospitable home of T. G. Willis was the scene of much merriment a few days since, about 30 guests participating.—Chasi Stephens has an ear of corn that is 15 inches long.—A horse driven by Misses Carrie Graves and Pauline Alden, and belonging to Hubert Walton, of Petersburg, scared at a dog on the street there last Sunday afternoon, and turned the buggy over. Fortunately neither of the ladies was seriously hurt.

RICHWOOD.

Albert Robinson was second in the hitching contest at the Harvest Home.—Our ball team plays the Mason team on the 19th on their ground.—Theo. Carpenter's Ormande colt captured a blue at Erlanger and Florence, two at Alexandria, and second at the Harvest Home.—J. T. Powers and wife spent a day at the Newport fair.—The usual amount of entertaining has been done in this neighborhood the past week.

NORTH BEND.

John Feely was the first in this neighborhood to finish cutting tobacco.

Our public school has been in progress since the 6th inst., Leslie Harrison teacher.

The Junior Order, of Addyston, presented Sand Hill school with a flag, the raising taking place last Sunday.

Through the kindness of Mr. S. Wilson the Junior Order, of Addyston, Ohio, presented common school district No. 16 (Sand Hill) with a handsome flag which was raised at 2 p. m., last Sunday, with speeches appropriate to the occasion. Prof. V. G. Henderson, principal of Addyston High School, made the opening address, and spoke eloquently along the line of school improvement in Kentucky. He was followed by Dr. Hanna, Mr. Hay and H. L. Harrison, the latter accepting the flag on behalf of the district. Although the afternoon was warm about 75 Jurniors turned out, walking about a mile after crossing the river, which shows an earnestness of purpose on their part, while on an errand of patriotism. This side of the river was fairly well represented considering the fact that so few knew of the event. All present went home seeming to have been well paid for their trip.

UNION.

Mrs. J. J. Garrison entertained her sister, Miss Violet, of Walton, several days the past week.—Mrs. Sallie Hicks, of Richwood, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Voshell.—Mrs. Sallie Anderson and Mrs. Helen Corbin returned, Tuesday, from Sadieville, where they attended the Old School Baptist Association.—F. D. Norman and wife left, Sunday, for their home in Anniston, Alabama, after a three weeks' visit with relatives here.—Miss Emma Henser, of Newport, spent from Wednesday until Monday with Mrs. Rachal.—Mr. and Mrs. John Maish, of Avondale, Ohio, were guests of their cousin, Miss Nannie Burkett, last week.—Miss Clara Stephens left, Saturday, for Grant county, where she will teach in one of the public schools.—C. P. Baker left, the first of the week, for French Lick.—Lost—A black umbrella with natural wood handle, between Union and Erlanger. Finder will please notify Mrs. W. M. Rachal at this place.—Protracted services will begin at the Union Presbyterian church on Monday evening, Sept. 20, at 7;30 o'clock. The pastor will be assisted by Rev. P. S. Rhodes, of Washington. Everyone is cordially invited to attend and help make these services a blessing to the comniunity. There will be preaching every morning at 10 o'clock and every evening at 7:30. Young and prayer service will begin at 7:15 every evening.

PETERSBURG.

Miss Sara Parker, of Ludlow, visited Miss Pauline Aiden, Saturday and Sunday.—Miss Margaret McWethy, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Jennie Gordon.—Mrs. Zemah Bradley and little daughter, Alpha, left Saturday, for Winchester, where they will make an extended visit with relatives.—Quite a number of people from here attended the lecture at Burlington, last Friday night, given by Rev. Noell Gaines. They were highly entertained and all felt they were well paid for taking the trip.—Messrs. Hensley and Crisler returned Sunday from a week's visit at Olney, Ill., with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Will Crisler.—Prof. Willis Tandy, of Sanders, and Miss Margaret Whitehead, of Carrollton, arrived here Saturday to take charge of the High school.—Misses Ethel Simpson, Hattie and Mattie Leek and Lucile Berkshire left, Saturday, for Lexington, where they will attend Hamliton Female College.

VERONA.

Mrs. James Branner, of Crittenden, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives here.—James Huey and wife, of Union, spent Saturday and Sunday at J. G. Kennedy's.—L. J. Hume and wife, and Mrs. James Branner, of Crittenden, spent Sunday at J. C. Hume's.—Born to Thos. Speagle and wife a daughter.

W. M. Whitson is having his barn reroofed.—Earl Conrad, wife and child, of Dry Ridge, were guests of Joseph Florence and wife, last Saturday and Sunday.—Miss Arrelda Roberts will go to Columbia, where she will teach a nine month's school.—Miss Ola Conley, of near Glencoe, was the week's end guest of Misses Hope and Rose Whitson.—G. C. Ransom and wife left, Saturday morning for Chattanooga, after a pleasant visit to their parents, J. E. Ransom and wife.—The members of New Bethel church are requested to be present at the regular meeting in October, the day set for calling a pastor.—There will be a festival at Concord church, Saturday night, Sept. 18th.—Born to Earl Ashcraft and wife a girl.

FLORENCE.

Mrs. A. M. Yealey is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Cole, of Columbus, Ohio.—Mrs. Sally Fulton is spending a few weeks with friends at Maysville.—The Centennial Rally will be held here at the Christian church Saturday night at 7:30.—Preaching at the Methodist church Sunday morning and evening by their pastor, Rev. J. B. Harris.—The all day meeting here Sunday at the Christian church was attended by a large crowd. A good dinner was spread. Excellent sermons were delivered by S. S. Lappin, of Erlanger.—Little Charlie Bradford is quite ill with typhoid fever.

WALTON.

O. S. Watts spent part of last week at Harrison, Ohio, on business.

Capt. A. G. DeJarnette, of Williamstown, was a visitor here last Saturday, enroute to LaGrange, on business.

Miss Julia Johnson and niece Miss Callie Benson left Sunday for Indianapolis to spend a week there with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Anna Hind returned last week from Kansas, City, Mo., where she spent two weeks with her son, Wayne Hind, who is located there for the present.

The Walton colored band played engagements at Erlanger and Williamstown during the past two weeks. There are twelve in the band and the boys are playing well together and make very good music.

Mrs. Julia Peak, Miss Sallie Rogers, Mrs. C. R. Johns, Wm. Rogers, and Lystra Aylor attended the meeting of the Baptist Association at Manchester, Ohio, last Friday and Saturday and had a most enjoyable time.

Judge John M. Lassing, of Newport, was a visitor here last Thursday, returning from a visit to his father, Dr. H. C. Lassing, near Union. The Doctor has been in poor health but his condition has improved considerably lately.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Stephens entertained with a six o'clock dinner last Tuesday evening at which the following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs Frank Maxwell of Meridian, Mississippi, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Byland and Miss Graham Roberts.

Walton Graded School opened Monday with a large attendance and prospects for excellent results at the hands of an efficient corps of teachers, headed by Prof. O. Morgan as principal. E. L. Robinson, of Missouri, assistant and the other rooms under the charge of Misses Nannie Chambers, Helen Dickey, of Union, Anna Hudson, Jean Chambers. The people appear to be anxious to make the school a success and with these conditions Walton has every occasion to feel proud of its school.

Walton suffered a painful shock Sunday by the sudden death of John H. Watson, one of our dearly beloved citizens, at about 4 o'clock Sunday morning. His wife was awakened by Mr. Watson making an unusual sound, and thought he was snoring and gave him a gentle shaking. Afterwards in going into his room she was horrified to find him cold in the embrace of death. Mr. Watson was a general favorite with all. He was the justice of the peace of the Walton district, and was engaged in the meat business with his brother, H. R. Watson, as a partner. Mr. Watson was a public spirited citizen, a man of most kindly impulses, charitable to a fault, and untiring in his devotion to his family and friends. He was the son of James and Elizabeth Watson and was born in Rockcastle county, Kentucky, and came here with his parents when he was 14 years old, and has made his home here ever since, and was very proud of Boone county and its people, and always exhibited a great interest in their welfare. He was in his 55th year, and was married to Miss Susie Harris, who made his life very happy by her affectionate attention to him, and her heart is almost broken by his sudden death. The widow and two sons, Harris R., and Cecil Watson, survive and mourn the loss of a devoted husband and father. Mr. Watson had been afflicted with a heart affection for several years, and his death was anticipated by his physician who understood his malady, and who expected that he would pass away suddenly. The excitement of governing a horse he was driving last Saturday is supposed to have produced the immediate trouble that affected his heart, as the horse was trying to run away, and the excitement and exercise no doubt brought about the ill effects. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon from the Walton Christian church of which the deceased was a member, the services being conducted by Revs. D. T. Buck and Edgar Kelley, after which the Masonic Lodge performed the ritualistic service to the memory of a departed brother and the remains were tenderly laid to rest in the Baptist cemetery. Bro. Watson was highly esteemed by the Masonic fraternity for his true fraternal spirit and the great interest he manifested in the success of the order.

Mrs. Annie K. Utz, of Bullittsville, was the guest of Mrs. Mary Kandall, Thursday.—Mrs. George Sanders, who has been confined to her bed with rheumatism, is able to be about again.—A. Ricketts Johnson, of Beaver, was here Monday on business.—Louis and Henry Percivall, of Cincinnati, were Sunday guests of their mother, Mrs. Sarah Percivall.—J. T. Hunt, local station agent of the Q. & C. railroad, is able to be about again after a two weeks' illness.—Mrs. E. Bannister, of near Dry Ridge, one of those pleasant old ladies whom it is a pleasure to meet, was a Sunday guest of Mrs. Ora Sayers.—J. C. Miller and wife are at Louisville this week attending the fair and visiting friends.—Miss Lena Lunsford entertained several of her Cincinnati friends, Sunday.

A Hurry Up Call.

Quick! Mr. Druggist—Quick!—A box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve—Here's a quarter—For the love of Moses, hurry! Baby's burned himself, terribly—Johnnie cut his foot with the axe—Mamie's scalded—Pa can't walk from Piles—Billie has boils—and my corns ache. She got it and soon cured all the family. Its the greatest healer on earth. Sold by Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Personal Mention.

Earl Smith made a business trip to Cincinnati, last Saturday.

Earl Walton and wife, of Petersburg, were guests at G. G. Hughes', Sunday.

Rev. Hensley and wife, of Belleview, were calling on friends in Burlington, Monday.

John L. Vest and wife, of Walton, spent last Friday in Burlington, Mr. Vest attending to legal business.

Ed Hawes and wife arrived from Lakeland, last Saturday to spend a few days with their relatives here.

G. E. Carroll and wife, of Walton, were guests of his sister, Mrs. B. B. Hume, several days the past week.

Bruce Henry, the old Confed of Francesville, was exchanging jokes with friends in Burlington, Monday.

John Cloud was in the city last Thursday, providing himself with an outfit for the coming hunting season.

Mrs. R. W. Clark spent several days last week in Petersburg with her parents, Lafayette Helms and wife.

John Case, left last Friday, for Lexington, to enter school for another term. He is preparing himself for the ministry.

Mrs. Wm. Patton and son, of Petersburg, Fla., and Miss Elizabeth Kelly, of Cincinnati, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Rouse.

R. W. Clark, the local jeweler, took in Petersburg, Aurora, Bellevieww and Rising Sun, on a business trip last Thursday, which, as some would say, is going some.

Mrs. Jane Burrows, of Maysville; Mrs. Chas. Gurney and mother, Mrs. Parish, and Miss Anna Gurney, of Erlanger, were guests of Mrs. Martin and Misses Annie and Pinkie Green, Tuesday.

Mrs. Laura Martin, after spending many weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Lee Furnish, at Golden Pond, Trigg county, arrived home, last Saturday, accompanied by her daughter and her baby.

Mrs. Edgar D. Jones and family returned to Bloomington, Wednesday night, after a delightful visit with her parents of some weeks. They were met in Cincinnati by Rev. Jones, who was returning from Cleveland, O., where he lectured Tuesday evening.

Program of the Farmers' Institute

To be held for this county at Walton on Wednesday and Thursday, September 29th and 30th, 1909:

9:30 A. M.

Called to order by the Director, John G. Blair, Carlisle, Kentucky.
Invocation.....Rev. J. B. Harris
Welcome Address.....J. G. Tomlin
Response.....
Hon. H. C. Ranklin, Commissioner of Agriculture.....
Alfalfa and how to grow it .....John G. Blair
My experience with Alfalfa in Boone county.....Chas. C. Sleet
Open discussion by Institute.
Adjourn for noon.

1:30 P. M.

Restoration and Reclamation of worn out soil.....
W. D. Nichols, Bloomfield, Kentucky
Questions asked and answered by the Institute.
Sheep—Does it pay to raise them—.....R. O. Hughes, Richwood
My choice of Hogs, and why.....J. C. Bedinger, Richwood
The profit in Hogs.....Jas. W. Cleek
How to keep the Boys on the Farm .....John G. Blair
Some Needs of Kentucky Dairymen .....W. D. Nichols

NIGHT SESSION.

Music—Directed by Dr. J. J. Slater
Recitation.....Miss Kate Bentz
Lecture—The Little Things of Life .....W. D. Nichols
Music.

Thursday, Sept. 30th—9:30 a. m.

Called to order by Director Blair.
Invocation.....Rev. J. W. Rogers
The Object of the Farmers' Institute .....D. B. Wallace
The kind of Book Farming that does not pay.....W. D. Nichols
Should Agriculture be taught in the Common Schools..Prof. C. O. Morgan
Farm Sanitation—Is it necessary—Why.....Dr. B. K. Menifee
Corn and Wheat Culture, Preparation of Soil, Selection of Seed, etc. .....John Blair
Adjourn for noon.

1:30 P. M.

The outlook for Agriculture in Boone County.....J. L. Vest
Why vote for the Boswort-Wyatt Constitutional Amendment .....John G. Blair and J. G. Tomlin
Profit in Poultry raising .....Mrs. A. M. Edwards
Open discussion by Institute.
Horses—the class to raise for profit .....W. Lee Gaines
The care of a farm..W. M. Whitson
The Attractive Features of a Comfortable Farm Home..W. B. Nichols
Open discussion by Institute.

The Road to Success

has many obstructions, but none so desperate as poor health. Success to-day demands health, but Electric Bitters is the greatest health builder the world has ever known. It compels perfect action of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, purifies and enriches the blood, and bores and invigorates the whole system. Vigorous body and keen brain follow their use. You can't afford to slight Electric Bitters if weak, run down or sickly. Only 50c. Guaranteed at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

The Belleview and Hebron ball teams play on the latter's ground next Saturday afternoon. Go out and see a good game.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNETT

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY A. C. McCLURG & CO.

"It's Only a Beast That's Killed Something Down Below."

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, became of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle.

CHAPTER V.—Continued.

"You'd find those thorns a whole lot worse," muttered Blake.

"To be sure; and Miss Leslie fully appreciates your kindness," interposed Winthrope.

"I do indeed, Mr. Blake! I'm sure I never could go through here without your coat."

"That's all right. Got the handkerchief?"

"I put it in one of the pockets."

"It'll do to tie up your hair."

Miss Leslie took the suggestion, knotting the big square of linen over her fluffy brown hair.

Blake waited only for her to draw out the kerchief before he began to force a way through the jungle. Now and then he beat at the tangled vegetation with his club. Though he held to the line by which he had left the thicket, yet all his efforts failed to open an easy passage for the others. Many of the thorny branches sprang back into place behind him, and as Miss Leslie, who was the first to follow, sought to thrust them aside the thorns pierced her delicate skin until her hands were covered with blood. Nor did Winthrope, stumbling and hobbling behind her, fare any better. Twice he tripped headlong into the brush, scratching his arms and face.

Blake took his own punishment as a matter of course, though his tougher and thicker skin made his injuries less painful. He advanced steadily along the line of bent and broken twigs that marked his outward passage, until the thicket opened on a strip of grassy ground beneath a wild fig-tree.

"By Jove!" exclaimed Winthrope, "a banyan!"

"Banyan? Well, if that's British for a daisy, you've hit it," responded Blake. "Just take a squint up here. How's that for a roost?"

Winthrope and Miss Leslie stared up dubiously at the edge of a bed of reeds gathered in the hollow of one of the huge flattened branches at its junction with the main trunk of the banyan, 20 feet above them.

"Will not the mosquitoes pester us here among the trees?" objected Winthrope.

"Storm must have blown 'em away. I haven't seen any yet."

"There will be millions after sunset."

"Maybe; but I bet they keep below our roost."

"But how are we to get up so high?" inquired Miss Leslie.

"I can swarm this drop root, and I've a creeper ready for you two," explained Blake.

Suiting action to words, he climbed up the small trunk of the air root and swung over into the hollow where he had piled the reeds. Across the broad limb dangled a rope-like creeper, one end of which he had fastened to a branch higher up. He flung down the free end to Winthrope.

"Look lively, Pat," he called. "The sun's most gone, and twilight don't last all night in these parts. Get the line around Miss Leslie, and do what you can on a boost."

"I see; but, you know, the vine is too stiff to tie."

Blake stifled an oath and jerked the end of the creeper up into his hand. When he threw it down again it was looped around and fastened in a bowline knot.

"Now, Miss Leslie, get aboard and we'll have you up in a jiffy," he said.

"Are you sure you can lift me?" asked the girl, as Winthrope slipped the loop over her shoulders.

Blake laughed down at them. "Well, I guess yes! Once hoisted a fellow out of a 50-foot prospect hole—big fat Dutchman at that. You don't weigh over 120."

He had stretched out across the broadest part of the branch. As Miss Leslie seated herself in the loop he reached down and began to haul up on the creeper, hand over hand. Though frightened by the novel manner of ascent the girl clung tightly to the line above her head, and Blake had no difficulty in raising her until she swung directly beneath him. Here, however, he found himself in a quandary. The girl seemed as helpless as a child, and he was lying flat. How could he get her above the level of the branch?

"Take hold the other line," he said. The girl hesitated. "Do you hear? Grab it quick, and pull up hard if you don't want a tumble!"

The girl seized the part of the creeper which was fastened above and drew herself up with convulsive energy. Instantly Blake rose to his knees, and grasping the taut creeper with one hand reached down with the other to swing the girl up beside him on the branch.

"All right, Miss Jenny," he reassured her as he felt her tremble. "Sorry to scare you, but I couldn't have made it without. Now, if you'll just hold down my legs we'll soon hoist his ludship."

He had seated her in the broadest part of the shallow hollow, where the branch joined the main trunk of the fig. Heaped with the reeds which he had gathered during the afternoon it made such a cozy shelter that she at once forgot her dizziness and fright. Nestling among the reeds, she leaned over and pressed down on his ankles with all her strength.

The loose end of the creeper had fallen to the ground when Blake lifted her upon the branch and Winthrope was already slipping into the loop. Blake ordered him to take it off and send up the club. As the creeper was again flung down a black shadow swept over the jungle.

"Hello! Sunset!" called Blake. "Look sharp, there!"

"All ready," responded Winthrope.

Blake drew in a full breath, and began to hoist. The position was an awkward one, and Winthrope weighed 30 or 40 pounds more than Miss Leslie. But as the Englishman came within reach of the descending loop he grasped it and did what he could to ease Blake's efforts. A few moments found him as high above the ground as Blake could raise him. Without waiting for orders, he swung himself upon the upper part of the creeper and climbed the last few feet unaided. Blake grunted with satisfaction as he pulled him in upon the branch.

"You may do, after all," he said. "At any rate, we're all aboard for the night; and none too soon. Hear that?"

"What?"

"Lion, I guess— Not that yelping. Listen!"

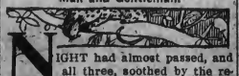
The brief twilight was already fading into the darkness of a moonless night, and as the three crouched together in their shallow nest they were soon made audibly aware of the savage nature of their surroundings. With the gathering night the jungle wakened into full life. From all sides came the harsh squawking of birds, the weird cries of monkeys and other small creatures, the crash of heavy animals moving through the jungle, and above all the yelp and howl and roar of beasts of prey.

After some contention with Winthrope, Blake conceded that the roars of his lion might be nothing worse than the snorting of the hippopotami as they came out to browse for the night. In this, however, there was small comfort, since Winthrope presently reasserted his belief in the climbing ability of leopards, and expressed his opinion that, whether or not there were lions in the neighborhood, certain of the barking roars they could hear came from the throats of the spotted climbers. Even Blake's hair bristled as his imagination pictured one of the great cats creeping upon them in the darkness from the far end of their nest limb, or leaping down out of the upper branches.

The nerves of all three were at their highest tension when a dark form swept past through the air within a yard of their faces. Miss Leslie uttered a stifled scream and Blake brandished his club. But Winthrope, who had caught a glimpse of the creature's shape, broke into a nervous laugh.

"It's only a fruit bat," he explained. "They feed on the banyan figs, you know."

In the reaction from this false alarm, both men relaxed and began to yield to the effects of the tramp across the mud-flats. Arranging the reeds as best they could they stretched out on either side of Miss Leslie and fell asleep in the middle of an argument on how the prospective leopard was mostly likely to attack.



Miss Leslie remained awake for two or three hours longer. Naturally she was more nervous than her companions, and she had been refreshed by her afternoon's nap. Her nervousness was not entirely due to the wild beasts. Though Blake had taken pains to secure himself and his companions in loops of the creeper, fastened to the branch above, Winthrope moved about so restlessly in his sleep that the girl feared he would roll from the hollow.

At last her limbs became so cramped that she was compelled to change her position. She leaned back upon her elbow, determined to rise again and maintain her watch the moment she was rested. But sleep was close upon her. There was a lull in the louder noises of the jungle. Her eyes closed, and her head sank lower. In a little time it was lying upon Winthrope's shoulder and she was fast asleep.

As Blake had asserted, the mosquitoes had either been blown away by the cyclone or did not fly to such a height. None came to trouble the exhausted sleepers.

CHAPTER VI.

Man and Gentleman.

NIGHT had almost passed, and all three, soothed by the refreshing coolness which preceded the dawn, were sleeping their soundest, when a sudden fierce roar followed instantly by a piercing squeal caused even Blake to start up in panic. Miss Leslie, too terrified to scream, clung to Winthrope, who crouched on his haunches, little less overcome.

Blake was the first to recover and puzzle out the meaning of the crashing in the jungle and the ferocious growls directly beneath them.

"Lie still," he whispered. "We're all right. It's only a beast that killed something down below us."

All sat listening, and as the noise of the animals in the thicket died away they could hear the beast beneath them tear at the body of its victim.

"The air feels like dawn," whispered Winthrope. "We'll soon be able to see the brute."

"And he us," rejoined Blake.

In this both were mistaken. During the brief false dawn they were puzzled by the odd appearance of the ground. The sudden flood of full daylight found them staring down into a dense white fog.

"So they have that here!" muttered Blake—"fever-fog!"

"Beastly shame!" echoed Winthrope. "I'm sure the creature has gone off."

This assertion was met by an outburst of snarls and yells that made all start back and crouch down again in their sheltering hollow. As before Blake was the first to recover.

"Bet you're right," he said. "The big one has gone off, and a pack of these African coyotes are having a scrap over the bones."

"You mean jackals. It sounds like the nasty beasts."

"If it wasn't for that fog I'd go down and get our share of the game."

"Would it not be very dangerous, Mr. Blake?" asked Miss Leslie. "What a fearful noise!"

"I've chased coyotes off a calf with a rope; but that's not the proposition. You don't find me fooling around in that sewer gas of a fog. We'll roost right where we are till the sun does for it. We've got enough malaria in us already."

"Will it be long, Blake?" asked Winthrope.

"Huh! Getting hungry this quick? Wait till you've tramped around a week, with nothing to eat but your shoes."

"Surely, Mr. Blake, it will not be so bad!" protested Miss Leslie.

"Sorry, Miss Jenny; but cocoanut palms don't blow over every day, and when those nuts are gone what are we going to do for the next meal?"

"Could we not make bows?" suggested Winthrope. "There seems to be no end of game about."

"Bows—and arrows without points! Neither of us could hit a barn door, anyway."

"We could practice."

"Sure—six weeks' training on air pudding. I can do better with a handful of stones."

"Then we should go at once to the cliffs," said Miss Leslie.

"Now you're talking—and it's Pike Peak or bust for ours. Here's one night to the good; but we won't last many more if we don't get fire. It's flints we're after now."

"Could we not make fire by rubbing sticks?" said Winthrope, recalling his suggestion of the previous morning. "I've heard that natives have no trouble—"

"Sure—six weeks' training on air pudding. I can do better with a handful of stones."

"Then we should go at once to the cliffs," said Miss Leslie.

"Now you're talking—and it's Pike Peak or bust for ours. Here's one night to the good; but we won't last many more if we don't get fire. It's flints we're after now."

"Could we not make fire by rubbing sticks?" said Winthrope, recalling his suggestion of the previous morning. "I've heard that natives have no trouble—"

"So've I, and what's more, I've seen 'em do it. Never could make a go of it myself, though."

"But if you remember how it is done we have at least some chance—"

"Give you ten to one odds! No; we'll scratch around for a flint good and plenty before we waste time that way."

"The mist is going," observed Miss Leslie.

"That's no lie. Now for our coyotes. Where's my club?"

"They've all left," said Winthrope, peering down. "I can see the ground clearly, and there is not a sign of the beasts."

"There are the bones—what's left of them," added Blake. "It's a small deer, I suppose. Well, here goes."

He threw down his club and dropped the loose end of the creeper after it. As the line straightened he twisted the upper part around his leg and was about to slide to the ground when he remembered Miss Leslie.

"Think you can make it alone?" he asked.

The girl held up her hands, sore and swollen from the lacerations of the thorns. Blake looked at them frowned, and turned to Winthrope.

"Um! you got it, too, and in the face," he grunted. "How's your ankle?"

Winthrope wriggled his foot about and felt the injured ankle.

"I fancy it is much better," he answered. "There seems to be no swelling, and there is no pain now."

"That's lucky; though it will tune up later. Take a slide, now. We've got to hustle our breakfast and find a way to get over the river."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Sounds Which Carry at Sea.

Examinations by naval experts in wireless telephony as to the sound which will carry the greatest distance at sea develops that a siren under 72 pounds of steam pressure will emit a blast which may be heard 40 miles. Next comes the steam whistle, the sound of which is carried 20 miles. Among the softest sounds which carry a considerable distance is the whistling buoy installed by the lighthouse board, which has frequently been heard a distance of 15 miles.

Old Heads on Young Shoulders.

Our children are growing more independent. It is not the fault of the parents nor of the children; we are not careless, and they are not ungrateful. The conditions of life are responsible for the "modern youth."—Familien Zeitung, Vienna.

SIX MONTHS.

Mrs. Bill—Now, tell me at once where have you been all this time?

Bill — Why, dear, it hasn't been long.

Mrs. Bill—How dare you tell me that? You have been out all night.

Industrial Education.

For training the workman the technical school can never supplant the workshop. The system that is likely to give the best results is a combination of part time apprenticeship and compulsory attendance at technical schools.—London Electrical Review.

A TEXAS CLERGYMAN

Speaks Out for the Benefit of Suffering Thousands.

Rev. G. M. Gray, Baptist clergyman, of Whitesboro, Tex., says: "Four years ago I suffered misery with lumbago. Every movement was one of pain. Doan's Kidney Pills removed the whole difficulty after only a short time. Although I do not like to have my name used publicly, I make an exception in this case, so that other sufferers from kidney trouble may profit by my experience."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Seeing Is Believing."

Herodotus: We are less convinced by what we hear than by what we see.

Any girl can hear compliments if she cultivates the habit of talking to herself.

Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the result. There is hardly a community in this country where women cannot be found who have been restored to health by this famous old remedy, made exclusively from a simple formula of roots and herbs.

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in all that time have we published a testimonial without the writer's special permission. Never have we knowingly published a testimonial that was not truthful and genuine. Here is one just received a few days ago. If anyone doubts that this is a true and honest statement of a woman's experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound write and ask her.

Houston, Texas.—"When I first began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had been sick for three years with female troubles, chronic dyspepsia, and a liver trouble. I had tried several doctor's medicines, but nothing did me any good.

"For three years I lived on medicines and thought I would never get well, when I read an advertisment of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and was advised to try it.

"My husband got me one bottle of the Compound, and it did me so much good I continued its use. I am now a well woman and enjoy the best of health.

"I advise all women suffering from such troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. They won't regret it, for it will surely cure you."—Mrs. Bessie L. Hicks, 819 Cleveland St., Houston.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Hicks.

Opening of Cheyenne River Indian Reservation

(2,800,000 Acres)

Register for a free homestead October 4th to 23rd.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington has designated

Le Beau and Aberdeen, S. Dak.

as registration points. These cities are reached best by the Iowa Central Ry. and

The Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R.

Le Beau is the Gateway to the Reservation and the only registration point where the lands can be seen from the town.

The country is fertile and well watered—the equal in all respects of land a few miles east that sells for $25.00 per acre.

Frequent trains and low fares. Full information on request.

For rates, etc., write or ask any agent of the Iowa Central or Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R. or

A. B. CUTTS, General Passenger and Ticket Agent
Minneapolis, Minnesota

Why We Are Stronger.

The old Greeks and Romans were great admirers of health and strength; their pictures and statuary made the muscles of the men stand out like cords.

As a matter of fact we have athletes and strong men—men fed on fine strength making food such as Quaker Oats—that would win in any contest with the old Roman or Greek champions.

It's a matter of food. The finest food for making strength of bone, muscle and nerve is fine oatmeal. Quaker Oats is the best because it is pure, no husks or stems or black specks. Farmers' wives are finding that by feeding the farm hands plentifully on Quaker Oats they get the best results in work and economy. If you are convenient to the store, buy the regular size packages; if not near the store buy the large size family package. 2

Women in Postal Service.

The distinction of first appointing a woman postmaster does not belong to America, nor is the employment of women in the postal service a new idea. As early as 1548 a woman postmaster was appointed to look after the mails of Braine le Comte, an important town of France. In the trying times of the Thirty Years' war, the principal office in the postal service of Europe was held by a woman, Alexandrine de Rue. From 1628 to 1646 she was in charge of the mails of the German empire, the Netherlands, Burgundy and Lorraine. She was known as a master general of the mails. In America, Elizabeth Harvey was the first to hold a place in the postal department. She had charge of the letters in Portsmouth, N. H., in the beginning of the seventeenth century. A half century afterward Lydia Hill was placed in charge of the post-office in Salem, Mass.

A Dye That Will Color any Fabric.

Mrs. Adam Herbeson writes, "I have used Dyola and find it superior to any other package dye. I have ever tried as the same package colors wool, cotton, silk and mixed goods perfectly." Dyola Dyes come in 16 fast brilliant colors. 10 cents per package at your dealer's. Write Dyola, Burlington, Vt., for color card and book of directions sent free.

Troubles of People on Venus.

Inhabitants of Venus, if there are any, must feel it extremely difficult to establish units of time. Venus always turns the same face toward the sun; so the planet has no day, and the lack of a moon deprives it of a month. Finally, it has no year, for its axis of rotation is perpendicular to the plane of its orbit, and the latter is almost circular.

So, What's the Use?

"Yes, I went fishing yesterday," began the man who tries to be original. "Luck? Well, some. I caught two fish. One was three and a half inches long and the other two inches."

But was he believed? Not much. After he passed on some one commented:

"Bet he didn't get a bite."

An Arbitrary Classification.

"So you think every patriot has a more or less clearly defined ambition to hold public office?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "As a rule, patriots may be divided into two classes—the appointed and the disappointed."

Good for Sore Eyes, for 100 years PETTIT'S EYE SALVE has positively cured eye diseases everywhere. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

When a girl orders flowers sent home it's a sign that she expects the neighbors to think some man sent them.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

A dead beat always gets more credit than he deserves.

$33 to Pacific Coast

Colonist one-way second-class tickets on sale daily from Chicago, September 15 to October 15, via the Chicago, Union Pacific & North Western Line to San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland and Puget Sound points. Correspondingly low rates from all points. Daily and personally conducted tours in through Pullman tourist sleeping cars accompanied by experienced conductors and handled on fast trains.

A most economical and comfortable means of travel.

For full particulars write S. A. Hutchison, Manager Tourist Department, 212 Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

PLAN YOUR TRIP NOW

ROWBOAT SWEPT OVER RAGING DAM

Six Small Children Drowned Despite Girl's Heroism—Ten Were Rescued.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Sixteen shrieking, panic-stricken children just before sundown Sunday evening were swept in a rowboat over the raging dam that stems the Monongahela river at Eighteenth street, this city.

Thousands of citizens who were enjoying the matchless day on the river banks watched, horror stricken, a heroine's futile efforts to stem the slow movement of the cockle shell to where a frothing eddy marked the 25-foot drop of the river over the government dam.

Cecelia Roach, the 17-year-old daughter of a South Side business man, temporarily stemmed the boat's onward rush to destruction, and, though her heroism and presence of mind enabled the rescue of ten young children, she went over the dam to death, and with her a 13-year-old girl, Bessie Timmons, who lay fainting on the boat's bottom.

Four others, Ruth Davis, Ella Martin, Freddie Van Dine and Bertha Pittner, also perished.

The sight of Cecelia Roach calmly tugging at the oars in the maelstrom, while one by one the precious freight of children was snatched to the safety of other skiffs and then causing the cheers of thousands to end in sobs as she went with the skiff to the rapids below, was a significent example of heroism.

This drama of death was enacted as the dusk and darkness mantled the little heroine's figure as she vanished to death into the mists.

CYCLONE LAYS LA PAZ IN RUINS

Seven Perish in Oldest Settlement in Lower California, and Town Is Isolated.

La Paz, Lower California (via Guaymas.)—La Paz, the oldest settlement of the Californias, is in ruins. The most terrific cyclone ever known has wrought havoc in and about the old pueblo. Seven lives are known to have been lost, and the shore is strewn with the wreckage of ships and boats in the roadstead.

Communication with the outside world, except by a steamer, which has just stopped at this port, is cut off, and the greatest misery exists among the poor classes, the majority of whom have lost everything.

In the country districts the devastation has also been great.

Darkness added terror to the people, many of whom were convinced that the end of the world was at hand, and they crowded the old Mission church. There are few Americans in La Paz and none of them have been injured, although they will suffer considerably in loss of property and goods.

Engineer Forgot Orders.

Lincoln, Neb.—The blunder of a Burlington engineer in forgetting his orders was responsible for a head-on collision and two fatalities at noon Sunday in a wreck three miles west of Lincoln, Passenger Train No. 189, westbound, colliding with a fast extra stock train, eastbound. Six passengers were also injured, none fatally. The impact of the heavy stock train shoved the passenger train backward fully 200 feet. Both engines were demolished, and the baggage car telescoped the smoker, which contained 40 passengers.

Murdered His Sweetheart.

Scranton, Pa.—Mistaking her cousin for a rival, of whom he was jealous, Jesse Morgan, of Pittston, shot and almost instantly killed his 15-year-old sweetheart, Pearl Rought, on a street in this city. Morgan was soon captured, but before being searched at the police station he killed himself by drinking carbolic acid.

Drank Roach Powder.

Pottsville, Pa.—Scraping roach powder from the walls of her cell till she had half a cupful, Jennie Kane, 16 years old, who was given a four-year sentence for theft, moistened the poison with drinking water and swallowed it. Fifteen minutes later she died in agony.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Sept. 11.—Cattle—Extra, $6.25@6.35. Calves—Extra, $8.75@9. Hogs—Choice, $8.40@8.50. Sheep—Extra, $4.25@4.35. Lambs—Extra, $7.40@7.50. Flour—Spring patent, $6.40@6.65. Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.12@1.14. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 72c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 39c. Rye—No. 2 choice, 72@73c. Hay—Choice timothy, $14@14.50. Butter—Dairy, 23c. Eggs—Per doz., 23c. Apples—Choice, $1.50@3.50. Potatoes—Per brl., $1.60@1.75. Tobacco—Burley, $10.25@19.25.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.08@1.09. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 69¾@69¼c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 40@40¼c. Pork—Prime mess, $22.90@22.95. Lard—Prime, $12.27½.

Louisville, Sept. 11.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.07@1.09. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 72c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 39½c. Hay—Choice timothy, $14.50. Hogs—Extra, $8.40. Lard—Steam, $12.37½.

Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—Cattle—Prime, $6.25@6.35. Hogs—Extra, $8.35@8.40. Sheep—Extra, $4.25@4.35.

WHAT IS PAINT?

The paint on a house is the extreme outside of the house. The wood is simply a structural under layer. That is as it should be. Unprotected wood will not well withstand weather. But paint made of pure white lead and linseed oil is an invulnerable armor against sun and rain, heat and cold. Such paint protects and preserves, fortifying the perishable wood with a complete metallic casing.

And the outside of the house is the looks of the house. A well-constructed building may be greatly depreciated by lack of painting or by poor painting.

National Lead Company have made it possible for every building owner to be absolutely sure of pure white lead paint before applying. They do this by putting upon every package of their white lead their Dutch Boy Painter trademark. That trademark is a complete guarantee.

True Thrift.

"When visiting a certain town in the Midlands," says a medical man, "I was told of an extraordinary incident wherein the main figure, an economical housewife, exhibited, under trying circumstances, a trait quite characteristic of her. It seems that she had by mistake taken a quantity of poison—mercurial poison—the antidote for which, as all should know, comprises the whites of eggs. When this antidote was being administered, the order for which the unfortunate lady had overheard, she managed to murmur, although almost unconscious. "Mary, Mary! Save the yolks for the puddings!"—Tit-Bits.

The Doctors' Orders.

A lady whose husband seemed to be doing little but lie in the hammock and eat apples, was asked by a sympathetic neighbor what the trouble with him was. "Doctors," she replied, sadly. "No, he hasn't come into a fortune."—A writer in To-Day's Magazine tells the story.

"You see," explained the wife, "he's been having some sort of matter with his stomach, and he consulted two different doctors about it. One told him to eat a ripe apple every hour, and the other said to rest an hour after eating. So he's trying to do both."

LOW COLONIST FARES TO THE WEST AND NORTHWEST.

Union Pacific Passenger Department announces that Colonist Fares will be in effect from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, 1909, to all points in the West and Northwest.

This year the West looks more promising than ever. Now is the time to secure land at low prices, and, at the same time, to visit the many interesting points in the West and Northwest, at which liberal stopover arrangements may be made.

A better estimate of raw lands can be made now than formerly, because these lands are in proximity to new farms that are producing wonderful crops.

For descriptive literature, write to E. L. Lomax, G. P. A., U. P. R. R., Omaha, Neb.

A Useful Baby.

Speaking of tricks to win the sympathy of juries in criminal cases, Judge Williard M. McEwen, in a recent address before the Illinois State's Attorneys' association, said: "I know of four cases where a baby played a prominent part in getting the acquittal of the defendant, and I later learned that the same baby had been used in each of the cases, although the supposed mothers in each case were different women."—Law Notes.

FREE LANDS IN WYOMING.

Chicago & North Western Railway.

Send for booklet telling how to secure 320 acres of U. S. Government lands in Wyoming free of cost, and describing various irrigation projects and the most approved methods of scientific dry farming. Homeseekers' rates. Direct train service from Chicago. W. B. Kniskern, P. T. M., Chicago.

Not Qualified for the Job.

Father (impressively)—"My son, I want you to be very attentive to your new teacher, who is a man of wide and general information. He can teach you everything you need to know." Small Boy (derisively)—"He! He don't know nothin'! Why, he can't even tell who's pitchin' in the league teams."

CHEAP LANDS

In Osage County, Oklahoma, Best Reached

via the Midland Valley R. R. Restrictions removed from one million acres. Also ten million acres in Eastern Okla. The Midland Valley R. R. runs thro the eastern part of the new state from Ft. Smith, Ark., to Arkansas City, Kas., thro Muskogee, Tulsa and Pawhuska. Ask your nearest Ry. agent how to get there or write General Passenger Agent, Midland Valley R. R., Muskogee, Oklahoma, for information.

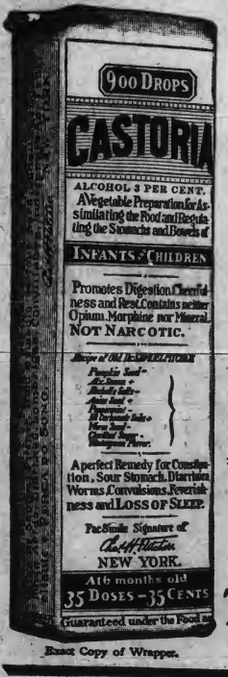
The Most Unkindest Cut.

First Guide—Were you ever shot for a deer?

Second Guide—Worse; I was snapshotted once.

A Rare Good Thing.

"Am using ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, and can truly say I would not have been without it so long, had I known the relief it would give my aching feet. I think it a rare good thing for anyone having sore or tired feet.—Mrs. Matilda Kohlwert, Providence, R. I." Sold by all Druggists, 25c. Ask to-day.



Half Done.

First Lady — Your husband has merely fainted.

Second Ditto—Dear, dear! these men always do things by halves.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois.

THE TROUBLE.

"Don't take it so hard," said the sympathetic friend; "remember that though your daughter is married you have not lost her."

"I know it," sobbed the bride's mother. "That's the trouble. Julia and her husband have already picked out the best room in the house for theirs."

GOVERNMENT HOMESTEADS

One and one-half million acres of farming and grazing land will be opened for settlement in the Cheyenne River and Standing Rock Indian Reservation October 4th to 23d. Fast daily through trains direct to Pierre and Aberdeen, S. D., the registration points, via the Chicago & North Western Ry. Write for descriptive pamphlets giving maps and full particulars to W. B. Kniskern, P. T. M., C. & N. W. Ry., Chicago, Ill.

Sub Rosa.

She—She told me you told her that secret I told you not to tell her.

He—The mean thing! I told her not to tell you I told her.

She—I promised her I wouldn't tell you she told me, so don't tell her I told you.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE
DIABETES

$2.75 "Guaranteed"

A JAR OF RESINOL A JAR OF

is worth its weight in gold. It stops all itching, irritating skin diseases, eczema, erysipelas, ringworm, chapping or burns. A positive cure for itching and inflamed piles.

RESINOL CHEMICAL COMPANY, BALTIMORE, MD.

Resinol Ointment, Resinol Toilet Soap, Resinol Medicated Shaving Stick are sold at Drug Stores.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

YOU CAN SEE PHILADELPHIA for 25c

130 beautiful views in colors showing The Historical Independence Hall, The Famous Liberty Bell, The House Where the First American Flag was Made, and over 100 other views of historical and industrial places. You see in your own home what would take a week to see here. Book cost $2,000 to get up. You get one for 25 cents. $6,000 sold. Number now limited. Order today.

THE BOOKSELLERS COMPANY
14 South Broad St. Philadelphia, Pa.

Buy Bulbs Direct from Importers

Save the Difference
Crocus 10c per dozen
Tulips 30c per dozen
Narcissus 30c per dozen
Hyacinths 60c per dozen
Our Cultural Book—Fall Planting of Bulbs—FREE on request.
Meier & Shoemaker
Dept. A, 406 Sycamore St., Cincinnati, Ohio

20 per cent manufacturing investment that is SAFE and SOUND. Investigate!—send today for full information—it has paid 7% for years and is one of the most staple, substantial businesses in the city. It is an old established line, Ice Cream and Dairy Products Company now increasing its capacity to meet new requirements. Its history shows success—its future assuring still greater success. An exceptional opportunity! Details furnished on application to 535 Kentucky Title Bldg., Louisville, Ky.

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. Full line stamp and stencil goods. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box.

This Trade-mark Eliminates All Uncertainty

in the purchase of paint materials. It is an absolute guarantee of purity and quality. For your own protection, see that it is on the side of every keg of white lead you buy.

NATIONAL LEAD COMPANY
1902 Trinity Building, New York

Nothing Too Good

for you. That's why we want you to take CASCARETS for liver and bowels. It's not advertising talk—but merit—the great, wonderful, lasting merit of CASCARETS that we want you to know by trial. Then you'll have faith—and join the millions who keep well by CASCARETS alone. 909

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

Safe! Can't Cut Your Face
NO STROPPING NO HONING
Gillette
KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses the scalp. Stops hair falling. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair troubles. 50c and $1.00 at Druggists.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use | Thompson's Eye Water

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL.

The Boone County High School opened Monday morning in the public school building at Burlington. This school, established in accordance with an act of the Kentucky Legislature, is to be permanent. The State requires it, the county supports it and it only remains for the citizens of the county who have sons and daughters to educate to send them here, tuition free, and receive the benefits.

As at present arranged, two 3-year courses have been provided for—the Scientific course and the English course. These courses are really strong courses each leading to a diploma. A student completing either one of them will be prepared to take up college work. As the school grows, other departments will be added. This year literary societies and debating clubs will be organized. Athletics will receive their proper attention and every effort will be made both by the faculty and the people of Burlington to make the attendance of pupils pleasant and profitable.

When the new school building is erected next year with all modern conveniences Boone county will have for her own—not a city or district school, but a county school of which she may justly feel proud. This year is the time to pull for it. Remember tuition is free. The only cost for those out of daily reach of town will be for board and books.

The new principal of Boone County High School, Mr. Dix, is a thoroughly equipped school man and gives promise of placing the school of which he is the head in the first rank of High Schools in Northern Kentucky.

Write for a catalog and more complete information to Everett L. Dix, Principal, or D. M. Snyder, Supt., Boone county schools, Burlington, Ky.

Capt. Noel Gaines, of Frankfort, one of the State inspectors of county offices, left Monday morning after having spent about three weeks at the court house, going over the records of the county officials to ascertain if they had been properly accounting for the public funds they have been handling. After completing his labors he said to the RECORDER that he found everything perfectly straight, and mentioned the sheriff's office, of which he said, "I do not hesitate to pronounce the books in the sheriff's office in this county perfectly accurate, and most admirably kept. Of all the sheriffs' offices I have inspected, in the matter of neatness, correctness and system, not one of them will compare with the office in this county. Mr. Cropper is certainly a very fine accountant, and should a person ask me to recommend to him some person to instruct him how to run the office of sheriff, I would surely send him to Mr. Cropper."

Night on Bald Mountain.

On a lonely night Alex. Benton of Fort Edward, N. Y., climbed Bald Mountain to the home of a neighbor, tortured by Asthma, sent on curing him with Dr. King's New Discovery, that had cured himself of asthma. This wonderful medicine soon relieved and quickly cured his neighbor. Later it cured his son's wife of a severe lung trouble. Millions believe its the greatest Throat and Lung cure on earth. Coughs, Colds, Croup, Hemorrhages and Sore Lungs are surely cured by it. Best for Hay Fever, Grip and Whooping Cough. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

J. H. Clore, of Florence neighborhood, was in Burlington, last Friday. By the way, Mr. Clore has bought a $680 20-horse power buggy Schacht automobile, which he will receive this week. He inspected several makes of machines before he made his selection. LATER—Mr. Clore received his machine Monday, and came over to Burlington on his trial trip. It appears to be a good traveler and easily controlled.

Bullittsburg church will worship in Petersburg next Sunday and observe the Lord's Supper at the morning service. We are having afternoon and evening services in Petersburg this week. Dr. C. W. Chadwick is preaching some excellent sermons. Come and hear him. There will be no preaching at Bullittsburg next Sunday. C. V. BROOKS.

Mrs. Tabitha Green, the venerable mother of Mrs. Agnes Carpenter, died at the home of her daughter, last Friday night, after a protracted illness from diseases incident to old age. The funeral was conducted at Petersburg last Monday by Rev. Edgar C. Riley.

Lost—A spray of gold leaves and large red stone from a brooch, at Harvest Home. Finder may send by mail to Miss V. Southgate, 124 Garrard St., Covington, and receive reward.

NOTICE.—The Confederate Cross of Honor will be conferred on Dr. H. H. Hays, of Bullittsville, on the 28th inst., in Covington, by Ason Maderla Chapter U. D. C.

The next meeting of the Boone Literary Society will be held at the residence of Mrs. Babe Riddell on the evening of the fourth Friday in this month.

For Rent.—Good dairy farm of 126 acres, two and one-half miles west from Union. Inquire of S. C. Akers near Union.

An Outrage at Richwood.

Richwood neighborhood is laboring under intense excitement resulting from the burning, about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, of John Ransler's handsome new residence that was nearing completion. That the fire was of an incendiary origin there is no doubt, as Mr. Ransler had previously received several threatening notices, and yesterday morning several notices of the same character, were found posted in the vicinity of the scene of the fire. The Kensington school house, which stands near the site of the Ransler residence, bears evidence of having also had the torch applied to it some time during Monday night, but, fortunately, that building was very slightly injured. Early Tuesday morning a Covington detective was telephoned for, while Lexington was called on for her bloodhounds. These steps were taken as preliminary to making an energetic effort to locate the fire bug. The bloodhounds arrived about 7 o'clock last night, but could follow a trail only a short distance to a road, where it's thought the incendiary had a horse on which he left. The scene of the fire was visited by people for miles around, and the feeling against the party who applied the torch ran high, and had he been captured he would have been handled in a rough manner. On the 30 day of last March Mr. Ransler's residence, comparatively a new building, was destroyed by a fire resulting from a defective flue. The building burned Tuesday morning was being plastered. Miss Estelle Huey, who began teaching school at Kensington Monday, came home yesterday to remain until the excitement subsides.

Correspondents will please bear with their contributions being condensed this week. It was absolutely necessary.

Harry Shearer, Lane Riggs and other Erlanger boys are camping down on Gunpowder creek.

Capt. Noel Gaines, of Frankfort, closed, at the Baptist church, last Sunday night, his series of four highly entertaining lectures delivered in Burlington the past week. The lectures were a literary treat seldom enjoyed by the people of a small town, and all are praising his efforts. It is understood that he will return shortly to conduct a protracted meeting here.

A Good Hair-Food

Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, is a genuine hair-food. It feeds, nourishes, builds up, strengthens, invigorates. The hair grows more rapidly, keeps soft and smooth, and all dandruff disappears. Aid nature a little. Give your hair a good hair-food.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Ayer's — Formula with each bottle. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it, then do as he says.

You need not hesitate about using this new Hair Vigor from any fear of its changing the color of your hair. The new Ayer's Hair Vigor prevents premature grayness, but does not change the color of the hair. Once to the client, forever.

Made by Dr. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

THE SHINGLE. THE APPLICATION. THE APPEARANCE.

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

FOR PERMANENT ROOFS

Roofs that will last as long as the building itself, and never need repairs. That are fire-proof, storm-proof, lightning-proof, handsome, light and adapted for all kinds of architecture whether it be home, school, church or any other building down to the humble barn.

"CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES"

fill all conditions and their price permits of their use anywhere

Glad to show you samples any time. Write for our free book, "Concerning That Roof."

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

John Hankins, Administrator of Agnes Gerding, deceased, Plff
vs. Equity
Henry Gerding, etc., Dfts

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August term, thereof 1909 in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the court-house door in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., to the highest bidder at public auction, on Monday the 4th day of October, 1909, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabout, being county court day, upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit:

Lying and being in Boone county, Ky., and bounded as follows: Commencing at an iron stake in the middle of the county road, a line in James Peno; running thence west 152 feet more or less to an iron stake, a line with John L Hankin's corner in same road; thence north 331 feet more or less to a stone under the river bank, being John L. Hankin's line under the river bank; thence up the river 152 feet more or less to a corner stone in James Peno's line; thence south with said Peno's line 365 feet more or less to the beginning, Being a part of the Ann Eliza Jane Hankins land.

For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and have the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

George Huston, &c., Plaffs
vs. Equity
Charles Duncan, &c. Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August Term, thereof, 1909, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public sale on Monday, 4th day of October, 1909, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabouts being county court day, upon a credit of six months, the following described property, towit:

Tract No. 1.—Situated in Boone County, Kentucky.—Beginning at a stone in a passway, a corner with lot No. 4 in the division of the lands of Charles Slater, Dec'd, in a line of lot No. 3; thence with the lines of lot No. 3 n 54¼ w 4.09 chains to a stone; thence n 29 e 3.01 chains to a stone on Big Bone creek, a corner of lot No. 1; thence up the creek with the lines of lot No. 1 s 61 ¼ e 1.16 chains, s 56 ¾ e 2.14 chains, n 22¾ e 4.84 chains n 81½ e 1.62 chains, n 7 e 5.94 chains, n 51 e 2.37 chains, n 38½ w 2.55 chains, s 88½ w 61 links, n 72½ w 50 links to a stone on said creek, a corner with M. E Hance; thence with his lines n 30 e 1.53 chains, n 11 ¼ e 1.68 chains, n 2 e 2.88 chains, n 1 e 1.94 chains, n 32¾ e 2.65 chains, s 82½ e 2.51 chains, s 53 e 2.33 chains, s 55 e 4.60 chains, s 16 e 2.93 chains, s 4 w. 2.31 chains, s 24 w 1.85 chains, s 45½ w 1.58 chains, s 11¼ w 1.30 chains, to an oak stump, corner with said M. E. Hance and lot No 4; thence with the lines of lot No. 4 s 49 w 1.42 chains, s 52 w 2.83 chains, s 21¾ 1.39 chains to a stone; thence s 37 w 16.71 chains to the beginning, containing 19½ acres, and being lot No. 2 in the division of the lands of Charles Slater, deceased. In this division there is reserved for lot No. 2 a passway 16 feed wide, beginning at a stone, a corner with lots Nos. 2 & 3; thence along the present passway n 87 w 7.69 chains to the county road. There is excepted out of lot No. 2 as described above a passway 8 feet in width, beginning at a stone, a corner with lot No. 2 and No. 4; thence along the line between lot Nos. 2 and 4 n 54½ w 4.09 chains to a stone in said passway being for the benefit of the eleven lots in the division of said land of said Chas. Slater, deceased.

Tract No. 2.—A lot of land in or adjoining the town of McVille, in Boone County, Kentucky.—Beginning at a stake at the East edge of Main street and North edge of Vine street, as represented on the Plat of said town; thence along the North edge of Vine street extended n 80 136 feet to a stake; thence n 12 w 120 feet to a stake at the edge of an alley (No. 3) extended; thence s 80 w 136 feet to a stake on the East edge of Main street; thence with the East edge of Main street s 12 120 feet to the beginning, containing 3 8 of an acre. Said lot is intended to constitute lot No. 19 in the town of McVille when added thereto.

(The Master Commissioner will sell the two above described pieces of property separately.)

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C.

For Sale—Good Jersey milk cow. Apply to Everett Clore, Waterloo.

For Sale—Good, fresh Jersey cow—6 years old. Apply to Elmer Conely, Burlington.

Lest you Forget

We Cut the Price on all Medicines.

WE QUOTE A FEW.

Peruna	71c
Pinkham's Compound	71c
Swamp Root	71c
S. S. S	71c
Wine of Cardui	71c
Pierce's G. M. Discovery	71c
Pierces' Prescription	71c
Ozomulsion	71c
Scott's Emulsion	71c
Wampole's C. L. Oil	71c
Antiphlogistine	40-75c
Sal Hepatica	90c
S. S. S. (large)	$1.25
Fellows' Syrup	$1.00
Gombalt's Caustic Bal.	$1.15
Sloan's Liniment	71c
Kitchell's Liniment	65c
Barb Wire Liniment	20c
Cuticura Soap	18c
Colgate's Palm Soap 6 for	25c
" Turk Soap 6 for	25c
Pure Castile Soap, lb	20c
Allcock's Porous Plasters	2 for 25c
Belladonna Plasters 2 for	25c
Water Bottles	49c
Fountain Syringes (Each 2-quart size)	59c
Doan's Kidney Pills	40c
King's Pills	20c
Cuticura Pills	20c
Pinkham's Pills	20c
Carter's Little Liver Pills	15c
Gooch's Pills	20c
Bucklin's Arnica Salve	20c
5 Drop Ointment	20c
Pyramid Pile Cure	40c
Pazo Pile Ointment	40c
Parker's Hair Balsam	40c
Hay's Hair Health	40c
Peroxide Hydrogen, lb	25c
Creolin, lb	75c
Vaseline, lb	25c
Pine Tar, gallon	30c
Pluto Water	30c
Castor Oil, quart	50c
Castoria	25c
Syrup Figs	38c
Beef Iron and Wine	40c
Warner's 3-gr. Lithia Tablets	20c
Quinine, ounce	50c
Capsules—box of 100	08c
Bromo Quinine	20c
Tetlow's Swan Down or 2 for 25	15c
Tetlow's Gassmer Powder	20c
Allen's Foot Ease	20c
Harleem Oil	05c
Bull's Worm Candy	20c
Absorbent Cotton, oz. 4 oz. 15c, 1 lb. 35c	05c
Ground Flaxseed, lb	10c
Sulphur, lb	05c
Copperas, lb	03c
Moth Balls, lb	05c
Epsom Salts, lb	05c
Cream Tartar, lb	35c
Borax, lb	12c
Toilet Paper, 6 pads	25c
Tooth Picks, 2 boxes	05c
Hindoo Corn Remover	15c
Magee's Corn Plaster	10c
One Night Corn Cure	10c
Hostetter's Bitters	85c
All Chewing Gum, pkg	03c
Sulphate, Soda, lb	20c
Phosphate Soda, lb	20c
Garfield Tea	20c
Hard Rubber Syringe	20c
Schiffman's Asthma Cure	40c
New Skin Court Plaster	20c
Carpenter's Liquid Court Plaster—tube	10c
Prophefoctic Tooth Brushes	25c
Colgate's Tooth Paste	40c
Sanitol Tooth Paste	20c

We have many more at just as Low Prices.

SAVE THE DIMES.

Geo. C. Goode

AGENT.

Groceries & Medicines,

Pike & Washington,

Covington, Kentucky.

TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS

That E. A. Anderson has opened a

New Clothing Store.

They may not read this paper and I am anxious that they know about it, so you tell them.

Everything New and Up-to-Date.

Suits for Men $5.00 to $20.00 | Suits for Boys $1.00 to $5.00

Dress Pants and Work Pants of Every Description.

In selecting our NEW STOCK we had you in mind. So it's here for you for LESS MONEY. Come and see. Come, get acquainted with our NEW STORE, Our motto is to PLEASE YOU so you will come again.

Store one door above Thorn's Drug Store

WE ARE EXPECTING YOU.

E. A. ANDERSON,

RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

W. A. PRICE, President. H. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President. S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated—A. D. 1892.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

Pretty? Well-- Rather?

That's what you'll say when you see the new and attractive "ALL WOOL" International Fabrics. Every one's a beauty. Drop in and get a line on the good looks of INTERNATIONAL Clothes. Prices that are popular, and styles that will stay popular.

J. W. BERKSHIRE & SON, Agents, Petersburg, Ky.

Local News.

No game of base ball for the local park now pending.

For Sale—Load of old corn. Apply to L. S. Beemon, Limaburg.

Prof. Dix and wife are boarding with Mrs. Susan Clutterbuck.

The season for putting up the vexatious stove pipe is drawing near.

The book season is now on to continue for the next several months.

For Sale—Good Jersey cow—second calf. Apply to G. W. Sandford.

The Harvest Home, last Saturday, closed the outing season in this part of the country.

C. L. Gaines can supply the WESTERN RECORDER, and will appreciate your patronage.

Albert Conner got one of his thumbs badly mangled in a kraut cutter, one day last week.

Persons headed for the Harvest Home began going through town early Saturday morning.

Most of the tobacco crop has been put in the house. Some claim that the plants are house burning.

The frequent showers of rain keep vegetation growing and in fine condition so be crippled badly by a biting frost.

James H. Eddins, of Georgetown, came down last week to spend a few days with his son, J. M. Eddins and family.

The local carpenters have all the work contracted for that they will be able to do this fall. Most all of it is repairing.

O. O. Dixon, has returned to Richwood from Erlanger, where he nursed Mr. Thomas Buchanan through a serious illness.

The juveniles are not so plentiful on the street now. The schools began last Monday. It being for their good their presence can be spared.

Garnett Tolln has gone to Danville, where he will enter college. Two or three other Boone county boys will attend the same school this fall and winter.

The canneries at Belleview and Petersburg will have a pretty good season again, as the tomatoes are said to be making a good yield of fine tomatoes.

Nearly everybody for miles out the East Bend road passed thru town, last Saturday, enroute to the Harvest Home. They came in squads and battallions.

For Sale—500 Stock Ewes from one to three years old. Will sell for cash or on time. Apply to V. W. Gaines, near Bullittsburg Baptist church.

Phone 251 Burlington. tf.

Quite a good crowd of Capt. Gaines' friends and admirers, at Petersburg, came out last Thursday night to hear his lecture entitled "The Rise of Caesar and the Fall of Napoleon."

The farmer who has hogs enough from which to make his meat is not to be found at every turn of the road in this county, and the demand for hogs to feed for domestic purposes will be strong in a few weeks.

The rain last Thursday morning kept a great many persons from attending the association at Bullittsburg, who had been making their arrangements to eat fried chicken and other good things with the Baptist brethren that day.

Dr. Otto Crisler's services as veterinary will be missed considerably now that he has returned to school. He was doing considerable practice, and during his last ten days stay at home he was up all night with his patients on several occasions.

Assessor B. L. Cleek and his deputies, Cloud, of Constance, and Stephens, of Rabbit Hash, have got busy again listing property for taxation. They will hustle in order to get all the work they can done before bad weather overtakes them.

William Hedges brought to this office, one day last week, a stalk of corn, which, in length, rivals the sycamore trees that grow down on Gunpowder creek, while the ear that grew on it approaches, in size, a butt cut off of some of those trees.

Lost—Ladies 20-year case gold watch with black corded fob and chain attached, last Saturday on the Bullittsville and Dry Creek turnpike between Anderson Ferry and Hebron. Finder will please return to W. A. Bullock & Co., Hebron, and receive reward.

O'Sullivan's Opinion is the name of a campaign paper just started in Louisville. It is brim full of the hottest sort of politics and while flying the flag of "An Independent Newspaper" appears to be the organ of the Tyler contingent for Mayor against both the regular tickets.

The work of cutting corn has begun, and is a heavy task, although many large stalks are found on which there is not an ear, which cannot be accounted for as this has been one of the most favorable seasons for corn that this part of the country has experienced in a long time.

Burglars played havoc with the mail sacks that were left in the depot at Erlanger, last Saturday night. It is not known how much booty the thieves obtained, nor is there any clue to their identity. Mail matter was strewn a considerable distance out into the country. Government detectives are trying to locate the thieves.

Rev. William McMillian, of Big Bone, and S. L. Webb, of Erlanger, were reelected moderator and clerk, respectively, of the North Bend Association of Baptists at its session last week with the Bullittsburg church. They are painstaking and efficient officers of the association. The next session of the association will be held with the church at Big Bone.

Farmer Charles White from out on the East Bend road was in town one day last week, and in speaking of the crop of corn said that the late corn will make the best yield, owing to the very favorable weather of the past month or six weeks. He said that his pumpkin vines are running so fast the young pumpkins cannot catch on, consequently that crop will be a failure although the vines are immense.

The Harvest Home, last Saturday, was a glorious success. The rains a few days before had cleaned up the dust, while the weather conditions were exactly as desired, and the exhibition of farm, garden and dairy products was equal to any of the past, and the colt show was up to the average. About 2,000 people attended. The new seats built about the exhibition ring were a source of much comfort to the large crowd. Following is the list of premiums:

On Wheat and rye, Thos Hafer; oats, P Hager; yellow corn, Rice Bros; white corn, W T Davis; tobacco, C T Easton; display grain, Thos Hafer; apples, W H Clayton; plums, J H Aylor; peaches, Ed Berkshire; pears, J H Aylor; grapes, D M Snyder; quinces, Susie Clutterbuck; display fruit, W H Clayton; knit or crochet counterpane, Mrs R N Head; calico quilt and silk quilt, Jennie Dixon; linen embroidery, French embroidery and Italian embroidery, Mrs J E Smith; display embroidery, and Bulgarian embroidery, Nellie Rouse; cotton embroidery, mount mellick embroidery lace work Battenberg embroidery and drawn thread work, Inez Gaines; eyelet embroidery, Mrs A W Corn; kensington embroidery, Mrs A M Yealy; fancy sofa pillow, Mrs W F Bradford; crochet work, Jennie Dixon; fancy silk knitting, Mrs E C Rouse; plain woolen knitting, Miss Pink Cowen; plain cotton knitting; green beans, E Kilgore; cabbage, M F Rouse; celery, R N Head; sweet corn, E Y Aylor; late Irish potatoes, Hubert Beemon; early Irish potatoes; tomatoes, Jake Lodge; pumpkins, M Goodridge; squashes; Hubert Conner; cashaws, Kirb Tanner; watermelons, Ezra Aylor; nutmegs, Elijah Tanner; onions, W I Rouse; turnips, M F Rouse; radishes, W C Delph; beets, Hattie Goodridge; cucumbers, H Carder; carrots Jacob Crigler; display peppers, E H Tanner; display vegetables, M F Rouse; sour pickles, Mrs J H Baker; sweet pickles, Mrs Nannie Crigler; loaf of light corn bread, Mrs W P Beemon; hop yeast, Mesdames D M Snyder 1st, Bert Gaines 2d, Ira Walton 3d; salt rising, Mrs Ed Berkshire; pound cake, Mrs R W Rouse; lady cake, Dora Aylor; layer cake by girl under 15, Sallie Castleman; berry cake, Mrs Ira Walton; fruit cake, Mrs R O Beemon; angel food cake, Mrs O E Rose; devil food, Mrs Bert Jones; butter, Miss Jonie Aylor, can of peaches, Miss Jennie Dixon; can of pears, same; can of tomatoes, Mrs R W Rouse; sorghum molases, Moses Aylor; maple molasses, Mrs W P Beemon; apple vinegar, Ed Stephens; honey, J G Crisler; display of fruit butter, Emma Bradford; display of preserves, Mrs. W C Delph; display jellies, Mammie Crigler; hand bouquet, Annie Brown; display cut flowers Mrs W P Beemon; display cactus, Grace Anderson; display geraniums, Mrs W C Delph; display bergonias and display of flowers, same; light brahmas, L C Tanner; white rocks, barred rocks, Hambergs, toulose geese and display of poultry, A M Acra; leghorns, Henry Crigler; white Wyandotts, bantams and Pekin ducks, Miss Jennie Aylor; pit game, Tanner Bros; minorcas and laced wyandotts L E Tanner; Rhode Island Reds, George Lozie; emden geese, J T Aylor; rouen ducks, W C Delph; guineas, J J Tanner; chester white hogs, Charles Youell; durocs, E C Clore and W E Garnett; hampshire, J M Craven; sow and pigs, Hubert Rouse; draft colt, W C Goodridge 1st, E Ogden 2d; harness colt, J J Duncan 1st, D Carpenter 2d; general purpose colt, E C Clore 1st, J J Duncan 2d; mule colt, A W Corn 1st, Harve McGlasson 2d; dairy cattle, Joe Scott all the premiums except 2d on milk cow, taken by L Kinney; best looking baby Mrs Estell Starcher 1st. Mrs George Darby 2d; ladies' hitching contest, Miss S L Beemon; gentlemen's hitching contest, W G Riddell.

Go With A Rush.

The demand for that wonderful Stomach, Liver and Kidney cure, Dr. King's New Life Pills—is astounding ..... say they never saw the like. Its because they never fail to cure Sour Stomach, Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness, Jaundice, Sick Headache, Chills and Malaria. Only 25c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

For the purpose of stopping the flow of money from this State in payment of premiums on life insurance policies, the Citizens National Life Insurance Company with headquarters at Louisville, has been organized, and its very rapid growth as shown from week to week by its advertisement in this paper, shows with what great favor it has met among the people. It is the most popular business enterprise that has been launched in the South in these many days.

Important Notice to the Tobacco Growers.

The tobacco growers in each voting precinct in the county, who have pledged their tobacco with the Burley Tobacco Society will meet at their respective voting places on the last Satusday in September, at 2 p. m., and elect one of their number to represent them on the Board of Control. The secretary and chairman will give the member elected his certificate of election.

T. F. CURLEY, Secretary.

For Sale—Willow baby carriage with willow top, rubber tire. In first-class order; cost $20.

W. H. Goodridge, Florence, Ky.

Tartaric Acid
5c oz.
for Canning Corn.
Geo. C. Goode, Agt
Pike & Washington,
Covington, Kentucky.

Where Is It! What Is It!

CAN YOU FIND IT?

There is a missing Word in this advertisement and there will be one in each of our ads. in this paper from now to November 24th. We have lots and lots of good things to tell you about this fall and in order to get as many to read our advertisements as possible we will give $5.00 in gold as stipulated below. Fill out the following coupon or make one like it and fiill it out.

The missing word in Green's advertisement dated Sept. 15 is.....found betwoen the words .....and.....

Name.....

Address.....

$5.00 in gold will be given for the largest number of corcect answers to the eleven propositions and in case of a tie the money will be equally divided. All answers must be filed at our store within 10 days from the date of the coupon. It costs you nothing to submit your answers and in reading our advertisements you will be sure to keep posted as to the many bargains we are offering.

Remember are making a Special Discount on all New Cloaks and Suits sold during September, 1 lot of last year's Cloaks at ½ Price. 1 lot of Ladies' Shirt Waists at ½ Price. Special values in Muslin. Wonderful values in Room Size Rugs, Carpets and Linoleums.

Get Your Coupons Ready.

→FOLLOW THE ARROW TO←

GREEN'S CASH STORE,

Rising Sun, Indiana,

AND BE HAPPY

P. S.—Have been too Busy to Prepare our Half-Page Adv. for this week.

CALL AND SEE US.

WE DON'T KNOW WHETHER

You Know It or Not

Our Customers help to bring the trade to us. They know they get satisfaction. They will tell you, no matter where you go, you'll never find better Clothing than those handled by us.

OUR LINE OF

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing

CAN NOT BE SURPASSED.

We have a large assortment to select from and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP. We have some nice

MEN'S SUITS at..... $5.00 and $7.50

Better Grades MEN'S SUITS..... $10.00 to $18.00

These include a great many high priced suits which we have reduced

BOYS' SUITS..... $4.00 to $10.00

We are giving especially great bargains in our Boys' Suits.

MEN'S PANTS... $1.00 to $5.00 CHILDREN'S SUITS... $1.25 to $5.00

Kindly visit our Store and you wilt be most favorably impressed with the bargains we are showing.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., ↔ Covington, Ky

Some Have Learned—Others Are Learning

That, laying aside the question of convenience, they can still do a whole lot better by buying their glasses of us. We have the same facilities for grinding lenses and turning out the best work promptly as any of the large Cincinnati firms. In fact, we have a large number of patrons who come us from Cincinnati. If you have not tried us, ask your neighbor—he has.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.

IT GIVES THE BEST RESULTS.

LIGHT, ANATOMICALLY CORRECT

The "SMITHSONIAN" TRADE MARK TRUSS

HOLDS IN ANY POSITION.

Fitted and Sold by A. W. Smith, Walton, Ky.

THE

Godman Shoes

Our large line of Godman Shoes just opened is now ready for you to make your selection. We sold a great many of these Shoes last winter and found they gave splendid wear. Come in and see them. We have all styles at prices to suit everyone.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

Lime, Salt, Corn and Mill Feed.

.....Always in stock.....

NEW STOCK OF

Mason Jars, Star Cans and Stoneware.

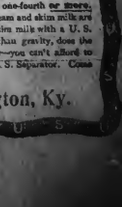
Fresh Groceries, Notions, Etc., at

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

WILLIAM TELL FLOUR ALWAYS ON HAND. GIVE ME A CALL.

¼ TO ½ BUTTER LOST THIS WAY



WHICH?

Which way do you skim your milk? It is hard sometimes to realize just how great the loss of cream is with crocks and pans. Some people may not believe that a

U. S.

CREAM SEPARATOR

skims enough closer than the old way to increase their butter yield one-fourth or more. But it does, and there's a plain reason for it. When you set milk the cream and skim milk are separated from one another by the force of gravity, but when you skim milk with a U. S. Separator centrifugal force, which is thousands of times stronger than gravity, does the separating. It squeezes out the last drop of cream. Cream is money—you can't afford to waste it. If you keep three or more cows, it will pay you to buy a U. S. Separator. Come in and look one over, anyway. They are sold by

The Mersman Hwd. Co., Covington, Ky.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, · KENTUCKY.

It does not hurt to hope that the cost of living will be reduced.

Too many a summer elopement winds up in an autumn divorce court.

Some of the summer romances do not end as happily as the designers of them expected.

Such of the crops as were waiting for rain may now proceed with their unfinished business.

The airship man declines to be called a chauffeur. He claims to be a professor of aviation.

That swimmer who failed to swim the English channel after the seventh trial should get an airship.

One nice thing about Minister Wu was the fact that it was almost impossible to misspell his name.

There is always so much trouble about moving the crops that the farmers ought to put casters on them.

Sweden has added its name to the long list of foreign lands that are having a heap of trouble this summer.

One of the best signs of good times is the activity in the repair shops of the railroads. Talk of another car shortage is about due.

The African Diamond Trust has put up prices. Here is where the heartless monopolies take advantage again of the necessity of the poor.

The fool who rocks the boat has not been heard from frequently this summer, but victims of carelessness have increased to a lamentable extent.

It's a windy day when no one beats the record with an aeroplane. The aeroplane and the art of managing it are undergoing steady improvement.

Labor troubles in this country are not numerous at the present time, and there would be fewer of them were it not for the professional agitators who make it a business to stir up these troubles.

The Connecticut angler who has met with great success through sinking a large bottle full of live bait, and fishing alongside the glass prison for the hungry big fish that become angered by bumping their noses against it, has given a fresh excuse for including the bottle in fishing outfits.

Now that Minister Wu Ting Fang is returning to China again, they are telling stories about him. Here is one: A few years ago, in New York, he was met by a Tammany politician. "What is your Christian name, sir?" the politician asked. At once the diplomat's oriental calm stiffened into dignity. "My surname is Wu."

A decree has been published in Spain suppressing the privilege of purchase of immunity from military service. All will now have to serve in the army, rich and poor alike. This is first fruit of the popular uprising and is encouraging, as it shows that the Spanish government is willing to listen to the voice of the people.

An unusual example of loyalty is given by the petition of a woman in Seattle for divorce because her English husband will not allow her to shoot off firecrackers and display the American flag on the Fourth of July. She should, however, assert her independence in a better way by defying her marital tyrant and patriotically shooting off the fireworks anyway.

If you have an idea it is hot and humid, read this news item: A balloon which made an ascension from St. Louis landed in Illinois after sailing all night through cold rain and sleet and through a heavy snowstorm for about an hour. Is not this suggestive of the coming time when it will be possible, with the aid of flying machines, to find any sort of climatic conditions desired?

Naval officers in Charlestown have warrant for being incensed at the action of a Boston judge, who gave a youth brought before him the alternative of enlisting in the navy or going to jail, says the Baltimore American. Navy service is an honorable one, and the stand taken that it lowers it in the eyes of the public to attempt to make it of a reformatory character for embryo criminals is one which popular opinion should not approve.

The killing of three German balloonists by Russian guards on the borders of the czar's dominions gives the common practice of shooting at aeronauts the dignity of a serious international question. It is time that something were done to impress upon the people of all nations and of all parts of nations, the fact that shooting at balloons is something that cannot be done without assuming the risk of murder and the punishment therefor.

A test case is to be made in the New York courts as to what criminal statute is violated by the offense technically known as "talking back" to the police, and whether arrest and punishment in the matter are justified by the law. The question of illegal arrest is really a serious one, as the whole matter of personal liberty, upon which the principles of this government are founded, is involved. And it may be remarked that the metropolis is not the only city in the country where personal dignity has an unpleasant way of asserting itself.

HARRIMAN IS DEAD

Financier Pases Away After Long Illness at Home at Arden.

GREAT CAREER IS ENDED

MOST POWERFUL OF AMERICA'S RAILROAD GIANTS LOSES LAST GREAT FIGHT.

CAUSES SHOCK IN NEW YORK

News Received in Financial Circles with Deep Feeling—Report of Operation is Not Confirmed—Autopsy May Be Held.

New, York, Sept. 10.— Edward H. Harriman died at his home in Arden, N. Y. Mr. Harriman had been in ill health for a long time. He was born at Hempstead, Long Island, February 25, 1848.

Mr. Harriman's death had been expected for several days. On last Sunday he suffered a serious relapse due to an attack of acute indigestion, and he was unable to rally from the critical condition which then threateend his life. With him at the time of death were all the members of his immediate family and Dr. Lyle.

Financier's End Comes.

Arden, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The impenetrable seclusion of Arden persisted even at the moment of Mr. Harriman's death, and by no outward sign did the great estate give evidence that the master's end had come. The first word known outside the guarded gates was flashed from New York. Immediate efforts to break through the barriers of silence were unavailing, and Tower Hill preserved its wonted air of absolute serenity. Whea telephone connection was established with the Harriman mansion, the response was immediately received confirming the news already received from New York that the financier was dead.

Operation Not Confirmed.

The developments of the last three days indicate that Mr. Harriman's death might have occurred at almost any moment since his relapse last Sunday.

The report of an operation has not been confirmed, and there is still doubt as to whether Mr. Harriman expired under the knife, from a crisis in his disease, or from a combination of the extreme weakness that succeeded the attack of Sunday.

It is possible that an autopsy will be held, and that the world may at last learn the true nature of Mr. Harriman's mysterious disease.

Causes Sensation.

New York, Sept. 10.—The announcement of Mr. Harriman's death caused an immense sensation throughout New York city, particularly in Wall street, and in financial circles where Harriman had been a dominating personality. The stock exchange had closed and the throngs of bankers and brokers were moving homeward as the first word of the financier's death spread with lightning-like rapidity among them. At first it was received with incredulity, as a repetition of sinister reports in circulation recently.

Deep Feeling is Prevalent.

But verification quickly came, and soon the cry of "extra" along Wall street carried the details of the financier's death.

Everywhere the news was received with evidence of deep feeling and with the common recognition that the career of one of the world's greatest financial powers had come to a close. The same profound impression was reflected in uptown business quarters, and the sentiment of sympathy and regret was universal.

Receives First Word.

Judge Lovett, the close personal and business associate of Mr. Harriman, received the first word of the financier's death at the Union Pacific offices and immediately left for Arden.

Mr. Harriman is survived by a widow, two sons, Avery and Roland Harriman, and three daughters, Mrs. Robert L. Gerry, Miss Mary and Miss Carol Harriman.

Builds Up Union Pacific.

Harriman obtained control of the Union Pacific in 1897 and began a systematic plan to place the properties in the best possible condition for their maintenance at a high standard of efficiency. It was his policy to keep his railroads in the best workable condition, confident that sooner or later the question of dividends would take care of itself. To the task he had undertaken Mr. Harriman gave unflagging industry, and it was his constant work that brought on the final breakdown in his health. Stomach trouble developed more than a year ago and medical treatment gave no relief. This summer he went to Europe to consult the greatest specialists there, but he was not benefited. On his return to this country he went at once to his magnificent country home at Arden, where death occurred.

SUBJECT TO CONDITIONS.

Gimlet—Fibbs claims to have caught a catfish weighing 50 pounds down in the creek, does he? Well, it's safe to say he's lying to the extent of about 40 pounds.

Hammer—Not if he hears you say it.

CUTICURA CURED HIM.

Eczema Came on Legs and Ankles—Could Not Wear Shoes Because Of Bad Scaling and Itching.

"I have been successfully cured of dry eczema. I was inspecting the removal of noxious weeds from the edge of a river and was constantly in the dust from the weeds. At night I cleansed my limbs but felt a prickly sensation. I paid no attention to it for two years but I noticed a scum on my legs like fish scales. I did not attend to it until it came to be too itchy and sore and began getting two running sores. My ankles were all sore and scabby and I could not wear shoes. I had to use carpet and felt slippers for weeks. I got a cake of the Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment. In less than ten days I could put on my boots and in less than three weeks I was free from the confounded itching. Capt. George P. Bliss, Chief of Police, Morris, Manitoba, Mar. 20, 1907, and Sept. 24, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Mottoes of a Queen.

Her majesty, the queen of Portugal, pins her faith, it is said, to the following mottoes:

Keep out of doors all you can. Breathe outdoor air, live in it, revel in it. Don't shut yourself up. Build your houses so that the air supply is good. Throw away your portieres and bric-a-brac. Don't have useless trifles about you.

Have a favorite form of exercise and make the most of it. Ride on horseback if you can; cycle if you cannot get a horse; do anything to get out in the open air.

Don't overeat. Drink little and let that little be pure. Don't try to dress too much, yet dress as well as you are able. Wear everything you can to make yourself lovely.

By Automobile Up Mount Rainier.

United States Engineer Eugene Ricksecker celebrated Independence day by throwing open the government road in the Mount Rainer National park. Vehicles and horsemen now have an excellent thoroughfare from tidewater to Narada falls, near snow line in Paradise valley. Mr. Ricksecker says that autos and wagons can now make the trip with comfort. The maximum grade on the road is four per cent. Nearly a score of automobiles, all loaded, went to the mountain.

Singular and Plural.

"Whenever she gets to thinking how much they're in debt it affects her nerves." "Huh! the way it affects her husband is singular." "How singular?" "Just singular, it affects his 'nerve.' He tried to borrow a hundred from me to-day."—Catholic Standard and Times.

In Madagascar everyone wears silk, which is cheaper than linen.

PRESSED HARD
Coffee's Weight on Old Age.

When prominent men realize the injurious effects of coffee and the change in health that Postum can bring, they are glad to lend their testimony for the benefit of others.

A superintendent of public schools in North Carolina says:

"My mother since her early childhood, was an inveterate coffee drinker and had been troubled with her heart for a number of years, and complained of that 'weak all over' feeling and sick stomach.

"Some time ago I was making an official visit to a distant part of the country and took dinner with one of the merchants of the place. I noticed a somewhat peculiar flavor of the coffee, and asked him concerning it. He replied that it was Postum.

"I was so pleased with it, that after the meal was over, I bought a package to carry home with me, and had wife prepare some for the next meal. The whole family liked it so well, that we discontinued coffee and used Postum entirely.

"I had really been at times very anxious concerning my mother's condition, but we noticed that after using Postum for a short time, she felt so much better than she did prior to its use, and had little trouble with her heart and no sick stomach; that the headaches were not so frequent, and her general condition much improved. This continued until she was as well and hearty as the rest of us.

"I know Postum has benefited myself and the other members of the family, but not in so marked a degree as in the case of my mother, as she was a victim of long standing."

Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.

Phone, M. 2393.

The Applegate-Piper Co.

MERCHANT TAILORS.

Room 610, Traction Building.

Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,

BURLINGTON, KY.

The Oldest Bank in Boone County,

PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,

With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR

THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.

17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.

This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR

Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,

Covington, · · Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY

AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.

CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.

New Buggies, Runabouts

and Harness for Sale or Trade.

Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.

When in Burlington call and See me.

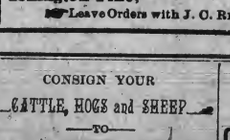
B. B. HUME, · Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.



First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.

Lexington Pike, · · · ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with J. O. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP TO

C. C. SEAL & CO.

Union Stock Yards,

CINCINNATI. · · OHIO

And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.

J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade

G. G. Hughes,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

BURLINGTON, KY.

Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

Burlington, Ky.

Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. S. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.

Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,

ATTORNEYS-at-LAW

Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2020. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK

(Incorporated 1884.)

CAPITAL	$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits	$7,000

Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.

(INCORPORATED 1893.)

ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY

Capital Stock paid in	$50,000
Surplus	$8,000

Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,

DENTIST,

206 F. & T. Bank Building.

COVINGTON. - KY.

—will be in office—

AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,

Real Estate Agent.

Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,

AUCTIONEER.

Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME

The Farmers' Mutual Fire

INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF BOONE COUNTY,

Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.

Its RATES are LOWER Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co. HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE in keeping their property insured.

Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.

Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.

Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V. Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Uts, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., Ludlow, Ky.
R. F. D.—1,
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,

GRANITE & MARBLE

MONUMENTS,

Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.

Building Stone, Flagging.

Settees and Vases.

Office and Warerooms:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
Ella POPE Agent, Agent, Ky

C. L. GRIFFITH,

DEALER IN

REAL ESTATE

and Negotiable Notes,

WALTON, KY.

If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.

Write for printed list.

DISCOVERY OF NORTH POLE RELATED BY ROBERT E. PEARY

Intrepid Explorer's Story of the Bold Dash by Which He Reached the Earth's Apex---Dr Cook's Claim Flatly Denied.

Notice to Publishers.

The following account of the successful voyage to the north pole was issued on September 10 by the New York Times Company at the request of Commander Peary and for his protection, as a book only, copyrighted and exposed for sale before any part of it was reproduced by any newspaper in the United States or Europe, in order to obtain the full protection of the copyright laws. The reproduction of this account, in any form, without permission, is forbidden. The penalties for violation of this form of copyright include imprisonment for any person aiding or abetting such violation. The articles is copyrighted in Great Britain by the London Times. Copyright, 1909, by the New York Times Company. This narrative is also copyrighted as a newspaper article by the New York Times Company.

REPORT OF THE DISCOVERY OF THE NORTH POLE by Robert E. Peary, Commander U. S. N., Copyright, 1909, by the New York Times Company.

DENIES COOK REACHED POLE.

Battle Harbor, Labrador (via Marconi wireless, Cape Ray, N. F.), Sept. 10.---Do not trouble about Cook's story, or attempt to explain any discrepancies in his statements. The whole will settle itself.

He has not been at the pole on April 21, 1908, or at any other time. He has simply handed the public a gold brick.

These statements are made advisedly and I have proof of them. When he makes a full statement of his journey over his signature to some geographical society, or other proper body, if that statement contains the claim that he has reached the pole, I shall be in a position to furnish material that may prove distinctly interesting reading for the public.

ROBERT E. PEARY.

Battle Harbor, Labrador (via Marconi wireless, Cape Ray, N. F.), Sept. 9.---The steamer Roosevelt, bearing the north polar expedition of the Peary Arctic club, parted company with the Erik and steamed out of Etah ford late in the afternoon of August 18, 1908, setting the usual course for Cape Sabine. The weather was dirty, with fresh southerly winds. We had on board 23 Eskimo men, 17 women, and 10 children, 226 dogs, and some forty odd walrus.

We encountered the ice a short distance from the mouth of the harbor, but it was not closely packed, and was negotiated by the Roosevelt without serious difficulty.

FIND MUCH WATER.

As we neared Cape Sabine the weather cleared somewhat and we passed by Three Voort island and Cape Sabine, easily making out with the naked eye the house at Hayes harbor occupied by me in the winter of 1901-02.

From Cape Sabine north there was so much water that we thought of setting the sails, as there was a southerly wind, but a little later appearance of ice to the northward stopped this.

There was clean open water past Cape Albert, and from there a scattered ice to a point about abreast of Victoria Head, thick weather and dense ice bringing us some ten or fifteen miles away.

From here we drifted south somewhat and then got aslant to the northward out of the current. We worked a little further north and stopped again for some hours. Then we again worked westward and northward till we reached a series of lakes, coming to a few miles south of the Windward's winter quarters at Cape Durville.

From here, after some delay, we slowly worked a way northeastward through fog and broken ice of medium thickness through one night and the forenoon of the next day, and emerging into open water and clear weather off Cape Fraser.

STRIKE ICE AND FOG.

From this point we had a clear run through the middle of Robeson channel uninterrupted by either ice or fog, to Lady Franklin bay. Here we encountered field ice and fog, and were working along in search of a practicable opening were forced across to the Greenland coast at Thank God Harbor.

The fog lifted there and enabled us to make out our whereabouts and we steamed north through a series of leads past Cape Lupton, and then south-southward toward Cape Union. A few miles off that cape we were stopped by impracticable ice, and we drifted back south to Cape Union, where we stopped again.

SHIP FORCED AGROUND.

We lay for some time in a lake of water, and then, as pressure being effected south again, took refuge under the north shore of Lincoln bay, in nearly the identical place where we had our unpleasant experience three years before. Here we remained for severeal days during a period of constant and at times violent northeasterly winds.

Twice we were forced aground by the heavy ice; we had our port quarter rail broken and a hole stove in the bulwarks, and twice we pushed out in an attempt to get north, but were forced back each time to our precarious shelter.

HEAVY RUNNING ICE.

Finally on September 3 we squeezed around Cape Union and made fast in a shallow niche in the ice, but after some hours we made another short run to Black cape to bring us to a grounded bit of ice. At last, a little after midnight of September 5, we passed through extremely heavy running ice into a stream of open water, rounded Cape Bryson, and passed Cape Sheridan.

Within a quarter of an hour of the same time we arrived three years before---seven a. m., September 5---we reached the open water extending beyond Cape Sheridan.

We steamed up in the end of it and it appeared practicable at first to reach Porter bay, near Cape Joseph Henly, which I had for my winter quarters, but the outlook being unsatisfactory, I went back and put the Roosevelt into the wide opening in the floe, being barred close to the mouth of the Sheridan river a little north of our position three years prior.

PUT UP FOR WINTER.

The season was further advanced than in 1905; there was more snow on the ground and the new ice loads the floe edges was much thicker.

The work of disharging the ship was commenced at once and rushed to completion. The supplies and equipment we sledged across to Cape Sheridan and deposited on shore. A house and workshop were built of board, covered with sails, and fitted with stoves, and the ship was snug for winter in shoal water, where it touched bottom at low tide.

The settlement on the stormy shores of the Arctic ocean was christened Hubbardville.

Hunting parties were sent out on September 10 and a bear was brought in on the 12th and some dear a day or two later.

PREPARE FOR SLEDGE TRIP.

On September 15 the full work of transferring supplies to Cape Columbia was inaugurated. Marvin with Dr. Goodsall and Borup and the Eskimos, took 16 sledge loads of supplies to Cape Belknap and on the 17th the same party started with loads to Portar bay.

The work of hunting and transporting supplies was prosecuted continuously by the members of the party and the Eskimos until November 5, when the supplies for the spring sledge trip had been removed from winter quarters and deposited at various places from Cape Colan to Cape Columbia.

The latter part of September the movement of the ice indicated to me the ship's pressure which listed it to port some eight or ten degrees, and it did not recover till the following spring.

On October 1 I went on a hunt with two Eskimos across the field and Pass bay and the peninsula, made the circuit of Clements Markham inlet, and returned to the ship in seven days with 15 musk oxen, a bear and a deer.

Later in October I repeated the trip, obtaining five musk oxen, a bear and hunting parties secured some 40 deer.

SUPPLIES MOVED TO BASE.

In the February moon Bartlett went to Cape Hecla, Goodsall moved some more supplies from Hecla to Cape Colan, and Borup went to Markham inlet on a hunting trip. On February 15 Bartlett left the Roosevelt with the first division for Cape Columbia and Parr bay.

Goodsall, Borup, MacMillan and Hansen followed on successive days with their provisions. Marvin returned from Cape Bryant on February 17 and left for Cape Columbia on February 21. I brought up the rear on February 22.

The total of all divisions leaving the Roosevelt was seven members of the party, 59 Eskimos, 140 dogs and 23 sledges.

MAKE READY FOR DASH.

By February 27 such of the Cape Colan depot as was needed had been brought up to Cape Columbia, the dogs were rested and double rationed and harnessed, and the sledges and other gear overhauled.

Four months of northerly winds during the fall and winter instead of southerly ones, as during the previous season, led me to expect less open water than before, but a great deal of rough ice, and I was prepared to do a good road through the jagged ice for the first hundred miles or so, then cross the big lead.

BARTLETT LEADS THE WAY.

On the last day of February Bartlett, with his pioneer division, accomplished this, and his division got away due north over the ice on March 1. The rest of the party set out on Bartlett's trail, and I followed an hour later.

The party now comprised seven members of the expedition, 17 Eskimos, 133 dogs and 19 sledges. One Eskimo and seven dogs had gone to pieces.

A strong easterly wind, drifting snow, and temperature in the minus marked our departure from the camp at Cape Columbia, which I had christened Crane City. Rough ice in the first march damaged seven sledges and smashed two beyond repair, the teams going back to Columbia for other sledges in reserve there.

PASS BRITISH RECORD.

We campped ten miles from Crane City. The easterly wind and low temperature continued. In the second march we passed the British record made by Markham in May, 1876---82.28---and were stopped by open water, which had been formed by wind after Bartlett passed.

In this march we reached the head of the lead and reached Bartlett's third camp. Borup had gone back from here, but missed his way, owing to the faulting of the trail by the movement of the ice.

Marvin came back also for more fuel and alcohol. The wind continued, forming open water all about us. At the end of the fourth march on the 6th upon Bartlett, who had been stopped by a wide lake of open water. We remained here from March 6 to March 11.

GETS GLIMPSE OF SUN.

At noon of March 5 the sun, red and shaped like a football by excessed refliection, just raised itself above the horizon for a few minutes and then disappeared again. It was the first time I had seen it since October 1.

I now began to feel a good deal of anxiety about Bartlett. There was no sign of Marvin and Borup, who should have been there for two days. Besides, they had the alcohol and oil, which were indispensable for us.

We concluded that they had either lost the trail or were imprisoned on an island by open water, probably the latter.

Fortunately, on March 11 the lead was practicable and, leaving a note for Marvin and Borup to push on after us by forced marches, we proceeded northward. The sounding of the lead gave 110 fathome.

During this march we crossed the eighty-fourth parallel and traversed a succession of just frozen leads, from a few hundred yards to a mile in width. This march was very simple.

On the fourteenth we got free of the leads and came on decent going. While we were making camp a courier from Marvin came and informed me he was on the march in the rear. The temperature was 59 below zero.

The following morning, March 15, I sent Hansen with the division north to pioneer a trail for five marches, and Dr. Goodsell, according to the program, started back to Cape Columbia.

M'MILLAN TURNS BACK.

At night Marvin and Borup came spinning in with their men and dogs steaming in the bitter air like a squadron of battleships. Their arrival relieved me of all anxiety as to our off supply.

In the morning I discovered that MacMillan's foot was badly frost bitten. The mishap had occurred two or three days before, but MacMillan had said nuthing about it in the hope that it would coms out all right.

A glance at the injury showed me that the only thing was to send him back to Cape Columbia at once. The arrival of Marvin and Borup enabled me to spare sufficient men and dogs to go back with him.

On leaving the camp the expedition comprised 16 men, 12 sledges and 100 dogs. The next march was satisfactory as regards distance and the character of the going. In the latter part there were pronounced movements in the ice, both visible and audible.

Some leads were crossed, in one of which Borup and his team took a bath, and we were finally stopped by an impracticable lead opening in front of us. We camped in a temperature of 50 degrees below.

At the end of two short marches we came upon Hansen and his party in camp, mending their sledges. We devoted the remainder of the day to overhauling and mending sledges and breaking up our damaged ones for material.

MAKE FORCED MARCHES.

The next morning I put Marvin in the lead to pioneer the trail, with instructions to make two forced marches to bring up Hansen, and his party. Then cut down by the last two short ones. Marvin carried out his instructions implicitly. A considerable amount of young ice assisted him.

At the end of the tenth march, latitude 85.23, Borup turned back in commahd of the second supporting party, having travelled a distance equivalent to Nansen's distance from this far to his farthest north.

I was sorry to lose this young Yale runner, with his enthusiasm and pluck. He had led his heavy sledges over the floes in a way that commanded everyone's admiration, and would have made his father's eyes glisten.

CHANGES HIS PLAN.

From this point the expedition comprised 26 men, 19 sledges, and 70 dogs. It was necessary for Marvin to take a sledge from here, and I put Bartlett and his division in advance to pioneer the trail.

The continual daylight enabled me to make a moderation here that brought my advance and main parties closer together and removed the likelihood of their being separated by open leads.

After Bartlett left camp with Henderson and their division, Marvin and I remained behind a couple of hours longer and then followed. When we reached Bartlett's camp he broke out and went on with my division. By this arrangement the advance party was traveling while the main party was asleep, and vice versa, and I was in touch with my advance party twice a day.

MOVES EXPEDITIOUSLY.

I had no reason to complain of the going for the next two marches, though for a less experienced party, less adaptable sledges, and less perfect equipment it would have been an impossibility.

At our position at the end of the second march, March 20, obtained a satisfactory shot for latitude in clear weather, which placed us at 86.48. The result agreed satisfactorily with the dead reckoning for the year on Bartlett's trail.

Up to this time, the slight altitude of the sun had mads it not worth while to waste time in observations.

On the next three marches the going improved, and we covered good distances. In one of these marches a lead delayed us a few hours. We finally ferried across the ice cakes.

MAKES RECORD RUN.

The next day Bartlett lat himself out, evidently, for a record, and reeled off 39 miles. Here I obtained another satisfactory sight on latitude, which gave the position as 86.38 (or beyond the farthest north of Nansen and Abruzzi), and showed that I had covered 50 minutes of latitude in three marches.

In these three marches we had passed the Norwegian record of 86.14, by Nansen and the Italian record of 86.34, by Cagni.

From this point Marvin turned back in command of the third supporting party. My last words to him were: "Be careful of the leads, my boy."

The party from this point comprised nine men, seven sledges, and 40 dogs. The conditions at thie camp and the apparently unbroken expanse of fairly level ice in every direction reminded me of Cagni's description of his farthest north.

DANGER IS ENCOUNTERED.

But I was not deceived by the apparently favorable outlook, for available conditions never continue for any distance or any length of time in the arctic regions.

The next march was over good going, but for the first time since leaving land we experienced the condition, frequent over these ice fields, of a hazy atmosphere, in which the light is equal everywhere, shadows are destroyed, and it is impossible to eee for any distance.

We were obliged in this march to make a detour around an open lead. In the next marches the character of the harvest and deepest snow of the journey, through a thick, smothering mantle lying in the depressions of heavy rubble ice.

Nearly Discouraged.

I came upon Bartlett and his party, fagged out and temporarily discouraged by the heartracking work of making road.

I knew what was the matter with them. They were simply spoiled by the good going on the previous marches. I rallied Bartlett, lightened their sledges and sent them on encouraged again.

During the next march we traveled through a thick haze drifting over the ice before a light wind from the northeast. At the end of the march we came upon the captain camped beside a wide open lead with a dense black water sky indicating more to the northeast.

The next march was also a long one. It was Bartlett's last hit. He let himself out over a series of large old floes, steadily increasing in diameter and covered with hard snow.

WIND HELPS OUT.

During the last few miles I walked beside him or in advance. He was solemn and anxious to go further, but the program was for him to go back from here in command of the fourth supporting party, and there were no supplies for an increase in the main party.

In this march we encountered a high wind for the first time since the three days after we left Cape Columbia. It was dead in our faces, bitter and insistent, but I had no reason to complain. It was better than an easterly or southerly wind, either of which would have set us adrift in open water, while this was closing up every lead behind.

This finished another advantage of my supporting parties. True, by so doing it was pressing to the south the ice over which we traveled, and so robbing us of a hundred miles of advantage.

EIGHTY-FOUR IS PASSED.

We concluded we were on or near the eighty-fourth parallel, unless the north wind had loet us several miles. The wind blew all night and all next day.

At this camp, in the morning, Bartlett started to walk five or six miles to the north to make sure of reaching the eighty-eighth parallel. While he was gone I selected the 40 best dogs in the outfit and had them doubled.

I picked out five of the best sledges and assigned them expressly to the captain's party. I broke up the seventh for material with which to repair the others and set Eskimos at this work.

Bartlett returned in time to take a satisfactory observation for latitude in clear weather, and obtained for our position 87.48, and that showed that the continued north wind had robbed us of a number of miles of hard-earned distance.

Bartlett took the observation there, as had Marvin five camps back, partly to save my eyes, but largely to give an independent record and determination of our advance.

The observations completed and two copies made, one for him and the other for me, Bartlett started on the back trail in command of my fourth supporting party, with two Eskimos, one sledge and 18 dogs.

BARTLETT DID GOOD WORK.

When he left I felt for a moment pangs of regret as he disappeared in the distance, but it was only momentary. My work was still ahead, not in the rear.

Bartlett had done good work and had been a great help to me. Circumstances had thrust the brunt of the pioneering upon him instead of dividing it among several, as I had planned.

He had reason to take pride in the fact that he had battered the Italian record by a degree and a quarter and had covered a distance equal to the entire distance of the Italian expedition from Franz Josef's land to Cagni's farthest north.

I had given Bartlett this position and post of honor in command of my fourth and last supporting party, and for two reasons: first, because of his magnificent handling of the Roosevelt; second, because he had cheerfully stood between me and many trifling annoyances on the expedition.

Then there was a third reason. It seemed to me appropriate in view of the magnificent British record of arctic work, covering three centuries, that it should be a British subject who could boast that next to an American, he had been nearest the pole.

LAST STRUGGLE AT HAND.

With the disappearance of Bartlett I turned to the problem before me. This was that for which I had worked for 22 years, for which I had lived the simple life; for which I had conserved all my energy on the upward trip; for which I had trained myself as for a race, crushing down every temptation to excess.

In spite of my years, I felt in trim---fit for the demands of the coming days and eager to be on the trail.

As for my equipment, my equipment, and my supplies, I was in shape beyond my most sanguine dreams of earliest years.

My party might be regarded as an ideal, which had now come to realization---a loyal and responsive to my will as the fingers of my right hand.

PARTY IDEAL FOR EFFORT.

Four of them possess the technique of dogs, sledges, ice, and cold as the result of years. Two of them, Hansen and Ootam, were my companions to the farthest point three years before. Two Eskimo lads, Egingwah and Sigloo, were in Clark's division, which had such a narrow escape at that time, and now were willing to go anywhere with my household party, and willing to risk themselves again in any supporting party.

Then I had a young man who had never served before in any expedition, but who was, if possible, even more willing and eager than the others for the princely privilege of a rifle, a shotgun, ammunition, knives, etc., which I had promised to each of them who reached the pole with me; for he knew that these riches would enable him to wrest from a stubborn father the girl whose image filled his hot young heart.

HAD CONFIDENCE IN HIM.

All had blind confidence so long as I was with them, and gave no thought for the morrow, sure that whatever happened I should somehow get them back to land. But I was sure the party equally. I recognized that all its impetus centered in me, and that whatever pace I set it would make good. If anyone played out, I would stop for a short time.

I had no fault to find with the conditions. My dogs were the best, the pick of 322 with which we had started. The most all were powerful males, hard as nails, in good flesh, but without a superfluous ounce, and what was better yet, they were all in good spirits.

My sledges, now that the repairs were completed, were in good condition. My supplies were ample for 60 days, and, with the resarve represented by the dogs themselves, could be made to last 50.

HIS PROGRAM PLANNED.

Pacing back and forth in th ice of the pressure ridge where the floes were built, while my men got their loads ready for the next marchee, I settled on my program. I decided I should strain every nerve to make long marches of 15 miles each, crowding theee marches in such a way as to bring us to the end of the first long enough before noon to permit the immediate taking of an observation for latitude.

Weather and leads permitting, believed I could make the long proposed distances were cut down by any chance I had two meane in reserve for making up the deficit.

First---To make the last march a forced one, stopping to make tea and rest the dogs, but not to sleep.

Second---At the end of the fifth march to make a forced march with a light sledge, a double team of dogs, and ons or two of the party, leaving the rest in camp.

SEES DANGER IN GALE.

Underlying all these calculations was a recognition of the ever present neighborhood of open leads and impassable water, and the knowledge that a single lead would knock all my plans into a cocked hat, and even put us in imminent peril. But a little after midnight on April 1, after a few hours of sound sleep, I hit the trail, leaving the others to break up camp and follow.

As I climbed the pressure ridge back of our igloos I eet another hole in my belt, the third since I started. Every man and dog of us was lean and flat fulled as a board and as hard.

CONDITIONS ALL FAVORABLE.

It was a fine morning. The wind of the last two daye had subsided, and the going was the best and most equable of any I had had yet. The floes were large and old, and clear, and were surrounded by pressure ridges, some of which were almost stupendous.

The biggest of these, however, were easily negotiated, either through some crevice or up some huge brink. I sat a good pace for about ten hours. Twenty-five miles must be well beyond the eighty-eighth parallel.

While I was building my igloos a long lead forward by the east and southwest of us at a distance of a few miles.

TRAVEL WAS EASY.

A few hours' sleep and we were on the trail again, the going being now so practicnilly horizontal, we were unhampered and could travel as long as we pleased and sleep as little as we wished.

The weather was fine and the going like that of the previous day, except at the beginning, when pickaxes were required. This and a brief stop at another lead cut down our distance. But we had made 20 miles in ten hours and were a half way to the eighty-ninth parallel.

The ice was grinding audibly in every direction, but no motion was visible. Evidently it was settling back into equilibrium and probably sagging dua northward with its release from the wind pressure.

SURFACE ALMOST LEVEL.

Again there was a few hours' sleep and we hit the trail before midnight. The weather and going were even better than before, except as interrupted by infrequent ridges, was as level as the glacial fringe from Hecla to Columbia, and harder.

We marched something over ten hours, the dogs being often on the trot, and made 20 miles. Near the end of the march we crushed across a lead 100 yards wide, which buckled under our sledges and finally broke as the last sledge left it.

We stopped in sight of the eighty-ninth parallel in a temperature of 40 degrees below. Again a scant sleep and we were on our way once more and across the eighty-ninth parallel.

This march duplicated the previous one as to weather and going. The last few hours it was on young ice and occasionally the dogs were galloping.

We made twenty-five miles or more, the air, the sky, and the bitter wind burning the face until it cracked. It was like the great interior ice cap of Greenland. Even the natives complained of the bitter air. It was as keen as frozen steel.

A little longer sleep than the previous one had to be taken here, as we were all hungry and tired. Then on again.

Up to this time, with each successive march, our fear of an impassable lead had increased. At every inequality of the ice I found myself hurrying breathlessly forward, fearing that it marked a lead, and when I arrived at the summit would catch my breath with relief---only to find myself hurrying on in the same way at the next one.

But on this march, by some strange shift of the floes, all fear of it fell from me completely. The weather was thick, but it gave me no uneasiness.

Before I turned in I took an observation which indicated our position as 89 degrees 25 minutes.

A rise in temperature to 15 degrees below reduced the friction of the sledges and gave the dogs the appearance of having caught the spirits of the party. The more sprightly ones, as they went along with tails curled like plumes, frequently tossed their heads, with short, sharp barks and yelps.

In 12 hours we had made 40 miles. There was no sign of a lead in the march.

ARRIVAL AT THE POLE.

I had now made my five marches, and was in the position for a hasty noon observation through a temporary break in the clouds, which indicated our position as 89.57. I quoin an entry from my journal some hours later:

The pole at last. The prize of three centuries, my dream and goal for 20 years, mine at last. I cannot bring myself to realize it.

It all seems so simple and commonplace. As Bartlett said when turning back, "Nothing left but a being in these exclusive regions, which no mortal has ever penetrated before: "It is just like every day."

Of course I had my sensations that made sleep impossible for hours, despite my utter fatigue---the sensations of a lifetime; but I have no room for them here.

The first 36 hours at the pole were spent in taking observations; in going some ten miles beyond our camp and taking observations to the right and to the left, in taking photographs, planting my flags, depositing my records, studying the horizon with my telescope for possible land, and generally for a practicable place to make a sounding.

PLAN FOR RETURN TRIP.

Ten hours after our arrival the clouds cleared before a light breeze from our left and for a short time until our departure in the afternoon of April 7 the weather was cloudless and flawless.

The minimum temperature during the 36 hours was 43 below, the maximum 12.

We had reached the goal, but the return was still before us. It was essential that we should be on the land before the next spring tide, and we must strain every nerve to do this.

I had a brief talk with my men. From now on there was to be a big travel, little sleep and a hustle every minute.

We would try, I told them, to double march on the return---that is, to start and make one of our northward marches, make tea and eat our luncheon in the igloos, then cover another march, and sleep a few hours, and repeat this daily.

SPEED NEARLY DOUBLED.

As a matter of fact, we nearly did this, covering regularly on our return journey the outward marches in three return marches.

Just as long as we could hold the trail we could double our speed, and we made no time in building new igloos every day, so that the time we gained on the return lessened the chances of a gale destroying the track.

Of the above eighty-seventh parallel we a region some fifty milee wide which caueed me considerable uneasiness. Twelve hours of strong easterly, or easterly and northerly wind would make this region an open sea.

In the afternoon of the 7th we started on our return, having double fed the dogs, repaired the sledges for the last time, and discarded all our spare clothing to lighten the loade.

TRIES TO SOUND SEA.

Five hours from the pole a narrow crack filled with young ice, through which we were ablo to work a hole with a pickax, enabled me to make a soundinge. Of eighty-seven fathoms was sent down, but there was no bottom.

In pulling up the wire parted a few fathoms from the surface and the lead and wire went to the bottom. Off went the and handle, lightening the sledges still further. We had no more use for them now.

Three marches brought us back to the igloos where the captain turned back. The last march was in the wild sweep of a northerly gale, with driving snow and the ice rocking under as we dashed over it.

NOT DELAYED BY LEADS.

South of where Marvin had turned back we came to where his party had built several igloos while delayed by open leads. Still further south we found where the captain had been held up by an open lead and obliged to camp.

Fortunately the movement of these leads was simply open and shut, and it took considerable water motion to fault the trail seriously.

While the captain, Marvin, and as I found later, Borup, had been delayed by open leads, we seemed to bear a charm and with no single lead were we delayed more than a couple of hours. Sometimes the ice was fast and firm enough to carry us across; sometimes a short detour, sometimee a brief halt for the lead to close, sometimee an improvised bridge of ice cake, kept the trail without difficulty down to the tenth outward march.

LOSE BARTLETT'S TRAIL.

Igloos there disappeared completely and the surface was unrecognizable. Where on the outward journey we had been narrow cracks, there were now broad leads, one or them over five miles in width, caught over with young ice.

Here again fortune favored us, and no pronounced movement of the ice having taken place since the captain passed, we had his trail to follow. We picked up the old trail again north of the seventh igloos, followed it beyond the fifth, and at the big lead lost it finally.

From here we followed the captain's trail, and on April 22 our sledges passed up the vertical edge of the glacier fringe, a little west of Cape Columbia.

When the last sledge came up I thought my Eskimos had gone crazy. They yelled and called and danced themselves helpless. As Etah sat down on his sledge he remarked, in Eskimo:

"The devil is asleep or having trouble with his wife, or we navse should have come back easily."

A few hours later we arrived at Crane City, under the bluffs of Cape Columbia, and, after putting four pounds of pemmican into each of the faithful dogs to keep them quiet, we had, at last, our chance to sleep.

LONG SLEEP WELCOME.

Never shall I forget that sleep at Cape Columbia. It was sleep, sleep, then turn over and sleep again. We slept gloriously, with never a thought of the morrow or having to walk and, too, with no thought that there was to be never a night more of blinding headache.

Cold water to a parched throat is nothing compared with sleep to a numbed, fatigued brain and body.

Two days we spent here in sleeping and drying our clothes. Then for the ship. Our dogs, like ourselves, had not been hungry when we arrived, but were lifeless with fatigue. They were different animals now, and the better ones among them, and on the way down carried tails and uplifted heads and their hind legs treading the snow with pistonlike regularity.

MARVIN'S FATE LEARNED.

We reached Hecla in one march and the Roosevelt in another. When we got to the Roosevelt I was staggered by the news of the fatal mishap to Marvin. He had either been less cautious or less fortunate than the rest of us, and his death emphasized the risk to which we all had been subjected, for there was not one of us that had been in the sledge at some time during the journey.

The big lead, cheated of its prey three years before, had at last gained its human victim.

The rest can be told quickly. McMillan and Borup had started for the Greenland coast to depoeit caches for me. Before I arrived during the latter part of May McMillan made some further tidal observations at other points. The supplies remaining at the various caches were brought in and on July 18 the Roosevelt left its winter quarters and was driven out into the channel back of Cape Nion.

It fought its way south in the center of the channel and passed Cape Sabine on August 8, or 39 days earlier than in 1908, and 6 days earlier than the British expedition in 1875.

We picked up Whitney and his party and stores at Etah. We bflled seventy-odd walrus at Cape Dalhousie. When I landed at their homes. We met the Jeanie off Saunders island and took over the men and eleven from Cape York on August 26, one month earlier than in 1906.

ANNOUNCES HIS TRIUMPH.

On September 5 we arrived at Indian Harbor, whence the message, "Stars and stripes nailed to the pole," was sent vibrating southward through the crisp Labrador air.

The culmination of long experience, a thorough knowledge of the conditions of the problem gained in the last expedition ---these, together with a new type of sledge and transportation, the Eskimo dogs and driver, and a new type of camp cooler which added to the comfort and increased the hours of sleep of the members of the party, combined to make the present expedition an agreeable improvement upon the last in respect to the rapidity and effectiveness of its work and the lessened discomfort and strain upon the members of the party.

HIS CAPABLE AIDS.

As to the personnel, I have again been particularly fortunate. Capt. Bartlett is just Bartlett---tireless, sleepless, enthusiastic, with the grit to "do or die." He is the crow's nest or at the head of a sledge division in the field.

Dr. Goodsell, the surgeon of the expedition, has not only looked after its health and his own specialty of microscopes but took his full share of the field work of the expedition with the rest, and was always ready for any work.

Profs. Marvin and McMillan have secured a mass of scientific data, having made all the tidal and most of the field work, and their services were invaluable in every way.

BORUP AND OTHERS PRAISED.

Borup not only made the record as to the distance traveled during the journey, but to his assistance and his expert knowledge of photography is due what I believe to be the unequaled series of photographs taken by the expedition.

Henson, the colored valet, and Peter, steward were the esme as ever, invaluable in their respective lines.

Chief Engineer Wardwell, also of the last expedition, and Murphy, his assistant, Scott, kept the machinery up to a high state of efficiency and has given the Roosevelt the force and power which enabled me to negotiate apparently impracticable ice.

Mr. Gushue, the mate, who was in charge of the Roosevelt during the absence of Bartlett and myself, and Boatswain Murphy, who was put in charge of the station at Etah for the relief of Cook, were both valuable men, and I count myself fortunate in having had them in my service.

HAD A WILLING CREW.

The members of the crew and the firemen were a distinct improvement over those of the expedition of 1905. Every one of them was willing and anxious to be of service in every possible way.

Connors, who was promoted to be boan in the absence of Murphy, proved to be practically effective.

Barnes, seaman, and Wiseman and Joyce, firemen, not only assisted Marvin and McMillan in their tidal and meteorological observations on the Roosevelt, but Wiseman and Barnes went into the field with them on their trips to Cape Columbia, and Cendon and Cody covered 1,000 miles hunting and sledging supplies.

PRESENTS FOR ESKIMOS.

As for my faithful Eskimos, I have left them with ample supplies of dark, rich walrus meat and blubber for their winter, with currants, sugar, biscuits, guns, rifles, ammunition, knives, hatchets, traps, etc.

For the splendid four who stood beside me at the pole a boat and tent each to requite them for their energy and risk and zeal in the work they undertook to help their friend Peary to the north pole.

But all of this---the dearly bought years of experience, the magnificent strength of the Roosevelt, the splendid energy and enthusiasm of my party, the loyal faithfulness of my Eskimos---would have gone for naught but for the faithful necessaries of war furnished so loyally by the members and friends of the Peary Arctic club.

Their assistance has enabled me to tell the last of the great earth stories, the story the world had been waiting to hear for 300 years---the story of the discovery of the north pole.

ROBERT E. PEARY.

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Charles Miller, the young son of Hayes L. Miller, has been very ill with typhoid fever but his condition is improving.

Mrs. Mary Adams, who has been at Lakeland for several months, spent part of the past week here with home folks.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Ryle of Big Bone Springs, were visitors here one day last week and their many friends were delighted to meet them.

Chas. Priest, who has been spending the summer here in the interest of the sale of bibles, returned to his home at Nashville, Tenn., last Friday.

Dr. Robert H. Herndon, of Ludlow, and Dr. Wm. S. Tomlin, of Indianapolis, were visitors here last week, guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Tomlin.

Miss Marie Menefee has been enjoying a pleasant visit to her grandfather Henry Claycamp near Gardnersville, Pendleton county, the past couple of weeks.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Big Bone Methodist church spent Thursday here the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Miller, and held their regular executive session here.

Rev. J. B. Harris, pastor of the Methodist church, has been busy at Erlanger assisting in a protracted meeting in which his efforts are being liberally rewarded with fruitful results.

Mrs. J. A. Plunkett, who was taken to a Cincinnati hospital last week for treatment for a cancer on her breast was operated on Thursday and some hopes are entertained of her recovery.

G. M. Allen, L. S. Wolfe and Rev. H. C. Wayman represented Walton in the meeting of the North Bend Baptist Association at Bullittsburg, last week, and report a most enjoyable meeting.

Mrs. J. G. Tomlin who has been quite ill for several months and confined to her bed during that period, is much better we are happy to say, and was able to sit up a portion of the time this week.

W. S. Martin, of Visalia, deputy sheriff of Kenton county, was here Thursday on business, serving processes in the divorce suit of Thomas Dudgeon and wife, who formerly resided in this county.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Tompkins and two daughters Miss Isabelle and Marian Brooking spent last Friday at the Sanders fair enjoying the pleasure of meeting many relatives and friends from that quarter where they formerly resided.

Daniel C. Rieb, of Dallas, Texas, Henry Reib, of Covington, and Harry F. Jones, of Big Bone Springs, were visitors here last Thursday. Dan Rieb returned to his home at Dallas that day after a pleasant visit to relatives and friends in this quarter.

Hon. John W. Berkshire and W. T. Stott, two of the estimable citizens of Petersburg, spent Friday and Saturday here as delegates to the Christian church convention. Their many friends were glad to meet these pleasant gentlemen. Mr. Berkshire is the Democratic nominee for representative to the legislature from Boone county and his election is a foregone conclusion.

W. O. Rouse & Co. have just completed the building of a fine grain elevator near their flouring mill in Walton and the first new grain was received in it last Friday. The elevator has a capacity of about 10,000 bushels and will be a great convenience to the mill. The new firm is having considerable encouragement in their enterprise and the members W. O. Rouse and Wm. H. Tillman are exercising every effort to please the public and are in every way worthy of patronage.

Wood R. Miller purchased the general store of E. F. Vanlandingham at Walton, last week, and will move to the Vanlandingham stand at once, consolidating the stocks of the two stores. Mr. Vanlandingham was the successor of Watts & Allen, and while he had a nice business and is popular with the general public, being a very clever, accommodating gentleman, yet the business did not agree with him and he concluded to dispose of his store and devote his attention to something more congenial. Mr. Miller is a good hustler and is having a fine trade. He moved to Walton from Big Bone Springs and is well pleased with his location here.

The eighth annual convention of the Christian churches of Boone county was held with the church here on the 10th and 11th inst. It was the best convention the Disciples ever held in this county, and more business was transacted than was disposed of by all the previous conventions combined. Rev. G. W. Jones conducted the devotional exercises on Saturday morning, his presence and remarks helping to make the convention interesting. R. M. Hopkins, Sunday School Evangelist, was on the floor frequently with very helpful suggestions, and lead in raising the centennial offering. Rev. D. T. Buck read a well written, thought provoking paper on "The Whole Church at Work." This was followed by the address of H. W. Elliott, who left his usual subject and delivered an address that was truly interesting. After the appointment of committees a bountiful dinner was served. Not only did the people show their hospitality in the quantity but in quality and the appetizing way in which it was arranged. R. H. Carter, of Petersburg, spoke next on "A Bible Lesson for Our Present Needs." Bro. Carter has certainly developed into an interesting speaker. He was always a deep, spiritually minded man, but by his studious habits he has become a man of good thoughts and of an effective delivery. Miss Jane Houston then sang a sweet solo which was followed by an address on W. R. M. work by Miss Lulo Atkinson's [illegible] of the County [illegible] well received. [illegible] prepares his [illegible] followed by his thoughts that his eyes are open to the real problem of the country church.

This year, in addition to the usual work of the churches, Boone county sustained a missionary at Springfield, Kentucky, and raised $250 for the Chair of Sunday School Pedagogy in the College of the Bible at Lexington. Of this amount $25 is credited to Burlington in memory of Thos. Campbell, who once lived and taught school there. The executive board voted to spend $200 either at Walton, Burlington or Belleview. Truly the work in Boone county is being advanced.

The State convention will be held at Lexington, September 20-24, while the National convention will be held at Pittsburg, October 11-19. Fifty thousand Disciples are expected to assemble at Pittsburg. The Boone county convention goes to Belleview next year. Miss Alpha Hance is the secretary. Her report to the convention was gotten up in a very satisfactory manner.

NOTICE!

We wish to convey our thanks for the interest you manifested at the Baking Contest held at Harvest Home, September 11th.

We feel very sure that the fine display exhibited must have convinced you beyond a doubt of the Superiority of

WM-TELL-FLOUR

OVER OTHER BRANDS ON THE MARKET.

It was a very hard matter for the Judges to decide "which" was entitled to the first prize.

"ALL WORK WELL DONE IS GOOD."

WE HOPE YOU WILL RECOMMEND

William Tell Flour

To all your friends and neighbors and continue to be users of it in your own home. Again thanking you, we are

Ansted & Burk Co.,

Springfield, Ohio.

A. L. LANCASTER, Covington, Ky., Distributor.

C. H. ACRA,

AUCTIONEER

GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

Woman's Age

often does not agree with her appearance. Pain and suffering add to the years till many women look much older than they really are.

Many women, avoiding pain by the regular use of that effectual remedy, for women, Wine of Cardui, keep their youth and beauty.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. Annie Vaughan, Raleigh, N. C., tried Cardui and writes:

"I was sick and worn out almost unto death. My sister finally persuaded me to take Cardui. Before I had taken five bottles I was well and strong."

Try Cardui. It is for women. Its tonic, building qualities should restore you gently to health. Thousands of women have found it to give them lasting benefit.

Try Cardui.

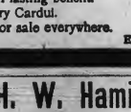
For sale everywhere.

E 47

NOTICE, TAX-PAYERS.

The Taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the places and on the dates named below to collect 1909 taxes:

Beaver, July 12th and October 11th.
Verona, July 13th and October 12th.
Walton, July 14th and October 13th.
Bullittsville, July 15th and Oct. 21st.
Constance, July 16th and October 8th.
Union, July 19th and October 18th.
Big Bone, July 20th and October 19th.
Petersburg, July 22d and October 15th.
Bellevue, July 23d and October 14th.
Florence, July 26th and October 20th.
Rabbit Hash, July 27th and Oct. 7th.
Hebron, October 22d.
Gunpowder, October 25th.
Richwood, October 26th.



Rates—State, 50c; County, 25c; School, 15c on the $100.

Poll-Tax—County, $1.50; School, 50c; Dog Tax; $1.00.

All unpaid taxes become delinquent after November 30th. 6 per cent penalty, due county and state, added December 1st on all delinquent taxes; 6 per cent commission in additiou to penalty is allowed Sheriff for collecting delinquent taxes. Cost of levying, 60c; advertising $1.00. Delinquent Taxes bear 6 per cent interest from Nov. 30th until paid.

M. F. WINGATE,
Sheriff Boone County.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building,
WALTON, KY.

FARM FOR SALE.

101 acres 2½ miles from Florence, on good road, dwelling of 7 rooms, two barns, all necessary out buildings, never failing well in yard, 7 never failing springs, nice young orchard, good fencing, all in grass except 20 acres that is in corn. For further information call on or address Henry L. Tanner, Florence, R. R. No. 1. Boone County Consolidated Telephone, No. 112 North.

FOR RENT.

125 acre farm on Woolper, Boone county, Ky., about 20 acres for wheat, 25 acres for corn, 4 acres for tobacco, balance in grass and timber. Good 7-room house, cistern, orchard and all necessary outbuildings, 3 tobacco barns. Terms cash first of March. Call on or address C. J. SEBREE, 207 Main Ave., Cleves, Ohio. sept-8

FARM FOR SALE.

140 acres, 2½ miles from Burlington, Ky., on which there is a frame house of 6 rooms and porch, tenant house, 2 barns, all necessary outbuildings, 3 cisterns and well, 7 never-failing springs, large pond, orchard and timber. All in grass except 18 acres in cultivation; all under good fence—good dairy farm; ¼ mile to good school. For further information call on or address

JAMES WILLIAM UTZ,
R. R. 1. Florence, Ky.
Phone 64, Bell connection.

For Sale—Good milk cow part Guernsey—been fresh two weeks. Apply to Thomas Hafer, Hebron.

Believing that the people of Kentucky will be interested in the organization of the

Citizens National Life Insurance Company

Believing that they WANT such a company; believing that they will SUPPORT such a company by subscribing for its stock—we will publish in this paper every week the amount of subscriptions to date. The work of getting subscriptions was begun Monday, July 26; and below are the amounts of subscriptions for each week;

First Week, August 2
$106,960.00

Total Second Week, August 9,
$200,240.00

Total Third Week, August 16,
$345,000.00.

Total Fourth Week, August 23,
$469,460.00

Tatal Fifth Week, August 30,
$601,700.00

Total Sixth week, September 6,
$738,220.00.

Total Seventh Week, September 13,
$834,660.00

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED, FILL OUT AND MAIL THIS COUPON.

W. H. GREGORY, LOUISVILLE, KY.

Boone County Recorder, Burlington, Ky.

Please send me full information as to the CITIZENS NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

NAME_____

Address_____

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,

HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Spring and Summer samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices.

All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,

HEBRON, KY.

Administrators Notice.

All persons indebted to the estate of O. W. Gaines, dec'd, will come forward and settle at once, and those having claims against said estate will present them to the undersigned properly proven.

MARY V. GAINES, Admr'x.

NOTICE.

Those indebted to me for the service of the Stallion, Ace of Trumps, and my Jack for 1908, are requested to come forward and settle at once.

T. E. RANDALL.

aug 25 4t

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits; three per cent. if left six months and four per cent cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,

WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.

CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.

Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

FOR SALE.

Two vacant lots in town of Walton, Boone County, Ky., situated on north side of High St. Address, MRS. YETCHA KING CHRISTY, 431 W. 66th Street, Chicago, Ill.

FOR SALE.

100,000 Oak Tobacco Sticks.

THE J. D. MAYHUGH MFG. CO.
Walton, Ky.

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property knowu as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.

JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

Try it. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875.
Subsciption $1.50 year.
Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 22, 1909. NO 49

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

ERLANGER.

Mr. Ed. Westerman has returned home from a visit at Winchester.

Mrs. Eckler, of Dry Ridge, is here visiting her sisters Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Collins.

Miss Nancy C. Taylor, was the guest this week of Mr. Charles Striger, in Covington.

Harvey Fullilove and Miss Elsie Reed were married Wednesday, at Lawrenceburg, Indiana.

Miss Ona Forsythe was entertained last Thursday evening with a music party by R. O. Hoard.

Mrs. George Schoepfel and daughter, Miss Helen, will spend the fall and winter in San Antonio, Texas.

Johnnie Westerman and Miss Ona Forsythe spent Sunday with Walter Eubank and wife, near Ludlow.

Rev. S. S. Lappin is attending the State Missionary Convention at Parkersburg, W. Va., where he will deliver two addresses.

GUNPOWDER.

W. P. Utz is busy filling a new silo, which he had erected recently.

Carl Clutterbuck was in our burg, last Saturday, with a load of fine watermelons.

B. A. Floyd has a stray ram in his flock of sheep which the owner can have by calling on him.

J. A. Rouse and family were guests of George Lucas and wife Saturday night and Sunday.

After a stay of several months with her daughter, Mrs. Bernice House, near Eaton, Ohio, Aunt Lizzie Quick returned home last Friday.

W. H. Rice, who we reported improving in our last, had a relapse the latter part of last week, and his condition is somewhat critical.

Mrs. M. R. Tanner was called to Portsmouth, Ohio, last Sunday to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Irella Coburn, who is seriously sick. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. W. N. Smith.

James Jones, of Gunpowder, was the guest of Lee Busby, one night last week. He took home with him a surprise for his daughter in the shape of a handsome new organ, which he purchased from a Chicago firm.

The entertainment at the Florence Christian church, last Saturday night, was enjoyed by a large and attentive audience. Among the features worthy of note, was a beautiful solo rendered by Aunt Mary Carpenter.

Mrs Nancy Louisa Rouse, nee Utz, whose death occured on the 5th inst., was 71 years, one month and 19 days old. She was united in marriage to Wm. Ell Rouse, March 30, 1859. To this union two sons were born, and the youngest son, E. O. Rouse, is all that survives of that family. Mrs. Rouse united with Hopeful church by baptism, August 14th, 1904, and was an exemplary member until death. She realized her condition and told her friends that she was going to die, and gave instructions in regard to her funeral and burial robe, etc. Mrs. Rouse was of a quiet and unassuming disposition, always ready to assist those who were in destitute circumstances, and through her many virtues won for her the friendship and respect of all who knew her. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Walterick at Hopeful church on Tuesday, the 7th inst., after which the remains were buried in Hopeful cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the entire community.

FRANCESVILLE.

Mrs. Manlius Goodridge was quite sick for a few days the past week.

Miss Marie Cora was able to attend church at Sand Run, last Sunday.

Protracted meeting began at Sand Run on Sunday night the 19th of this month.

We are glad to report Mr. Ben Gleason recovering after two or three weeks sickness.

Mrs. Ed. Brown sustained some severe injuries by a fall when going down the steps from her cellar.

Mrs Mollie Beall, of Westwood, Ohio, was the guest of her sister here from Saturday until Tuesday of this week.

Chas. Riddell and wife, of Hamilton, Ohio, were guests of Charles Scanlon and wife, and attended the Harvest Home.

Miss Cassie Kraak, who has been on a visit to relatives in Ohio several weeks returned to Mt. Auburn, her boarding place, last Sunday.

Mr. Scanlon entertained our Sunday School Superintendent, Mr. Lawrence Kraak, and family, and Mr. Ed. Kraak and family, last Sunday.

Mr. Ben Gleason, of Burlington, was in town last Saturday. He managed to drop in on us for an hour. Didn't learn the business of those at the Graves Hotel. We will guarantee a pleasant visit to be had at both.

[illegible] corn my pasture [illegible] was roan horse, [illegible] high, will weigh [illegible] Any information [illegible] will be [illegible] or Mark Judge, [illegible]

GRANT.

The last saloon in Rising Sun goes out of business next Thursday.

The watermelon season is over, the last hauling being made Saturday.

Solomon Long has a nice pearl which he found while msselling in the river here.

The canning season is about over, and our factory will make its last run some time this week.

Pepper Smith and wife and Elgh Clore and wife spent Sunday with Joe Stephens and wife, on Middle creek.

Wm. Snelling, sr., of Rook Spring, was taken quite sick Sunday morning with something like neuralgia of the heart.

Ben Cook and sister, Irene, spent last Saturday night and Sunday as guests of Misses Minnie and Frankie Stephens, of Rabbit Hash.

Tobe Marshall, Jeff Williamson and Jack Ryle are making preparation to go south on a houseboat. They start one day the coming week.

Rising Sun was celebrating in a hilarious manner one day last week, the occasion being the return of Whitlock with his wife, Hoosier Boy."

While in Rising Sun Saturday we met our old friend Chas. Wilson, of Rabbit Hash. He looks as though the world was using him well—just as fat and saucy as ever.

The contract for the building of the abutments for the bridge at Middle creek has been let to Jake Cook. A few more dollars are needed to make the fills on each side and the work will begin.

Dr. Williamson received a photo last week of his son, Weed and family, of Kansas. Weed looks as though he was 50 pound heavier than when he left here. He writes all are in good health.

The Baptist church here will hold a series of meetings beginning on the 4th Sunday in this month. Rev. Hensley, pastor, will be assisted by Rev. W. A. Burns, of Covington, who is one of the leading lights of the Baptist ministry in this State.

Grant Williamson, aged 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Williamson, of Waterloo, and Miss Bertha Belle Smith, aged 22, of Woolper, were married at the parsonage here Sept. 15th by Rev. Hensley. We wish them a long, happy life in their new relations.

IDLEWILD.

Sept. 18.—Carry your head as high as anybody when you go to town.

The Bullittsburg school met and organized on the 13th with Mrs. Fannie Kirtley, teacher.

W. L. Cropper and wife and R. C. Gaines attended the State fair on Thursday and Friday.

N. S. Walton and A. T. Gaines went to the city, Monday, where Mr. Walton bought 25 cattle.

Save more than you will need yourself. There will always be some neighbor who will need and want some.

Mrs. Annie Morris, of Rushville, Indiana, daughter of Fletcher Clore, returned home last Monday after an extended visit here with parents and other relatives.

In our report last week of the death of Miss Josephine Vinson, daughter of Joseph Vinson and wife, the type made us say (nee Walton) instead of (nee Moyer) as written.

Sol Winkle's daughter, who has been in a Cincinnati hospital for a couple of weeks or more, and was operated on last Wednesday for appendicitis, is getting along nicely.

Milton Gaines has been quite sick for a week or more, but is improving. It was first thought he had typhoid fever. Dr. Nunnelly, of Bullittsville, is the attending physician.

Dr. Randall and wife, of Louisville, who have been making a lengthy visit here started for home last Monday accompanied by Clinton Gaines, father of Mrs. Randall. Mr. Gaines attended the State fair.

Lost—An umbrella. Was left on the outside of the church door the last day of the association. Please leave at Idlewild store or Pushburg toll gate or return to the church, which ever is the most convenient and receive thanks of Miss Mabel Sullivan.

The days are getting shorter and evenings will soon be the order of the day. B. C. Graddy and wife and Mrs. Mattie Graves started the ball rolling Tuesday. They had a fine time. Mrs. Allie Corn and daughter, Mrs. Tear and Miss Blankenbaker, of Bullittsville; Mrs. Annie [illegible] Florida; Miss Ewing, of [illegible] and Mrs. Courtney Walton, of Idlewild. Allie Corn, who was on a visit here in the interest of [illegible] managed to drop in for an hour. Didn't learn the business of those at the Graves Hotel. We will guarantee a pleasant visit to be had at both.

GASSURG.

Ezra Aylor sold 46 big, fat hogs to L. Stall & Sons of Aurora.

Ott Scott had a mule badly cut in some way while in the pasture.

Ezra Aylor had a colt to get badly snagged while running in the pasture.

Hogan Wingate sold his big gray mule to parties in Cincinnati for $200.

The indications are that the acreage seeded to wheat will be very small.

Gassburg has three grass widowers and a grass widow residing in her bounds.

Our public school is in progress with Miss Mendel from Indiana, teacher.

Aurora has 19 saloons which is said to be the least number it has had since the war.

With the exception of sweet potatoes, vegetables are selling in the Aurora market better than for many years.

Sim Terrill and wife, of North Hogan, Ind., were visiting relatives on this side and attended the association at Bullittsburg, last week.

It is certainly a prosperous community across the river from Split Rock, three large barns have been built and additions put to others and a fine residence about completed all in the last two months.

DEVON.

John Hogan and wife, of Union, were visitors at Wm. Hogan's, Saturday.

Uncle Thomas Rice had his children and grandchildren as his guests, Sunday.

Master Berry Rice has returned after a week spent in Newport with his cousin, Fred Connely.

John Ransier and family, of Richwood, have the sympathy of their many friends here in their loss by fire.

Mr. Clements, of Covington, purchased a farm of Uncle Thos. Rice, one day last week, and will move to it soon.

Mrs. John Nolin, of Drennon Springs, is expected here Monday, and will be the guest of her cousin, Miss Connely and other friends.

Walter Grubbs and family are moving to his farm near Frog town. We regret to have Walter and his estimable family leave our neighborhood.

Messrs. James and Philip Warrington, of Covington, and Alex Connely, of Newport, were pleasantly entertained by Arthur Connely and sister, Sunday.

Hubert Northentt and wife, of Covington, but formerly of Devon, are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a fine son at their home Sept. 11th.

FLORENCE.

Mrs. Lloyd Aylor is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Fannie Clutterbuck.

Misses Irba and Hattie Snyder were guests of Miss Minnie Baxter, Saturday and Snnday.

Mrs. Mae Clutterbuck had as her guest Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clutterbuck of Erlanger.

The Centennial Rally which was held here Saturday night at the Christian church, was a success in every way.

Miss Stella and Minnie Baxter entertained their friends with a play party Saturday night. A large crowd was present and all had a jolly good time.

Miss Eva Lucas entertained a number of her friends, Thursday evening in honor of her birthday. She received many presents and all enjoyed the occasion.

Florence and Erlanger played a game of ball, Sunday, the score being 12 to 6 in favor of Erlanger. Florence is ready for an engagement with any team in Boone county.

The Misses Corbin entertained Rev. J. B. Harris, Miss Virgie Clutterbuck, of Erlanger; Miss Sallie Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Bradford and Miss Ruby and Nannie Corbin, Sunday.

HERE AND THERE.

T. C. Masters was considerably indisposed last week.

Chas. Finn's Grand Chief colt got badly cut in a wire fence, one day last week.

The young folks of the neighborhood were delightfully entertained at Owen Beemon's, Saturday night.

Miss Mattie Lows returned to her home in Indiana, last Saturday, after a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. F. M. Voshell.

Warren Tolin, a railroad fireman between Cincinnati and Chicago, spent a couple of days here, last week with his cousins, Leslie and Bernard Sebree.

Grant Williamson of Waterloo and Miss Bertha Smith of Ashby Fork were quietly married at Belleview on the 15th inst. Their many friends wish them a long and happy life.

FLICKERTOWN.

J. E. Gaines and family visited near the hub, Saturday.

Holt White bought a nice cow and calf of Winsate & Thompson.

A good work horse belonging to E. Ogden died one day last week.

C. J. Hensley and children Sundayed out on the East Bend road.

G. C. Voshell, of Aurora, is spending the week with his son Frank and family near here.

No school several days last week on account of the illness of the teacher, Paris Akin.

Ed Cox and family, of Petersburg, were guests of friends on Ashby, last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. F. Voshell, of Sparta, Indiana, has been visiting relatives and friends here and at Aurora.

HEBRON.

Born, on the 20th inst., to Garnett Tanner and wife, a girl.

Several of our citizens attended the State fair at Louisville.

There will be an entertainment at the town Hall next Saturday night.

Moses Aylor, wife and son, Henry, visited at Robert Synder's near Hopeful, Sunday.

Rev. Walterick and wife and Miss Ruth Marx, of Florence, spent last Friday with Jacob Lodge and family.

Mrs. Edyth Aylor and daughter, of Taylorsport, were Saturday night and Sunday guests of Miss Iva Aylor

Dr. Haines, of Cincinnati, was called to Mr. John Conner's, to perform an operation on him. He was assisted by Drs. Sayer, Hafer and Peddicord. At last reports the patient was getting along nicely.

RICHWOOD.

Ben Carpenter visited at Mason, Sunday.

Walter Grubbs has moved to the J. H. Glacken place.

Quite a delegation of the local fans accompanied the ball team to Mason.

The excitement resulting from the naming of the Ransier residence is subsiding.

Chas. Wolf and wife and F. F. Robinson and wife were Sunday guests at Eli Carpenter's.

Bud Carpenter and wife and Mrs. Harman Hearn visited Miss Hannah Hearn in Lexington, Sunday.

George Rice and family, of Walton, and Will Rice and family were guests of Thomas Rice, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Toole are entertaining twins at their house, and Smith is the biggest man in town.

Our ball team won both games at Mason, the scores being 15 to 7 and 5 to 3. Acra, Black and Wolfe, and Woods and Wolfe were the batteries.

PETERSBURG.

Bernard Gordon has purchased a gasoline launch.

Miss Lottie Hauck, of Cincinnati, is visiting relatives here.

Henry Gordon and wife are visiting at Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Mrs. L. E. Keim spent several days with relatives at Cincinnati, last week.

Mr. Griffith, of Sanders, Ky., has started a box-ball alley in the old Krutz building.

Charles Gaines and wife, of Bullittsville, spent Sunday with E. K. Stephens and wife at this place.

Courtney Walton and wife, and N. S. Walton and wife, of near Idlewild, spent Sunday with Owen Atlen and wife.

Mrs. Leonard, of New Orleans, La., and Mesdames Grant and Scott, of Belleview, spent Saturday with H. E. Arnold and wife.

M. J. Corbin and daughter, Miss Bernice, and James Botts and daughter, Miss Virginia, of Belleview, are visiting Misses Lucy and Anna Botts.

Rev. C. V. Brooks closed a very interestine meeting at this place, Sunday morning, which he and Dr. C. W. Chadwick have been holding for the Baptist the past two weeks. Rev. Brooks left, Sunday evening, for Sand Run, where he will hold a meeting.

VERONA.

One side of G. E. Powers' face is paralyzed.

Chas. Finnell and Mrs. David Fry attended the State fair.

J. M. Powers and wife were Sunday guests at A. C. Roberts'.

Miss N. E. Hamilton has gone to Alabama, where she will teach.

Several of our boys and girls are attending Walton Graded school.

J. C. Hume is building a barn and meat house on his town property.

Several of our citizens attended the festival at Concord, Saturday night.

Mrs. Jacob Showers has returned from a visit to her sister in Knox Cito, Missouri.

Irvin Conrad, wife and son, of Dry Ridge, were guests at R. O. Powers', Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Cotton visited her daughter, Mrs. Lorena Myers, at Jonesville, last week.

The team attached to a wagon that Harry Waller was driving, ran off, hurting him slightly. No damage to team nor wagon.

The teachers' meeting in this district will be held here Oct. 2d. Following is the program: Reading—Lizzie Vest; Grammar—Anna Hearn Arithmetics—Mrs. N. Stephens. History—Mattie May. Civil Government—Prof. N. Stephens. Pysiology—Mrs. Elva Melvin. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. Lunch will be served at the school building.

PT. PLEASANT.

J. J. Rucker and family spent Friday in Burlington, guests of Rev. Edgar Riley and wife.

Master Roy Garnett is staying with his grandfather, Chas. Garnett, to attend school in this district.

The young people will give a social at Spencer Tanner's home Saturday night, Sept. 25th. Proceeds to go for building a new church.

The pupils of Mrs. Kate Craven will give a concert Oct. 9th, at the church. It will be partly for the benefit of the church. All are cordially invited.

A Hurry Up Call.

Quick! Mr. Druggist—Quick!—A box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve—Here's a quarter—For the love of Moses, hurry! Baby's burned himself terribly—Johnnie cut his foot with the axe—Mamie's scalded—Pa can't walk from Piles—Billie has boils—and my corns ache. She got it and soon cured all the family. Its the greatest healer on earth. Sold by Gentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Of Importance to Tobacco Growers.

To the Tobacco Growers of Boone County:

The Burley Tobacco Society at Winchester, Ky., has issued checks for the 8 per cent reserve on the 1907 crop of tobacco, and placed them in my hands for distribution, demanding that I give them to each person to whom due, and take his receipt for same, and not to deliver on order from any one.

I now give notice that I will be at Richwood, Friday, Sept. 24th, at 10 a. m., and at Burlington, Monday 27th, 1909, to instruct as to not make more than two points for distribution in the county, and trust that every man having tobacco in the 1907 pool will meet me on one of the above dates and receive his money.

Our tobacco pool is now in a very discouraging position and unless the growers in the whole Burley Belt rally to our support we will have to declare the pool off, and all make a grand rush for the market.

We have to sign up in pool at least 100,000 acres in the next two weeks before we can successfully declare the pool a go. We will not tolerate any night riding or lawlessness of any kind and cannot carry dumpers on our shoulders again. We are all going together (the A. S. of E. has agreed to go with us) and we will make a grand rush with the dumper for the market if he does not sign up with us.

Each solicitor is authorized to pool crops anywhere in the Burley Tobacco District, and record the precinct, county and State or territory where grown, and continue to pool up to October 1st, 1909.

Every solicitor is requested to report to me by phone, telegraph, letter or in person, all tobacco pooled or unpooled in his precinct by six o'clock, Wednesday, Sept. 29th, and I will wire report to Winchester by 7 same evening, and by 8 o'clock a. m., Thursday, Sept. 30th, Winchester will notify me the result of all tobacco pooled or unpooled in the whole burley tobacco country.

I will notify three points in the county, Burlington, Walton and Petersburg, giving each point the exact figures of the pooled and unpooled by 10 a. m., Sept 30th, and now notify every man who has pooled to meet at one of these points and vote whether the pool shall stand or fall.

I now appoint Mr. Ben Berkshire, for Petersburg; L. T. Clore, for Burlington, and T. F. Curlee, for Walton to take charge and record the vote of the growers on whether yon let pool fail or hold to what we have won in our fight this far, and they will notify me as soon as vote is taken that I may be fully instructed as to the wish of the growers in Boone county, and fairly represent them at the district meeting at Winchester, Oct. 1st, 1909.

J. C. HUGHES, Pres.
Boone Co. Board of Control.

Good for LeBus.

Fellow Tobacco Growers:

In order to show my faith and interest in the pool as a means of helping all tobacco growers and to assure every grower that my concern for the pool is greater than any consideration of salary, I here and now present to you my right to the $10,000 bonus voted me by the District Board June 9th, 1909. Compared with the benefits to be derived from the pool, the sum involved is a trifle; but if this consideration has been even in small measure an obstacle in the way of solicitors, I gladly remove it. Nothing of less moment should be allowed to stand in the way of a strong pool, that means so much to every one of us and to the entire State. A strong pull and a pull altogether assures success. Yours for a strong pool and good prices.

Faithfully,
CLARENCE LEBUS.

LIMABURG.

Several here are done housing tobacco.

W. L. Kirk's children have whooping cough.

H. L. Tanner and family, of Hopeful, Sundayed at W. H. Utz's.

L. C. Acra and wife entertained several of their friends at dinner last Sunday.

W. C. Rouse and wife were Sunday guests of his son, W. H. Rouse and wife down on Gunpowder.

W. C. Weaver and family, J. P. Tanner and wife and Mrs. Mary E. Crigler, spent Sunday with Aunt Betty Aylor.

Misses Mamie Davis and Essie Beemon, and Messrs. Homer Baker, Ray Craven and Oliver Rust, spent Sunday at J. T. Davis'.

RABBIT HASH.

These pleasant days are fine for the tobacco growers.

R. M. Wilson and wife were guests at B. C. Stephens', last Sunday.

Harry Stephens is said to have the finest crop of tobacco in this part of the county.

Murry Ryle and wife entertained with a dance in honor of their son's twenty-first birthday.

Miss Stella Stephens entertained Misses Bettie Stepheus, Lou Stephens and Josephine Ryle, last Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Doris M. Hood, of Home City, Ohio, began teaching at Victory school house, Monday. We hope she will like this part of the country.

J. M. Craven, of Limaburg, delivered a male Hampshire hog to Rice Bros., of Idlewild, last Saturday, while his neighbor, J. J. Tanner, delivered a hog of the same sex and breed to Ezra Aylor, of Petersburg last Shorhood. Both animals are said to be very fine representatives of the [illegible] family of hogs.

Personal Mention.

N. E. Riddell and wife attended the State fair at Louisville, last week.

Mrs. Ada Conner is down in her old neighborhood, guest of Mrs. Wm. Clore.

Mrs. B. B. Hume and daughter, Miss Maud, are visiting friends in Walton.

R. W. Clark and wife spent a few days the past week at Shelbyville, Indiana.

S. D. Rice, of McVille, was transacting business in Burlington, early Monday morning.

Mrs. Elmer Kirkpatrick, spent a couple of days last week with her mother at Hebron.

Atty. Joseph L. Elliston, of Covington, was a business visitor to Burlington, last Saturday.

C. W. McFee and Wm. Goodridge, of Francesville, were in Burlington on business yesterday.

Mrs. C. C. Roberts visited her father and family near Walton, several days the past week.

Mrs. Jennie Clore, of Bullittsville, was a guest of W. J. Rice and wife, several days the past week.

E. H. Snyder, of Florence, was one of the business visitors to Burlington early Monday morning.

Rev. Edgar Riley is attending, the State Convenion of Christian chnrches in session at Lexington.

Rev. A. T. Hensey, of Central Africa, was a guest at Rev. Edgar Riley's, a few days the past week.

Ezra Aylor, of Petersburg, and Ed Rice, of Idlewild, were in Burlington, last Saturday, selling watermelons.

Johnnie Hogan, of Hebron, and his father, James Hogan, of Riverside, Ohio, spent yesterday in Burlington.

B. W. Adams, B. B. Hume, W. E. Vest and other Boone county men, unknown to the writer, left for Texas, Monday night.

W. C. Weaver, from down on Gunpowder creek, was in town, shopping, last Saturday. He reported fishing on the creek as very fine, but was dumb as an oyster in regard to the catching.

Mesdames Carrie Utz and C. W. Myers, of Florence, were in Burlington, last Friday. In the interest of the oyster supper that is to be given there in the Baptist church in a few weeks.

Conuty Attorney N. E. Riddell and Deputy Sheriff W. D. Cropper, were in Florence yesterday afternoon in consultation with Deputy State Fire Marshal Shallcross, in regard to the Ransler fire.

B. B. Hume attended the Wheeling, West Virginia fair, week before last, and the State fair at Louisville, a day or two, last week. He says at the first named he saw the largest horses and cattle he ever looked at.

C. W. McFee, of Francesville, was among those transacting business in Burlington, last Friday. He is one of the best pigeon shots in the county, and has participated in several closely contested events in the year last past.

Wm. Hughes, carrier on Burlington r. f. d., is taking the 15 days' vacation which each carrier is allowed annually, while pay goes on. This is the first time he has taken advantage of the vacation period. His father is snbbing for him.

Misse Estell Huey returned to Kensington, Monday morning, to resume teaching her school which was closed last week pending the intense excitement resulting from the burning of Mr. Ransler's house and threat to burn the school house.

The horse driven by W. A. Gaines to his buggy, last Sunday, scared at an automobile on the pike at George Kreylch's, and behaved badly. Mr. Gaines does not know how he got out of the buggy, but as a result of the tronble he is badly stove up bnt able to be about.

The many Burlington friends of Harmie Jones will be very much grnfied if he holds his present position nnder the new mail route administration which is to be inaugnrated in the next few weeks. He is a pleasant, reliable yonng gentleman, and fits the place exactly.

UNION.

Miss Ruth Huey entertained Walton High School, Monday.

Miss Corinne Stephens is attending school at Sherman, Grant county.

J. L. Huey and Tom A. Hney attended the State fair at Louisville, Thursday.

Mrs. Margaret Tanner, of Richwood, spent the past week with her friend, Mrs. Sallie Anderson.

Mrs. Sarah Percival and Miss Lulu Jones, of Walton, spent Tuesday with their aunt, Mrs. Maud Norman.

Will and Harry Dean and Purnell Voshell, of Moore's Hill, Indiana, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dean.

Mrs. W. H. Smith was called to Portsmouth, Ohio, Sunday, because of the serious illness of her aunt, Mrs. Relia Corbin.

Mrs. W. J. Garrison and Mrs. Wallace Garrison, of Walton, left, Tuesday, for a visit with their sister, Mrs. Mollie Wolfe, in Indianapolis.

Mrs. B. L. Cleek spent several days last week in Cincinnati, attending the openings and buying her fall stock of millinery, preparatory to her opening, October 1st and 2nd.

Mrs. James Kelly realizes that printers have to be paid, consequently she rolled into this office the other day a "big seller" proposition. Her would furnish plus change for the political barbecue. Thanks.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, - KENTUCKY

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

Latest News of Interest Boiled Down for the Busy Man.

TOUR OF THE PRESIDENT.

President Taft, in the most important speech he has delivered since his election, told an audience at Winona, Minn., that the new tariff law is the best revenue measure the Republicans ever passed and denounced the insurgents who voted against it.

In a speech in Chicago President Taft renewed his promises to labor to obtain legislation against injunctions in strike cases.

PERSONAL.

Marvin Hughitt, president of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company, in an interview in New York, predicted an era of great industrial activity and record crops.

J. P. Morgan, Jr., was elected a director of the National City bank in New York, to fill the place caused by the death of E. H. Harriman.

W. W. Rockhill, the newly-appointed American ambassador to Russia, arrived in St. Petersburg from Berlin.

Edward H. Graham, editor of a newspaper at Clarks Hill, Ind., has been informed that he is heir to an estate of $400,000 in New York city.

Former Judge Robert S. Lovett of Texas, who began railroad work as a clerk at $40 a month, was elected to succeed Edward H. Harriman as chairman of the executive committee of the Union Pacific Railroad Company.

W. W. Baldwin, assistant to President George D. Harris of the Burlington railway, has been made fourth vice-president of the Burlington, the office having been created for him.

GENERAL NOTES.

Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota was operated on for an intestinal abscess at Rochester, Minn., and his condition was reported as critical. He was on the operating table nearly three hours.

Eight men were killed in a wreck of passenger and freight trains on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad near Pegram Station in Tennessee.

Miss Gerda Sebbelov, a Danish girl, who is attending college in New York, claims to have received letters from Eskimos in Greenland, where she spent three years, saying Dr. Cook did discover the north pole.

President Taft decided in favor of Secretary Ballinger in the controversy with Gifford Pinchot and ordered the discharge of L. H. Glavis, chief of the field division of the general land offices.

The convention of the Yeomen of America rescinded at Springfield, Ill., its action making the temporary organization of the convention permanent.

Commercial fishermen along the Illinois river in central Illinois are favored by a decision of Circuit Judge Higbee in refusing to grant an injunction asked by wealthy members of Chicago, St. Louis and Indianapolis clubs controlling lands in that section.

Besides electing James Sweeney of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad as president, the Roadmasters' and Maintenance of Way association, in session at Washington, picked Chicago for the meeting place in 1910.

By an agreement between the attorney general and counsel at Union, Tenn., in the indictments against 100 men as night riders, the cases are continued until November and bonds of $25,000 are allowed.

The twenty-third annual convention of the Association of American Cemetery Superintendents is in session at New York. Their hosts are entertaining them with trips to the metropolitan cemeteries.

Virginia has obtained from the federal government the large figure-head which formerly adorned the prow of the battleship Virginia, but the state officers are at a loss to make proper use of the ornament now that they have it.

Mrs. Will Nowling was slain near Pollard, Ala., by Mrs. Henry Nowling, her nephew's wife, who used a shotgun. The women had quarreled about the use of a storehouse. The victim was wealthy.

John Washburn, a 14-year-old burglar, shot and killed himself at Freeport, Mich., after attempting to slay a deputy sheriff who tried to arrest him.

Lord Tweedmouth, former first lord of the admiralty in England and whose correspondence with the kaiser caused a sensation in 1908, is dead.

The controversy over the boundary line between Bolivia and Peru, which has threatened to cause war, has been settled by the signing of a protocol.

Peru and Bolivia will sign a protocol for the settlement of their differences.

Nearly all the cities of Iowa were represented at the twelfth annual convention of the League of Iowa Municipalities, which was held in Fort Dodge, Mayor T. J. Phelps of Ottumwa, presiding.

The second annual national good roads convention opened in Cleveland, O., under the auspices of the American Automobile association, the National Grange and other national bodies interested in the improvement of highways.

Hundreds of experts on taxation met in Louisville, Ky., in the third international conference on state and local taxation. Forty-three states and five Canadian provinces were represented, besides many colleges and universities.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, in a wireless message sent from the steamship Oscar II on which he reaches New York Tuesday, assured the American people of his ability to prove his claim to the discovery of the north pole.

Prof. Donald B. McMillan of Worcester, Mass., one of Commander Peary's aides, was accidentally wounded in the shoulder by the discharge of a gun which one of the other explorers was cleaning on board the Roosevelt.

Bandits, held up a Denver & Rio Grande express train near Leadville, Col., and dynamited an express car, but, according to officials, obtained no booty.

Nat Nakais and Isaac Santi were killed in a mine 800 feet below the surface near Bessemer, Mich., when a miner's candle accidentally set off a quantity of dynamite. Two others were cut off by gas.

Announcement was made at a meeting of the Cincinnati Aero club that two wealthy men had pledged themselves as backers to the extent of $100,000 to secure the international aerial meet for Cincinnati in 1910.

Considerable excitement was aroused at the national negro Baptist convention at Columbus, O., by a report that a resolution had been offered withdrawing the privileges of the floor to Dr. Booker T. Washington.

American business men are planning to organize a Russo-American chamber of commerce in St. Petersburg. The state department in Washington favors the move.

Ferdinand Pinney Earle, the artist, whose divorce from his first wife that he might wed his "soul mate" brought him much publicity, has returned secretly to his home at Monroe, N. Y., from Europe, and is denying himself to callers.

Imports from te United States into New Zealand fell off nearly 48 per cent. in the first quarter of 1909, compared with the first quarter of 1908, according to a report by Consul-General William A. Prickitt of Auckland.

Commander Peary told of new observations at the north pole and stood pat on his declaration that Dr. Cook had handed the world a "gold brick."

Each of the 100 words in the will of Edward H. Harriman is worth $1,000,000 to his widow, who, under its provisions, probably becomes the wealthiest woman in the world.

Fire in the Ernst Kerns dry goods store at Detroit did $75,000 damage.

Fire destroyed the flour mills and elevators of Iglehart Brothers of Evansville, Ind. The loss probably will reach $200,000; partly covered by insurance.

David and Bascom Bogges, brothers, were instantly killed and App Garner so badly injured that he died a few honrs later by a boiler explosion at a saw mill at Middle Fork, W. Va.

"He is not the man," was the discouraging declaration made by little Fanny Infusino to the anthoritiea when Michele Rizzo, the man arreated as a suspect in last Sunday night's double murder at Utica, N. Y., was brought before her for identification.

While officers and relatives at Canal Dover, O., investigating the death of Miss Florence Weber, whose body was found in the Tuscarawas river, are unable to build up a theory of murder, they are equally at a loss to find a motive for suicide.

A petition seeking the annulment of a franchise granted the Vicksburg Waterworks Company was filed in the Mississippi city. The proceeding follows numerous "breakdowns" at the plant and plans the taking over of the management of the plant by the city.

Lieut. Moon of the artillery corps, who pleaded guilty to having failed to return books borrowed from the corps library, was ordered by a court-martial reprimanded and confined within the post for three months.

Fraternities and sororities in the high schools of Washington will be allowed to flourish and multiply so long as they continue to be conducted in an unobjectionable manner.

A central bank with a capital of $100,000,000, the government to share in its profits, was urged in the annual address of George M. Reynolds, president of the American Bankers' association, in Chicago.

Fargo, N. D., entertained the Japanese commercial commissioners, who are making a tour of the United States. The travelers visited North Dakota Agricultural college.

Premier Stolypin has again sent a circular to Russian governors general of the districts under martial law, instructing them to restrict the application of the death penalty as much as possible.

In the federal court at Marquette, Mich., E. T. Larson, former cashier of the defunct First National bank of Ironwood, pleaded guilty to embezzlement. Sentence was deferred.

Attempts to import workmen have been resisted with force by strikers who left the American Window Glass works at Jeannette and Monongahela Pa.

A LEAGUE WITH ROME

Story of the Time of Judas Maccabeus

BY THE "HIGHWAY AND BYWAY" PREACHER

(Copyright, 1909, by the Author, W. E. Edson.)

Based on the Apocryphal book of I. Maccabees, chapter 8.

Leaders of Maccabaean War.—Three of the five sons of Mattathias were prominent as leaders in the Maccabaean war, as follows: Judas, from whom the name of Maccabees was derived, Jonathan, and Simon. The two others, Eleazar and John or Joannan as it is in the text. Judas succeeded to the command upon the death of his father Mattathias, and when in 163 B. C., Lysias laid siege to Jerusalem, the position of Judas was precarious. Later Nicanor was sent against Judas but was defeated, first at Caphar-salama, and again in a decisive battle at Adasa, near to the glorious battle field of Both-horon (B. C. 161). This victory was the greatest of Judas' successes and practically decided the question of Jewish independence. Later Judas was killed in battle with a force of invaders under Bacchides. His body was recovered by his brothers and buried at Modin in the sepulcher of his fathers. Two years after, when necessity for renewing the conflict arose, the command was offered to Jonathan. He forced Bacchides to terms and when Alexander Balas ascended to the Persian throne he was promoted to great authority and assumed the high-priest's office. After Alexander's death he fell a victim to the treachery of Tryphon, and Simon placed himself at the head of the patriot army and he brought the long struggle of the Jews finally to an end in about B. C. 143. Eight years later he and two of his sons were murdered by Ptolemaeus, but one of the sons escaped, Johannes Hyrcanus, and at once assumed the government of the Jews. Dying in B. C. 106, his eldest son Aristobulus I., succeeded to the rulership and was the first to assume the kingly title.

SERMONETTE.

The good man do lives after them.

This trite saying is ever true.

The recordar of the deeds of the Maccabees has this to say of the record which Judas, who became the leader after tha death of his father, left benind him:

"He gat his people great honor, and put on a breast-plate as a giant, and girt his warlika harness about him, and he made battles, protecting the host with his sword.

"In his acts he was like a lion, like a lion's whelp, roaring for his prey.

"For he pursaad the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt up those that vexed his people.

"Wherefore the wicked shrunk from fear of him, and all the workers of iniquity were troubled, because salvation prosepered in his hand.

"He grieved also many kings, and made Jacob glad with his acts, and his mamorial is blessed forever.

"Moreover, he went through the cities of Juda, destroying the ungodly out of them, and turning away wrath from Israel.

"So that he was renowned unto the utmost part of the earth, and he received unto him such as were ready to perish."

We find the faith and strength of character of the man revealed in his words at the moment when his small and ill-squipped army was about to flee before the overwhelming hoste of the enamy. He said:

"It is no hard matter for the many to be shut up in the hands of the few; and with the God of heaven it is all one, to deliver with a great multitude or a small company; for tha victory of battle standeth in the multitude of the host: but strength comath from Haavan.

They come against us in much pride and iniquity to destroy us, and our wives and our children, and to spoil us. But we fight for our lives and our lawe. Wherefore the Lord himself will overthrow tham before our faca. And as for you, be ye not afraid of them."

THE STORY.

HE WHO would make honorable alliance with another must first prove his own worth.

Judas' eyes and thoughts were turning towards great and mighty Rome.

Not because of weakness and fear of his enemies round about. Far from it, for had he not repeatedly won victories over those who had risen up against Israel?

When Mattathias, his father, had died, the leadership of the people had fallen upon him, and a great general and just ruler he had proved himself to be. His first great victory had been over Seron, prince of the army of Syria, who with a mighty host had come against him. Then King Antiochus, on departure on an expedition into Persia, left instructions with Lysias to invade Judea and destroy Judas. And Lysias had chosen Ptolomee and Nicanor and Gorgias, mighty men of the king's friends, who organized a powerful expedition, which, when it had come into the country, Judas had defeated and scattered. So it had been when Timotheus had come against him with the combined forces of the Arabians. And again when Nichanor had come with his mighty army, Judas and his patriot army not only defeated them but [illegible] Nicanor.

It was readily to be understood how the Jews of such a leader as Judas [illegible] Imperial Rome [illegible] valor was held in such esteem. And in turn the fame of the Romans came to be known to Judas and his followers.

"What mighty allies would these powerful Romans make," exclaimed Judas one day. "Because the nations all about us would do us hurt, let us make them our friends."

"Thou has spoken in wisdom," acclaimed Eupolemus, one of the chief men under Judas. "It were useless for us to think of warring with Rome at any time, for no nation has yet withstood her armies. See how the Galatians have been subdued and brought under tribute. And see what the Romans have done to Spain, winning control of the mines of silver and gold. How much better it would have been had these nations made friends with the Romans. We may well do as Judas has counseled us."

When Eupolemus ceased speaking avery eye in the group was turned with evident approval upon Judas.

"Tell us more of these mighty Romans," they exclaimed.

"It were almost impossible to tell all concerning the spread of the power of the Romans," he said. "They have discomfited Philip in battle, and Perseus, king of the Citims, with others who lifted themselves up against them. And then there was Antiochus, the great king of Asia, that came against them in battle, having an hundred and twenty elephants, with horsemen and chariots, and a very great army, and notwithstanding all this he was discomfited before them."

"But," spoke one of the group, "do we not need to fear that the Romans may deal deceitfully with us and, after we have made league with them, they will turn and make us their servants?"

"Nay," spake up another, whose name was Jason, "the Romans have never done so. With their friends and such as rely upon them they keep amity; but whoever has chosen to be counted as an enemy the Romans have displaced them. Greatly are the Romans exalted in the eyes of all the world, and yet none of the Romans, however great has ever worn a crown, or was clothed in purple. Instead, they have made for themselves a senate chamber wherein 320 men sit in council daily, consulting always for the people, to the end that the affairs of the whole nation may be well ordered. They commit the government to one man every year and he ruleth over all the country, and all are obedient unto him, and there is neither envy nor emulation among them."

This statement of Jason proved the clinching argument, and immediately there was unanimous request that Judas should select those who should go to Rome on the mission of peace and friendship.

"Whom better could we select than Eupolemus and Jason?" said Judas, after a few moments' silence. "Ye have all heard them speak. They have knowledge of the Romans and have great faith in them. Let them go as our representatives."

With one accord they all gave assent. The next day these men departed on the long journey, commissioned to make a league of amity and confederacy with the Romans and to entreat them that they would take the yoke from them, for it was only too apparent that the Grecians purposed to put them in bondage.

And when at last these two men, Eupolemus and Jason, had come in to the senate, they spake and said:

"Judas Maccabeus, with his brethren and the people of the Jews, have sent us unto you to make a confederacy and peace with you and that we might be registered your confederates and friends."

Now after the senate considered this appeal it was well pleased and this is the copy of the epistle which the senate wrote back again on tables of brass and sent to Jerusalem, that there they might have by them a memorial of peace and confederacy:

"Good success be to the Romans, and to the people of the Jews, by sea and land forever. The sword also and enemy be far from them. If there come first any war upon the Romans or any of their confederates throughout all their dominnon the people of the Jews shall help them, as the time shall be appointed, with all their heart. Neither shall they give any thing unto them that make war upon them, or aid them with victuals, weapons, money or ships, as it hath seemed good unto the Romans; but they shall keep their covenants without taking anything therefor. In the same manner also, if war come first upon the nation of the Jews, the Romans shall help them with all their heart, according as the time shall be appointed them. Neither shall victuals be given to them that take part against them, or weapons, or money, or ships, as it hath seemed good to the Romans; but they shall keep their covenants, and that without deceit."

According to these articles did the Romans make covenant with the people of the Jews, and then they added as follows:

"Howbeit, if hereafter the one party or the other shall think meet to add or diminish anything, they may do it at their pleasure, and whatsoever they shall add or take away shall be ratified. And as touching the evils that Demetrius doeth to the Jews, we have written unto him saying, 'Wherefore hast thou made thy yoke heavy upon our friends and confederates, the Jews? If therefore they complain any more against thee, we will do them justice and fight with thee by sea and land.'"

Now were [illegible] and Jason returned to their land the [illegible] great honorable, and [illegible] their [illegible] as were [illegible]

FALL PAINTING.

The majority of property owners are under the impression that spring time is the only painting time. But the fall of the year offers several advantages to the painter. One of the most important is that surfaces are almost sure to be dry, and there is no frost or inner moisture to work out after the paint is applied.

Pure white lead—the Dutch Boy Painter kind—mixed with pure linseed oil (tinted as desired) gives a winter coat to a building that is an armor against the severest attacks of the winter rain, sleet, winds and snow.

National Lead Company, 1902 Trinity Bldg., New York city, makers of pure white lead, Dutch Boy Painter trademark, are offering to those interested a complete painter's outfit, consisting of a blow pipe and lead tester, book of color schemes, etc. State whether you want exterior or interior decorating.

CHAUTAUQUA WISDOM.

One of the Chautauqua talkers says: "Husbands, let your wives have an extra dollar now and then." He might have rendered a greater service to mankind by saying: "Wives, let your husbands have an extra dime occasionally without asking them to explain why they want the money."

Fooled Them Thirteen Years.

Frank Nelson, former state superintendent of public instruction of Kansas, and "Cap." Gibson, the veteran record clerk in Auditor Nation's office, are great friends. Nelson is now president of a Minnesota college.

When Nelson was still in the state house he and Gibson had a talk one day about teaching school. "I was once a school teacher," volunteered Gibson.

"Is that so?" asked Nelson. "How long?"

"Yes, I fooled 'em 13 years," replied "Cap."

"How is that?" asked Nelson.

"Oh," said "Cap," "I quit when teachers had to quality."—Kansas City Journal.

His Size Was Known.

"I want some collars and neckties for my husband!" she snapped.

"Yes, madam."

The clerk offered her the latest thing.

"What size are these?" asked the lady.

"Why, twelve and a half, madam!"

"How on earth did you guess that?"

"Ah," replied the clerk, smiling, "gentlemen who let their wives select their collars and ties always take that size!"

To Check Disease Among Indians.

It has been reported that the disease known as trachoma, or granular eyalids, has been spreading rapidly among the Indians. To check this trouble congress appropriated $12,000, placing it in the hands of the commissioner of Indian affairs, for the immediate investigation and treatment of the disease and to check its spread.

The Old Man's Joke.

"Mary," called her father, "has that young man gone yet?"

"No, pa," replied the maid. "But he's going right now."

"Then ask him to empty the pail underneath the ice box before he goes, will you? I forgot it."

THE DOCTOR'S WIFE Agrees with Him About Food.

A trained nurse says: "In the practice of my profession I have found so many points in favor of Grape-Nuts food that I unhesitatingly recommend it to all my patients.

"It is delicate and pleasing to the palate (an essential in food for the sick), and can be adapted to all ages, being softened with milk or cream for babies or the aged when deficiency of teeth renders mastication impossible. For fever patients or those on liquid diet find 'Grape-Nuts and albumen water very nourishing and refreshing.'

"This recipe is my own idea and is made as follows: Soak a teaspoonful of Grape-Nuts in a glass of water for an hour, strain and serve with the beaten white of an egg and a spoonful of fruit juice for flavouring. This affords a great deal of nourishment that even the weakest stomach can assimilate without any distress.

"My husband is a physician and he uses Grape-Nuts himself and orders it many times for his patients.

"Personally I regard a dish of Grape-Nuts with fresh or stewed fruit as the ideal breakfast for anyone—well or sick."

In any case of stomach trouble, nervous prostration or weak [illegible] day trial of Grape-Nuts will work wonders, toward nourishing and rebuilding and in this way ending the trouble.

"There's a Reason" and [illegible]

Look in [illegible] for the famous little [illegible]

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

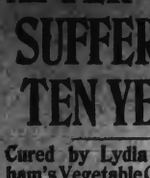
BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL, ... $50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1891.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in..... $50,000
Surplus,..... $8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
206 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
At Erlanger every Thursday.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged. Money to Loan on Real Estate. Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. Vest, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.



INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
WITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGES
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $6 45, less (than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder,
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky. and J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington.
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Warerooms
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
[illegible] Agent, [illegible]

C. L. GRIFFITH,
REAL ESTATE

AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MARLTON, N.J.—"I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life. I suffered for ten years with serious female troubles, inflammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and could not sleep. Doctors gave me up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I began to take it, and am well again and relieved of all my suffering."—Mrs. GEORGE JOHNY, Box 40, Marlton, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

JUST AS BAD.

Dobson—Can your daughter play the piano?

Suzuba (wearily)—I don't know whether she can or not, but she does.

COVERED WITH HIVES.

Child a Mass of Dreadful Sore, Itching, Irritating Humor for 2 Months—Little Sufferer in Terrible Plight.

Disease Cured by Cuticura.

"My six year old daughter had the dreadful disease called hives for two months. She became affected by playing with children who had it. By scratching she caused large sores which were irritating. Her body was a complete sore but it was worse on her arms and back. We employed a physician who left medicine but it did not help her and I tried several remedies but without avail. Seeing the Cuticura Remedies advertised, I thought I would try them. I gave her a hot bath daily with Cuticura Soap and anointed her body with Cuticura Ointment. The first treatment relieved the itching and in a short time the disease disappeared. Mrs. George L. Fridhoff, Warren, Mich., June 30 and July 13, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Standard Oil Wells.

The Standard Oil Company's real estate holdings in Bayonne, N. J., where its largest oil refining plant in the east is situated, have been increased from $7,360,000, the value fixed upon them in 1908 for taxation, to $13,000,000. The company is appealing against the increases fixed upon the realty by the Hudson county board of equalization.

A little bottle of Hamlins Wizard Oil is a medicine chest in itself. It can be applied in a larger number of painful ailments than any other remedy known.

When a man is his own worst enemy he really doesn't need any others.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25cts bottle.

A brain is worth little without a tongue.—French.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Kentucky Items of Interest

BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS.

First National of Burnside Dragged Down by Failure of Produce Company.

Burnside, Ky.—The First National bank was closed by the board of directors until it could hear from the comptroller of the currency at Washington. It is understood the Huntington Produce & Feed Co. is a heavy borrower and when this firm became involved and assigned the directors of the bank decided they could no longer continue. The Huntington concern claims to have quick assets sufficient to pay off its total indebtedness, and if such is the case the depositors will not lose a cent. There is already talk of reorganizing under new management. Mr. R. D. Garrett has been appointed receiver. Local depositors are very much excited, but remain in silence. The Huntington Produce & Feed Co. failed, including all branch offices at Moreland, Worthville, Carrollton and Sparta, Ky. C. W. Stuart, its president, refused to discuss the company's affairs, except that he hoped they would be able to continue with their business in a few days. Stuart, who is well known in Kentucky as a shrewd financier, purchased the entire wool crop of the Kentucky Wool Growers' Association in May, and contracted with Eastern buyers to take it off his hands at a handsome profit. After the passage of the new tariff law, and the slump in wool, the Philadelphia buyers refused to accept the wool, and the produce company, so it is claimed by Stuart, now has the bag to hold. The bank has a capital of $25,000; surplus and undivided profits, $524; deposits, $59,495, and resources of $91,302.

WILL HOLD PRIMARY ELECTION.

Democrats of Sixth Appellate District Will Nominate Candidate for Judge Nov. 2.

Covington, Ky.—A meeting of the democratic executive committee of the Sixth appellate district of Kentucky was held here. W. A. Young, of Rowan county, chairman of the committee, presided, and A. B. Reaaker, of Boone county, acted as secretary. It was decided to hold a primary election in the district on November 2, 1909, the day of the regular election, for the purpose of nominating a judge for this district; the election to be held in November, 1910. If on October 18 but one candidate who has qualified has announced himself, the chairman, W. A. Young, will on that date call off the primary.

NEW TROTTING RECORD

For Yearling in Harness Made in Louisville.

Lexington, Ky.—Miss Stokes, the yearling filly by Peter the Great, out of Tillie Thompson, by Guy Wilkes, bred and owned by W. E. D. Stokes, of New York, proprietor of Patchen Wilkes stock farm, and driven by Ed Willis, the colored superintendent of Patchen Wilkes farm, trotted a mile in 2:19¼ here. It is a new world's record for a yearling to harness. The performance was over the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association track, and is official.

MOONSHINE STILLS DESTROYED

By Revenue Officers, Who Make Several Arrests.

Beattyville, Ky.—Deputy United States Marshal William Mays, Collector W. T. Short and Revenue Agent Charles Duty arrived here with William Simms, James Hardy, Will Williams, John Williams and Lee Bishop, whom they had arrested on a charge of moonshining. The officers destroyed three moonshine stills in Jackson and Clay counties, with a lot of whisky and beer.

Lexington, Ky.—The Central Kentucky Federation of Commercial clubs was organized here at a convention of secretaries and representatives of some forty commercial organizations. U. M. Swinford was elected president, and S. H. Clay secretary.

Lexington, Ky.—Clarence Lebus, president of the Burley Tobacco society, waived title and claim to the bonus of $10,000, in addition to a yearly salary of $15,000, which was voted to him by the district board at a meeting in Winchester June 9 last.

Lexington, Ky.—The Ministerial Union of this city, is planning to take a hand in the forthcoming election of county officers, the idea being to indorse only those, irrespective of party affiliations, who declare themselves in favor of prohibition.

Newport, Ky.—In a thrilling pistol duel within a stone's throw of police headquarters, a desperate but unsuccessful effort was made by a man giving the name of R. W. Leroy to kill Detective Frank Morton.

New Castle, Ky.—The eighteenth annual reunion of the Fourth Kentucky cavalry, C. S. A., will be held here October 7. All the old soldiers are expected to be present.

ONE OF THE VITAL ISSUES

Will Be County Unit Measure in the Campaign Preceding Election of November 2.

Lexington, Ky.—The anti-saloon element throughout the state intends to make the county unit measure one of th emost vital issues of the campaign preceding the election on November 2 at which will be named members of the next legislature, and should there be a "fighting chance" for the passage of the measure it is believed that it will be one of the first acts to be given important consideration after the incoming legislature is organized. Just now the anti-saloon leaders, aided by the ministers' unions in the various cities and towns, are engaged in "sounding" the hold-over senators, who by reason of their length of service will be important factors in shaping legislation in the next session of the general assembly, as to their attitude on the liquor question and particularly the county unit bill, which was defeated at the last session. Candidates for representatives and state senators in those districts where the latter are to be selected this November are also being interrogated on this issue, and in many counties the voters have forced them to announce their platform on the liquor question in advance before support was promised.

SENATOR BRADLEY

Opened Seventh Annual Kentucky State Fair at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky.—Under smiling skies and in the presence of a great assemblage of 20,000 persons gathered from all sections of the commonwealth, the seventh annual Kentucky State fair was declared opened by Senator Bradley. M. C. Rankin, president of the state fair board, presided over the festivities, while other officers and prominent men of the state were gathered upon the platform in honor of Kentucky's premier event of the year. Assembled in splendor array in the big exposition houses are products of a people of which the state is proud. In the rings of horses and cattle, of sheep and hogs, were shown animals which rival the world's best, while the entire fair represents the arts and industries of a community spread before the eyes of the world that all may look and see how great is Kentucky. The agricultural exhibits, the handiwork of Kentucky women, and the big group of interesting concessions form a big portion of the show, in each of which the visiting thousands will find much pleasure. Nothing was lacking to make the opening of the fair a big success. The grounds have been vastly improved, and the dusty thoroughfares which caused much inconvenience at the last exposition were as fine as macadamized roadways. The ugly bare spots of last year have given way to lawns of grass and flowers. In the sawdust ring, dozens of satin-coated Kentucky thoroughbreds pranced with heads erect, as fully conscious of their proud position in the fair as their admiring masters. These alone were enough to hold the attention and stir the blood of the many who witnessed the exhibits within the pavilion.

FARMERS TO MEET IN DRY RIDGE.

Grant County Farmers' Institute Will Be Held There Oct. 1 and 2.

Dry Ridge, Ky.—A Farmers' Institute will be held in Dry Ridge, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 1 and 2. Better methods of farming, fruit growing, stock raising, road building, dairying, poultry raising, domestic science and kindred subjects will be discussed by W. D. Nichols, of Bloomfield, a graduate of the A. & M. college of Lexington, a practical dairyman and an up-to-date farmer, and by John G. Blair, of Carlisle, an institute lecturer, of wide experience and one of the best qualified men on live farm topics in the state.

Louisville, Ky.—Allen R. Foote, president of the International Tax Conference, arrived here to begin active work for the great convention, to be held here next week. Headquarters were established and committees are busy arranging for the meeting.

Louisville, Ky.—Mrs. Annie Besant, theosophist, arrived in Louisville, and was greeted at the train by local theosophists in a body. She is an author, philosopher, pupil of Madame Blavatsky, and one of the most noted theosophist leaders of the country.

Covington, Ky.—Mrs. Edith McAvoy, a handsome young widow, living on the Lexington pike, near Richwood Station, about 18 miles from Covington, was arrested on suspicion of being the person who set fire to the home of John Ransier, a wealthy farmer, on the Lexington pike.

Covington, Ky.—The little community of Richwood Station, 18 miles from Covington on the Lexington pike, is highly wrought up over the burning of the home of John Ransier, a wealthy farmer, and the attempted destruction of the schoolhouse of the village. Warnings were also received by several neighbors of Ransier to leave the vicinity in the next five days or the torch would also be applied to their houses.

DEATH OF BISHOP McCLOSKEY.

Of the Catholic Diocese of Kentucky—Oldest Bishop in Country in Age and Length of Service.

Louisville, Ky.—The Rt. Rev. William George McCloskey, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Kentucky and the oldest Catholic bishop in the United States, both in age and in point of continuous service, died of the ailments incident to old age. The bishop was in his 85th year. He had been the head of the Kentucky diocese for 41 years and was honored and loved by Catholics and Protestants alike. For some time the bishop has been in feeble health and performed his duties with some difficulty. Bishop McCloskey was ordained a priest at New York, in 1852, and became assistant pastor of the Church of the Nativity, in that city. When the American college in Rome was founded by Pope Pius IX., Dr. McCloskey was selected for the position of president. He filled the place with ability for more than 23 years. When a vacancy was caused in Kentucky by the death of Bishop Lavialle, Dr. McCloskey was nominated for the place and was consecrated bishop of Louisville, May 24, 1868.

GREAT CROWD AT STATE FAIR

In Honor of Louisville and Southern Indiana Day.

Louisville, Ky.—A trio of mayors, those of the three Falls cities, was the center of attraction at the State fair, when the greatest crowd of the season turned out in honor of Louisville and Southern Indiana day. Mayor Grinstead, Mayor Best and Mayor Flynn, in an automobile, headed a big parade which passed through the live stock pavilion before cheering thousands. Gov. Augustus Willson's auto was the second in the pageant. Following the parade he was hustled away to address a convention of the Kentucky Sheep Breeders' association. The governor discussed the sheep growing industry and urged the members to take immediate action to stamp out a disease now prevalent which caused a quarantine.

PRECINCT CHAIRMEN ELECTION

Of Burley Tobacco Society Will Be Held Saturday, Sept. 25.

Frankfort, Ky.—The election of precinct chairmen will be held at each voting precinct in the burley district on Saturday, Sept. 25, and every man who has pooled his tobacco is eligible to vote in this election. The executive committee of the Burley Tobacco society regards these elections as important as any work connected with the pooling of tobacco this year. Men of energy, influence, integrity and business ability are requested to make the race for the chairmen, and the tobacco growers are urged to vote only for such men.

Lexington, Ky.—Two mules belonging to E. G. Thompson, and affected with glanders, were destroyed under orders from the fiscal court. Local veterinarians have been instructed to make examinations of all stock as precaution against spread of the disease.

Winchester, Ky.—The State Council, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, elected as state councilor, Chas. C. Green; vice councilor, J. J. Gibson; treasurer, L. W. Phillips; conductor, G. B. Maloney; warden, Ed Westerman. London was chosen as next place of meeting.

Lexington, Ky.—George Larrabee, manager of the stock department of the Western and Atlantic Insurance Co., with headquarters in Nashville, was arrested here at the instigation of Dr. Marshall P. Robinson, a local physician, who charged Larrabee with having obtained $50 under false pretenses.

Barbourville, Ky.—Charles Scribner was shot and instantly killed, it is alleged, by his nephew, James King. Both are colored. King served two terms in the penitentiary and now stands indicted for mule stealing, burglary and breaking jail.

Louisville, Ky.—Dr. Melvin H. Rhorer and Dr. Frank O. Young, of Lexington, were before the state board of health, which met here to hear charges of malpractice, three charges having been preferred against each of the physicians.

Louisville, Ky.—Daniel B. Summers, 48, clerk at the Union National bank, and member of a prominent family, was drowned in the Ohio river under unusual circumstances. Whether the case is one of suicide or accident is not known.

Winchester, Ky.—The State Council of Kentucky of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics held its annual meeting here. The number of councils reported in the state was 195, and the total number of members at a few less than 15,000.

Frankfort, Ky.—The Franklin county grand jury was instructed by Judge R. L. Stout to investigate the riot of September 4 in Craw in this city, and if the members of the state guard are responsible for the riot, to indict them.

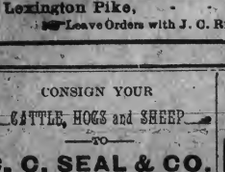
O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.
Phone, M. 2393.

The Applegate-Piper Co.
MERCHANT TAILORS.
Room 610, Traction Building,
Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,
BURLINGTON, KY.
The Oldest Bank in Boone County,
PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,
With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.



RARUS FLOUR
THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.
17c Pound—6 pounds for $1.00.
This is what everyone likes—
The Green—8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR
Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,
Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY
AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.
CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.
New Buggies, Runabouts
and Harness for Sale or Trade.
Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.
When in Burlington call and See me.
B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.
Lexington Pike, - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. REVILL, Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR
CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP
TO
C. C. SEAL & CO.
Union Stock Yards,
CINCINNATI. • • OHIO
And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.
J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade

Correspondence that Explains Itself

The following is a full and complete copy of all correspondence to date, July 9th, 1909 between, Hon. J. W. Berkshire, Democratic Nominee for Representative, and R. O. Hughes and Jno. L. Vest.

Copy of letter from Mr. Hughes to Mr. Berkshire:

Richwood, Ky., May 17th, 1909.

Mr. John W. Berkshire,
Petersburg, Ky.

Dear Sir:—I want you to settle a question that is in the minds of many of Boone's voters. You are aware that there is a movement on in this state for the next legislature, to pass some measure looking to state wide prohibition. You know Boone is overwhelmingly for temperance. How do you stand on this question and if the issue should come up in the next general assembly, would you vote for or against this question? An early reply with your views FULLY AND CLEARLY EXPRESSED will be very much appreciated.

Your friend, R. O. Hughes.

This letter remains unanswered to this day. A few days after this letter was written, viz, on June 9th, 1909 a second letter was addressed to Mr. Berkshire, a copy of which is as follows:

June 9th, 1909.

Hon. John W. Berkshire,
Petersburg, Ky.

Dear Sir:—We the undersigned citizens of Boone county would respectfully ask that you give us an expression in writing as to the stand you would take in the event that a bill should be introduced in the next General Assembly, providing for the taking of the sense of the voters of the state on the question of state wide prohibition.

Please write your answer to R. O. Hughes, Richwood, Ky.

Jno. L. Vest, R. O. Hughes,
J. C. Miller, J. J. Hudson.

This letter registered to Mr. Berkshire, and on June 26th, 1909, the following answer was mailed to Mr. R. O. Hughes, Richwood, Ky.

Mr. R. O. Hughes,

My Dear Sir:—I have the letter of inquiry signed by yourself and others in which you desire to know my position on the "State Wide Question." In reply will say that I am a Democrat, and shall stand with my party on this as on all other important questions that will come before the Legislature. If my party should fail to make it a party question I would then feel free to exercise my individual judgment and in so doing shall aim to reflect the wishes of my constituents.

Respectfully yours,
J. W. Berkshire.

On July 10th, 1909, the following letter was registered to Mr. Berkshire, and his registered receipt returned July 13th, 1909:

July 9th, 1909.

Hon. J. W. Berkshire,
Petersburg, Ky.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of recent date to Mr. R. O. Hughes came to my hands yesterday, and as I am one of the signers to the letter of inquiry asking for information, as to your position on the "State Wide Prohibition" question I now write you to say that your letter to Mr. Hughes does not in any sense satisfy either myself or any of the people with whom I have talked concerning your position on that question.

In your letter to Mr. Hughes you assume that you are already elected to serve as the Representative of the people of Boone county, in the coming 1910 session of the Kentucky Legislature, when as a matter of fact, you are at this very moment a candidate for re-election for the same office which you now hold, and the very purpose and reason for writing the letter of inquiry was to ascertain how you will stand on the "State Wide" question, in the coming session if elected, in order that those citizens of Boone county favoring "State Wide Prohibition" may or may not give your opposition for re-election, as your position on that question may warrant, when your position is once finally ascertained.

The people are entitled to know how you will vote on the most vital and important question that will come before the 1910 session of the Kentucky Legislature, before they again place you in a position to "reflect the wishes of your constituents."

Your letter to Mr. Hughes was evidently written with the idea of "dodging the issue," and you succeeded admirably. No man or woman in the State of Kentucky can read your letter and tell your position on this most vital question. But as one citizen and voter, I do not propose that you shall thus easily escape and dodge the square issue.

I frankly, openly and without the least hesitation, say to you, that I am heartily in favor of state wide prohibition, and in behalf of myself as a voter, and all other voters of Boone county, who endorse the "State Wide" movement, I ask that you answer in writing with the simple word, "Yes" or "No" the following question, viz:

There will be introduced into the Kentucky Legislature at its 1910 session, a bill providing for the amendment of the present constitution of Kentucky, so as to permit a vote to be taken in the state of Kentucky as to whether or not, spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold in this state. Will you if elected as representative for Boone county at the coming November election, vote for its passage, and use every honorable means at your command to assist in securing its passage, and will you in that session co-operate with the advocates of "State Wide prohibition in Kentucky, so as to bring about if possible State Wide prohibition in this State?

This is a simple question, and can easily be answered "Yes" or "No" and on your answer to that question depends my vote for or against you at the coming November, 1909, election. You know as well as I that this question is not now and will never be made a party issue in this state as there has at all times been and will continue to be members of both parties who advocate it, and members of both parties who are opposed to it. It therefore becomes a question which you as an individual must determine, and with the agitation that has been brewing over the state, you certainly can not fail to be aware that it will be an issue in the coming election. I therefore desire to know your stand on the question, that is whether you are "For or "Against."

What I have said to you in this letter, I said in all kindly spirit as the only object I have, is to ascertain your position on this important issue that now confronts the people of our grand old Commonwealth. With best personal wishes, I am.

Yours truly, Jno. L. Vest.

September 13th, 1909.

Hon. J. W. Berkshire,
Petersburg, Ky.

Dear Sir:—My letter of July 9th, 1909 for which I hold your register receipt dated July 13th, '09 still remains unanswered.

Since writing that letter the Republicans of Boone county have tendered me the nomination for Representative from this county, and I hereby announce to you and to the public generally my acceptance of that nomination.

This therefore makes each of us candidates for the same office and in this connection I desire to say to you, that if you are opposed to the sale of intoxicating liquors in this state and will answer the question in my letter of July 9th, in the affirmative by an announcement to the people of this county by a public [illegible] before Wednesday October 5th, 1909, I will follow my usual avocations of life, and you will unquestionably be elected, and I will consider myself a defeated candidate in advance, realizing as I do the overwhelming Democratic majority in this county.

If you still refuse to answer my letter, and still decline to make your position on this question clear and explicit, on or before the above named date, then I shall endeavor to defeat you, notwithstanding the large Democratic majority in this county, and in this endeavor, I shall ask the aid and co-operation of every good substantial citizen in the county, whether he be a Democrat or Republican, for this is a MORAL and not a POLITICAL issue.

If it should be that you still refuse to declare your position after the time named, then I ask and invite you to meet me in open joint debate at one place in each precinct in the county, for the discussion of this as well as all other pending issues. With best personal wishes, I am,

Yours truly, Jno. L. Vest.

Not a drop of Alcohol

Doctors prescribe very little, if any, alcohol these days. They prefer strong tonics and alteratives. This is all in keeping with modern medical science. It explains why Ayer's Sarsaparilla is now made entirely free from alcohol. Ask your doctor. Follow his advice.

We publish our formulas
We banish alcohol from our medicines
We urge you to consult your doctor

Ayer's

Unless there is daily action of the bowels, poisonous products are absorbed, causing headache, biliousness, nausea, dyspepsia. We wish you would ask your doctor about correcting your constipation by taking laxative doses of Ayer's Pills.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

Pertinent Shoe Facts.

You want dependable shoes.

You want to have confidence in the firm of whom you buy.

You don't want unnecessary talk or hot air.

To the Shoe Point.

Davis sells dependable shoes.

Davis has the confidence of hundreds of satisfied customers—why not yours?

Davis don't resort to hot air or extravagant assertions in order to sell shoes—he don't have to. He has concentrated his lines of shoes until the best makes of the country are waiting for you to see them.

You profit by his 25 years shoe experience.

You run no risk—you make no mistake when you buy your shoes of Davis, the shoe man of Rising Sun.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee held at Burlington Sept. 20th for the purpose of fixing the time, manner and place for nominating a Democratic candidate for Magistrate in the 5th magisterial district composed of Walton and Verona precincts, to be voted on at the regular election November 2, 1909, the office becoming vacant by the death of the present nominee, John Watson.

A full quorum being present, and by motion and second it was ordered that a mass convention be held at Walton, Ky. on Saturday October 2d, 1909, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of nominating a candidate in said district and all known Democrats and young men who will be eligible to vote in the regular election November 2d and desire to affiliate with the Democrat party shall be allowed to participate in this convention provided they live within the boundary of the Walton and Verona precincts.

The Chairman and Secretary of this convention shall certify the name of the nominee in duplicate, one sent to the Chairman of the county committee and one to the County Clerk authorizing them to have the name so certified and placed on the ballot for the regular November election.

A. B. RENAKER, Chairman.
T. F. CURLEY, Secretary.

For Sale—Suckling mare mule, about 4 months old, 12½ hands high—is a dandy. Apply to L. J. Riley near Union.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

John Hankins, Administrator of Agnes Gerding, deceased, Plff
vs Equity
Henry Gerding, etc. Dfts

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August term, thereof 1909, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the court-house door in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., to the highest bidder at public auction, on Monday the 4th day of October, 1909, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabout, being county court day, upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit:

Lying and being in Boone county, Ky., and bounded as follows: Commencing at an iron stake in the middle of the county road, a line in James Peno; running thence west 152 feet more or less to an iron stake, a line with John L. Hankin's corner in same road; thence north 331 feet more or less to a stone under the river bank, being John L. Hankin's line under the river bank; thence up the river 152 feet more or less to a corner stone in James Peno's line; thence south with said Peno's line 365 feet more or less to the beginning, Being a part of the Ann Eliza Jane Hankins land.

For the purchase price the purchaser, with approved security or securities, must execute bonds, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and have the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C.

Commissioner's Sale.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky.

George Huston, &c., Plffs
vs. Equity
Charles Duncan, &c. Defts.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the August Term, thereof, 1909, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Burlington, Boone county, Ky., to the highest bidder, at public sale on Monday, 4th day of October, 1909, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabouts, being county court day, upon a credit of six months, the following described property, towit:

Tract No. 1—Situated in Boone County, Kentucky.—Beginning at a stone in a passway, a corner with lot No. 4 in the division of the lands of Charles Slater, Dec'd, in a line of lot No. 3; thence with the line of lot No. 3 n 54¼ w 4.09 chains to a stone; thence n 29 e 3.01 chains to a stone on the Bone creek, a corner of lot No. 1; thence up the creek with the lines of lot No. 1 n 61¼ e 1.16 chains, n 68¼ e 2.74 chains, n 23¼ e 4.84 chains n 31½ e 1.62 chains, n 7 e 5.94 chains, n 61 e 2.37 chains, n 38¼ w 2.55 chains, s 88¾ w 61 links, n 72¼ w 50 links to a stone on said creek, a corner with M. E. Hance; thence with his lines n 30 e 1.53 chains, n 11 ½ e 1.58 chains, n 2 e 2.88 chains, n 1 e 1.94 chains, n 32¼ e 2.65 chains, s 82½ e 2.51 chains, s 53 e 2.33 chains, s 55 e 4 60 chains, s16e 2.93 chains, s4 w. 2.31 chains, s24¼ w 1.85 chains, s45¼ w1.58 chains, s11¼ w1 30 chains, to an oak stump, corner with said M. E. Hance and lot No. 4; thence with the lines of lot No. 4 s49 w 1 42 chains, s52 w 2.83 chains, s 21½ e 1.39 chains to a stone; thence s37 w 16.71 chains to the beginning, containing 19½ acres, and being lot No. 2 in the division of the lands of Charles Slater, deceased. In this division there is reserved for lot No. 2 a passway 16 feet wide, beginning at a stone, a corner with lots Nos. 2 & 3; thence along the present passway n87-w7.69 chains to the county road. There is excepted out of lot No. 2 as described above a passway 8 feet in width, beginning at a stone, a corner with lot No. 2 and No. 4; thence along the line between lot Nos. 2 and 4 n54¼w4.09 chains to a stone in said passway being for the benefit of the eleven lots in the division of said land of said Chas. Slater, deceased.

Tract No. 2—A lot of land in or adjoining the town of McVille, in Boone County, Kentucky.—Beginning at a stake at the East edge of Main street and North edge of Vine street, as represented on the Plat of said town; thence along the North edge of Vine street extended n80e136 feet to a stake; thence n12w120 feet to a stake at the edge of an alley (No. 3) extended; thence s80w135 feet to a stake on the East edge of Main street; thence with the East edge of Main street s13w120 feet to the beginning, containing 3 8 of an acre Said lot is intended to constitute lot No. 18 in the town of McVille when added thereto.

(The Master Commissioner will sell the two above described pieces of property separately.)

For the purchase price the purchaser with approved security or securities, must execute boud, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment, with a lien retained therein until all the purchase money is paid. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

J. A. DUNCAN, M. C. B. C.

Notice of Annual Election.

The policy-holders of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company are hereby notified that the annual election to elect directors of that company will be held at company's office in Burlington, Ky., on the first Monday in October, 1909. Remember that you have to vote in person this year, as the proxy vote has been cut out. The directors of the company are notified to meet at office, on same date to elect officers of company. Remember the date, and be sure to come. Any policyholder wishing his name placed on official ballot for director, will kindly notify me by the 25th of September, 1909.

MALCHUS SOUTHER, Secretary.

Go With A Rush.

The demand for that wonderful Stomach, Liver and Kidney cure, the Kings New Life Pills—is astounding ..... say they never saw the like. Its because they never fail to cure Sour Stomach, Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness, Jaundice, Sick Headache, Chills and Malaria. Only 25c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

For Sale—Black mare—apply to W. Lee Crupper, Burlington.

Lest you Forget

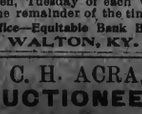
We Cut the Price on all Medicines,

WE QUOTE A FEW.

Peruna	71c
Pinkham's Compound	71c
Swamp Root	71c
S. S. S.	71c
Wine of Cardui	71c
Pierce's G. M. Discovery	71c
Pierces' Prescription	71c
Ozomulsion	71c
Scott's Emulsion	71c
Wampole's C. L. Oil	71c
Antiphlogistine	40-75c
Sal Hepatica	90c
S. S. S. (large)	$1.25
Fellows' Syrup	$1.00
Gombalt's Caustic Bal.	$1.15
Sloan's Liniment	71c
Kitchell's Liniment	65c
Barb Wire Liniment	20c
Cuticura Soap	18c
Colgate's Palm Soap 6 for	25c
" Turk Soap 6 for	25c
Pure Castile Soap, lb	20c
Allcock's Porous Plasters	2 for 25c
Belladonna Plasters 2 for	25c
Water Bottles	49c
Fountain Syringes (Each 2-quart size)	59c
Doan's Kidney Pills	40c
King's Pills	20c
Cuticura Pills	20c
Pinkham's Pills	20c
Carter's Little Liver Pills	15c
Gooch's Pills	20c
Bucklin's Arnica Salve	20c
5 Drop Ointment	20c
Pyramid Pile Cure	40c
Pazo Pile Ointment	40c
Parker's Hair Balsam	40c
Hay's Hair Health	40c
Peroxide Hydrogen, lb	25c
Creolin, lb	75c
Vaseline, lb	25c
Pine Tar, gallon	30c
Pluto Water	30c
Castor Oil, quart	50c
Castoria	25c
Syrup Figs	38c
Beef Iron and Wine	40c
Warner's 3-gr. Lithia Tablets	20c
Quinine, ounce	50c
Capsules—box of 100	08c
Bromo Quinine	20c
Tetlow's Swan Down or 2 for 25	15c
Tetlow's Gassmer Powder	20c
Allen's Foot Ease	20c
Harleem Oil	05c
Bull's Worm Candy	20c
Absorbent Cotton, oz 4 oz. 15c, 1 lb.	05c 35c
Ground Flaxseed, lb	10c
Sulphur, lb	05c
Copperas, lb	03c
Moth Balls, lb	05c
Epsom Salts, lb	05c
Cream Tartar, lb	35c
Borax, lb	12c
Toilet Paper, 6 pads	25c
Tooth Picks, 2 boxes	05c
Hindoo Corn Remover	15c
Magee's Corn Plaster	10c
One Night Cora Cure	10c
Hostetter's Bitters	85c
All Chewing Gum, pkg	03c
Sulphate, Soda, lb	20c
Phosphate Soda, lb	20c
Garfield Tea	20c
Hard Rubber Syringe	20c
Schiffman's Asthma Cure	40c
New Skin Court Plaster	20c
Carpenter's Liquid Court Plaster—tube	10c
Prophefactic Tooth Brushes	25c
Colgate's Tooth Paste	40c
Sanitol Tooth Paste	20c

We have many more at just as Low Prices.

SAVE THE DIMES.



Geo. C. Goode

AGENT.

Groceries & Medicines,

Pike & Washington,
Covington, Kentucky.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST.

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

C. H. ACRA,

AUCTIONEER

GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits; three per cent. if left six months and four per cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,
WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.

CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.

Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.
S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated—A. D. 1903.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.
Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone [illegible] and board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

International Tailoring Co.

New York Chicago.

THIS is a good name to go by when it comes to the question of Clothes.

We ourselves are satisfied as to their high merit in producing the finest clothes for Men, and more than satisfied at the popularity of their prices.

Call here and be satisfied too. See the latest style models and hundreds of the latest All Wool Fabrics.

J. W. BERKSHIRE & SON, Agents, Petersburg, Ky.

THE SHINGLE. THE APPLICATION. THE APPEARANCE.

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

FOR PERMANENT ROOFS

Roofs that will last for long as the building stands, and never need repairs. They are fire-proof, storm-proof, lightning-proof, handsome, light and adapted for [illegible] roofs of [illegible] factories whether it be large, [illegible] or any other building down to the [illegible]

"CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES"

fill all [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Glad to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] Agents & Dealers Wanted. Agencies Established.

[illegible] the pooling agent for the Burley Tobacco Society, has got 280 acres of the 1909 crop pooled in Petersburg precinct, which includes every crop except one. In other precincts in the north end of the county very little tobacco has been pooled.

Card of Thanks—I desire to acknowledge my feeling of gratefulness to my friends for their many kind acts towards my mother, Mrs. Tabitha Green, during her fatal illness, and to thank them for assistance in my hour of sorrow.
MRS. AGNES CARPENTER.

An addition is being added to the RECORDER office in which the engine, cylinder press, the folder and some other articles of equipment will be moved, in order that there may be more room in which to circulate in the main office. The addition will have a concrete floor, and will be otherwise especially arranged for a press room.

At a meeting of the Boone County Democratic Committee at Burlington, Ky., September 20th, I am directed to call an election for precinct committeeman for the Bullittsville precinct for Saturday, October 2nd, 1909, at 2 o'clock p. m., said committeeman from that precinct being ineligible because of being a candidate. The voters of the Bullittsville precinct will please meet at their voting place and elect a precinct committeeman on the above date.
A. B. RENAKER, Chairman.

Miss Lucy Russell's school made a very nice start last week, about 42 pupils being enrolled. If the parents will cooperate with her in trying to make the children obey the rules by which she desires to govern the school, she will teach a splendid school. Prof. Dix appears to have made a good impression with his pupils, and they seem to be interested in their work. Each teacher is entitled to the hearty cooperation on the part of the patrons, which is necessary to the building up of a good school.

For three consecutive weeks now someone has taken Mr. Nicholas Carpenter's RECORDER out of his rural mail box. The carrier has deposited the paper in the box regularly every Wednesday, but Mr. Carpenter has not gotten it. If Uncle Sam goes after the party who has been swiping Mr. Carpenter's RECORDER he may conclude to give him or her a job at hard labor for a year or so. Meddling with the contents of a rural mail box is a serious business, and the offense is the same as that of robbing a post-[illegible] Somebody would better be a little careful.

Miss Atha Robinson, sister of Charles Robinson, who was sent to the penitentiary from this county several months ago, was in town, Monday, and left for publication a notice of application of pardon for her brother, whom she says is in very poor health. Miss Robinson said she knows her brother has behaved very badly, but as his sister she declared herself willing to make sacrifice even unto death that he may regain his liberty. She mentioned the names of several prominent citizens who have promised her to intercede in her brother's behalf, and she is hopeful of seeing him a free man again at an early date.

Several silos have been constructed in this county in the past year. This cannot properly be termed an experiment on the part of those who have installed them as they have been thoroughly tried out by persons in so many different parts of the country, that their value as a food preserver is established beyond a question. Farmers in Boone county are manifesting a greater desire to keep up to date in their farming than they did a few years ago, and they are not so much a class of ploddders and back numbers in their work. Modern times demand modern methods, and it is well that farmers have awakened to that fact.

The Democratic Executive Committee in this Appellate Court District, met in Covington, last Friday, and called a primary election for Tuesday, November 2d, 1909, (the regular November election), to nominate a candidate for Appellate Judge in this district. The entrance fee was fixed at $6,000. The nominee of this primary election will be voted for at the regular election, 1910, one year after the nomination is made. So far the indications are that Judge Lassing will have no opposition before the primary, and that he will be declared the nominee at the time provided by the committee in the event there is but one candidate.

John Burgess, a Bourbon county farmer, has one of the most remarkable animal monstrosities that has been known in that section of the country for a long time, according to the News. The creature is a lamb and its remarkable features are two extra legs which it uses with more or less dexterity and which are as well shaped and as perfectly formed as its four regular, ordinary common sheep understandings. This lamb was born in the late spring and has lived and thrived like the other youngsters of his flock. The two extra legs are located close to its front legs and during its short existence of a few months it has attracted considerable attention in the neighborhood of Mr. Burgess' farm.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, God, in His infinite wisdom, has seen fit to remove from our midst Helen Alberta daughter of our dear brother, L. D. McGlasson; also Lousia, sister of our dear brother, Harry H. Brown, also Wm. father of our dear brother, Malchus Souther.

Resolved, That Viola Lodge No. 278, I. O. O. F., extends its heartfelt sympathy to each of these brothers and family.

Be it resolved that a copy be sent to each brother and a copy to the Boone County RECORDER for publication. Resolved, that a copy be spread on the minutes of our lodge.

Committee—Joseph M. Birkle, W. B. Graves, Claude Tanner.

Sheriff M. F. Wingate and Election Commissioner J. H. Stevens, met at the court-house, Monday, and appointed officers of election for this county for the ensuing year. J. C. Hughes, of Richwood, the other commissioner, was not present. The list of appointments will be published later.

One of the handsomest yards in this part of the county is that of Mrs. J. W. Quigley, near Limaburg. The natural lay of the ground is such as to show off flowers to the best advantage, and Mrs. Quigley has it decorated with a lot of beautiful flowers that appear to appreciate the [illegible] given them.

[illegible] fine weather, last week, [illegible] tobacco.

[illegible] of thanksgiving turkeys [illegible] be heard from.

The Ohio river is lower than it has been at any other time this year.

There has been no 30 cents a bushel corn talk in this part of the county.

John Clore, of Hebron, was transacting business in Burlington, Monday.

There will be considerable very mean tobacco among the early cutting.

Frost threatened on several occasions, last week, to do violence to vegetation.

Huntsmen are beginning to equip themselves for an active campaign during the open season.

Tobacco worms have appeared by the thousands in the last two weeks, and are cutting tobacco badly.

The busy season with the farmer is drawing to a close, his heavy work now being the cutting of his corn.

Burlington Baptist church has called Rev. H. C. Wayman, of Walton, as its pastor for the ensuing year.

The wheat crop has been almost abandoned in this county, owing to the very poor yield in the last few years.

Master Commissioner J. A. Duncan will do some realestate business at the court house door on next county court day.

Ed Hawes got busy as soon as he got home, doing some necessary repairs on the house his mother and sister occupy.

C. L. Gaines can supply the Louisville Courier-Journal, daily or Sunday for $7.50. Regular price $8. Patronage solicited.

[illegible] that [illegible] a smallpox scare, while the adjoining neighborhood, Mt. Zion, has a mad-dog excitement.

Rev. H. C. Wayman will preach in the Burlington Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening at the usual hours.

Before renewing your subscription to or subscribing for magazines or periodicals, investigate C. L. Gaines' prices. He can save you money.

Legrand Utz, of Limaburg neighborhood, remembered this office, last week, with his annual contribution of a basket of nice, juicy pawpaws.

W. H. Clayton, of Hebron, lecturer for the State Grange, is up in the Kentucky mountains on a six weeks lecturing tour in the interest of the Grange.

Florence has two tickets in the field for trustees of the town, and a lively little contest will be waged from now until the election in November.

The RECORDER would like to comply with an "old subscribers" request but old subscriber's name was not signed to the article from Big Bone in regard to Rev. Nelson.

Drs. Paul, of Cincinnati, and Peddicord, operated on Mrs. Clarence Mitchell, last Friday. Mrs. Mitchell has been in poor health for some time, and the operation, it is hoped will restore her.

John Clore, of Hebron, has in his possession a lady's hand satchel that was found on the Harvest Home ground. It contains a lady's handkerchief and other articles. Owner can have same by proving property.

Ben Stephens, E. K. Tanner, Dr. Hafer and Chas. Tanner, trustees of Florence Graded School, were in town, last Friday on business pertaining to their school. They were in conference with Supt. Snyder.

If each farmer had dispatched as many spreading adders this year as farmer Kirb Tanner has killed, that repulsive reptile would about be extinct in this county. Mr. Tanner has killed about a dozen since the cropping season began.

Chas. Ragenbogen, of Hebron neighborhood, returned from Rovine, Texas, one day last week. His fever has ranged from 110 to 115 ever since he left Texas. He bought 160 acre block of the Lone Star State, and will move there.

Walton, Verona, Beaver and Petersburg voting precincts have pooled nearly all the tobacco grown therein this year. The growers there realize that to secure a good price for this year's crop a pool is necessary, and they are pooling on more favorable terms than heretofore.

Can You Find It?

There's a Missing Word.

There is a missing Word in this advertisement and there will be one in each of our ads. in this paper from now to November 24th. We have lots and lots of good things to tell you about this fall and in order to get as many to read our advertisements as possible we will give $5.00 in gold as stipulated below. Fill out the following coupon or make one like it and fill it out.

The missing word in Green's advertisement dated Sept. 22 is.....found between the words .....and.....

Name.....

Address.....

$5.00 in gold will be given for the largest number of correct answers to the eleven propositions and in case of a tie the money will be equally divided. All answers must be filed at our store within 10 days from the date of the coupon. It costs you nothing to submit your answers and in reading our advertisements you will be sure to keep posted as to the many bargains we are offering.

Last week's Coupons must be in our store within 10 days from the date of issue. Don't delay.

It's Easy to Find

Just What You Want

If You It at Green's.

New Dress Goods, New Tailor Made Suits, New Shirt Waists, New Skirts, New Cloaks. The Largest Assortment of Styles to select from and the Very Best Values we ever offered.

Special Cut Prices Now.

We would advise you to buy Muslins, Cantons, Cotton Batting, Blankets, Etc., NOW. They won't be any Cheaper—nuf ced.

Our New Rugs and Linoleums are here and our Low Prices will make you happy.

FILL OUT YOUR COUPONS

And when you want Dry Goods, Etc., remember

GREEN'S

Rising Sun, Indiana.

WE DON'T KNOW WHETHER

You Know It or Not

Our Customers help to bring the trade to us. They know they get satisfaction. They will tell you, no matter where you go, you'll never find better Clothing than those handled by us.

OUR LINE OF

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing

CAN NOT BE SURPASSED.

We have a large assortment to select from and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP. We have some nice

MEN'S SUITS at..... $5.00 and $7.50

Better Grades MEN'S SUITS..... $10.00 to $18.00

These include a great many high priced suits which we have reduced

BOYS' SUITS..... $4.00 to $10.00

We are giving especially great bargains in our Boys' Suits.

MEN'S PANTS... $1.00 to $5.00 CHILDREN'S SUITS... $1.25 to $5.00

Kindly visit our Store and you wilt be most favorably impressed with the bargains we are showing.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET.

Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

THE

Godman Shoes

Our large line of Godman Shoes just opened is now ready for you to make your selection. We sold a great many of these Shoes last winter and found they gave splendid wear. Come in and see them. We have all styles at prices to suit everyone.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

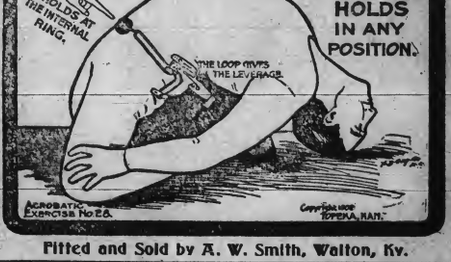
Accuracy—Promptness—Price.

We guarantee every lense we grind to be absolutely accurate and of the finest quality. We have all work ready when promised, and can grind lenses on our own machinery while you wait. We have only one price and do not charge Jones one price and Smith another for the same glasses. Have you tried us? Your neighbor has. Ask him.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.



IT GIVES THE BEST RESULTS.

LIGHT, ANATOMICALLY CORRECT

The "SMITHSONIAN" TRADE MARK.

TRUSS

HOLDS IN ANY POSITION

Fitted and Sold by A. W. Smith, Walton, Ky.

Don't Forget and See Our

NEW LINE OF

Tablets, Pencils And School Supplies,

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

¼ TO ½ BUTTER LOST THIS WAY

WHICH?

NO BUTTER LOST THIS WAY

Which way do you skim your milk? It is hard sometimes to realize just how great the loss of cream is with crocks and pans. Some people may not believe that a

U. S.

CREAM SEPARATOR

skims enough closer than the old way to increase their butter yield one-fourth or more. But it does, and there's a plain reason for it. When you set milk the cream and skim milk are separated from one another by the force of gravity, but when you skim milk with a U. S. Separator centrifugal force, which is thousands of times stronger than gravity, does the separating. It squeezes out the last drop of cream. Cream is money—you can't afford to waste it. If you keep three or more cows, it will pay you to buy a U. S. Separator. Come in and look one over, anyway. They are sold by

The Mersman Hwd. Co., Covington, Ky.

The Road to Success

has many obstructions, but none so desperate as poor health. Success to-day demands health, but Electric Bitters is the greatest health builder the world has ever known. It compels perfect action of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, purifies and enriches the blood, and tones and invigorates the whole system. Vigorous body and keen brain follow their use. You can't afford to slight Electric Bitters if weak, run down or sickly. Only 50c. Guaranteed at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

A case of smallpox developed in the Walton neighborhood, one day last week, and county Judge P. E. Cason was called on to have the patient, who is a colored man, looked after. There being no one at the county infirmary that is immune, and not knowing of any one that is, in whose charge the patient could be placed, Judge Cason communicated with the health authorities in Kenton county to get them to take charge of the case, but they refused. The judge finally succeded in getting the negro isolated and quarantined.

Take Your County paper.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT, 1908 BY A.C. MCCLURG & CO.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again.

CHAPTER VI.—Continued.

"How wide is it?" inquired Winthrope, gazing at his swollen hands.

"About 300 yards at high tide. May be narrower at ebb."

"Could you not build a raft?" suggested Miss Leslie.

Blake smiled at her simplicity. "Why not a boat? We've got a penknife."

"Well, then, I can swim."

"Bully for you! Guess, though, we'll try something else. The river is chuck full of alligators. What you waiting for, Pat? We haven't got all day to fool around here."

Winthrope twisted the creeper about his leg and slid to the ground, doing all he could to favor his hands. He found that he could walk without pain, and at once stepped over beside Blake's club, glancing nervously around at the jungle.

Blake jerked up the end of the creeper, and passed the loop about Miss Leslie. Before she had time to become frightened he swung her over and lowered her to the ground lightly [illegible] and stood for a moment beside her, staring at the dew-dripping foliage of the jungle. Then the remains of the night's quarry caught his eye, and he walked over to examine them.

"Say, Pat," he called, "these don't look like deer bones. I'd say—yes; there's the feet—it's a pig."

"Any tusks?" demanded Winthrope.

Miss Leslie looked away. A heap of bones, however cleanly gnawed, is not a pleasant sight. The skull of the animal seemed to be missing; but Blake stumbled upon it in a tuft of grass and kicked it out upon the open ground. Every shred of hide and gristle had been gnawed from it by the jackals; yet if there had been any doubt as to the creature's identity there was evidence to spare in the savage tusks which projected from the jaws.

"Jerusalem!" observed Blake; "this old boar must have been something of a scrapper his own self."

"In India they have been known to kill a tiger. Can you knock out the tusks?"

"What for?"

"Well, you said we had nothing for arrow points—"

"Good boy! We'll cinch them and ask questions later."

A few blows with the club loosened the tusks. Blake handed them over to Winthrope, together with the whisky flask, and led the way to the half-broken patch through the thicket. A free use of his club made the path a little more worthy of the name, and as there was less need of haste than on the previous evening, Winthrope and Miss Leslie came through with only a few fresh scratches. Once on open ground again, they soon gained the fallen palms.

At a word from Blake, Miss Leslie hastened to fetch nuts for Winthrope to husk and open. Blake, who had plucked three leaves from a fan palm near the edge of the jungle, began to split long shreds from one of the huge leaves of a cocoanut palm. This gave him a quantity of coarse, stiff fiber, part of which he twisted in a cord and used to tie one of the leaves of the fan palm over her head.

"How's that for a bonnet?" he demanded.

The improvised head-gear bore so grotesque a resemblance to a recent type of picture hat that Winthrope could not repress a derisive laugh. Miss Leslie, however, examined the hat and gave her opinion without a sign of amusement. "I think it is splendid, Mr. Blake. If we must go out in the sun again, it is just the thing to protect one."

"Yes. Here's two more I've fixed for you. Ready yet, Winthrope?"

The Englishman nodded, and the three sat down to their third feast of cocoanuts. They were hungry enough at the start, and Blake added no little keenness even to his own appetite by a grim joke on the slender prospects of the next meal, to the effect that if in the meantime not eaten themseives they might possibly find their next meal within a week.

"But if we must move, could we not take some of the nuts with us?" suggested Winthrope.

Blake pondered over this as he ate, and when fully satisfied he helped himself up with his club he motioned the others to remain seated.

"There are your hats and the strings," he said, "but you won't need them now. I'm going to take a prospect along the river, and while I'm gone, you can make a try at stringing nuts on some of this leaf fiber."

"But, Mr. Blake, do you think it's quite safe?" asked Miss Leslie, and she glanced from him to the jungle.

"Safe?" he repeated. "Well, nothing ate you yesterday, if that's anything to go by. It's all I know about it."

He did not wait for further protests. Swinging his club on his shoulder he started for the break in the jungle which marked the hippopotamus path. The others looked at each other, and Miss Leslie sighed. "If only he were a gentleman!" she complained.

Winthrope turned abruptly to the cocoanuts.

Stopped to Survey the Coast Beyond.

CHAPTER VII.

Around the Headland.

It was mid morning before Blake reappeared. He came from the mangrove swamp where it ran down into the sea. His trousers were smeared to the thigh with slimy mud; but as he approached the drooping brim of his palm-leaf hat failed to hide his exultant expression.

"Come on!" he called. "I've struck it. We'll be over in half an hour."

"How's that?" asked Winthrope.

"Bar," answered Blake, hurrying forward. "Sling on your hats and get into my coat again, Miss Jenny. The sun's hot as yesterday. How about the nuts?"

"Here they are. Three strings; all that I fancied we could carry," explained Winthrope.

"All right. The big one is mine, I suppose. I'll take two. We'll leave the other. Lean on me if your ankle is still weak."

"Thanks; I can make it alone. But must we go through mud like that?"

"Not on this side, at least. Come on! We don't want to miss the ebb."

Blake's impatience discouraged further inquiries. He had turned as he spoke, and the others followed him, walking close together. The pace was sharp for Winthrope, and his ankle soon began to twinge. He was compelled to accept Miss Leslie's invitation to take her arm. With her help he managed to keep within a few yards of Blake.

Instead of plunging into the mangrove wood, which here was undergrown with a thicket of giant ferns, Blake skirted around in the open until they came to the seashore. The tide was at its lowest, and he waved his club towards a long sand pit which curved out around the seaward edge of the mangroves. Whether this was part of the river's bar or had been heaped up by the cyclone would have been beyond Winthrope's knowledge had the question occurred to him. It was enough for him that the sand was smooth and hard as a race track.

Presently the party came to the end of the spit, where the river water rippled over the sand with the last feeble out-suck of the ebb. On their right they had a sweeping view of the river, around the flank of the mangrove screen. Blake halted at the edge of the water and half turned.

"Close up," he said. "It's shallow enough; but do you see those logs over on the mud-bank? Those are alligators."

"Mercy—and you expect me to wade among such creatures?" cried Miss Leslie.

"I went almost across an hour ago and they didn't bother me any. Come on! There's a wind in that cloud out seaward. Inside half an hour the surf'll be rolling up on this bar like all Niagara."

"If we must, we must, Miss Genevieve," urged Winthrope. "Step behind me and gather up your skirts. It's best to keep one's clothes dry in the tropics."

The girl blushed, and retained his arm.

"I prefer to help you," she replied. "Come on!" called Blake, and he splashed out into the water.

The others followed within arm's-length, nervously conscious of the rows of motionless reptiles on the mud-flat, not 100 yards distant.

In the center of the bar, where the water was a trifle over knee-deep, some large creature came darting downstream beneath the surface and passed with a violent swirl between Blake and his companions. At Miss Leslie's scream, Blake whirled about and jabbed with his club at the supposed alligator.

"Where's the brute? Has he got you?" he shouted.

"No, no; he went by!" gasped Winthrope. "There he is!"

A long bony snout, fringed on either side by a row of lateral teeth, was flung up into view.

"Sawfish!" said Blake, and he waded on across the bar without further comment.

Miss Leslie had been on the point of fainting. The tone of Blake's voice revived her instantly.

There were no more scares. A few minutes later they waded out upon a stretch of clean sand on the south of the river. Before them the beach lay in a flattened curve, which at the far end hooked sharply to the left and appeared to terminate at the foot of the towering limestone cliffs of the headland. A mile or more inland the river jungle edged in close to the cliffs; but from there to the beach the forest was separated from the wall of rock by a little sandy plain, covered with creeping plants and small palms. The greatest width of the open space was hardly more than a quarter of a mile.

Blake paused for a moment at high-tide mark, and Winthrope instantly squatted down to nurse his ankle.

"I say, Blake," he said, "can't you find me some kind of a crutch? It is only a few yards around to those trees."

"Good Lord! you haven't been fool enough to overstrain that ankle— Yes, you have. Dammit! why couldn't you tell me before?"

"It did not feel so painful in the water."

"I helped the best I could," interposed Miss Leslie. "I think if you could get Mr. Winthrope a crutch—"

"Crutch!" growled Blake. "How long do you think it would take me to wade through the mud? And look at that cloud! We're in for a squall. Here!"

He handed the girl the smaller string of cocoanuts, flung the other on the beach and stooped for Winthrope to mount his back. He then started off along the beach at a sharp trot. Miss Leslie followed as best she could, the heavy cocoanuts swinging about with every step and bruising her tender body.

The wind was coming faster than Blake had calculated. Before they had run 200 paces they heard the roar of rain-lashed water, and the squall struck them with a force that almost overthrew the girl. With the wind came torrents of rain that drove through their thickest garments and drenched them to the skin within the first half-minute.

Blake slackened his pace to a walk and plodded sullenly along beneath the driving downpour. He kept to the lower edge of the beach, where the sand was firmest, for the force of the falling deluge beat down the waves and held in check the breakers which the wind sought to roll up the beach.

The rain storm was at its height when they reached the foot of the cliffs. The gray rock towered above them 30 or 40 feet high. Blake deposited Winthrope upon a wet ledge and straightened up to scan the headland. Here and there ledges ran more than half-way up the rocky wall; in other places the crest was notched by deep clefts; but nowhere within sight did either offer a continuous path to the summit. Blake grunted with disgust.

"It'd take a fire ladder to get up this side," he said. "We'll have to try the other, if we can get around the point. I'm going on ahead. You can follow, after Pat has rested his ankle. Keep a sharp eye out for anything in the flint line—quartz or agate. That means fire. Another thing, when this rain blows over, don't let your clothes dry on you. I've got my hands full enough without having to nurse you through malarial fever. Don't forget the cocoanuts, and if I don't show up by noon save me some."

He stooped to drink from a pool in the rock which was overflowing with the cool, pure rainwater, and started off at his sharpest pace. Winthrope and Miss Leslie, seated side by side in dripping misery, watched him swing away through the rain without energy enough to call out a parting word.

Beneath the cliff the sand beach was succeeded by a talus of rocky debris which in places sloped up from the water 10 or 15 feet. The lower part of the slope consisted of bowlders and water-worn stones, over which the surf, reinforced by the rising tide, was beginning to break with an angry roar.

Blake picked his way quickly over the smaller stones near the top of the slope, now and then bending to snatch up a fragment that seemed to differ from the others. Finding nothing but limestone he soon turned his attention solely to the passage around the headland. Here he had expected to find the surf much heavier. But the shore was protected by a double line of reefs, so close in that channel between did not show a whitecap. This was fortunate, since in places the talus here sank down almost to the level of low tide. Even a moderate surf would have rendered farther progress impracticable.

Another 100 paces brought Blake to the second corner of the cliff, which jutted out in a little point. He clambered around it and stopped to survey the coast beyond. Within the last few minutes the squall had blown over and the rain began to moderate its downpour. The sun, bursting through the clouds, told that the storm was almost past, and its flood of direct light cleared the view.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Canal That Russia Needs.

Russia's ministry of ways and communications has appointed a board of engineers to make preliminary surveys for the long-projected canal to connect the Baltic with the Black sea. The canal, in the making of which several rivers will be turned to account, will have its northern end at Riga on the Gulf of Riga, 309 miles southwest of St. Petersburg, while the southern end will be Kherson, on the right bank of the Dnieper, and 92 miles east-northeast of Odessa. When this project is completed Russia may move her own ships to and from the Black sea without asking permission.

A Little Learning.

Earnest Female—Professor, I hear you are a great ornithologist.

Professor—I am an ornithologist, madam.

Earnest Female—Then could you kindly tell me the botanical name for a whale?

WESTERN CANADA

During the early days in the period of the growth of the grain crop in Western Canada, as well as throughout the ripening and garnering period, there is yearly growing an increasing interest throughout the United States, as to the results when harvest is completed. These mean much to the thousands of Americans who have made their homes in some of the three Provinces that form that vast agricultural domain, and are of considerable interest to the friends they have left behind.

The year 1909 is no disappointment. The crops of wheat, oats and barley have been harvested and it is now safe to speak of results. Careful estimates place the yield of spring wheat at 30 bushels per acre, winter wheat at over 40 bushels, and oats exceed 50 bushels per acre. Barley also has proved an abundant yield. What will attract the reading public more than volumes of figures will be the fact that those who have been induced through the influence of the Government to accept of 160 acres of free grant land; or, by the persuasion of friends to leave their home State of Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Nebraska or the other States from which people have gone, have done well. Financially, they are in a better position than many of them ever expected to be, and in the matter of health, in social conditions, they have lost nothing.

A Central Canada Farmer Finishing Cutting His 70-Acre Field of Wheat

One person who has just returned from a trip through the Lethbridge District, where winter wheat has a strong hold with farmers, says:

"We saw some magnificent sights. The crops were, in fact, all that could be desired."

In a few years from now these great plains over whose breadth for years roved hundreds of thousands of herds of cattle, following the millions of buffalo that once grazed their grasses, will be a solid grain field covering a territory of over 30,000 square miles, and very little of it but what will yet be worth from $40 to $60 per acre. Already the homestead and pre-emption lands are being well filled.

County School House

City Church in Central Canada

In the district of Calgary, south, east and north, which comprises Nanton, High River and other equally important districts, a correspondent of the Winnipeg (Manitoba) Free Press says: (Aug. 21) "The grain in this district is going to make some money for the farmers this year. All the crop is now crowding along and is good on hot irrigated and unirrigated lands."

There are to be found those who speak of a "pioneering" life in western Canada, but as one man said, "If this is pioneering I don't for the life of me see what our forefathers had to complain of." He didn't know, though, for the pioneering of his forefathers was discomfort and hardship. The opening up and development of western Canada, with its railroad lines to carry one to almost the uttermost part of it, the telegraph line to flash the news to the outside world, the telephone to talk to one's neighbor, the daily and weekly mail service which brings and carries letters to the friends in distant parts; the schools headed by college-bred and highly certificated teachers; the churches manned by brilliant divines; the clubs; the social and festive life; what is there about any of this to give to the man who goes there to make his home the credit of being a pioneer? Nothing! He might as well be in any of the old middle-west States. In other parts of [illegible] wheat [illegible] diminishing [illegible] therefore it is not [illegible] few years from now [illegible] world will be looking to [illegible] ada for its wheat supply, and [illegible] cially will the United States. In [illegible] parts of western Canada it is possible to have a hundred-mile square of wheat, without a break. A writer says: "We were driven west and north of Moose Jaw through 30 miles of dead ripe wheat, acres of stooks and well-worked summer-fallows. One of these fields would yield 40 bushels to the acre, and another man had oats that would yield 90 or 100 bushels to the acre. In this district wheat will average 30 to 35 bushels. The conditions were never better, and throughout the district the people are assured of a most prosperous year."

It would be unfair to close this article without quoting from an expert crop-correspondent regarding the two Battlefords in Central Saskatchewan, on the line of the Canadian Northern Railway. Writing on August 18th of this year, he says:

"It is necessary to drive about six or seven miles out of the town of North Battleford in order to see the best crops of the district. This morning I was driven about 30 miles to the north and west of the town and in all the drive did not see a poor crop. I saw one wheat crop which the owner estimates will yield 40 bushels per acre, and I believe it."

He then crossed the Saskatchewan river to the South town, or Battleford proper, and continues his report:

"Conditions around the old town are as good if not better than those in the north of the river. This district has much the best wheat crop prospect of any I have inspected this year, considering sample and yield. The weather conditions for the whole season have been ideal and the result is what might easily be termed a bumper crop. A sample sheaf brought in from the farm of George Truscott was shown to me which spoke for itself. This farmer is said to have sixty acres which will yield 45 bushels per acre.

In stating an average for the district of South Battleford I would say that the wheat will yield 36 bushels per acre. The oats will yield about 45 and barley 35 bushels per acre."

A correspondent summing up a trip over the Canadian Northern Railway, from Dauphin to Battleford, says:

"As I inspected the crops in the various districts I found the farmers and other citizens without exception filled with expectant enthusiasm over this year's prospects. No district was found which could not boast of fields of 25 bushels per acre wheat, or 50 to 60 bushels per acre oats, and of 40 bushels per acre of barley.

It is not an unusual thing in many parts of western Canada for a farmer to have 10,000 to 30,000 bushels of wheat. In the Rouleau district it is said that there are several farmers who will have 20,000 bushels of oats any many fields will return one hundred bushels to the acre.

It takes an army of men to handle the Western Canada crop, and it is estimated that 30,000 [illegible] have been brought in this year to assist in the great [illegible] there [illegible] along a [illegible] Canadian [illegible] every [illegible]

A Specimen Group of Elevators That May Be Seen in Many Towns in Central Canada

Backache, Dizziness and that constant feeling of dullness and tiredness will find hope in the advice of Mrs. Mary Hinson of 21 Brother St., Mt. Sterling, Ky. "Had I not used Doan's Kidney Pills, I believe I would not be living today," says Mrs. Hinson. "My eyesight was poor, I suffered with nervous, splitting headaches, spots would dance before my eyes and at times I would be so dizzy I would have to grasp something for support. My back was so weak and painful I could hardly bend over to button my shoes and could not get around without suffering severely. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first, and I continued until practically well again."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hypocrite in the Hereafter.

Dr. Madison C. Peters was discussing the question, "Will the coming man marry?" He instanced a certain type of bachelor.

"This man," he said, "is a hypocrite. He uses his religion as a cloak."

"And what will he do in the next world, eh?" said the reporter.

"Oh," said Dr. Peters, "he won't need any cloak there."

Itching Piles Permanently Cured by a Jar of Resinol Ointment.

About three weeks since I was suffering agony from itching piles, I got a sample jar of Resinol and after bathing with warm water and applying the Resinol, I was in a few days entirely relieved of the itching and believe I am permanently cured.

W. W. Evans, Carrollton, Ky.

Dodging Work.

"It's too hot to do housework," sighed the wife.

"I know it is."

"Let's go and spend a few days with the Browns at their summer cottage. They'll be tickled to death to have us."

Opportunism.

Knicker—I have ideas for a new political party, a new religion and a new diet.

Bocker—Better wait till the ball season is over.

Yes, He Made a Splurge.

"I suppose Newrich is making quite a splurge with his money."

"He did the day he backed his auto off the ferry boat."—Puck.

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna

Cleanses the System Effectually; Dispels colds and Headaches due to Constipation; Acts naturally, acts truly as a Laxative. Best for Men, Women and Children—Young and Old.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the Genuine,

manufactured by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS

one size only, regular price 50¢ per bottle.

A Natural Strength Giver

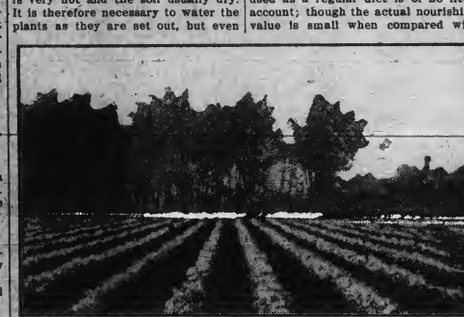
Ordinary tonics that merely supply food material and give artificial strength by stimulation are never lasting in their effects because they do not remove the cause of the ill health.

A "run down" condition is generally due to the failure of the digestive organs to properly digest the food.

DR. D. JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE

tones up the stomach and other digestive organs, and restores their normal, healthy condition. Then the digestive organs supply the body with its full share of nourishment, and in this way build up permanent health and strength.

Sold by all druggists 2 sizes, 50c and 35c.



Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant is an unequaled remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Croup.

SANDY LOAM REGARDED AS BEST FOR CELERY

Vegetable Has Become So Improved by Cultivation Is Delicious and Palatable—Transplanted in Summer Time.

Celery, which in its native state is a hardy biennial, has been so improved by cultivation that it has become a delicious and palatable vegetable. While it may be grown on any well-drained, fertile soil, a sandy loam will give best results for the following reasons: First, the quality of celery is superior to that grown on any other type of soil; second, the texture of the celery is firmer than that grown on muck soils, and therefore the shipping quality is better; third, when celery is grown on either clay or muck soil, neither of which dries out readily after rain, the land is too frequently injured by harvesting while the soil is wet. Celery that is grown on a sandy soil can be harvested several days earlier after a wet season than that grown on a clay or muck soil. This is an important point when one considers how much it might mean to the grower to have his crop delayed a few days in reaching the market and how seriously he might injure his soil by harvesting while the land is too wet. While this applies to any method of growing celery, it is especially true when the celery is blanched by banking with soil.

Celery is transplanted to the field during the summer months, when it is very hot and the soil usually dry. It is therefore necessary to water the plants as they are set out, but even though they are watered freely some of the plants will die if the weather remains dry and hot many days after the plants are transplanted.

A Promising Celery Crop After the First Banking with Earth.

When the plants are thinned in the seed bed those removed may be set in 2½-inch paper pots and, after shading for a few days, treated in the same way as the plants in the seed bed. They will probably require more frequent watering unless they are plunged half their depth in soil.

The tops of the plants in the seed bed and also those in pots should be clipped back to about half their length three weeks before transplanting to the field and watered sparingly the last week before transplanting. An hour before the plants are removed from the beds they should be watered freely, and those in paper pots may then be set in the field without further watering. The pots will be partially decayed and need not be removed from around the plants when set in the field. Plants treated as described above will hardly be checked in their growth by transplanting.

In order to guard against carrying disease from the plant bed to the field the plants should be thoroughly sprayed with Bordeaux mixture a few days before being removed from the plant beds. All dead and yellow leaves should be stripped from the plants after they are taken from the bed before they are carried to the field.

Late celery for winter use is blanched by soil. The plants are set in the field during July and early August, and the blanching is begun about the last of September. The celery is usually ready for use by the 20th of November, but will continue to grow rapidly during December and will usually need no protection until the last of that month, when it may be protected by covering entirely with soil or straw, or it may be stored in a suitable frame or trenched.

The medicinal value of celery when used as a regular diet is of no little account; though the actual nourishing value is small when compared with many other foods, it affords a variety and spice to the family meals that should not be overlooked; and as it can be had at a time of the year when vegetables are scarce and meat is consumed in larger quantities than it should be, it becomes a matter of no small import for the farmers of Michigan to see to it that the crop is properly looked after. It will pay, and though the production of the finest grade of celery is possible only where the highest skill is applied to the best soil and climatic conditions, yet the average farmer can grow the plant and secure an inexpensive supply of appetizing food for the fall and winter months.

WOLF RIVER APPLES POPULAR

Bring More Money Than Any Other Kind—Of Excellent Flavor and Keep Hard Long.

This is a picture of a basket of Wolf River apples. They are not popular with all growers, but on account of their fine appearance we last year received five cents a bushel more over all other kinds. They are smooth and of excellent flavor, but remain quite hard until after Christmas. We have frequently picked 12 bushels from a medium-sized tree.

Wolf River Apples.

The Wolf River apple was originated by Mr. Springer of Fremont, Wis. The trees remain remarkably free from disease and the ravages of insects. Severe cold does not affect them in the least and they grow with a dark green, luxuriant foliage.

The apples grow large, measuring on an average about twelve inches in circumference. They are of a beautiful red color, which makes them sell readily.

Renting on Shares.

A reader would like to know "what the owner of a farm, renting on shares, is required to furnish the one who rents." The question is not entirely clear, but it is presumed that the correspondent means working on shares instead of renting. In that case it is a common custom for the landowner to furnish the land and seed, and the other party to give the labor and manure. In some cases the cost of manure or fertilizer is shared equally. The income of the crop is equally divided.

GOATS USEFUL BRUSH EATERS

Successfully Demonstrated in California Where They Are Eating Trails For Fire Guards.

The brush-eating instinct of the Angora goat is being successfully demonstrated on the Lassen national forest in California, where they are cutting trails for fire guards through the brushy areas on the slopes of the mountains.

The animals, which number 3,000, have been divided into two bands, and under the care of the herders are grazed within certain well-defined areas so that their work may be concentrated on the brush within those limits. The result is that they have practically killed nearly all the brush in the course either by eating it up entirely, or by barking, as in the case of the heavy manzanita bushes. At the beginning of the experiment there was some doubt as to the goats' willingness to eat the manzanita, but it has been found that where there is little else they will just as readily attack it as any other bushes.

The grazing season was so late this year on the Lassen forest that the goats did not begin operations until about the middle of June, but since then they have made rapid progress and the result promises to be a success from every point of view. The trails will first be opened and then kept free of sprouts by the goats, saving the government considerable labor in cutting them out by hand, as has been done heretofore, while the brushy forage which otherwise would have been wasted will support 3,000 goats very comfortably.

Feed for the Sow.

Feed the sow lightly of heavy feeds for a week or more before and for the same time after farrowing so that she will not take on surplus fat and so that an early excess of milk will not be produced. When the pigs are about a week old, the feed may be increased gradually till the sow receives all she will eat. Let the feeds be of a kind that will produce milk. Exclude corn diet is not good for sows with litters.

COURSE FOR THE FULTON FLIGHTS

By Wilbur Wright May Take Him Over New York Skyscrapers—Denies Springfield Story.

New York.—Wilbur Wright, who during the Hudson-Fulton celebration, will doubtless make some of the most extraordinary aeroplane flights of his life, arrived from Dayton, O., early Sunday morning, looking over the starting grounds at Governor's island, expressed himself as well pleased with the arrangements and said he would be ready to begin preliminary flights the latter part of the week.

He did not say that he would fly over the tops of the skyscrapers to make belt-line circuits of the city, but he declared frankly that such flights were possible, and those in charge of the aeronautics program went a step further and asserted that he might be expected to do these very things.

Mr. Wright said the reports that he and his brother had purchased 700 acres of land near Springfield, O., and were about to erect a large manufacturing plant were unfounded.

WIFE SERIOUSLY ILL

And Reich, in a Fit of Despondency, Killed Mimself and His Son With Gas.

Chicago, Ill.—Despondent because of his wife's illness, John F. Reich, 35 years old, wrenched a gas fixture from the wall and ended his life and the life of his six-year-old son, Max Reich, by inhaling gas early Sunday. In the Michael Reese Hospital his widow, Mrs. Sadie Reich, lies in a serious condition, unaware of the death of her husband and son.

"Don't worry about this. It is for the best," wrote Reich in a letter to his wife before he ended his life.

Reich, who owns a confectionery store, told his wife in the letter to sell the store and get as much money as possible.

"I took the boy along for fear you will put him in a home, and you know he would not last long there," wrote Reich in explaining why he ended his son's life as well as his own.

To Save Wife From Eviction.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Pathetic letters, made public Sunday by the coroner's office, showed that William A. Jefferson, who died in the Presbyterian hospital Saturday from the effects of poison taken the night before, committed suicide so that his lodge insurance would save his sick wife from being evicted from her home for nonpayment of rent. One letter told this fact to his wife and directed her to provide the cheapest funeral possible so she would have some money left.

Arrested for Alleged Shortage.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Stella Jones, a buxom and beautiful cashier of the Ohio and Pittsburg Milk Co. at Braddock, Pa., is locked up in the Pittsburg police station, charged with stealing $8,000 from her employers. Her alleged intended husband, G. W. Esler, is locked up as a suspicious person. It being alleged by the police that Esler, who has quite a record, hypnotized the girl and made her steal the money to give him.

Ran Over Six-Year-Old Boy.

Berlin.—While the German crown prince was automobiling through the village of Herzfeld he ran over a six year-old boy, fracturing his skull. The youngster had been hanging on the tail of a wagon. He jumped off and attempted to run across the street, but fell in front of the car.

Big Lumber Plant Burned.

Texarkana, Ark.—The National Lumber and Creosoting Co.'s plant, near here, was totally destroyed by fire, together with about $25,000 worth of stock, Sunday. The total loss is estimated at $90,000, of which about $75,000 is covered by insurance. The plant will be rebuilt at once.

Prominent Dentist Drowned.

Racine, Wis.—Dr. Joseph Wassail, 48 years old, a prominent dentist of Lake Forest, Ill., was lost overboard from the two-mast yacht Mistral, of Chicago, six miles off North Point, Saturday night, and was drowned, the body not being recovered.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Sept. 18.—Cattle—Extra, $5.40@6.50. Calves—Extra, $8.75@9. Hogs—Choice, $8.20@8.30. Sheep—Extra, $4.25@4.40. Lambs—Extra, $7.25@7.35. Flour—Spring patent, $6.40@6.65. Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.10@1.12. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 71½c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 40c. Rye—No. 2 choice, 72@74c. Hay—Choice timothy, $14.50@15. Butter—Dairy, 23c. Eggs—Per doz., 23½c. Apples—Choice, $1.50@3.50. Potatoes—Per brl., $1.75@2. Tobacco—Burley, $10.25@19.25.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.08@1.10½. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 68⅝@69c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 37⅝c. Pork—Prime mess, $23.95@24. Lard—Prime, $12.

Louisville, Sept. 18.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.10@1.12. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 72c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 39½c. Hay—Choice timothy, $14.50. Hogs—Extra, $8.30. Lard—Prime, $12.

Indianapolis, Sept. 18.—Cattle—Prime, $6.25@6.30. Hogs—Extra, $8.25@8.40. Sheep—Extra, $4.25@4.35.

CHEAP LANDS

In Osage County, Oklahoma, Best Reached

Via the Midland Valley R. R. Restrictions removed from one million acres. Also ten million acres in Eastern Okla. The Midland Valley R. R. runs thro the eastern part of the new state from Ft. Smith, Ark., to Arkansas City, Kas., thro Muskogee, Tulsa and Pawhuska. Ask your nearest Ry. agent how to get there or write General Passenger Agent, Midland Valley R. R., Muskogee, Oklahoma, for information.

MISSED IT.

Aunt—Well, Johnny, I suppose you had a nice sojourn in the country?"

Johnny—Um, well, I had lots of nice apples an' peaches an' watermelons an' things, but I guess them sojourn things wasn't ripe yet.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Its Troubles.

The family skeleton complained.

"I wouldn't mind being exhibited once in awhile," said the skeleton, articulating with difficulty through its set teeth, "but they air me so frequently in the courtroom, where the air is always notoriously bad."

But who ever thinks of looking at such exhibitions from the family skel-

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right Starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the beauty and fineness of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using Defiance Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

Big Berlin Philanthropy.

More than 50,000 children were enabled by the authorities of Berlin to spend this summer on land within easy reach of the city limits. They were assigned plots where they could play and cultivate gardens profitably with the help of their families and the advice of public instructors.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

No Shape in It.

"Did she leave her business in good shape?"

"No; she couldn't. There is no shape in her business. She's a fashionable dressmaker."

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER CURE

For DISTEMPER Pink Eye, Epizootic Shipping Fever & Catarrhal Fever

Sure cure and positive preventive, no matter how horses at stay are infected or "exposed." Liquid, given on the tongue; acts on the Blood and Glands; expels the poisons through the skin. Cures Roup in Dogs and Sheep and Cholera in Poultry. Largest selling live stock remedy. Cures La Grippe among human beings in 24 hrs. Distemper cures in one dose. 50 cts. and $1 a bottle, $5 and $10 a dozen. Of druggists. Keep it. Show to your druggist, who will get it for you. Free Booklet, "Distemper, Causes and Cures." Special agents wanted.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Chemists and Bacteriologists GOSHEN, IND., U. S. A.

Opening of Cheyenne River Indian Reservation

(2,800,000 Acres)

Register for a free homestead October 4th to 23rd. The Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington has designated

Le Beau and Aberdeen, S. Dak.

as registration points. These cities are reached best by the Iowa Central Ry. and

The Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R.

Le Beau is the Gateway to the Reservation and the only registration point where the lands can be seen from the town.

The country is fertile and well watered—the equal in all respects of land a few miles east that sells for $25.00 per acre.

Frequent trains and low fares. Full information on request.

For rates, etc., write or ask any agent of the Iowa Central or Minneapolis & St. Louis R. R. or

A. B. CUTTS, General Passenger and Ticket Agent
Minneapolis, Minnesota

YOU'LL feel better for work, play or rest if you eat Quaker Oats at least once a day.

This Trade-mark Eliminates All Uncertainty

in the purchase of paint materials. It is an absolute guarantee of purity and quality. For your own protection, see that it is on the side of every keg of white lead you buy.

NATIONAL LEAD COMPANY
1902 Trinity Building, New York

Big Assets

Four hundred thousand people take a CASCARET every night—and rise up in the morning and call them blessed. If you don't belong to this great crowd of CASCARET takers you are missing the greatest asset of your life. 910

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Buy Bulbs Direct from Importers

Save the Difference

Crocus 10c per dozen
Tulips 20c per dozen
Narcissus 20c per dozen
Hyacinths 60c per dozen

Our Cultural Book—Fall Planting of Bulbs—FREE on request.

Meier & Shoemaker
Dept. A, 406 Sycamore St., Cincinnati, Ohio

DYOLA DYES

ONE DYE FOR ALL GOODS

16 fast, brilliant colors. 10c per package at dealers. If not in stock send 10c stating color desired and name will be sent with direction book and color card. DY-O-LA, Burlington, Vt.

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Key Checks, Trade Checks, etc. Full line stamp and stencil goods. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest mail box. The Tammen Manufacturing Co.

DEFIANCE STARCH 16 ounces 1 lb. the package—other starches only 12 ounces—same price and "DEFIANCE" IS SUPERIOR QUALITY.

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 39-1909.

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Readers, leave items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton State Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Rev. J. W. Rogers spent Saturday at Lawrenceville addressing the Odd-Fellows.

W. T. Black spent part of last week in Louisville relative to some telephone business.

J. C. Hughes, wife and daughter, passed through here Friday last enroute to the State fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Seehrest, of Ludlow, spent part of last week here with relatives and friends.

D. B. Wallace and Owen Watts spent last week at Birmingham, Ala., with a view to investing some of their surplus in some mining property there.

G. L. Miller, of Big Bone, has returned home after a full week's stay at the State fair, bringing with him two premium winners of the Polled Durham class, to add to his herd.

O. C. Peters and wife, of Blacksburg, Virginia, and Miss Ada Hudson, of St. Albans, West Virginia, were visitors here last week to their nephew, Dr. Harry W. Hamilton, and are now visiting relatives at Verona.

Hon. M. D. Gray and Judge W. T. Simmons, of Williamstown, and Melvin Crammer, of near Cordova, were visitors here one day last week, the two first enroute to Carrollton to attend circuit court, having some litigation before the court, and Judge Simmons going to Louisville to attend the State fair.

The funeral of our late beloved citizen, John Watson, held at the Walton Christian church Sept. 14th, was very largely attended, there being over 300 people in attendance. Among the relatives from a distance were the following: Mrs. Nannie Vest, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Menefee, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Swetnam and daughter Miss Jessie all of Covington; Misses Blanche and Mary Dyas, of Bellevue; Mr. and Mrs. Watson Dyas, of Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Cland Harris, of Latonia; Mrs. Mabel Blackburn, of Petersburg, and Samuel Watson, of Rushville, Indiana.

Deputy Sheriff Cropper was engaged on detective work several days last week, assisted part of the time by detective Wm. Sandford, of Covington. Developments were such that John Ransler felt justified in making an affidavit charging his neighbor, Mrs. Edith McAvoy with the burning of his house on Monday night of last week, consequently Mrs. McAvoy was arrested and brought to Burlington, Friday evening, where she was kept under guard until Saturday afternoon, when she executed bond in the sum of $1,000 for her appearance at her examining trial, which will be before County Judge Cason in Burlington next Friday at 10 o'clock. The bond was signed by Mr. Bufeber, one of the firm of Graziana & Bufener, of Covington, and who are Mrs. McAvoy's attorneys. The Richwood neighborhood is considerably worked up yet over the destruction of Mr. Ransler's residence, and the citizens are determined that the guilty part, whoever it may be, shall receive the penalty prescribed for the offense when guilt is once established. Mrs. McAvoy protests her innocense.

In another column appears the announcement of Judge John M. Lassing as a candidte for renominee for election to the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals from this Appellate District. The primary election has been called for the regular election day in next November, which is one year in advance of the date of the regular election at which the nominee will be voted for. At present it looks very much as though Judge Lassing will have no opposition, in which event the primary will be called off at the proper time and the Judge declared the party's nominee by the proper authority. That the Judge has measured up in ability with any of the other members of the court is recognized the State over, which fact with his affabilitity, has made him well nigh invincible especially in his district, from which his return to the bench is just about a foregone conclusion.

W. P. (Buddie) Cropper, of North Bend neighborhood, got the fingers on his left hand badly mangled last Saturday while operating a corn cutter. An ear of corn was about to drop into a system of cog wheels, when he grabbed at it and the cogs caught his fingers, cutting one off, breaking one, and mashing the other two badly. His son-in-law, Dr. Carlton Crisler, of Ludlow, was called and dressed the injury, and Mr. Cropper is getting along as well as could be expected.

Mont Slayback, Ray Conner, Ed Sandford and Sebe Berkshire, a quartette of Boone county's best ball players went to Rising Sun, Sunday, and assisted the team there to wipe up the earth with an aggregation of sluggers from the Bark Works. The score was 6 to 1 in favor of Rising Sun, and that the Kentuckians cut a considerable figure in the big victory is evident from the fact that with Slayback behind the bat Conner struck out 17 men.

Five women tramps, a boy, two dilapidated horses and a small dog passed through Burlington Sunday morning after having spent the night on the roadside near the toll gate out on the Florence pike. They were inquiring for the road to Rabbit Hash, but said they were on their way to Tennessee. They were doing some begging as a side line.

Notice of Application for Pardon.

Notice of application for pardon of Charles Robinson who was convicted of horse stealing in the Circuit Court of Boone County, Ky., at the April term of said court, 1909, will ask the Governor for pardon, and all who will favor the Governor, and desire to say anything in connection therewith will call on or address

ALEX ROBINSON.

Program of the Farmers' Institute

To be held for this county at Walton on Wednesday and Thursday, September 29th and 30th, 1909:

9:30 A. M.

Called to order by the Director, John G. Blair, Carlisle, Kentucky.
Invocation.....Rev. J. B. Harris
Welcome Address.....J. G. Tomlin
Response.....
Hon. H. C. Rankin, Commissioner of Agriculture.
Alfalfa and how to grow it
.....John G. Blair
My experience with Alfalfa in Boone county.....Chas. C. Sleet
Open discussion by Institute.
Adjourn for noon.

1:30 P. M.

Restoration and Reclamation of worn out soil
W. D. Nichols, Bloomfield, Ketucky
Questions asked and answered by the Institute.
Sheep—Does it pay to raise them—
.....R. O. Hughes, Richwood
My choice of Hogs, and why
.....J. C. Bedinger, Richwood
The profit in Hogs...Jas. W. Cleek
How to keep the Boys on the Farm
.....John G. Blair
Some Needs of Kentucky Dairymen
.....W. D. Nichols

NIGHT SESSION.

Music—Directed by Dr. J. J. Slater
Recitation.....Miss Kate Bentz
Lecture—The Little Things of Life
.....W. D. Nichols
Music.

Thursday, Sept. 30th—9:30 a. m.

Called to order by Director Blair.
Invocation.....Rev. J. W. Rogers
The Object of the Farmers' Institute
.....D. B. Wallace
The kind of Book Farming that does not pay.....W. D. Nichols
Should Agriculture be taught in the Common Schools..Prof. C. C. Morgan
Farm Sanitation—Is it necessary—Why.....Dr. B. K. Menifee
Corn and Wheat Culture, Preparation of Soil, Selection of Seed, etc.
.....John Blair
Adjourn for noon.

1:30 P. M.

The outlook for Agriculture in Boone County.....J. L. Vest
Why vote for the Boswort-Wyatt Constitutional Amendment
.....John G. Blair and J. G. Tomlin
Profit in Poultry raising
.....
Open discussion by Institute.
Horses—the class to raise for profit
.....W. Lee Gaines
The care of a farm W. M. Whitson
The Attractive Features of a Comfortable Farm Home W. B. Nichols
Open discussion by Institute.

I have left a few Rhode Island Red cockerels for sale. J. C. REVILL.

For Sale—Two No. 1 fresh milk cows. Apply to Asa McMullen, near Burlington.

H. G. Gaines has begun to break his Dandy Jim colt to harness. So far it has cut no shines.

Boone County Pomona Garange will meet with Excelsior Grange, Saturday, Sept. 25th,
LILLIE HAMMON, Secretary.

Young people from far and near congregated at Owen Beemon's, down on Woolper creek, last Saturday night, where they were entertained in a most delightful manner.

Colored people in large numbers flocked to Burlington, Sunday, from the four points of the compass, the occasion being a basket meeting. Several came down from Covington in fine style, but not quite up to that of the autoists.

In renewing his subscription Rev. John L. Presser, of Hallsville, Missouri, writes:

"Weather at present is fine and crops abundant. Signs of prosperity are on every hand, due to the goodness of God in sending abundance of rain and not to the g. o. p. May God bless the people of old Boone county for they cannot be excelled. Best wishes for the 'RECORDER and its force."

Jeff Williamson, a popular old bachelor of Waterloo neighborhood, was in Burlington, yesterday, straightening up his business affairs preparatory to embarking for the sunny south on a house boat in company with three or four others who expect to make the trip. He anticipates a gay time on the way down to New Orleans, where the party may strike for the wild and woolly west in search of some place in which to invest their surplus funds.

The citizens of Constance were thrown into a fever of excitement, Monday afternoon, by an attempt at suicide by a young man named Eldrich, and whose home is in Covington. Young Eldrich tried to shoot himself in the heart, but succeeded only in producing a flesh wound. That he had fully determined to shuffle off the mortal coil is evident from the fact that he made three or four efforts to shoot himself after the first shot was fired, but his pistol failed to explode. It is said by some that his love affairs were not proceeding smoothly, and it was this that prompted his effort at suicide.

Night on Bald Mountain.

On a lonely night Alex. Benton of Fort Edward, N. Y., climbed Bald Mountain to the home of a neighbor, tortured by Asthma, bent on curing him with Dr. King's New Discovery, that had cured himself of asthma. This wonderful medicine soon relieved and quickly cured his neighbor. Later it cured his son's wife of a severe lung trouble. Millions believe its the greatest Throat and Lung cure on earth. Coughs, Colds, Croup, Hemorrhages and Sore Lungs are surely cured by it. Best for Hay Fever, Grip and Whooping Cough. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Genuine Diamond Rings at $5.75.

No—Diamonds are not going down, just a special Ten Dollar Ring at Five Seventy Five, others at $15.00, $20.00, $25.00 up to $50.00 that are exceptional Bargains.

Next time you come by see them.

MOTCH,
The Old Reliable Jeweler,
613 Madison Ave.
Covington, Ky.

Young Girls

Just entering into womanhood, often suffer much pain and misery during the change of their physical organization. Many women will tell you their female trouble started during that trying period, and has clung to them ever since.

Cardui is a friend to young girls, as well as to women of all ages. It has been found to help women during their trying periods by relieving pain and restoring disordered organs to health.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. Mary Hudson, Eastman, Miss., writes: "While staying with me and going to school, my young sister was in terrible misery. I got her to take a few doses of CARDUI and it helped her [illegible]

"I have taken Cardui myself and believe I would have been under the clay had it not been for that wonderful medicine."

Try Cardui. It will help you. For sale everywhere.

E 48

NOTICE, TAX-PAYERS.

The Taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the places and on the dates named below to collect 1909 taxes:

Beaver, July 12th and October 11th.
Verona, July 13th and October 12th.
Walton, July 14th and October 13th.
Bullittsville, July 15th and Oct. 21st.
Constance, July 16th and October 8th.
Union, July 19th and October 18th.
Big Bone, July 20th and October 19th.
Petersburg, July 22d and October 15th.
Bellevue, July 23d and October 14th.
Florence, July 26th and October 20th.
Rabbit Hash, July 27th and Oct. 7th.
Hebron, October 22d.
Gunpowder, October 25th.
Richwood, October 26th.

Rates—State, 50c; County, 25c; School, 15c on the $100.

Poll-Tax—County, $1.50; School, 50c; Dog Tax: $1.00.

All unpaid taxes become delinquent after November 30th. 6 per cent penalty, due county and state, added December 1st on all delinquent taxes; 6 per cent commission in addition to penalty is allowed Sheriff for collecting delinquent taxes. Cost of levying, 60c; advertising: $1.00. Delinquent Taxes bear 6 per cent interest from Nov. 30th until paid.

M. F. WINGATE,
Sheriff Boone County.

Farm for Sale.

My 113 acre farm on the Ohio river adjoining the town of McVille, Boone county, Ky. On this farm are two good dwellings a good barn and other necessary outbuildings and it will produce anything that will grow in this climate. If this farm is not sold by the first of Feby., 1910, I will rent it for one year for money rent. and give rentor privilege to purchase it at the end of the year, or will rent it for part of the crop, the rentor to give good reference as to him being a neat, industrious farmer. If sold terms will be easy. Possession given March 1, 1910. For further particulars call on or address

S. D. RICE, Grant, Ky.

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.

JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

J. M. Craven, the Limaburg breeder of Hampshire hogs, has been notified by the management of the Illinois State fair of his selection by them as an expert judge of Hampshire hogs at their fair which takes place next month. Mr. Craven has accepted the appointment, and will be on hand at the proper time to designate the premium animals among the Hampshire swine.

The RECORDER has, in a manner, been out of doors for several days, but it hopes to be straightened out entirely and in 1st new press room by next publication day.

James Rogers, of Belluview, passed through town, yesterday, with a load of watermelons, headed towards Florence.

The work of organizing the

Citizens National Life Insurance Company

Will continue; but it is not necessary to further publish the subscriptions made each week. This record of subscriptions tells its own story.

First Week, August 2
$106,960.00
Total Second Week, August 9,
$200,240.00
Total Third Week, August 16,
$345,000.00
Total Fourth Week, August 23,
$469,460.00
Tatal Fifth Week, August 30,
$601,700.00
Total Sixth week, September 6,
$738,220.00.
Total Seventh Week, September 13,
$834,660.00
Eighth Week Over
$1,000,000

Tartaric Acid
5c oz.
for Canning Corn.
Geo. C. Goode, Agt
Pike & Washington,
Covington, Kentucky.

J. Bullock & Son,
PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.
Our Spring and Summer samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices.
All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.
J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

FOR RENT.

125 acre farm on Woolper, Boone county, Ky., about 20 acres for wheat, 25 acres for corn, 4 acres for tobacco, balance in grass and timber. Good 7-room house, cistern, orchard and all necessary outbuildings, 3 tobacco barns. Terms cash first of March. Call on or address C. J. SEBREE, 207 Miami Ave., Cleves, Ohio. sept-8

NOTICE.

Having sold my office and outfit to Dr. Carlyle, I expect to leave in a few weeks, and will appreciate it if those indebted to me will call and adjust same as early as [illegible] 1909.

Very [illegible]
Y. FRANK [illegible]

FARM FOR SALE.

140 acres, 2½ miles from Burlington, Ky., on which there is a frame house of 6 rooms and porch, tenant house, 2 barns, all necessary outbuildings, 8 cisterns and well, 7 never-failing springs, large pond, orchard and timber. All in grass except 18 acres in cultivation; all under good fence—good dairy farm; ½ mile to good school. For further information call on or address

JAMES WILLIAM UTZ,
R. R. 1, Florence, Ky.
Phone 64, Bell connection.

FOR SALE.

Two vacant lots in town of Walton, Boone County, Ky., situated on north side of Main St. Address, Mrs. Virginia Bates CHRISTY, [illegible] Chicago, Ill.

Take Dr. Shoop's

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875.
Subscription $1.50 year.
Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 6, 1909. NO 51.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

IDLEWILD.

Oct. 2.—What herb is most injurious to ladies beauty? Thyme.

Ezra Aylor, of Petersburg, hanled the last load of melons of the season, Saturday.

James Duncan, of Burlington, spent last Sunday with T. C. Willis, of Bullittsburg.

Wm. Hall, of Gaines Heights, sold to John Feeley of Weneeda, a nice young colt for $50.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, of Gaines Heights, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Feeley, of Weneeda.

Milton Gaines, of Pushburg, went to Idlewild, Monday morning, the first time he has been away from home since his sickness.

It was a parasol instead of an umbrella that Miss Sullivan lost the last day of the Baptist association at Bullittsburg. It has not yet been heard from.

Mrs. James Day, of Bullittsburg, who was visiting her sister in Georgetown last week, returned home Sunday and reported a nice and pleasant visit.

If the frost, Monday night, didn't hurt the tomatoes and will stay off a week longer, the Corcoran Bros., will have furnished the cannery at Petersburg about 700 bushels.

We received a few days since bills for distribution of Dr. Burkhardt's combination sale of trotting horses and mules. The bills were not received in time for insertion in last week's issue of the RECORDER as [illegible]

Mr. and Mrs. John Rieser, of Cincinnati, are visiting relatives in this vicinity.

THE RECORDER.
W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.
BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

Latest News of Interest Boiled Down for the Busy Man.

PERSONAL.

Robert S. Person, auditor for the interior department, has resigned. He asserts the senators from South Dakota have been working for his removal and that he doesn't wish to further embarrass the president.

President Taft, at Seattle exposition, in his speech said he would ask congress to pass a ship subsidy law.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan celebrated their silver wedding anniversary with a big reception at their home at Lincoln, Neb.

Dr. Harry E. Hutchins has been appointed temporary president of the University of Michigan at a salary of $7,000 a year.

War Secretary Dickinson is back in Washington after an extended vacation in the south. He said the department had reached no conclusion on the West Point hazing case.

Huntington Wilson, assistant secretary of state, has been threatened with another attack of appendicitis, but Washington reports say an operation will not be necessary.

Helen Keller, the deaf, dumb and blind marvel, is to make an airship flight with Charles J. Glidden of Boston and will record her sensations in the air.

GENERAL NOTES.

Prof. Jerome H. Raymond assumed the presidency of the municipally owned Toledo university, Toledo, O., and Prof. Harry B. Hutchins became acting president of the University of Michigan, the resignation of Dr. James B. Angell going into effect.

In the Long Island automobile derby, while running 65 miles an hour, a 60-horse power machine overturned, killing Mechanician James Bates and seriously injuring Driver Herbert Lytle.

The south is honoring the memory of Admiral Raphael Semmes, the naval hero of the confederacy, this being the one hundredth anniversary of his birth.

A romance in the wake of the Louisiana storm became known. A young woman of Leesville, La., lost her trousseau in the storm, and appeared at the altar in improvised attire, while the groom met her bare-footed, with his garments misfits.

D. J. Vent, one of the striking train dispatchers of the Mexican National railroad, who is now seeking employment in the United States, has fallen heir to $600,000 in Scotland.

A torchlight procession of 5,000 persons was a feature of a demonstration for Gen. Trevino given in Monterey, Mexico.

The National League of Veterans and Sons, organized two years ago to benefit men who have served in the regular army or National Guard and their sons, met in annual session at Bay City, Mich.

One thousand children, terrified by "Black Hand" stories, became panic-stricken in a Jersey City (N. J.) parochial school when they heard fireworks exploding on the outside. One child was fatally injured and 13 others more or less hurt.

Six survivors of an unknown vessel are aboard Winter Quarter lightship, the remaining 12 men of the crew having perished, according to a report made by Capt. Delano of the steamer Porto Rico which arrived at Baltimore from New York.

Sam Yong Ping, an aged Malay and one of the wealthiest fishermen on the Louisiana coast, hanged himself by his feet from a tree near his home on Paratana bay. He is supposed to have been crazed by the recent storm.

Passengers on some of the Omaha street cars drove off the crews and ran the cars themselves, when the motormen refused to start after the fares were collected. The crews sent in a riot call.

Another dissolution of the Finnish senate is imminent as a result of the clash over Finland's contribution to the Russian defense fund. The Russian cabinet asks $4,000,000 from Finland; the Finns will contribute only $2,000,000.

President Taft visited the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle, Wash., and was the center of interest for the great crowds at the fair.

The meeting between Presidents Taft and Diaz will be a strictly international affair, according to the official program just issued.

Two million people viewed the big Hudson-Fulton parade at New York. Twenty thousand men were in line.

The street car service in Omaha and Council Bluffs was almost normal following the strike. The Omaha city [illegible] has refused to arbitrate.

A Spanish force reconnoitering in the direction of Sokel Jemia, Morocco, encountered the Moors and met with a serious reverse. Four officers and 14 men were killed and 182 men wounded

Gifford Pinchot just returned to Washington from a western trip says that a trust is being formed to monopolize the water power sites of the country and declares congress must take drastic measures to throttle the combination.

A Mexican gunboat has seized an American fishing schooner off Progreso, Mexico, and placed the crew of seven in prison.

Commander Peary and his ship, Roosevelt, was given a grand welcome when they participated in the naval pageant from New York to Newburgh.

Census agents will be given a qualification test November 3 according to the announcement made by Census Director Durand.

Prince Miguel of Braganza, who married Miss Anita Stewart of New York at Tulloch castle, Dingwall, Scotland, September 15, has been sued by a Vienna money lender for $1,200.

The principal commercial apple orchards of the country are doomed to become infested with the San Jose scale, according to a bulletin published by the department of agriculture at Washington. The scale is spreading rapidly over vast areas and has made its appearance in orchards which until recently were free from its ravages.

Admiral Le Pord, in command of the French battleships at the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York, has made public a statement that an ensign of the French navy was assaulted by a policeman, who struck him in the face at one of the elevated stations.

William Mitchell, white, convicted of murder, and Cecil Palmer, colored, convicted of attacking a woman, were hanged at Nashville, Tenn. These were the first executions under the new law, which provides that all executions must be carried out at the state prison.

The sixteenth annual convention of the United Boys Brigade of America opened in Pittsburg. Young men representing brigades in every state in the union are in attendance.

Secretary Dickinson sustains Gen. Frederick D. Grant in participating in a parade in Chicago last week saying the officer acted as an individual, which he has a perfect right to do.

Twenty-five thousand men were in line and 2,000,000 witnessed New York's great military parade which was the climax of the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

William Armstrong of Quincy, Ill., was killed and his brother, Harold, and Archie Johnson were seriously injured when their automobile in which they were riding was hit by a train at Buda, Ill.

The steamer Roosevelt, which carried Commander Peary to the arctic regions, is in New York harbor and will participate in the Hudson-Fulton naval parade up the Hudson river.

State Supreme Justice W. J. Gaynor was nominated by the Democrats for mayor of Greater New York.

Two armed bandits looted the Citizens' National bank of Glenwood Springs, Col., of $10,000 in a most spectacular manner and escaped to the mountains.

New York had a spectacular fire when the Dunham chocolate plant in Pearl street was damaged $200,000.

Rear Admiral Schley, retired, has canceled all his engagements in New York on account of his health and will return to Washington and seclusion.

The seventieth session of the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church opened in Rockford, Ill., with Bishop Goodsell of New York presiding.

Gen. Grant, at Washington, declares he will continue to lead parades that stand for law and order until prohibited. This is in reply to criticisms for his participation in Chicago's temperance parade.

Col. W. R. Morrison, former congressman, is dead at his home in Waterloo, Ill., after a protracted illness.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook was given a magnificent reception at Philadelphia, at which city he delivered a lecture.

Thomas Gray, 19 years old, walked the streets of New York two hours after he had been shot near the heart, fearing his father would not believe his story. He went to bed without telling of his injury, but his mother saw his blood-stained garments and he was aroused and walked a mile to Bellevue hospital with his father. The shot may prove fatal.

A Paris jury decided that Edward Baudin was justified in killing his wife at her request to end her suffering. The woman was a victim of asthma and the disease was strangling her.

Mrs. Linda Baldwin, who says she doesn't know how old she is, but who is supposed to be over 100, is detained at Ellis island, New York. She lived 60 years in Brooklyn and returned from Ireland to look after some property.

Taking of the testimony for the defense in the suit of the state to oust the International Harvester Company for alleged violation of the Missouri anti-trust law began in St. Louis.

Hunter Harry Whitney, who has arrived at St. Johns, N. F., from Labrador says he believes both Cook and Peary reached the pole and sees no reason why the latter should doubt Cook's claim.

President Taft, properly clothed, descended 1,200 feet into the famous Leonard copper mine at Butte, Mont. He expressed himself [illegible] lighted with the [illegible]

CENTENNIAL WEEK OPENS AT ST. LOUIS

Balloon and Aeroplane Races Will Be Feature of Events—Pageant Will Be Most Gorgeous.

St. Louis, Mo.—Fifteen thousand enthusiastic and curious persons tried to board the tiny torpedo boats at the same time Sunday afternoon. The boats would not hold them, and part of the overflow, numbering 153, were pushed into the Mississippi to be drawn ashore by the police, jackies and other members of the crowd. Others were trampled under foot when two squads of police reserve charged the crowd to drive it back from the boats.

The torpedo flotilla, the first of the official guests at St. Louis' hundredth birthday party, anchored at the levee Saturday afternoon, and were open to the public Sunday afternoon. A small squad of police was stationed at the wharfboat to which the warships were anchored to keep the visitors in line.

Centennial week was inaugurated Sunday at 6 a. m. by blowing of whistles and ringing of church bells. Services in the churches were devoted to centennial themes. Sunday afternoon 15,000 children assembled in the Coliseum and sang patriotic and religious songs.

The aero grounds drew many thousands, who viewed the airships and balloons which were made ready for Monday's races.

The first race will be for balloons of 40,000 cubic feet capacity, and the second race for balloons of 80,000 cubic feet capacity.

His Mysterious Majestey the Veiled Prophet will this year crown his queen in a new palace. The Merchant's exchange, large enough in previous years—even the World's fair year—to accommodate the guests of this queer old man, has been abandoned for the recently completed Coliseum.

The pageant of the Veiled Prophet and his retinue on the night of October 5, through the downtown streets from the "Den," where the floats are secretly made, to his new palace, will be the most gorgeous in history.

The crowning of the queen is the pageant's brilliant climax. The queen invariably is one of the young and beautiful society girls of the city.

COLUMNS OF FIRE SHOT OUT

Following Gas Explosion, and Cut Off Miners From Escape—At Least 8 Were Killed and 3 Injured.

Roslyn, Wash.—At least eight men were killed and three persons fatally injured in a gas explosion in Mine No. 4 of the Northwestern Improvement Co. here Sunday afternoon.

When the explosion occurred a column of fire was thrown high in the air, igniting the shaft, plant and adjoining buildings. Under the intense heat the hoist of the shaft crumbled and fell. The mine in the neighborhood of the shaft was burning fiercely late Sunday night.

Rescue parties will be sent into the mine from the slope connecting with the shaft as soon as it is safe for men to approach.

Woman Brutally Treated By Robbers.

Lansing, Mich.—Mrs. W. B Scott, wife of a baker of this city, was found in the woodshed of hot home Sunday morning gagged and suspended by the wrists from a rafter so that her toes just touched the floor. The woman had been treated thus by two masked men and it was over two hours before her husband and a neighbor discovered her. Mrs. Scott entered the woodshed in her night clothes, just after the men had opened the door and, she says, they threw her to the floor and hung her to the rafter, after which they entered the house and searched for money.

Killed His Rival.

Hannibal, Mo.—Angered because he found his rival, Arthur Dix, 26 years old, at the home of his sweetheart, Clara Ellenbrock, Oscar Wilkinson, aged 19 years, shot and killed Dix and seriously wounded Henry Heelscher, 60 years old. He then disappeared and his whereabouts was unknown until his body was found at the Mills Creek schoolhouse Sunday night, Wilkinson having committed suicide.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Oct. 2.—Cattle—Extra $5.65@6. Calves—Extra, $9. Hogs—Choice, $8.10@8.15. Sheep—Extra, $4.15@4.25. Lambs—Extra, $6.85@7. Flour—Spring patent, $5.45@5.75. Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.19@1.21. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 64c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41@41¼c. Rye—No. 2 choice, 76@77c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15.50@15.75. Butter—Dairy, 23c. Eggs—Per doz., 23c Apples—Choice, $1.50@3.50. Potatoes—Per brl., $1.75@2. Tobacco—Burley $8.60@15.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.17. Corn—No. 2 mixed—60¾@61¼c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 40c. Pork—Prime mess, $24.95@25. Lard—Prime, $12.27½.

Louisville, Oct. 2—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.19@1.20. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 64c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41½c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15.70. Hogs—Extra, $8.10@8.15. Lard—Prime, $12.27½.

Indianapolis, Oct. 2.—Cattle—Prime, $5.75@6. Hogs—Extra, $7.95

The KITCHEN CABINET

BEFORE you touch the colored cherries
Or start to open up the berries
This may head off many worries,
Read the label."

"Alternate rest and labor, long endure."—Ovid.

Hot Weather Ideas.

Eat less, drink more, work less, play more, worry less, relax more and be happy. Every one owes it to himself to take a vacation, a change of some sort, if it is only a day in the country, or a day at the park and just do nothing, not even think any more than possible. The children are happier for it and so are the older people.

Cooling vegetables like tomatoes and cucumbers are very refreshing in hot weather. There are so many ways of serving them that one may always have variety. Did you ever serve ripe, sweet tomatoes, sliced, with sugar and cream? If not, try them. Many consider them as good as the much prized peach. A sandwich which is both wholesome and appetizing and nice for Sunday night lunch, is prepared by chopping young green onions fine, season with a bit of salt, pepper, vinegar, oil and mustard and spread on the slices of buttered bread.

Watermelons and muskmelons are the ideal fruit for hot weather as they supply the water so much needed in the body.

A delicious manner of serving muskmelons is to chill thoroughly and after removing the seeds add a bit of lemon juice. This bring out the flavor. Muskmelons are nice cut in cubes, sprinkled with sugar and lemon juice, to be served as a sauce for supper.

When serving ice cream the service may be made more attractive and appetizing if a spoonful of preserved fruit like strawberries or pineapple be added to each dish. With chopped nuts this makes the popular sundae.

Timely Tips.

This is the season when the first cool days of autumn suggest looking after the winter comfort. See that the furnace grates and pipes are in order.

Carefully label all jellies and pickles, for one's memory isn't always a sure guide.

Save the salt water from the ice cream freezer to pour over the asparagus bed to keep out the weeds.

AYE, to the leavening, but here's yet in the word hereafter the kneading, the making of the cake,
the heating of the oven and the baking.
Nay, you must stay the cooling too, or you may chance to burn your mouth."—
Shakespeare.

Suggestion for the Diner.

"The dining room is the gourmet's theater, the table his stage."

"We should eat to live not live to eat."

It has ceased to be good form to surround the plate with an array of spoons, forks and knives to embarrass the diner. There are other ways of exhibiting the family plate.

Never have a centerpiece so large that it obstructs the view.

A simply garnished dish is in much better taste than one much decorated.

Elaboration does not signify real elegance in table decoration any more than in other things.

All the appointments of the table should be placed with care and exactness, nothing repays one more for time spent; as the haphazard placing of one dish will spoil the whole effect of an otherwise beautiful table.

A nice napkin to use for fruit is a small buff one with fringed border. The stains do not show on this color and the napkin may be removed with

To Make Mint Vinegar.

Gather and wash the mint, shaking until free from water. Put into a quart fruit jar, filling it as full as possible, then add the vinegar, let stand three weeks. Pour off and bottle, keeping in a cool place.

Delicious Salad.

Cut squares of cream cheese, lay in the bleached cup of a head lettuce leaf. Sprinkle or roll the cheese in chopped nuts, garnish with half a walnut meat and a few seeded white grapes. Just before serving add mayonnaise dressing.

Nellie Maxwell.

Corn with Macaroni.

Break one-fourth of a package of macaroni into small pieces and cook in boiling salted water. Have ready one can of corn stewed and seasoned. Place the corn and macaroni in alternate layers in a buttered baking dish; moisten with one cupful of sweet milk; dot with bits of butter; cover with buttered crumbs and bake until nicely browned.

The Sting of Conscience.

Remorse is the only [illegible]

I MAY not have achieved anything great in my life," said a woman the other day, "but I have brought up two daughters who never talk about their pains and aches."

A Rainy Day and Its Opportunities.

An old-fashioned rainy day is a splendid time to begin on those odd things that we have put off from day to day. As one is apt to be free from interruptions a long day of accomplishment will be the result. In the kitchen prepare some flour and lard for pastry, put it in a fruit jar and have it all ready for a pie some time when you are in a great rush for a dessert. Get a pound of raisins, cut with the scissors, ready for use. Grate the ends of the cheese ready for soufflés or escalloped dishes. Make a list of recipes that you have been wanting to try, but couldn't find them when you wanted them. After listing them, index them by noting after each in which cook book found. This is also a good time to plan a week's menus and look up ways of using left-overs.

Does the ironing board need a new cover? This is a free half-hour to attend to that.

Write the long neglected letter; read that magazine article; look over your desk and leave it in perfect order.

Is there a drawer that was hurriedly disturbed the other day? Spend a little time rearranging it.

Beef Marrow.

Beef marrow is one of the greatest delicacies, is very nutritive and is especially recommended to those predisposed to tuberculosis. Have the bones cut three inches in length, cover each end with a paste of flour and water to hold the marrow. Put into a clean bag, tie securely and drop into boiling water; cook two hours. Or the bones may be laid in a pan and baked in a hot oven. Serve on toast seasoned to tase with salt and pepper.

Popcorn that is too old and dry to pop may be freshened by dipping it in water, drain well and pop.

A Coal Saver.

Take one pound of salt, two ounces of oxalic acid and a gallon of water. Sprinkle this solution over one part of coal and three parts of ashes. Use a brush broom or watering can for sprinkling.

TILL by experience taught the mind shall learn
That not to know at large of things remote
From use, obscure and subtile, but to know
That which before us lies in daily life,
Is the prime wisdom."

A FEW WAYS WITH CHEESE.

Cabbage and Cheese.

Boil cabbage until tender, then drain it and chop it fine. Season well with salt and pepper and add two tablespoonfuls of butter. Make a white sauce. Put a layer of cabbage in the bottom of a baking dish, pour over some of the white sauce, strew thickly with grated cheese, add another layer of cabbage and white sauce and finish with buttered crumbs. Bake until the crumbs are brown.

Fried Cheese Sandwiches.

Grate a cupful of soft, fresh cheese. Make it into a paste with cream; season with salt and paprika. Spread this on thin slices of buttered bread cut into rounds; put the slices together and brown on both sides in hot butter.

Household Hints.

Leave the cover off the saucepan when cooking cabbage or onions and the odor will not penetrate the house.

A good rule to remember in using salt while cooking vegetables is that the root vegetables are improved by it, but peas are toughened.

In cooking green corn add a teaspoonful of sugar to half a dozen ears. A little sugar improves peas while cooking.

Do not depend upon your memory to know your jellies or sauces. See that they are well marked when put away.

Try adding a little shredded green pepper to the creamed chicken, it is a great improvement.

Add a little ammonia to the water when putting a roasting pan to soak; it will then wash very easily.

Nellie Maxwell.

Easy to Tie Knot.

"Some people," said the trained nurse, "think they cannot tie a bundle securely unless some one is at hand to put a finger on the string lest it slip. If a simple little suggestion be borne in mind there never will be further trouble. It is this: Instead of looping the string only once, loop it a second [illegible]

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections
Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

S. G. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1866.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in..... $50,000
Surplus,.. ..... $5,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
308 F. & T. Bank Building.
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., "
R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Easly,

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Warerooms:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
[illegible] POPE Agent, [illegible] street, [illegible]

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE

A VICTIM OF TREACHERY

Story of Jonathan's Capture and Death

BY THE "HIGHWAY AND BYWAY" PREACHER

(Copyright, 1908, by the Author, W. E. Edson.)

Based on the Apocryphal book of I. Maccabees, 12 to 13:30.

Period of Maccabaean Wars.—The various glimpses of national life which can be gained during the period, show, on the whole, a steady adherence to the Mosaic law. Probably the law was never more rigorously fulfilled. The interruption of the succession to the high-priesthood was the most important innovation which was made, and one which prepared the way for the dissolution of the state. After various arbitrary changes, the office was left vacant for seven years upon the death of Alcimus. The last descendant of Jesadak, in whose family it had been for nearly four centuries, fled to Egypt, and established a schismatic worship, and at last, when the support of the Jews became important, the Maccabaean leader, Jonathan, of the family of Joarib, was elected to the dignity by the nomination of the Syrian king whose will was confirmed as it appears, by the voice of the people. Little can be said of the condition of literature and the arts. In common intercourse the Jews used the Aramaic dialect which was established after the return; this was their own language, and it is evident from the narrative quoted that they understood Greek, which must have spread widely through the influence of the Syrian officers. There is not, however, the slightest evidence that Greek was employed in Palestinian literature till a much later date. The description of the monument which was erected by Simon at Modin in memory of his family, is the only record of the architecture of the time. The only recognised relics of the time are the coins which bear the name of "Simon" or "Simon, Prince of Israel," in Samaritan letters. The privilege of a national coinage was granted to Simon by Antiochus VII. Sidetes; and numerous examples occur which have the dates of the first, second, third and fourth years of the liberation of Jerusalem.

SERMONETTE.

"For we have help from heaven that succoreth us, so we are delivered from our enemies, and our enemies are brought under foot."

This declaration made in a letter written by Jonathan, the victorious Maccabee leader, to the Lacedemonians when he sought peace and alliance with them, is indicative of the man's character and the secret of his power.

With David he could sing:

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help.

"My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth.

"He will not suffer thy foot to be moved; he that keepeth thee will not slumber.

"Behold, he that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep.

"The Lord is thy keeper; the Lord is they shade upon they right hand.

"The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night.

"The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil; he shall preserve they soul.

"The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore."

THE STORY.

TRYPHON had set his heart upon gaining the throne, and he plotted to kill Antiochus, the king, but he feared the power of Jonathan.

"If he knew of my purpose he will never permit me to pass through his land," Trypbon exclaimed one day to one of his captains.

"Why not do away then with Jonathan, and then shalt thou be able to compass thy purpose," the other counseled.

"But how can I? No army has yet been able to withstand his prowess. Tbou surely hast not forgotten what he has already done to the forces which Demetrius sent against him, and how he has fortified the walls of Jerusalem as never before and has strengthened himself in all the kingdom?"

"No, I have not. But what thou cannot do by force of arms thou canst do in subtlety. Draw Jonathan forth from the walls of Jerusalem and when thou has made as though thou wouldst fight with him make overtures to him and draw him to one of thy cities where thou canst do with him after the purposes of thine own heart."

"But he is too wise to be thus caught," replied Tryphon, dubiously.

"Nay, bis very security now will make such plot possible," was the reply.

So it came to pass a short time later that the alarm was sounded through Judea that Tryphon bad raised a mighty army and had come into the border of Judea and was then at Bethsan.

Jonathan lost no time in gathering his forces and a few days after the report was brought to him he was marching to Bethsan with 40,000 chosen men. But instead of battle array he found Tryphon coming to meet him.

"Why hast thou put thy people to so great trouble, seeing there is no war between us?" Tryphon exclaimed, half reproachfully when he had come into the presence of Jonathan and had exchanged greetings. And then before Jonathan had time to answer, went on:

"It is a fine army thou hast, Jonathan. And I am glad of this occasion which has come to me of seeing thy perfect discipline and the obedience of thy men to thy every command. Happy must thou be with such an army."

"And why hast thou come with such a great army to Bethsan?" questioned Jonathan, not altogether satisfied by the cordial words which Tryphon had spoken.

"That I might have thy judgment upon them and migbtest give them into thy hand for discipline as thine own army is disciplined," he replied, with evident sincerity. "See," he exclaimed, "here are the orders which command that the men in my army shall obey thee in all that thou shalt say to them, and fortunate indeed will I count myself if tbou wilt but come with me and show the manner of thy orders in thine own army."

Jonathan took the proffered parchment bearing the seal and writing.

"Yea, thou knowest that I may well covet thee as a friend, for do I not know that Rome has again made league with thee and have not the Lacedemonians likewise entered into convenant of peace with thee?" Tryphon continued to argue, and Jonathan seemed satisfied, for the next day when Trypbon urged him to return with him to Ptolemais be consented thereto.

"Send home thy army, but take with thee those whom thou wouldst have serve thee until thy return." Tryphon counseled, and Jonathan, believing such advice was good and that his men were better back in their homes and busy on the land, he dismissed them and sent them back. But 2,000 he sent into Galilee and 1,000 picked men he took with bim.

Now as soon as Jonatban bad entered into Ptolemais with bis men the men of the city shut the gates in subtlety at night, and going forth they slew while yet they sleipt all the men whom Jonathan had brought with him, so that when he went forth in the morning he found himself a prisoner in the hands of Tryphon, and he expected that he would be killed, but instead, Tryphon hastened back into Galilee to destroy the forces there before the rest of the army could assemble.

But when Simon, the brother of Jonatban, heard all this be hastened to gather the men of Judea. But they were in great dismay until he had spoken boldly, saying:

"Ye yourselves know what great things I, and my brethren, and my father's house, have done for the laws and the sanctuary, the battles also and troubles which we have seen. By reason whereof all my brethren are slain for Israel's sake, and I am left alone. Now be it far from me, that I sbould spare mine own life, in any time of trouble; for I am no better than my brethren. Doubtless I will avenge my nation, and the sanctuary, and our wives, and our children; for all the heathens are gathered to destroy us of very malice."

Now when the people heard these brave words their spirits revived and they sbouted:

"Tbou sbalt be our leader instead of Jonathan thy brother. Fight our battles and wbatsoever thou commandest us, that will we do."

In this spirit Simon and his army met the great army of Trypbon, which came into Judea, Jonathan being held in ward. And Tryphon sent messengers to Simbn, saying:

"Whereas we have Jonathan thy brother in hold, it is for money that he is owing unto the king's treasury, concerning certain business which was committed unto bim. Wherefore now send a hundred talents of silver and two of his sons as bostages, that when he is at liberty he may not revolt from us and we will let him go."

"Now Simon suspected further deceit, but he knew that his followers would blame him if he consented not to these terms and would charge that he had caused the death of Jonatban So he sent Tryphon the children and the money.

But Tryphon kept not his word, but when he had come to Bascama, he slew Jonatban and buried him there and then returned to his own land. and Simon went and took the bones of Jonathan and buried them in Modin, the city of his fatbers and he built a monument and all Israel made great lamentation for him and bewailed him many days.

Spiritual Exercise.

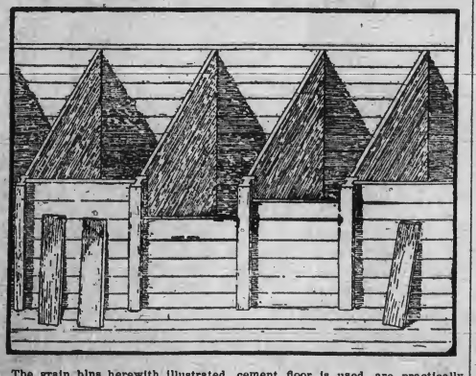
A new pastor was met by one of his parishioners who was fat and of many years, who said to the pastor: "You must feed the sheep." Whereupon the pastor replied: "My dear old man, you do not need food, you need exercise." In this repartee there is a great deal of truth, appropriate to the spiritual conditions of thousands of Christians. There are people who are constantly clamoring for preaching—and this particularly true among our people; we are not given to relishing lectures on economic, educational, and varied subjects. Whenever there is a gathering and it is possible to turn it into a preaching service, this is done. The sheep must be fed. But as a matter of fact, what our people need more than feeding is the spiritual exercise. They are fed; abundantly so, and if they were to put into practice only a small part of that which is given them in pulpit ministrations, they would be better and the world would be better and happier. No, we are not in need of feeding. Truthfully, we are not in need of much preaching; we are well fed. What we are in need of is the exercise of that which has been given to us by the pulpit. This done and there will be a quickening of our church life.—Southwestern Christian Advocate.

HARVESTING BY MOTOR ON AN ENGLISH FARM

Demonstration of the Capabilities of the Latest Type of Agricultural Motor-Tractor with Great Success.

The problem of the motor-tractor's use in agriculture has always been one of considerable interest to me; and it was with great pleasure that last week I accepted an invitation to attend at Biggleswade in Bedfordshire a demonstration of the capabilities of the latest type of agricultural motor-tractor, writes H. C. Lafone in Country Life. The machine to be publicly tested was the newest model tractor turned out by the Ivel Agricultural Motors, Limited, a firm which, first in the field in 1902, has gained many diplomas and awards for the work accomplished by its machines in open competition with horse-drawn implements. I was promised a demonstration of ploughing and harvesting by means of a tractor, and, although the weather was of such a nature that no sensible farmer would have attempted with horses either ploughing or cutting until an improvement had occurred, the program was carried through with the greatest success, the only hitch being occasioned by a refractory binder, which manifested an inclination to skid on the headland of an abominably greasy field.

Before describing the day's doings, I think it will be well to give some particulars of the tractor itself, for it was this which was on its trial, the actual agricultural implements—bis spring. The steering is light and positive by means of a wheel and two rods running from the steering column to either side of the front wheel. The entire tractor weighs 35 cwt. The weight question is, of course, most important and the comparative lightness of the tractor is distinctly in its favor, for it overcomes one of the farmer's main objections to mechanical haulage on the farm. In dry weather the tractor's driving wheels are not provided with any special gripping devices, the steel tires being equipped only with small diagonal ribs; but in wet seasons, or on greasy ground, "spuds" are clamped to the tires and afford additional holding power. At last week's demonstration both the grip of the driving wheels and also the cooling system were tested severely, for the surface was slippery and the ground so soft that the tractor was compelled to do all its work on the low speed. In spite of this, however the engine did not become unduly hot, nor did the driving wheels appear to slip to an appreciable extent.



The demonstration took place upon a large farm on the outskirts of Biggleswade, the farmer himself being loud in praise of mechanical haulage. I was first taken to a field in which some thirty acres were ready for the plough, and here the tractor was harnessed up to a three-furrow plough.

A Tractor Operating a Reaper and Binder.

plough and reaper and binder—being somewhat larger than, but otherwise constructed on the same lines, as the epecles in everyday use for horse baulage. The tractor, then, is a three-wheeled machine, having two broad-tired, chain-driven propelling wheels behind and one smaller steering wheel centrally situated in front. The steering lock is distinctly good, the tractor turning in a circle of which the radius is about seven and one-half feet. The 20 horse-power motor is of the two-cylinder horizontal type, the fuel being either petrol or paraffin as desired. The power from the engine is conveyed to the single driving chain by means of a friction clutch, but there is also a pulley which can be thrown into gear and used for driving threshing machines, chaff-cutters, etc., when the tractor is stationary. The cooling system is excellent, a big head of water being carried in a large tank alongside the driver's seat, which, by the way, is most comfortable. The machine made light of its load, and turned the three tracks cleanly and evenly, travelling all the time over the soft ground at the rate of about three miles an hour. Naturally, I paid particular attention to the machine's behavior at the headlands, for it is there that motor-tractors are said to be at a disadvantage owing to the inability to turn in as small a circle as a team of horses. However, there appeared to be no waste of space, the headlands being left practically the usual width. The ploughing was carried on up one side of a strip and down the other, a method which did not test the steering block to such an extent as would have been the case had the plough been required to return along the land next to the furrow last cut. But even if this were required it would be perfectly easy of execution, for the tractor can back the plough readily into any desirable position, and the time occupied in maneuvering is infinitesimal.

GRAIN BINS EASY TO CONSTRUCT

The grain bins herewith illustrated are not only very handy, but are also easy to build. As shown in the illustration, they are seven feet high at the rear, five feet in front, and six to eight feet square. The material used is six-inch matched stuff, except the T-shaped division post. They should be of two-inch lumber, and may be worked out as shown, or built up of three pieces. The greatest advantage of these bins is that the entire fronts may be removed and replaced at will, or one may be used at the top of each, and they act as braces to prevent the cross partitions from being pushed out of line. The bins should, if possible, be set on a cement floor, and be at least ten inches away from the wall, to avoid hiding places for rats and mice. The bins are inexpensive, easy to build, and if a cement floor is used, are practically rat and mice proof. Where the cement floors are used, the T-shaped post should be set well down in the concrete.

To Kill Sparrows.

A method of getting rid of the English sparrow pests is described by a poultry breeder, whose yards were visited by the sparrows in such numbers as to seriously interfere with his profits. He fastened a small box about four inches deep, on a post five feet high, placed just outside of his poultry yard. This box be kept supplied with poisoned chick feed. The sparrows entered cordially into the new feeding program and several hundred of them left bodily testimonials to the palatability of the food.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.
Phone, M. 2393.
The Applegate-Piper Co.
MERCHANT TAILORS.
Room 610, Traction Building,
Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,
BURLINGTON, KY.
The Oldest Bank in Boone County,
PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,
With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:
Capital Stock..... $30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits... 40,000
Liability of Stockholders..... 30,000
Total Security for Depositors $100,000
COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR
THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.
17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.
This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR
Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,
Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY
AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.
CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.
New Buggies, Runabouts
and Harness for Sale or Trade.
Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.
When in Burlington call and See me.
B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Your Calls at [illegible] Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR
CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP
—TO—
C. C. SEAL & CO.
Union Stock Yards,
CINCINNATI. • • OHIO
And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.
J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade.

Democratic Ticket.

For Representative—
J. W. Berkshire.
For Circuit Judge—
J. W. Cammack.
For Commonwealth's Attorney—
E. E. Winn.
For Circuit Clerk—
J. A. Duncan.
For County Judge—
P. E. Cason.
For County Attorney—
N. E. Riddell.
For Sup't Schools—
Edgar C. Riley.
For Sheriff—
B. B. Hume.
For County Clerk—
J. H. Rogers.
For Assessor—
T. G. Willis.
For Jailer—
Samuel Adams.
For Surveyor—
W. E. Vest.
For Coroner—
Dr. A. A. Murat.

FOR JUSTICE OF THE PEACE:

First District—
E. J. Aylor.
Second District—
William Stephens.
Third District—
Moses Scott.
Fourth District—
J. S. Noell.
Fifth District—
Ben O'Neal.
Sixth District—
J. H. Tanner.

Rising Sun a Dry Town.

Nothing but river water goes in Rising Sun as a beverage, the last saloon having closed a week or ten days ago as a result of the local option election held in Ohio county a few weeks ago.

Threatened with Blood Poison.

The many friends in Burlington and vicinity of Homer Clutterbuck, will be sorry to hear that he is laid up at his home in Covington, and is threatened with blood poison in one of his lower limbs.

Frightful Fate Averted.

"I would have been a cripple for life, from a terrible cut on my knee cap," writes Frank Disberry, Kelliher, Minn., "without Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which soon cured me." Infallible for wounds, cuts and bruises, it soon cures Burns, Scalds, Old Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions. World's best for Piles. 25c. at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

The First New Corn.

William Hedges and son, Clifford, brought the first new corn to the local market, last Thursday, for which they got 50 cents a bushel. It was raised on a Gunpowder creek hill side and was a very fine article of the staff of life. The corn was measured and weighed both, there being three bushels more in the load by weight than by measurement.

Consistency, Thou Art a Jewel.

Maj. W. T. Stott, of Petersburg, has been delivering some very able lectures, recently, advocating adhering to the ways and methods under the old dispensation, consequently his friends were greatly surprised, last week, when they learned that he was flitting about over the country in an automobile, and some of them suggested that were he to practice what he preached he would have taken a tobacco stick and walked through instead of being one of an auto party.

Dislocated His Shoulder.

As Rev. Carter and W. T. Stott of Petersburg, were coming to Burlington, last Wednesday in John Stephens' automobile, Rev. Carter got out of the machine to assist in quieting a horse that was acting ugly on account of the presence of the machine, and in the tussle with the animal one of Rev. Carter's shoulders was thrown out of place. His companions rendered the necessary surgical aid, but to be sure that the work had been properly done, the party called on Dr. Nunnelly near Bullittsville, and he pronounced it a good job, when he joined the party which came on to Burlington and spent a few hours.

Feeding Cattle Scarce.

Good quality feeding cattle are as scarce among marketings at all points at this time as they were awhile ago. Those who have well-bred young steers evidently feel that they are worth more at home, with a record corn crop in growth, than at market, says Drover's Journal. Feeder cattle buyers are confronted with a situation which possibly many had not anticipated. Those who did not stock their pastures with the relatively cheap steers available a few months ago and who now come to market looking for good quality kinds, find that such grades only can be bought by competing with killers and paying killers' prices. A short time ago both corn and feeding cattle were considered too high in price. A few weeks hence the feeders may [illegible] values, but [illegible] other cost of [illegible]

A Few Reminders.

As the time of the seer and yellow leaf fast approacheth we are reminded, that the corn is cut in the shock and the seed is on the hollyhock. The summer girl has changed her frock. The housewife counts her cans of fruit, the hunter sallies forth to shoot, the football fiend begins to root. The buckwheat cakes will soon be here and sorghum 'lasses too, will cheer; and o'er the children faces smear its sticky mess from ear to ear. The nuts are falling in the wood, the squirrel stores his winter food, the pumpkin pies are now so good. The 'possum's in the 'simmon tree, the coon dog holds a jubilee, across the fields the rabbits flee, as coming danger now they see. The bird dog hunts the timid quail, but strikes a frightened rabbits' trail. The burrs get in the horse's tail, and the autumn winds begin to wail. The apple butter stews and biles, the thrifty housewife stirs and smiles as she reflects upon the cans of fruit she's canned in different styles.

Taking In the Scenery.

A trio of young people, a gentleman and two ladies, from Price's Hill, Cincinnati, passed through Burlington, last Saturday about 10 a. m. They were on horseback, and were out to view the autumnal scenery in Boone county. They crossed the river into the county at Anderson's Ferry about 6 o'clock that morning, to make a swing around throught he country. From Burlington they went across the country to Pleasant Valley, thence to the Union and Florence pike at Pleasant Ridge, thence back to the city via Florence. They stopped in Burlington a few minutes and seemed to be enjoying their trip.

The Farmers' Institute.

While the attendance at the Farmers' Institute held at Walton, last Thursday and Friday, was pretty good, it was not what it should have been as will be testified to by all who witnessed or took part in the proceedings. Educating the farmers up to the value of these institutes is slow work in Boone county, and unless more interest in taken in other parts of the State than has been in Northern Kentucky the days of the institute are numbered and are few, as the law providing for them will be repealed, and the farmers will be the losers again.

Boone county farmers will be a better satisfied class the coming winter than they were last. By the time the snow begins to fly they will be storing a crop of corn that will overtax the capacity of their cribs, while the hay mows are packed full of good timothy and numerous stacks adorn their meadows, and well fed cattle and horses roam about the fields. The tier poles in the large tobacco barns will bend beneath their load of fine tobacco, while the prospects of selling it for a good price will bring satisfaction to the grower. Taking altogether the farmer is the most favored man hereabouts just now.

A Second Crop of Hay.

Geo. Darby, who lives on the Limaburg and Constance turnpike cut a second crop of nice timothy last week off of his meadow. The first crop, which was cut at the usual time, was of heavy growth and fell down and was somewhat injured, but the second crop, which was cut last week, was nice grass and was saved in good condition, and while it did not yield as much to the acre as the first crop, it will be as nice feed for stock.

Mrs. R. B. Adams, of Sherman, who was badly injured by a fall several weeks ago while on a visit to her son in Boone county, has improved so much that she was able to be moved this week. Mrs. Adams is now at her home near Sherman, and while still unable to walk without assistance, will probably recover.—Dry Ridge News.

Rosenthal Bros., formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, have opened a new clothing store in the Big Store building, Rising Sun, Ind., where they will carry a complete line of men's, boys' and children's clothing, furnishing goods, hats, caps, etc. They buy direct from the factory in large quantity and sell direct to wearer.

Fine Fishing.

The past week has been an excellent time for fishing for salmon along the river. They are a very fine fish and many of them are caught at this time of the year, although the cool weather makes handling the bait rather uncomfortable.

Notice To Contractors.

The undersigned will receive sealed bids for painting all tin, galvanized and wood work on the ouside of the Court House in Burlington, until noon Oct. 16th, 1909, according to specifications now on file with me.

N. E. RIDDELL, Committee.

Perry Beemon died Monday night at his home near Big Bone Grange hall. Funeral at Belleview Baptist church tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

Fine Care Fine Hair

It's fine care that makes fine hair! Use Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, systematically, conscientiously, and you will get results. We know it stops falling hair, cures dandruff, and is a most elegant dressing. Entirely new. New bottle. New contents.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Ayer's

Formula with each bottle. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it, then do as he says.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, as now made from our new improved formula, is the latest, most scientific, and in every way the very best hair preparation ever placed upon the market. For falling hair and dandruff it is the one great medicine.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

Board of Control Organized.

The Boone County Board of Control of the Burley Tobacco Association organized, last Monday, by electing J. C. Hughes, of Richwood, president, and representative at Richwood; T. F. Cudley, of Walton, secretary, and R. C. Green, of Walton, treasurer. The precinct members of the board are as follows:

Burlington—R. B. Huey.
Bullittsville—A. C. Corn.
Beaver—J. C. Hughes.
Walton—R. C. Green.
Verona—W. M. Whitson.
Petersburg—B. H. Berkshire.
Belleview—W. B. Arnold.
Hamilton—J. L. Jones.
Rabbit Hash—L. L. Stephens.
Union—James A. Huey.

A verry large majority of the tobacco in the county has been pooled and a much better feeling will prevail among the growers if those who are holding out will pool their crops. The majority makes and enforces the laws in this county, and is conceded the right to govern generally, then why not join with your neighborn and bring about results that when attained will benefit all alike. The pool has made tobacco bring good prices and it will do so again, then why not do your part in bringing about the much desired result? Even those who are bitterset against the pool do not want to see the price of tobacco go back to 5, 6 or 7 cents a pound. This being the fact does it not look somewhat ungrateful in them to refuse to assist in a move that is calculated to sustain a good price for their tobacco? Is not their desire for a good price for their tobacco and their refusal to assist the pool, inconsistent? The pool is the only protection the growers have against the tobacco trust, and it is strange that it is not made unanimous. You have until the 20th inst., to sign your tobacco, so give the matter serious consideration.

Elmer Kirkpatrick is carrying water for 85 hogs.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will offer for sale at public auction at the Michael Sothorn place on the Bullittsville & Dry Creek pike, near Hebron, Ky.,

Tuesday, October 19, 1909

the following property.

Driving Horse, 18-month old Heifer, Road Wagon, 2-h. Spring Wagon, 1-h. Spring Wagon, top Buggy, 2-h. Breaking Plow, 'A' Harrow, Sled, set double work Harness, single Harness, lot of Butter Jars, some Household and Kitchen Furniture and other articles too numerous to mention.

All sums of $5 and under, cash; on sums over $5 a credit of nine months will be given, purchasers to give notes with approved security negotiable and payable in the Boone Co. Deposit Bank.

Mrs. KATE TUPMAN.

Sale to begin at 1 p. m.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky

Maud McCright, Plaintiff,
vs.— Order of Reference.
Kate McWethy, Adm'x of the Estate of R. A. McWethy, &c., Defendants.

On motion of plaintiff this cause is now referred to the Master Commissioner, who will

1st. Settle the accounts of the Administratrix.

2nd. He will ascertain and report the amount of the debts of the decedent, secured and unsecured, the amount of each, and if secured, how.

3d. The amount of personal property, also the real estate and the description of the latter.

4th. He will cite the defendant, Kate McWethy, to appear before him to be examined for the purpose of ascertaining if her inventory of the estate is a full and complete list of the personal estate of the decedent.

4th. He will make allowance to the Administratrix, for her services as such and to the Attorney of the plaintiff for his services rendered in the bringing of this suit.

On any and all of these matters, he will take such evidence as may be offered, and he may also consider any other evidence, taken by deposition before other officers, authorized by law to take depositions. He will make report of his findings, to the court at its Dec. term 1909

In accordance with the foregoing order, I will begin my sittings at the office of the Clerk of the Boone Circuit Court, on the 4th day of October, 1909, and continue the hearing until the 1st day of Nov. 1909.

Witness my hand this 8 p 28 1909.

J. DUNCAN, Master Com'r.

Lest you Forget

We Cut the Price on all Medicines.

WE QUOTE A FEW.

Peruna	71c
Pinkham's Compound	71c
Swamp Root	71c
S. S. S	71c
Wine of Cardui	71c
Pierce's G. M. Discovery	71c
Pierces' Prescription	71c
Ozomulsion	71c
Scott's Emulsion	71c
Wampole's C. L. Oil	71c
Antiphlogistine	40-75c
Sal Hepatica	90c
S. S. S. (large)	$1.25
Fellows' Syrup	$1.00
Gombalt's Caustic Bal.	$1.15
Sloan's Liniment	71c
Kitchell's Liniment	65c
Barb Wire Liniment	20c
Cuticura Soap	18c
Colgate's Palm Soap 6 for	25c
Turk Soap 6 for	25c
Pure Castile Soap, lb	20c
Allcock's Porous Plasters	2 for 25c
Belladonna Plasters 2 for	25c
Water Bottles	49c
Fountain Syringes	59c
(Each 2-quart size)
Doan's Kidney Pills	40c
King's Pills	20c
Cuticura Pills	20c
Pinkham's Pills	20c
Carter's Little Liver Pills	15c
Gooch's Pills	20c
Bucklin's Arnica Salve	20c
5 Drop Ointment	20c
Pyramid Pile Cure	40c
Pazo Pile Ointment	40c
Parker's Hair Balsam	40c
Hay's Hair Health	40c
Peroxide Hydrogen, lb	25c
Creolin, lb	75c
Vaseline, lb	25c
Pine Tar, gallon	30c
Pluto Water	30c
Castor Oil, quart	50c
Castoria	25c
Syrup Figs	38c
Beef Iron and Wine	40c
Warner's 3-gr. Lithia Tablets	20c
Quinine, ounce	50c
Capsules—box of 100	08c
Bromo Quinine	20c
Tetlow's Swan Down	15c
or 2 for	25
Tetlow's Gassmer Powder	20c
Allen's Foot Ease	20c
Harleem Oil	05c
Bull's Worm Candy	20c
Absorbent Cotton, oz	05c
4 oz. 15c, 1 lb.	35c
Ground Flaxseed, lb	10c
Sulphur, lb	05c
Copperas, lb	03c
Moth Balls, lb	05c
Epsom Salts, lb	05c
Cream Tartar, lb	35c
Borax, lb	12c
Toilet Paper, 6 pads	25c
Tooth Picks, 2 boxes	05c
Hindoo Corn Remover	15c
Magee's Corn Plaster	10c
One Night Corn Cure	10c
Hostetter's Bitters	85c
All Chewing Gum, pkg	03c
Sulphate, Soda, lb	20c
Phosphate Soda, lb	20c
Garfield Tea	20c
Hard Rubber Syringe	20c
Schiffman's Asthma Cure	40c
New Skin Court Plaster	20c
Carpenter's Liqxid Court Plaster—tube	10c
Prophefoctic Tooth Brushes	25c
Colgate's Tooth Paste	40c
Sanitol Tooth Paste	20c

We have many more at just as L w Prices.

SAVE THE DIMES.

Geo. C. Goode

AGENT.

Groceries & Medicines,

Pike & Washington,

Covington, Kentucky.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

C. H. ACRA,

AUCTIONEER

GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,

WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.

CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.

Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

MILLINERY! MILLINERY

I now have on display my stock of

Fall and Winter Millinery

and extend a cordial invitation to all to call and inspect same. Yours truly

Mrs. G. W. Ossman,

BEAVER LICK, KY.

Fall and Winter Millinery.

I now have on display my new stock of Hats and Baby Caps, with prices to suit every customer. Desiring to reduce my stock I will offer

Specials from 25c up

and hope my customers will take advantage of these bargains. Come in and see them, as also my nice line of

DRY GOODS and JEWELRY.

Cordially yours,

MISS LOU W. ALLEN, Petersburg, Ky.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.
S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated—A. D. 1892.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

CANNOT SPLIT OR CURL LIKE WOOD SHINGLES

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

Last as long as the building and never need repairs. Think of it! They're also fireproof, stormproof [illegible] and quite inexpensive.

SEND FOR ESTIMATE

Lyal Acra, or Riley [illegible] Bullittsville, Ky.

DON'T FAIL TO VISIT

Rosenthal Bros., New Clothing Store

Before buying.——Complete Outfitters for Men, Boys and Children.——Everything New and Up-to-date.

Big Store Building, RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Local News.

The RECORDER is authorized to announce Judge John M. Lassing a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Appellate Judge in this the Sixth Appellate District, subject to the primary election November 2, 1909.

William Kirkpatrick has been bringing in some nice young cattle the past week.

The game between the Cincinnati Reds and the Rising Sun ball team has been canceled.

There will be no excuse for killing half fatted hogs this fall, as the county is full of fine corn.

The boats that ply between Cincinnati and Louisville, are making poor time on account of low water.

Nature got busy with its big dynamo a few nights since and put out of commission nearly all the telegraph lines in the country.

Walnuts and hickory nuts are ready to gather now. Neither are as plentiful as they used to be in this country, before the distruction of the large groves of each.

Were automobiles as numerous at all times in this neighborhood as they were last week horses would soon be used to them and broken bridles and harness would not be so common.

This has been a very fine fall, although a little dry. Farmers have been given ample chance to house their tobacco, cut their corn and sow their grain, and are well up with their work.

It is about time that the goose bone weather prophets were issuing their winter's program. If the goose bone is not consulted the winter will be a very unsettled mixture of weather.

The reunion of the Fourth Kentucky Confederate Cavalry will be held at New Castle, Thursday, October 7. A number of splendid speakers have been secured, and visitors will be well cared for.

When Hon. W. J. Bryan and wife, of Lincoln, Neb., issued invitations to their silver wedding, which they celebrated on the 1st inst., engraved thereon were the words, "no presents," another instance showing their modesty and good sense.

The work on the lock the government is putting in the Ohio river below Taylorsport, has been progressing rapidly for several weeks, the only time this year that the water in the river has been at a stage that would permit anything to be done.

Considerable of the first tobacco housed in this county this fall has been stripped. In fact some began stripping tobacco before they were done housing, in order to make room for the last cutting. It is very seldom that stripping tobacco is begun as early as the middle of September.

The Union traction people have not encountered anything yet that has discouraged them, and as time passes their confidence in the success of their scheme increases. They have viewed the proposition from every standpoint and are standing pat in so far as their plans are concerned. They are making no bluster about their work nor exploiting no schemes for the purpose of creating an opportunity for a healthy rake off. They are citizens of the territory to be benefitted by the road and are working solely for the good of that section and their neighbors.

The examining trial of Mrs. Edith McAvoy, charged with burning the residence of John Ransler, of Kensington, on the night of Monday, September 20th, was completed last Friday afternoon, the result being the holding of Mrs. McAvoy over to the grand jury, which will begin its session on the second Monday in December, she executing bond in the sum of $1,000 for her appearance at circuit court. Quite a number of the citizens of Kichwood and Kensington neighborhoods attended the investigation both days, but there were no manifestations of ill feeling toward the accused on the part of anyone.

Telephone Election.

The election of the Consolidated Telephone Co. will be held on Wednesday, the third day of November next.

Slightly Injured.

Stephen Robbins, of Pleasant Valley, got one of his feet caught in a hay rake, last Thursday, since which time he has been on the limp.

I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge.

The Grand Lodge of Kentucky Odd-Fellows meets in Mayfield on October 13. It is estimated that the attendance of authorized delegates will exceed 700.

First Time in 500 Years.

It is said that on September 26, 27, 28 and 29 between three and four o'clock a. m. the Star of Bethlehem was visible just above the southeastern horizon for the first time in 500 years.

Tobacco Frozen.

It is said that some of the tobacco that was on the sticks in the patch, last week, was badly frozen in some instances, especially along creeks and branches. In some instances considerable damage resulted.

Springs Failing.

The cause of the failure this fall of some of the springs that withstood the 1908 drouth can not be accounted for, but some of them have failed and are causing considerable inconvenience in some instances.

Work Delayed.

On account of the work of remodeling the RECORDER'S office and the moving of the machinery, the work of getting out the minutes of the last session of the North Bend Association of Baptists, has been somewhat delayed.

A Big Fish.

William McCune, King of Ohio river fishermen has landed several huge fish in the past month and on Saturday caught a cat fish weighing 70 pounds, the big fellow was cut up into beef steaks and filled many a hungry mouth on Sunday.—Aurora Bulletin.

Big Potato.

Dr. W. E. Sleet carries off the honors of sweet potato raising. He now has on exhibition at Morris & Mitchell's one grown by him which weighs 3 lbs. and 11 ounces. He would have exhibited it at the State Fair had he found it sooner. —Blue Grass Clipper.

Wake'm Up, Boys.

The Democratic nominees for the county offices ought to be working some to get out the vote at the regular election on the first Tuesday in next month. Many of the voters are not thinking about politics now and are liable to let the election go by default in so far as they are concerned.

Hunting Water.

The Hebron Creamery Association is having another well driven as all their arrangements heretofore for water have failed to make good. A creamery cannot get along without an abundant supply of water, and that the Hebron people are going to have it if possible to obtain it. The business of the creamery has grown from the first until its volume exceeds what the most enthusiastic advocates of its establishment anticipated. It is now a good paying institution with prospects of becoming still better.

Killed In Montana.

Ernest Acra, son of John Acra, of Aurora, was so badly injured at Hopper's Station, Montana, several days ago that he died from the result of his injuries. He jumped from a west bound freight train and struck the track squarely in front of an east bound train. The engine knocked him down, all of his body but his feet clearing the rails. He was taken to a hospital and operated on, but was so weak from hemorrhages, that he could not rally. He died without coming out from under the influence of chloroform. Young Acra was well known in this county where he was born, his father being a son of the late Robert Acra, who used to keep hotel in Florence.

There's a Missing Word.

There is a missing Word in this advertisement and there will be one in each of our ads. in this paper from now to November 24th. We have lots and lots of good things to tell you about this fall and in order to get as many to read our advertisements as possible we will give $5.00 in gold as stipulated below. Fill out the following coupon or make one like it and fiill it out.

The missing word in Green's advertisement dated Oct. 6 is.....found between the words .....and.....

Name.....

Address.....

$5.00 in gold will be given for the largest number of correct answers to the eleven propositions and in case of a tie the money will be equally divided. All answers must be filed at our store within 10 days from the date of the coupon. It costs you nothing to submit your answers and in reading our advertisements you will be sure to keep posted as to the many bargains we are offering.

Last week's Coupons must be in our store within 10 days from the date of issue. Don't delay.

FOR YEARS

We Have Been Saying

Buy at Green's and be Happy

and we are prepared to say it again this fall and prove it to you.

Every department of our Store bids you welcome, offering largest variety of Fabrics, Colors, Styles, Etc., in our Store History at Prices Interestingly Low.

Beautiful new Flannellete's and Outings,

Beautiful new Wool and Silk Dress Goods.

Beautiful new Cloaks, Suits and Skirts going at a Special Discount every day until our Cloak Opening.

Hundreds of other good things.

Come and be Convinced.

GREEN'S

Cash Store,

Rising Sun, Indiana.

Look for the Arrow, it Points to Bargains.

Doing a Big Business.

L. H. Voshell, treasurer of the Union Creamery Association, was in Burlington, last Friday. He reports the creamery doing a big business, and one beauty about it is the business is increasing, while the demand for its product is increasing in a like ratio. The very superior quality of the butter has created a market for it among the largest groceries in Cincinnati at the highest price, and the demand for it cannot be filled. The farmers in Union neighborhood have begun to realize that by delivering their milk to the creamery they are encouraging one of the best institutions that has been brought into their midst, and the number of good milk cows are increasing rapidly in that section of the county. The Union creamery has been tried out and has proven a great success, consequently it is now a fixture, the success of which is assured so long as handled in the economical and business like manner that has marked its career so far.

The Parcels Post Law.

According to a statement said to have been made by John Wanamaker, one time Postmaster General, there are just four reasons why Congress will not enact a parcels post law, and those four reasons are the four big express companies, which, with other big corporations, control Congress and prevent any legislation inimical to their interests. He makes these striking points in his contention, viz: First, the United States is the only civilized country on the globe that has not a parcels post. Second, the people of the United States want, need, and should have a parcels post. Third, the people of the United States cannot have a parcels post because the grafters say, "You shan't."

A Concrete Cistern.

Jesse Kirkpatrick and Jack Eddins packed their grips, yesterday, and hiked out to V. W. Gaines', near Bullittsburg church, where they will build for Mr. Gaines a large concrete cistern, which will, probably, be the first of the kind in the county. It will be large enough that when once filled it will contain a three years' supply of water for an ordinary family. For a month past Mr. Gaines has been getting together the material for the construction of the cistern.

Plenty of Work this Fall.

There has been no excuse for the street corner idler this fall. Hands have been scarce and work at good prices has been plentiful in every neighborhood in the county.

For Sale—4 or 5 nice shorthorn bull calves—will average 500 lbs. Call E. L. Glacken, Consolidated phone, Walton 651.

When the figures were all in at Winchester, last Thursday, they showed that 101,238 acres had been pooled while 98,025 acres remained unpooled, which gave the pool a fraction over 51 1 per cent of the crop. It was decided best to declare the pool on, which was done and the pooling period extended to the 20th inst., by which time it is believed that at least 75 per cent of the crop will be in the pool.

In this county 2,619 acres were pooled against 673½ unpooled, not including Florence and Constance precincts. The precincts in the county pooled as follows:

Petersburg—282 acres pooled, 20 acres unpooled.

Belleview—234 acres pooled, 5 acres unpooled.

Hamilton—293½ acres pooled, 129½ acres unpooled.

Bullittsville—155 acres pooled, 65 acres unpooled.

Beaver—344 acres pooled, 3 acres unpooled.

Burlington—250 acres pooled, 44 acres unpooled.

Rabbit Hash—126 acres pooled, 99 acres unpooled.

Walton—335½ acres pooled, 8 acres unpooled.

Union—157 acres pooled, 230 unpooled.

Verona—442 acres pooled, 70 acres unpooled.

Remodeled.

For several days the past two weeks the RECORDER'S office has been in possession of a couple of carpenters, and the typos have worked while the hammer and the saw were rendering solos and duets of the most nerve racking character. The workmen have gone and the saw dust has been bellowsed out of the cases, and the RECORDER now prides itself on having about the best home of any local paper in this part of the country, and it feels much more comfortable than it did while occupying cramped quarters. The addition to the office was built, and the large cylender press, the folder, the engine, &c., were moved therein and the paper came out without interruption. Jesse Kirkpatrick and Lennie Eddins, two most excellent workmen, are responsible for the new work, but with all their skill they could not make a carpenter's shop and a printing shop run in harmony.

The Bed-Rock of Success.

lies in a keen, clear brain, backed by indomitable will and resistless energy. Such power comes from the splendid health that Dr. King's New Life Pills impart. They vitalize every organ and build up brain and body. J. A. Harmon, Lizemore, W. Va., write: "They are the best pills I ever used." 25c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

For Sale—35 stock ewes. Apply to Geo. Riley, Bullittsville.

THE

Godman Shoes

Our large line of Godman Shoes just opened is now ready for you to make your selection. We sold a great many of these Shoes last winter and found they gave splendid wear. Come in and see them. We have all styles at prices to suit everyone.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

¼ TO ½ BUTTER LOST THIS WAY

WHICH?

Which way do you skim your milk? It is hard sometimes to realize just how great the loss of cream is with crocks and pans. Some people may not believe that a

U. S.

CREAM SEPARATOR

skims enough closer than the old way to increase their butter yield one-fourth or more. But it does, and there's a plain reason for it. When you set milk the cream and skim milk are separated from one another by the force of gravity, but when you skim milk with a U. S. Separator centrifugal force, which is thousands of times stronger than gravity, does the separating. It squeezes out the last drop of cream. Cream is money—you can't afford to waste it. If you keep three or more cows, it will pay you to buy a U. S. Separator. Come in and look one over, anyway. They are sold by

The Mersman Hwd. Co., Covington, Ky.

NO BUTTER LOST THIS WAY

For Sale—40 good stock ewes. Apply to W. G. Kite, Waterloo.

Lost—1 red sow and 1 black Poland China gilt, belonging to Jesse Eddins, Burlington R. R. 2.

For Sale—Good roan horse—16 hands high, weighs 1,250 pounds. Lewis L. Jarrell, or Chas. Finn on Woolper.

Strayed or Stolen—White face yearling steer with crop off right ear. Any information as to its whereabouts will be thankfully received by J. J. Walton, Petersburg, R. 1.

For Sale—One yearling Jersey bull. Apply to T. E. Garrison, Burlington, Ky., R. R. No. 2.

For Sale—Good driving and family mare—will work anywhere. Apply to C. L. Tanner, Florence, R. R. No. 1.

For Sale—Pure bred English Berkshire Boars, eligible to register, ready for service. Address Dr. E. SLAUGHTER, Midway, Ky.

Lost—Between my home and Pleasant church, a gold watch, which are engraved the [illegible]. A liberal reward [illegible] returning to [illegible]

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

By ROBERT AMES BENNET.

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

Copyright, 1916, by A. C. McClurg & Co.

Crept Back Down the Trail.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero in preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation.

CHAPTER VIII.—Continued.

"They'll be dry in a day or two. Say, Winthrope, you might fetch some of those stones—mine of a ball. I used to be a fancy pitcher when I was a kid, and we might scare up a rabbit or something."

"I play cricket, myself. But these stones—"

"Better'n a gun, when you haven't got the gun. Come on. We'll go in a bunch, after all, in case I need stones."

With due consideration for Winthrope's ankle—not for Winthrope—Blake set so slow a pace that the half mile's walk consumed over half an hour. But his smouldering irritation was soon quenched when they drew near the green thicket at the foot of the cleft. In the almost deathlike stillness of mid-afternoon, the sound of trickling water came to their ears, clear and musical.

"A spring!" shouted Blake. "I guessed right. Look at those green plants and grass; there's the channel where it runs out in the sand and dries up."

The others followed him eagerly as he pushed in among the trees. They saw no running water, for the tiny rill that trickled down the ledges was matted over with vines. But at the foot of the slope lay a pool, some ten yards across, and overshadowed by the surrounding trees. There was no underbrush, and the ground was trampled bare as a floor.

"By Jove," said Winthrope; "see the tracks! There must have been a drove of sheep about."

"Deer, you mean," replied Blake, bending to examine the deeper prints at the edge of the pool. "These ain't sheep tracks. A lot of them are larger."

"Could you not uncover the brook?" asked Miss Leslie. "If animals have been drinking here, one would prefer cleaner water."

"Sure," assented Blake. "If you're game for a climb, and can wait a few minutes, we'll get it out of the spring itself. We've got to go up anyway, to get at our poultry yard!"

"Here's a place that looks like a path," called Winthrope, who had circled about the edge of the pool to the farther side.

Blake ran around beside him and stared at the tunnel-like passage which wound up the limestone ledges beneath the overarching thickets.

"Odd place, is it not?" observed Wiothrope. "Looks like a fox run, only larger, you know."

"Too low for deer, though—and their hoofs would have cut up the moss and ferns more. Let's get a close look."

As he spoke, Blake stooped and climbed a few yards up the trail to an overhanging ledge, four or five feet high. Where the trail ran up over this break in the slope the stone was bare of all vegetation. Blake laid his club on the top of the ledge, and was about to vault after it, when, directly beneath his nose, he saw the print of a great catlike paw, outlined in dried mud. At the same instant a deep growl came rumbling down the "fox run." Without waiting for a second warning, Blake drew his club to him, and crept back down the trail. His stealthy movements and furtive backward glances filled his companions with vague terror. He himself was hardly less alarmed.

"Get out of the trees—into the open!" he exclaimed in a hoarse whisper, and as they crept away, white with dread of the unknown danger, he followed at their heels, looking backward, his club raised in readiness to strike.

Once clear of the trees, Winthrope caught Miss Leslie by the hand and broke into a run. In their terror they paid no heed to Blake's command to stop. They had darted off so unexpectedly that he did not overtake them short of 100 yards.

"Hold on!" he said, gripping Winthrope roughly by the shoulder. "It's safe enough here, and you'll knock out that blamed ankle."

"What did you see?" asked Miss Leslie.

"Nothing," stumbled Blake, ashamed of his fear.

"Nothing?" echoed Winthrope.

"Nothing to the size of a [illegible] I'll go back and [illegible] there. I heard a growl, and thought it about time to clear out."

"By Jove, we'd better withdraw around the point!"

"Withdraw your aunty! There's no leopard going to tackle us out here in open ground this time of day. The sneaking tomcat! If only I had a match, I'd show him how we smoke rat holes."

"Mr. Winthrope spoke of rubbing sticks to make fire," suggested Miss Leslie.

"Make sweat, you mean. But we may as well try it now, if we're going to at all. The sun's hot enough to fry eggs. We'll go back to a shady place and pick up sticks on the way."

Though there was shade under the cliff within some 600 feet, they had to go some distance to the nearest dry wood—a dead thornbush. Here they gathered a quantity of branches, even Miss Leslie volunteering to carry a load.

All was thrown down in a heap near the cliff, and Blake squatted beside it, penknife in hand. Having selected the dryest of the larger sticks, he bored a hole in one side and dropped in a pinch of powdered bark. Laying the stick in the full glare of the sun, he thrust a twig into the hole and began to twirl it between his palms. This movement he kept up for several minutes; but whether he was unable to twirl the twig fast enough or whether the right kind of wood or tinder was lacking all his efforts failed to produce a spark.

Unwilling to accept the failure, Winthrope insisted upon trying in turn, and pride held him to the task until he was drenched with sweat. The result was the same.

"Told you so," jeered Blake from where he lay in the shade. "We'd stand more chance cracking stones together."

"But what shall we do now?" asked Miss Leslie. "I am becoming very tired of cocoanuts, and there seems to be nothing else around here. Indeed, I think this is all such a waste of time. If we had walked straight along the shore this morning we might have reached a town."

"We might, Miss Jenny, and then, again, we mightn't. I happened to overhaul the captain's chart—Quilimane, Mozambique—that's all for hundreds of miles. Towns on this coast are about as thick as hen's-teeth."

"How about native villages?" demanded Winthrope.

"Oh, yes; maybe I'm fool enough to go into a wild nigger town without a gun. Maybe I didn't talk with fellows down on the Rand."

"But what shall we do?" repeated Miss Leslie, with a little frightened catch in her voice. She was at last beginning to realize what this rude break in her sheltered, pampered life might mean. "What shall we do? It's—it's absurd to think of having to stay in this horrid country for weeks or perhaps months—unless some ship comes for us!"

"Look here, Miss Leslie," answered Blake, sharply yet not unkindly; "suppose you just sit back and use your [illegible] If you're your dad [illegible] you've got brains so [illegible] Big Bonanza it for being [illegible] Bellaview [illegible] at 11 o'clock.

"By morning I believe my ankle will be in such shape that I could go back for the string of cocoanuts which we dropped on the beach."

"I'll go myself, to-day, else we'll have no supper. Now we're getting down to bedrock. If those nuts have not been washed away by the tide, we're fixed for to-night; and for two meals, such as they are. But what next? Even the rain pools will be dried up by another day or so."

"Are not sea-birds good to eat?" inquired Miss Leslie.

"Some."

"Then, if only we could climb the cliff—might there not be another place?"

"No; I've looked at both sides. What's more, that spotted tomcat has got a monopoly on our water supply. The river may be fresh at low tide; but we've got nothing to boil water in, and such bayou stuff is just concentrated malaria."

"Then we must find water elsewhere," responded Miss Leslie. "Might we not succeed if we went on to the other ridge?"

"That's the ticket. You've got a headpiece, Miss Jenny! It's too late to start now. But first thing to-morrow I'll take a run down that way, while you two lay around camp and see if you can twist some sort of fishline out of cocoanut fiber. By braiding your hair, Miss Jenny, you can spare us your hair-pins for hooks."

"But, Mr. Blake, I'm afraid—I'd rather you'd take us with you. With that dreadful creature so near—"

"Well, I don't know. Let's see your feet?"

Miss Leslie glanced at him, and thrust a slender foot from beneath her skirt.

"Um-m—stocking torn; but those slippers are tougher than I thought. Most of the way will be good walking, along the beach. We'll leave the fishing to Pat—er—beg pardon—Win! With his ankle—"

"By Jove, Blake, I'll chance the ankle. Don't leave me behind. I give you my word, you'll not have to lug me."

"Oh, of course, Mr. Winthrope must go with us!"

"Fraid to go alone, eh?" demanded Blake, frowning.

His tone startled and offended her; yet all he saw was a politely quizzical lifting of her brows.

"Why should I be afraid, Mr. Blake?" she asked.

Blake stared at her moodily. But when she met his gaze with a confiding smile, he flushed and looked away.

"All right," he muttered; "we'll move camp together. But don't expect me to pack his ludship, if we draw a blank and have to trek back without food or water."

CHAPTER IX.

The Leopards' Den.

WHILE Blake made a successful trip for the abandoned cocoanuts, his companions leveled the stones beneath the ledges chosen by Winthrope, and gathered enough dried sea-weed along the tides to soften the hard beds.

Soothed by the monotonous wash of the sea among the rocks, even Miss Leslie slept well. Blake, who had insisted that she should retain his coat, was wakened by the chilliness preceding the dawn. Five minutes later they started on their journey.

The starlight glimmered on the waves and shed a faint radiance over the rocks. This and their knowledge of the way enabled them to pick a path along the foot of the cliff without difficulty. Once on the beach, they swung along at a smart gait, invigorated by the cool air.

Dawn found them half way to their goal. Blake called a halt when the first red streaks shot up the eastern sky. All stood waiting until the quickly following sun sprang forth from the sea. Blake's first act was to glance from one headland to the other, estimating their relative distances. His grunt of satisfaction was lost in Winthrope's exclamation: "By Jove, look at the cattle!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Public Eye.

In a little more we came to an open space, very thronged.

"The Public Eye!" shouted the megaphone man of our party.

There were some curious people within the space, but even more curious were those just outside.

Of these latter we thought certain women especially interesting; they were busily neglecting their families in order to get into the Public Eye. A pathos attached to another group of women who had been in the Public Eye and could never be happy out of it, though they couldn't in the least tell why.

Positively funny were a few men who kept trying, by a variety of droll devices, to break into the Public Eye "vice-presidential candidates!" one megaphone man explained.—Puck.

THE CHINESE TEAPOT

Philip Harding glanced at his watch after having said good-by all around to the home folks. He saw he had still three hours to train time. His trunk was already at the depot and his affairs were in shipshape order, save one, and this one was causing him more anxiety than all the others, for on it depended his present happiness and future plans.

As he swung along in the direction of Helene Thornton's home he debated within himself as to his chances. As he reviewed the two years in which he had known her he could not remember of any time when by word or sign she seemed aware of the deep admiration and love he had for her. He laughed a little nervously as he remembered a certain day when they had wandered into a Chinese curio shop. An odd Chinese teapot had pleased her and he bought it and told her to keep it as a souvenir. She laughingly turned about and bought him a tiny vase in return. He remembered how he treasured it. The choicest spot on the mantel was its seat of honor, but he never saw the teapot, and one day, being curious, he said:

"Helene, do you remember the day we bought the Chinese souvenirs?"

It seemed to him that it took her an unnecessarily long time to remember, but finally she did, and then he said:

"I have treasured that vase ever since."

He remembered he had waited for her to say something, and at last she said, rather indifferently:

Oh, the teapot; I broke it a short time afterward."

It was like a dash of cold water, and now as he strode along it gave him a chilly feeling of doubt. However, the question must be settled today, for he was to be gone four months and he could not leave it unsettled. He had tried for a week to see her alone, and last night he told her that he was going to say good-by to-day, and so it was with a feeling of determination that he rang the bell.

Her 12-year-old brother opened the door.

"Come right in, Mr. Harding. I'm awfully glad to see you." He closed the door and led the way to the sitting room.

"I'm all alone. My cold is much better and I'm busy working for Aunt Jane." He showed Phil a collection of broken china that he was gluing together.

Phil stammered: "Isn't your sister in?"

"Helene? No, she went out, but said that she would be back at half past five."

"Half past five," echoed Phil. At that time he would be on his way to the train. He knew that she had gone out to avoid him and for the instant he was angry, then he resolved desperately to wait, even if he missed the train, and settle it at once.

Henry chatted away as he worked and finally surveyed his finished task with pride.

"Helene has an old dish upstairs that she thinks a lot of. It's broken and she'll be delighted to have it fixed."

He ran upstairs and came back with the "old dish," and Phil's heart gave a leap, for he was holding the Chinese teapot.

"Did you say that your sister valued it?" he said quietly.

"Well, I don't say she valued it. It doesn't look worth much, but she thought a lot of it. Perhaps some one that's dead gave it to her."

The bright thought settled everything to him.

"It's full of truck," he said as he proceeded to dump a miscellaneous collection of things on the table. Such things as tumbled out! A dance order, a knot of ribbon, a snap shot which Phil recognized immediately, a faded rosebud, a tiny watch charm, etc.

Phil felt a little guilty as he glanced at the pile. It seemed as though he was intruding on sacred ground. Still he had not been to blame; it was the brother who had unconsciously laid bare her secrets. He resolved to wait; if a fortune depended upon his getting that train he would rather lose it than miss seeing her.

He persuaded Henry not to light up and they sat in the twilight. Every nerve was strained for the sound of a well known step. At last her cheery voice sounded in the hall.

"Sitting in the dark, brother?" She turned on the light in the sitting room as she passed it. Then she caught sight of Phil.

"Why, Mr. Harding"—she started forward with outstretched hand, but followed his glance to the table. She gave a cry of dismay. For once she was off her guard. She turned pale and grasped the table to steady herself, then her face flushed red; she was beginning to get angry.

Phil turned to Henry. "Say, Henry, there's a book in the library called 'The Cruise of the Firefly.' Find it, and here's a dollar for your trouble."

After a search of 15 minutes Henry returned to the sitting room. He had heard the hall door close, and saw Phil hurrying down the street.

"I'm sorry I couldn't find it for him," he said.

"Are you pleased with the way I mended the dish?"

"Very much, you dear bungler," she said with a happy laugh.

"Funny girls think so much of old truck," he thought as he watched her carefully putting away her treasures in the Chinese teapot.

HER PHYSICIAN ADVISED

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbus, Ohio.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during change of life. My doctor told me it was good, and since taking it I feel so much better that I can do all my work again. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fine remedy for all woman's troubles, and I never forget to tell my friends what it has done for me."—Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 East Long St., Columbus, Ohio.

Another Woman Helped.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."—Mrs. Charles Barclay, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DYOLA DYES

16 fast, beautiful colors, 10c per package at dealers. If not in stock, send us 10c stating color desired.

ONE DYE FOR ALL GOODS

Color card and book of directions free by writing Dy-o-la, Burlington, Vermont.

DYOLA DYES

Ours and Theirs.

"A play on names unconsciously perpetrated by my youngest son was very funny," said a Flatbush man the other day. "We live next door to a family named Feltenour, and the other night while my family was busy reading in the library we heard a racket on the back porch. My son went out to investigate, and on his return my wife, always inquisitive, asked what had caused the noise.

"'Nothin' but a couple of cats,' Jim told her, and then I heard her ask: 'Did you see whose they were?'

"'Yes; one was ours and the other was Feltenour's.'"

Guess Where She Is From.

The head of the house had been ill for many months, and had lost his appetite entirely.

"I can't seem to fix anything that he'll enjoy and he hardly eats anything," the mistress was saying to the maid, who was a new arrival from the old country.

"That's always the way," returned the girl. "They're all the same, them invalids. All they want is nothing at all, and then when you bring it to them they don't eat it."

Come Home, Mother.

Mother, dear mother, come home from the club, and rustle some supper for me; 'tis time you were here working over the grub and getting things ready for tea. The table's not set nor the tea kettle boiled, the vegetables are not prepared; no wonder my temper and feelings are roiled, though 'tis doubtful, indeed, if you cared. Come home, come home, come ho-ho-home! Yes, cut your symposium down a wee bit, dear mother, and hustle right home!—Los Angeles Express.

CHILDREN SHOWED IT

Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness.

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum, and it is such a comfort to have something we can enjoy drinking with the children.'

"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was the most healthful drink in the world for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact.

"My first trial was a failure. The cook boiled it four or five minutes and it tasted so flat that I was in despair but determined to give it one more trial. This time we followed the directions and boiled it fifteen minutes after the boiling began. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich delicious flavour. In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better month after month, until now I am perfectly healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to the nerve-destroying regular coffee for any money."

Read the famous little "Health Classic," "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Kentucky Items of Interest

DISCOVERIES BY JAMES

Of Valuable Tracts of Land and $3,000 in Cash, Which He Claims Belongs to the State.

Frankfort, Ky.—State Auditor Frank P. James will be put in the class with Dr. Cook and Commander Peary soon by Kentuckians if he continues to make his discoveries. His latest announcement is that he has found two valuable tracts of land in Clay county, valued at $6,000 each, and $3,000 in cash belonging to the state in Clay county, making a total of $15,000. He returned from a tour of investigation, and the matter has been placed in the hands of Attorney-General Breathitt to help along the findings. One of the tracts of land which Auditor James alleges belongs to the state is occupied by A. B. Howard, father of the noted James Howard, convicted for the murder of Gov. Goebel, which, he says, was sold at auction and bought in by the state at the conclusion of the term of office by Howard when he was high sheriff. A part of this land was recently sold to John D. White for $5,000, and it was during the examination of the deed to get the title that the sale was recalled. Another tract of land is that which escheated to the state from nonpayment of taxes. The land was sold and $3,000 of the money was collected, put in bank and forgotten.

CRAZED WITH JEALOUSY,

Husband Killed Wife and Then Shot Himself.

Louisville, Ky.—Crazed by jealousy, Thomas P. Ginn, 41 years old, shot and instantly killed his wife and then placed the revolver in his mouth and pulled the trigger. The two bodies were found side by side when the police rushed in to ascertain the shooting. Ginn was taken to a hospital and will recover.

That Ginn's jealousy had been directed principally toward his son, Thomas P. Ginn, Jr., 22 years old, is the belief of neighbors, who had heard frequent quarrels between the man and his wife. At the supper hour when Mrs. Ginn went to a grocery her husband followed her. As the two entered an alley near their home Ginn pulled his revolver and shot his wife in the back. She fell dead at his feet. Ginn was a tobacco worker and was in comparatively good circumstances. His wife was before her marriage Frances Goodwin. Both had lived in Maysville, Ky., several years, but had moved to Louisville a short time after their marriage.

Settlement Won't Stand.

Frankfort, Ky.—Contracts made by agents of railroad companies with passengers who are injured too soon after the injury occurs will not stand in the federal court in Kentucky, for such is the decision of Judge Cochran in the case of W. B. Waugh against the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad and Waugh was given $1,150 damages. He had settled the day after the wreck for $250, but Judge Cochran held that such a settlement when insufficient to pay for the injury could not stand.

More Tax Paid Whisky.

Frankfort, Ky.—Deputy Collector Grant Roberts collected during the month of September the sum of $170,-221.15 as tax on 4,124 barrels of whisky containing 154,746 gallons. For the month of September last year the amount collected was only $149,814, or $30,000 less than this year. This shows a healthy increase in the whisky trade in this section.

Warden Must Pay Reward.

Frankfort, Ky.—Judge Stout, in the Franklin circuit court, held that Warden Mudd, of the penitentiary, must pay to William Woodside, of Franklin county, $100 reward for the return to the penitentiary of Dicey Gilpin, an escaped convict.

Against a Pool.

Glasgow, Ky.—At a meeting of the local Burley Tobacco society here resolutions were passed instructing its delegates to vote against the 1909 crop being pooled. The attempt to pool the burley crop has not met with success.

Lexington, Ky.—James B. Haggin, master of Elmendorf farm, pledged his crop of 360 acres to the pool of the Burley Tobacco Society, and, in consequence, there is much elation among the members of the society.

Louisville, Ky.—A most interesting feature of the program for celebrating the golden anniversary of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary was the history of the institution as told in poetry by Mrs. Ella Broaddus Robertson.

Louisville, Ky.—Archie H. Robinson, 20, son of Archie M. Robinson, one of the wealthiest and best known men in Louisville, committed suicide by shooting himself at Colorado Springs, Col. He had been in poor health for several years.

Maysville, Ky.—"Beau Brummel," the handsome stallion of L. Anderson's Point An View stock farm, of this city, was sold to eastern parties for $1,000, the highest price ever paid for a horse raised in Mason.

DAMAGES OF $409,636.50

Involved in Suit Filed by Lovell & Buffington Tobacco Co. Against Burley Tobacco Society.

Covington, Ky.—The third suit involving the Burley Tobacco Society was lodged in the federal court here. The Lovell & Buffington Tobacco Co., of Covington, are the plaintiffs, and Clarence LeBus and others the defendants. Like the other petitions filed, the allegations are to the effect that the defendants entered into combination with the Kentucky growers and others from Ohio to obtain a monopoly of the burley tobacco of the years 1906, 1907 and 1908, to control the price and destroy the competition among the growers and to prevent a full and open sale and to restrain the trade therein between various states of the country. They allege further that 50 branches or subcombinations were organized and became active in each of the counties raising burley tobacco, that they conspired and in order to control the quantity of burley tobacco did procure pledges or contracts of not less than 80 per cent and at the same time agreed not to sell the tobacco in open markets of the years 1906, 1907 and 1908. The plaintiffs claim they were unable to purchase any burley tobacco elsewhere than from the society in question, and which they were compelled to have in their business, were made to pay exorbitant prices. The plaintiffs are seeking the recovery of $409,636.50.

HAD A HAPPY LIFE.

Will of ex-Judge O'Neal Makes Mention of Happy Existence.

Louisville, Ky.—The will of ex-Judge J. T. O'Neal was probated, and in it he makes mention of the happy existence he led. One paragraph of the will reads: "I wish with a heart full of gratitude to make this public acknowledgment that my life has been full of sunshine, brought to me from a happy home in childhood and continued through life in the home of which I have been the head." He bequeathed the bulk of his estate to his widow, and directed that no inventory or appraisement be made.

RIGHT TO SUE RAILROAD.

Circuit Judge Stout of Frankfort Renders Important Decision.

Frankfort, Ky.—In the Franklin circuit court here Judge R. L. Stout decided that the administrator of G. B. Massie, an employe of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, who was killed in Florida, could bring suit for damages in this county. This is the first ruling on this statute providing that a resident of Kentucky killed in any other state by a railroad operating through Kentucky may bring suit in any county in the state through which the railroad runs, provided the administrator lives in that county. Damages of $20,000 are asked.

Louisville, Ky.—Entries are coming in numbers for the Louisville horse show. It will be held in the Armory the week of October 11, and President Carroll believes that in brilliance of exhibition and in size of attendance it will outrank the nine previous exhibitions.

Lexington, Ky.—At a meeting held here by delegates from the various anti-tuberculosis associations of the state, the "Kentucky Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis" was organized. C. L. Adler, of Louisville, was chosen president.

Lexington, Ky.—The West Lexington Presbytery, embracing the Presbyterian churches in 10 counties, adjourned after selecting Beattyville as the place for the meeting next year. During the last fiscal year $17,000 was given to foreign missions.

Lexington, Ky.—Robert D. Rodes, a soldier from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., is under arrest here charged with being a deserter from the U. S. army. His arrest was due to the fact that he sold his uniform at a secondhand clothing store here.

Frankfort, Ky.—Atty. Gen. Breathitt has delivered an opinion in which he holds that a child is subject to the truant law after he has reached the seventh anniversary of his birth and until he has reached the fifteenth anniversary.

Frankfort, Ky.—Col. Garnett Ripley, assistant adjutant general, handed his resignation to Adjt. Gen. Johnson, to take effect October 1. It was accepted. Gen. Johnson will look after the work until Col. Ripley's successor is selected.

Glasgow, Ky.—John W. Montgomery, 65, republican nominee for representative of this county, was murdered by Morris Wilcoxen, at whose home he had called to get Wilcoxen to pool his burley tobacco.

Madisonville, Ky.—Trains on the new M., H. & E. railroad will enter Madisonville October 10, according to the announcement of the management. Plans have been made for a handsome two-story passenger station.

WILL HAVE TO REFUND FEES

Will County Officials Who Have Collected More Than $5,000 as Annual Compensation.

Frankfort, Ky.—State Inspector and Examiner Thatcher turned into the state treasury $2,500 received from Sheriff Davison, of Kenton county, which amount represents what Davison has received over and above $5,000 as his annual compensation during the years 1906 to 1908, inclusive. Section 236 of the constitution provides that no public officer, except the governor, shall receive more than $5,000 annual compensation. Section 4,168 of the statutes fixes the compensation of sheriffs at not exceeding this amount. Although the General Assembly has never provided for the specific enforcement of the statute, the governor contends that the law is self-enforcing. And following an examination of the Kenton county sheriff's office, he determined that Davison owed the state some $3,500 if the law was enforced. Davison took the position, however, that some of the excess was used for office expenses and deputy services, and the settlement of $2,500 to the state was a compromise agreed upon by the governor, attorney general and auditor. According to Thatcher, county officials throughout the state who have collected in fees more than $5,000 as their annual compensation will have to refund to the state or defend legal action for its collection, and it is expected that a thorough investigation and clean-up of county offices will result with thousands of dollars converted to the state treasury.

POOLING OF TOBACCO

Will Be Continued by Burley Tobacco Society Until October 20.

Lexington, Ky.—The executive board of the Burley Tobacco Society met here and sent out to the chairman of the Board of Control of the various counties of the burley tobacco district the following report and suggestions: "Have pooled 101,238 acres; 94,812 acres not pooled. Think it best to declare pool on and continue pooling to October 20. We are elated over the 50,000 acres pooled in the last two weeks." This information and suggestion was telegraphed or telephoned to every county chairman where the farmers in the pool were assembled to vote on whether or not the pool should be a go on the percentage given. So far every county in the district reporting to the home office has voted unanimously to hold the pool on the percentage given. Since the meeting reports are coming in showing pooling of many additional acres in all parts of the district, amounting to an increase of at least 10 per cent. It is confidently expected that at the close of the extended time, October 20, there will be 130,000 acres in the pool.

Lexington, Ky.—Fire in the local office of the Western Union Telegraph Co. destroyed the switchboard, 1,200 cells of battery, 30 sets of instruments and other equipment. A temporary office was rigged up and the main wires were soon working as usual.

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Willson appointed as delegates to represent Kentucky at the Tennessee River Improvement association meeting at Harriman, Tenn., Nov. 5-6: H. A. Petter and Curt Covington, of Paducah; Judge E. Barry, of Benton, and E. Hurt, of Murray.

Louisville, Ky.—A distinct earthquake shock threw the residents of Louisville and Jefferson county into a fright, and the local weather bureau officials were kept busy answering queries as to the probability of a repetition of the shock. Little or no damage was done.

Carlisle, Ky.—The Cintral Kentucky Osteopathic Association elected Dr. J. S. Oldham, president; Dr. Josephine Haggins, vice president; Dr. Virginia Lee Amos, secretary; Dr. Martha Petree, treasurer; Drs. S. W. Longan, E. O. Vance, Ella Y. Hicks and O. C. Robertson, trustees.

Owensboro, Ky.—W. A. Gaines & Co., of Frankfort, filed suit in the federal court against the Rock Spring Distillery Co. and Silas Rosenfeld, of Owensboro, for $20,000 damages and for the protection of the rights on a patented trade mark, "Old Crow," used on a brand of whisky. Infringement is charged.

Jeffersontown, Ky.—The Jefferson County Farmers' Institute will hold an annual meeting here October 15 and 16, and from present indications it will be the greatest gathering of farmers brought together in years. Besides a number of local speakers, M. C. Rankin, commissioner of agriculture from Kentucky, has consented to speak. W. D. Nichols, of Bloomfield, and John S. Blair, of Carlisle, will also be prominent speakers at the institute. A committee is now working out the arrangements of the meeting and it is probable that the programs to be given on the two days of the institute will surpass any which have been given at previous meetings of the farmers of the county.

A NURSE'S EXPERIENCE.

Backache, Pains in the Kidneys, Bloating, Etc., Overcome.

A nurse is expected to know what to do for common ailments, and women who suffer backache, constant languor, and other common symptoms of kidney complaint, should be grateful to Mrs. Minnie Turner, of E. B. St., Anadarko, Okla., for pointing out the way to find quick relief. Mrs. Turner used Doan's Kidney Pills for a run-down condition, backache, pains in the sides and kidneys, blood limbs, etc. "The way they have built me up is simply marvelous," says Mrs. Turner, who is a nurse. "My health improved rapidly. Five boxes did so much for me I am telling everybody about it."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE DANGER SIGNAL

"Yes, Freddy, I'm a sick man!"
"Wot's der matter?"
"Why, I'm gettin' that restless an' wakeful, dat I can't sleep, only at night!"

Would Find Use for It.

After a day and a night spent in answering telephone calls from people who wanted the latest news from Peary and Dr. Cook, the secretary of one of the arctic clubs had retired for a well-earned rest, when the persistent 'phone bell rang again. A voice at the other end said:

"Do you want the ambulance sent right over?"

"What ambulance?" roared the irate secretary.

"Why, the one you sent for."

"I sent for no ambulance."

"You lie!"

The secretary gasped, then he screamed into the 'phone:

"Send it as soon as possible, and you come over, too, and I'll send you back in it!"

Feeding Farm Hands.

Every farmer's wife knows what tremendous appetites farm hands usually have; but while they eat well they work well, too.

Here's a good suggestion about feeding farm hands. Give them plenty of Quaker Oats. A big dish of Quaker Oats porridge with sugar and cream or milk is the greatest breakfast in the world for a man who needs vigor and strength for a long day's work. The man that eats Quaker Oats plentifully and often is the man who does good work without excessive fatigue. There is a sustaining quality in Quaker Oats not found in other foods, and for economy it is at the head of the list. Besides the regular size packages Quaker Oats is packed in large size family packages, with and without china. 5

The Way of It.

"But I don't love you," objected the young woman.

"Then why," howled the indignant youth, referring hastily to divers memoranda in his pocket diary, "did you eat up a total of 65 boxes of chocolates I bought you during the past year if you didn't love me?"

"Because," she said, with a rapt expression on her lovely features, "I do love chocolate."

Physicians Everywhere Use Resinol With Very Great and Unvarying Success.

During the last six months I have prescribed Resinol in numerous cases of acute and chronic skin diseases and chronic ulcerations with very great and unvarying success. It is a reliable preparation, and its action is prompt and pleasing.

A. F. Volkman, Baltimore, Md.

A Work of Supererogation.

Henry dislikes being bathed and argues with his mother over every square inch of his four-year-old anatomy.

One night, when his patience was especially tried by what he considered wholly unnecessary work, he exclaimed:

"Oh, mamma, couldn't you skip my stomach? Nobody ever sees my stomach!"—Judge's Library.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, Price, 75c. per bottle.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Of Some Benefit.

Barber—Did the bottle of hair restorer I sold you do any good?

Customer—Yes, indeed; it kept me from wasting my money on any more.

WHERE THEY LEARN ECONOMY

Matron Knew What She Was About When She Went to Engage Maid.

The manager of the employment agency was used to hearing women in search of maids ask applicants all sorts of queer questions, says the New York Tribune, but this matron made him mildly curious. Of 14 girls in turn she had inquired: "Have you worked in a minister's family?" None of them had. "Too bad," said the matron to the manager. "None of these girls will do."

"May I ask," said the manager, "why you are anxious to know if these girls have worked in ministers' families?"

"Why, the fact is, we're very hard up just now," said the matron, candidly; "I want a girl who knows how to economize, and those who have worked in clergymen's families, I've discovered, have learned that lesson."

CHILD ATE CUTICURA OINTMENT.

Spread Whole Box of It on Crackers —Not the Least Injury Resulted.

Cuticura Thus Proven Pure and Sweet.

A New York friend of Cuticura writes:

"My three year old son and heir, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the stateroom and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment. When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant.

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Poker Finance.

Mose Coonley (a winner)—Guess I'll cash in, boys.

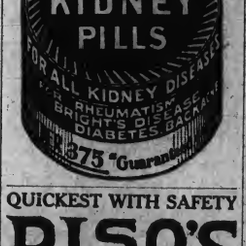
Abe Mokeby (also to the good)—Guess I'll do de same.

Jefferson Yallerby—Me too!

Bill Bingy (the banker, a big loser)—Well, I guess yo' each done got anuddeh guess a-comin', gen'lemen! Ownin' to dis heah attempted an' uncalled-fo' run on de bank, de insterto-tion am now suspended an' won't resume opprations till de panicky feelin' hab fully subsided an' de foolish depositahs continues doin' business as fohmahly. And it's youah deal, Mose Coonley!"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

The 800-foot bridge over the Yellow river at Lanchowfu, in the province of Kansu, is nearing completion. All materials had to be conveyed nearly 1,000 miles in Chinese carts.

Eggs, more eggs, I get twice as many eggs summer and winter, since I discovered my sure successful method how to make hens lay more eggs. It's free if you write, Mrs. L. Alley, New Madrid, Mo.



Though we should examine the whole world we shall not find one man so happy as to have nothing left to wish for.—Oliver Goldsmith.

No matter how long your neck may be or how sore your throat, Hamline Wizard Oil will cure it surely and quickly. It drives out all soreness and inflammation.

When a woman has occasion to loaf, she calls it either shopping, visiting or entertaining.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Many a man's honesty has saved him from becoming a politician.

QUICKEST WITH SAFETY

PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

For the baby often means rest for both mother and child. Little ones like it too—it's so palatable to take. Free from opiates.

All Druggists, 25 cents.

Habitual Constipation

May be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs & Elixir of Senna, which enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with when no longer needed, as the best of remedies when required are to assist nature, and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, proper efforts, and right living generally.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine.

MANUFACTURED BY
CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS
ONE SIZE ONLY—REGULAR PRICE 50¢ PER BOTTLE

Neglected Colds and Coughs

are the cause of many cases of Pneumonia and Consumption. No matter how slight your Cough or Cold may be, cure it before it has a chance to do any harm.

DR. D. JAYNE'S Expectorant

is the oldest and best known medicine in the world for relieving and curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Croup, Whooping Cough, and diseases of this class. Your druggist will supply you. In three size bottles, $1.00, 50c. and 25c.

Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge is an excellent tonic for both adults and children. It is also a safe worm medicine.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brentwood

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Work While You Sleep

Millions of people have CASCARETS do Health work for them. If you have never tried this great health maker—Get a 10c box—and you will never use any other bowel medicine.

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

Readers of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

BE LUCKY! The Virginia Fairy Stone is or Lucky Stone is a relic of olden times, found only on top of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Beautifully formed stones just as nature produced them. Used as Fobs, Stick Pins, Hat Pins, or any other way brings luck to wearer in all undertakings. Kings, Presidents, Statesmen, Lawyers, Doctors, Business Men, Farmers and others have found these little stones wonders a talisman against bad luck. Wear a Fairy Stone and be Lucky! Fifty cents will get one. Descriptive booklet FREE upon request. Nowe wonderful than any of the eight wonders of the world.
VIRGINIA LUCKY STONE CO., Dept. L., ROANOKE, VA.

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. Full line stamp and stencil goods. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box.

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 41-1909.

COLT DISTEMPER

Can be handled very easily. The sick are cured, and all others in same stable, no matter how exposed, are protected from attack by using SPOHN'S LIQUID DISTEMPER CURE. Give one to two teaspoonfuls in feed. Acts on the blood and expels all germs of disease. Has cured a great many more horses for more people than any other known preparation. Contains no arsenic, nor other poisonous drug. Can be given to brood mares, sucklings, sound animals, sick and those in foal. Does not shock the system, cause a scour, a loss of appetite or interfere with work in any way. Has been used successfully for 20 years. Booklet free. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent express paid, by the manufacturers. Price, $1.00 per can. Larger quantities cheaper. Special agents wanted. Largest selling horse remedy in the world.
SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Chemists and Bacteriologists, Goshen, Ind., U. S. A.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

D. A. Lunsford and wife are visiting Mrs. Lunsford's mother in Ind.

George Napier and sister, Dora, spent Saturday night and Sunday in Cincinnati.

John C. Miller spent last Thursday and Friday at Big Bone Springs on business.

Mace Richeson and W. J. Black, of Berkshire, spent Thursday here with friends.

Miss Renia Lunsford was the guest of her cousin, Jessie Lunsford, part of the past week.

Mr. Job, of Birmingham, Alabama, spent Sunday here on a visit to his cousin, D. B. Walace.

B. B. Hume, of Burlington, and C. D. Shobe, of Chicago, were here last Thursday on business.

Scott Chambers and wife spent several days last week in Peteresburg at the sick bed of his father.

Born, to W. J. Troutman and wife, Sept. 22d, a fine daughter. Dr. J. G. Slater attending physician.

Charles Craig and Phillip Cayton and son, of East Bend, spent Saturday here with relatives and friends.

Chas. A. Slater, one of our enterprising merchants, spent part of last week in Cincinnati in relation to his store.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen S. Watts left, Friday, for Bullittsville to spend several days with relatives and friends.

Boone Williamson, Lee Huey, John Rust, and John L. Jones, of Landing, spent last Thursday here with friends.

Robert C. Green, the clever cashier of the Walton Bank and Trust Company, spent Saturday in Cincinnati on business.

Geo. L. Miller, a prominent and popular citizen of Big Bone Springs, spent last Thursday here with relatives and friends.

A. Kirtley Johnson and A. Ralph Edwards, of the Walton mail service, enjoyed a day's recreation in Cincinnati last week.

Dr. T. T. Metcalfe, of Independence, the popular and clever Treasurer of Kenton county, spent last Wednesday here with friends.

Miss Miller, of Visalia, who is teaching the Metcalfe school and boarding at Mrs. Sarah Jones', attended the fair at Falmouth, last Saturday.

Hon. J. W. Kennedy, of Union, was a welcome visitor here last Thursday, attending the farmers' institute, and shaking hands with his many friends.

Mrs. T. B. Northcutt and baby, of Kenton county, near town, left Saturday for Hamilton, Ohio, on a week's visit to her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Edwards and family.

S. D. Bolington has been granted an increase of pension from $15 per month to $20 per month. Mr. Bolington was a member of Co. E. 140th Indiana Volunteers during the civil war.

W. M. Hudson a prominent farmer of Kenton county, was a visitor here Friday, attending a meeting of the directors of the Equitable Bank and Trust Company, being a member of the board.

W. W. Conrad, of Dry Ridge, was a visitor here Saturday. He states that the tobacco in his locality was nearly all pooled, and the farmers are hopeful that the pool will be consummated.

Legrand Gaines, a prominent and clever citizen of near Burlington, spent part of last week here attending the Farmers' Institute, and was the guest of his son, W. Lee Gaines, near Richwood.

Bruce Dudgeon has purchased an interest in the meat establishment of H. R. Watson, taking the interest of the late John H. Watson, and the firm will now be Watson & Dudgeon, with headquarters at the old stand.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor and family have moved from near Morning View to Walton, and occupy the Dr. S. M. Adams property, coming to Walton to avail themselves of the excellent school advantages for the children.

Walton Masonic Lodge had a very interesting meeting last Friday night when the Entered Apprentice degree was conferred on Dr. Harry W. Hamilton. The Lodge is constantly growing. Another petition for initiation was presented at that meeting.

Rev. Jas. W. Rogers returned Friday from Knoxville, Pendleton county, where he has been engaged in a very successful protracted meeting at the Christian church, and left Saturday for Mt. Lystra, Grant county, to fill his regular appointment at the Christian church there as pastor.

Mrs. C. R. Jones was the hostess, Thursday, at a pretty appointed six o'clock dinner given at her home, Maple Grove, as a compliment to Miss Graham Roberts. The guests were Misses Graham Roberts, Sallie Rogers, Sheba Roberts, Mary Peak, Mesdames Julia Peak, Ruth Hind, Howe Cleek, and Messrs. John Peck, Howe Cleek and Elder Lyons.

At the democratic convention held here last Saturday to nominate a candidate for justice of the peace to fill the vacancy in that office caused by the death of John H. Watson, the attendance was quite large, and much interest was manifested. Benj. O'Neal of Verona, and Geo. B. Powers, of this place, were the candidates, and Mr. O'Neal won by a majority of 17 votes.

The case of Mrs. Mary Adams vs the L. & N. Railroad Company, has been reversed by the Court of Appeals and remanded to the Boone Circuit Court for new trial. Mrs. Adams is the widow of the late Dr. S. M. Adams, and was hurt a couple of years ago by a suit case falling from a rack on a passenger train on which she was traveling from La[illegible] to Walton, and she brought [illegible] damages for the injuries [illegible] thereby. It was the [illegible] in the Kind in Kentucky, [illegible] in Big [illegible] Belieview [illegible] verdict for the defendant, and from this decision the plaintiff appealed to the Court of Appeals, and the case will now come up for trial again in the Boone Circuit Court at Burlington in December. J. G. Tomlin and Jno. L. Vest are the attorneys for Mrs. Adams and S. W. Tolin and John S. Gaunt for the railroad company.

The Union League of Christian Endeavors met at the Baptist church on the evening of September 26th, with president Charles Ransler presiding. After several songs were sung, in the absence of the leader, Mr. Worth, Mr. Ransler took charge. The lesson was the 45th and 48th verses of 24th Luke. The reading of the lesson was followed by a very interesting lectnre delivered by Bro. Riley, on "Search the Scriptures." The lectnre was followed by a beautiful solo by Mr. George Grubbs. In the absence of Bro. Wayman his time was devoted to scriptural quotations, which were followed by a solo by Miss Queen Tilliman. A number of sentence prayers was offered, followed by songs, when the meeting adjourned. The next meeting will be held at the Christian church, and all are cordially invited.

H. C. Diers represents the Farmers' Nursery Co., of Troy, Ohio, with 1,400 acres in cultivation. Mr. Diers received a letter from Chapman Young from San Diego, California, to meet him at the State fair at Louisville, on September 16th, for the purpose of negotiating for the purchase of an orchard. Mr. Diers succeeded in taking his order to plant 20 acres. Mr. Young expects to double this order for spring planting. Mr. W. H. Weber, of Devon, Boone county, Ky., also bought a large order for this fall delivery, and Mr. S. Sympson, of the same place, has ordered several thousand raspberry, blackberry and strawberry plants for fall, to supply the Cincinnati trade with fine berries. Mr. Diers will ship three car loads of trees and plants to this section this fall. Any orders sent him by mail to Walton, Ky., will receive his prompt attention.

Monday morning, in response to a telegram from Worthville, constable Thomas Johnson arrested five colored men on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of a white man near Worthville, Sunday night. It appears that a couple of negroes visited the house of the white man and asked for the privilege to stay over night, and they got into a quarrel, when one of the negroes shot and killed the white man. The alarm was given and the neigborhood was scoured for the guilty parties, and several were arrested and taken to Carrollton. One negro, who had a gold tooth, escaped, and officers here were wired to to intercept several negroes who were coming up on the morning train, and amongst those taken into custody was one who answered that description. Three of the suspects were liberated, and the other two were taken to Worthville by town marshal O'Neal, of that place.

The Boone County Farmers' Institnte, held here at the opera house, last Wednesday and Thursday, was a most enjoyable and instructive affair, and much information was gleaned from its session. The institute was under the direction of Jno. G. Blair, of Carlisle, Nicholas county, with John C. Bedinger, of Richwood, secretary, and W. D. Nicholls, of Bloomfield, Nelson county, instructor. There was quite a number of prominent farmers and public spirited citizens present at each of the sessions, and much assistance and cooperation were given the institute by both ladies and gentlemen. Much interest was manifested by all those who attended, and there is no question but excellent results will follow as an aftermath of the institnte. There were some excellent addresses and talks made, the following being among them: Hon. J. G. Tomlin, on several important subjects Chas. C. Sleet, of Beaver, on alfalfa in Boone county; R. O. Hughes, of Richwood, on sheep; J. C. Bedinger, of Richwsod, on "my choice of hogs;" Dr. B. K. Menefee, on "farm sanitation;" D. B. Wallace, on the object of farmers' institutes; Jno. L. Vest, on the outlook for agriculture in Boone county. Others made short speeches. Subjects assigned the instructor, Mr. Nicholls, and director, Mr. Blair, were fully discussed in a pleasing and instructive manner by these gentlemen and the most careful attention was given at all times to their remarks, evidencing the interest manifested by the people. Both gentlemen were very entertaining and instructive in all they had to say, and there is no question but what a great deal of good was elicited from the institute that will lead to better farming and more profitable results. There should have been a large attendance at every session as the values of information offered at the institute were worth more than their appropriation by attendance, for nearly all of the advantages that are obtained by the agricultural community are secured through these movements and organization. J. G. Tomlin and J. F. Cleek were elected as delegates from Boone county to the State Institute to be held at Frankfort in February, Mr. Tomlin being the delegate and Mr. Cleek the alternate.

Wm. Graves, of Hebron is painting C. C. Robert's residence.

Chas. A. Gaines is subbing for his brother, William, carrier on route, 2 while he is at Winchester.

Wallace, son of Owen Beemon, down on Woolper creek, has captured two large chicken hawks in steel traps the past week.

The Boone County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company has so [illegible] laws as to [illegible] in [illegible] Big [illegible] Belieview [illegible]

Personal Mention.

G. G. Hughes has bought a nice, new buggy.

E. E. Kelly and wife spent Sunday with friends in Belleview.

Thedore Riley, of Richwood, attended the game of ball here Monday.

B. B. Hume attended the Farmers' Institute in session in Walton, last Thursday.

T. G. Graves, of Bullittsville, was a business visitor to Burlington, last Thursday.

Dr. J. G. Furnish, of Covington, transacted business in Burlington, yesterday.

Mrs. Mary Craven is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ben Cason, in Belleview neighborhood.

M. L. Riddell, wife and daughter, spent Sunday with his parents in Hebron neighborhood.

G. W. Sandford and wife spent Sunday with the latter's parents down on Middle creek.

William Wilson was at Walton most of last week working on the Consolidated Telephone lines.

Mrs. J. C. Revill spent a couple of days this week, with her daughter, Mrs. J. G. Furnish, in Covington.

Major Conner, of Richwood, and one of the county's cleverest citizens, was a visitor at this office, Friday.

Legrand Gaines enjoyed the speeches and discussions at the Farmers' Institute held at Walton last week.

A Mr. Jones and wife, of Rising Sun, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson out on the Petersburg pike.

O. P. Phipps and E. K. Stephens have been in charge of the Burlington and Erlanger mail route since the first of the month.

C. M. Baldon and Wm. Gaines are representing the local K. of P. lodge at the Grand Lodge in session at Winchester, this week.

O. J. Ryle and wife, of Latonia, left yesterday for Los Angelese, California. Mrs. Ryle has a daughter, Mrs. Roy Clutterbuck, living in that city.

Gaines Robinson, a prosperous farmer of Richwood neighborhood, and W. P. Corbin, of Union, were among the pleasant callers at this office, last Friday.

Dr. Hopkins, of Rabbit Hash, was transacting business in Burlington, last Thursday. He expects to leave Rabbit Hash in the next few weeks. He has purchased land in Texas.

George Smith and wife and Ezra Blankenbeker, wife and daughter, all of Union neighborhood, were the guests of W. L. Rouse and wife out on the Belleview pike, last Sunday.

Bert Smith, one of the RECORDER'S several good correspondent, was as visitor at the office, last Thursday. He reported that there had been considerable frost in his neighborhood of mornings for several days.

W. E. Vest, of Walton, a real estate agent whose operations extend from the great lakes to the northern boundary of Mexico, was in Burlington, a short time last Friday spreading the germs of the Texas fever.

Mrs. Kate Lewis and sister, Miss Julia Stevenson, of Norwood, Ohio, are guests of Mrs. Dudley Ronse. They are daughters of the late Dr. Benjamin F. Stevenson, many years ago a citizen of Burlington.

B. F. McGlasson, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, was in town last Friday. Mr. McGlasson is president of the North Kentucky Agricultural Association, and farms between fairs as a past time, and, by the way, is a very successful tiller of the soil.

Legrand Gaines, of this neighborhood, who attended the farmers' institute at Walton, last week, was in town, last Friday, expressing his good opinion of the institute as an educator of the farmers. He declared all the speeches as based upon practice.

James Loder, one of the multitude of clever men in Petersburg, was a caller at this office, last Wednesday, and as usual was hunting something to do that would be an accommodation to his fellow man, and placed the RECORDER under obligation again for favors.

Mrs. James Bailey and Mrs. Alice Adams, were callers at this office, last Friday. Mrs. Bailey expects to return to her home in Los Angeles, Cala., shortly. She is delighted with the people and the climate of the west coast. She lives with her daughter, Mrs. Ryburn Williamson.

Henry C. Latham and wife, of Illinois, were guests of her sister, Mrs. J. O. Huey, of Erlanger, last week. Mr. and Mrs. Latham were citizens of Burlington many years ago and he and his wife accompanied by Mrs. Huey and Mrs. Susie Parish, drove over to Burlington, last Thursday, just to see the old town once more.

Benjamin Stephens and wife will start for their home in Kansas the last of this week or the first of next in their automobile. They will be on the road several weeks, making stops with numerous friends in Illinois and Missouri. The trip will cover a thousand miles. If the weather continues good Mr. and Mrs. Stephens will make the entire trip in the auto, otherwise they will leave the machine in charge of their son, John, and they will take the train.

Plenty to Eat.

The Epworth League of Big Bone Methodist church will give a pie social at the residence of G. L. Miller Saturday night October 9th. All are invited.

There will be given at Florence on Thanksgiving night by Ft. Pleasant Grange, an oyster supper and Literary entertainment. Everybody invited.

The fiscal court was in session yesterday.

Farm for Sale Cheap.

26½ acres, fine truck farm; good water, [illegible] house and out buildings—[illegible] from city limits, Westwood.

JOHN MEYER,
Cincinnati, O.

Watches at $1.00

We have them good time keepers too—guaranteed.

Silverine case with Elgin movement (the Elgin needs no recommendation.) for $3.50.

Gold filled 20-year case (cases that will wear the 20 years) with Elgin movement 12-16-18 size for $10.00.

Ladies' Hunting 20-year cases with Elgin movement for $12.50.

Solid Gold Watches at equally low prices.

We have the Stock at prices that cannot be duplicated elsewhere for good quality goods.

MOTCH,
The Jeweler,
613 Madison Ave.
Covington, Ky.

Where you will always find goods as represented.
Established 51 years.

Tired Women

Women, worn and tired from over-work, need a tonic. That feeling of weakness or tiredness will not leave you of itself. Take Cardui, that effectual remedy for the ailments and weakness of women. Thousands of women have tried Cardui and write enthusiastically of its great benefit to them.

Take CARDUI

A recent letter from Mrs. Charles Bragg, of Sweetser, Ind., says: "Tongue cannot tell how much your medicine has done for me. Before I began taking Cardui I could not do a day's work. I would work awhile and lie down. I shall always give praise to your medicine."

Try Cardui. For sale everywhere.

E 42

Public Sale!

Mt. Pleasant Grange having decided to discontinue its organization, will sell to the highest bidder at the hall in Bullittsville, Kentucky, on

Saturday, Oct. 16, '09

The following property:

Piano in first-class condition; Book Case, Library of 125 volumes, Benches, Desks, Chairs, Cups and Saucers, 100 feet Pine Lumber, Officers Staffs, Gavels, Song Books and other articles.

Sale to begin at 1 p. m. sharp.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will offer for sale, as administrator of Nancy L. Rouse, decd., at her late residence, ½ mile west of Florence, Ky., on the Florence & Burlington pike, on Wednesday, Oct. 20, '09,

the following property:

Family horse, buggy, buggy harness, good Brussells carpet, stairs and hall Brussells carpet, 2 Ingrain carpets, new Rag carpet, 2 pieces Linoleum, wood heater, Goodwill coal heater No. 40, No. 7 stove range nearly new and cooking utensils, 12-ft. walnut extension table, ½ doz. chairs, bed lounge, 2 bureaus, 4 rockers, marble top dresser, marble top wash stand, 3 good feather beds, good folding bed, 2 bed steads, dining room cupboard, safe, Blue flame oil stove, steam cooker, washing machine, kettle and many other articles.

All sums of $5 and under, cash: on all sums over that amount a credit of 6 months will be given, purchasers to give notes with approved security negotiable and payable in the Florence Deposit Bank. No property to be removed until terms are complied with.

E. O. ROUSE, Admr.
Tony Bentler, Auctioneer.
Sale to begin at 12.30 sharp.

WE DON'T KNOW WHETHER—You Know It or Not

Our Customers help to bring the trade to us. They know they get satisfaction. They will tell you, no matter where you go, you'll never find better Clothing than those handled by us.

OUR LINE OF

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing

CAN NOT BE SURPASSED.

We have a large assortment to select from and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP. We have some nice

MEN'S SUITS at..... $5.00 and $7.50

Better Grades MEN'S SUITS..... $10.00 to $18.00

These include a great many high priced suits which we have reduced

BOYS' SUITS..... $4.00 to $10.00

We are giving especially great bargains in our Boys' Suits.

MEN'S PANTS... $1.00 to $5.00 CHILDREN'S SUITS... $1.25 to $5.00

Kindly visit our Store and you will be most favorably impressed with the bargains we are showing.

Rolfes & Wachs,
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

Don't Forget and See Our
NEW LINE OF
Tablets, Pencils And School Supplies,
C. M. BALDON,
Burlington, Kentucky.

Accuracy—Promptness—Price.

We guarantee every lense we grind to be absolutely accurate and of the finest quality. We have all work ready when promised, and can grind lenses on our own machinery while you wait. We have only one price and do not charge Jones one price and Smith another for the same glasses. Have you tried us? Your neighbor has. Ask him.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

NOTICE, TAX-PAYERS.

The Taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the places and on the dates named below to collect 1909 taxes:

Beaver, July 12th and October 11th.
Verona, July 13th and October 12th.
Walton, July 14th and October 13th.
Bullittsville, July 15th and Oct. 21st.
Constance, July 16th and October 8th.
Union, July 19th and October 18th.
Richwood, October 20th.
Petersburg, July 22 and October 15th.
Bellevue, July 23d and October 14th.
Florence, July 26th and October 20th.
Rabbit Hash, July 27th and Oct. 7th.
Hebron, October 22d.
Gunpowder, October 25th.
Richwood, October 26th.
Rates—State, 50c; County, 25c; School, 15c on the $100.
Poll-Tax—County, $1 50; School, 50c; Dog Tax: $1 00.

All unpaid taxes become delinquent after November 30th. 6 per cent penalty, due county and state, added December 1st on all delinquent taxes; 6 per cent commission in addition to penalty is allowed Sheriff for collecting delinquent taxes. Cost of levying, 60c; advertising: $1 00. Delinquent Taxes bear 6 per cent interest from Nov. 30th until paid.

M. F. WINGATE,
Sheriff Boone County.

FOR RENT.

125 acre farm on Woolper, Boone county, Ky., about 20 acres for wheat, 25 acres for corn, 4 acres for tobacco, balance in grass and timber. Good 7-room house, cistern, orchard and all necessary outbuildings, 3 tobacco barns. Terms cash first of March. Call on or address C. J. SEBREE, 207 Miami Ave., Cleves, Ohio. sept-8

FARM FOR SALE.

140 acres, 2½ miles from Burlington, Ky., on which there is a frame house of 6 rooms and porch, tenant house, 2 barns, all necessary outbuildings, 3 cisterns and well, 7 never-failing springs, large pond, orchard and timber. All in grass except 18 acres in cultivation; all under good fence—good dairy farm; 1 mile to good school. For further information call on or address

JAMES WILLIAM UTZ,
R. R. 1. Florence, Ky.
Phone 64, Bell connection.

Take the Recorder.

FOR SALE.

Two vacant lots in town of Walton, Boone County, Ky., situated on north side of High St. Address, Mrs. YETCHA KING CHRISTY, 431 W. 66th Street, Chicago, Ill.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices. All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

Farm for Sale.

My 113 acre farm on the Ohio river adjoining the town of McVille, Boone county, Ky. On this farm are two good dwellings a good barn and other necessary outbuildings, and it will produce anything that will grow in this climate. If this farm is not sold by the first of Feby., 1910, I will rent it for one year for money rent, and give rentor privilege to purchase it at the end of the year, or will rent it for part of the crop, the rentor to give good reference as to him being a neat, industrious farmer. If sold terms will be easy. Possession given March 1, 1910. For further particulars call on or address

S. D. RICE, Grant, Ky.

NOTICE.

Having sold my office and outfit to Dr. Carlyle, I expect to leave in a few weeks, and will appreciate it if those indebted to me will call and adjust same as early as October 15th, 1909. Very Respectfully,

Y. FRANK HOPKINS.

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.

JOHN [illegible], Grant, Ky.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875.
Subscription $1.50 year.
Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXIV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 13, 1909. NO 52

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

ERLANGER.

Mr. Elbert Hoard was the guest of friends in Cincinnati, Sunday.—The S. S. Home Department met at Mrs. R. O. Hoard's Tuesday afternoon.—Ed. Westerman and Miss Georgia Hoard were guests of WaKee Embank and wife, of Amsterdam pike, Sunday.—James Carroll, wife and son, of Cincinnati, were guests of their son Charlie Carroll, Sunday.—James Lucas and wife are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a little son.—Chas. Mohr, wife and daughter, have returned home from a visit in Germany, where they have been for several months.—Mrs. Glassburner, who has enjoyed the summer with her daughter, Mrs. J. Westerman, has returned to her home in Newport.—The mothers and their little babes, of Erlanger Baptist Sunday school, were entertained Saturday at the Elsinere Mission, being called "Cradle Roll Day." An interesting program was arranged and in charge of Miss Statira Childress and Miss Georgia Hoard.—Mrs. Corbin entertained Thursday evening in honor of Miss Josephine Newton, Bertha Moulden, Ona Forsythe, Kate Edwards, Edna Lipscomb and Georgia Hoard, Messrs. John and Ed Westerman, Chas. Forsythe Leroy Foster and Owen Hoard.—For Sale—Sow and 12 pigs. Apply to Walter Eubank, Amsterdam pike. Phone S. 1456, R. R. 2.

In this centennial year we are inclined to make some notice of the prosperity, influence and work of the Erlanger Christian church. The building was dedicated a little over 5 years ago, and the last vestage of debt, about $175, was paid off in August, since which time have been improvements and repairs put up on the house, amounting to near $500, most of which was raised by the congregation and friends prior to the beginning of the work, which was finishing up the lower rooms, also one on the lower floor, and frescoing the audience and Sunday school rooms. Less than one year ago Elder S. S. Lappin came among us, and we soon found him to be one of the most thoroughly equipped, all-around men who ever filled the office of pastor for the church. The work of the church under his guiding hand has steadily grown in importance and influence, all branches of church work being up-to-date, large and appreciative audiences, as a rule, the Bible class nearly doubled, and services every Lord's day. Mr. Lappin is a christian gentleman of the old school, giving as well as receiving, being one of our largest contributors for all church work. He has the confidence and best wishes of the sister congregations of the town. He takes a deep interest in public affairs, and works for the public good. We look upon him as a valuable asset to our community, and hope to keep him indefinitely. His children attend our good public school.

ARNOLD—GARDNER.

One of the prettiest weddings that has occured here for some time was that of Miss Lutie Pearl Gardner to Mr. Gayle Arnold, at the home of the bride, October 6, 2:30 p. m. Miss Gardner is an unusually pretty bud, just blooming into womanhood, of a gentle disposition that has won for her a large circle of friends. The groom is a young man of sterling qualities with a most promising future and commands the respect of all who know him. Promptly at 2:30 the bridal party was met by the Rev. S. S. Lappin and conducted to the temporary floral altar, where all stood in silent reverence until the last strains of the wedding march had died away, then began one of the prettiest and most impressive wedding services that has ever been heard in this part of the country. As Rev. Lappin spake the words. "There is nothing more beautiful than that which presents itself before us for marriage. Beloved you have wooed and won, you have said the secret that which is too sacred to tell to others, but according to the law and for the sake of society it is right that you should make a public declaration of your love and intentions towards each other, and in so doing in acknowledgement of your love and vows you will place this ring on her finger." At the close of the service the minister presented to the audience Mr. and Mrs. Arnold. The guests immediately fell in line and passing up the right side of the double parlors showered the happy couple with congratulations and well wishes, then passed on down the left side. The girl friends were the first to greet them. The bride's costume of white was beautiful in its simplicity and much in keeping with her tender years. She carried a large bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Bessie Cleek, the bride's maid, was very becomingly dressed in white, and also carried white roses. The groom wore the conventional black. Mr. Carl Gardner, brother of the bride, was groom's man. Those present from a distance were Carl Gardner, of Wilmore; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jones, of Georgetown; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gardner, Williamstown; Mrs. Bettie Matthews, Cynthiana. The numerous presents received at the home and at the various showers given in Miss Gardner's honor previous to her marriage, testified to the high esteem in which she was held in the community. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold left at once for New York and other points of interest where they will spend their honeymoon.

PETERSBURG.

Ira S. Shy, who is employed in the revenue service at the distillery here, spent Sunday at Cynthiana with his family.—Mrs. Lou Pappet and son, Argus, left Thursday for Freeport, Illinois, where they will spend the winter.—E. L. Grant and wife and Dr. J. M. Grant and wife spent Saturday at Geo. Kreylich's.—Elza Scott is visiting at H. E. Arnold's.—Mrs. Aggie Carpenter, of Burlington, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Mary Snyder.—Henry Collier and wife of Lawrenceburg, visited relatives here one day last week.—Mrs. J. M. Botts and daughter, Miss Flossie, spent one day last week in Aurora, shopping.—Walter Gordon is visiting his parents here.—Rev. and Mrs. Robt. Carter are in Pittsburg attending the centennial.—El Cox, wife and children spent Sunday at Arthur Terrill's.—W. T. Evans, wife and daughter, Miss Melvin, spent Sunday with Chas. Klopp and wife on Woolper.—Mrs. Will Crisler, of Olney, Illinois, who has been sick for quite a while, arrived here last week, and it is hoped that she will soon regain her former health.—Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Bradley returned from Winchester, last Wednesday morning, when the Ladies' Aid Society gave them a pleasant surprise, presenting them with a nice, white table cloth and napkins. When they reached home Mrs. Bradley found she would have to prepare dinner, as several ladies had the table laid and a nice luncheon prepared. All the members are glad to have Rev. Bradley for their pastor again this year.—Rev Milo Atkinson will hold a revival meeting at the Christian church here beginning October 25th.—Miss Virgie Gullion and Robert Griffith were married at Sparta on the 6th inst.—Mr. E. Chambers, one of our most beloved citizens died last Thursday night as the result of a stroke of apoplexy several days before. He was 62 and had been employed in the revenue service. The funeral services were conducted last Sunday by Rev. Milo Atkinson at the Christian church, which was not large enough to accommodate the concourse of friends who assembled to pay their respects to the departed. The bereaved family has the sympathy of a host of friends.—Leslie Perks and wife have returned to their home in Illinois after a delightful visit with friends here.—Mrs. Mary Berkshire entertained quite a number of young friends with a delightful party, last Saturday evening.

BUFFALO.

Oct. 11.—Quite a heavy rain fell here yesterday.—Mrs. Utz and Miss Emma Clements spent Saturday with her sister, Mrs. Smith.—Mrs. Etta Clements, Mrs. James Sebree, Mrs. Allie Utz, each entertained in elegant style the past week, a large number of persons being present on each occasion.—L. Wilton Adams and C. Presley Adams spent Sunday at Perry Weaver's.—Misses Elma Corbin and Jessie Utz visited relatives in Belleview from Friday until Sunday.—Mrs. James Sebree and daughter, Edna, were shopping in Rising Sun, last Saturday.—Mrs. L. Stephens entertained quite a number of friends at dinner last Sunday.—Lewis Calvert, of Kansas, is in this neighborhood with his graphophone.—John W. Dehart, of Louisville, will speak at Grange Hall, next Friday night. All are invited.—The teachers' meeting will be held at the school house at Big Bone Baptist church on the 23d inst., beginning at 1 p. m. Everybody is invited.—The September examination of the Hathaway school placed the following pupils on the honor roll: Laura Alden, Joseph and Mildred Moore, Thomas Hubbard, Emma Clements.—The death angel visited this community, last Thursday, and took from our midst Perry Beemon, who had been in poor health for several months. He leaves a widow, two sons and four daughters to mourn his death.

FLICKERTOWN.

A much needed rain fell here last Sunday.—Ross Shinkle is very ill of Bright's disease.—Miss Clara Rice, of Belleview, was a guest at J. W. White's, Monday.—C. L. Voshell and son, Pernald, and Wm. Dean, called on F. H. Voshell, Monday.—Harry Bonk and wife, of Petersburg, were Sunday guests at Ross Shinkle's.—Paris Akin was a Sunday guest of Belleview friends.—John Smith was somewhat indisposed several days last week.—W. T. Ryle and wife entertained with a big dinner, last Friday.—Mrs. White was operating his hay press over In the North Bend bottoms, last week.

The members of the Florence Baptist church desire to thank all those who assisted in making their recent supper such a great success, as well as those who patronized the supper so liberally.

HATHAWAY.

Oct. 11.—The foliage has begun to fall.—Robert Kite has a new wide tread wagon.—Grange Hall M. W. A. camp meets every Friday night.—John F. McElroy has gone to Illinois.—Dave Williamson, expertanger, caught three very fine fish in Gunpowder creek just below the round hole, last week.—Several members of Big Bone church met last Tuesday and moved and repaired the coal house belonging to the church.—Some of the farmers near here, who did not pool their tobacco, sold their crops at 10 and 11 cents all round to a couple of men who are buying for the Lovell & Buffington firm in Covington.—The Ladies' Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. Joe Huey, Thursday, October 14th. Every member is requested to be present, as important business will be before the society.—The local fishermen keep on their jobs along the banks of Gunpowder creek since the good catches recently made by several of the experts. They report fishing good.

FRANCESVILLE.

Dr. Omer Henry and family are guests of his father, Mr. Bruce Henry.—Chas. Scothorn is having a large barn built.—Chas. Beall expects to remodel his dwelling this fall.—Mrs. Mary Gaines, of Richmond, Madison county, who has been visiting relatives and friends in and near Burlington, is the guest of her brothers, W. P. and Hubert Cropper, of North Bend.—Harvey Aylor's children are attending school near this village.—Mrs. Laura Aylor spent last Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. James Riddell, making apple butter, of which your correspondent received a generous portion.—Mrs. W. G. Graves and family, of Bullittsville, entertained the Missionary society last Wednesday.—William Estes and family, of California, are visiting his parents, Jerry Estes and wife, here.—Mrs. Nellie Markland will have a beautiful and commodious residence on the corner of Main street, in this village, when completed. It is a place that will rent or sell easily if she wishes to dispose of it.

GUNPOWDER.

Mike Rouse and wife, of Campbell county, visited friends in this neighborhood a few days last week. Father Time has dealt very gently with Mike, and he says he is able to cope with anybody of his age in the harvest field.—After a visit of two weeks to friends in Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. J. W. Williams returned home last Wednesday.—Rev. E. R. Wagner and family, of Cincinnati, spent last Saturday with pastor Walterick and wife.—Mrs. Florence Floyd dined several of her friends, last Sunday.—L. M. Rouse and wife, of Union neighborhood, broke bread with the writer, last Thursday.—B. N. Tanner, of Boonesborough, Mo., arrived here, last Friday, and will spend several weeks with his numerous friends in this and adjoining neighborhoods. He is always a welcome visitor here.—A protracted meeting will begin at Hopeful church on Friday evening the 22d inst., at 7:30 o'clock. Everybody is invited to attend and participate in the services.—While cutting some ears of corn to feed his chickens, Harvey Utz cut a little bit to close to his hand and whacked the end of his thumb, cutting it about half off.—J. A. Rouse moved to the A. D. Rouse farm on Dog Walk, last Monday.—Peck Stephens moved to Walton, last Friday.—Mrs. Powers, of Verona, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Tanner.—Geo. Smith and wife were shopping in the city, last Saturday.

VERONA.

A good rain, which was much needed, fell here Sunday.—The Critenden team defeated Verona 27 to 6, last Saturday afternoon.—Rev. L. M. Thebold was called to New Bethel church to preach twice a month.—Rev. Harvey, of Louisville, gave us a very interesting discourse on the history of Baptists, last Sunday morning.—The council has ordered timber for the erection of a town jail.—Earl Conrad and wife, of Dry Ridge, were guests of Joseph Florence and wife, last Sunday.—Irvin Conrad and family, of Grant county, spent the day with R. O. Powers and family, last Sunday.—Mrs. Kate Ryan is having a dwelling built on her property near Joseph Florence's.—Jas. Cummins is building a new residence on his farm 3 miles west of Verona.—Some tobacco in this locality has been stripped.—Marion Bagby, of Kyle, will clerk in Verona.—Class No. 4 of New Bethel Baptist S. S. will give an ice cream and oyster supper in the M. E. church, Saturday night, Oct. 16th. It is desired to place six lamps along the plank walk leading from the depot to the Baptist church. Come one, come all.

FLORENCE.

Elbert Roberts and wife were guests of Harry Brown and wife, a few days last week.—Mrs. J. R. Whitson is entertaining her father, Mr. Plunkett.—Miss Emma V. Rouse and daughter, Gladys, have left for Clifton Heights, where Miss Gladys will take a course in liberal arts.—Miss Ida Cline won the prize for selling the most tickets for the Baptist church supper, selling 230.—George Swimm and wife were the guests of her sister, Mrs. Adams, of Union, Monday.—Mrs. Lula McKinney and daughter Miss Edna, of Erlanger, were guests of Mrs. Carl Clutterbuck a few days last week.—Wallace Tanner has two Hampshire or Thirtied male pigs for sale, eligible to register.

GRANT.

Small boy—black hands—walnuts ripe.—Pepper Smith and wife and Ephraim Clore and wife went to Cincinnati on a shopping tour the first of the week.—Our canning factory closed down for the season on September 30th.—The new school building will be completed by November 1st.—The protracted meeting in progress at the Baptist church here closed Friday night. Result—3 members, Dr. Perkins, and Willie Smith by baptism and Miss Lon Marshall reclaimed.—Several whose water supply was getting short, were glad to see Sunday's rain which lasted nearly the whole day.—A large crowd from here attended the agricultural fair at Aurora, Saturday, and several nice premiums came to this side of the creek.—Capts. Bill and Jim Williamson, of the ferry boat "Come Over Quick," and Sol Long, head mate of the "Snickelfritz," have been catching bass and salmon by the wholesale at McVille. They say the sport is the best for years.—Someone asked Pink Smith, the other day, who discovered the north pole and Pink said he had forgotten whether it was Jennings or Clarke.—J. L. Williamson and wife entertained a crowd of young folks with a play party, Saturday night.—The abutments for the bridge at Middle creek are up, and any one who feels like donating either money or work for the fills on each side, can see Sebern Berkshire or J. L. Walton. A small amount only is needed and a bridge at that point will repay the giver ten fold.—Ephraim Clore is busy figuring up the profits he made on a barrel of walnuts which he purchased of some kids here, and took to Cincinnati, Monday. The nuts cost him 60 cents per bushel; freight, 15; fare, $1.50; drayage, 10; commission, 25. The nuts sold for 65 cents per bbl. Moral—It's a long walk from Cincinnati to Grant.

HERE AND THERE.

Bernard Sebree made a business trip to Cleves, last Monday.—Found on Double Lick road, a child's white cloak. Owner can have same by calling at Leslie Sebree's.—Lewis Jarrell took some apples to the Aurora market, last week, and received satisfactory prices. He bought them from Ed. Berkshire.—Born, to E. J. Akin and wife on the 3d inst., a bouncing baby boy.—Courtney Jarrell and family spent from Friday until Sunday with P. E. Bruce and family near Rising Sun.—Hewett Bros., had their sorghum factory in full operation, last week.—Woody Sullivan had the misfortune to lose a valuable Jersey heifer a couple of weeks ago.—Kirb Ryle and wife, of McVille, spent Sunday with this writer and family.—Irvin Rue and wife, of near Burlington and Grant Williamson and wife, of Waterloo, spent Sunday at L. A. Smith's.—A fine rain fell Sunday, lasting nearly all day. It was much needed as stock water was getting scarce, and grain that had been sown was in danger of perishing.—The rain of the rain there was no Sunday school at the Woolper school house.

PT. PLEASANT.

No services at the church Sunday morning, owing to the pastor, Mr. Carter, having to conduct a funeral service in Petersburg, but there was a very good attendance at Sunday school in spite of inclement weather. The people in that community believe that if you can go to work in the rain you can go to Sunday school in the rain.—Rev. R. H. Carter, wife and Miss Virgie Lee Riggs left Monday morning for Pittsburg to attend the great centennial convention. They will probably extend their trip to some of the noted points in the East.—The auxiliary of the C. W. B. M. met with Mrs. Loula Tanner in order to be with their convalescent members, Mrs. Sallie Southcr.—Mr. Michael Sothron died at his home of paralysis. He was a very old man and leaves a number of children and grandchildren to mourn for him.—Mrs. Fanny Kenyon entertained Miss Olive Smidt and sister, of Riverside, over Saturday and Sunday.—Mr. Clayton Walton is sick.—Mrs. Sarah Riggs and daughter Miss Eva, visited Mrs. H. F. Russell from Saturday until Monday.—The concert Saturday night was very well attended and enjoyed by all.—Mrs. Craven and the church wish to thank Mr. Rufus Tanner, Miss Olive Smidt, Miss Bessie Helm and Miss Madeleine Ritter for their kind assistance.

DEVON.

The rain which came Sunday will do much for the fall pastures.—Mrs. Ben Rice and son, of Covington, are guests of Mrs. Rice's parents, Wm. Hogan and wife.—John Cahill and wife entertained with covers for twelve, Wednesday, in honor of their guest, Miss Theresa O'Conner, of Indianapolis, Ind.—Mrs. Armina Conrad was the guest, Thursday, of Mrs. J. C. Conrad.—Wm. Cahill and Miss Theresa O'Conner, of Indianapolis, visited J. C. Conrad and wife, Monday and Tuesday.

Important Notices.

At a meeting of the directors of the Boone County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company, held at its office, in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., on Monday, October 4th, 1909, the following order was adopted:

"Ordered that all members shall hereafter build brick flues in place of tile flues, before they can renew their insurance, and that hereafter no policy for insurance will be accepted where the building or buildings have a tile flue or flues.

Attest:— MALCHUS SOUTHER, Secretary.

IDLEWILD.

Oct. 8.—When is a note of hand like a rosebud? When it is measured by falling due.

Supt. D. M. Snyder visited the Bullittsburg school Tuesday.

A horse of Eugene Randall's choked to death on corn one morning this week.

Mrs. R. C. Gaines and Mrs. B. C. Graddy were shopping in Cincinnati, Tuesday.

Farmer Jones, of Pushburg, spent Sunday afternoon very pleasantly with friends in Hebron.

Courtney Walton started to McCombs, Ill., Sunday on business. His wife has a farm there.

Eugene Randall and wife and Mrs. Mary Gaines were guests of Thomas Randall and wife, Monday.

Uncle Joshua Masters and good wife, of Bullittsville, spent Sunday with their son, T. C. Masters, of Ashby.

Ben Eggleston, wife, son-in-law, Estes and wife, of Francesville, were Sunday guests of relatives near Petersburg.

William Moreland and wife, of Addyston, son of John Moreland, were Sunday guests of Chas. Heusley, of Ashby.

A protracted meeting will begin the night of the 3d Sunday of this month at the Bullittsburg church and will continue a couple of weeks.

Charles Scothorn, of Francesville, passed through Tuesday morning from Lawrenceburg with three loads of lumber. He will build a new barn.

Bert Jones and wife, of Hebron, visited papa and mamma Jones, of Idlewild, a few days ago. Hope it is no offense to either party to mention it.

R. C. Gaines' new grainery is completed except putting the roof on. Clinton Gaines is having a new roof put on his residence. The Hebron carpenter is doing the work.

Farmer Jones is done cutting up corn. He says he had a hard time of it, the sons of his corn was so heavy he had to break the ears off, shock and tie them up to themselves before he could cut the fodder.

Elbert and Ed Kelly, of Bellevue, passed through Pushburg, Sunday, on their way to visit their mother, at Francesville. Elbert is postmaster at Belleview, and is making an effort to get a rural route from his office.

When patrons of Burlington rural route 1 have mail they want to be sure of getting it delivered in double quick time, those near the Pushburg office mail in that office instead of their own boxes. Pushburg office is doing a good business.

Farmer Jones brought us a potato, the smallest of a sample that his brother Ollie, tenant of Oak Farm, brought him of a new variety he has. It measured 6½ inches in length and 7 inches in circumference. It certainly was nice, and if he would exhibit them at the Aurora fair he would clean the platter, unless Tinker Hall has some of his cracker-jacks on exhibition.

Sometime since an old bachelor down on Woolper said, "the joy of a man when he gets married is nothing compared to the joys of a year or two after marriage." Another old bachelor butts in and says, "right you are, brother, sometimes the jawey is so great he is compelled to face a six shooter in the hand of an enraged wife, and occasionally they become so jawey that one or the other cake walks."

MIDWAY.

A very fine rain fell here last Sunday which was badly needed as water for stock was getting scarce and ground in a bad condition for seeding.—Miss Mattie Underhill was the recipient of a handsome present in the jewelry line one day last week, presented by the Sleer family, of Beaver, in token of their high appreciation of the excellent service she has rendered them at the telephone exchange.—Robert Littrel, who was awarded the contract for building the annex to the Beaver school house, is pushing the work vigorously and it is nearing completion.—The congregations at Hughes Chapel and Big Bone were much pleased with the privilege of retaining their former pastor, Rev. Noson, another year.—W. C. Johnson, and son, Sam, are erecting a two story addition to Wm. Griffith's house, which will add very much to the appearance of the already beautiful home.—The remains of Oliver P. Klte, who died, last Thursday, in Covington, were brought to Hughes Chapel, last Friday, by undertaker John Allison, and after appropriate funeral services by Rev. Bedinger, were laid to rest in the Chapel cemetery in the presence of a number of his relatives and friends. He was 73 years of age, born, reared and lived all of his life here, and probably assisted in digging more graves in this community than any other man that ever lived here.—The pie social given by the Epworth League at G. L. Miller's residence, last Saturday night, was well attended and the receipts of the evening were all that could have been desired.—The question as to whether John Berkshire intends to vote the prohibition ticket or not or who killed Cock Robin is not bothering the people at present, but the real question is, when and by whom was the north pole discovered?

Johnson Rogers, who lives half a mile out on the Florence pike, is having his share of bad luck. A few weeks ago, while the family was away from home, a thief entered his cellar and took away 25 quarts of preserves, and a few days thereafter a young mare for which he had been offered $200, kicked at a chicken in the barn and got her leg caught in the door and injured herself very badly.

WALTON.

See the new books at Smith's.

High grade stationary at Smith's.

O. S. Watts spent Monday at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, on business.

Read "The Land of Long Ago" by Eliza Calvert Hall. At Smith's.

W. M. Hudson, of Kenton county, spent last Friday here on business.

Oscar Ball, of near Richwood, and Peter B. Breeden, of Sanders, were visitors here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Edwards and children enjoyed the pleasures of a trip to Cincinnati last Saturday.

To read Aunt Jane's Speech at the Club will bring tears to your eyes, however, you will be glad that you read it. Ask Smith.

A. W. Smith has a beautiful display in his drug store window of the latest magazines and the display is worthy of inspection.

Hon. Jas. W. Kennedy, of Union, and Jas. H. Dorman, of Washington, D. C., were visitors here last Friday, where they were gladly welcomed by their many friends. Mr. Dorman is the son of the late Judge Harvey Dorman, of Owenton, and is a nephew of Mr. Kennedy. He is one of the attaches of the Civil Service Commission at Washington, and is a very bright and companionable gentleman.

The Ladies of the Walton Baptist church will give a supper at the Walton Opera House, Saturday evening, Oct. 16th, beginning at 4 o'clock and ending at 9 p. m. There will be an oyster supper and the regular supper at 25 cents, and ice cream and cake will be served at extra prices. The proceeds will go to the Baptist church, and as the cause is a most laudable one, and the opportunity will be to spend a delightful evening and to assist a host of good people, we feel safe in saying that you will miss something very nice if you are not there.

Monday, there was quite a "mad dog" scare here, and as the usual result quite a number of the canine population passed to the happy hunting grounds. S. L. Edwards and Bruce Dudgeon were passing the engine house and noticing the door ajar, looked into the room, when a dog ran out snapping and snarling at them and it was with difficulty that they avoided being bitten. The dog was afflicted with the rabies and he ran down the street biting at every animate creature, and succeeded in biting seven dogs, but fortunately none else. The dog was finally killed, and the owners of the other seven dogs shot their dogs to avoid any danger. One man was bitten by a dog that day but it is questionable if the dog had been exposed to the rabies, and the owner refused to kill the dog.

Personal—Charles, 13 year old son of H. L. Miller, is able to be out again after an attack of typhoid fever.—Mrs. J. G. Tomlin, who has been ill for several months, is much improved, and able to be about the house, which is greeting her many friends.—A. B. Tomkins, the popular traveling salesman for the Graff-Morsbach Saddlery Co., Cincinnati, spent from Friday until Monday here with home folks.—Mrs. J. R. Wills, of Williamstown, is here, the guest of her daughters, Mesdames Gaines and Nelson.—Popular new magazines at Smith's.—John L. Vest was at Warsaw several days the past week on professional business.—G. Wesley Murphy has resigned as engineer for the Dry Goods Traction Co., and returned to his former position at the L. & N. freight office, Cincinnati.—Mrs. Allie Scott, of Owentou; Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Metcalf, of Greenfield, Ohio, and E. L. DeMoisey, of Ludlow, spent part of the past week here with relatives and friends.—W. O. Rouse represented Walton K. of P. Lodge at the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge at Winchester, last week.—G. W. Harrison, jr., of Erlanger, was the guest of J. B. Doubman and wife, Monday.

For Sale—Two very fine Chester White male hogs, nine months old, weigh 150 pounds each; price $15.00 each. John C. Bedinger, Richwood.

Lost—Last Saturday in Walton, chain bracelet with inscription, "Allie" from Father," on inside. Finder will return to D. B. Wallace and receive reward.

UNION.

The Ladies' Society of the Baptist church held an all day meeting, last Thursday, at the hospitable home of Mrs. Sam Hicks near Walton.—Miss Harriet McHatten is visiting relatives at Erlanger.—W. M. Rachel has been elected assistant cashier of Union Deposit Bank.—Miss Gladys Rouse has a handsome new piano.—Dr. Senior left Sunday for a ten days visit with his brother, Orville, at Sedalia, Mo.—Miss Madge Williams, of Gunpowder, was the guest of Miss Virginia Conner, last Saturday night and Sunday.—Miss Mary Alton Vought, the high school teacher, is boarding with Mrs. Emma Marshall.—Dr. James Dorman is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Jas. W. Kennedy.—Mrs. B. L. Norman spent the past week in Northside, Ohio, with her father, J. M. Williams. The Ladies' Aid Society of The Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. H. C. Lassing on the afternoon of the 14th inst. at 2:30. Misses Swim and wine, of Florence, are guests of his sister, Mrs. Susie Adams.—James P. Briscoe attended the funeral of his friend, Perry Beemon, at Belleview, last Thursday.—Misses Maggie Clarkson and Anna Riley are in Covington, guests of Mrs. Ben Riley.—Mrs. Emma Marshall is in charge of the new switchboard put in here by the Farmers' Telephone Company.—George Clarkson's chicken soup, Saturday night, was enjoyed by several of his friends.—Miss Mary Hedges, of Covington, attended church here, Sunday, and looked remarkably well after her illness of typhoid fever.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT 1905 BY A.C. MCCLURG & CO.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign.

CHAPTER IX.—Continued.

Blake and Miss Leslie turned to stare at the droves of animals moving about between them and the border of the tall grass. Miss Leslie was the first to speak. "They can't be cattle, Mr. Winthrope. There are some with stripes. I do believe they're zebras!"

"Get down!" commanded Blake. "They're all wild game. Those big ox-like fellows to the left of the zebras are eland. Whee! wouldn't we be in it if we owned that water hole? I'll bet I'd have one of those fat beeves inside three days."

"How I should enjoy a juicy steak!" murmured Miss Leslie.

"Raw or jerked?" questioned Blake.

"What is 'jerked?'"

"Dried."

"Oh, no; I mean broiled—just red inside."

"I prefer mine quite rare," added Winthrope.

"That's the way you'll get it, damned rare—Beg your pardon, Miss Jenny! Without fire, we'll have the choice of raw or jerked."

"Horrors!"

"Jerked meat is all right. You cut your game in strips—"

"With a penknife!" laughed Miss Leslie.

Blake stared at her glumly. "That's so. You've got it back on me—Butcher a beef with a penknife! We'll have to take it raw, and dog-fashion at that."

"Haven't I heard of bamboo knives?" said Winthrope.

"Bamboo?"

"Im sure I can't say, but as I remember, it seems to me that the varnish-like glaze—"

"Silica? Say, that would cut meat. But where in—where in hades are the bamboos?"

"I'm sure I can't say. Only I remember that I have seen them in other tropical places, you know."

"Meantime I prefer cocoanuts, until we have a fire to broil our steaks," remarked Miss Leslie.

"Ditto, Miss Jenny, long's we have the nuts and no meat. I'm a vegetarian now—but maybe my mouth ain't watering for something else. Look at all those chops and roasts and stews running around out there!"

"They are making for the grass," observed Winthrope. "Hadn't we better start?"

"Nuts won't weigh so much without the shells. We'll eat right here."

There were only a few nuts left. They were drained and cracked and scooped out, one after another. The last chanced to break evenly across the middle.

"Hello," said Blake, "the lower part of this will do for a bowl, Miss Jenny. When you've eaten the cream, put it in your pocket. Say, Win, have you got the bottle and keys and—"

"All safe—everything."

"Are you sure, Mr. Winthrope?" asked Miss Leslie. "Men's pockets seem so open. Twice I've had to pick up Mr. Blake's locket."

"Locket?" echoed Blake.

"The ivory locket. Women may be curious, Mr. Blake, but I assure you, I did not look inside, though—"

"Let me—give it here—quick!" gasped Blake.

Startled by his tone and look, Miss Leslie caught an oval shaped object from the side pocket of the coat, and thrust it into Blake's outstretched hand. For a moment he stared at it, unable to believe his eyes; then he leaped up, with a yell that sent the droves of zebras and antelope flying into the tall grass.

"Oh! oh!" screamed Miss Leslie. "Is it a snake? Are you bitten?"

"Bitten?—Yes, by John Barleycorn! Must have been fuzzy drunk to put it in my coat. Always carry it in my fob pocket. What a blasted infernal idiot I've been! Kick me, Win,—kick me hard!"

"I say, Blake, what is it? I don't quite take you. If you would only—"

"Fire!—fire! Can't you see? We've got all hell beat! Look here."

He snapped open the slide of the supposed locket, and before either of his companions could realize what he would be about, was focusing the lens of a surveyor's magnifying-glass upon the back of Winthrope's hand.

"Bitten? Yes, by John Barleycorn!"

The Englishman jerked the hand away—

"Ow! That burns!"

Blake shook the glass in their bewildered faces.

"Look there!" he shouted, "there's fire; there's water; there's birds' eggs and beefsteaks! Here's where we trek on the back trail. We'll smoke out that leopard in short order!"

"You don't mean to say, Blake—"

"No; I mean to do! Don't worry. You can hide with Miss Jenny on the point, while I engineer the deal. Fall in."

The day was still fresh when they found themselves back at the foot of the cliff. Here arose a heated debate between the men. Winthrope, stung by Blake's jeering words, insisted upon sharing the attack, though with no great enthusiasm. Much to Blake's surprise, Miss Leslie came to the support of the Englishman.

"But, Mr. Blake," she argued, "you say it will be perfectly safe for us here. If so, it will be safe for myself alone."

"I can play this game without him."

"No doubt. Yet if, as you say, you expect to keep off the leopard with a torch, would it not be well to have Mr. Winthrope at hand with other torches, should yours burn out?"

"Yes; if I thought he'd be at hand after the first scare."

Winthrope started off almost on a run. At that moment he might have faced the leopard single-handed. Blake chuckled as he swung away after his victim. Within ten paces, however, he paused to call back over his shoulder: "Get around the point, Miss Jenny, and if you want something to do, try braiding the cocoanut fiber."

Miss Leslie made no response; but she stood for some time gazing after the two men. There was so much that was characteristic even in this rear view. For all his anger and his haste, the Englishman bore himself with an air of well-bred nicety. His trim, erect figure needed only a fresh suit to be irreproachable. On the other hand, a careless observer, at first glance, might have mistaken Blake, with his flannel shirt and shouldered club, for a hulking navvy. But there was nothing of the navvy in his swinging stride or in the resolute poise of his head as he came up with Winthrope.

Though the girl was not given to reflection, the contrast between the two could not but impress her. How well her countryman—coarse, uncultured, but full of brute strength and courage—fitted in with these primitive surroundings. Whereas Winthrope—and herself—

She fell into a kind of disquieted brown study. Her eyes had an odd look, both startled and meditative—such a look as might be expected of one who for the first time is peering beneath the surface of things, and sees the naked Realities of Life, the real values, bared of masking conventions. It may have been that she was seeking to ponder the meaning of her own existence—that she had caught a glimpse of the vanity and wastefulness, the utter futility of her life. At the best, it could only have been a glimpse. But was not that enough?

"Of what use are such people as I?" she cried. "That man may be rough and coarse—even a brute; but he at least does things—I'll show him that I can do things, too!"

She hastened out around the corner of the cliff to the spot where they had spent the night. Here she gathered together the cocoanut husks, and seating herself in the shade of the overhanging ledges began to pick at the coarse fiber. It was cruel work for her soft fingers, not yet fully healed from the thorn wounds. At times the pain and an overpowering sense of injury brought tears to her eyes; still more often she dropped the work in despair of her awkwardness. Yet always she returned to the task with renewed energy.

After no little perseverance, she found how to twist the fiber and plait it into cord. At best it was slow work, and she did not see how she should ever make enough cord for a fish-line. Yet, as she caught the knack of the work and her fingers became more nimble she began to enjoy the novel pleasure of producing something.

She had quite forgotten to feel injured, and was learning to endure with patience the rasping of the fiber between her fingers, when Winthrope came clambering around the corner of the cliff.

"What is it?" she exclaimed, springing up and hurrying to meet him. He was white and quivering, and the look in his eyes filled her with dread.

Her voice shrilled to a scream: "He's dead!"

Winthrope shook his head.

"Then he's hurt!—he's hurt by that savage creature, and you've run off and left him—"

"No, no, Miss Genevieve, I must insist! The fellow is not even scratched."

"Then why—?"

"It was the horror of it all. It actually made me ill."

"You frightened me almost to death. Did the beast chase you?"

"That would have been better, in a way. Really, it was horrible! I'm still sick over it, Miss Genevieve."

"But tell me about it. Did you set fire to the bushes in the cleft, as Mr. Blake—"

"Yes; after we had fetched what we could carry of that long grass—two big trusses. It grows 10 or 12 feet tall, and is now quite dry. Part of it Blake made into torches, and we fired the bush all across the foot of the cleft. Really, one would not have thought there was that much dry wood in so green a dell. On either side of the rill the grass and brush flared like tinder, and the flames swept up the cleft far quicker than we had expected. We could hear them crackling and roaring louder than ever after the smoke shut out our view."

"Surely, there is nothing so very horrible in that."

"No, oh, no; it was not that. But the beast—the leopard! At first we heard one roar; then it was that dreadful snarling and yelling—most awful squalling! The wretched thing came leaping and tumbling down the path, all singed and blinded. Blake fired the big truss of grass, and the brute rolled right into the flames. It was shocking—dreadfully shocking! The wretched creature writhed and leaped about till it plunged into the pool. When it sought to crawl out, all black and hideous, Blake went up and killed it with his club—crushed in its skull— Ugh!"

Miss Leslie gazed at the unnerved Englishman with calm scrutiny.

"But why should you feel so about it?" she asked. "Was it not the beast's life against ours?"

"But so horrible a death!"

"I'm sure Mr. Blake would have preferred to shoot the creature had he a gun. Having nothing else than fire, I think it was all very brave of him. Now we are sure of water and food. Had we not best be going?"

"It was to fetch you that Blake sent me."

Winthrope spoke with perceptible stiffness. He was chagrined, not only by her commendation of Blake, but by the indifference with which she had met his agitation.

They started at once, Miss Leslie in the lead. As they rounded the point she caught sight of the smoke still rising from the cleft. A little later she noticed the vultures which were streaming down out of the sky from all quarters other than seaward. Their focal point seemed to be the trees at the foot of the cleft. A nearer view showed that they were alighting in the thorn bushes on the south border of the wood.

Of Blake there was nothing to be seen until Miss Leslie, still in the lead, pushed in among the trees. There they found him crouched beside a small fire, near the edge of the pool. He did not look up. His eyes were riveted in a hungry stare upon several pieces of flesh, suspended over the flames on spits of green twigs.

"Hello!" he sang out, as he heard their footsteps. "Just in time, Miss Jenny. Your broiled steak'll be ready in short order."

"Oh, build up the fire! I'm simply ravenous!" she exclaimed, between impatience and delight.

Winthrope was hardly less keen; yet his hunger did not altogether blunt his curiosity.

"I say, Blake," he inquired, "where did you get the meat?"

"Stow it, Win, my boy. This ain't a packing house. The stuff may be tough, but it's not—er—the other thing. Here you are, Miss Jenny. Chew it off the stick."

Though Winthrope had his suspicions, he took the piece of half-burned flesh which Blake handed him in turn and fell to eating without further question. As Blake had surmised, the roast proved far other than tender. Hunger, however, lent it a most appetizing flavor. The repast ended when there was nothing left to devour. Blake threw away his empty spit and rose to stretch. He waited for Miss Leslie to swallow her last mouthful and then began to chuckle.

"What's the joke?" asked Winthrope.

Blake looked at him solemnly.

"Well now, that was downright mean of me," he drawled; "after robbing them, to laugh at it!"

"Robbing who?"

"The buzzards."

"You've fed us on leopard meat! It's—it's disgusting!"

"I found it filling. How about you, Miss Jenny?"

Miss Leslie did not know whether to laugh or to give way to a feeling of nausea. She did neither.

"Can we not find the spring of which you spoke?" she asked. "I am thirsty."

"Well, I guess the fire is about burnt out," assented Blake. "Come on; we'll see."

The cleft now had a far different aspect from what it had presented on their first visit. The largest of the trees, though scorched about the base, still stood with unwithered foliage, little harmed by the fire. But many of their small companions had been killed and partly destroyed by the heat and flames from the burning brush. In places the fire was yet smouldering

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

"Navigates" His Farm.

A story which almost parallels that told of Capt. Gray, the sailor-farmer of Toddy Pond, who is said to carry a compass on his plow to run the furrows straight, comes from Cranberry Isles. One sea captain, who enjoys the proud distinction of owning one of the very few horses on the island, got alarmed for fear that he would lose his bearings in the recent smoke, and on the veracious accounts of sober citizens took the binnacle from the vessel and strapped it alongside the seat of his wagon, fearing that the weather might become so thick that he would lose his bearings and have to navigate in what was worse than a fog. It is currently reported that he shouts at his team to turn to starboard or port, instead of the more conventional landlubber terms usually employed. — Kennebec (Me.) Journal.

"I love you" lasts longer when it grows from "I like you."

Origin of Word "Bible."

The word bible is derived from the Latin name biblia, which was treated as a singular although it comes from the Greek neuter plural, meaning "little books." This Greek diminutive was derived from byblus, or papyrus, the famous material on which ancient books were written. The title "Bible" was first used about the middle of the second Christian century in the so-called second epistle of Clement (xiv., 2).

Reaching Life's Goal.

If you want to be somebody in this world you must assert your individuality and assert it in the right direction, so that it may lead to a goal of honor for yourself and be an example for others. Find out what you ought to do, say to yourself: "I must do it," then begin right away with "I will do it," and keep at it until it is done.

Parental Loyalty.

"Did the father of the bride give her away?"

"Far from it. He told the bridegroom that she had the disposition of an angel."

There is no better way of hiding your light under a bushel than by keeping your church letter in your trunk.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Live Stock and Miscellaneous

Electrotypes

In great variety for sale at the lowest prices by

WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION
554 W. Adams St., CHICAGO

Facts For Sick Women

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Minneapolis, Minn.:—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women, I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. Within three months I was a perfectly well woman.

"I want this letter made public to show the benefits to be derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. John G. Moldan, 2115 Second St. North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

Insure Your Future

Money invested in the profit-paying farm land of the west is safer than in a savings bank. It earns big dividends on steady rising value alone. In prices are moderate. And the soil is the richest—climate the finest—railroad facilities the best—that can be found in the United States.

Butte Valley California

Round-Trip Homeseekers' Fares are on sale the first and third Tuesdays of every month to October 31, via

Union Pacific-Southern Pacific

"The Safe Road to Travel"

Electric block signals—dustless roadbed. For literature and information call on or address

E. L. LOMAX, G. P. A.
Union Pacific R. R., Omaha, Neb.

(13)

FOR PINK EYE DISTEMPER CATARRHAL FEVER AND ALL NOSE AND THROAT DISEASES

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER CURE

Cures the sick and acts as a preventive for others. Liquid given on the tongue. Safe for brood mares and all others. Best kidney remedy; 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle; $5.00 and $10.00 the dozen. Sold by all druggists and horse goods houses, or sent express paid, by the manufacturers.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Chemists, GOSHEN, INDIANA

EASY

Mrs. Henpeck—Did you ever hear of anything worse than a man who who smokes in the house?

Mr. Henpeck—Yes. A smoking lamp. Ask me another!

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right Starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the beauty and fineness of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using Defiance Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

Poverty and Consumption.

That poverty is a friend to consumption is demonstrated by some recent German statistics, which show that of 10,000 well-to-do persons 40 annually die of consumption; of the same number only moderately well-to-do, 66; of the same number of really poor, 77; and of paupers, 97. According to John Burns, the famous English labor leader, 90 per cent. of the consumptives in London receive charitable relief in their homes.

Proper Love for Wife.

"When a man really loves his wife he ought to combine all his nicest sentiments toward other women into one big sentiment for her.

"He should show her the respect he feels toward his mother, the politeness he shows other women and the responsibility he feels toward his sister.

"To all of that he should add the great love he should feel for a wife."

Against Pretenses.

Away with all those vain pretenses of making ourselves happy within ourselves, of feasting on our own thoughts, of being satisfied with the consciousness of well-doing, and of despising all assistance and all supplies from external objects. This is the voice of pride, not of nature.—Hume.

When Coloring Rags for Carpets or rugs, always use Dyola Dyes because the one package will color any material. Satisfaction guaranteed. Once try Dyola and you will never go back to the old fashioned dyes. 10c per package at your dealer's. Write Dyola, Burlington, Vt., for free book of directions and color card.

Appropriate.

First Milliner—You have designed the north pole hat?

Second Milliner—Yes, it will be a matter of dispute between the purchaser and her husband.

Farmer's Summer Trials.

"What do you find the hardest work connected with farming?"

"Collecting a board bill from you city chaps when it's due!"

A Rare Good Thing.

"Am using Allen's Foot-Ease, and can truly say I would not have been without it so long, had I known the relief it would give my aching feet. I think it a rare good thing for anyone having sore or tired feet. —Mrs. Matilda Holtwert, Providence, R. I." Sold by all Druggists, 25c. Ask to-day.

Drug Store Color.

Geraldine—My face is my fortune.

Gerald—I can see the color of your money.

Instant Relief for All Eyes, that are irritated from dust, heat, sun or wind, PETTIT'S EYE SALVE, 25c. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

If a man's wife cuts his hair he is entitled to a lot more sympathy than he gets.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Smith—So the will was read?

Jones—Yes; but the air was blue.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
FOR RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE
DIABETES BACKACHE
Dodd's Kidney Pills 75 "Guaranteed"

TUBERCULOSIS CONQUERED. Write for testimonials of prominent people and booklet, why NATURE'S CREATION cures consumptives. N. H. MORGAN, Suite 810 Hippodrome Bldg., Cleveland, O.

RUBBER STAMPS Stencils, etc. Send for our catalog. Agents wanted. W. B. WEBBER & CO., 324 Main St., Cincinnati, O.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

Children Like PISO'S CURE
THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS and COLDS
It is so pleasant to take—stops the cough so quickly. Absolutely safe too and contains no opiates.
All Druggists, 25 cents.

MILLENNIAL FORETASTE

Story of the Period of the Reign of Simon Maccabeus

BY THE "HIGHWAY AND BYWAY" PREACHER

(Copyright, 1909, by the Author, W. S. Elson.)

Based on the Apocryphal Book of 1 Maccabees, chapter 14.

SERMONETTE.

Simon, one of the Maccabean rulers, was able to restore much of the old-time prosperity and power of the Jewish nation, so that it is recorded of his reign:

"Then did they till their ground in peace, and the earth gave her increase, and the trees of the field their fruit.

"The ancient men sat all in the streets, communing together of good things, and the young men put on glorious and warlike apparel.

"He (Simon) provided victuals for the cities, and set in them all manner of munition, so that his honorable name was renowned unto the end of the world.

"He made peace in the land, and Israel rejoiced with great joy:

"For every man sat under his vine and his fig-tree; and there was none to fray them."

Who can say but that the Jews at this period believed and rejoiced that the prophecy of Micah had been fulfilled when he said:

"They shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig-tree; and none shall make them afraid; for the mouth of the Lord of Hosts hath spoken it.

"For all people will walk every one in the name of his God, and will walk in the name of the Lord our God for ever and ever.

"In that day, saith the Lord, will I assemble her that halteth and I will gather her that is driven out, and her that I have afflicted.

"And I will make her that halted a remnant, and her that was cast off a strong nation; and the Lord shall reign over them in Mount Zion from henceforth, even forever."

And still the Jews are looking for a great millennial blessing. Prophecy is full of its promises of the time yet to come. At various periods there have been foretastes of the full prophecy.

The Christian church is looking for the millennium. Some with one conception as to real meaning of Scriptural promises; others still hold a different interpretation.

Those poor misguided fanatics down in the far New England state who the other day laid aside all worldly pursuits and gave themselves up to the anticipated coming of Christ is an extreme illustration of how powerful an influence such hope in the declarations of the Bible can exert.

But the coming of the millennium will not be by observation, for Christ's own word declares that "no man knoweth the day or the hour when the Son of Man cometh."

That he will come he so declared, the early church believed, and many devout Bible scholars still believe.

The promise of the complete rule of the Lord over all the earth has not yet been fulfilled, but who would dare say that it was not yet to be? Who would dare to say that the word spoken by the Prophet Micah will not be literally fulfilled.

THE STORY.

NEVER did the cry of the nations of modern history, "the king is dead; long live the king," stir loyal hearts of the nation with sadder regrets over the departed ruler, and warm-hearted support for the leader upon whom the purple robe had fallen, than did the cry, which swept over the nation of Israel centuries before modern history began to be made:

"Jonathan is dead. Simon shall be our leader."

Great leaders fulfill their mission and then pass on to give place for others. Fortunate, indeed, is that nation who has a great man to step into the place made vacant by the death of a mighty leader.

Jonathan through treachery came to an untimely end, and his brother Simon stepped into the breach and gave to his nation an even greater reign than had the former.

With great honors Jonathan was laid in the splendid tomb at Modin which Simon caused to be built. This was the new leader's first task when called to rule. And it pleased the people, and when he had finished they asked:

"What will he now do to secure our nation against the troubles which beset us on every hand?"

Such was the query on every one's lips, and as though by way of answer there went forth the decree from Simon as he traveled hither and thither through the realm:

"The nation is respected as far as it is ready to meet its foes. Let the cities of the land be fortified. Let provision be made also for food supplies within these cities, so that an enemy coming against us shall find us prepared."

A thrill of hope and enthusiasm passed through the nation, and everywhere the people busy in building walls and raising watch towers, so that confidence was restored in the hearts of the people, and they began to give themselves with new zeal to the peaceable pursuits of the nation.

But two plague spots ate as a worm into the vitals of the nation. One was the city of Gaza and the other was the strong tower in Jerusalem which was still held by the Gentiles who had gained possession of it years before.

"The fruits of peace and prosperity cannot be enjoyed while there be those which defy our rule and authority," exclaimed Simon, one day to his advisers. "I am minded to go against Gaza, and also to conquer those who are holding the strong tower in Jerusalem."

"Thou hast spoken well," exclaimed the men around him. "We shall serve thee in this thing."

So Simon beseiged Gaza and when he found that his soldiers were unable to take it with their ordinary weapons he set about making a great engine of war and soon the city of Gaza was reduced to a ruin.

"And now for Jerusalem and those who still trouble the inhabitants of the place."

"Shall blood flow also there?"

"Yea, indeed," replied Simon, "for there can be no peace while yet there be those who know not our God or who will not obey his will, but choose to trouble his people."

So he came to Jerusalem with his picked men and day after day he drew in his forces closer and closer about the tower until at last they who were therein were in such straits that they had neither food nor drink and were on the verge of famine. So they cried unto Simon and entreated him that he would spare them. This Simon did, but he put them out utterly from the tower and city, and cleansed the tower from all its pollutions.

There was a great celebration held with thanksgiving, and branches of palm trees, and with harps and cymbals, and with viols, and hymns, and songs, because there was destroyed a great enemy out of Israel. And Simon ordained that the day should be kept every year with gladness.

So it came to pass that the land of Judea was quiet all the days of Simon, for he sought the good of his nation in such wise as that evermore his authority and honor pleased them well. And as he was honorable in all his acts, so in this, that he took Joppe for a haven, and made an entrance to the isles of the sea, and enlarged the bounds of the nation and recovered the country, so that the people came to speak of the wonderful blessing which God had bestowed upon them.

"Yea," said one old man as he sat in the gate of the city and talked over the peace and prosperity which had come upon the nation, "hath not a new age dawned? Is not now our nation to rule from sea to sea and from the waters unto the ends of the earth?"

"Thou speakest as some of the prophets of old," exclaimed the people, as they crowded around to listen.

"And well might we all, for was it not of just such time as this that the prophets did write?"

"But Rome still rules the world," spoke up one of the group.

"She is not our master, but our friend," spake the old man with some spirit. "She has accorded our people and our religion a place, and honored our ambassadors which were received at Rome: Why then should we not feel that the great day has come in Israel? When before has the land brought forth so bountifully? When have our streets been so filled with honorable trade? When have the people come every man into his own possession all through the land? Every man now sits under his own vine and fig-tree with none to molest or make afraid."

"Yea," spake up another, "and see how the law is searched out by our wise men and how it is honored by the people."

"True," exclaimed the old man of the group, evidently pleased with the affirmation of his own views, "I say again that the times of which the prophets of old spake have come to pass. Listen," and taking a scroll from the folds of his robe he unrolled it and read:

"But in the last days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the Lord shall be established in the top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills, and it shall be exalted. Has this not come to pass?" And with a shout, the people cried: "Amen."

Followers of Christ.

"Christianity" was not a word used by Paul, and the earliest designation of the disciples of Jesus as Christians was not friendly. But it was true, and the significance of it Paul accepted to the full. Christianity was Christ. It was not a vague and unreflecting admiration. It was a personal and living service of a living, personal Saviour. Paul the Christian was Paul the follower of Christ. But "follower of Christ" was a phrase with meaning and body to it. It meant then and it means now, if it meant then and means now anything at all, the union of life, its sin forgiven and its heart purified, with God in Christ, with God in Christ in a sense in which he never was in any other. Are we such Christians? Whether or not we are such consciously as yet, we will become such if we truly follow Paul as Paul followed Christ.

PRISON FOR WALSH

FORMER BANKER'S CONVICTION IS AFFIRMED BY COURT OF APPEALS.

AGED DEFENDANT IS ABSENT

Fight to Escape Five-Year Prison Term Ends in Defeat for Walsh—Case May Go to United States Supreme Court.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—The guilt of John R. Walsh was affirmed by the United States circuit court of appeals.

The heaviest blow yet to be dealt the former president of the Chicago National bank, and one-time power in the financial world, came when Judge Peter S. Grosscup read the decision upholding the five-year prison sentence imposed by Judge A. B. Anderson of Indiana over a year and a half ago.

The attorneys for the defense now have 30 days in which to prepare an appeal to the appellate court for a rehearing. In case this is denied, and it is almost certain to be denied, Mr. Walsh's lawyers undoubtedly will carry the case to the United States supreme court by means of an application for a writ of certiorari.

Mr. Walsh Is Not in Court.

Mr. Walsh, himself, who sat without show of emotion through the trying months of the long-drawn-out trial, was not in court to listen to the slowly uttered words that almost destroyed all hopes of averting the heavy penalty suspended over him.

John R. Walsh.

The decision was handed down at the opening session of the October term of the court of appeals. A crowd had gathered to hear the momentous ruling, moved by curiosity or by sympathy for the man whose old age had reaped a harvest little foreseen in the years of his prosperity.

Banks Declared Insolvent.

December 13, 1905, it was announced that John R. Walsh's banking institutions, the Chicago National and its two auxiliaries, the Home Savings and the Equitable Trust Company, had been declared insolvent by the authorities. With this announcement came the assurance that the banks of the city had rallied to the assistance of the depositors and would pay all indebtedness in full and hold steady the delicate balance of money affairs.

Charles H. Bosworth was the federal bank examiner who precipitated the closing of the banks. At one time Mr. Bosworth was the president of one of Mr. Walsh's railroads, the Southern Indiana, and thus had an opportunity to learn the manner in which the bank's funds were being used to build up this property.

Irregularities Found.

After taking up his new duties he began a careful investigation of the Chicago National and its allied institutions, at the suggestion of Comptroller of the Currency Ridgely, and made discoveries which caused the latter to hasten to Chicago.

The state officials were called into conference and on Saturday, December 16, the other bankers of the city were informed as to the condition of Walsh's bank.

Then followed the ten-hour session Sunday night in the correspondents' room of the Chicago National, at which Chicago's financiers decided to meet the emergency. Weeks later it was ascertained that the late Marshall Field was the moving spirit in this session which saved a big run on Chicago banks.

Walsh Is Indicted.

It was then decided that upon the turning over of the bank's private property, amounting to $5,000,000, the clearing house would assume the Walsh indebtedness. It transpired that the use of the assets of the bank for the exploiting the railroad interests of Walsh was the direct cause of the trouble.

Investigation of the failure continued until early in 1906, when matters became serious for Walsh. He was arrested on complaint of the district attorney on March 2, 1906. He was released under bonds of $50,000, and the case dragged slowly. January 15, 1907, Walsh was indicted. The federal grand jury held that he was guilty of 5 charges of misapplication of funds

HAD ONE GOOD POINT

Young Guest—It seems to me that you don't object to the mosquitoes singing in your room.

Old Guest—You bet I don't. Why, when the mosquitoes are singing I can't hear the glee club practicing on the piazza.

TOTAL LOSS OF HAIR.

Seemed Imminent—Scalp Was Very Scaly and Hair Came Out by Handfuls—Scalp Now Clear and New Hair Grown by Cuticura.

"About two years ago I was troubled with my head being scaly. Shortly after that I had an attack of typhoid fever and I was out of the hospital possibly two months when I first noticed the loss of hair, my scalp being still scaly. I started to use dandruff cures to no effect whatever. I had actually lost hope of saving any hair at all. I could brush it off my coat by the handful. I was afraid to comb it. But after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and nearly a box of Cuticura Ointment, the change was surprising. My scalp is now clear and healthy as could be and my hair thicker than ever, whereas I had my mind made up to be bald. W. F. Steese, 5812 Broad St., Pittsburg, Penn., May 7 and 21, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Definite Location.

Every visitor at the new capitol at Harrisburg, Pa., who gets as far as the registration room, is expected to write his name in a big book, together with his birthplace and present residence, says the Troy Times. Not long ago, when a crowd of excursionists visited the grounds and buildings, a stout girl started to register.

She paused, pen poised in air, and called out to an elderly lady, comfortably seated in a big chair, "Mon, vere vas I borned at?"

"Vat you vant to know dat for?"

"Dis man vants to put it in der big book."

"Ach," answered the mother, "you know veil enough—in der old stone house."

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Unpleasant Encounters.

"Does Bliggins meet his obligations?"

"Frequently," answered Miss Cayenne. "But he invariably snubs them.

Answer Wouldn't Do.

"How far is it to Bigtown?"

"Well, as the crow flies—"

"I'm not going by air ship."

Eggs, more eggs, I get twice as many eggs summer and winter, since I discovered my sure successful method how to make hens lay more eggs. It's free if you write, Mrs. L. Alley, New Madrid, Mo.

Young man, beware of the peach who is the apple of your eye. She may prove to be a lemon.

True Representative of Race.

Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg may claim this distinction, that he is the first German chancellor to wear a beard. Bismarck hastened to shave his off when he entered upon diplomacy, and showed his rivals and enemies a massive jaw and clear-cut chin; and he shaved to the end, with an interval enforced by neuralgia in the early '90s. As a soldier, too Caprivi shaved, all but his mustache, and so did Hohenlohe and Bulow. But Bethmann-Hollweg is gaunt, rugged, hirsute, pan-Germanic.

A Steady Thing.

Something had gone amiss with Bobbie and he had sought the comfort of tears. Noticing his wet cheeks, his mother said in a consolatory tone:

"Come here, dear, and let me wipe your eyes."

"'Tain't no use, muvver," returned Bobbie with a little choke; "I's doin' to cry again in a minute!"—Woman's Home Companion.

Never take a mean advantage of anyone in any transaction, and never be hard upon people who are in your power.—Dickens.

Quaker Oats
is the perfectly balanced human food

China for your table in the Family Size Packages

You Can Shave Yourself With
TRADE Gillette MARK
NO STROPPING NO HONING
KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

PROOF in the Morning!

We tell you about how good you'll feel after taking a CASCARET—that millions of people—buy, use and recommend them—But that's talk—you buy a box now—take as directed to-night and get the proof in the morning—After you know CASCARETS you'll never be without them.

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

AGENTS:—IF I KNEW YOUR NAME, I would send you our $2.0 sample outfit free this very minute. Let me start you in a profitable business. You do not need one cent of capital. Experience unnecessary. 50% profit. Credit given. Premiums. Freight paid. Chance to win $500 in gold extra. Every man and woman should write me for free outfit. JAY BLACK, President, 249 Bowery Street, Boston, Mass.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. Full line stamp and stencil goods. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. The Tammen Manufacturing Co.

CIGAR SALESMAN wanted in your locality to represent us. Experience unnecessary; $110 per month and expenses. Write for particulars. Sales Manager, in care of MONARCH CIGAR CO., St. Louis, Mo.

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 42-1909.

Libby's Food Products

RECEIVED THE ONLY

GRAND PRIZE

(HIGHEST AWARDS)

At the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition

AGAINST ALL COMPETITORS ON

PICKLES—OLIVES—CONDIMENTS—CALIFORNIA ASPARAGUS—PRESERVES—JELLIES—SALAD DRESSING—CONDENSED MILK—EVAPORATED MILK—CALIFORNIA FRUITS

CANNED MEATS

CORNED BEEF—SLICED DRIED BEEF—OX TONGUE—VEAL LOAF—HAM LOAF—VIENNA SAUSAGE

WHERE QUALITY COUNTS WE LEAD

Your Grocer Has Them—Insist on Getting Libby's

LIBBY, McNEILL & LIBBY

SHINGLES TETTER BURNS ECZEMA ERYSIPELAS CHAFING

RESINOL

RING WORM HERPES POISON IVY ITCHING RASHES ABRASIONS

a soothing, healing ointment for all eruptions and irritations of the skin and a certain cure for itching piles. 50 cents a jar, all druggists, or sent direct on receipt of price.

RESINOL CHEMICAL COMPANY, BALTIMORE, MD.

"RESINOL is the best application I have ever seen for burns."
H. B. Withers, Mineral Wells, Texas.

HAMLIN'S WIZARD OIL GREAT FOR PAIN
THE OIL THAT PENETRATES

Personal Mention.

Geo. Bradberry, of Germantown, Bracken county, has been the guest of his sister, Mrs. Thomas Adams, of Hebron neighborhood, for several days. He is a fine looking old bachelor, enjoying a good patronage at his trade, that of blacksmithing. He was a citizen of Burlington, 27 years ago, and his visit here last week was the first since he left, and, of course, very few of those here who knew him well a quarter of a century ago recognized him.

Mr. E. Fitzgerald, left last Monday for his home at Fairberry, Illinois, after having spent three weeks with his Boone county relatives and friends. His coming always delights his friends at the Old Kentucky Home, while his departure is regretted by them.

Mrs. Kate Lewis and sister, Miss Julia Stevenson, of Norwood, Ohio, and Misses Anna Mae Green, of Lexington; Rena Calhoun of Owensboro, and Anna Cleek, of Beaver, were guests at Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Revill's, several days the past week.

Ransom Ryle, of Locust Grove country, made this office a short call one day the past week. Mr. Ryle is being annoyed considerably, this fall, with asthma.

Atty. Joel C. Clore is off on a trip around the world, which will require four months. He will visit several of the European countries.

Callie Baldon was delighted with his trip to Winchester, last week. He enjoyed the session of the K. of P. Grand Lodge to the fullest extent.

R. H. Stevenson and wife, of Dry Ridge, Grant county, were guests of A. B. Renaker and wife from Saturday until Sunday afternoon.

John L. Jones and Geo. L. Miller, of Big Bone, were among those who had business in the quarterly court as witnesses, last Thursday.

A. B. Renaker, cashier of the Peoples Deposit Bank, attended the Bankers Association in session at Louisville, last week.

John Furlong, of Covington, was here last Sunday, the guest of his sisters, Miss Mary Furlong and Mrs. Kirb Tanner.

Rev. Edgar Riley and wife are in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, attending the National Convention of Christian churches.

William Carpenter, of Locust Grove neighborhood, was among the business visitors to Burlington, last Thursday.

F. W. Kassabaum, the Aurora marble and granite man, was in this part of the county the first part of the week.

Miss Sheba Roberts returned, last Monday, from a visit of several days with relatives and friends at Walton.

J. E. Smith was kicked by a horse one day last week, and has to use a cane to assist his locomotion.

Roy Kirkpatrick, of Riverside, O., spent last Sunday in Burlington, the guest of his brother Jesse.

J. H. Rogers, of Walton, Democratic nominee for county clerk, was in Burlington, yesterday.

Mrs. Annie Kirkpatrick is visiting her daughter, Mrs. L. L. Ware, at Roachdale, Indiana.

L. S. Beemon, of Limaburg, is arranging to journey to Florida about the first of January.

Cecil Gaines, who was quit sick for several days the past week, is improving.

J. A. Duncan was at Lexington a few days last week attending the trots.

Money Comes in Bunches.

to A. A. Chisholm, of Treadwell, N. Y., now. His reason is well worth reading: "For a long time I suffered from indigestion, torpid liver, constipation, nervousness, and general debility," he writes. "I couldn't sleep, had no appetite, nor ambition, grew weaker every day in spite of all medical treatment. Then used Electric Bitters. Twelve bottles restored all my old time health and vigor. Now I can attend to business every day. It's a wonderful medicine." Infallible for Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Blood and Nerves. 50c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Capt. Chas. Kotmeyer, of Constance, is putting a larger wheel on his new gasoline launch with a view to increasing its speed until it's something like commensurate with the power of his engines. From the way he had it rigged, last week, it indicated he was contemplating a trip to the country with the craft.

The Swensen Land Company has a full page illustrated advertisement in this issue, but these printed pictures are no more interesting than the word-picture Mr. Hughes drew, of the Texas Pan Handle country, at the court house door here on the first Monday in this month.

NOTICE—As I have moved my Millinery Store to Aurora will be pleased to see my customers at this location. I have a larger assortment than ever before. Call and see.
EDNA GUY,
8t Hauck Building, Aurora, Ind.

C. W. Robinson writes to have his RECORDER sent to LaCenter, Washington, at which place it is presumed he is located permanently.

Thomas Rouse filled his 80 ton silo last Saturday with corn.

It's a Top Notcher.

Great deeds compel regard. The world crowns its doers. That's why the American people have crowned Dr. King's New Discovery the King of Throat and Lung remedies. Every atom is a health force. It kills germs and colds and lagrippe vanish. It heals cough-racked membranes and coughing stops. Sore, inflamed bronchial tubes and lungs are cured and hemorrhages cease. Dr. Geo. More, Black Jack, N. C., writes "It cured me of lung trouble, pronounced hopeless by all doctors." 50c $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Colds on the Chest

Ask your doctor the medical name for a cold on the chest. He will say, "Bronchitis." Ask him if it is ever serious. Lastly, ask him if he prescribes Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for this disease. Keep in close touch with your family physician.

We publish our formulas

Ayer's

We banish alcohol from our medicines

We urge you to consult your doctor

When you tell your doctor about the bad taste in your mouth, loss of appetite for breakfast, and frequent headaches, and when he sees your coated tongue, he will say, "You are bilious." Ayer's Pills work well in such cases.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell at public auction at my residence, 2 miles from Big Bone Springs, Boone county, Ky., on

Tuesday, October 19, 1909,

The following property:

Two Mares—one in foal; Cow, lot of Corn and fodder, Buggy, Road Wagon, Chickens and Turkeys, and other articles too numerous to mention.

Terms made known on day of sale.
WILLIAM DREW.
Sale to begin at 2 o'clock p. m.

PUBLIC SALE!

I will offer for sale, as administrator of Nancy L. Rouse, decd., at her late residence, ½ mile west of Florence, Ky., on the Florence & Burlington pike, on Wednesday, Oct. 20, '09,

the following property:

Family horse, buggy, buggy harness, good Brussells carpet, stairs and hall Brussells carpet, 2 Ingrain carpets, new Rag carpet, 2 pieces Linoleumn, wood heater, Goodwill coal heater No. 40, No. 7 stove range nearly new and cooking utensils, 12-ft. walnut extension table, ½ doz. chairs, bed lounge, 2 bureaus, 4 rockers, marble top dresser, marble top wash stand, 3 good feather beds, good folding bed, 2 bed steads, dining room cupboard, safe, Blue flame oil stove, steam cooker, washing machine, kettle and many other articles.

All sums of $5 and under, cash: on all sums over that amount a credit of 6 months will be given, purchasers to give notes with approved security negotiable and payable in the Florence Deposit Bank. No property to be removed until terms are complied with.
E. O. ROUSE, Admr.
Tony Bentler, Auctioneer.
Sale to begin at 12.30 sharp.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will offer for sale at public auction at the Michael Sothorn place on the Bullittsville & Dry Creek pike, near Hebron, Ky.,

Tuesday, October 19, 1909

the following property.

Driving Horse, 18-month old Heifer, Road Wagon, 2-h. Spring Wagon, 1-h. Spring Wagon, top Buggy, 2-h. Breaking Plow, 'A' Harrow, Sled, set double work Harness, single Harness, lot of Butter Jars, some Household and Kitchen Furniture and other articles too numerous to mention.

All sums of $5 and under, cash; on sums over $5 a credit of nine months will be given, purchasers to give notes with approved security negotiable and payable in the Boone Co. Deposit Bank.
Mrs. KATE TUPMAN.
Sale to begin at 1 p. m.

Public Sale!

Mt. Pleasant Grange having decided to discontinue its organization, will sell to the highest bidder at the hall in Bullittsville, Kentucky, on

Saturday, Oct. 16, '09

The following property:

Piano in first-class condition; Book Case, Library of 125 volumes, Benches, Desks, Chairs, Cups and Saucers, 100 feet Pine Lumber, Officers Staffs, Gavels, Song Books and other articles.

Sale to begin at 1 p. m. sharp.

For Sale—35 stock ewes. Apply to Geo. Riley, Bullittsville.

For Sale—Sow and six pigs Apply to N. W. Carpenter near Burlington.

For Sale—5 or 6 sixty pound shoats Apply to Asa McMullen, rural route 2, Burlington.

For Sale—Kiefer pears this week only. Apply to W. M. Baisly, near Francesville.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co

Rising Sun, Indiana.

Watches at $1.00

We have them good time keepers too—guaranteed.

Silverine case with Elgin movement (the Elgin needs no recommendation.) for $5.50.

Gold filled 20-year case (cases that will wear the 20 years) with Elgin movement 12-16-18 size for $10.00.

Ladies' Hunting 20-year cases with Elgin movement for $12.50.

Solid Gold Watches at equally low prices.

We have the Stock at prices that cannot be duplicated elsewhere for good quality goods.

MOTGH,
The Jeweler,
613 Madison Ave.
Covington, Ky.

Where you will always find goods as represented.
Established 51 years.

Farm for Sale.

My 113 acre farm on the Ohio river adjoining the town of McVille, Boone county, Ky. On this farm are two good dwellings a good barn and other necessary outbuildings, and it will produce anything that will grow in this climate. If this farm is not sold by the first of Feby., 1910, I will rent it for one year for money rent, and give rentor privilege to purchase it at the end of the year, or will rent it for part of the crop, the rentor to give good reference as to him being a neat, industrious farmer. If sold terms will be easy. Possession given March 1, 1910. For further particulars call on or address
S. D. RICE, Grant, Ky.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices.

All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

Women

Women who suffer from female ailments, frequently neglect their trouble, till a general break-down follows. Don't wait till your case is as bad as that—take Cardui in time. It is a safe, reliable medicine, for all women.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. Rena Hare, of Pierce, Fla., tried Cardui and afterward wrote: "I was a sufferer from all sorts of female trouble, had pain in my side, drawing pains in my legs, could not sleep, had shortness of breath. "I suffered for years, until my husband insisted on my trying Cardui. The first bottle gave me relief, and now I am almost well." Try Cardui. It will help you."

E 43

Lest you Forget

We Cut the Price on all Medicines.

WE QUOTE A FEW.

Peruna	71c
Pinkham's Compound	71c
Swamp Root	71c
S. S. S.	71c
Wine of Cardui	71c
Pierce's G. M. Discovery	71c
Pierces' Prescription	71c
Ozomulsion	71c
Scott's Emulsion	71c
Wampole's C. L. Oil	71c
Antiphlogistine	40-75c
Sal Hepatica	90c
S. S. S. (large)	$1.25
Fellows' Syrup	$1.00
Gombalt's Caustic Bal.	$1.15
Sloan's Liniment	71c
Kitchell's Liniment	65c
Barb Wire Liniment	20c
Cuticura Soap	18c
Colgate's Palm Soap 6 for	25c
" Turk Soap 6 for	25c
Pure Castile Soap, lb	20c
Allcock's Porous Plasters	2 for 25c
Belladonna Plasters	2 for 25c
Water Bottles	49c
Fountain Syringes (Each 2-quart size)	59c
Doan's Kidney Pills	40c
King's Pills	20c
Cuticura Pills	20c
Pinkham's Pills	20c
Carter's Little Liver Pills	15c
Gooch's Pills	20c
Bucklin's Arnica Salve	20c
5 Drop Ointment	20c
Pyramid Pile Cure	40c
Pazo Pile Ointment	40c
Parker's Hair Balsam	40c
Hay's Hair Health	40c
Peroxide Hydrogen, lb	25c
Creolin, lb	75c
Vaseline, lb	25c
Pine Tar, gallon	30c
Pluto Water	30c
Castor Oil, quart	50c
Castoria	25c
Syrup Figs	38c
Beef Iron and Wine	40c
Warner's 3-gr. Lithia Tablets	20c
Quinine, ounce	50c
Capsules—box of 100	08c
Bromo Quinine	20c
Tetlow's Swan Down or 2 for 25	15c
Tetlow's Gassmer Powder	20c
Allen's Foot Ease	20c
Harleem Oil	05c
Bull's Worm Candy	20c
Absorbent Cotton, oz 4 oz. 15c, 1 lb.	35c
Ground Flaxseed, lb	10c
Sulphur, lb	05c
Copperas, lb	03c
Moth Balls, lb	05c
Epsom Salts, lb	05c
Cream Tartar, lb	35c
Borax, lb	12c
Toilet Paper, 6 pads	25c
Tooth Picks, 2 boxes	05c
Hindoo Corn Remover	15c
Magee's Corn Plaster	10c
One Night Corn Cure	10c
Hostetter's Bitters	85c
All Chewing Gum, pkg.	03c
Sulphate, Soda, lb	20c
Phosphate Soda, lb	20c
Garfield Tea	20c
Hard Rubber Syringe	20c
Schiffman's Asthma Cure	40c
New Skin Court Plaster	20c
Carpenter's Liquid Court Plaster—tube	10c
Prophefoctic Tooth Brushes	25c
Colgate's Tooth Paste	40c
Sanitol Tooth Paste	20c

We have many more at just as L w Prices.

SAVE THE DIMES.

Geo. C. Goode

AGENT.

Groceries & Medicines,
Pike & Washington,
Covington, Kentucky.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST.

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittendon, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

C. H. ACRA,
AUCTIONEER
GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,
WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.
CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.
Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

Fall and Winter Millinery.

I now have on display my new stock of Hats and Baby Caps, with prices to suit every customer. Desiring to reduce my stock I will offer

Specials from 25c up

and hope my customers will take advantage of these bargains. Come in and see them, as also my nice line of

DRY GOODS and JEWELRY.

Cordially yours,
MISS LOU W. ALLEN, Petersburg, Ky.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.
Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.
S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated—A. D. 1892.

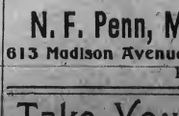
Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.
Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

CANNOT SPLIT OR CURL LIKE WOOD SHINGLES



CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

Last as long as the building and never need repairs. Think of it! They're also fireproof, stormproof, handsome and quite inexpensive.

SEND FOR ESTIMATE

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, K

Our Business Constantly Increasing.

For the past seven years our optical business has constantly increased. We treat all alike, selling the best goods at the lowest possible prices to all. We have a complete lens-grinding outfit and can grind and replace broken lenses while you wait.

We can furnish anything made in optical goods.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

Take Your County paper.

DON'T FAIL TO VISIT

ROSENTHAL BROTHERS New Clothing Store

Before buying.—Complete Outfitters for Men, Boys and Children—Everything New and Up-to-Date.

Big Store Building, RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Local News.

The RECORDER is authorized to announce Judge John M. Lessing a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Appellate Judge in this the Sixth Appellate District, subject to the primary election November 2, 1909

The Ohio Valley Historical Association will hold its next meeting at Frankfort, this State, October 14-16.

The Frankfort News issued a voluminous anniversary edition, that was certainly a substantial testimonial to the enterprise of its owners.

Judge Cason had a busy day in the quarterly court, last Thursday. He disposed of two contested cases that were creating much interest in their respective localities.

All the politics in Kentucky this fall is centered in Louisville, where each party concedes that as goes Louisville this fall so will go the State at the next State election.

It is not uncommon this fall to hear a farmer declare that he has the best corn he ever raised, but notwithstanding the large crop the indications are that the drop in the price will be very small.

The famous Aylor—Riggs colt case was up in the quarterly court again last Thursday. Several witnesses were on hand to testify on the trial which was before the court. Aylor got judgment for the amount he claimed.

With a wheat crop in excess of 25,000,000 bushels, the farmers of Pennsylvania are rejoicing this year. These figures without a doubt are impressive. They place the Keystone State, known for its manufacturing and mineral industries, among the first rank in wheat-producing States.

Some of the growers say the weather has been too dry for the proper curing of tobacco since the crop was put in the house. It is generally conceded that the best cured tobacco needs a certain amount of damp weather, and that without sufficient moisture to bring tobacco in case two or three times during the curing period that the leaf drys out in a manner that deprives it of much substance that it otherwise would retain, giving the weed a better body, and, consequently, more weight.

The weather the past two or three weeks has been hard on small grain, not a very large crop of which has been sowed in this county. Probably if farmers would make a complete change in their seed wheat, getting it from the west, they would have better results in the way of a yield. Many years ago Boone county had some very fine wheat producing territory, but there has been a change in conditions to such an extent as to make the crop among the poorest on the list.

School children of Fall River, Massachusetts, have been warned by means of printed slips pasted in all their text-books, by order of the board of health, not to spit, not to moisten their fingers to turn leaves or count money, not to suck pencils or hold money in the mouth, and not to "swap" candy, gum, half-eaten food, whistles, bean-blowers, or anything that is put in the mouth. If the young folks in all parts of the country should obey these rules, there would be fewer cases of tonsilitis and diphtheria.—Ex.

In some localities where the right of way for a traction road is being solicited, one objection to the building of the road is that it will increase the value of land in case the road is built, and as a result of the increase of land value, more taxes they would have to pay. This is true, but there is another side to this question, of which sight seems to have been completely lost, viz: the building of a traction road through the county would add many thousand dollars to the total amount of taxable property, which should have a tendency to reduce the tax rate, which reduction should, in a considerable measure, offset the amount of taxes that would have to be paid were the tax rate to remain unchanged.

The Federal Good Roads Department states that the direct saving to the farmers of this country from properly constructed roads would be $250,000,000 annually; that there would be a saving of over $100,000,000 in marketing the wheat crop alone; of over $12,000,000 in marketing the corn crop and of $5,000,000 in marketing the cotton crop. However great the money value of good roads may appear to be, it is not so important as educational and social advantages to be derived therefrom by the residents of rural communities. As a rule, the farmers are more wide awake to the necessity of good roads than the residents in the cities, as proper highways affect directly their comfort and prosperity. This is not a problem for a single locality, but concerns vitally the state and the nation.

Rising Sun, Ind., Oct. 7, 1909.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

Dear Sir:—I notice by this week's issue of your paper that you state that the game between the Cincinnati Reds and Rising Sun ball team has been canceled. This is a mistake, as I have the contract duly signed in which they agree to play at this place Thursday, October 21, 1909.

We expect to make this a big day and are looking for a good crowd and have advertised the game all over the country. We expect to use Conner and Slayback from your county, for the battery and hope to see a large crowd of our Kentucky friends on that day.

Trusting you will correct the error in your next issue and that we may see you and quite a good many more from your place on that day I remain,

Yours Truly,
W. T. BURNS.

The following method will appeal to every farmer as the easiest, quickest and least expensive plan for storing all kinds of fruit and vegetables, from a potato to a pumpkin: Arrange the fruit or vegetables in a long row, as high and as wide as would seem advisable. Spread a little hay over them and set up fodder on each side to the desired thickness—say, three or four feet. This affords excellent protection from ordinary cold; and in the case of pumpkin, turnip or cabbage storage, or any other article fed to stock, you have the means at hand with which to form a most desirable balanced ration as you feed out the corn and fodder. This method will prove especially valuable to renters and others who are compelled to move early in the spring, when it would be extremely unhandy to chop through the frozen ground, and "fish out" fruit or vegetables from the old fashioned "hole" or pit.

The Bed-Rock of Success.

lies in a keen, clear brain, backed by indomitable will and resistless energy. Such power comes from the splendid health that Dr. King's New Life Pills impart. They vitalize every organ and build up brain and body. J. A. Harmon, Lizemore, W. Va., writes: "They are the best pills I ever used." 25c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

The Government Farmer's Bulletins contain valuable information. Write to your Congressman for a list of all the bulletins published, select what you desire and he will be glad to have them mailed to you from Washington. They are now ready.

One night, recently, Rev. Edgar Riley was aroused from his peaceful slumbers by the squalling of his chickens. Of course he concluded that a nocturnal visitor in human form was disturbing his poultry, and he gathered his trusty revolver and hastened out into the yard, where he discharged the weapon in the air to frighten the supposed thief, and immediately thereafter he heard something approaching him from towards the chicken house, and he began to consider whether it were better to beat a retreat or engage in deadly conflict with his fellowman, and just as he decided that the former was best, he discovered his favorite canine approaching towards him, apparently much pleased at meeting its master at that hour. Looking at the dog, Mr. Riley exclaimed, "you rascal, you do not realize how near you came to being shot full of holes." Returning to his peaceful couch he was soon again in the embrace of Morpheus.

Shade trees have begun shedding their foliage as a result of the frosts the last few weeks.

The bidding for Thanksgiving turkeys will begin now soon.

There's a Missing Word.

There is a missing Word in this advertisement and there will be one in each of our ads. in this paper from now to November 24th. We have lots and lots of good things to tell you about this fall and in order to get as many to read our advertisements as possible we will give $5.00 in gold as stipulated below. Fill out the following coupon or make one like it and fill it out.

The missing word in Green's advertisement dated Oct. 13

is.....found between the words

.....and.....

Name.....

Address.....

$5.00 in gold will be given for the largest number of correct answers to the eleven propositions and in case of a tie the money will be equally divided. All answers must be filed at our store within 10 days from the date of the coupon. It costs you nothing to submit your answers and in reading our advertisements you will be sure to keep posted as to the many bargains we are offering.

Last week's Coupons must be in our store within 10 days from the date of issue. Don't delay.

FOR YEARS

We Have Been Saying

Buy at Green's and be Happy

and we are prepared to say it again this fall and prove it to you.

Every department of our Store bids you welcome, offering largest variety of Fabrics, Colors, Styles, Etc., in our Store History at Prices Interestingly Low.

Beautiful new Flannellete's and Outings,

Beautiful new Wool and Silk Dress Goods.

Beautiful new Cloaks, Suits and Skirts going at a Special Discount every day until our Cloak Opening.

Hundreds of other good things.

Come and be Convinced.

GREEN'S

Cash Store,

Rising Sun, Indiana.

Look for the Arrow, it Points to Bargains.

WE DON'T KNOW WHETHER

You Know It or Not

Our Customers help to bring the trade to us. They know they get satisfaction. They will tell you, no matter where you go, you'll never find better Clothing than those handled by us.

OUR LINE OF

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing

CAN NOT BE SURPASSED.

We have a large assortment to select from and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP. We have some nice

MEN'S SUITS at..... $5.00 and $7.50

Better Grades MEN'S SUITS... $10.00 to $18.00

These include a great many high priced suits which we have reduced

BOYS' SUITS..... $4.00 to $10.00

We are giving especially great bargains in our Boys' Suits.

MEN'S PANTS...$1.00 to $5.00 CHILDREN'S SUITS...$1.25 to $5.00

Kindly visit our Store and you wilt be most favorably impressed with the bargains we are showing.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET, Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky

THE

Godman Shoes

Our large line of Godman Shoes just opened is now ready for you to make your selection. We sold a great many of these Shoes last winter and found they gave splendid wear. Come in and see them. We have all styles at prices to suit everyone.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

Don't Forget and See Our NEW LINE OF

Tablets, Pencils And School Supplies,

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

Frightful Fate Averted.

"I would have been a cripple for life, from a terrible cut on my knee cap," writes Frank Disberry, Kelliher, Minn., "without Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which soon cured me." Infallible for wounds, cuts and bruises, it soon cures Burns, Scalds, Old Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions. World's best for Piles. 25c. at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

The forest is receiving the beautiful tint that Jack Frost is the only artist that can bestow.

Notice To Contractors.

The undersigned will receive sealed bids for painting all tin, galvanized and wood work on the ouside of the Court House in Burlington, until noon Oct. 16th, 1909, according to specifications now on file with me.

N. E. RIDDELL, Committee.

Walnuts plentiful—hickory nuts scarce.

FOR RENT.

195 acre farm on Woolper, Boone county, Ky., about 20 acres for wheat, 25 acres for corn, 4 acres for tobacco, balance in grass and timber. Good 7-room house, cistern, orchard and all necessary outbuildings, 3 tobacco barns. Terms cash first of March. Call on or address C. J. SEBREE, 207 Miami Ave., Cleves, Ohio. sept-8

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.

JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. - KENTUCKY.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

Latest News of Interest Boiled Down for the Busy Man.

TOUR OF THE PRESIDENT.

President Taft was given a hearty welcome on his arrival at San Francisco and the program for his entertainment was carried out without a hitch.

President Taft, at Seattle exposition, in his speech said he would ask congress to pass a ship subsidy law.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. E. E. Pitts of Laurens, S. C., is said to have been cured recently of pellagra in an advanced stage.

Miss Ruth Bryan has announced herself as a candidate for congress from a Colorado district.

Attorney General Wickersham and Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor arrived in Washington after their vacations.

Richard U. Sherman, son of Vice-President Sherman, and Miss Eleanor Mills, a society belle of Utica, N. Y., were married at that city.

Postmaster General Hitchcock is at Flagstaff, Ariz., for a bear hunt. He will join the Taft party at Yuma.

Prof. Abbott Lawrence Lowell was inaugurated as president of Harvard university.

GENERAL NOTES.

Sensational developments are expected in the jury-tampering scandal at Chicago. State's Attorney Wayman has discovered much new evidence and drafts of more indictments are being prepared and the present grand jury is expected to return them.

Action has been begun at Washington before the interstate commerce commission by the Federal Sugar Refining Company of New York against several eastern railroads in which allegations of unjust and unreasonable charges for transportation of sugar are made.

The Spanish ambassador to France has again formally assured Foreign Minister Pichon that Spain has no intention of departing from her original program regarding Morocco as communicated to the powers.

The Upper Mississippi River Improvement association in session at Winona, Minn., has adopted a resolution requesting congress to appropriate $20,000,000 for a six-foot channel in the Mississippi river from Minneapolis to St. Louis.

The Mayor of Marshalltown, Ia., and six members of the police force and sheriff's office have been indicted by a federal grand jury for placing an Indian service officer in jail and keeping him there for more than 24 hours.

The old-fashioned lord mayor's show, which for many centuries has been one of the most picturesque functions to be witnessed in England, will be abandoned this year by the new lord mayor-elect, Sir John Knill.

"King's Mountain day," the anniversary of the victory over the British in 1780 at King's Mountain, N. C., was celebrated in South Carolina and Tennessee.

Wilbur Wright made the most spectacular flight in his aeroplane at New York that the world has ever witnessed. He circled the air 100 feet over New York harbor in an 18-mile wind.

Costly war in Morocco is rapidly precipitating a crisis in Spain, which may bring about the overthrow of King Alfonso. Spanish affairs are causing much uneasiness among the other powers.

Aviator Wilbur Wright announces he will hereafter direct his efforts to the commercial exploitation of his machines and will make no more public flights.

Capt. Samuel C. Lemly, formerly judge advocate general of the navy, who became prominent in connection with the famous Schley court of inquiry, died at St. Elizabeth's hospital in Washington.

As each graduating class at West Point is about eighty men short of the number of officers needed by the army, an effort will be made by President Taft to persuade congress to increase the number of cadets to be appointed.

A dense fog at Detroit caused many collisions between street cars in which several persons were injured. One boy was killed.

"Near-beer" dealers in Tennessee must pay a tax of $1,500 a year, collection of which is to be begun at once.

Thirty miners were killed when 50 men were entombed in a mine through the explosion of gas near Victoria, B. C.

Owing to complications between Morocco and Spain becoming more acute, declaration of regular war between those countries is a possibility.

William R. Hearst has accepted the nomination for the New York mayoralty, tendered him by a mass meeting at Cooper Union, called by his admirers.

St. Charles, Mo., the first city to be incorporated in Missouri, began a week's celebration of its hundredth birthday with parades, races and other entertainments.

The annual convention of the Polish National alliance opened in Milwaukee, Wis., with about 450 delegates present.

A fine granite monument erected by the federal government and the state of West Virginia was unveiled at Point Pleasant, W. Va., to commemorate the defeat of the allied Indians there on October 10, 1774, at the close of Lord Dunmore's war.

The fourteenth annual state conference of charities and corrections was held in Peoria, Ill., and was addressed by many experts in philanthropic service.

Seventeen men were killed and ten severely injured in a collision between freight and work trains on the Santa Fe road near Topeka. Nearly all the victims were Mexican laborers.

Naphtali Herz Imber, the Hebrew poet who wrote "Hatikvah," the Zionist national hymn, will probably be buried at New York in a grave which he purchased several years ago, giving in exchange a 14-line poem in classic Hebrew.

Four persons perished in a Nashville (Tenn.) fire which destroyed a brick residence. Two negroes were arrested on suspicion of having fired the structure.

Pittsburg champion National baseball team defeated Detroit, winners of American league pennant, in the first game of the world championship series.

J. C. Mabray and 89 others were indicted by the grand jury at Omaha on the charge of promoting fake sporting events.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook had to be escorted from the Coliseum at Chicago by the police, so great was the enthusiasm of the audience to pay him homage.

Dr. Cronk, medical inspector of New Brunswick, N. J., urges the board of education to provide every public school pupil with a tooth brush, as a health measure.

Mary Keegan, who was a domestic for 30 years on the family of Thomas B. Kerr of New York, has been rewarded by a legacy of $10,000 in Mr. Kerr's will.

A woman confederate is supposed to have aided Oscar Dragege, alleged embezzler of New York hospital funds, to escape from Denver jail.

Francis Joseph, brother of Prince Miguel of Braganza, and Prince Alexander Georgievitch Romanowski, duke of Leuchtenberg, a protege of the czar, are said to be rival suitors for the hand of Marjorie Gould, daughter of George Gould of New York.

Mrs. F. A. Haight of Chicago fell in front of a New York subway train and escaped death by a narrow margin. She was taken to a hospital slightly injured.

Because John F. George, vice-president of the Harrington Leather Company at Elizabeth, N. J., would not resign when the United States Leather Company bought the plant, but relied on his contract of employment, he was put to work as an ordinary laborer. He continues to draw $10,000 a year salary.

The birthday of the late John H. Reagan, who was postmaster general of the confederacy and who was the last member of the cabinet to die, was celebrated in Texas.

A Hudson-Fulton fete was held every night in midocean on the steamer President Grant on the voyage to New York.

The reproduction of Henry Hudson's exploring vessel half Moon, which took a central part in the Hudson-Fulton celebration, will be permanently placed in a lake in Prospect park, Brooklyn.

A monument to the Rhode Island troops who fell in the civil war at Newbern, N. C., was dedicated there, Gov. Pothier and other Rhode Island officials taking part.

A flock of over 4,500 sheep and lambs from Colorado is under quarantine at the Kansas City stockyards by order of inspector H. B. Adair, who declares that the animals are afflicted with the "lip and leg" disease.

Lieut. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, retired, does not believe enforced idleness is causing the high death rate among retired army officers, according to a statement he made at Los Angeles.

The climax of the north pole controversy is expected within a week when the Peary Arctic club will make public Peary's statement, which he declares will prove that he was the only white man to reach the pole.

More than three billion fishes and fish eggs were distributed by the bureau of fisheries of the department of commerce and labor in the last year.

Pittsburg tendered Dr. Frederick A. Cook such a warm ovation that the northern explorer was visibly affected. He announces that the facts in the pole controversy will be given to the public soon, and everything settled within six months.

An organization known as the George Washington fund has been launched to help worthy Americans stranded abroad to get back to the fatherland. The fund was organized on board the liner George Washington, on the way from Bremen to New York, and was suggested by Isaac Guggenheim of the smelting family.

Prominent public men who were to have been called by the government in the Panama libel case against Delavan Smith and Charles R. Williams of the Indianapolis News have not been summoned to the hearing next Monday at the Indiana capital.

DETECTIVES RUN DOWN SMUGGLERS

Quiet Work of Collector Loeb May Result in the Recovery of Millions of Dollars.

New York.—Scores of new indictments, probably amounting to more than 100, will be returned by the United States grand jury within the next two weeks against persons for swindling the government out of tariff revenues at the port of New York. Collector Loeb has had his dragnet out for these swindlers ever since he assumed office last spring. The work of his inspectors and detectives, together with that of a large corps of special men from the treasury department at Washington, has been so quietly conducted during the past few months as to have kept the great majority of victims who are now about to be brought up with a sharp turn completely in the dark as to what was going on.

Three classes of thieves and their confederates, many of whom have been in the government service for years, will be covered by the indictments, namely:

Importers of figs, cheese, dates, etc., from Mediterranean ports; importers of raw sugar; and fashionable milliners in the Fifth avenue district.

Of the latter class many of the best-known and most expensive dressmakers and modistes in the United States will be indicted. Along with them as accessories will be a long batch of steamboat baggagemen, minor officials of the collector's office and men who work around the docks of the German steamship companies.

A score or more of the men connected with the weighing division of Surveyor Clarkson's office will be indicted for accepting bribes that vary in amounts in each case from $20 to $500.

It is known that Collector Loeb's men have traced 200 "sleeper" trunks that contained fine millinery from other countries, on which the government should have collected at least $2,000,000.

It is estimated that the treasury at Washington has been cheated out of from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 through systematic swindling alone.

SCARECROW PROVED TO BE BODY

Of Girl's Father, Who Was Murdered in His Cornfield in State of Pennsylvania.

Washington, Pa.—"Look, somebody has knocked down papa's scarecrow. Wait till I go over and set it up," exclaimed Miss Maud Heufnagle to a companion as they were walking through a cornfield on their way to church near Paris, this county.

A moment later screams drew her companions to the spot. She found Miss Heufnagle stretched in a faint beside the body of her father, which the daughter had mistaken for the scarecrow. The finding of the body revealed a shocking murder.

Martin Heufnagle's body was literally hacked to pieces. Decomposition had already set in and it is the belief of the police that the farmer had been dead for at least a week.

Heufnagle was one of the wealthiest residents of northern Washington county, and left on the morning of September 30 for Pittsburg to visit a week.

Tetanus Developed From Vaccination.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Before school opened early in September Dr. M. C. Cibrielian vaccinated his five-year-old son Paul. A few days later the boy became listless, symptoms of tetanus developed, and last Tuesday he was rushed to the Jefferson hospital. Physicians were unable to do anything, and he died Sunday in awful agony.

Largest Religious Convention Opens.

Pittsburg, Pa.—What is claimed will be the largest religious celebration and convention held in this country will begin here Monday, when the International centennial celebration and convention of the Disciples of Christ (Christian churches) convenes. It is estimated that 50,000 delegates and visitors will be in attendance.

Harvard Professor Dies.

Boston, Mass.—Dr. John P. Reynolds, for 20 years a professor in the Harvard medical school and in his time one of the foremost obstetricians of the country, died Sunday, aged 83.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Oct. 9.—Cattle—Extra, $5.50@5.75. Calves—$8.75@9. Hogs—Choice, $7.90@8. Sheep—Extra, $4.10@4.25. Lambs—Extra, $5.40@6.50. Flour—Spring patent, $5.45@5.75. Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.22@1.25. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 62c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41@41½c. Rye—No. 2 choice, 77@78c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15.25@15.50. Butter—Dairy, 23c. Eggs—Per doz., 23c. Apples—Choice, $1.50@2.50. Potatoes—Per brl., $1.75@2. Tobacco—Burley, $8.60@15.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.18½. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 60¾c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 40c. Pork—Prime, mess, $24.25. Lard—Prime, $12.32½.

Louisville, Oct. 9.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.22@1.25. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 62c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41½c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15.50. Hogs—Extra, $7.80@7.90. Lard—Prime, $12.32½.

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Cattle—Prime, $5.50@5.75. Hogs—Extra, $7.56@7.90. Sheep—Extra, $4.25.

BIRDS LOYAL FRIENDS OF COUNTRY PEOPLE

They Kill Insects That Destroy Our Crops and Their Songs Are Delightfully Sweet and Cheering.

An Insect Destroyer on Its Nest.

There is no sweeter sound around the farmhouse than the notes of summer birds. Birds are welcome visitors and true and appreciated friends. To be without them, life loses much of its charm and beauty; to have their company, life cannot help but be cheery and orcharding and gardening a success. Birds bring us both pleasure and profit. They cheer us with their songs. They kill insects that destroy our crops. The amount of good they do in both ways can scarcely be over-estimated. Even the hated English sparrow does more good than it does harm. A single pair in one day, with a nest of young, will carry off and consume several hundred cabbage caterpillars. How many other harmful insects they destroy during the course of a summer, no one knows. Since stringent quail laws have gone into active effect in so many states, and quails have increased in numbers, chinch bugs have practically disappeared from the face of the country, with a saving of millions of dollars each year in grain crops. Quails may not be wholly responsible for all of this good, yet it is positively known that they destroy countless numbers of the noxious bugs each summer.

Birds will stay about a home if they are given encouragement. The best encouragement is an abundance of trees and shrubs for them to hide and nest in. Most of our common birds nest in low bushes or the lower branches of trees. A few nest on the ground. If there are trees and shrubs about the home the birds will surely come and make these their home. If they are not disturbed they will return to this retreat from spring to spring after their annual winter visit to the southland.

Cats and birds do not get along well together. Or rather, birds do not feel comfortable in the presence of cats. Cats, however, have no objection to the presence of birds. If you want the confiding presence of birds, you must not keep cats. It is a simple question of choice. Cats will not only kill and eat both young and old birds, but frighten them away in trying to catch them. Throwing stones or shooting at them will result in driving them away.

Birds are wild animals and naturally timid, yet by giving them natural protection and nesting places in the form of trees and bushes, they will come and stay near the dwelling house. The house wren has nested season after season on the writer's front porch and has sat on a vine and sung within three feet of the newspaper he was reading. Nearly all birds that come about the place will become almost as tame as poultry if they are not disturbed in their natural activities and are made to feel that they will not be harmed. Avoid quick and threatening movements in their presence. If a robin alights near you on the lawn to look for a worm, either stand still or walk straight ahead about your business and it will not be alarmed.

On the north and west sides of our home grounds we have an abundance of trees and shrubs, some places in dense masses. In these from a dozen to twenty different kinds of birds nest each summer, and other dozens come as frequent visitors. Their twitterings are heard all day long in summer, and in early morning in May and June they fill the air with their chorus song, greeting the coming day with the sweetest music. We should not care to live in a home not surrounded with shrubs and trees filled each spring and summer with our friends, the birds.

A Dainty Morsel for the Youngsters.

GUINEA FOWLS NICE EATING

Raising of Birds Costs So Little They Are Almost Clear Profit—Destroy Insects.

The guinea fowl is one of the wildest of all farm poultry, yet it has enough domestication in its nature to make a good home fowl. Being wild by nature, they wander over wide areas and hide their nests and they will practically raise themselves. They will not thrive under close confinement.

Owing to the guinea fowl hiding its nest, its egg crop does not amount to a great deal, but the raising of the fowl costs so little that they are almost clear profit, and they are highly prized as a meat animal by those who are fond of gamey flavor of meat. The flesh is rather dark, but fine grained and tender, possessing an exquisite gamey flavor, and the eggs, though rather small, are much relished on account of their rich taste. The demand for guineas is said to be good in the larger cities for restaurant trade, and is increasing rapidly as citizens become acquainted with the good qualities of the flesh. The flesh has a delicacy of flavor approaching that of wild game, especially that of the prairie chicken, with perhaps the guinea being the more tender and juicy of the two, and when young it is far superior to any other bird for frying or broiling.

The feeding of the young guinea birds is about the same as for young turkeys. When they are about three weeks old they are given free range, when they are able to care for themselves. The birds are very valuable in the destruction of noxious insects on the farm, catching grasshoppers especially in great numbers.

A Guinea.

You cannot expect your apple trees to bear fruit and they have [illegible]

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

S. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000
Surplus,.....$8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building.
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged. Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, Ky.
F. A. Uts, Treas., Florence, Ky
Malchus Souther, Secy., Ludlow, Ky.
R. F. D.—1,
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, Ky.
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
The POPE Agent, Agent, by

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.

FREED AT LAST

From the Awful Tortures of Kidney Disease.

Mrs. Rachel Ivie, Henrietta, Texas, says: "I would be ungrateful if I did not tell what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. Fifteen years kidney trouble clung to me, my existence was one of misery and for two whole years I was unable to go out of the house. My back ached all the time and I was utterly weak, unable at times to walk without assistance. The kidney secretions were very irregular. Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to good health, and I am able to do as much work as the average woman, though nearly eighty years old."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

When to Send Children to Europe.

Some people wait so long before sending their children to Europe that the little ones are humiliated by others who have already been there. Every self-respecting parent will be careful not to subject his children to this evident injustice; at the same time all unseemly hurry is to be avoided.

Some people argue that as soon as a child can walk well and speak a few necessary French words, he should be placed in a stateroom, next to a private bath, and sent to Paris. Others feel that he must naturally lose much at this age, and that the proper time is between five and six, when—as an American—he has reached his maturity.

Probably the ideal age is about four. At four a child can easily do England, France and Italy, and get home in time for the first night at the opera.—Judge's Library.

Will Seek the South Pole.

A. Henry Savage Landor, the English explorer, who will soon make an attempt to reach the south pole, is of the opinion that Lieut. Shackleton failed through having a cumbersome and unnecessarily large expedition. Mr. Landor's theory is that a small caravan of trusted and hardy men, lightly equipped as in his expeditions through Asia and Africa, is best. Mr. Landor's activity in aeronautic investigations gives color to the rumor that an airship will be used by him in his expedition.

And There Are Others.

The cook had been called away to a sick sister, and so the newly wed mistress of the house undertook, with the aid of the maid, to get the Sunday luncheon. The little maid, who had been struggling in the kitchen with a coffee mill that would not work, confessed that she had forgotten to wash the lettuce.

"Well, never mind, Pearl. Go on with the coffee and I'll do it," said the considerate mistress. "Where do they keep the soap?"

Death from Sting of Poisonous Flies.

Three persons died recently at Marseilles after having been stung by poisonous flies. Several streets are infested by the insects, which are said to have been brought to Marseilles in a cargo of South American wool.—Echo de Paris.

Demoralization.

"What makes the parrot so profane?"

"Well, mum," answered the sailor man, "I s-pose it's part my fault. Every time I hear him speak a bad word it makes me so mad that he gets a chance to learn a lot of new ones."

His Feelings.

Bessie—How would you feel if some one died and left you a fortune?

Harold—I'd feel sure that some one proved that he was of unsound mind.

FOOD QUESTION

Settled with Perfect Satisfaction by a Dyspeptic.

It's not an easy matter to satisfy all the members of the family at meal time as every housewife knows.

And when the husband has dyspepsia and can't eat the simplest ordinary food without causing trouble, the food question becomes doubly annoying.

An Illinois woman writes:

"My husband's health was poor, he had no appetite for anything I could get for him, it seemed.

"He was hardly able to work, was taking medicine continually, and as soon as he would feel better would go to work again only to give up in a few weeks. He suffered severely with stomach trouble.

"Tired of everything I had been able to get for him to eat, one day seeing an advertisement about Grape-Nuts, I got some and tried it for breakfast the next morning.

"We all thought it was pretty good although we had no idea of using it regularly. But when my husband came home at night he asked for Grape-Nuts.

"It was the same next day and I had to get it right along, because when we would get to the table the question, 'Have you any Grape-Nuts' was a regular thing. So I began to buy it by the dozen pkgs.

"My husband's health began to improve right along. I sometimes felt offended when I'd make something I thought he would like for a change, and still hear the same old question, 'Have you any Grape-Nuts?'

"He got so well that for the last two years he has hardly lost a day from his work, and we are still using Grape-Nuts." Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Kentucky Items of Interest

BABIES' LIVES SAFEGUARDED

By Appellate Judge O'Rear's Decision that Authorities Have Right to Kill Tuberculous Cattle.

Frankfort, Ky.—As a result of the decision of Judge Ed C. O'Rear, in the court of appeals, in the case of John Wittwer and others against Dr. J. M. Mathews and others, of Jefferson county, the lives of thousands of babies in Kentucky will soon be put out of peril so far as impure milk is concerned. Judge O'Rear, delivering the opinion of the appellate court, says it is better to kill the cows than the babies, and the right of the authorities to kill the cattle that can not stand the tuberculin test is upheld in this opinion. The injunction prayed for in the Jefferson circuit court to restrain the board of health from killing the cattle that were decided by the authorities to be tuberculin should not be granted, says Judge O'Rear in his opinion.

TWENTY-FIVE NIGHT RIDERS

On a Mysterious Mission in Harrison and Robertson Counties.

Cynthiana, Ky.—Twenty-five night riders on a mysterious mission through Harrison and Robertson counties, ordered the citizens of the little town of Clayville, Harrison county, to extinguish all their lights. They halted at the edge of the town and communicated the order, which was promptly obeyed. Through the darkened city the riders then passed about midnight, and those daring enough to peep at the band saw that they carried white horse-blankets. Where they went is a mystery, but they returned through Clayville early in the morning, and disappeared in the direction of this city.

MUNICIPALITY NOT RESPONSIBLE

For Failure of Stationhouse Keeper to Preserve Order in Jail.

Frankfort, Ky.—The Kentucky court of appeals, in affirming the judgment of the Shelby circuit court, holds that a municipal corporation can not be held in damages through the failure of its stationhouse keeper to preserve order among the inmates and prevent their injuring one another. The decision was announced in the case of Morgan against the city of Shelbyville. The appellant, locked up over night, quarreled with two other inmates of the cell he was occupying and they gave him a severe beating. He sued the city and the lower court sustained a demurrer to the petition.

Winchester, Ky.—The Grand Lodge of Kentucky Kinghts of Pythias elected O. H. Pollard, Jackson, past grand chancellor; C. F. Saunders, Frankfort, grand chancellor; B. L. Slade, London, grand vice chancellor; H. A. Schaberth, Versailles, grand prelate; J. W. Carter, Owensboro, grand keeper of records and seals; P. B. Eubank, Bowling Green, grand master of exchequer; George Carter, Latonia, grand master of arms; J. C. McLean, Franklin, grand inner guard; Sherman Arns, Maysville, grand outer guard; J. B. Mathews, Covington, and Jouett Henry, Hopkinsville, representatives to the supreme lodge. The reports show 178 lodges in the state, with 13,791 members.

Carrollton, Ky.—John S. Harlow, of Worthville, connected with the United States revenue service, was shot and probably fatally wounded by two negro tramps here.

Louisville, Ky.—Approbation of the elastic currency system and the central bank were the principal developments in the convention of the Kentucky Bankers' association, attended by bankers from all parts of the state.

Louisville, Ky.—Suit to recover $900, which he alleges he lost in a draw poker game at the Seelbach hotel, conducted by Ed Alvey, was filed against the Seelbach Hotel Co. and Ed Alvey by T. J. Kemper. The suit created a sensation.

Lexington, Ky.—Native Belle, a 2-year-old bay filly by Moke, out of Yellow Belle, by General Wellington, won the Kentucky Futurity for 2-year-old trotters, in the second heat stepping the mile in 2:07¾, shattering all previous records for trotters of her age.

Lexington, Ky.—Chairman Henry T. Duncan, Jr., of the fusion general committee, said that the fusion ticket would go on the ballot for the November election as the republican ticket and that the republican device (log cabin) would be used.

Lebanon, Ky.—Edward Baumeister, of Louisville, widely known throughout Kentucky as "Cherokee Ed," has purchased from the Columbia Trust Co. a fine farm in this county about five miles west of this city. The place contains 530 acres, and the price paid was between $25,000 and $30,000.

Frankfort, Ky.—Superintendent of Public Instruction Crabbe will leave here October 15 for St. Louis, where he will join the state superintendents of the other southern states and will visit schools in Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois and other progressive states in the west.

GOV. WILLSON CRITICISED

For Issuing Open Letter to Antipoolers Urging Them To Organize Liberty Leagues.

Frankfort, Ky.—The criticism of Gov. Willson for issuing recently an open letter to the antipoolers of the burley tobacco district in Kentucky urging them to organize liberty leagues is being joined in by members of the state administration. These men have been interested in the success of the pooling movement, and have urged growers in the communities they have visited within the last few weeks to join the pool.

They say, discussing the matter privately with their friends, that the governor has placed them and every canvasser for the burley tobacco society in danger of being shot down.

These officials say that under the governor's pronunciamento the antipooler who is approached by his neighbor with a request to pool can shoot him down, and then, upon his own declaration that threats were used to induce him to pool, go free by the pardon route from the executive office.

MUST USE DILIGENCE

In Informing Themselves of Conditions of Corporations They Represent.

Frankfort, Ky.—In reversing judgment of the Graves circuit court in a case of Vick Allen against H. C. Neals and other directors and officers of the May Pants Co., where it was sought to recover money used in purchasing stock in the company, alleged to be worthless, the Kentucky court of appeals declared that officers and directors of corporations in this state may not close their eyes to the existence of facts that they ought to know; and if they give out statements which are false in a material degree, those persons who deal with the corporation, or buy its stock based upon such reports, are entitled to recover whatever damage they suffer. The court declares that officers of corporations must use ordinary diligence and perspicacity in informing themselves of the condition of the corporation they control.

AGED BACHELOR

Successfully Resists Efforts To Regulate His Habits.

Lexington, Ky.—Joseph Piper, a 70-year-old bachelor, who owns 173 acres of land valued at $10,000, and has a good bank account but alleged miserly habits, was arraigned in the circuit court before Judge Parker in an effort to have a committee appointed to manage his estate and see that he keeps himself and his house clean. Piper testified that there was nothing wrong with his mind, that he believed he had a right to live as he chose, without asking permission from any one so long as his morals were good and he paid his bills. The jury disagreed, and Piper went back to his farm.

LIFE'S TIDE EBBING.

Condition of Former Senator Lindsay Extremely Critical.

Frankfort, Ky.—Former United Senator William Lindsay is at the point of death as the result of a sinking spell which he has sustained. He has been suffering with bladder trouble for the past two months and has not made the successful resistance to the malady that his physician could wish. Dr. H. S. Keller said that Senator Lindsay's condition is very critical and his death is liable to occur at any time. Senator Lindsay is 74 years of age.

Frankfort, Ky.—Secretary of State Ben L. Bruner has called upon the state banks to make a report of the condition of their institutions at the close of business, October 2, 1909. All questions in some way or other must be answered that are asked by the secretary of state, and the report must be in the secretary of state's office not later than October 14. The report must be accompanied by sworn statement of its condition by the cashier, president or vice president of each bank.

Lexington, Ky.—William W. Evans, the widely known and popular trotting horseman, who has long been regarded as the premier yearling handler of the world, died at his residence on South Broadway. Evans had been suffering with an aneurism for five or six years, and something over a year ago the trouble became so pronounced that he was compelled to put his horses into other hands and give up work entirely.

Paducah, Ky.—Hiram Smedley, former county clerk and deputy county county court clerk, was adjudged insane, and he was taken to the asylum at Hopkinsville. The several indictments against him for alleged peculations in office were continued. Smedley is a drug fiend.

Somerset, Ky.—Burnside, this county, was almost wiped out by a fire which caused a loss of $60,000. The local postoffice was destroyed.

Henderson, Ky.—The Henderson Chair Co.'s factory burned. Loss, $12,000; insurance, $7,000.

BANKERS ADOPT RESOLUTIONS

Declaring in Favor of Examinations by State Examiners of All State Banks and Trust Companies.

Louisville, Ky.—The 17th annual convention of the Kentucky Bankers' association ended here with the election of J. C. Utterback, of Paducah, Ky., as president, and the re-election of Secretary Davis, of Louisville, and Treasurer H. D. Ormsby. Immediately following adjournment a meeting of members of the American Bankers' association was held, at which W. W. Larkin, of Covington, was elected state vice president, and E. C. McMahon, of Shelbyville, was elected executive committeeman from Kentucky. One of the principal resolutions was an emphatic declaration in favor of examinations by state examiners of all state banks and trust companies, the authorization for such inspections to be granted by the Kentucky legislature.

LOUISVILLE'S MAYOR IS SUED.

Action is Brought to Prevent Him Pressing His Candidacy.

Louisville, Ky.—George D. Todd, independent republican candidate for mayor, brought suit against Mayor James F. Grinstead and County Clerk Mark Gabbart, asking that the former be enjoined from pressing his candidacy and that the latter be restrained from placing Mr. Grinstead's name on the ballot. Mr. Todd, in his petition, states that only he is legally qualified to become mayor, but takes issue on Mayor Grinstead's eligibility, saying that he believes the election of 1907 was for a fixed term, and quotes the constitutional inhibition against mayors of first-class cities succeeding themselves in office. He says that unless legally prevented Mr. Gabbart, as county clerk, will place Grinstead's name on the ballot, which will take many votes away from him (Mr. Todd), who, he says, is the only man who had announced that he was qualified to occupy the mayor's chair. These events are but incidents in the warmest municipal campaign in many years, both parties being split and each having two tickets in the field. The negro enters largely into the campaign and the democrats, particularly those on the ticket headed by William O. Head, a prominent tobacco warehouse man, have made this the paramount issue, and asking for "a white man's government." The "Citizens' ticket," a defection principally from the Head ticket, is headed by Owen Tyler, a wealthy business man.

Lexington, Ky.—Mrs. Lucy Alexander, 65, relict of A. J. Alexander and mother of Mrs. W. E. Simms, Dr. A. J. Alexander and Kenneth Alexander, died suddenly of heart failure in her residence, on the famous Woodburn farm, at Spring Station. Mrs. Alexander was one of the wealthiest and most widely known women in the blue grass region.

Louisville, Ky.—James G. F. Shuttleworth, a millionaire merchant, has purchased the holdings of the Ross-Paris Co. in the Louisville hotel for $115,000. A short time ago Shuttleworth purchased the interests of Mrs. Walter S. Paris in the property. The Louisville hotel is one of the best known in the south.

Henderson, Ky.—The Corydon Coal Co. and J. L. and T. E. Jones, at Corydon, this county, who also own the title to the Magnolia coal mine, sold a half interest in both mines to Dr. J. R. Sigler and V. G. Conley for $20,000. About 1,000 acres of coal rights are included in the deal and the purchasers have about 1,000 acres more to be added.

Louisville, Ky.—Three hundred delegates were present when President Edwards called the National Association of Life Underwriters' convention to order. Mayor James F. Grinstead delivered a welcome address, which was responded to by the president. James M. Johnson extended welcome to the delegates on behalf of the Louisville Underwriters' association.

Lexington, Ky.—At the Burley Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse 1,430 pounds of tobacco from the 1909 crop of Osborne & Berry, of this county, was sold to the American Tobacco Co. for an average of $15.40 per hundred. One basket of the tobacco brought $17.25 per hundred.

Louisville, Ky.—Much sorrow was expressed by horsemen and friends when the news reached here of the death of Mrs. Edward Corrigan, wife of the well-known turfman. Mrs. Corrigan had been an invalid for years.

Louisville, Ky.—The total registration of Louisville was: Democratic, 24,594; republican, 19,054; independent, 10,065, a gain of 2,325 over 1908.

Glasgow, Ky.—Odell Kirby, a negro fatally cut Tom Sikes, a white man here. Feeling is very bitter against the negro, and if apprehended a lynching will likely follow.

Owensboro, Ky.—The burley committee of the Green river district has closed a deal with the American Tobacco Co. whereby the crop of 1909 is sold at $14 for leaf and $6 for trash

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.

Phone, M. 2393.

The Applegate-Piper Co.

MERCHANT TAILORS.

Room 610, Traction Building,

Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,

BURLINGTON, KY.

The Oldest Bank in Boone County,

PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,

With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR

THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.

17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.

This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR

Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,

Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY

AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.

CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.

New Buggies, Runabouts

and Harness for Sale or Trade.

Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.

When in Burlington call and See me.

B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Cincinnati [illegible] Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR

CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP

—TO—

C. C. SEAL & CO.

Union Stock Yards,

CINCINNATI, - - OHIO

And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.

J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade.

THE FINEST EXCURSION

OF THE YEAR

WILL BE GIVEN BY

The Swenson Land Co

TO KENTUCKY FARMERS ON

Monday, October 18th.

Free Trip to All Purchasers of Land.

This is the Car in which you will make the trip from Cincinnati to Bovina, Texas, and return.

This Car Will Furnish First-Class Accommodations In Every Respect to All Who Can Go.

Hogs Fattening on Kaffir-Corn on Headquarters Farm, Bovina, Texas.

This is one of the greatest countries in the world for producing hogs. We have never lost a hog in this country with a contagious disease. We can produce in this country a porker that will weigh from 250 to 270 pounds at six months old, at the very low expense of $1,25 per hundred. We will also show you how we thresh kaffir-corn and shred the fodder at the same time. We will also show you the largest herd of thorough bred Hereford cattle you ever saw. Thousands of cattle have lived on rich Buffalo grass, winter and summer, without shelter and without food other than the grasses on which they graze.

What You Will See.

You will see one of the finest and most fertile prairies in the world. The soil is from 3½ to 4 feet deep. It produces from 18 to 25 bus. of wheat to the acre; from 40 to 75 bushels of oats; 30 to 70 bushels of corn; 40 to 60 bushels of kaffir corn; 40 to 60 bus. milo-maize; Sorghum, 7½ tons per acre; Millet 20 to 35 bushels; Irish Potatoes, 200 bushels; Sweet Potatoes, 200 bushels; Onions, 10,000 lbs; Vegetables per acre, $200; Fruit per acre, $300.

A GREAT POULTRY COUNTRY.

Big profit in Poultry of all kinds—chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese all thrive and grow in this land of Sunshine and Plenty. We have never lost a fowl of any kind by cholera, lice, or any other pest of chickens. The hens lay all the year.

This vast prairie is ready for the plow, no clearing away of timber, no digging of the rocks, all you have to do is to attach your team to the plow and turn over the rich, fertile soil.

PRAIRIE TRANSFORMED INTO A HOME IN FIVE YEARS.

A. E. FOSTER & SON, - 438 Madison Avenue, Covington, Kentucky,

Will meet you at Emery Hotel, Cincinnati, October 18th, from 3 to 8 p. m.

For further particulars address Mr. W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky. or B. W. ADAMS, Burlington, Kentucky,

What F. D. Wilde Says.

F. D. WILDE, SYSTEMATIZER,
22-24 Pickering Bldg, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Residence,
20 Villa Place, Ft. Thomas, Ky.

Messrs. A. E. Foster & Son,
438 Madson Ave., Covington, Ky.

Gentlemen:—In reply to your inquiry as to my opinion of the Pan Handle of Texas, will say that I thought enough of the future prospects of this country, after a very thorough investigation, to purchase a half section of three hundred and twenty acres in Parmer County at $20 per acre, three years ago this coming October. The quarter section adjoining mine was sold last year for $35 per acre. I at this time was offered $30 per acre for my land, which I refused, and believe that same will be worth, inside of five years, double that price or more. Of the present cash valuation of this land, I have made $1600 per year out of my investment of $6400. And I loaned this money at 6 per cent, my annual returns would have been $384 gross, out of which I would have had to pay tax on same.

I have been watching this land for the past ten years, advance from $7.50 to all the way from $35 to $75 per acre in the Pan Handle locality. I do not think there will be any question but that this land will be worth $100 per acre in a very short time, as the land produces a great variety, as well as a more valuable crop than land in any of the older states, and as the valuation of any property is based upon production, all it needs is a good farmer to make it so. The climate cannot be beat as far as health and living are concerned. To say the least, I am more than satisfied with my investment. Yours very truly, F. D. WILDE.

Letter from W. R. Rouse, Hebron, Ky.

Hebron, Ky., July 4th, 1909.

Swenson Land Co., Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sirs:—Your kind favor at hand, and must say that I was agreeably surprised at the kindness you have shown me in deducting the interest from my note, and please accept my thanks for same.

I think I was the first man from Boone County, Ky., to buy Texas land, and have had a great many to call on me in regard to that country, and several of them have gone down on this present trip, with the intention of buying, and trust that [illegible] to go, for I think that a great country.

Wishing [illegible]

Yours very truly,
W. R. ROUSE.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875. Subsciption $1.50 year. Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 20, 1909. NO 1.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

HATHAWAY.

Oct. 18.—Potatoes are all dug.

Husking corn will soon be in order.

Mrs. Jennie McNeely was sick last week.

Read Green's cloak opening ad in this issue.

Farmers who have no wood to burn are hauling their coal.

E. C. Franks and wife, of Grant county, were here last Friday.

Seth Mason, of Illinois, was the guest of relatives here several days last week.

C. B. Mason has just returned from a trip to Florida, where he has been prospecting.

Robt. Rouse has purchased the farm of his father on Gunpowder and will move to it as soon as he can.

John H. Mason and wife and Seth Mason and the writer and wife, spent last Friday at the home of Geo. L. Smith.

C. S. Smith and wife spent last Friday at Robt. Sullivan's. Miss Fannie returned home with them to spend the winter.

A series of meetings began at Big Bone Baptist church Sunday, the 17th. Rev. Jenkins State evangelist is doing the preaching.

Several from here attended the address on Woodcraft at the Grauge Hall, last Friday night, delivered by Mr. J. W. DeHart, of Louisville.

Wm. Phillips took a bunch of porkers to the Cincinnati market last week and received a good price for them. He spent several days there with friends.

ERLANGER.

Miss Bertha Moulden spent Thursday in Cincinnati.

Mrs. F. Glacken and little son are enjoying a visit at Winchester.

Miss Bertha Moulden entertained the G. T. Club Thursday evening.

The S. S. Home Department met at Mrs. Barton's, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Henley Smith is home from a pleasant visit with Chicago relatives.

Mrs. Mary Chipman is enjoying a visit with her sister at Williamstown.

Miss Madeline Beaumer, of Covington, is the guest of Miss Ella Taliaferro.

John Westerman and wife were guests of their daughter, Mrs. W. Eubank, Sunday.

Joe Bentler, of Covington, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Geiger, the first of the week.

Mrs. Wm. Bruner, of Covington, is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. T. Gale, of the Beeches.

Mrs. Charles Beckers and sons, of Chattanooga, are enjoying a visit here with Mrs. E. A. Ellas.

Mrs. Brewer was entertained, Wednesday afternoon, by a number of guests in honor of her birthday.

Miss Henrietta Reeves has returned to her home in Bloomington, Ill., after a month's visit with relatives here.

Little Raymond Carroll has returned home from a visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carroll, of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Eloise Porter, who has enjoyed a visit here with her sister, Mrs. H. Westerman, has returned to her home in Dayton, Ohio.

GUNPOWDER.

Anyone in need of good seed rye can get it of Mrs. Ellen Smith at a reasonable price.

Pastor Walterick and B. A. Floyd left, last Monday, for Tippecanoe City, to attend the meeting of Miami Synod, which is in session this week.

H. F. Utz and wife entertained the following guests at dinner, last Sunday: J. H. Haley and wife, of Devon; Rev. B. N. Nelson, of Beaver, and Misses Clara Ammerman and Edna Oder, of Dry Ridge.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Florence and Union Telephone Co. will be held next Friday, the 22d Inst., at Busby's shop. All of the stockholders are requested to be present as there is important business to attend to.

H. F. Utz had the misfortune to lose a good farm horse last week. He was working it to the wagon and noticed it complaining, when he unhitched it as quickly as he could, but the horse died before he could get the harness off.

B. N. Tanner, of Missouri, who is now among us, has been a very successful farmer and stock raiser, but has given up his farm to his son, George, and has moved to Fayette, where he expects to spend the remainder of his life. He has thru his energy accummulated quite a good lot of this world's goods, and is satisfied with what he has and will retire from active business.

CARD OF THANKS—We desire to express our appreciation to the many friends who so kindly offered and rendered assistance during the illness of our husband and father, A. E. Chambers. Each hour brought a kind inquiry or some tribute of thoughtfulness. It is a great comfort to know he was so highly respected and esteemed. May the Father who has said, "as ye have done it unto the least of these," bless each one.

THE BEREAVED FAMILY.

DEVON.

Miss Agnes Maher was shopping in the city, Saturday.

Jeff Hutsell and wife were guests, recently, at Samuel Taylor's, at Richwood.

B. C. Surface, our popular merchant, is expecting a car load of coal this week.

Miss Virginia Williams, of Banklick was the guest of relatives here, Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. W. F. Schild, of Covington, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ben Bristow, last Thursday.

Miss Theresa O'Conner, of Indianapolis, left for her home, Saturday, after a fortnight with relatives at this place.

Oliver Shadler, received sad news of the death of his nephew, in Campbell county, Monday. Young Shadler was accidently shot while handling a gun.

Albert Stephens and family, of Kansas City, Mo., were guests of Ben Stephens and family, Saturday and Sunday. Albert is thinking of returning to old Kentucky.

Miss Emma Connely and Mrs. W. A. Rice visited their brother, Alex Connely, in Newport, last week. Mr. Connely and family left Thursday for Southern California, where they have gone in search of health for Mrs. Connely. They have a host of friends here who wish them all success. Mr. Connely expects to make that State his future home.

GRANT.

Ephraim Clore is sick.

Several frosts and one freeze thus far this fall.

Several begun stripping tobacco here Monday.

Mrs. J. J. Walton is ill with a severe case of grippe.

Wm. Huey was peddling fresh pork here Saturday.

The coal haulers were on the move several days last week.

Pete Deck, who has been carrying water for 20 years, is having a cistern dug.

Lute Abdom, of Hamilton, is helping Jake Cook in his concrete work here.

Col. Ben Crisler is having a new galvanized roof put on his residence below town.

Ben Cook and Jay Calvert are working up a mail route from here to Rabbit Hash.

Mrs. John Deck is spending this week with her son, Henry, and family on Wooiper.

Mrs. Forest Rice and Mrs. Eliza Riddell left, last week, for Tennessee, to visit relatives.

Lots of wild ducks on the river and the past few days have been ideal for duck hunting.

A letter from Mrs. Douglas Rice, of Connersville, Ind., states that she is well pleased with their location.

Robt. Piatt sold his 1909 crop of tobacco, about 3,500 pounds, to the American Co. for $15 per 100 straight.

Ben Corbin was awarded the contract for painting the bank building here. He will begin work this week.

The Willoughby school house is being remodeled for a dwelling, to be occupied by Nat Rogers and family.

The Rising Sun butcher did not make his appearance here last Saturday on account of the high wind on the river.

Rogers Bros had one of their work mules to get its side badly lacerated in an unknown manner, some time since.

Joe Wilson, head contractor on the new school building, arrived here Saturday and will remain until the work is completed.

Mrs. Robert Rice left, Monday, for Missouri, having been called there on account of the illness of her mother, Mrs. Joshua Rice.

Morris Rice and family will soon move to Rabbit Hash into the house vacated by Sam Wilson, Sam moving to the old homestead.

Morris Rice sold and delivered his 1909 crop of tobacco to the Continental Company at Rising Sun for 12½ cents per pound all round. Small crop.

Your reporter will go to Rising Sun the first of the week to work for the Rising Sun Packing Co. They intend packing several car loads of pumpkins.

HEBRON.

Miss Kate Clayton, of Ludlow, spent Saturday and Sunday here with home folks.

Lester Aylor and wife were Sunday guests of his father, Perry Aylor and family in Ludlow.

M. L. Aylor and daughter, Miss Iva, spent from Saturday until Monday, visiting friends in Ohio.

If you want a cloak you will find what suits you at Green's cloak opening in Rising Sun, on the 26th.

Miss Amy Regenbogen began teaching the public school at this place on Monday of last week.

Frank Aylor and wife moved from Dr. Jacob Tanner's to C. E. Clore's residence near here, last week.

Miss Maud Pope, who resides below Burlington, visited friends in this neighborhood, last Saturday and Sunday.

Misses Georgia and Lizzie McGlasson entertained quite a number of their young friends with a play party, last Saturday night.

VERONA.

The town jail is being constructed.

The oyster supper here, last Saturday night, was a success in every particular.

The recent rains afforded an opportunity for stripping tobacco and husking corn.

Several of our citizens are talking of taking a trip to Texas with a view to purchasing land.

The public school here is progressling nicely under the management of Prof. Stephens and Miss Ada Roberts.

Miss Sevella Franks and Claud Washum wended their way to the Queen City, last Thursday, and were married.

[From another Correspondent.]

Mrs. J. G. Kennedy was shopping in Cincinnati, Friday.

Wm. Cotton and Robert Powers spent Saturday in Cincinnati.

Joseph Murphy, wife and little son are guests at Nicholas McCormick's.

Mrs. Chandler, of Flemingsburg, is the guest of her niece, Mrs. H. E. B'Hymer.

Samuel Hoover and wife, of Virginia, were guests of N. B. Hamilton and wife the past week.

Floyd Washum and Miss Stella Franks surprised their friends by their quiet marriage, last Wednesday

Quite a number of our young people spent a very pleasant day, Sunday, at the hospitable home of Jas. Waller and wife.

J. G. Hudson, a prominent citizen of Cincinnati, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. W. M. Whitson, Saturday and Sunday.

The ice cream and oyster supper given by class No. 4 of the Baptist Sunday school, was very successful and well attended.

Marion Bagby has purchased the property known as the Charley Lewis place, from Scott Myers, and he will move here in the near future.

Don't forget to attend the services at the Methodist church next Sunday and hear our new pastor, Rev. Campbell. He comes to us well recommended. Let us give him a warm welcome.

The country home of Ed Lipscomb was consumed by fire early last Saturday morning. Mr. Lipscomb succeeded in getting his sister and aged father out of the flames, but all the household goods were lost.

Mrs. L. J. Hume spent Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Alonzo Plunkett, at Walton. Mrs. Plunkett had just returned from the German Deaconess Hospital, Cincinnati, where she underwent a successful operation for cancer.

IDLEWILD.

Oct. 15.—Good rain last Sunday, which was badly needed.

Courtney Walton returned from his business trip to McCombs, Ill., last Sunday.

John Cropper is remodeling his ice house on his farm here. Nelson Emery is doing the work.

B. C. Graddy and wife, of Pushburg, gave another dining Monday. The guests were all their neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stephens started for Kansas Monday morning. Raymond, son of Hubert Cropper went with them.

Fletcher Clore shipped a couple of calves from Lawrenceburg last Saturday to his son, James, at Rushville, Ind. Of course they were extra fine.

Mrs. Martha Randall, who has been living with Mrs. Whitaker, at Idlewild, has moved to Aurora, on account of better school facilities for her daughter.

Ed Rice took corn to the Aurora fair and got second. He reported a large and fine display of corn, and a large attendance. Not many went from around here.

A new stove will be put up in the Bullittsville school house and two in the Bullittsburg church tomorrow. They didn't get them before they were needed, at least at the school house.

Wm. Brune, wife and daughter, of Mt. Carmel, Ohio, and a neighbor of Mr. Brune, whose name we didn't learn, were Sunday guests of Wm. Hall and wife, of Gaines Heights. Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Brune are sisters.

Jonas Day and wife, of near Petersburg, spent Saturday night and Sunday with his father, in Francesville neighborhood, and on Sunday they were joined by his brother, James and wife, of Bullittsburg. Had a rainy evening in which to return home.

Ye scribe has been indisposed for two or three days and is being treated by Drs. Hays and Walton, (Courtney.) The latter prescribed soft boiled eggs and milk. His prescription may not reach the seat of the trouble but is pleasant to take. We have not been unable to attend to the gate but it was by the hardest.

There are now established within the United States 41,063 rural routes, and on file with the department 1,394 petitions for new routes. There are now 41,063 rural carriers. If the petitions on file are allowed it will make the number of carriers 42,457. Indiana is second in number with 2,118 and Illinois in the lead with 2,528. Only one State, Nevada, has only two routes.

About a week after receiving the one glass of jelly in response to our request for a glass of jelly from each of our neighbors and friends, we were satisfied that would be all we would get, so as we had peaches and permission to get apples from an orchard across the way, we went to work and put up our fruit ourselves and have three dozen pint cans and two quart cans of peach and apple preserves and apple butter, and three dozen glasses of jelly of different kinds, and a half dozen cans of peaches for pies through Thanksgiving and the holidays.

RICHWOOD.

Texas fever has struck our town and seems to be catching.

Cary Carpenter had his tongue operated on for a warty growth.

Will Woodward has an Irish potato that weighs 2 pounds, 4 ounces.

Harry Soden spent Sunday with friends in Cincinnati and Covington.

Wild ducks are arriving. Ed Rice shot at one and it was so surprised, it dropped dead.

Will some one please inform us where the rabbits are now-a-days, as we do not see any?

George Rice, of Walton, and Walter Grubbs and family spent Sunday with Thos. Rice and sons.

Chas. Wolfe and wife, F. F. Robinson and wife, J. O. Carpenter and Springer Carpenter and wife, of Florence, visited at Ell Carpenter's, last Sunday.

Everett Dixon raised and had raised close to 20 acres of tobacco. He rented the Hughes warehouse and filled it and has a 60x60 barn full at home. Cary Carpenter raised nine acres.

PETERSBURG.

Miss Bessie Ruth visited relatives in Lawrenceburg, last week.

Miss Eunie Stephens spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Virginia Botts.

Harry Drake left, Wednesday, for Hamilton, Ohio, where he is now employed.

Miss Melicent Berkshire entertained a number of friends with a tacky party, Saturday evening.

Rev. Milo Atkinson, of Covington, will begin a revival meeting at the Christian church here, Oct. 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe McWethy and two daughters, Misses Hazel and Nellie, spent Friday in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Caroline Buck, of Cincinnati, was called here, last week, to attend the bedside of her father, Mr. P. Keim.

John Sweazey, who is employed at Norwood, Ohio, spent Sunday here with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sweazy.

Kirb Cox spent several days at Mayfield, last week, where he was sent as a delegate of the local Odd-Fellows' lodge.

Mr. P. Keim was taken suddenly ill last week with neuraigia of the heart. He has suffered intensely, but is improving now.

H. H. Dertling and Misses Ethelyne and Virginia Hensley, of Lawrenceburg, spent Sunday with Mr. H. N. Gordon and wife.

Miss Maud Botts, of Kansas City, returned home, Wednesday, after having a pleasant visit here with her sister, Mrs. Charles Cox.

Capt. Robert Townsend, of Newport, who is in the revenue service here, was stricken with paralysis Saturday morning and is in a serious condition.

BELLEVIEW.

A fine rain again Sunday.

Robert Brasler, of Newport, visited friends here last week.

Remember the cloak opening at Green's, Rising Sun, on the 26th.

Isaac Flick has completed a large barn, and it is filled with fine tobacco.

Mrs. John Rogers is improving slowly from an attack of rehumatism.

Miss Orem, of Gallatin county, is a guest at W. T. Ryle's, near Commissary.

James Rogers and sons shipped 96 nice hogs to the city one night last week.

Mrs. O. N. Scott and son are at Vevay visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Riley.

Hogan Wingate and wife, of Petersburg, were at Waterloo, Sunday, guests of his father.

Farmers are about done sowing their small grain, and are ready to begin gathering corn.

Sebern Scott and wife and O. N. Scott, wife visited their mother near Commissary, Sunday.

C. T. Rue and wife visited their son George and wife at Cleves, several days the past week.

Miss Bernice Corbin and Mrs. H. D. Brady, visited friends in Petersburg, one day last week.

Miss Leola Cason, of Middle creek, is not improving as rapidly as her family would like to see her.

Mrs. Pattie Selms, of New York City, is the guest of her aunt, Miss Julia S. Dinsmore, near here.

Lystra Smith and wife, of Ashby Fork, passed here Saturday, enroute to Harry Acra's, near Rabbit Hash.

B. W. Adams and wife, of Burlington, passed here Sunday. Were glad to see Mrs. Adams looking so well.

The Christian Sunday school is building up rapidly, owing to the great interest manifested by both teachers and pupils.

Rogers Bros., have made quite an improvement at their store by building another room for meat, lard and market stuff.

C. H. Acra will furnish you the Cincinnati Daily Post one year Sunday excepted, and 25 photograph postal cards descriptive of the animals Teddy has killed in Africa, all for $2. The cards are worth the money.

The members of the Christian church are requested by the officers of the church to be present on the first Sunday in November at 9:30 a. m. Please do not fail to be present as it is church business which concerns all.

PT. PLEASANT.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Walton entertained a number of friends Sunday.

Mrs. J. S. Tanner received the sad word of the death of her mother, Mrs. Olivia Riggs, who went to Montgomery, Ala., with her son late in the summer. She was an old resident of this community and has a host of relatives and friends here, and her children have the sympathy of all in their bereavement.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Susan Ryle has moved from Florence to Petersburg.

Prof. Dix and wife were in Cincinnati, shopping, last Saturday.

Mrs. Wm. Conner, of Cincinnati, is a guest of Robert Carver and wife.

John Crisler, the Confed., of Long Branch, was in Burlington, yesterday.

County Attorney N. E. Riddell is in Detroit, Michigan, this week, on business.

Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Bradley, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hall, last Sunday.

Mrs. N. E. Riddell is visiting her sister, Mrs. Geo. F. Piper, in Birmingham, Alabama.

Legrand Utz and son William and their wives, were Sunday guests of D. M. Snyder and wife.

C. C. Hughes is busy putting up a long string of wire fence on his land out on the East Bend road.

Mrs. M. Riddell spent a few days the past week with her sister, Mrs. E. K. Stephens, of Walton.

Misses Lizzie and Sallie Rogers and Graham Roberts, of Walton, are guests of Mrs. C. C. Roberts.

R. C. Gaines, of Idlewild, is one of the grand jurors in the United States Court in session in Covington.

John Hogan, of Hebron, dealer in leaf tobacco, was transacting business in Burlington, last Friday.

Chas. Flinn and son, Russell, of Plattsburg, were transacting business in Burlington, last Friday.

Earl Walton and wife, of Petersburg, were Saturday and Sunday guests of Mrs. Walton's parents and friends.

A postal card from Mrs. O. J. Ryle, mailed at Beaumont, Texas, stated that Mr. Ryle was enjoying the trip.

Prof. Dix occupied the pulpit at Bullittsville, last Sunday morning for Rev. Edgar Riley, who was in Pittsburg.

Geo. Riley, of Bullittsville, is representing Burlington Masonic lodge at the Grand Lodge in session in Louisville, this week.

L. N. Crigler, of Covington, owner of the Boone House, was in Burlington, last Friday, on business pertaining to his real estate interests.

H. L. Furnish, cashier of a bank at Golden Pond, Trigg county, arrived last Friday. His wife, who was Miss Birdie Martin, has been here several weeks with her mother and other relatives.

Chas. Clore and John Kelsey, of Hebron, painters, were here last Saturday looking over the court house with a view bidding for the painting advertised to be let to the lowest bidder. Mr. Clore attended the Odd-Fellows' Grand Lodge held at Mayfield, Graves county, last week, and reported a delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe I. McWethy invite you to be present at the marriage of their daughter Nellie to Mr. Robt. E. Grant Wednesday afternoon, October the Twenty-Seventh, Nineteen Hundred and Nine, at half after two o'clock. Christian Church, Petersburg.

A Card.

It appears that some of the public are disposed to heap criticism and even vituperation upon the Board of Education, as well as its chairman. So far as the gossip relates to the chairman, I care but little, but I desire to say that the Board was selected for its fairness, efficiency, judgment and interest in the cause of public education, four of whom are directly interested in the cause, and I cannot believe there was any mistake made in the selection. In your criticisms, etc., do not forget that the board is serving under a law which the framers themselves do not understand. It has been my happy privilege to serve with the present board for more than a year, and while they do not profess infallibility they have certainly displayed a great deal of prudence, wisdom and forethought in the management of the educational interests of the county. The board will hold its next session Nov. 1st. Those having business to transact will please present it as the board meets only once a month. I desire to call attention of the teachers to the school property of the county. The board, by means of a fund paid by the people for that purpose, are repairing property, providing furniture, etc., and I believe it is the bounden duty of the teacher to see that the school property is not injured by the pupils. Teachers, please take note of this, as I believe the authorities could maintain an action against you for neglect of so important a duty.

D. M. SNYDER, Supt.

Money Comes in Bunches.

to A. A. Chisholm, of Treadwell, N. Y., now. His reason is well worth reading: "For a long time I suffered from indigestion, torpid liver, constipation, nervousness, and general debility," he writes. "I couldn't sleep, had no appetite, nor ambition, grew weaker every day, in spite of all medical treatment. Then used Electric Bitters. Twelve bottles restored all my old time health and vigor. Now I can attend to business every day. It's a wonderful medicine." Infallible for Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Blood and Nerves. 50c at Beutler's drug store, Erlanger.

Go to Green's cloak opening in Rising Sun on the 26th inst.

Considerable tobacco was put in the bulk Monday.

Don't fail to read Clark's watch sale avertisement.

The local camp of woodmen has received its regalia.

Big cloak opening at Green's, Rising Sun, on the 26th inst.

Look at Clark's watch sale advertisement in another column.

Go to Green's, Rising Sun, on the 26th inst., to get a bargain in a cloak.

Supt. Snyder, by donating 20 volumes, has started a library for the school of this subdistrict.

Bargains in cloaks for everybody at Green's cloak opening in Rising Sun, Tuesday, October 26th.

Marce Riddell has installed in his store a self-registering coal oil tank, which will take your order and then fill it.

The Kentucky Masonic Grand Lodge is in session in Louisville, this week, and quite a number of representatives from Boone county lodges, are in attendance.

Boone county is well represented on the grand jury in the United States court in session in Covington, E. E. Utz, J. W. Williams and R. C. Gaines being members.

O. P. Phipps has rented and will move to the house now occupied by Elmer Kirkpatrick, and the latter will move to the residence of Miss Bettie Acra, adjoining the grocery and meat store.

The attendance at the Boone Co. High School is not as large as that of some other schools that could be named, but the pupils are pleased with Prof. Dix, and appear to be progressing nicely.

R. W. Clark, N. E. Riddell and A. B. Rouse engaged in a shooting contest, one day last week, clay pigeons being the targets. Clark broke 24 out of a possible 25, and Riddell and Rouse tied up on 20.

O. P. Tanner, who lives near town, has a young peach orchard that furnished fruit for five months this year, beginning with the month of June. It is making a good beginning for a youngster.

Clifford Hedges, of Gunpowder Heights, will celebrate his 32d birthday next Friday night with a big dance, for which three rooms will be used in which to trip the light fantastic. Zellers colored band will make the music.

Mesdames J. B. Berkshire and W. T. Berkshire, of Petersburg, will entertain with a miscellaneous shower at the home of the former from 1 to 5 p. m., on the 23d inst., in honor of the bride-elect, Miss Nellie McWethy. All the friends are invited.

Program of Teachers Meeting to be held at Big Bone church, Saturday, Oct. 23, at 1 p. m.:—Spelling—Wm. Smith and Dora Hood; Arithmetic—Josie Stephens and Gladys Ryle; Reading—Mrs. Jennie Green and Ema McAtee; Grammar—Blanche Kelly and Minnie Stephens.

A CARD.

There was a mistake in the name of the minister who preached Mr. Bailey's funeral. It was Rev. Harris instead of Rev. Wayman. I earnestly desire this mistake corrected. I also desire to thank Bro. Harris for the sympathetic way in which he talked, also the undertaker and Mr. Bruce Dudgeon, wife and mother for their kindness shown to us upon our arrival at Walton, and also all the neighbors.

Mrs. JAMES BAILEY.

Important Notices.

At a meeting of the directors of the Boone County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company, held at its office, in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., on Monday, October 4th, 1909, the following order was adopted:

"Ordered that all members shall hereafter build brick flues in place of tile flues, before they can renew their insurance, and that hereafter no policy for insurance will be accepted where the building or buildings have a tile flue or flues.

Attest:— MALCHUS SOUTHER, Secretary.

It's a Top Notcher.

Great deeds compel regard. The world crowns its doers. That's why the American people have crowned Dr. King's New Discovery the King of Throat and Lung remedies. Every atom is a health force. It kills germs and colds and lagrippe vanish. It heals cough-racked membranes and coughing stops. Sore, inflamed bronchial tubes and lungs are cured and hemorrhages cease. Dr. Geo. More, Black Jack, N. C., writes "It cured me of lung trouble, pronounced hopeless by all doctors." 50c $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

For Sale—Lot old fashioned potato onions. Apply to Dr. M. J. Crouch, Union.

Lost—On the way home from Milton Souther's via Geo. Kreylich's on Sunday, the 10th inst., a long, gold stick-pin with amethist set. Finder will return to Mrs. C. E. Stephens, rural route 3, Burlington, and receive reward.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNETT

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY A. C. McCLURG & CO.

One Moment After Another Passed, and He Stood Poised for the Shock.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire.

CHAPTER IX.—Continued.

Blake picked a path along the edge of the rill, where the moist vegetation, though scorched, had refused to burn. After the first abrupt ledge, up which Blake had to drag his companions, the ascent was easy. But as they climbed around an outjutting corner of the steep right wall of the cleft Blake muttered a curse of disappointment. He could now see that the cleft did not run to the top of the cliff, but through it, like a tiny box canyon. The sides rose sheer and smooth as walls. Midway, at the highest point of the cleft, the baobab towered high above the ridge crest, its gigantic trunk filling a third of the breadth of the little gorge. Unfortunately it stood close to the left wall.

"Here's luck for you!" growled Blake. "Why couldn't the blamed old tree have grown on the other side? We might have found a way to climb it. Guess we'll have to smoke out another leopard. We're no nearer those birds' nests than we were yesterday."

"By Jove, look here!" exclaimed Winthrope. "This is our chance for antelope! Here by the spring are bamboos—real bamboos—and only half the thicket burned."

"What of them?" demanded Blake.

"Bows—arrows—and did you not agree that they would make knives?"

"Umph—we'll see. What is it, Miss Jenny?"

"Isn't that a hole in the big tree?"

"Looks like it. These baobabs are often hollow."

"Perhaps that is where the leopard had his den," added Winthrope.

"Shouldn't wonder. We'll go and see."

"But, Mr. Blake," protested the girl, "may there not be other leopards?"

"Might have been; but I'll bet they lit out with the other. Look how the tree is scorched. Must have been stacks of dry brush around the hole, enough to smoke out a fireman. We'll look and see if they left any soup bones lying around. First, though, here's your drink, Miss Jenny."

As he spoke, Blake kicked aside some smouldering branches and led the way to the crevice whence the spring trickled from the rock into a shallow stone basin. When all had drunk their fill of the clear cool water Blake took up his club and walked straight across to the baobab. Less than 30 steps brought him to the narrow opening in the trunk of the huge tree. At first he could make out nothing in the dimly lit interior; but the fetid, catty odor was enough to convince him that he had found the leopards' den.

He caught the vague outlines of a long body, crouched five or six yards away, on the far side of the hollow. He sprang back, his club brandished to strike. But the expected attack did not follow. Blake glanced about as though considering the advisability of a retreat. Winthrope and Miss Leslie were staring at him, white-faced. The sight of their terror seemed to spur him to dare-devil bravado, though his actions may rather have been due to the fact that he realized the futility of flight, and so rose to the requirements of the situation—the grim need to stand and face the danger.

"Get behind the bamboos!" he called, and as they hurriedly obeyed, he caught up a stone and flung it in at the crouching beast.

He heard the missile strike with a soft thud that told him he had not missed his mark, and he swung up his club in both hands. Given half a chance he would smash the skull of the female as he had crushed her blinded mate. One moment after another passed, and he stood poised for the shock, tense and scowling. Not so much as a snarl came from within. The truth flashed upon him.

"Smothered!" he yelled.

The other saw him dart in through the hole. A moment later two limp gray-ish bodies were flung out into the open. Immediately after Blake reappeared, dragging the body of the mother leopard.

"It's all right; they're dead!" cried Winthrope, and he ran forward to look at the bodies.

Miss Leslie followed, hardly less curious.

"Are they all dead, Mr. Blake?" she inquired.

"Wiped out—whole family. The old cat stayed by her kittens, and all smothered together—lucky for us! Get busy with those bamboos, Win. I'm going to have these skins, and the sooner we get the cub meat hung up and curing, the better for us."

"Leopard meat again!" rejoined Winthrope.

"Spring leopard, young and tender! What more could you ask? Get a move on you."

"Can I do anything, Mr. Blake?" asked Miss Leslie.

"Hunt a shady spot."

"But I really mean it."

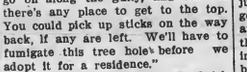
"Well, if that's straight, you might go on along the gully, and see if there's any place to get to the top. You could pick up sticks on the way back, if any are left. We'll have to fumigate this tree hole before we adopt it for a residence."

"Will it be long before you finish with your—with the bodies?"

"Well, now, look here, Miss Jenny; it's going to be a mess, and I wouldn't mind hauling the carcasses clear down the gully, out of sight, if it was to be the only time. But it's not, and you have got to get used to it, sooner or later. So we'll start now."

"I suppose, if I must, Mr. Blake—Really, I wish to help."

"Good. That's something like! Think you can learn to cook?"



"See what I did this morning."

Blake took the cord of cocoanut fiber which she held out to him, and tested its strength.

"Well, I'll be blessed!" he said. "This is something like. If you don't look out, you'll make quite a campmate, Miss Jenny. But now, trot along. This is hardly arctic weather, and our abattoir don't include a cold-storage plant. The sooner these lambs are dressed, the better."

CHAPTER X.

Problems in Woodcraft.

IT WAS no pleasant sight that met Miss Leslie's gaze upon her return. The neatest of butchering can hardly be termed aesthetic; and Blake and Winthrope lacked both skill and tools. Between the penknife and an improvised blade of bamboo, they had flayed the two cubs and haggled off the flesh. The ragged strips, spitted on bamboo rods, were already searing in the fierce sun-rays.

Miss Leslie would have slipped into the hollow of the baobab with her armful of fagots and brush; but Blake waved a bloody knife above the body of the mother leopard, and beckoned the girl to come nearer.

"Hold on a minute, please," he said. "What did you find out?"

Miss Leslie drew a few steps nearer, and forced herself to look at the revolting sight. She found it still more difficult to withstand the odor of the fresh blood. Winthrope was pale and nauseated. The sight of his distress caused the girl to forget her own loathing. She drew a deep breath, and succeeded in countering Blake's expectant look with a half-smile.

"How well are you getting along!" she exclaimed.

"Didn't think you could stand it. But you've got grit all right, if you are a lady," Blake said admiringly. "Say, you'll make it yet! Now, how about the gully?"

"There is no place to climb up. It runs along like this, and then slopes down. But there is a cliff at the end, as high as these walls."

"Twenty feet," muttered Blake. "Confound the luck. It isn't that jump-off; but how in—how are we going to get up on the cliff? There's an everlasting lot of omelettes in those birds' nests. If only that bloomin'—how's that, Win, me b'y?—that bloomin', blawsted baobab was on t'other side. The wood's almost soft as punk. We could drive in pegs, and climb up the trunk."

"There are other trees beyond it," remarked Miss Leslie.

"Then maybe we can shin up—"

"I fear the branches that overhang the cliff are too slender to bear any weight."

"And it's too infernally high to climb up to this overhanging baobab limb."

"I say," ventured Winthrope, "if we had an ax, now, we might cut up one of the trees, and make a ladder."

"Oh, yes; and if we had a ladder, we might climb up the cliff!"

"But, Mr. Blake, is there not some way to cut down one of the trees? The tree itself would be a ladder if it fell in such a way as to lean against the cliff."

"There's only the penknife," answered Blake. "So I guess we'll have to scratch eggs off our menu card Spring leopard for ours! Now, if you really want to help, you might scrape the soup bones out of your boudoir, and fetch a lot more brush. It'll take a big fire to rid the hole of that cat smell."

"Will not the tree burn?"

"No; these hollow baobabs have green bark on the inside as well as out. Funny thing, that! We'd have to keep a fire going a long time to burn through."

"Yet it would burn in time?"

"Yes; but we're not going to—"

"Then why not burn through the trunk of one of those small trees, instead of chopping it down?"

"By—heck, Miss Jenny, you've got an American headpiece! Come on. Sooner we get the thing started, the better."

Neither Winthrope nor Miss Leslie was reluctant to leave the vicinity of the carcasses. They followed close after Blake, around the monstrous bole of the baobab. A little beyond it stood a group of slender trees, whose trunks averaged eight inches at the base. Blake stopped at the second one, which grew nearest to the seaward side of the cleft.

"Here's our ladder," he said. "Get some firewood. Pound the bushes, though, before you go poking into them. May be snakes here."

"Snakes?—oh!" cried Miss Leslie, and she stood shuddering at the danger she had already incurred.

The fire had burnt itself out on a bare ledge of rock between them and the baobab, and the clumps of dry brush left standing in this end of the cleft were very suggestive of snakes, now that Blake had called attention to the possibility of their presence.

He laughed at his hesitating companions. "Go on, go on! Don't squeal till you're bit. Most snakes hike out, if you give them half a chance. Take a stick each of you, and pound the bushes."

Thus urged, both started to work. But neither ventured into the thicker clumps. When they returned, with large armfuls of sticks and twigs, they found that Blake had used his glass to light a handful of dry bark, out in the sun, and was nursing it into a small fire at the base of the tree, on the side next the cliff.

"Now, Miss Jenny," he directed, "you're to keep this going—not too big a fire—understand? Same time you can keep on fetching brush to fumigate your cat hole. It needs it, all right."

"Will not that be rather too much for Miss Leslie?" asked Winthrope.

"Well, if she'd rather come and rub brains on the skins,—Indian tan, you know,—or—"

"How can you mention such things before a lady?" protested Winthrope.

"Beg your pardon, Miss Leslie! you see, I'm not much used to ladies' company. Anyway, you've got to see and hear about these things. And now I'll have to get the strings for Win's bamboo bows. Come on, Win. We've got that old tabby to peel, and a lot more besides."

Miss Leslie's first impulse was to protest against being left alone, when at any moment some awful venomous serpent might come darting at her out of the brush or the crevices in the rocks. But her half-parted lips drew firmly together, and after a moment's hesitancy, she forced herself to the task which had been assigned her. The fire, once started, required little attention. She could give most of her time to gathering brush for the fumigation of the leopard den.

She had collected quite a heap of fuel at the entrance of the hollow, when she remembered that the place would first have to be cleared of its accumulation of bones. A glance at her companions showed that they were in the midst of tasks even more revolting. It was certainly disagreeable to do such things; yet, as Mr. Blake had said, others had to do them. It was now her time to learn. She could see him smile at her hesitation.

Stung by the thought of his half-contemptuous pity, she caught up a forked stick, and forced herself to enter the tree-cave. The stench met her like a blow. It nauseated and all but overpowered her. She stood for several moments in the center of the cavity, sick and faint. Had it been even the previous day, she would have run out into the open air.

Presently she grew a little more accustomed to the stench, and began to rake over the soft, dry mold of the den floor with her forked stick. Bones!—who had ever dreamed of such a mess of bones?— big bones and little bones and skulls; old bones; dry and almost buried; moldy bones; bones still half-covered with bits of flesh and gristle—the remnants of the leopard family's last meal.

At last all were scraped out and flung in a heap, three or four yards away from the entrance. Miss Leslie looked at the result of her labor with a satisfied glance, followed by a sigh of relief. Between the heat and her unwonted exercise, she was greatly fatigued. She stepped around to a shadier spot to rest.

With a start she remembered the fire.

When she reached it there were only a few dying embers left. She gathered dead leaves and shreds of fibrous inner bark, and knelt beside the dull coals to blow them into life. She could not bear the thought of having to confess her carelessness to Blake.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Drudgery in the Kitchen.

The path of progress is clear. There is no more reason why the woman in modern civilization should scrub and cook and darn and dust than there is why these things should be done by men. The development of improved machinery and the growth of labor saving devices of all kinds will finally obviate the necessity of doing these things each day in each home through the land. Co-operation, which we are slowly learning to greet as a friend, will overcome the drudgery and make the life of a woman as enjoyable and eventful as that of the man.—Nearing and Watson in "Economics."

Help us to remember that greater than any church or creed is kindness.

The Robber's Head

The inn was full. People of all conditions, nobles, beggars, quacks, titled ladies and shrews filled the common room to overflowing. The noise was deafening.

Fatigued with my long ride, I called the landlord and demanded to be shown a room. He looked at me for a moment and then bade the servant lass light me to the chamber whose name sounded like "the room of careless ease."

"What," I thought to myself, as I followed the girl, "can it be possible that Frederick the Great has ever slept in this tavern and occupied the room in which I am to sleep?"

I tried to question the serving girl, but she was as stupid as she was fat and, having shown me my door, I was glad to get rid of her.

The room was small, but clean, and fairy comfortably furnished. One detail, however, disturbed me. I could not shut the door, either from the outside or within the chamber.

But I was young and careless, and after an instant's vexation I dismissed all thought of the door from my mind. In a very short time I was asleep.

It must have been about an hour later that I awoke, hearing a tremendous racket at my very door. Suddenly a man burst into the room.

He was a solid looking fellow of 30 years or less, with a flaming red wig and a mischievous, devil-may-care countenance. In one hand he carried a red-stained bag, which he threw into a corner of the room, and after placing a lighted candle on the table he set to work collecting all the chairs in the room.

"What are you doing?" I stammered, much taken aback.

"Making my bed, of course," said the man in a hoarse voice. "I'm going to sleep on these chairs; you wouldn't turn a fellow out of doors on a night like this, would you?"

"Well, you must admit you are a trifle unexpected in your mode of entering my room—" I began, but he interrupted me.

"Unexpected or not, it's the only shelter for me to-night. They won't take me in anywhere else, knowing who I am."

"Who you are," I repeatedly, stupidly, "I do not understand. Would it be too much to ask you—"

"My business? Oh, certainly not! It doesn't trouble me at all. Only there are people who prefer not to be in my society, as if the man and not his business was what counted!"

I looked at my undesired visitor in horror. "Then you are—"

"Apprentice to the city executioner, at your service—but, of course, only at your own desire!" he added with a wicked grin. "There is the head now of a desperate robber that my master and I dispatched four days ago," and the monster pointed to the bag lying in a corner of the room.

"Merciful saints," I cried, scrambling out of bed. "How horrible!" I began to put on my clothes in the wildest hurry.

"Would you like to see it?" asked the red-haired man.

"I should like to see it—at the devil!—and you, too!" I replied, warmly, tearing down the stairs without stopping to count the steps.

I took refuge in the kitchen, where, following the example of the executioner's apprentice, I made a bed of some chairs and spent the worst night in the world.

The next morning I went in anger to the landlord. At the first words of my story, however, he began to laugh, in spite of his attempts to remain sober. Naturally this made me even more furious than before.

At last he recovered sufficiently to say apologetically:

"Oh, my lord, do not be angry, it was all the fault of Mr. Eze, the wine merchant from Amiens. He always has the room in which you were to sleep last night. Of course, when he came, my wife and I told him that the room was occupied.

"'Don't bother about that," was his reply. Then he went to the cupboard and took out a roasted sheep's head which he threw into a bag. He didn't tell us what he was going to do with it, but as he always pays well, we never said a word. This morning he told us the story and, indeed, your lordship, we could not help but laugh. But look, here he comes now—"

The red-headed fellow was indeed approaching us.

"Poltroon!" I cried again. "I demand reparation for the insult you put upon me!"

"That is only fair," answered the executioner's apprentice. "I am entirely at your service; as I believe I said last night!"

"A truce to your pleasantries, which are not funny!" I rejoined. "Come, let up fight like gentlemen; that is, if you are able," I said with what was meant to be withering sarcasm.

I spoke more truly than I knew.

We fought that very day. I was severely wounded in the arm by the fictitious executioner's apprentice. This young man, of unusual strength, was no other than the nephew of the duke of ——, who thus, in his supposed character of a wine merchant, gave free rein to his love of merry pranks and jests. The night when I had had the misfortune to occupy "Mr. Eze's room, the young count had already planned to meet there with several of his friends for a midnigh spread to enjoy some of the goo things which they could not get in their strict army life.

GENTLE REBUKE FROM POLPIT

Yet One Somehow Cannot Help Wondering Whether Sermon Was Worth Listening To.

Somewhere in the pages of her pleasant "Book of Joys" Mrs. Lucy Fitch Perkins tells a delightful story of her New England clerical great-grandfather, who was a man of ingenuity and resources. She says:

"He employed more than one device to secure wakefulness on the part of his weary congregation. Standing during the prayer was but one of many. My grandfather used to tell us with pride of an instance which occurred at a time when a new church edifice had been proposed, and was under warm discussion. Great-grandfather thought this a worldly and unnecessary expense, and emphasized his opinion by pausing in the midst of his sermon on a Sunday, saying impressively, as he fixed the somnolent members of his congregation with a stern look:

"'You are talking about building a new church. It seems to me quite unnecessary, since the sleepers in the old one are all sound!'"—Youth's Companion.

BABY'S WATERY ECZEMA.

Itched and Scratched Until Blood Ran —$50 Spent on Useless Treatments —Disease Seemed Incurable.

Cured by Cuticura for $1.50.

"When my little boy was two and a half months old he broke out on both cheeks with eczema. It was the itchy, watery kind and we had to keep his little hands wrapped up all the time, and if he would happen to get them uncovered he would claw his face till the blood streamed down on his clothing. We called in a physician at once, but he gave an ointment which was so severe that my babe would scream when it was put on. We changed doctors and medicine until we had spent fifty dollars or more and baby was getting worse. I was so worn out watching and caring for him night and day that I almost felt sure the disease was incurable. But finally reading of the good results of the Cuticura Remedies, I determined to try them. I can truthfully say I was more than surprised, for I bought only a dollar and a half's worth of the Cuticura Remedies (Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills), and they did more good than all my doctors' medicines I had tried, and in fact entirely cured him. His face is perfectly clear of the least spot or scar of anything. Mrs. W. M. Comerer, Burnt Cabins, Pa., Sept. 15, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

A Ready Explanation.

"What is the reason you were so late in discovering the north pole?"

"Well," answered the explorer, "you see they have such long nights in the arctic regions that I overslept."

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna

acts gently yet promptly on the bowels; cleanses the system effectually; assists one in overcoming habitual constipation permanently.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine.

MANUFACTURED BY THE

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SOLD BY LEADING DRUGGISTS 50¢ A BOTTLE

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER.

They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

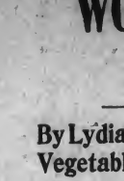
Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. Full line stamp and stencil goods. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. The Lowe Stamp Manufacturing Co.

When You're Hoarse Use

PISO'S CURE



THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

Gives immediate relief. The first dose relieves your aching throat and allays the irritation. Guaranteed to contain no opiates. Very palatable.

All Druggists, 25c.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardiner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and a severe female weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. Williams, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

WAS IN NO HURRY TO LEAVE

Prisoner Put Coming Gastronomic Joy Ahead of a Brief Period of Liberty.

A colored man from Georgia had lived in Washington but a few years when he was arrested for some slight violation of the city ordinances. Upon hearing that the negro was in jail, the secretary of the colored Y. M. C. A. secured the services of a minister to go with him and sign the prisoner's bail bond. They reached the jail shortly before noon, and told the negro the object of their visit. In response to the proffered kindness he said:

"Mistah Johnsing, I sho is glad you-all is gwine to git me out, but I wants you-all to fix it so I can't git out till late dis evenin'."

Of course the two Samaritans were somewhat taken aback hy this unusual request. But a moment later they lost their breath when, in answer to the secretary's question, the Georgia negro replied in a whisper:

"Well, sah, dey's a-gittin' dinnah ready, an' dey's cookin' greens; an' I sho would like to git some o' dem greens hefo' I leahes dis place!"—Lippincott's.

Dorothy and the Stork.

When little Dorothy Walworth was introduced to her hahy brother in the First Methodist Episcopal Parsonage in Yonkers, N. Y., she manifested intense interest, hut was not astonished.

"I knew he was coming," she exclaimed; "I knew it."

Pressed for an explanation, the five-year-old said: "I was down to the Bronx zoo the other day and saw the stork in his cage. I recognized him hy the black stripes on his wings that papa said were there. Well, when the stork was standing alone on one leg, I went close to him and whispered in his ear that I wanted him to bring me a baby brother or sister. He didn't say anything, hut I knew he would do it, hecause he hent his head toward me and winked an eye."

Wherein They Differ.

Her—When a man starts to talk he never stops to think.

Him—And when a woman starts she never thinks to stop.

A BANKER'S NERVE

Broken by Coffee and Restored by Postum.

A banker needs perfect control of the nerves, and a clear, quick, accurate brain. A prominent hanker of Chattanooga tells how he keeps himself in condition:

"Up to 17 years of age I was not allowed to drink coffee, but as soon as I got out in the world I began to use it and grew very fond of it. For some years I noticed no bad effects from its use, but in time it began to affect me unfavorably. My hands trembled, the muscles of my face twitched, my mental processes seemed slow and in other ways my system got out of order These conditions grew so had at last that I had to give up coffee altogether.

"My attention having been drawn to Postum, I began its use on leaving off the coffee, and it gives me pleasure to testify to its value. I find it a delicious beverage; like it just as well as I did coffee, and during the years that I have used Postum I have been free from the distressing symptoms that accompanied the use of coffee. The nervousness has entirely disappeared, and I am as steady of hand as a boy of 25, though I am more than 92 years old. I owe all this to Postum." "There's a Reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. Grocers sell.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

FORMER SENATOR WM. LINDSAY ANSWERS FINAL SUMMONS.

Frankfort, Ky.—Former United States Senator William Lindsay died at his home Friday.

William Lindsay was born in Rock Bridge, Va., September 4, 1835, and settled in Hickman county, Ky., November, 1854. In 1858 he began the practice of law, but in 1861, in the month of July, he joined the confederate army and fought in the lost cause until the final surrender. He returned home and began the practice of law. In 1867 he was elected state senator. From 1870 to 1878 he served upon the bench of the Kentucky court of appeals, the last two years being its chief justice. After his retirement from the bench he resumed the practice of law at Frankfort, hut in answer to the call of his state in 1889 he was elected to the state senate for the second time. The year 1893 was the most momentous of his career. He was chosen as a representative of the United States at the World's Columhian commission of that year. In the same year he was appointed to the United States senate by the governor to fill the vacancy of John G. Carlisle, who had resigned. After filling the unexpired term he was elected to the senate and served until 1901, when he retired to private life again. He resumed his practice of law, hut in 1908 he championed the cause of William Jennings Bryan, Democratic candidate for president, and took the stump in his own state for Bryan.

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED

One Man Killed, Three Women Badly Hurt and Seven Men Injured.

New York.—As the result of the breaking of a rail, the fast passenger train of the New York Central was wrecked at Rhinecliff early Sunday morning. One man was killed, three women were badly hurt and seven men injured.

William K. Vanderhilt and his son, William K. Vanderhilt, jr. W. C. Brown, president of the road, and W. H. Newman, whom Mr. Brown recently succeeded as president, were among the passengers. President Brown was slightly injured, hut the Messrs. Vanderhilt and Newman escaped with only the experience of a vigorous jolting.

But for the quick action of the New York Central's towerman, at Rhinecliff, one of the greatest tragedies in the history of American railroad accidents would have been enacted.

In a twinkling after the accident the towerman flashed the red signal of danger up and down the road for a mile. The wrecked train had heen pitched over on the rails of the northbound track. Its two day coaches, filled with passengers, had been completely turned over on the track.

An ordinary Pullman car had tilted and leaned far over the track. Back of it was the private car of President Brown containing himself, the private secretary, W. C. Bower, and Mr. Newman. Immediately behind the president's car was that of Mr. Vanderbilt, the Idle Hour. All of the coaches were careened over the northbound track at an angle that their occupants were unable to get out of them for several minutes after the accident.

The towerman knew that in less than two minutes a heavy passenger train would pass by on the northbound track. Its speed was 60 miles an hour. Had he not flashed the danger signals the northbound train would have ripped through the one that was wrecked.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Oct. 16.—Cattle—Extra, $6.40@6.50. Calves—Extra, $8.50@8.75. Hogs—Choice, $7.50@7.60. Sheep—Extra, $4.10@4.25. Lambs—Extra, $6.60. Flour—Spring patent, $5.60@5.90. Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.25@1.28. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 62½c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 42c. Rye—No. 2 choice, 77@78c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15.25@15.50. Butter—Dairy, 22½c. Eggs—Per doz., 24c. Apples—Choice, $3.70@4. Potatoes—Per bri., $1.75@2. Tobacco—Burley, $8.60@15.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.22. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 61@61½c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41@41¼c. Pork—Prime mess, $24. Lard—Prime, $12.12½.

Louisville, Oct. 16.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.25@1.27. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 62c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41¼c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15.25. Hogs—Extra, $7.35@7.80. Lard—Prime, $12.12½.

Indianapolis, Oct. 16.—Cattle—Prime, $5.50@5.75. Hogs—Extra, $7.40@7.55. Sheep—Extra, $4.50.

BACKACHE IS KIDNEYACHE.

Usually There Are Other Troubles to Prove It.

Pain in the back is pain in the kidneys, in most cases, and it points to the need of a special remedy to remove and cure the congestion or inflammation of the kidneys that is interfering with their work and causing that pain that makes you say: "Oh, my back."

Thompson Watkins, professional nurse, 420 N. 23rd St., Parsons, Kan., says: "For some time I was annoyed with sharp twinges across the small of my back and irregular passages of the kidney secretions. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills, I am free from these troubles."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

IT IS.

She—John Henry! I wonder how you can sit there and look me in the face.

He—So do I, my love; hut it's surprising what a recklessly brave man can do!

AS SOON BE WITHOUT MATCHES AS WITHOUT RESINOL IN THE HOUSE.

Resinol is the never failing article resorted to by my wife for the many bruises, chafings, cuts, hurns and accidents of the children and has been our cure-all for years. I have used it in cases of irritation and inflammation and have invariably been relieved almost instantly. We would as soon think of heing without matches in our house as without Resinol Ointment. B. Rush Davenport, Philadelphia, Pa.

New Geyser in Yellowstone Park.

For a few days past there have been indications of an eruption of some kind near the Fountain hotel in Yellowstone park, says a dispatch from Mammoth Hot Springs, Wyo. Now a new and magnificent geyser has broken out in full force ahout 100 feet north of the regular Fountain geyser near Fountain hotel. This new geyser, which does not appear to affect any of the others in that vicinity, played to a height of 150 to 200 feet, throwing off immense quantities of hot water, mud and steam. The new geyser does not play regularly as does Old Faithful, but at short intervals, the eruptions occurring five or six hours apart, and lasting about one hour.

His Proper Field.

A colored man was brought before a police judge charged with stealing chickens. He pleaded guilty and received sentence, when the judge asked how it was he managed to lift those chickens right under the window of the owner's house when there was a dog loose in the yard. "Hit wouldn't be no use, judge," said the man, "to try to 'splain this thing to yo' all. Ef you was to try it you like as not would get yer hide full of shot an' get no chickens, nuther. Ef yo' want to engage in any rascality, judge, yo' better stick to de bench, whar yo' am familiar."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Editorial Amenities.

Editor Junkin of the Sterling Bulletin has red hair. Editor Cretcher of the Sedgwick Pantagraph has no hair at all.

"Mac," asked Junkin, "how did you lose your hair?"

"It was red and I pulled it out," growled Cretcher.—Everybody's.

A One-Part Melodrama.

"But you can't have a big scene with only one person in it."

"Sure I can," said the star. "After a struggle with myself I throw myself over the bridge."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Ambiguous.

Harold—What did she say when you turned out the gas and kissed her?

Rupert—Said she felt as if she never wanted to see my face again.—Philadelphia Record.

The wickedness of other men we have always in our eye, hut we cast our own over our shoulder.—Seneca.

LEFT THEIR SEATS HASTILY

Fair School Teachers Blissfully Unaware of Contents of Box on Which They Rested.

"While in Paris this summer another girl and I went out to Versailles one afternoon," said a school teacher who had just returned from abroad. "It was dusk when we reached the railway station, and as there was no waiting room we sat down on two crates that were out on the platform among a lot of others. We noticed that the station employes kept staring at us with a persistence that was annoying. Presently a man in a shabby uniform with a bucket on his arm approached us. He touched his cap deferentially and said—in French, of course:

"'Mesdames, pray do not let me disturh you, but I am forced to open the boxes on which you are seated in order to feed the boa constrictor and other serpents that are within.'

"When we recovered from our fright we found we had been seated in the midst of a huge collection of snakes that had just arrived from their native jungles en route for the zoo near Versailles."

THE CLEVER GIRL.

"Your father ordered some wood from me this morning, miss. Do you know whether he wants hard or soft?"

"Oh—er—not too hard."

Joks Medicine.

He is a very practical, serious-minded man of business. The other day he met a friend, and related to him an alleged joke, and at its conclusion laughed long and heartily.

The friend looked awkward for a moment, and then said:

"You'll have to excuse me, old man, hut I don't see the point."

"Why, to tell you the truth, I don't just see the point myself. But I've made it a rule to laugh at all jokes; I think it's good for the health."

To Breaking One Neck, $2.

The "line-up" man was a facetious soul. The woman for whom he was putting up a pulley clothes-line was exacting. She ordered it put in a certain place, which it was almost impossible for him to reach. He hesitated. "If I have to put it there, lady," he said, "I'll hreak my neck." Still she did not relent. "All right, lady," he consented, with a cheerful grin, "hut it'll cost yer $2 extry if I break my neck."

Good to Her Husband.

"George, dear," said Mrs. Dovekins, who had come downstairs in time to pour the coffee, "I'm going to walk to the car with you this morning. Aren't you glad?"

"Very glad, indeed, lovey. It's so nice of you to think of me and to get up early for the purpose of making it unnecessary to walk those dismal three blocks alone. How much do you want?"

How She Knew.

The cartoonist's wife was talking to a friend.

"I just know Fred didn't want to work at the office last night," she said.

"Why, how do you know?" was asked.

"Because in his sleep he said: 'Well, I'll stay, hut I don't want to draw.'"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Not Asking Much.

"The president," explained one of the secretaries, "can't stop at Plunkville on his swing around the circle. In fact, my good man, we are scheduled to go through Plunkville at 60 miles an hour."

"Couldn't you throw out one of his old hats?" asked the leader of the committee, hopefully.—Washington Herald.

In case of pain on the lungs Hamlins Wizard Oil acts like a mustard plaster, except that it is more effective and is so much nicer and cleaner to use.

It is not what he has, nor even what he does, that directly expresses the worth of a man, but what he is.—Henry F. Amiel.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

The secret of success in life is for a man to be ready for his opportunity when it comes.—Disraeli.

The highest medical authority on foods,

Sir James Crichton Browne, LL. D.—F. R. S. of London, gives the best reasons for eating more

Quaker Oats

In an article published in the Youth's Companion of September 23rd, 1909, Dr. Browne, the great medical authority on foods, says, about brain and muscle building—

"There is one kind of food that seems to me of marked value as a food to the brain and to the whole body throughout childhood and adolescence (youth), and that is oatmeal.

"Oats are the most nutritious of all the cereals, being richer in fats, organic phosphorus and lecithins."

He says oatmeal is gaining ground with the well-to-do of Great Britain. He speaks of it as the mainstay of the Scottish laborer's diet and says it produces a big-boned, well-developed, mentally energetic race.

His experiments prove that good oatmeal such as Quaker Oats not only furnishes the best food for the human being, but eating it strengthens and enlarges the thyroid gland—this gland is intimately connected with the nourishing processes of the body.

In conclusion he says—

"It seems probable therefore that the bulk and brawniness of the Northerners (meaning the Scotch) has been in some measure due to the stimulation of the thyroid gland by oatmeal porridge in childhood."

The Scotch eat Quaker Oats because it is the best of all oatmeals.

JERSEY LILY.

Mr. Brown (to new cook)—What is your name?

Cook—Mary, sir.

Mr. Brown—Dear me, that is my wife's name. We shall have to call you something else.

Cook—Never mind, call me Lily!

The Soft Answer.

At a dinner in Bar Harbor a Boston woman praised the wit of the late Edward Everett Hale.

"Walking on the outskirts of Boston one day," she said, "he and I inadvertently entered a field that had a 'No Trespassing' sign nailed to a tree.

"Soon a farmer appeared.

"'Trespassers in this field are prosecuted,' he said in a grim tone.

"Dr. Hale smiled blandly.

"'But we are not trespassers, my good man,' he said.

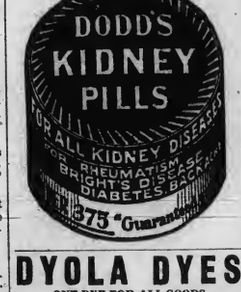
"'What are you then?' asked the amazed farmer.

"'We're Unitarians,' said Dr. Hale."—Washington Star.

Is Poor Consolation.

"Yes, it must be a terrible thing to go through life without your limb. But you must remember it will be restored to you in the next world."

"I know it will, mum, but dat don't encourage me, for it was cut off when I was a baby, an' it won't come within a couple of foot of de ground w'en it's restored."



Didn't Stay There.

Father—Didn't I tell you I would whip you if I caught you in the water again?

Son—Yes, sir, and that's the reason I hurried out when I saw you coming.

The angels are always waiting to open the windows of heaven over the head of the man who will bring the last tithe into the storehouse.

In after years a man wishes he was half as smart as he used to think he was.

DYOLA DYES

ONE DYE FOR ALL GOODS

10 fast, brilliant colors. 10c per package at dealers. If not in stock send 10c stating color desired and same will be sent with direction book and color card. DY-O-LA Burlington, Vt.

The Best Kind Of Life Insurance is health insurance. The best way to insure the health of your family when any member gets in a "run-down" condition, is to use a tonic that removes the cause of the ill-health. Such a tonic is

DR. D. JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE

A "run down" condition is generally due to the failure of the digestive organs to properly digest the food. Dr. D. Jayne's Vermifuge tones up the digestive organs so that they supply the body with proper nourishment, and in this way bring about lasting health. Ordinary tonics simply supply food material in predigested form, and consequently are only effective as long as the tonic is taken.

Sold by all Druggists—two sizes, 50c and 35c.

Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant has been relieving and curing Coughs, Colds, and similar ailments for nearly four generations.

Up-Set Sick Feeling

that follows taking a dose of castor oil, salts or calomel, is about the worst you can endure—Ugh—it gives one the creeps. You don't have to have it—CASCARETS move the bowels—tone up the liver—without these bad feelings. Try them.

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

Live Stock and Miscellaneous

Electrotypes

In great variety for sale at the lowest prices by

WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION
554 W. Adams St., CHICAGO

KNOWN SINCE 1836 AS RELIABLE
PLANTEN'S TRADE MARK
C & C OR BLACK CAPSULES
SUPERIOR REMEDY FOR URINARY DISCHARGES
DRUGGISTS OR BY MAIL ON RECEIPT OF 50c
H. PLANTEN & SON 93 HENRY ST BROOKLYN N.Y.

WANTED—To communicate with parties having some literary ability, ambitious to earn money writing for magazines. National Literary Training School. 34-H Wardner Bldg., Washington, D. C.

DEFIANCE STARCH easiest to work with and starches clothes nicest.

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 43-1909.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois.

CHEW AND SMOKE
MAIL POUCH TOBACCO
"Merit Proved by Test of Time"

COUPON IN EACH PACKAGE
CATALOGUE OF VALUABLE ARTICLES SENT FREE
MAIL POUCH TOBACCO CO.
DEPARTMENT A.
WHEELING, W. VA.
SAVE THE COUPONS

Broom corn is selling as high as $200 a ton in St. Louis.

Six States raise nearly all the barley produced in this country.

Bath county growers have been selling their tobacco at from $11 to $15 round.

The average yield of wheat in the United States for ten years is 13.9 bushels per acre.

There are four candidates for Mayor of Louisville, and each claims that he is sanguine of election. Politics is and always has been delusive.

During the first nine months of the present year sheep receipts at the St. Louis market increased 102,755 head over the corresponding period last year.

In the death of Judge William Lindsay, which occurred at his home in Frankfort, one day last week, the State sustains the loss of one of her brainiest men.

Half the crop of rye produced in the United States is grown in the three States—Pennsylvania, Michigan and Wisconsin. In 1908 they produced 16,589,000 bushels out of 31,850,000.

Those who are looking after the Democratic party's affairs say there is no question but what the party will have a safe majority in both houses of the next General Assembly in this State.

According to the Crop Reporter issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, the average Russian yield of wheat for ten years ending with 1908 was 9.3 bushels per acre; United States, 13.9; Hungary, 17.9; Australia, 18.3; France, 20.8; Germany, 28.4.

On September 1st the United States Department of Agriculture estimated the hay crop of the present year to be 64,166,000 tons, as compared with 70,798,000 tons a year ago, when the yield was the largest ever recorded. A crop of 64,000,000 tons is above the average.

The press committee of the Burley Tobacco Society is out in a published statement that is anything but complimentary to Miss Alice Lloyd. The trouble grows out of the report of a recent meeting, and which was sent out by Miss Lloyd in regard to the removal of the Society's headquarters from Winchester to Lexington.

The Grant Count News, which has been published at Dry Ridge for the last three years, has moved to Williamstown, where it took over the Courier and then discontinued it, consequently but one paper is now published in Grant county, a very good field for one while it is not for two. R. L. Westover, one of the most fluent writers on the country press has taken a Mr. Billitter in as a partner, and he will be the business manager. The new firm will give Grant county a splendid paper.

A very considerable per cent. of the tobacco that was not pooled in this county at the beginning of this month, has been signed up in the last ten days, and probably eighty-five per cent. of the crop in the county has been pooled. Some of the unpooled tobacco has been sold for good prices, and some that is in the pool will probably be bought by speculators who will depend on the pool to make it bring them a profit. A great many growers who had declared their intention of remaining out of the pool this year, changed their mind before it was too late and have signed up their crops, and in some precinctsthere is now practiecally no tobacco that is not pooled. The pool has grown in popularity in this county, and but few growers will there be who will remain out of the fold. The Cincinnati Enquirer has sent out its annual statement of the tobacco crop, basing its estimate on a yield of 1,000 lbs. per acre, which would appear to be low enough, the largest acreage of any county in the Burley district being that of Adams county, Ohio, which is 11,720 acres, the yield of which is placed at 12,260,500 pounds. The Enquirer gives the total acreage of Burley tobacco at 251,897 acres with a yield of 239,079,905 pounds. Of this acreage Kentucky has 173,444, the yield of which is placed at 182,865,105 pounds, of which Boone county's area is 3,350 acres, with a yield of 4,010,550, which is considerably the largest crop the county ever produced. The quality of the crop is generally reported good.

WHAT A FARMER'S DAUGHTER SHOULD BE.

A farmer's daughter should be loved by everyone, for she has it within her power to win everyone by making all who come to her father's house at ease. Do not complain, but realize that occupation is happiness. Make others happy and you will receive your share. Be the sunshine of the house and never say a word against anyone. If you feel there are people you should not associate with, let them go. Better spend your time learning to cook Many a man has lost his heart eating a good dinner. Do not be ashamed of your position in life, for you are a queen. A good woman is the great promoter of good, and men would be brutes without them. The farmer who does not love and appreciate his wife does not often succeed. Girls should try to get a good English education. If you do not have a natural gift for music, do not spend your time trying to learn the piano. It is so much precious time wasted. Do not mourn your fate because you are not a rich man's daughter, for as a rule they are the most unhappy girls in the world. The farmer's daughter is far better off than hundreds of girls born in the city.

I once knew a farmer's daughter who was the oldest girl at home. She made it pleasant for everyone who came to her father's house. She never complained, but realized that she had a duty to perform and was anxious to do her part in the world. She looked after the younger children and made them happy, and thereby gained happiness for herself. I fell in love with her, and if the wealth of the world had been offered me to forego the farmer's daughter I should still have taken the daughter.

When young men call do not be bashful, but make them feel at ease. A bright girl, though not so pretty, can always win a man her equal. Do not feel above the young men who, although plain, are industrious and trying to build up a character and a credit. They are far above the men who have money and no motive in life. Never marry if you are not sure you are loved, and that the young man has a good character. It is far better to be a single woman, for they are ofttimes the most important ones in the household.

There should be some recreation for those living on the farm. The father should supply his wife and daughters with a horse and buggy so that they may visit the nearby towns, and keep in touch with their friends. The farmer's daughter should brighten the home.—Ex.

The world's base ball championship having been settled commander Peary can proceed with his effort to show that Dr. Cook never reached the north pole, a task at which he has made but little headway to date.

Following is a gem from one of the speeches of the late Senator Carmack:

"I speak, sir, for my native State, for my native South. It is a land that has no sorrow; a land that has broken the ashen crust and moistened it with her tears; a land scarred and riven by the plowshare of war and billowed with graves of her dead; but a land of legend, a land of song, a land of hallowed and heroic memories. To that land every drop of my blood, every fiber of my being, every pulsation of my heart is consecrated for ever. I was born of her womb, I was nurtured at her breast, and when my last hour shall come I pray God that I may be pillowed upon her bosom and rocked to sleep within her tender and encircling arms."

Base Ball at Rising Sun.

Tomorrow Rising Sunners will devote the day to base ball, and the entertainment of the Cincinnati Reds. A large number of Kentucky fans will be on hand when the game between the visitors and the local team begins.

An Editor in Luck.

E. C. Smith, editor of the Carrollton Democrat, has been tendered and has accepted the position of general council for a life insurance company in Louisville at a handsome salary. Mr. Smith has devoted much of his time for several years as editor of the Democrat and promoting enterprises throughout the State and has been successful in a financial way.

Got in Bad.

Representative E W. Lillard was fined $3,300 on forty-five warrants at Danville for the illegal sale of liquor. He paid $300 and agreed to close his drug store to escape the full penalty. Lillard was one of the four Democrats in the last Legislature whose votes elected W. O. Bradley United States Senator over former Governor J. C. W. Beckham, the Democratic nominee.

Our New Hair Vigor

Ayer's Hair Vigor was good, the best that was made. But Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, is better. It is the one great specific for falling hair. A new preparation in every way. New bottle. New contents. Ask your druggist to show it to you, "the new kind."

Does not change the color of the hair.

Ayer's

Formula with each bottle
Show it to your doctor
Ask him about it, then do as he says

As we now make our new Hair Vigor it does not have the slightest effect upon the color of the hair. You may use it freely and for any length of time without fear of changing the color. Stops falling hair. Cures dandruff.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

"Death Loves a Shining Mark."

Perry A. Beemon departed this life at his home near Big Bone Grange Hall, at an early hour Tuesday morning, Oct. 5th, 1909, aged 52 years, 5 months and 22 days.

He was a son of Elizabeth and Salathal Beemon, born April 13th, 1857. Several brothers and sisters survive him and the aged father still lives to mourn the loss of this devoted son. He cared for his mother in her declining years and after her death continued to care for his father until he himself was stricken down with a complication of diseases, from which he suffered many months. His sufferings were great, but he bore them silently and patiently till God called him home to suffer no more.

When the final summons came he was surrounded by kind friends, his wife and children, who, with loving hearts and willing hands, did all in their power to stay the hand of Death, but God had willed it, their efforts were of no avail.

He was held in the highest esteem by his friends and neighbors, his wife and children loved him, but God loved him best.

He was united in marriage to Miss Mabel Stevens, Jan. 22, 1879, (daughter of the late Samuel Stevens.) To this union seven children were born, four daughters, Mrs. Jno. Hogan, Mrs. Everett Clore and Misses Effie, Grace, and three sons, Lewis, Roy and, one who died in infancy.

A faithful wife is now left mourning the loss of a most devoted husband, and six interesting children are sadly grieving with aching hearts for a kind, loving and indulgent father. For this large family he provided well and was charitable towards others.

He did not belong to any church, but lived out the spirit of Religion so well in the sight of men that they dared not criticise. Perry Beemon was widely known as a good man, and, therefore, generally beloved. From early childhood he seemed to have the finest intuition of right and wrong, his strong sense of right predominated in his nature, he cultivated it, even in his boyhood, and in his manhood, he took it with him in all his relations of life.

His wife and children will bitterly feel their loss. They have the sincere sympathy of all in their sad bereavement. His funeral was preached at Belleview Baptist church, Thursday morning at 11 o'clock by Rev. Allie Stith, to a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends, after which the remains were tenderly laid to rest in the cemetery at that place.

Another testimonial of the love and esteem in which the deceased was held was manifested by the large crowd of friends and neighbors of a life time, that was present at the funeral and who, bowed their heads in grief, when all that was mortal of Perry Beemon was lowered into the grave. x.

Hay and Wagon Burned.

Huey Aylor, of Hebron, had quite an exciting misfortune to overtake him last Thursday morning. He was on his way to the city with a load of hay, and had reached a point near the Cincinnati Equipment Co., on the Ohio side. At that place the road is very close to the railroad, where a train of cars passed him. A spark from the locomotive lit in his load of hay and a blaze started instantur. He soon discovered what had happened, and began trying to put the fire out, but was not long in seeing that his efforts would be in vain, when he turned his attention to releasing his horses from the wagon, which he barely had time to do. The Sedamsville fire company was called but did not arrive until the fire was about over. A large crowd of people soon assembled; but the flames spread so rapidly they could do nothing, and the wagon and hay were not long being consumed. Mr. Aylor called on the railroad company, and was told to present his bill for damages and it would be paid.

Lest you Forget

We Cut the Price on all Medicines.

WE QUOTE A FEW.

Peruna	71c
Pinkham's Compound	71c
Swamp Root	71c
S. S. S	71c
Wine of Cardui	71c
Pierce's G. M. Discovery	71c
Pierces' Prescription	71c
Ozomulsion	71c
Scott's Emulsion	71c
Wampole's C. L. Oil	71c
Antiphlogistine	40-75c
Sal Hepatica	90c
S. S. S. (large)	$1.25
Fellows' Syrup	$1.00
Gombalt's Caustic Bal.	$1.15
Sloan's Liniment	71c
Kitchell's Liniment	65c
Barb Wire Liniment	20c
Cuticura Soap	18c
Colgate's Palm Soap 6 for	25c
" Turk Soap 6 for	25c
Pure Castile Soap, lb	20c
Allcock's Porous Plasters	2 for 25c
Belladonna Plasters 2 for	25c
Water Bottles	49c
Fountain Syringes (Each 2-quart size)	59c
Doan's Kidney Pills	40c
King's Pills	20c
Cuticura Pills	20c
Pinkham's Pills	20c
Carter's Little Liver Pills	15c
Gooch's Pills	20c
Bucklin's Arnica Salve	20c
5 Drop Ointment	20c
Pyramid Pile Cure	40c
Pazo Pile Ointment	40c
Parker's Hair Balsam	40c
Hay's Hair Health	40c
Peroxide Hydrogen, lb	25c
Creolin, lb	75c
Vaseline, lb	25c
Pine Tar, gallon	30c
Pluto Water	36c
Castor Oil, quart	50c
Castoria	25c
Syrup Figs	38c
Beef Iron and Wine	40c
Warner's 3-gr. Lithia Tablets	20c
Quinine, ounce	50c
Capsules—box of 100	08c
Bromo Quinine	20c
Tetlow's Swan Down or 2 for 25	15c
Tetlow's Gassmer Powder	20c
Allen's Foot Ease	20c
Harleem Oil	05c
Bull's Worm Candy	20c
Absorbent Cotton, oz 4 oz. 15c, 1 lb. 35c	05c
Ground Flaxseed, lb	10c
Sulphur, lb	05c
Copperas, lb	03c
Moth Balls, lb	05c
Epsom Salts, lb	05c
Cream Tartar, lb	35c
Borax, lb	12c
Toilet Paper, 6 pads	25c
Tooth Picks, 2 boxes	05c
Hindoo Coru Remover	15c
Magee's Corn Plaster	10c
One Night Corn Cure	10c
Hostetter's Bitters	85c
All Chewing Gum, pkg.	03c
Sulphate, Soda, lb	20c
Phosphate Soda, lb	20c
Garfield Tea	20c
Hard Rubber Syringe	20c
Schiffman's Asthma Cure	40c
New Skin Court Plaster	20c
Carpenter's Liquid Court Plaster—tube	10c
Prophefoctic Tooth Brushes	25c
Colgate's Tooth Paste	40c
Sanitol Tooth Paste	20c

We have many more at just as L w Prices.

SAVE THE DIMES.

Geo. C. Goode

AGENT.

Groceries & Medicines,

Pike & Washington,

Covington, Kentucky.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building,

WALTON, KY.

For Sale—Small, square piano and a heating stove, both in good condition. Apply to Mrs. Emma Judge, near Union.

For Sale—40 tons hay—part in barn and part in stack. Apply to J. F. Blyth, Burlington.

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail, will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1908. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,

WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.

CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.

JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.

Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

Fall and Winter Millinery.

I now have on display my new stock of Hats and Baby Caps, with prices to suit every customer. Desiring to reduce my stock I will offer

Specials from 25c up

and hope my customers will take advantage of these bargains. Come in and see them, as also my nice line of

DRY GOODS and JEWELRY.

Cordially yours,

MISS LOU W. ALLEN, Petersburg, Ky.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.

S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated--A. D. 1892.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

CANNOT SPLIT OR CURL LIKE WOOD SHINGLES

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

Last as long as the building and never need repairs. Think of it! They're also fireproof, stormproof, handsome and quite inexpensive.

SEND FOR ESTIMATE

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

Our Business Constantly Increasing.

For the past seven years our optical business has constantly increased. We treat all alike, selling the best goods at the lowest possible prices to all. We have a complete lens-grinding outfit and can grind and replace broken lenses while you wait.

We can furnish anything made in optical goods.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.

Take Your County paper.

DON'T FAIL TO VISIT

ROSENTHAL BROTHERS New Clothing Store

Before buying.—Complete Outfitters for Men, Boys and Children—Everything New and Up-to-Date.

Big Store Building, RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Local News.

The RECORDER is authorized to announce Judge John M. Lassing a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Appellate Judge in this the Sixth Appellate District, subject to the primary election November 2, 1909.

Eating Money.

Breakfast bacon is selling at 30 cents a pound in some Kentucky towns.

Bad Week for Racing.

Latonia had rather a frosty look last week. It was a bad week for racing.

Fire Felt Good.

People from a distance came into town several days last week, clad like it was winter. The fire felt mighty good to them.

The Calendar Season.

The calendar season is at hand and they will soon begin to show up from the numerous business concerns in the country.

A Gloomy Month.

October has been a gloomy, uncomfortable month so far, although there have been few rainy days among the 19 that are gone.

Minutes Done.

The printed minutes of the last session of the North Bend Association will be sent out to the several churches in the association this week.

Invaded the Town Again.

Quigley & Beemon, the Limaburg merchants, invaded Burlington again, one day last week, with a big load of goods. They are hustlers.

Cattle Moving.

William Kirkpatrick and F. A. Utz each passed through town one day last week, following a considerable drove of good cattle. The former came in on the Belleview pike and the latter, on the East Bend road.

Hunting Property.

Johnnie Cloud, of Hebron, deputy county assessor, has been busy in this precinct, the past week, listing property for taxation in 1910. He does not make much noise but covers ground pretty rapidly.

Did Much Good.

Considerable land was plowed last week following the rain that fell on the Sunday preceding. Besides putting the land into a condition to be plowed the rain filled the pools in the creeks and revived the springs, relieving the situation as to stock water all over the county.

Stripping Tobacco.

Considerable tobacco is now ready to strip, in fact some has been stripped, and seasonable weather for that class of work is very much desired by the growers, who want to get through with their tobacco as far as is possible before bad weather is encountered, which makes stripping very unpleasant work.

Stock in Good Condition.

Livestock is in good condition to enter the winter, the pastures having been good all summer and fall, and the farmers have an abundance of provender to keep their animals in their present condition until the chilly blasts of winter have passed and the balmy sunshine calls for the young grass again in the spring.

Will Crush Stone.

The Burlington and Belleview Turnpike Company is about ready to put its steam crusher to work on the large ricks of stone that have been placed at several points along its road. It has several thousand perch awaiting the machine, and when they are spread upon the road it will be in good shape as regards metal.

On the Road.

Shelby Cowen, who, for several months, has been working for the Perkins, Campbell Co., Cincinnati, manufacturers of saddles and harness, has gone on the road as salesman for the firm, which is the largest of its kind in the country. The young man is a native of Burlington, where he has many friends who wish for him abundant success in his new calling.

The Bed-Rock of Success.

lies in a keen, clear brain, backed by indomitable will and resistless energy. Such power comes from the splendid health that Dr. King's New Life Pills impart. They vitalize every organ and build up brain and body. J. A. Harmon, Lizemore, W. Va., writes: "They are the best pills I ever used." 25c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Game Law in Force.

The closed season for the hunter of rabbits and squirrels is now on and it is against the law to kill these animals from now until the beginning of the quail season on November 15. The law governing these animals was passed for the purpose of affording protection to quail during the two months immediately preceding the expiration of the closed season. Some hunters take advantage of the opportunity offered for other game and kill quail while supposed to be hunting rabbits and squirrels.

In Good Shape.

Scott Smith, who lives between Walton and Verona, was in Burlington, last Thursday, feeling much better than he did at the corresponding date in 1908, when food for stock was scarce and his pastures looked parched and drear. He had just completed filling a several ton silo to assist in wintering a lot of nice cattle, while his pastures are good and his corn fields yielding abundantly. No wonder he was smiling and in fine spirits, as the reversal of form in the past year, among farmers, is wonderful and altogether to their advantage.

Shut Down.

The tomato canneries at Belleview and Petersburg were put out of business by the frost several days ago, but not until they had made a pretty good season's run. It is said that a cannery is a most excellent thing to have in a community as it furnishes work for a great many persons at good wages, and when once installed it grows in popularity, especially among the growers and the people who furnish the labor. The tomato being a prolific vegetable it does not require a very large territory to produce enough material on which to operate a cannery and it is strange that they are not more numerous in this part of the country.

Visited the Dam.

The delegates to the meeting of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, in session in Cincinnati, last week, visited the lock and dam that is being built just below Taylorsport, this county. The association is pulling hard for the construction of a series of locks in the Ohio river that will make it navigable from Pittsburg to Cairo for boats of the greatest tonnage the year round. The lock and dam below Taylorsport is to be completed in 1910, when it will give a nine foot stage of water as far as Coney Island, 12 or 15 miles above Cincinnati. The railroads are not friendly to the project as they profit by the low water in the river.

In the Quarterly Court.

Attorney Jno. L. Vest, of Walton, was in Burlington, last Thursday, representing the Walton and Verona Turnpike Company in its suit in the quarterly court against James Hind for the sum of $100. At the beginning of the suit an attachment was taken against the property of Mr. Hind who had sold his farm and was leaving the State. Mr. Hind did not contest $60 of the amount, but he claimed that $50 was subscribed on conditions that it would be needed to build the pike, at which time no mention was made of the building of any bridges, and that had the money subscribed been used only in the construction of the pike the $50 would not have been necessary, it being made necessary by the construction of the bridges on the road. The case was tried before the court who overruled the defendant's contention, gave the turnpike company judgment for the full amount and sustained the attachment.

Putting up Stoves.

The weather last week caused a hustle in the business of putting up stoves, and several of them about town were put in commission.

There's a Missing Word.

There is a missing Word in this advertisement and there will be one in each of our ads. in this paper from now to November 24th. We have lots and lots of good things to tell you about this fall and in order to get as many to read our advertisements as possible we will give $5.00 in gold as stipulated below. Fill out the following coupon or make one like it and fill it out.

The missing word in Green's advertisement dated Oct. 20 is.....found between the words .....and.....

Name.....

Address.....

$5.00 in gold will be given for the largest number of correct answers to the eleven propositions and in case of a tie the money will be equally divided. All answers must be filed at our store within 10 days from the date of the coupon. It costs you nothing to submit your answers and in reading our advertisements you will be sure to keep posted as to the many bargains we are offering.

Last week's Coupons must be in our store within 10 days from the date of issue. Don't delay.

There's No Such Thing —AS LUCK— Things Don't Just "Happen"

EVERY EFFECT HAS BACK OF IT A CAUSE.

We Didn't Just Happen to Get

Our Winter Goods bought before the advance. We studied the market conditions and with the advice of some good friends took advantage of the lowest time to buy.

You won't "Just Happen" to get share of these good things. You must do your part. Either write, telephone or

Come Now to

GREEN'S

Cash Store,

Rising Sun, Indiana.

AND BE HAPPY.

Thirty-Four Years Old.

With its last issue the RECORDER rounded out its thirty-fourth year. Many of the original subscribers have passed into the beyond, but there are yet a goodly number who pride themselves on having taken the paper, beginning with the first issue, and to these loyal friends, to whose ranks others have been added from week to week and year to year, is due the existence of the RECORDER today. It took many months to convince the people of the county it had come to stay, previous failures of local papers in its field having made a doubting Toms of nearly every one to whom appeal was made for support in the early months of its existence. But for many years it has been considered a fixture, and it expects to remain such for many more years to come, giving its subscribers, from week to week, the best it has in the shop.

Acorns and Beechnuts.

Acorns and beechnuts are said to be plentiful this fall, and if the natural forest still existed mast fed pork could be used this winter. Many persons are not aware that there are two kinds of oak trees; one bearing acorns that require two years to mature, and which are so bitter that no self-respecting hog would eat them, while the other bears edible acorns which are matured in one season. The former belongs to the black oak class, the latter to the white oak class. The razor-back is not the only animal which eats white oak acorns. They are a favorite food of many wild creatures. In old Saxon and early Norman times, woods were estimated, not by the number of acres they contained, but by the number of hogs they would fatten. The right of feeding hogs in the woods, became a valuable kind of property. In those days every household had its swineherd, whose duty it was to drive his lord's pigs to the woods each morning, and to see that none got lost during the day. Pigs that did not belong to the lord of the land had to pay, by proxy, for the privilege of picking acorns and beechnuts under his trees, and this money was theoretically paid into the coffers of the king.

Peace and Plenty.

Judge James B. Finnell and Geo. W. Roberts, of Verona, were among the very pleasant callers at this office, last Thursday. They are prominent and leading citizens in the south end of the county, and are never seen at the county seat except when they have important business. Mr. Roberts reported peace and plenty in his neighborhood, everybody having an abundance on which to subsist this winter.

$2,000,000 Capital.

The District Board of the Burley Tobacco Society which was in an important business session at Winchester several days last week, deciding among other important matters that of removing headquarters from Winchester to Lexington, adjourned to reassemble in Winchester on October 21. Matters of great importance were constantly before the board, chief of these being the work of blocking out the general basis for the articles of incorporation of the Burley Tobacco Company, a concern in which the growers will be the stockholders and which will prize, rehandle, insure, store and finally market the crops of the union growers.

It is proposed that the new company shall have a capital stock of two million dollars and that it shall have authority to contract an indebtedness up to twenty million dollars.

Of the eight men recommended by President LeBus for members of the Executive Committee of the Burley Tobacco Society for the coming year the District Board confirmed five: Messrs. Chas. C. Patrick, Fayette county; A. L. Ferguson, Scott county; Fred Stucy, Carroll county; U. G. Sanders, Fleming county; Walter Evans, Brown county, Ohio.

The three who were not confirmed were Messrs. Lister Witherspoon, of Woodford county; S. A. Shanklin, of Mason county, and A. N. Slaughter, of Owen county.

Frightful Fate Averted.

"I would have been a cripple for life, from a terrible cut on my knee cap," writes Frank Disberry, Kelliher, Minn., "without Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which soon cured me." Infallible for wounds, cuts and bruises, it soon cures Burns, Scalds, Old Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions. World's best for Piles. 25c. at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

No New Cases.

The case of smallpox that appeared in Walton neighborhood about two weeks ago has gotten well without the disease being communicated to anyone. Smallpox has lost much of the terror that accompanied its appearance in a neighborhood half a century ago. Then it was regarded as necessarily fatal, and a panic always followed upon the announcement of the presence of the first patient in a community. It is claimed that scientific treatment has reduced the disease to the mild form it has assumed in the last few years, and now it is dreaded no more than the measles.

A Warm Election.

They are having a warm town election at Walton, the warmest contest being over the office of town marshal.

THE

Godman Shoes

Our large line of Godman Shoes just opened is now ready for you to make your selection. We sold a great many of these Shoes last winter and found they gave splendid wear. Come in and see them. We have all styles at prices to suit everyone.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

Watching the Silo.

The farmers hereabouts will watch with considerable interest Thomas Rouse's experience with his 80 ton silo, which he finished filling last week. If it proves the success Mr. Rouse anticipates several others will put in silos after the make of his, which will cost less than $100. When filled the silo contains a very large amount of feed for stock, which is put up in a hurry when the work is begun. It is claimed that no other food equals it for animals. The silo is very popular in many places where it has been tried out thoroughly.

Killing Ducks and Snipe.

R. W. Clark was out with his automatic shot gun, one day last week, and brought down two wild ducks of the mallard breed. Among snipe he is a terror, and keeps his table supplied with them.

Interrupting Interstate Commerce.

One day last week a Falmouth dealer in game shipped a barrel containing 110 rabbits to a Cincinnati commission merchant. At Latonia a detective, who suspected that the contents of the barrel was contraband, took charge of the barrel and confiscated its contents, and had the Falmouth dealer arrested for violating the State game law.

Wants Good Roads.

Joseph Myers, a prosperous farmer between Walton and Verona, was among the callers at this office, last Thursday. He is an advocate of good roads, and has done much towards the improvement of the highways in his part of the county, giving liberally of money, time and labor that his community might be advanced by the construction of pikes.

Wont Tell It.

If a newsgatherer should meet 50 persons each day and should put the inquiry. "Any News?" 49 out of 50 would reply, "No-o-o, I guess not," when at the same time he might know of a number of interesting happenings that would help to make the paper just what every one wishes it to be, a paper full of news of the community. So if the item of news which you expected to see in print is not there, it is your own fault—failed to inform the editor of the fact.—Ex.

Off For Texas.

W. E. Vest, real estate agent of Walton, accompanied by Mr. Hughes, of the Swenson Land Company, were in Burlington, one day last week, working up the excursion to the Pan Handle of Texas, to leave last Monday.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, - KENTUCKY

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed Into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

George Wharton Popper, a prominent churchman and lawyer of Philadelphia, was a speaker at the Brotherhood of St. Andrew convention in Providence, R. I.

Mrs. Edith T. Perkins of Burlington, Ia., has given Harvard university $30,000 to establish scholarships for Iowa graduates, in memory of her husband, who was president of the Burlington railroad for many years.

George A. Edes, veteran editor, who in early life was associated with Horace Greeley and Mark Twain, died at Oakland, Cal., of cancer of the throat, aged 69. His great-uncle was associated with Benjamin Franklin in the publication of the Boston News Letter.

Charles T. Ripley, a graduate of the University of Illinois in the railway electrical engineering department, has been awarded the first prize in an electric car design contest conducted by the Brill Company of Philadelphia. The prize is the John G. Brill medal and $250.

Clyde Fitch, the playwright, left no will and his property will go to his father, W. G. Fitch, of Hartford, Conn. By some the estate is estimated at $1,000,000.

Samuel Gompers was accorded an enthusiastic demonstration at Washington in honor of his return home from Europe.

Representative A. W. Rucker of Colorado was injured severely when he was struck by the boom of a boat he was sailing in Lake Lano in Mindinao in the Philippines.

Dr. J. B. Shoher reports through the Journal of the American Medical association a substitute for radium in treating disease. It is cocoanut charcoal after it has been charged with a current of air from a solution of radium bromide.

According to Rev. Charles L. Goodell, pastor of Calvary Methodist church of New York, old age begins at 45 years, and from that age a man is in his decline.

Two sisters, Mrs. Clara Pfeltsenmeier of Chicago and Mrs. Minnie Lehmann of Brooklyn, found a long-lost brother at the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York. He is a second lieutenant in the German navy and his name is Fritz Heyl.

GENERAL NOTES.

The New York Globe publishes a copy of affidavit made by Edwin N. Barrill, who accompanied Dr. Frederick A. Cook at the time he announced reaching the summit of Mount McKinley in which Barrill states that Cook never reached the summit and charges the explorer with forcing him to change dates and figures in his diary. Dr. Cook, at Atlantic City, N. J., emphatically denies the charge and says proofs of his climb are buried on the summit of the mountain.

In the sixth game for the world's championship Detroit defeated Pittsburg 5 to 4.

Edward Singer, aged 35, of Chicago, has been arrested for rifling merchandise mail pouches.

The twelfth annual meeting of the Eastern Illinois Teachers' association is being held at Danville.

A high-salaried appointment soon to be made by President Taft will be Panama canal commissioner to succeed ex-Senator Blackburn of Kentucky, whose resignation is expected. The position pays $14,000 a year.

Of the 285 county reporters who report crop conditions to the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture, 194 have served in that capacity more than twenty years, according to the official crop reporter.

George Shima, the Japanese potato king of Stockton, Cal., gave his second annual banquet to potato buyers. Shima sent his launch, the Shima Maru, for his guests. He has the largest potato patch in the world, 14,000 acres.

Revolutionists are now in possession of seven towns in Nicaragua and martial law has been proclaimed at the capital, Managua.

President Taft has accepted the resignation of Charles R. Crane as minister to China, thus upholding Secretary Knox in the controversy.

Revolution has broken out in Nicaragua, and in a battle between government troops and rebels at Greytown, 19 of the former were killed.

The seventh convention of the American Hardware Manufacturers' association was held in Atlantic City, N. J.

Speakers of national reputation addressed the Commercial Brotherhood of America at its second national [illegible] in Jacksonville.

Civil war is impending in Spain. Several bombs have been exploded near the royal palace in which King Alfonzo is practically a prisoner, being guarded by a double cordon of troops.

President Taft and President Diaz of Mexico exchanged visits at El Paso, Tex., and Ciudad, Juraez, both executives leaving their native countries for the first time in an official capacity.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, refuting the charges that he did not ascend Mount McKinley, will organize an expedition to ascend the mountain and procure the records he left there. He asserts Guide Barrill has perjured himself.

Thirty-seven persons are dead, many injured, and property damaged to about $1,000,000, as a result of the storm which swept Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Arkansas and South Carolina.

The National Purity congress opened in Burlington, Ia., with President B. S. Steadwell in the chair and about 500 reformers and social workers present. Many well known men and women were on the program.

Plans for a campaign for the passage of an act to enable Illinois municipalities to adopt the commission form of government were discussed at the annual meeting of the Illinois Mayors' association in Elgin.

The Portola festival, celebrating the discovery of San Francisco bay, opened in the Golden Gate city.

The National Spiritualists' association began their seventeenth convention in Rochester, N. Y.

A convention of employing printers met in Chicago to adopt uniform methods that would end the price war.

Mrs. Georgie Ferguson, associate pastor of the People's church in Washington, says her sex would obtain the ballot if they adopted the method suggested by Samuel Adams in revolutionary days—elect state committees, study conditions and adopt state platforms.

Marines from the cruiser Idzuma were landed in San Francisco to aid in fighting a fire. The visitors thought the city was threatened. They were not needed.

Because he ran down and killed a woman with his automobile, T. C. Goetz of Stamford, Conn., was convicted of involuntary manslaughter and sentenced to jail for one year.

Wilfrid Thibeault and Prof. Frank Hill were charged in the Fall River (Mass.) police court with the murder of Amelia St. Jean, whose mutilated body was found at Tiverton, R. I. They pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued.

A receiver was appointed for Solomon Brothers, dealers in oriental goods at New York, with branches at Pittsburg, Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis.

In an interview at Buffalo, Explorer Cook reiterated that he would bring the Eskimos who accompanied him to the north pole to this country in order to disprove alleged distorted declarations in Commander Peary's statement.

Pittsburg won the fifth world's championship baseball game from Detroit by a score of 8 to 4. The Pirates now lead the Tigers in the series by one game.

The second national convention of the Congregational Brotherhood of America is in session at Minneapolis with a very large number of representatives present from all parts of the country.

The constitutionality of the Illinois two-cent rate law is attacked in an action brought in the federal court at Springfield by the Chicago, Peoria & St. Paul Railroad Company.

Milwaukee for ten days will be the Mecca of the dairy farmers and persons engaged in allied interests as the National Dairy show there is now on.

A famous portrait by Velasquez, purchased by a wealthy American abroad, will soon arrive in this country, according to H. R. Duneen, an art dealer, who has returned to New York from Europe. He says it is likely to become the most noted picture in America. The name of the owner is not revealed.

The general understanding in Washington is that the court of appeals will render its decision in the contempt case against Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor within a week.

The Norwegian Sterk, a small freighter, foundered off the coast of Norway. The crew of 12 was lost.

It has developed that the shortage in the Mineral Point (Wis.) First National bank failure will reach nearly $400,000. It is said that Vice-President Allen has lost heavily in mining investments.

Charles R. Crane of Chicago, minister designated to China, was practically deposed by a demand from Secretary Knox for his resignation. The latter charges Mr. Crane with indiscretion. The latter had already tendered his resignation to President Taft.

Pittsburg defeated Detroit in the third game of the world's championship series by a score of 8 to 6.

Detroit defeated Pittsburg 5 to 0 in the fourth game of the world's championship series.

Five hundred homes were destroyed, more than 100 ships wrecked and many churches and cigar factories demolished at and around Key West by the recent hurricane. The loss of life appears to be very small.

Judge Anderson at Indianapolis dismissed the proceedings against the proprietors of the Indianapolis News who were resisting removal to Washington for trial on charge of criminal libel in connection with the sale of the Panama canal to the United States.

President Taft has left California and is now on his way east and south.

WILL MAKE OHIO RIVER NAVIGABLE TO THE GULF

Ohio Valley Improvement Association in Convention Considers Plans for a Nine-Foot Stage in Ohio River.

Cincinnati, O.—The fifteenth annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association held here this week has aroused renewed interest in deepening the Ohio river and making the river navigable from Pittsburg to its mouth.

The members of the association and delegates to the convention to the number of nearly 1,000 from Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana, Pennsylvania and points along the Ohio river were welcomed on Thursday by Governor Harmon to Ohio, and by Mayor Galvin to Cincinnati. Other speakers on Thursday and Friday were, President Chas. E Roth, of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce; President C. H. M. Atkins, of the Business Men's Club, and Colonel Wm. B. Melish, President of the Cincinnati Convention League. Governor Harmon also talked on Ohio river improvements, of which he has been a student for many years, and on both the legal and physical aspects, of which he is an authority. Hon. D. J. Ryan talked on the principal topic of the convention, that of the adoption by the government of a bond issue and continuing contract policy.

Congressman John K. Tenor., member of the River and Harbors Committee, and Congressman James Francis Burke, of Pennsylvania; Congressman Harry Woodyard, member of the River and Harbors Committee, and Congressman James A. Hughes, of West Virginia; Congressman Swager Sherley and Congressman J. L. Rhinock, of Kentucky; Congressmen Kiefer, Cox, Anderson, Goebel, Longworth, Johnson and Douglas, of Ohio, and other congressmen and prominent manufacturers, jobbers and bankers of the Ohio Valley, took part in the discussion.

After listening to seven speeches, the reports of the various committees and selecting Pittsburg as the place for the meeting in 1910, the delegates attending the 15th annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association adjourned.

At the last session of the convention four members of congress—Ollie James of Kentucky, Nicholas Longworth of this city, Albert Douglas of Chillicothe, O., and William P. Hubbard of West Virginia—delivered addresses in which they pledged their efforts to securing a nine-foot stage for the Ohio river by working for an appropriation by congress to construct dams at intervals along the stream. Other addresses were made by Harry R. Probasco of Cincinnati, Alexander Dempster, of Pittsburg, and Albert Bettinger, of Cincinnati.

The delegates who attended the convention was the largest in point of numbers and the most successful which has ever been held.

Memorial is Offered.

Col. Thomas O'Brien of Wheeling, W. Va., offered a memorial because of the death within the year of D. B. Dovener, an ex-member of congress from the state and a member of the association.

The report of the committee on nominations was made by the chairman, Col. James F. Buckner, jr., of Louisville, Ky. Col. John L. Vance of Columbus, O., founder of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, was re-elected president of the organization for the fifteenth consecutive time. Capt. J. F. Ellison of this city was re-elected secretary of the organization for the seventh consecutive time. Other officers of the association are:

Executive Finance Committee—Edwin C. Gibbs, chairman; Albert Bettinger, J. F. Ellison, George Puchta, George F. Dieterle, O. F. Barrett, Charles W. Durrell, Paris C. Brown, John L. Vance and John H. Allen.

Vice Presidents—William B. Rodgers, Thomas M. Rees and John H. Jones, Pittsburg; Geore W. Theis, Hullihen Quarrier and D. E. Stalnaker, Wheeling; D. A. Mossman, Huntington; B. S. Pope, Parkersburg; Albert Bettinger, Cincinnati; H. A. Marting, Ironton; D. J. Sinclair, Steuhenville; J. E. Williams, Portsmouth; Pinkney Varbie and F. C. Nunemacher, Louisville; W. A. Patton, Catlettsburg; S. A. Fowler, Paducah; C. M. Phister, Mayasville; F. B. Posey and I. H. Odell, Evansville; M. C. Garber, Madison; John C. Zulauf, Jeffersonville; George Parsons and E. A. Smith, Cairo; A. Quante, Metropolis; O. L. Bartlett, Mound City.

Advocates Bond Issue.

Congressman Douglas closed his address by advocating a bond issue by the government for the purpose of raising money to carry forward the work of canalizing the Ohio river according to the plan submitted by the government engineers in their report.

Congressman William P. Hubbard of West Virginia, in his address before the convention, told of the work which is now being carried on in the construction of the dam in the river at Wheeling and made an argument for the complete canalization of the stream.

Congressman Ollie James made an impassioned address along the same lines of the other members of congress who addressed the convention.

Resolutions Adopted.

One of the most important matters which came up before the convention during the closing hours was the report of the committee on resolutions, of which Mr. Bettinger was chairman. The report in full follows:

"That in pursuance to an act of congress a special board of engineers was appointed to examine and report upon the practicability and advisability of improving the Ohio river by the construction of locks and dams, and other things reported the location and number of locks and dams that will be required, in addition to those already described in previous surveys, in order to provide a minimum depth of nine feet from Pittsburg to Cairo, with an estimate of the cost of the same, and recommended that the improvement should be made.

"2. That said report was reviewed and approved by the general board of engineers for rivers and harbors, who, in their report, stated that the Ohio river is, in their opinion, the one river of all others most likely to justify such improvement.

"3. That both of said engineers' reports were likewise approved by the chief of engineers, who, in his conclusion, stated that by no other plan than the one proposed could the desired improvement be accomplished.

"4. That the work of improving the Ohio river by means of locks and dams was begun in 1875 by the construction of Davis' island dam, and that about one-fifth of the entire improvement has been completed.

"5. That at the rate of progress made in the past it will require 136 years to complete the entire improvement and such delay is due to the failure of congress to provide sufficient funds.

"6. That according to the reports of the engineers the entire improvement could be completed in ten years if the funds therefor were provided.

"7. That the Mississippi river already affords an available depth of nine feet from Cairo to New Orleans, and all the tributaries leading into the Ohio have been likewise improved or their improvement is nearly finished, and that there is lacking only the completion of the Ohio river improvement to bring the entire Ohio valley into easy and dependable water communication with the Mississippi river and the Gulf of Mexico, therfore be it

"Resolved, That in the name of the people of the Ohio valley, this association solemnly protests that the dilatory policy at present employed in the prosecution of the Ohio river improvement is wasteful, unbusiness-like and is at the same time an unjust denial to the present and following generations of the benefits which will surely follow the completion of the improvement.

"That in the interest of all the people we reiterate our appeal, urge and insist that congress make immediate provision, by bond issue, for the completion of the work within ten years.

"That there rests a special and imperative duty on congressmen and senators of the Ohio valley, and especially those representing districts bordering on the Ohio river and its tributaries, calling for the most earnest, faithful and persistent efforts of which they, singly and collectively, are capable, to bring about such legislation as will insure the completion of the Ohio river improvement within ten years.

"And we further urge that, owing to the great amount of work completed in this project, it is the opinion of the association that the corps of engineers of the United States army should be materially increased, utilizing in the permanent organization as far as possible the present United States assistant civil engineers."

Ninety years ago began the movement to improve the Ohio river. Away back in 1819 an examination of the bed of the river was made by a Board of Commissioners, whose report said that its investigations "justified the hope that the navigation of this fine river is susceptible of great improvement." Sixteen years later, in 1835, Lieutenant Dutton, of the Engineer Corps, United States Army, after investigation, submitted a report, in which he said:

"A system of improvement, having for its object a specific depth of water at all seasons sufficient to meet the demands of the trade upon those streams which are rendered impassable during the dry season from the diminution of supplies from their tributaries can be effected with certainty only by a series of dams and locks."

Organized in 1895.

The Ohio Valley Improvement Association was organized in 1895 by the Freight Bureau of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, the officers and members of which, after thoroughly investigating freight rates to the South, Southeast and Southwest came to a realization of the fact that until Cincinnati had a dependable competing water route, which could only be obtained by improving the Ohio river, the city could never gain and hold the trade of those sections naturally and geographically contributory to Cincinnati. The association thus formed by the progressive and farsighted business men of Cincinnati had a small beginning, but its growth has been both rapid and steady until at present it admittedly stands in the very front ranks of all waterway associations in the country.

Complete Survey Has Resulted.

The only improvement up to this time had been in the construction of Lock and Dam No. 1, at Davis Island, five miles below Pittsburg, which when built had no other object than the providing of a harbor for that city. The work of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association has resulted in a complete survey of the whole Ohio river, and the authorizing by Congress of the construction of 15 additional locks and dams, for which final or partial appropriations have been made.

The first six dams and locks have been completed and provide a nine-foot stage from Pittsburg to Beaver, a distance of 28 miles. As an evidence of the efficiency of this improvement there was maintained even during the unusually severe drought of 1908 a minimum stage of nine feet through the pools forced by these dams, although during August there were over 5,000 lockages of craft through them.

The lock and dam at Cutlom's ripple below Cincinnati will make a pool of approximately 25 miles in length and Cincinnati is now having the last low water in its harbor as before the [illegible] year the [illegible]

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.

Phone, M. 2393.

The Applegate-Piper Co.

MERCHANT TAILORS.

Room 610, Traction Building.

Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,

BURLINGTON, KY.

The Oldest Bank in Boone County,

PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,

With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR

THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.

17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.

This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR

Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,

Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY

AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.

CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.

New Buggies, Runabouts

and Harness for Sale or Trade.

Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.
When in Burlington call and See me.

B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.

Lexington Pike, - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with J. C. [illegible] Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP TO

C. C. SEAL & CO.

Union Stock Yards,

CINCINNATI. ♦ OHIO

And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in all [illegible] orders. Write us [illegible]

Rogers Bros.

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade

Interesting Kentucky News

Title of Common School Property Is Vested in County Board of Education Is Important Ruling of Commissioner Clay.

Frankfort, Ky.—The title of the common school property in each county in the state, excepting that not embraced in Act 4428a of the Kentucky Statutes, is vested in the county board of education and not the county school superintendent. This very important opinion was rendered for the appellate court by Commissioner Clay in reversing the cases of the county board of education of Mercer county against W. I. Allin and the county board of education of Mercer county against the commonwealth. The question involved in this case was the method of procedure that was adopted by the court in the distribution of money that had been made to County Attorney Allin. County Superintendent Ora L. Adams, of Mercer county, instituted proceedings against C. Heath & Co. in 1907 and collected $10,000, which was paid over to Allin. The interest and principal made the total amount alleged to have been paid to Allin $12,133. He afterward asked the court for a rule to distribute $5,000 which he is alleged to have claimed was all that was left in his hands, and the county school superintendent insisted on the right of distribution, while the county board of education claimed the right to distribute it. In deciding the method of procedure the court was compelled to decide in whom the property was vested, and the rule made is that it is vested in the county board of education.

OF INTEREST TO TAX OFFICERS

In Every County in Kentucky Is Decision by Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky.—A decision of interest to the tax-collecting officers in every county in Kentucky was announced by the court of appeals in reversing judgment of the Franklin circuit or state fiscal court in the case of Frank J. James, state auditor, against Blanton and others. The suit grew out of an effort by State Revenue Agent Jas. A. Violett to collect from a number of property holders of the state capital taxes for the years 1892, 1893 and 1894. The court holds that the commonwealth, by a tax sale, when the state is the purchaser, acquires a fee simple title to the land or property and not a mere lien on it when it is not redeemed within two years after the sale, and that an action to recover may be brought within 15 years after the title is vested in the state. The court further holds that the fee simple title vested in the state in this manner is subject to be divested on the payment of the taxes by the delinquent, and if the taxes are paid the title reverts to the owner; for it is only where the land has been sold by a revenue agent that the auditor may convey it by deed. The officials of the attorney general's department anticipate that this decision will be a great revenue producer for the state, and it is probable that the state auditing department will place certified copies of the opinion in the hands of all taxing officers.

DECLINED REQUEST OF WOMEN

That Their Sex Be Represented on Board of Education.

Lexington, Ky.—The democratic mass convention held here for the purpose of making nominations for seats in the boards of aldermen, councilmen and education was presided over by former Congressman W. P. Kimball. J. C. Lykins, former county judge of Wolfe county, was secretary. The nominations were: Aldermen—Patrick Mooney, I. J. Miller, W. K. Bayless and John Scott. Councilmen—Charles Dodd, L. F. Huffman, J. T. McCarty, W. S. Hunt, J. E. McFarland and J. F. Overstreet. Board of Education—Robert Kennedy, G. Allison Holland, R. P. Shryock, A. W. Skinner, J. E. Neely and Clinton M. Harbison. The convention declined to adopt the suggestion of the Woman's club that certain women be selected as candidates for election to places on the board of education.

Louisville, Ky.—Frank M. Fisher, postmaster of Paducah and president of the Kentucky Postmasters' association, called the convention to order here. Paul Burlingame, secretary to the mayor, delivered a welcome address.

Lonisville, Ky.—Fred G. Miller, former cashier of the Third National bank, whose arrest for making false entries created a sensation here, pleaded guilty to two in six counts in the federal court. Miller is a member of a prominent family.

Newport, Ky.—Council passed the ordinance providing for a sale of a 20-year franchise for supplying the city with natural gas. The measure has already been passed by the board of aldermen and will be favorably acted upon Mayor Krieger at once.

Augusta, Ky.—Fire at Brooksville destroyed two frame residences belonging to Postmaster H. C. Metcalfe, causing a loss of $5,000. The fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin.

Politicians Become Newspaper Men—Several of Kentucky's Distinguished Democrats Will Become Editors and Publishers.

Frankfort, Ky.—Several of Kentucky's distinguished Democrats have recently turned newspaper men. There are rumors that several other men prominent in public life in Kentucky are to become editors and publishers of newspapers.

Former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham blazed the way when he became editor of the Frankfort State Journal. State Senator Thomas A. Combs was until recently interested in a Lexington newspaper. He may still have an interest in the publication, although W. P. Walton owns the largest part.

Col. Walton recently took hold of the Lexington newspaper. Judge S. W. Hager, the recent Democratic nominee for governor, is now the editor, owner and publisher of the Owensboro Inquirer.

Frank Fisher, the postmaster of Paducah, is now one of the most successful newspaper men in Kentucky.

Henry B. Hines, formerly Democratic auditor of Kentucky, is now editor and owner of a paper at Bowling Green, and Edward O. Leigh, formerly private secretary to Gov. Beckham, is Hines' editorial writer and chief lieutenant.

EMPLOYES LIABLE TO SERVANTS

For Injuries If They Do Not Provide Safe Places For Work.

Frankfort Ky.—Employes in every vocation in life in Kentucky must be provided with reasonably safe places to work by their employes, or else the employers are liable to the servants for any injuries they may receive.

This construction of the Kentucky statutes was made by the Kentucky court of appeals in affirming the judgment of the Pulaski circuit court in the case of the Mason, Hanger & Coleman Co. against Sherwood Kennison, the latter having received damages amounting to $900 for personal injuries.

Kennison was engaged as a laborer removing the debris from a tunnel on the Cincinnati Southern railroad after a blast, and a rock loosened by the blast fell on him, mashing his foot. He claimed that he was placed in this dangerous place by the superior authority of his employers' agent.

FROM CALIFORNIA

Begley Will Be Returned To Kentucky on Murder Charge.

Frankfort, Ky.—Meb Begley, who lives in Monterey, Cal., but was formerly a resident of Leslie county, will be brought back to this state to answer the charge of killing John Sizemore. Allen Lantz, sheriff of Leslie county, left her with the requisition issued on the governor of California for the return of Begley, whose whereabouts were discovered through letters written to friends in this state. Through an unintentional mistake in a dispatch sent from this city it was stated that the requisition had been issued for the return of Lantz, and charged him with the killing. The mistake was caused by the misuse of the name, as it was intended to state the fact that Sheriff Lantz had gone to California to bring Begley back to Kentucky.

U. S. SENATOR LINDSAY DEAD.

Sank Into the Dark Valley With Wife and Children Around His Bedside.

Frankfort, Ky.—Former United States Senator Wm. Lindsay, is dead, at the age of 75, at his home in this city. He was recognized as one of Kentucky's greatest statesmen and jurists.

There were gathered at his bedside of this great statesman his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Holmes Lindsay, his only daughter, Mrs. Marion Suier, of Cincinnati; his brothers, Charles Lindsay and Bruce Lindsay, the former of Virginia, the latter of Clinton, Ky.

Senator Lindsay was afflicted with prostatis and cystitis, with which he had been suffering for two years.

Frankfort, Ky.—Mrs. Florence Maybrick, who is visiting the prisons of the country to prosecute her life work of prison reforms, inspected the Frankfort penitentiary and stated there is still much room for improvement there.

Louisville, Ky.—Dr. W. J. Mayo, the distinguished surgeon of Rochester, Minn., will address the annual convention of the Kentucky Medical association, beginning Oct. 19 and lasting three days. An address will also be made by Dr. Ochsner, of Chicago.

Louisville, Ky.—William Hopkins, 80, a former prominent business man of Louisville and the oldest tanner south of the Ohio river, died at his home here. He was a native of Kent county, England, but came to America when a child.

Newport, Ky.—City Jailer Chris Ebert and Jail Guard Charles Wilson frustrated the second attempt at jail delivery by Harvey Donnelly, the Fort Thomas soldier, held for murdering his common-law wife.

Writ Is Refused, Seeking to Prevent Mayor Grinstead Entering Mayoralty Contest—Plans for Big Democratic Rally.

Louisville, Ky.—In a lengthy opinion Judge Matt O'Doherty overruled the petition of George D. Todd, asking that Mayor Grinstead be enjoined from being a candidate for office, and ordered the suit thrown out of court. By this action the entire case is settled, it is said. Judge O'Doherty held that the court could not enjoin the county clerk from placing any candidate's name on the ticket who has qualified properly as a candidate. He recited that any question of eligibility of any candidate had no bearing on the case, and further declared that the court would compel the county clerk to place Mayor Grinstead's name on the ticket, as that is his duty prescribed by law. In regard to Mayor Grinstead's eligibility, Judge O'Doherty declared that he had no right to pass upon the point, as it was not an issue in the case. He held that there was no basis for the suit, and dismissed the case.

Plans for the biggest democratic rally of the campaign, to be held Saturday night, October 30, are being made by democratic campaign managers.

RACING AT LATONIA.

Fall Meeting of Latonia Jockey Club Promises to Eclipse Former Sessions.

Latonia, Ky.—The fall meeting of the Latonia Jockey club, which began October 11, to continue for a period of 24 days, promises to eclipse former sessions, judging by the advance interest displayed and the many strangers here for the meeting from various sections of the country. With an abundance of good horses to draw from the sport should be highly interesting and draw a big patronage. Last fall considerable unfounded report was circulated that troops would be sent to the track if necessary to stop the racing, because of the Latonia Jockey club's failure to comply with the Kentucky racing commission's edict that the track should not operate any other form than the mutuel and auction-pool system of betting. These reports kept many horsemen from shipping here, likewise did it keep away many bookmakers. Conditions are different at present, and every assurance is held out that the meeting will be run off as advertised, and probably then some. For should good weather prevail there is every reason to suppose that the big lapse of time intervening between the announced closing date of Latonia and the opening of Florida and Juarez will be utilized for an extension of the racing period here.

EDITOR KILLS CONTRACTOR

And Claims to Have Acted in Self-Defense.

Harrodsburg, Ky.—John P. Pulliam, editor of the Harrodsburg Herald, shot and mortally wounded J. Wesley Robards, a local contractor. The shooting occurred in the Herald office. Robards shot first, firing twice at the editor. Pulliam shot only once, the ball from his pistol taking effect in Robards' head above the ear and penetrating the brain. Pulliam was shot in the left shoulder. He is not seriously injured. Pulliam makes his home at the house of Robards' sister-in-law, and this circumstance led to the shooting. He denies the charge made in Robards' reason for attacking him, and says he was forced to fire in self-defense. He says he thinks that Robards was insane, and this view is shared by members of Robards' family, it is said, inasmuch as he has suffered for years from a wound in the head, received in the confederate service.

Louisville, Ky.—W. H. Oversby, of Henderson, was elected president of the Kentucky Postmasters' association; George L. Barnes, of Frankfort, secretary; Thomas L. Walker, of Lexington, and W. C. Balee, of Guthrie, vice presidents; George W. Hutchinson, of Lawrenceburg, treasurer.

Nicholasville, Ky.—Mrs. Cale M. Mathews, who died at Lexington, was a most gifted woman of many lovely traits of character. She was a sister of Mayor Luther Willis, of Shelbyville, Ky. Her husband is a prominent merchant.

Lexington, Ky.—Stockholders of the Burnside National bank, which failed three weeks ago, held a meeting and discussed the reopening of the bank. The Creelsboro bank, which failed soon after the Burnside bank, has already resumed.

Louisville, Ky.—The bulls made a raid in the soda water market, and as a result announcement was made that hereafter soda water sundaes and all warm drinks will retail for 10 cents at all fountains. No cause is stated for the sudden jump in prices.

Mt. Sterling, Ky.—Ben W. Hall, local postmaster, has been nominated by the republicans for county judge of Montgomery county, and has accepted

Keeping of the Treasury

Story of God's Miraculous Interposition

BY THE "HIGHWAY AND BYWAY" PREACHER

(Copyright, 1908, by the Author, W. S. Edson.)

Based on the Apocryphal book of 2 Maccabees, Chapter 3.

SERMONETTE.

"They then called upon the Almighty Lord to keep the things committed of trust safe and sure for those that had committed them."

"Having done all, stand," was Paul's admonition.

No one has a right to call upon God for help who has not exhausted every resource at his command for the accomplishment of the task before him.

It is a matter of works plus faith.

Faith which is not undergirded with earnest, faithful work is of none avail, and works with no element of faith working like a leaven through and through falls short of its greatest possibilities.

In this story from the second book of the Macabees we find that the people of Jerusalem exhausted every resource and every argument to dissuade the messenger from the distant king from levying on the rich treasure which was held in the temple at Jerusalem by the high priest as a trust fund for others.

And when man had reached the limit of his resources, and faith reached up and laid hold of the power of God, then it was that the almighty arm of the omnipotent God was stretched forth to deliver.

This appearance of a celestial horseman and warriors to give battle to those who would do violence to the sacred temple and its treasure reminds us of the vision which came to the servant of Elisha when the prophet prayed that his eyes be opened that he might see the mighty forces of God which wert encamped between them and the hosts of the enemy.

"And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw: and behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha."

The Psalmist says, "The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them."

And again in the sixty-eighth Psalm he declares that the "chariots of God are twenty thousand, even thousands of angels: the Lord is among them, as in Sinai, in the holy place."

Revelation gives us many glimpses of the innumerable host of heaven, God's mighty army.

"And the number of the army of the horsemen were two hundred thousand thousand: and I heard the number of them. And thus I saw the horses in the vision, and them that sat on them, having breastplates of fire and of jacinth, and brimstone: and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lions; and out of their mouths issued fire and smoke and brimstone."

Surely God's power is not limited.

THE STORY.

IT WAS in the days of the Maccabees when peace had returned to Jerusalem and glory to the temple.

Onias was the high priest, and his hatred of all wickedness and his loyalty to all the law of Moses had wrought a mighty revolution in the lives of the inhabitants of the city. Righteousness exalteth a nation, and as a result of the reforms which Onias had brought about blessing came to Jerusalem and the temple service. Far and wide the influence of the holy city was felt, so that even the kings themselves did honor the place, and magnify the temple with their best gifts.

Among such was Seleucus, king of Asia, who of his own revenues, bare all the costs belonging to the service of the sacrifices.

Some time before this, one Simon, of the tribe of Benjamin, had been made governor of the temple, and he seemingly entered enthusiastically into the work of perfecting the service of the temple and bringing about the reforms in the city. But underneath the outward conformity to the plans of Onias was a secret sympathy towards those who desired to work evil. And when finally it came to the notice of Onias that he was dealing in subtlety, and had not carried out with vigor and honesty of purpose certain edicts against those who sought gain by wrong doing, the high priest called his conduct into question, and severely reprimanded him, and made it known throughout the city that no longer could such matters continue.

At first Simon in the wickedness of his heart sought to work evil in the minds of the people against Onias, but finding that he was unable to overcome the powerful influence which he held over the majority of the inhabitants of the city, he fled the city, breathing out threatenings as he went.

"The glittering treasure of the temple will prove a pleasing story for others to hear," he exclaimed, as he made his way into the province of Phenice. There he found an eager, willing listener in the person of the governor of the palace, even Apollonius, the son of Thraseas.

"The treasury in Jerusalem is full of infinite sums of money," declared Simon. "Yea, the multitude of their riches is far beyond that which the king now possesses and it is possible to obtain it all, for the city of Jerusalem is unable to withstand such forces as the king may choose to send against it."

Now when Apollonius had brought these things to the attention of the king, and how it was possible for him to bring these riches into his own realm, the latter chose out Heliodorus, his treasurer, and sent him with a strong force to Jerusalem. But that he might take the city by surprise he made as though he would make a journey to certain other cities, and having come to Jerusalem en route was received courteously by Onias the high priest of the city, who suspected nothing.

"Nay," I cannot deny that such money is in the treasury," Onias admitted when questioned by Heliodorus, "but it is a trust fund laid up for the relief of widows and fatherless children. And some of it belongs to Hircanus, son of Tobias, a great man of the city. It is altogether impossible that such a wrong should be done that we should give it to your king. Think you that money which has been committed to the holy sanctity of the temple of God can be thus laid under tribute? Never."

"What holiness hath the temple, or what claim has it upon this treasure which is greater than the claim of our king," proudly spoke Heliodorus. "I have come for the treasure. Deliver it into my hands."

"I cannot," declared Onias.

"Thou canst and thou must. To-morrow at this time I shall enter the temple prepared to receive from thy hand this money," and having thus said Heliodorus departed.

Now when it was noised abroad throughout the city that the treasure of the temple was in peril, it caused no small agony. The priests prostrating themselves before the altar in the priests, vestments, called unto heaven that the Lord should help to be safely kept that which had been committed to his temple. And while the priests prayed the people of the city flocked forth from their houses and joined in the supplication. And the women, girt with sackcloth under their breasts, filled the streets. And the virgins that were kept in, ran, some to the gates, and some to the walls, and others looked out of the windows. And all with hands raised towards heaven made supplication for deliverance from the enemy whom Simon, the traitor, had sent into the city.

But notwithstanding all this heartrending scene, at the appointed time Heliodorus advanced upon the temple to execute his decree.

Now as he presented himself with his guard about the temple a wonderful thing happened, for the Lord of spirits, and the Prince of all power caused a great apparition, so that all that presumed to come in to the temple with Heliodorus were astonished at the power of God and fainted and were sore afraid. For there appeared unto them a horse with a terrible rider upon him, and adorned with a very fair covering, and he ran fiercely and smote Heliodorus with his forefeet, and it seemed that he that sat upon the horse had complete harness of gold. Moreover, two other young men appeared before him, notable in strength, excellent in beauty, and comely in apparel, who stood by him on either side and scourged him continually, and gave him many sore stripes, so that Heliodorus fell suddenly to the ground, and was compassed with a very great darkness. And those that were with him took him up and laid him on a litter and carried him forth.

Then did a great shout of praise arise from the lips of the inhabitants of the city, and the temple which a few moments before had been filled with fear and trouble was now resounding with the glad cries of the people.

Then a hush fell as the word was passed around that Heliodorus was dying. Then certain of his friends sought out the high priest, Onias, and besought him that he would offer a sacrifice for the recovery of the stricken man. And Onias, moved with compassion, did so, and while he was making atonement for the sacrilege which Heliodorus had sought to commit against God's holy temple, the same two young men, in the same clothing, which had smitten Heliodorus in the temple appeared before him and said:

"Give Onias the high priest great thanks, insomuch as for his sake the Lord hath granted thee life. And seeing that thou hast been scourged from heaven, declare unto all men the mighty power of God."

And when they had thus spoken they vanished.

So Heliodorus, after he had offered sacrifice unto the Lord, returned to his king, testifying to the mighty power of God.

I have learned by experience that no man's character can be eventually injured but by his own conduct.—Rowland Hill.

It is seldom we come to a crisis in life without being buoyed up by a strange exultation.—C. A. Dawson Scott.

The greatest evils are from within us, and from ourselves also we must look for our greatest good.—Jeremy Taylor.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

S. G. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 3029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in..... $50,000
Surplus,.. ..... $8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
At Erlanger every Thursday.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. Vest, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE at HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
WITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, Ky.
F. A. Uts, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., Ludlow, Ky.
R. F. D.—1,
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, Ky.
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging.
Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
(Ex POPE Agent, - - Aurora, Ind.)

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me
Write for printed list

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

James Huffman, of Big Bone, was a visitor here Friday.

Dr. C. C. Metcalfe spent Thursday in Cincinnati on business.

Wm. B. Grubbs, of Glencoe, spent Friday here with friends.

Jos. McCormick, of Verona, spent Friday here with friends.

Mrs. J. T. Crowe spent last Friday in Covington with relatives.

Mrs. Mary Adams, of Latonia, is here the guest of her many friends.

Hon. J. G. Tomlin spent last Wednesday at Williamstown on business.

Mrs. Ruth Hind, who has been sick is able to be out among friends.

Mrs. H. C. Redman has been sick the past week, but is now about well.

John L. Vest spent part of this week at Independence attending circuit court.

The infant child of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Metcalfe has been quite ill the past week.

Mrs. H. C. Diers spent last Wednesday in Cincinnati with relatives and friends.

R. Lee Huey, Chas. Mason and J. W. Cunningham, all of Landing, spent Friday here.

W. H. Davis, of the Cincinnati Omnibus Co., spent Tuesday here, guest of S. C. Hicks.

W. T. Moore, a prosperous farmer of Beaver neighborhood, has gone to Texas on a prospecting tour.

R. O. Hughes spent several days of the past week in Tennessee, near Murfreesboro, buying stock hogs.

Deputy Sheriff W. D. Cropper, of Burlington, was here, last Wednesday, collecting state and county taxes.

James H. Sleet, one of Hume's clever citizens was a welcome visitor to his many friends here yesterday.

Miss Melia Myrtle Miller, of Big Bone, spent last Friday here with her parents, Wood R. Miller and wife.

Mrs. Gertrude Carroll, of Big Bone, and Mrs. John C. Miller and daughter, Miss Lntie, spent Friday in Cincinnati.

Rev. J. W. Rogers spent part of last week at his old home at Napoleon, Gallatin county, where he has many warm friends.

Miss Emma Kipp, bookkeeper for the Geo. W. Maines Saw Mill Co., who has been quite ill, is at her post of duty again.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Dudley, of Key West, were here yesterday, guests of friends. They were enroute to Cincinnati on a visit.

Mrs. A. J. Littrell is seriously ill with blood poisoning at her home near town, the result of an abrasion on one of her hands.

Wm. Fulliove, a clever and popular farmer, of Beaver Lick, was in Walton, a few days since, en route to Cincinnati on business.

Eugene L. Rudd, of Latonia, was here, Thursday, purchasing some building material with which to build a new college at Latonia.

Dr. J. G. Slater spent part of the week in Louisville attending a meeting of the medical fraternity and the session of the Masonic Grand Lodge.

Rev. J. W. Rogers, A. Kirtley Johnson and C. C. Metcalfe, will represent Walton at the Masonic Grand Lodge in session in Louisville, this week.

Lost or Strayed—Young dog, pointer, white, marked with three liver spots. Answers to the name of "Spot" Return to Jas. B. Allen, Walton, and receive reward.

W. H. Young and son B. S. Young, of Kenton county, were here Friday on business. The son recently returned from an enlistment in the U. S. Navy, having served as a seaman on the Connecticut.

John C. Miller, Jno. L. Vest, Chas. L. Griffith and Thos. L. Johnson, spent last Thursday at Burlington, attending court in the trial of the Verona and Walton Turnpike Company against James Hind.

C. M. Powers, of Key West, was a visitor here last Thursday. He is a partner with Fred C. Johns in the coal business, and the latter left Tuesday for Texas on a prospecting trip and speaks of moving there.

Dr. Albert Chambers, of Texarkana, Arkansas, arrived here last week on a visit to his brother, C. S. Chambers, and also to attend the bedside of his father A. S. Chambers, who died at his home at Petersburg.

Dr. R. E. Ryle, of Big Bone Springs, was here Monday en route to Louisville to attend the Masonic Grand Lodge as the representative from Big Bone Springs, and also to attend the convention of the medical fraternity.

Births—Mr. and Mrs. Fleming Glass of near Kensington, were presented with a fine son last Saturday, and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Walton of near Walton, were presented with a fine boy Monday. Dr. J. G. Slater attending physician.

Simon Billiter and a party of ladies and friends of Williamstown, were here, Friday, in his automobile. Mr. Billiter was getting the support of several parties for Hon. R. H. Elliston to be a member of the State Board of Control of the Burley Society.

Legrand Gaines, of near Burlington, was a visitor here last Saturday, the guest of his son, W. Lee Gaines and family. He had just returned from a very pleasant visit to his brother, Logan Gaines and family, in Carroll county, and enjoyed the visit very much.

C. Presley Adams, who is now the cashier at the Gibson House, Cincinnati, was a visitor to home folks last week, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Julia Adams Rouse. He is delighted with his position and his employers are very much pleased with him as he is a bright and clever young gentleman.

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Morris, of Cumberland, Indiana, spent part of the past week here with relatives and friends. Rev. Morris formerly resided here and was the pastor of the Baptist church. He is now the cashier of the Cumberland Bank, and also has charge of the Baptist church there, giving a part of his time to each.

Married—James Fields, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Dora L. Allen, of Walton, were united in the bonds of holy wedlock, Thursday, Oct. 14th, at high noon, at Newport. The young couple will make their home in Cincinnati. The best wishes of many friends are extended the newly married couple for a happy and prosperous future.

Henry C. Diers spent the week at Troy, Ohio, arranging for the packing of the nursery stock he has sold this season and which he expects to deliver within the next month. Mr. Diers has a very large delivery this year, having sold more nursery stock this year than for any year for a long time.

Rev. D. T. Buck left, Tuesday for Johnson City, Tennessee, to attend a meeting of the stockholders of the Buck-Snodgrass Lumber Co., and will then go to his old home at Abingdon, Virginia, to visit relatives and friends and the scenes of his childhood, where he retains the affectionate regard of a large circle of friends.

Rev. H. C. Wayman, who is attending the Baptist Theological College at Georgetown, filled his regular appointment at the Walton Baptist church, Sunday, preaching splendid sermons at both the morning and evening services. He makes an excellent pastor and his congregation is very much pleased with his efforts in upbuilding the church.

Paul Aylor, who spent the past six months near Kelso, North Dakota, assisting his brother, B. W. Aylor, on his farm, was here Thursday on the way to his home near Hathaway, to spend the winter. He likes Dakota, but says it is no such country as Boone county for the enjoyment of life generally, though the west affords better opportunities to make money.

Frank E. Curley, who recently returned to Tucson, Arizona, to resume his practice of law, has just won two very important cases, involving considerable values, pertaining to mining property in that locality. Mr. Curley is a son of 'Squire Thos. F. Curley, of Walton, and is very popular here, and his many friends rejoice in his success in his adopted home.

The ladies of the Walton Baptist church entertained in a most agreeable manner with a supper at the Walton opera house, and there was a large attendance. The proceeds added a handsome sum to the church fund, and it was profitable to all as everybody enjoyed a very pleasant evening, and the supper was above the average good suppers given by these excellent ladies.

Boyd H. Hudson, who has been spending the summer here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hudson, at their home near Walton, left last week for his home near Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, where he and his brother have a farm and are prospering. Mr. Hudson is a fine young gentleman and his visit here was a pleasure to everybody as well as himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mulbery, who have many friends at Walton where they frequently visit, have just returned to their home at Sadieville, Scott county, from a delightful visit to the Yukon-Alaska exposition at Seattle. Mr. and Mrs. Mulbery made a tour of most of the western states and enjoyed the pleasures of all the prominent places of interest, and were greatly invigorated by the journey.

At the meeting of the trustees of the Walton Graded School, held last Saturday night, Dr. C. C. Metcalfe was elected treasurer of the school board, vice W. C. Moxley. The selection is an admirable one as Dr. Metcalfe is a splendid gentleman with all of the best qualifications for the office, and he will, in every way, endeavor to discharge the duties of the office in a careful and satisfactory manner.

Program for Union League of Christian Endeavor, to be held with Walton Christian church, October 26th, 1909:

Leader—Taylor Grubbs.
Subject—What a Christian should be.
Song.
Prayer.
Song—George Grubbs.
Paper—Things a Christian should do—Wayne Byland.
Song—Choir.
Essay—Things that a real Cirlstian will not do—Lucile Hind.
Solo—Bessie Houston.
Talk—Rev. W. B. Cambell.

Judge T. J. Crowe had quite a session of court last Saturday to try a case of assault and battery involving Thos. Hoard, colored, and the teacher of the Walton colored school. Tom is the treasurer and trustee of the colored school, and does a great deal to help it along. The teacher took occasion to make some invidious remarks about Tom's management and a thoughtless person carried the news to Tom, and he went to see the teacher, resulting in some bitter words, and when the teacher attempted to draw a knife Hoard struck him. The jury assessed a fine of one cent and the costs against Hoard.

The residence of C. E. Lipscomb, between Walton and Verona, was destroyed by fire last Saturday morning, the fire resulting from a defective flue. The fire was discovered between 5 and 6 o'clock and it progressed so rapidly that Mr. Lipscomb barely had time to save his invalid father from the flames. Very little of the household goods was saved. The house was valued at $1,200 and was insured for $850, while the furniture, &c., was valued at $800 and was insured for $300, the policy being in the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Boone county. This loss falls very heavily on Mr. Lipscomb, who has the sympathy of all in his misfortune. His father and sister have been at the home of Larry Roberts, one of their neighbors since the fire. Mr. Lipscomb went to Covington yesterday to secure a house for them to spend the winter in there.

Pain

Nearly all woman suffer some pain at times, due to the ailments peculiar to their sex. If your trouble is yet in a mild form, take Cardui to prevent it becoming more serious. If you have suffered long years, get Cardui at once. Use persistently and it will help you.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. L. Eells, of New Hartford, Ia., was afflicted for 24 years. She writes: "For the past 24 years I have been afflicted with womb trouble, causing extreme nervousness, pain in right side and back — altogether making life a burden. I tried doctors and various other remedies without relief. Finally I began using Wine of Cardui. Now I am entirely cured. I cheerfully advise all women similarly afflicted to try Cardui." Sold everywhere.

E 44

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky

Maud McCright, Plaintiff,
vs.— Order of Reference.
Kate McWethy, Admr'x of the Estate of R. A. McWethy, &c., Defendants.

On motion of plaintiff this cause is now referred to the Master Commissioner, who will

1st. Settle the accounts of the Administratrix.

2nd. He will ascertain and report the amount of the debts of the decedent, secured and unsecured, the amount of each, and if secured, how.

3 1. The amount of personal property, also the real estate and the description of the latter.

4th. He will cite the defendant, Kate McWethy, to appear before him to be examined for the purpose of ascertaining if her inventory of the estate is a full and complete list of the personal estate of the decedent.

4th. He will make allowance to the Administratrix, for her services as such, and to the Attorney of the plaintiff for his services rendered in the bringing of this suit.

Qu any and all of these matters, he will take such evidence as may be offered, and he may also consider any other evidence, taken by deposition before other officers, authorized by law to take depositions. He will make report of his findings, to the court at its Dec. term 1909.

In accordance with the foregoing order, I will begin my sittings at the office of the Clerk of the Boone Circuit Court, on the 4th day of October, 1909, and continue the hearing until the 1st day of Nov. 1909.

Witness my hand, this Sep. 28, 1909.

J. A. DUNCAN, Master Com'r.

Watch Sale at Clark's.

I am going to dispose of all my watches and will offer them at prices that will make you

"TAKE NOTICE."

I think these prices will appeal to you as being the Lowest you ever heard of.

One 16-size Elgin mov. in 20-yr case, Hunting.....$12.25
One 18-size N. Y. Standard in 10-yr case O. F.....$ 6.25
One 12 size N. Y. Standard in 10-yr case O. F.....$ 4.25
One 6-size N. Y. Standard in 10-yr case o.f. Hunting $ 5.75
One 18-size Elgin "look" o.f Silverine case.....$ 5.25
One 18-size N. Y. Standard o. f. Silverine case.....$ 2.75
One 18-size Century o. f. Silverine case.....$ 2.75
One 16-size Century o. f. Silverine case.....$ 3.00

R. W. Clark, Burlington.

NOTICE, TAX-PAYERS.

The Taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the places and on the dates named below to collect 1909 taxes:

Beaver, July 12th and October 11th.
Verona, July 13th and October 12th.
Walton, July 14th and October 13th.
Bullittsville, July 15th and Oct. 21st.
Constance, July 16th and October 8th.
Union, July 19th and October 18th.
Big Bone, July 20th and October 19th.
Petersburg, July 22d and October 15th.
Bellevue, July 23d and October 14th.
Florence, July 26th and October 20th.
Rabbit Hash, July 27th and Oct. 7th.
Hebron, October 22d.
Gunpowder, October 25th.
Richwood, October 26th.
Rates—State, 50c; County, 25c; School, 15c on the $100.
Poll-Tax—County, $1.50; School, 50c; Dog Tax: $1.00.

All unpaid taxes become delinquent after November 30th. 6 per cent penalty, due county and state, added December 1st on all delinquent taxes; 6 per cent commission in addition to penalty is allowed Sheriff for collecting delinquent taxes. Cost of levying, 60c; advertising: $1.00. Delinquent Taxes bear 6 per cent interest from Nov. 30th until paid.

M. F. WINGATE,
Sheriff Boone County.

Make Your Plans to Attend a Great

Cloak-Opening

At Green's, Rising Sun, Indiana,

Tuesday, Oct. 26th.

In addition to the present stock of CLOAKS, SUITS, ETC., we will have the complete line of the John Shillito Cloak Factory. Mr. C. F. Jones, an expert Cloak man, will be with us on that day.

A Special Discount of 50c to $2.50 will be allowed on each CLOAK or SUIT sold on this date. SPECIAL BARGAINS in all departments. Remember the Date and Place, at GREEN'S, RISING SUN, IND.

Tuesday, October 26th, 1909.

New Arrival in Watches & Gold Jewelry on Sale at Special Low Prices.

Fifty-one years ago the foundation of this house was laid with Quality, Representations and good values to patrons as cornerstones. The present establishment coupled with the fact that it stands to-day as one of its largest institutions of its kind in the three cities speaks eloquently of the publics appreciation of this Store.

Ladies' watch special 14-kt filled, set with genuine cut diamond for $18.50. See them in our window.

MOTCH,
The Jeweler,
613 Madison Ave.
Covington, Ky.

Farm for Sale.

My 113 acre farm on the Ohio river adjoining the town of McVille, Boone county, Ky. On this farm are two good dwellings a good barn and other necessary outbuildings, and it will produce anything that will grow in this climate. If this farm is not sold by the first of Feby., 1910, I will rent it for one year for money rent, and give rentor privilege to purchase it at the end of the year, or will rent it for part of the crop, the rentor to give good reference as to him being a neat, industrious farmer. If sold terms will be easy. Possession given March 1, 1910. For further parties are call on or address

S. D. RICE, Grant, Ky.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices.

All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co
Rising Sun, Indiana.

Don't Forget and See Our
NEW LINE OF
Tablets, Pencils And School Supplies,

C. M. BALDON,
Burlington, Kentucky.

WE DON'T KNOW WHETHER
You Know It or Not

Our Customers help to bring the trade to us. They know they get satisfaction. They will tell you, no matter where you go, you'll never find better Clothing than those handled by us.

OUR LINE OF
Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing
CAN NOT BE SURPASSED.

We have a large assortment to select from and guarantee Fit, Style, Material and Workmanship. We have some nice

MEN'S SUITS at..... $5.00 and $7.50
Better Grades MEN'S SUITS.. $10.00 to $18.00

These include a great many high priced suits which we have reduced

BOYS' SUITS..... $4.00 to $10.00

We are giving especially great bargains in our Boys' Suits.

MEN'S PANTS...$1.00 to $5.00 CHILDREN'S SUITS...$1.25 to $5.00

Kindly visit our Store and you will be most favorably impressed with the bargains we are showing.

Rolfes & Wachs,
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

WHICH?

Which way do you skim your milk? It is hard sometimes to realize just how great the loss of cream is with crocks and pans. Some people may not believe that a

U. S.
CREAM SEPARATOR

skims enough closer than the old way to increase their butter yield one-fourth or more. But it does, and there's a plain reason for it. When you set milk the cream and skim milk are separated from one another by the force of gravity, but when you skim milk with a U. S. Separator centrifugal force, which is thousands of times stronger than gravity, does the separating. It squeezes out the last drop of cream. Cream is money—you can't afford to waste it. If you keep three or more cows, it will pay you to buy a U. S. Separator. Come in and look one over, anyway. They are sold by

The Mersman Hwd. Co., Covington, Ky.

C. H. ACRA,
AUCTIONEER
GRANT, KY.
Your Patronage solicited

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Leighery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.

JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875. Subsciption $1.50 year. Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 27, 1909. NO 2

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

PETERSBURG.

Harry Mahan, of Chicago, is visiting his parents, Joseph Mahan and wife.

Miss Ione Buchanan and brother, Orville, spent Sunday with friends in Covington.

William Crisler, of Olney, Illinois, arrived here last week for a visit with relatives.

Miss Irene Fisher, of Lawrenceburg, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Hazel Vesenmire.

Mrs. L. E. Klem and little sons, Weindel and Karl, are in Cincinnati visiting relatives.

H. E. Arnold and wife spent Sunday at E. L. Grant's below the mouth of Woolper creek.

Mrs. Arthur Alloway and daughter, Miss Lendyll, and Miss Olivia Allen and Miss Nettie Fauss, spent Friday in Cincinnati.

While Misses Bettie Duke and Melvin Evans were driving out near Hebron, Sunday afternoon, the horse they were driving scared at Mr. Edwards' automobile, turned the buggy over, broke loose and ran away. The young ladies were unhurt, except the bad scare. Chas. Clore caught the horse and returned it and the buggy.

Miss Lula Thompson and Elmer McWethy were married here last Tuesday, the 19th inst., at the home of Mrs. Laura Chambers, by Rev. Milo Atkinson. Mr. and Mrs. McQuethy left immediately after the ceremony for Memphis. They were accompanied as far as Cincinnati by the bride's sister, Mrs. Mae Whiting and Miss Hazel McQuethy.

VERONA.

A. C. Roberts is building an addition to his store.

Dr. W. E. Sleet, of Midway, was the guest of relatives here part of the past week.

Dr. C. T. Coleman and wife, of Walton, were guests of Dr. H. E. B'Hymer, last Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. Coleman preached his first sermon here last Sunday for the Methodist congregation, and made a favorable impression.

The members of the Methodist church will give an ice cream and oyster supper, Saturday night, October 31st, which will be the last for the season.

[From another Correspondent.]

Edward Ferrald left, Monday, for Boyina, Texas, with a crowd of prospectors.

Miss Stella Walier, our popular dressmaksr, was in Cincinnati, Friday, shopping.

Mrs. James Cleek, of Walton, was the pleasant guest of her sister, Miss Nora Fry, last Sunday.

Mrs. W. M. Whitson and daughter, Miss Hope, and Miss Mary Myers, spent Friday in Cincinnati.

Mrs. T. J. Vest and children were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas McCormick, sr., Friday.

Mrs. William Wilson, and mother, Mrs. Noell, of Beaver, were the week's end guests of G. E. Powers and wife.

Mrs. Robert Powers, of Sanders, spent Friday in Verona, consulting Dr. McCormick in regard to her little son's health.

The entertainment given by Mr. Daniels, on Thursday evening, and consisting of slight of hand and ventriloquism, was very entertaining.

Rev. W. B. Campbell, accompanied by his beautiful and charming young wife, filled his appointment at the Methodist church here, Sunday, and two very interesting discourses were enjoyed by all present.

There will be a Halloween social here at the Methodist church next Saturday evening. It is going to be a royal good one. Don't miss it, if you do it will be the miss of your life. The masked Halloweeners will arrive about 7 p. m., and hone to be received by a big crowd in the "Halloween garden" prepared for the occasion.

ERLANGER.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Haskiel, a girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate are visiting relatives in Covington.

Mrs. Wolfe, of Florence, was here Friday, the guest of relatives.

Mrs. Martha Perkins, of Covington, is here this week visiting relatives.

Miss Mabel Johnson had for her guest, Sunday, her cousin, Myrtle Johnson, of Covington.

Owen Hoard has returned from a visit to relatives and friends in Gallatin and Grant counties.

Joseph Martin and wife, of Sherman, were guests, last Sunday, of her parents, R. O. Hoard and wife.

Mrs. P. E. Blackerby and her guest, Mrs. P. N. Blackerby, of Falmouth, are enjoying a visit in Montgomery.

James Faulkner died a few days since of consumption at a hospital. He leaves a mother, brothers and sisters to mourn his death.

The G. T. club was entertained last Thursday evening by Charles Forsythe, and the S. S. Home department met at the home of Mrs. Perkins.

Mrs. Alonzo Shearer left last Monday evening for San Antonio, Texas, to visit her mother, Mrs. George Schoefel, who is spending the winter there.

HATHAWAY.

Fine weather again.

P. P. Neal has a weanling mule for sale.

Pro. Elijah Stephens was sick one day last week.

Farmers were busy several days the past week bulking and stripping tobacco.

Reports being correct a couple a land deals will be pulled off in this neighborhood soon.

Charles Smith and sister, Miss Fannie, were at Rising Sun, one day last week, shopping.

Mrs. Sarah White spent last Thursday night with Edward Brady and family near Landing.

The little daughter of Lafe Presser was quite sick, last Friday night, and Dr. Ryle was summoned.

Robert Sullivan and sons sold their tobacco to Brodie, of Rising Sun, at from $10 to $12 50 per 100.

This neighborhood was swept by a heavy wind and considerable rain, last Friday night. At times the wind was terrific.

Joe Green has rented and moved to Mrs. Nan McElroy's residence near here. He should subscribe for the Recorder.

Much interest is being manifested in the meeting in progress at Big Bone Baptist church. One addition by confession.

The deacons of Big Bone Baptist church meet with R. Lee Huey, last Thursday evening. The meeting was very profitable to all present.

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. McMillan, Rev. Jenkins, J. P. Johnson, Mrs. Mary Howlett, Mrs. Sarah White and the writer and wife broke bread with G. L. Smith, last Tuesday.

R. H. Stephens and Robert Wilson, of Rabbit Hash, were in this neighborhood, recently, and bought several fine cattle, for which they received good prices in the city.

MIDWAY.

W. F. Moore has gone to Texas to be treated for Texas fever.

A large crowd attended William Drew's sale on the 19th inst., and fairly good prices prevailed.

Dr. R. E. Ryle attended the Kentucky Masonic Grand Lodge in session at Louisville, last week.

Joe W. Cleek purchased $1,000 worth of young cattle on the Cincinnati market, last week, for feeding purposes.

Considering both corn and tobacco it is acknowledged that Wm. Wilson has the best crop in the Beaver precinct.

The annex to our public school house is now completed, and school began last Monday, Willella and Jane Hance as teachers.

Mesdames W. H. Griffith, R. E. Ryle, W. C. Johnson and William Wilson went to the city last Wednesday on a shopping expedition.

R. J. Madden and wife entertained the young folks with a dance, last Wednesday night, in honor of their guest, James Cavey, of Washington, D. C.

George Afterkirk and family, who moved from here to Union neighborhood, last March, have returned and located in Beaver. Their many friends here heartily welcome them back.

Marion Walton and wife have the sympathy of the entire community in the loss of their infant, the remains of which were interred in the Baptist cemetery at Beaver, last Wednesday.

Judging from the number of ladies that are seen passing in and out of the millinery store at Beaver, and the pleasant smile which cousin Jennie wears, the fall trade in that line must be good.

GUNPOWDER.

Jake Youell and wife, of the Union neighborood, broke bread with Robt. Tanner and wife, a few days since

After a visit of about two weeks in this neighborhood with friends and relatives, B. N. Tanner left, last Sunday for his home at Fayette, Missouri.

Mrs. Shelby Tanner and Miss Hazel Thompson are attending the State Grange that is holding its annual session this week at Paris, Bourbon county. They are delegates from Pt. Pleasant Grange.

Mrs. H. L. Tanner met with quite a serious accident a few days since. When passing through a neighbor's farm, she was attacked by a vicious sheep, which knocked her down and bruised her so badly that she has been confined to her room ever since.

The meeting of the Miami Synod at Tippecanoe City, Ohio, and to which this correspondent was a delegate, was of great interest throughout the entire session. Nearly all the churches in its territory were represented, and the several reports showed that the work is in a prosperous condition. Arriving in the city we found it a very beautiful place, and the buildings all of modern designs, and the people kind and energetic. The church building, a beautiful edifice, with about a 700 seating capacity, was handsomely decorated with palms, ferns and fragrant flowers. Special music had been prepared, and was rendered very beautifully by a large choir of trained voices. This feature was intermingled with solos and duets at each service. Another feature of the meeting was the warm welcome we received at the handsome home of Mr. Nathan Buckies and wife, whose hospitality can not be surpassed even by a Kentucky host and hostess.

DEVON.

Robet Rouse, who has been nursing a bad cold is out again.

Miss Dennedy, who was Miss Cary's guest, recently, is now visiting her sister in Covington.

Mrs. Louis Scott, who has been very ill at the home of her mother, in Covington, is getting better.

Miss Frances Meiman, who was her brother John's guest the past week, has returned to her home in Erlanger.

John Meiman received a post card from his brother, Herman, stating that he had left Charleston, Mississippi, and gone to Texas.

Miss Camila Perry was entertained by friends in Dayton, Sunday.

Chas. J. Williams and wife of Bank Lick were visitors here Sunday.

Charles Scott and family were guests of Wm. Scott and family, Sunday.

Wm. Scott, jr., and mother visited Geo. Scott and family of Richwood, Thursday.

Mrs. Wm. Perry and daughter Miss Camila, were shopping in the city Friday.

James Warrington and son, Philip, of Covington, were guests of relatives here Saturday and Sunday.

Charles Darby and sister, Miss Hulda, of Ludlow, were guests of their aunt, Mrs. Sallie Rector, Sunday.

James Wilhoit, of Florence, was in this neighborhood Thursday in the interest of his insurance company.

Emile Rivard and sister, Miss Emma, were pleasantly entertained by Misses Mamie and Stella Dixon, Sunday.

Miss Lucy Scott and sister, Marie, left Tuesday evening for Newport, where they will be guests of relatives this week.

George Ryon and bride, nee Miss Clara Glass, of Covington, who were married last Wednesday, were guests Saturday and Sunday of Effie Hogriffe and wife, near Independence.

One of the events of last Monday, which was greatly enjoyed by all present, was the dance given by the Misses Scott and brothers of this place at Odd-Fellows hall in Florence. The music was furnished by the Tupman band of Covington, and a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Scott and her accomplished daughters, Miss Lucy and Miss Evyline.

UNION.

Mrs. Wm. H. Smith is quite ill.

Rev. W. T. Spears, of Columbia, Tenn., is here guest of relatives.

Mrs. E. T. Rice, of Erlanger, is visiting her aunt Mrs. L. H. Voshell.

Rush Platt, of Patriot, Indiana, spent Sunday with his brother J. C. Platt.

Miss Sadie Crisler spent Sunday in the country with her sister Mrs. Eugene Long.

Mrs. J. J. Garrison entertained handsomely at dinner Sunday, a number of intimate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Houston spent Sunday near Verona with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Houston.

Mrs. Sam Dunbar went to Highland, Monday, to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Charles Ogden.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Frazier, J. W. Conner and L. H. Voshell left Tuesday for Paris to attend a meeting of the State Grange.

Will Lunsford's hound went mad one day last week, and succeeded in biting a number of valuable dogs before it was killed.

Mrs. Wallace Garrison came down from Walton, Monday, and remained until Friday the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. J. Garrison.

Dr. O. E. Senour reached home Saturday looking as if his two weeks trip through the middle west had agreed with him.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rachal and family were guests of their aunt, Mrs. Estelle Winter, of Covington, Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Helen Corbin fell on the wet sidewalk Thursday and injured her wrist severely, that she had to be taken to Florence for medical treatment.

Ben S. Houston harvested his crop of peanuts Saturday, and considering the late planting, unfavorable season, etc., the yield was amazing.

The event of last week's social callendar was the reception given by Miss Eva Smith on Saturday afternoon, from 2 to 5, and attended by a bevy of her pretty girl friends.

Mrs. P. T. Fall, of Alexandria, Indiana, arrived Saturday to be present at the 90th birthday anniversary of her father, Wm. H. Riley, which was celebrated at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. S. Smith, Monday, October 25th.

Money Comes in Bunches.

to A. A. Chisholm, of Treadwell, N. Y., now. His reason is well worth reading: "For a long time I suffered from indigestion, torpid liver, constipation, nervousness, and general debility," he writes. "I couldn't sleep, had no appetite, nor ambition, grew weaker every day in spite of all medical treatment. Then used Electric Bitters. Twelve bottles restored all my old time health and vigor. Now I can attend to business every day. It's a wonderful medicine." Infallible for Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Blood and Nerves. 50c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

HERE AND THERE.

Considerable corn husked, and tobacco stripped last week.

Mrs. F. M. Voshell spent last week with relatives in Indiana.

J. F. Lambert has recently improved his premises by putting a new roof on his barn.

T. C. Masters and W. O. Rector were on the Cincinnati market with potatoes one day last week.

It is said by those who are close observers, that rabbits are scarcer than they have been for many years.

This writer had a horse trade last week with C. L. Voshell, in which he traded two colts for a young draft horse.

Gaines Bros., have been furnishing the Petersburg market with some nice apples, the past two or three weeks.

Woody Sullivan pulled off a horse trade with B. B. Hume, last week, in which he traded two colts for a 2:40 road splitter.

One of Wood Sullivan's horses slipped in a deep hollow, one day last week, and was in a precarious condition when rescued.

Chas. Finn's Grand Chief colt that was so badly cut on a barbed wire some time ago, got its leg broken last Sunday and had to be shot.

Cage Stephens and Lewis Jarrell each took a load of pumpkins to the Aurora market, last week, for which they received satisfactory prices.

PT. PLEASANT.

Mrs. J. J. Rucker attended the Centennial convention in Pittsburg.

Harry Robinson and wife returned to Bromley, last week, after spending some time with her father, Mr. Fred Jergen.

The pupils of the Riddell school are working for a flag. They are an energetic lot and willing to undertake anything for the improvement of their school.

Henry Clore and wife came to visit W. C. C. Rouse and wife in their new automobile not long since. They have a machine that can stand creek roads, rocks or mud and enjoy traveling in it.

Elza Poston went to Dayton, last week, to be present at the wedding of his sister, Miss Bessie Poston, to Wilbur King. The best wishes of her many friends and relatives here go with her to her future home in Omaha, Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter and Miss Virgie Riggs returned, Saturday, from their trip to Pittsburg. They took in Niagara Falls and other points of interest while away, and were delighted with their trip. Mr. Carter's sermon Sunday morning consisted of a brief account of the great Centennial convention.

LIMABURG.

The sick are improving slowly.

Several are stripping tobacco.

Rev. Stith is the first in this neighborhood to have a woodsawing. He had one last Tuesday afternoon.

O. E. Aylor and family had as their guests, Sunday, W. L. Kirk and family and Jas. Kelly and wife.

J. W. Quigley and wife and C. L. Tanner and wife were Sunday guests of Aunt Jemima Tanner, near Gunpowder.

Mrs. L. C. Acra entertained several of her neighbors and friends with a nice dinner Thursday. All enjoyed the day very much.

Miss Belle Baker, of Mt. I. Baker and Eliza Poston, went to Dayton, last Tuesday, for a visit and to attend the wedding of her niece, Miss Bessie Poston.

Good Roads Amendment.

I desire to call the attention of the voters of Boone county to the Good Roads Amendment to the Constitution of Kentucky. Congress has provided a fund to assist the several States in building and improving their roads and highways, and unless the voters of the State adopt this amendment on the 2d day of November, 1909, we will not be in a position to apply for any part of that fund, although we will pay our part of the taxes to provide that fund, which will go to other states that are in position to receive it, if you are not vote "yes" on the amendment and let us be prepared to take advantage of all the assistance we can get in doing that which is so badly needed, and that which we probably cannot do without help. This is a progressive and prosperous age. Railroads and electric lines are being lengthened and multiplied and steps are being taken to deepen and improve our waterways, to cheapen transportation, and build up the cities, provided we have good roads, reaching out from these transportation lines to every nook and corner of the State, over which we can haul our surplus products, cheaply at any time or season, thereby giving us opportunity to take advantage of the best market, on short notice. Nothing builds up and improves the country and citizenship more rapidly than good roads, so again I say let all vote "yes" on the amendment on election day and give it a good majority.

J. W. KENNEDY.

Important Notices.

At a meeting of the directors of the Boone County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company, held at its office, in Burlington, Boone County, Ky., on Monday, October 4th, 1909, the following order was adopted:

"Ordered that all members shall hereafter build brick flues in place of tile flues, before they can renew their insurance, and that hereafter no policy for insurance will be accepted where the building or buildings have a tile flue or flues.

Attest:— MALCHUS SOUTHER, Secretary.

FLORENCE.

C. W. Myers and wife entertained Rev. Baker, Sunday.

Misses Minnie and Irene Cahill are visiting in Indianapolis.

Miss Ada Sanders, of Union, is the guest of Mrs. Owen Bradford.

Services at the Christian church next Sunday, by the new pastor.

Several of our citizens attended the protracted meeting at Hopeful, Sunday night.

Mrs. Anna Crigler is in Chicago, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Mitchell.

Mrs. Carl Clutterbuck entertained Miss Mae McKenney and Mrs. Lucy Hoover, of Erlanger, Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Carpenter will leave, Wednesday, for Baltimore, Maryland, to spend the winter with Rev. and Mrs. Haskins.

BUFFALO.

Dirt roads are getting bad.

E. E. Utz is attending court in Covington.

James Arrsmith will haul his tobacco to Covington.

Louis Rector and family spent Sunday at Jas. Arrsmith's.

Mrs. Utz has had Noah Tanner, of Boonesboro, Missouri, as her guest.

A very interesting protracted meeting is in progress at Big Bone Baptist church.

R. H. Clements, wife and son, David, made a business trip to Rising Sun, Thursday.

Miss Emma Clements spent Sunday night in Union with her aunt, Mrs. Emma Marshall.

Ulyses Stephens, of Lick creek, spent Wednesday here with his brother, J. Stephens and family.

A very small attendance at the teachers' meeting held at the Big Bone church school house.

Mrs. Etta Clements entertained Sunday with an elegant dinner that was enjoyed by a large number of her friends.

J. H. Stephens and wife, T. P. Stephens and wife and Mrs. P. A. Weaver made a business trip to Rising Sun, last Friday.

BELLEVIEW.

We are having delightful weather.

John Rogers and wife made a trip to the city, last Saturday.

Mrs. Harriet Stephens is visiting her sister, Mrs. Eliza Riddell.

Mrs. Carrie Staley, of McVille, visited relatives in Rising Sun, Sunday.

If you want to cure your chickens of gapes drop a drop of coal oil down their throats.

Elijah Parker, of Gasburg, was down one day last week delivering some fine pears to customers here.

Tuesday is election day, boys. Turn out and support the nominees by placing your cross under the rooster.

If you want to hear some soul stirring sermons, go to Petersburg this and next week and hear Elder Milo Atkinson.

Nat Rogers and family are occupying their new home they lately purchased on the Belleview and Petersburg road.

Ed Northcutt is home on a short visit with his parents. He will return to his position in a hospital out west about the 16th of next month.

Andrew B. Acra, of Middle creek, went down last Friday to see his brother Harry, near Rabbit Hash, and found him getting along nicely.

Harry Acra, near Rabbit Hash, had the misfortune, one day last week, to get one of his lower limbs broken just above the ankle by his horse falling on it. He is doing well under the treatment of Dr. Carlyle, of Rabbit Hash.

It's a Top Notcher.

Great deeds compel regard. The world crowns its doers. That's why the American people have crowned Dr. King's New Discovery the King of Throat and Lung remedies. Every atom is a health force. It kills germs and colds and lagrippe vanish. It heals cough-racked membranes and coughing stops. Sore, inflamed bronchial tubes and lungs are cured and hemorrhages cease. Dr. Geo. More, Black Jack, N. C., writes "it cured me of lung trouble, pronounced hopeless by all doctors." 50c $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Go and Vote.

Remember that the regular election comes on the second day of next month, at which time a Circuit Judge, Commonwealth's Attorney and a full set of county officers will be chosen, the county officers for four and the others for six years, consequently it is a very important election, one in which the voters are directly interested.

Wilson & Stephens, the Rabbit Hash dealers in livestock, passed through town yesterday, headed for Cincinnati with a drove of nice cattle. The trip overland is caused by the low river.

Chas. Clore, of Hebron, arrived with his painting paripherualia, yesterday, and began arranging to paint the tin work on the court house. John Keisa and Richard Tanner are his assistants.

Walnuts at 50 cents a bushel make considerable good eating for winter nights.

Rachal & Co., of Union, have a new ad this week, and it is worth reading.

The shade trees about town have shed nearly all their leaves this fall.

For Sale—Fresh cow and calf. Apply to B. F. Norman, Gunpowder.

Personal Mention.

People were too busy last week to do much stiring about.

Vernar Tupman, of Constance, was in Burlington, yesterday.

Attorney Sidney Gaines and wife were in the city, Monday, shopping.

County Attorney N. E. Riddell is spending a few days in Birmingham, Alabama.

Leonard Kite and wife, of Waterloo, were guests at R. S. Cowen's last Sunday.

Joseph Clements, of Greensburg, Indiana, was a guest of Joseph Case a few days since.

Timothy Sandford and wife, of McVille, were transacting business in Burlington yesterday.

Miss Minnie J. Forsythe, of Fayette City, Pennsylvania, is the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Edgar Riley.

Mrs. Lee Furnish returned last Thursday from a visit with her husband's relatives in Gallatin county.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kreylich, of Idlewild neighborhood, were guests of friends in Burlington, Monday afternoon.

Miss Emma Adams will leave next Tuesday for a month's visit with her sister, Mrs. DeConrsey, in Sandford, Floriday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Utz, of Erlanger, was the guest of her brother and sister near Burlington, last Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Long, of the Long Branch neighborhood, were Monday guests of Mrs. Long's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Crisler.

J. M. Barlow and wife and W. P. Beemon and wife, of Pleasant Valley neighborhood, returned, last week, from a delightful visit with relatives and friends in Missouri and Illinois.

Charles Westhay and Miss Pinkie Cowen spent last Sunday in Covington, guests of Timothy Westbay and wife. Mrs. Westbay is recovering slowly from the serious injury she got in stepping off of a street car.

W. E. Vest, of Walton, was cavoiting around in this neighborhood, yesterday as though he might have a big realestate deal on hand. He generally has something up his sleeve.

Go out and vote next Tuesday.

Husking bees are legal entertainments now.

People are looking up to Kelsa and Tanner these days.

Rivermen are beginning to predict an early freeze-up in the river the coming winter.

For Sale—Barred Plymouth Rock cockerels. Apyly to B. T. Kelly, Burlington r. r. 2.

Mrs. J. L. Clore will have a sale of furniture, etc., at the Boone House next Monday afternoon.

M. L. Swetnam & Sons, Covington undertakers, have an advertisement in another column to which your attention is called.

Prof. Dix and wife have furnished rooms and are keeping house in a portion of the residence occupied by B. B. Hume and family.

James E. Smith, assessor for the Boone County Insurance Co., visited the scene of the Lipscomb fire near Walton, one day the past week.

Tobacco refused to grow on part of the ground Jake Craig set in the spring, when he sowed it in turnips, the yield of which is enough for half the county.

The boys are said to be busy assembling tin pans, horns and other noisy instruments for use at an early date. Anything that will make a noise is good, and the more hideous, the better it is liked.

B. B. Hume lead the procession of tobac co growers in this part of the county this year. He was the first to get his crop set out in the spring, was the first to get done cutting, was the first to sell and get the money for his crop.

Lost—200 pound Thinrind barrow with swallow fork in right ear. A reward will be paid for the return o the hog, or information that will lead to its recovery. J. E. SMITH, Burlington rural route 1, Consolidated telephone 177.

In a few days business will get lively at the sheriff's office at the court house, many of the taxpayers who did not meet him at the appointments will be coming in to square up with the county and State before the penalty goes on.

Dudley Blythe, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Blythe, of Burlington, and Miss Flossie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Botts, were married at the home of the bride's parents in Petersburg, at 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening, Rev. Robert Carter, of the Christian church officiating. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Blythe left for Dayton, Ohio, where they will spend several days visiting relatives. The bride is a very popular young lady in Petersburg, and the groom is an industrious young farmer with a large circle of friends in the community where he was born and raised.

Now pack dried Peaches, Prunes, Raisins, Oranges, etc., now in stock—all other goods as soon as the season opens. Don't forget to give me a call. Compare my quality and prices with others. O. M. BALDON.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed Into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

Privy Councilior Albert Meissner, secretary to Emperor William, died in Berlin. He was in public life over 50 years.

Senator Patrick McCarren, the New York Democratic leader, died as a result of an operation for appendicitis.

Dr. James H. Carlisle, president emeritus of Wofford college and one south's best-known educators, died at his home in Spartanburg, N. C. He was 84 years old.

Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale university says the normal span of human life is 150 years, and declares the longevity of man increases as science and medicine make advances.

Mrs. Josephine Floyd Jones, who was a member of one of the oldest families on Long Island, in her will left $10,000 and her personal wardrobe to her faithful servant, Hannah Davenport, who is to have a grave in the family burial plot.

Bernhard Dernburg, German colonial secretary, who is at Kansas City, derides the suggestion of war between Germany and England.

Miss May Clayton, 25 years old, daughter of a wholesale liquor merchant, and Peary S. Tsuji, a Japanese restaurant keeper, were married at Seattle, Wash. It was a romance of the Seattle fair, the couple having met at the "Pay Streak."

Rudolph Gluck, 19 years old, will sail for Russia from New York in a few days to serve three years in the Russian army, and so save his mother's property at Kaprin, near Warsaw, from confiscation.

Lieut. Foulois of the American army has arrived in New York after attending the international Aeronautical congress in Paris. He says France is crazy over flying machines, and this class of craft is bound to supplant dirigible balloons.

King Manuel of Portugal is confined to his bed with an intestinal trouble accompanied with a light fever.

GENERAL NOTES.

A family of five, it is feared, have perished on the Mojave (Cal.) desert. A rancher discovered the trail of a man, woman and three children and from the appearance of their tracks they were in search of water.

Federal authorities are seeking to have John R. Walsh, the former Chicago banker, sent to jail, pending the appeal to the supreme court of the United States of his case.

Six trainmen and a tramp were killed and a score of other persons injured in a head-on collision between a fast passenger train and a freight on the Pennsylvania railroad near Colinsville, O.

Ohio Wesleyan university is in a campaign to raise $500,000 by April 1, 1911. Of this sum Andrew Carnegie has given $25,000 and the educational board $125,000.

The report of Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy, as referee, fixing the margin of unused bonded indebtedness of New York city on June 30, 1908, at $106,205,714, was practically sustained by the New York court of appeals.

G. Stengel-Sembrich, husband of Mme. Sembrich, the singer, and Andreas Dippel, director of the Metropolitan opera house, were injured in an auto accident in New York.

F. E. Hanscome, cashier of the wrecked Mineral Point (Wis.) First National bank, killed himself at the grave of his mother. Worry over the bank's affairs was the cause. Mrs. John Gray, his aged mother-in-law, fell dead upon seeing his body.

Mrs. Richard McMartin of Thompsonville, Mich., visiting at Ashland, Wis., walked out of the house while asleep during the night and off the bridge over the Bay City creek, falling on the rocks and breaking both legs.

A diamond ring worth $1,100, the property of Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, was found on the mountain side near the Edison estate in New Jersey. It was lost six years ago. Robert McCarthy, the finder, was rewarded with $100.

President Taft is spending four days at his brother's, C. P. Taft's, ranch near Gregory, Tex.

The fall of Premier Maura and the conservative cabinet of Spain has brought a feeling of relief. It encourages the hope that a period of internal tranquility has been ushered in.

Commander Robert E. Peary's records and observations to show that he reached the north pole April 6, 1909, have been submitted to the National Geographic society at Washington, and the board of managers of that body has referred them to a sub-committee of three experts.

The Spanish cabinet, headed by Premier Maura, resigned and is superceded by one formed by Senor Moret, former premier. This change resulted from the outcry over Revolutionist Ferrer's execution.

The American Ice Company of New York is on trial in the criminal court on the charge of violating the state law preventing monopoly. The concern is charged with creating an artificial ice famine.

A dam at Lake Derkos, which supplies Constantinople with water, burst and 25 persons were drowned.

Calcutta dispatches to London say 10,000 people have perished in a terrific storm which swept the plains in the delta of the Ganges and Brahmaputra, in Bengal, India.

According to a report from United States Consul General Griffiths, at London, the army of unemployed in Great Britain has grown steadily and has now reached proportions that are causing the government great uneasiness.

The grand jury at Chicago has caused a stir by joining State's Attorney Wayman in his demand that the judges of Cook county courts clean out the county jury commission in such a drastic manner as will prevent any opportunity for jury tampering in the future.

A copy of a book written in 1810 by Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, and entitled, "Torpedo War and Submarine Explosions," has been sold at auction in New York for $60.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Whitlock of East Orange, N. J., were so affected at the prospect of "losing" their two daughters by marriage that they went to their country home to escape being present at the double wedding. They are said to be well pleased, nevertheless, with their sons-in-law.

A fund to be known as the Charles Eliot Norton memorial fund has been endowed to the Archaeological Institute of America in Washington by James Loeb, a retired banker of New York city.

Army officers to the number of 35 started from Fort Meyer, Va., under the lead of Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, president of the war college, for a 90-mile endurance test.

It is reported in Lisbon, Portugal, that King Alfonso's mind is in a serious condition because of fear of an uprising in Spain and of his own assassination.

King Edward of England is much exercised over the socialistic demonstrations in connection with Ferrer's execution and is laboring hard to prevent a general election on the budget, fearing that owing to the highly feverish condition of public opinion the house of lords would be imperiled and possibly abolished.

A typhoon of unusual severity swept over the island of Luzon, washing out railroad beds, cutting off telegraphic communication and doing much other damage.

President Taft had the time of his life on his brother's ranch in Texas. He rode a baiky cayuse, saw wild steers roped by cowboys and witnessed the rounding up of a herd of cattle, together with many other interesting things connected with ranch life.

The Minocqua (Wis.) bank was robbed of several thousand dollars by five men who, after being rounded up at a small station near there by a sheriff's posse, turned on the latter with rifles and made their escape.

The American Antiquarian society laid the corner-stone of its new building in Worcester, Mass., in connection with the opening of the organization's annual convention.

Miss Eleanor Lorraine Beattie, who was recently extradited from London on a charge of grand larceny and who is now under bonds for trial, has advertised in New York for a position as chauffeur. She is willing to wear a uniform and pilot a taxicab.

William Fason, a blind negro, who killed two men in a Paterson (N. J.) saloon, when he was denied a drink, was sentenced to 40 years in prison.

W. R. Hearst won a "strike" in the New York political campaign Saturday night when he threatened to retire from the race for mayor and to leave the fusion ticket to its fate unless his fellow nominees appeared on the stage with him.

Two schooners, with 11 persons aboard, are missing off the Newfoundland coast and are believed to have foundered in the gale last week.

The annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union opened in Omaha with about 500 delegates in attendance. National President Lillian M. N. Stevens delivered her yearly address.

Illinois cities and towns celebrated the second arbor and bird day of the year with exercises in the public schools.

The United States supreme court has issued an order staying proceedings in the northern Illinois circuit court in the matter of the application of Capt. M. Carter for the allowance of further counsel fees in the government's suit against him for the restoration of the funds alleged to have been procured by him through defalcation.

Nicholas J. Martin, who bared the secrets of the jury-fixing gang at Chicago, is missing, and detectives from the state prosecutor's office are searching for him.

Cleveland (O.) police are investigating the cause of illness of 14 persons who were taken sick after eating chocolate candy purchased at an East side confectionery store.

The National Purity congress is holding its annual meeting at Burlington, Ia., and is attended by hundreds of earnest, practical men and women devoted to the uplifting of their fellow Americans.

TOO BIG IS THE ESTIMATE OF DAMAGE

That Has Been Done Cotton Crop By the Boll Disease, Says Federal Expert.

Washington.—Unnecessary alarm in the judgment of the cotton exeprts of the department of agriculture, is manifested by cotton planters over the ravages of anthracnose. Recently it has been reported that the disease is costing the cotton growers of two states in the cotton belt about $19,000,000 a year.

"This statement," said Prof. W. A. Orton, pathologist of the bureau of plant industry of the department of agriculture, "manifestly is impossible. No such loss as that could occur in any one state or in any two states from anthracnose. In a sense it is a sporadic disease, which is likely to affect seriously a limited territory, but it is quite unlikely that it could affect any particular state to such an extent.

"Anthracnose is a disease of the bolls of the cotton, due to a fungus. The spores of this fungus, which is a minute plant, parasitic on the cotton, are carried by wind and insects to the bolls, which they penetrate, causing decay of the contents. The disease is prevalent in all cotton districts every season, but rarely causes serious injury. In wet seasons it does cause losses here and there amounting sometimes to one-fourth or one-half of the cotton crop. The aggregate loss, while large when the whole country is considered, does not make in any one year a serious inroad on the total crop.

"In Alabama, for instance, the loss in particular fields will be one-half of the crop; yet a few miles away there will be little if any evidence of it. The sections that suffer from the losses usually are limited."

J. A. Gilbert, of the bureau of plant industry, is now in the south making a study of anthracnose, and it is expected that he will make a comprehensive report on the subject within a few weeks.

REFUSAL OF CHORUS GIRL

To Quit Stage Angers Her Convict Husband, who Seriously Wounds Her and Kills Himself.

Washington.—Panic-stricken and crying for mercy as she fled, Evelyn Howard, a chorus girl, with the "Motor Girl" company, was shot down on the west portico of the Union station by her jealous husband, who immediately turned his revolver upon himself and fell at his wife's feet with a bullet in his right temple.

The woman, known on the stage as Evelyn Howard, played in Washington last week. Her husband, William H. Short, was a paroled convict, who had been employed in New York as a sales man. Short died at the Casualty hospital an hour or two later. The woman will recover.

The shooting followed a series of quarrels between the two. Short shot his wife three times in the back as they left the carriage which had taken them to the station from their hotel. She fell at the first shot and he stood over her and pumped two more bullets into her motionless form.

Mistake Cause of Wreck.

Detroit, Mich.—Running at a high rate of speed, a Jefferson avenue trolley car crashed into an open switch at the corner of Mt. Elliott and Jefferson avenues late Sunday night. The car was crowded with passengers and a score of them were injured. Twelve of those taken to the hospitals are reported to be in a serious condition. The motorman was pinned beneath the wreckage, and was not released for 45 minues. He is believed to be fatally hurt. A mistake on the part of the motorman is said to have been the cause of the wreck.

Recluse Murdered in His Hut.

Egg Harbor, N. J.—Murdered in his hut and carted nearly a mile on a wheelbarrow, the body of John Gavron, a recluse, was found Sunday in a clump of bushes, where it had been dragged. It is said that Mrs. Gavron was a visitor at her husband's home some few weeks ago and supplied him the money with which the place was purchased, and suspicion is directed toward a man who is said to have admired her after she and her husband separated.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Oct. 23.—Cattle—Extra $6.40@6.50. Calves—Extra, $7.75@8. Hogs—Choice, $7.60@7.65. Sheep—Extra, $4@4.10. Lambs—Extra, $6.50@6.65. Flour—Spring patent, $5.60@5.90. Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.23@1.25. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 62c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 42½c. Rye—No. 2 choice 76@78c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15.25@15.50. Butter—Dairy, 23½c. Eggs—Per doz., 24c. Apples—Choice, $3.70@4. Potatoes—Per brl., $1.75@2. Tobacco—Burley, $8.60@15.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.21@1.23. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 61c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 40¼c. Pork—Prime mess, $23.75@24. Lard—Prime, $12.55@12.57½.

Louisville, Oct. 23.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.23@1.25. Corn—No. 2 mixed 62c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41½c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15.25. Hogs—Extra, $7.25@7.50. Lard—Prime, $12.55.

Indianapolis, Oct. 23.—Cattle—Prime, $5.50@5.75. Hogs—Extra, $7.75@8. Sheep—Extra, $4.25@4.50.

DAYS OF MARTYRDOM

Story of Jews Who Suffered for the Faith

BY THE "HIGHWAY AND BYWAY" PREACHER

(Copyright, 1909, by the Author, W. B. Wilson.)

Based on the Apocryphal book of 2 Maccabees, chapters 6 and 7.

SERMONETTE.

The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church.

In all ages of the world's history there have been those who have been called upon to suffer for righteousness' sake.

Since the days of Abel the evil heart of man has been inflamed by the evidence of goodness in others and has led to deeds of violence.

Evil has no fellowship with the works of righteousness and when these last are manifest and condemn the evil, it gives rise to those evil passions of which persecution and murder are the very core.

Jesus laid down just one rule for his disciples when persecutions come for righteousness sake, and that was a passive resistance and love for those who disptefully used them.

"Blessed are ye," he said, "when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice and be exceedingly glad; for great is your reward in Heaven, for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you."

The man who suffers in a righteous cause, even unto death, is but adding those elements which ultimately make for victory.

It is not a life lost but a life saved. It is not an influence ended, but mighty influence begun which will increase with the years and help to bring to pass that final triumph of righteousness which is to mark the triumphal return of Christ and his complete rule over all the earth.

Those who suffered in the days of the Maccabees for their loyalty to God and his law have not been forgotten in Heaven, nor has their influence ceased upon the earth. It takes more than the hand of wicked men to destroy the truth.

The truth of God, crushed to earth, is sure to rise again with increased power.

"I had fainted," exclaims the Psalmist, "unless I had believed to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living."

We need the same faith.

Such vision of the final triumph of God and his righteousness in the world is the only thing which can sustain in the hour of persecution.

While Christians are not called upon to suffer martyrdom as in the period of the dark ages, still persecutions come in other forms and the same spirit of loyalty to God and love for those who despise God and his servants is as necessary today as in any past age.

THE STORY.

IT WAS during the period of the Maccabees. Word had reached the kingdom of Greece that at Jerusalem in the land of the Jews the people served and worshiped a God unknown to the land where Jupiter held sway, and the question arose in the mind of the king:

"How can we allow such things to be? Is not this an affront upon our great god, Jupiter, who has made Greece great? Our god may well be jealous and call into question our loyalty to him if we allow such things to be."

And having thus spoken with the great men of his realm, and having received their encouragement in the matter, he chose one of the old men of Athens who had long served in the temple of Jupiter Olympius and sent him to Jerusalem with the command that he should compel the Jews to depart from the laws of their fathers, and from the God whom they had been serving, and to do homage only to the great god of the Greeks, the mighty Jupiter.

So he came with power and authority to carry out the king's decree. And it may well be imagined that his coming caused great consternation in the city, for they saw their beautiful temple taken possession of by the Gentiles and profaned with the worship of the god Jupiter. On a certain day, according to proclamation made throughout the city, the temple was re-dedicated to the god Jupiter, and the Gentiles filled it with all manner of rioting and reveling. And when there were certain of the Jews who would not conform to the new worship or yield to the evil customs which the Greeks had instituted, neither would depart from the laws of Moses, it aroused the bitterest passions on the part of the Gentiles, and persecution broke forth.

One of the honorable men of the city, a scribe named Eleazar, who was now well-along in years but who had ever been loyal to the law of Moses, beheld with horror the things which had come to pass in the city, and raised his voice against them, urging the people to suffer death rather than to pollute themselves by yielding to the demands of the wicked Greeks.

"What if the Greeks have declared it unlawful to keep our Sabbath days?" he cried in the streets. "What if they declare that we must share in their feasts and pay homage to their god? Shall we forget our God and his law? What if we gain our lives at the hands of these wicked Gentiles and lose them before our God, the God Abraham and Isaac and Jacob?"

Some listened to the words of the old man while others turned in fear away, saying under their breath:

"Yes, he may well talk for he is even now an old man and it means not much to him to die. But how is it with us who have wives and children and much goods in the city. We may outwardly yield to these Gentiles and still be Jews at heart. Of what avail if we die?"

Thus was the city filled with contention among the Jews, a few choosing to remain loyal to Moses' law, while the great majority outwardly obeyed the mandates of the man from Athens.

It was during these days that the king of Greece celebrated the anniversary of his birth, and the Greeks in Jerusalem, anxious to do honor to their king and to their great god, made great sacrifices and held feasts and commanded that the Jews of the city enter into the festivities, and eat of the meats which had been offered to their god. And when the feast of Bacchus was kept the Jews were compelled to go in the procession carrying ivy and garlands before the great image. Moreover there went out the decree to the neighboring cities against the Jews that they should observe the same fashions and be partakers of their sacrifices. And whoso would not conform themselves to the manners of the Gentiles should be put to death.

And that terror might seize upon the hearts of the people who dared to disobey, two women who had circumcised their babes after the law and command of Moses, were taken and having been openly led about the city with their babes in their arms, they were taken to the highest point on the wall and cast upon the jagged rocks in the abyss below. And others, that had run together in the caves nearby to keep the Sabbath day secretly, being discovered, were all burned together, because they feared to dishonor God and violate his holy day.

And Eleazar, who had done much to encourage the people to remain loyal to God's law, was not to escape, for he was seized and made to open his mouth into which swine flesh was thrust with the command to eat for his good health. But he, choosing rather to die gloriously than to live, stained with such abomination, spit it forth.

Then did those who had charge of the wicked feast, and who had come to know the old man and understand his great influence with his people, being anxious to win him over to their customs, that it might encourage others to do likewise, took him one side and said:

"What profit if you should die. Let us tell thee how thou canst save thyself and still remain true to thy law. Bring thy own flesh such as is lawful for thee to use, and make as though thou didst eat of the meat of the sacrifice commanded by the king, but eat that which thou thyself hath provided. Then all will be well."

"It becometh not my age in any wise to dissemble," he declared with dignity, "for by so doing many persons might think that Eleazar being fourscore years old and ten, were gone to a strange religion, and so they through mine hypocrisy, and desire to live a little time, should be deceived by me, and get a stain to mine old age, and make it abominable. For though for the present time I should be delivered from the punishment of men; yet should I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither alive or dead. Wherefore now, manfully changing this life, I will show myself such an one as mine age requireth, and leave a notable example to such as be young, to die willingly and courageously for the honorable and holy laws."

And having thus spoken to those who would have saved him if he would have but dissembled, they were greatly inflamed against him and dragged him off to the torment which was made as awful as possible, his tongue being first cut out and then all his extremities cut off and last of all he was cast upon a red-hot pan. And when he was about to give up the ghost, he cried:

"It is manifest unto the Lord, that hath the holy knowledge, that whereas I might have been delivered from death, I now endure sore pain in my body, but in soul I am well content to suffer these things, for I fear him."

Thus did Eleazar die, leaving his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memorial of virtue, not only unto young men, but unto all his nation.

There is only one key to success, and that is perseverence. Let nothing daunt you, and if really in earnest and resolved to conquer, you must win.—De Sales.

Skill to do comes of doing, knowledge comes by eyes always open and working hands, and there is no knowledge that is not power.—Emerson.

Let no young man misjudge himself unfortunate, or truly poor, so long as he has the full use of his limbs and faculties and is substantially free from debt.—Horace Greeley.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. G. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 5th & Vine; Phone, Main 2025. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1884.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000
Surplus,.....$8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
308 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co. HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGES in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, O.
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington.
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
H. POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky.

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes;
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me. Write for printed list.

FORCE OF HABIT.

Hodge—Hefty had a strenuous time on his vacation. When he started he tipped the scales at 200 pounds and when he returned he only weighed 149.

Dodge—That was a drop. I suppose his best girl gave him up on the spot.

Hodge—Not at all. She accepted him right off.

Dodge—That's queer.

Hodge—No; you see she is a great bargain hunter and couldn't pass any thing that was reduced.

CURED ITCHING HUMOR.

Big, Painful Swellings Broke and Did Not Heal—Suffered 3 Years.

Tortures Yield to Cuticura.

"Little black swellings were scattered over my face and neck and they would leave little black scars that would itch so I couldn't keep from scratching them. Larger swellings would appear and my clothes would stick to the sores. I went to a doctor, but the trouble only got worse. By this time it was all over my arms and the upper part of my body in swellings as large as a dollar. It was so painful that I could not bear to lie on my back. The second doctor stopped the swellings, but when they broke the places would not heal. I bought a set of the Cuticura Remedies and in less than a week some of the places were nearly well. I continued until I had used three sets, and now I am sound and well. The disease lasted three years. O. L. Wilson, Puryear, Tenn., Feb. 8, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Their Advantages.

"So you have made up your mind to be a specialist. What line are you going to take up?"

"I don't know. I have been considering various advantages in different branches. A chiropodist can generally get a foothold, no matter how bad business is; a manicurist has usually something on hand; a beauty doctor can usually play a skin game and an eye and ear doctor can often get a hearing when there is anything in sight. I haven't dwelt on the possibilities of throat specialists and dentists or hair experts, because the two former always look down in the mouth and the latter may get but a bald living or be expected to dye for his patients."—Baltimore American.

A Resemblance.

Canon Hensley Henson, at a dinner in New Haven during his Yale lectures, condemned the ugliness of the English archbishop's attire.

"One of our archbishops," he said, "preached in a Kansas church in his panoply of knee breeches, gaiters and apron, and the leading paper of the town concluded an admirable report of his sermon with the words:

"'The archbishop wore Highland dress.'"

Are You Tired of the Color of Your Dress?

If so, dye it, but be sure and use Dy-o-la Dyes which give the same fast brilliant colors to any and all fabrics. So much easier, better, and more economical than others. Dealers sell Dy-o-la Dyes at 10 cents a package. Write Dy-o-la, Burlington, Vermont, for color card and book of directions.

Grading Literary Power.

Dean Shaller Mathews says that the newspaper "shapes the popular mind more by its headlines than by its editorials." By the same token, authors impress by the title of their books, not by their contents, artists by their themes, rather than by their execution—and lecturers by their platitudes more than by their sense.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Do You Know Him?

"What sort of a chap is he?"

"Well, he's one of those fellows who think that anything mean is a joke if it isn't on him."

The U. S. Government has bought 25 Gross (3,600 boxes) of Rough-on-Rats to send to the Panama Canal Zone, because it does the work. The old reliable that never fails. The unbeatable exterminator. 15c, 25c, 75c.

When a man says he is willing to change his opinion if you can convince him that he is wrong it's a sign you'll never be able to convince him.

SPRAINS AND BRUISES

disappear like magic under the healing touch of Perry Davis' Painkiller. During this ivy weather no household should be without it. In 25c, 50c, 00c sizes

Home is the place a married man stays while they are cleaning house at his club.

Interesting Kentucky News

PHYSICIANS ARE PUZZLED

Over Case of Man Who Can Not Be Aroused from Unconscious Condition.

Lexington, Ky.—H. R. Arowood, of Tennessee, who has been employed in the construction of a railroad at Corinth, Ky., was brought here and placed in St. Joseph's hospital. His condition is one which is puzzling the local physicians. On the night of October 19 Mr. Arowood retired from his work in perfect health, but upon his delay in arising next morning a messenger was sent to his room to awaken him, but after working with him for some time, it was found impossible to arouse him, as he was in an unconscious condition. Physicians were summoned, but all efforts to awaken him failed. After working with him for two days he was brought here for medical attention, but all efforts to arouse him have so far failed.

BURLEY POOL EXTENSION.

Reports Show About Sixty Per Cent of Crop Signed.

Winchester, Ky.—At the meeting of the Burley Tobacco society, in session here, the reports of the counties as to the acresage pooled during the 20 days' extension of time granted after the stipulated time for closing were reported to have been pooled during this time, which brings the number of acres pooled up to nearly 114,000, or about 60 per cent of the whole crop, according to the estimate made by the tobacco society, which was 196,000 acres. The pool was not closed and the time is extended indefinitely, subject to being closed at any time by the executive committee. The new executive committee was completed after this had been disposed of. Messrs. Witherspoon, of Woodford county; Shanklin, of Mason county, and Slaughter, of Owen county, who were nominated by President Lebus, but not confirmed at the last meteing, were confirmed by a large majority. The changing the headquarters from Winchester to Lexington was confirmed by a vote of 44 to 6.

SPECIAL LICENSES MUST BE PAID.

Court of Appeals Says Legislature Has Right to So Legislate.

Frankfort, Ky.—Special licenses provided for in the revenue laws of this state must be collected and must be paid. The court of appeals decided this question definitely in the case of Fred E. Stevens and others against the city of Louisville. The city had collected a license from Stevens for running a pawn broker's shop, and he also handled pistols. He refused to pay the license for handling pistols at retail and enjoined the city from collecting the money. The court here says that the legislature has the right to assess special licenses and that they must be paid.

Georgetown, Ky.—Circuit Judge Robert L. Stout rendered his decision in the contested local option election of 15 months ago. In his decision one "dry" vote is thrown out, which was counted by the lower court, and the vote now stands 521 "dry" and 520 "wet," a majority of one for the "drys." The lower court gave them two majority and the face of the returns had given the "wets" one majority. The case will go on up to the court of appeals, unless a new trial be granted.

Maysville, Ky.—The Elks' Reunion association closed its meeting here after electing the following officers: President, William Neal, Louisville; first vice president, T. J. Smith, Richmond; second vice president, Dennis Dundon, Paris; third vice president, E. B. Hager, Ashland; secretary, William M. O'Bryan, Owensboro.

Louisville, Ky.—The Kentucky Grand Council of Masons elected G. Allison Holland, great high priest; Harry Bailey, deputy grand high priest; David W. Gray, grand king; J. W. Worshum, grand scribe; Capt. H. B. Grant, grand secretary, and L. H. Johnson, grand treasurer.

Frankfort, Ky.—Insurance Commissioner Bell admitted the International Life Insurance Co. of St. Louis to do business in Kentucky. The company has a capital of $500,000. It is the successor of the Great American Co., with which it was merged.

Lexington, Ky.—Dave McQueen, known as "Greasy," one of the negroes wanted for the murder of Leon Yandell, who was shot in a construction camp on the Lexington and Nicholasville Interurban line, was arrested in East St. Louis, Ill.

Lexington, Ky.—The grand jury returned 67 indictments, 29 of which are reported to charge illegal registration. The clerk of the circuit court declined to disclose the names of those indicted or the offense charged until warrants have been served.

Frankfort, Ky.—The work of rebuilding the monument marking the grave of Daniel Boone was begun in the State cemetery here. The panels for the monument were made by Sculptor Fetweiss, of Cincinnati.

ROOFS BLOWN FROM BUILDINGS

At Frankfort, Ky.—Streets Choked With Debris—Damage is Reported Enormous.

Frankfort, Ky.—With a deafening roar, a terrific storm swept down upon this city and surounding territory. All telegraph wires and nearly all telephone wires are down, but from the meager reports obtainable it is certain that the damage will be enormous. Many buildings, including residences, were unroofed. The streets here, in many instances, are choked with fallen trees and timbers. The city practically is in darkness. A barrel was carried a block by the great wind and hurled through a big plate glass window in the McClure department store. A portion of a veranda was hurled across a street and through a window in the front of the Elbert jewelry store. The temperature has lowered rapidly since the arrival of the storm and now is below the freezing point.

CAPITOL UNFINISHED

And the Date of Dedication May Be Changed.

Frankfort, Ky.—Members of the state capitol commission are considering delaying until next spring the formal dedication of the capitol. While all of the officials are now occupying offices in the building it is in an incomplete state. Neither the senate nor hall of representatives has yet been furnished, the state library rooms are bare and furnishings for the state reception room, the real show place of the structure, have not as yet been shipped from Europe, where they are being made. Word was received from Paris, France, by the capitol commissioners that Gilbert White has finished the painting of the two lunettes which are to adorn the house of representatives and the senate chambers. They will be shipped from Paris about November 15, and should reach here in time to be put in position before the session of the general assembly begins.

DEPARTMENT OF MEDICINE URG

For Kentucky State University at Meeting of Physicians' Association.

Louisville, Ky.—Dr. J. E. Wells, of Cynthiana, Ky., was elected president of the Kentucky State Medical association after a warm contest on the convention floor. Dr. J. N. McCormack will continue as secretary, having been elected for a term of five years. Dr. W. B. McClure, of Lexington, was elected treasurer to serve for five years. Lexington was chosen as the next convention city of the association. The body passed resolutions against criminal practice and also indorsed the movement for good roads. One of the most important resolutions passed was that relating to the establishment of a medical department of the State university.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—At the last regular session of the Christian county branch of the Planters' Protective association the following prizers, storage house men and officials were selected: Prizers at Pembroke, Lyman McComb and Isaac Garrott; prizer at Hopkinsville, John W. Adams; storage house men at Hopkinsville, John W. Adams and R. M. Woodbridge; salesman at Hopkinsville, D. F. Smithson; bookkeeper, A. J. Casey; local inspector, George W. Barnes.

Louisville, Ky.—John C. Roberts, convicted of counterfeiting in the federal courts here and sentenced to six years in the penitentiary, was indicted for the same offense on four counts in the federal court in Covington, Ky. As soon as he has finished the term he will be brought to Covington to stand trial.

Frankfort, Ky.—Sixty members of the Kentucky state guards have been ordered to Hickman by Adjt. Gen Johnston to protect President Taft when he visits that city on his tour down the Mississippi river on the lake-to-the-gulf trip.

Frankfort, Ky.—Berry Simpson and others, now doing time for the murder of Deputy United States Marshal John Mullins, at Stearns, Ky., are making an effort to appeal their cases to the supreme court.

Maysville, Ky.—George Washington Creekbaum, 102, died at the home of his son, T. C. Creekbaum, in Dover this county. He was the oldest man in Mason county. He was born in Brown county, Ohio.

Louisville, Ky.—W. C. Priest, for many years one of Louisville's most prominent business men, died at the family residence after a five weeks' illness. The body will be taken to Shelbyville, Ky., for burial.

Lexington, Ky.—Through the purchase of the Claude Garth farm, L. V. Harkness has added nearly 700 acres to his magnificent Walnut Hall farm. The price reported was $125 per acre.

Carrollton, Ky.—Postoffice inspectors are investigating the disappearance in the mail of warehouse receipts for 500 barrels of whisky belonging to the Old Darling Distillery, of this city.

CLAIMS CAN NOT BE FILED

On Possessions of Bankrupt After Bankruptcy Proceedings Have Been Dismissed.

Frankfort, Ky.—Creditors who have actual notice of adjudication in bankruptcy, and do not make their claims at the proper time, can not come in and make a claim on the possessions of the bankrupt after the bankruptcy proceedings have been dismissed. This important question was settled for the first time in this state by the court of appeals in the case of W. S. Dycus, etc., against C. O. Brown, etc., in which the judgment of the McCracken circuit court is reversed, in an opinion by Judge Carroll. Dycus Bros. and S. H. Cassidy formed the company of S. H. Cassidy & Co., to buy tobacco during the season of 1902 and 1903, to be sold by Brown & Bloom, of Paducah, and were to receive 60 cents per hundred pounds for the work. They were also to receive one-half of the profits after all expenses were paid. The company, however, made an assignment after purchasing a good many thousand pounds of tobacco.

"BREAK THEIR NECKS!"

Says Dr. Shirley of a Certain Class of Medical Practitioners.

Louisville, Ky.—"All physicians who engage in criminal practice as related to the defeat of motherhood should have their necks broken by the order of the great state of Kentucky." This was the statement made by Dr. A. Shirley, president of the Kentucky State Medical Association, in addressing the members of that body gathered in annual session. He also declared that physicians should never make special rates for medical attention to preachers. He said if the churches do not pay their ministers enough to allow them to pay their medical bills their salaries should be raised. Dr. William J. Mayo declared in his address that cancer is neither "necessarily hereditary nor necessarily incurable." His address was received with applause.

VIOLATION OF BANKING LAW

Charged Against Cashier McConnaghy in Federal Indictment.

Monticello, Ky.—The indictment charging Charles McConnaghy, cashier of the National bank of this place with violation of the banking laws, was returned by District Attorney J. H. Tinsley, Assistant District Attorney George Davison and the grand jury. Attorney John B. O'Neal, who has been employed by Mr. McConnaghy to defend him, was given a copy of the indictment and at the same time informed the court that he would demur to the indictment. McConnaghy has been indicted on 13 counts.

Newport, Ky.—Political circles in Campbell county, Kentucky, were stirred when Circuit Judge Charles Yungblut, in the heat of his campaign for re-election, paused to make an affidavit before Squire T. K. Hutchinson, in this city, charging Scott Shoemaker, recognized leader of the republican party in Campbell county and fiscal clerk at the Newport postoffice, with having attempted to bribe him in the matter of a settlement of poolroom cases now pending before the court.

Frankfort, Ky.—The Frankfort & Cincinnati Railroad Co. will be discontinued November 1, when the Louisville & Nashville will formally take over the road and continue its operation. This road is known as the Kentucky Midland and was built nearly 25 years ago, a good deal of the money being furnished by subscriptions from the citizens and taxpayers of the counties of Franklin, Scott and Bourbon and the cities of Frankfort, Georgetown and Paris.

Greenville, Ky.—State Representative Herbert Meredith, of this city, "in order that innocent women may be protected and future generations spared the sins of their fathers," is to urge upon the next legislature of Kentucky the passage of a bill requiring that each male person applying for a license to marry shall submit himself to a physical examination by a competent physician.

Louisville, Ky.—Officials of the Home Telephone Co. announced that a deal has been completed whereby the company takes over the Independent Long Distance Telephone Co. The company secured $520,000 bonds of an issue of $592,000.

Lexington, Ky.—Charles Williams, foreman of construction for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad's new line being built into the mountains of Eastern Kentucky, was shot by unidentified men and left for dead on the ground near Heidelberg, Lee county.

Louisville, Ky.—Mrs. Henrietta Morgan Duke, wife of Gen. Basil W. Duke, daughter of a prominent southern family, and for many years a leader in the social life of Louisville, was found dead in bed at her home. Heart failure was the cause of death.

Paducah Ky.—A distinct earth quake shock was felt here.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.

Phone, M. 2393.

The Applegate-Piper Co.

MERCHANT TAILORS.

Room 610, Traction Building,

Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,

BURLINGTON, KY.

The Oldest Bank in Boone County,

PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,

With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR

THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.

17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.

This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR

Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,

Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY

AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.

CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.

New Buggies, Runabouts,

and Harness for Sale or Trade.

Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.

When in Burlington call and See me.

B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with [illegible] Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP TO

C. C. SEAL & CO.

Union Stock Yards,

CINCINNATI. • • OHIO

And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.

J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade

Election, Tuesday Nov. 2.

Democratic Ticket.

For Representative—
J. W. Berkshire.
For Circuit Judge—
J. W. Cammack.
For Commonwealth's Attorney—
E. E. Winn.
For Circuit Clerk—
J. A. Duncan.
For County Judge—
P. E. Cason.
For County Attorney—
N. E. Riddell.
For Sup't Schools—
Edgar C. Riley.
For Sheriff—
B. B. Hume.
For County Clerk—
J. H. Rogers.
For Assessor—
T. G. Willis.
For Jailer—
Samuel Adams.
For Surveyor—
W. E. Vest.
For Coroner—
Dr. A. A. Murat.

FOR JUSTICE OF THE PEACE:

First District—
E. J. Aylor.
Second District—
William Stephens.
Third District—
Moses Scott.
Fourth District—
J. S. Noell.
Fifth District—
Ben O'Neal.
Sixth District—
J. H. Tanner.

Republican Ticket.

For Representative—
John L. Vest.
For Circuit Clerk—
C. C. Hume.
For County Judge—
Charles Ransler.
For County Attorney—
G. G. Hughes.
For County Clerk—
Ed Botts.
For Sheriff—
Jonas Stephens.
For Assessor—
L. E. Thompson.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Fifth District—
W. N. Stephenson.

RED HOGS IN KENTUCKY

Some Early History of This Popular Breed.

Among the common stock of hogs in this State in early pioneer days might be found occasionally one or more in almost every feed lot of a red or sandy color, but the first effort to establish the red hog as a breed was probably by the late Cassius M. Clay, when he made an importation into Madison county, when he was Minister to Russia. No effort was made to establish a separate or distinct breed at the time but they became popular among feeders in Madison, Garrard and Lincoln counties, and when that section of the State was largely called on to supply the packers of Louisville and Cincinnati, forty or fifty years ago, one would often see many red hogs in the droves as they passed along the turnpikes. It was noted too, that the cross of the red on all natives gave the farmer a hog that would grow and fatten readily.

The next red hog to be introduced was from New Jersey where farmers were herding them in more or less purity, and were, as early as 1870 to 1880, giving some attention to pedigrees.

The late Col. Thos. S. Grundy, of Washington county, was the pioneer in the introduction of this breed into Kentucky. His herd attracted attention as they grew to be large and heavy, a quality demanded by the packers of that day. There was one fault that breeders set about correcting. The males were disposed to grow very coarse, especially about the head and ears.

At that time they were called Jersey Reds, but later the breeders of New Jersey and New York formed an association and gave them the name of Duroc-Jerseys, by which they are still known.

Among the first car-lot importations to Kentucky—perhaps it was the first—was that made by a Mr. Whitehead, of New Jersey. He had some of pure breeding, but in his lot were some of off colors and even some spotted ones. Still an auction sale of breeding hogs was novel, and when he advertised it in this paper Bluegrass farmers shook their heads in doubt as to the result of the venture. Recognizing, however, the desirability of some new blood to instill vigor into the stock which had developed unusual disposition to take cholera, in its several forms, they went to this sale.

The celebrated home of Henry Clay was then in possession of our State Agricultural Bureau, over which Col. Bowman presided, and the sale was made there. Much higher prices were obtained than was expected which insured the breed in the estimation of Kentucky farmers.

From that time the Eastern breeders found a market for all their approved breeding stock and very soon herds of Duroc Jerseys were to be found all over the State from which farmers drew to introduce new blood in old herd.

There is scarcely a large shipment made at this time that will not be made up in large proportion of red hogs descended from these early efforts of our breeders and feeders to improve their swine, and the red hog is here to stay.

Whisky 86 Years Old Dealt Out With Spoon.

Workmen engaged in tearing down the old Owen county court house at Spencer, Ind., found a gallon jug of whisky buried in a crevice in the foundation stones, under the northeast corner of the building. The jug was sealed with sealing wax and bore on one side a discolored paper label inscribed as follows: "Deposited by Joseph Freeland, 1826; distilled in Owen county, 1823," which would make the liquor about 86 years old.

The jug was an old-time pattern and showed the marks of age. About half of the contents had evaporated. The liquor is now in the possession of the county auditor, who has purchased a new spoon, preparatory to dealing the precious liquid out in limited quantities to county officials and others who have been taking an active part in establishing the new court house.

Thomas McNaught, the father of General T. A. McNaught, of Spencer, was one of the county commissioners at the time the old court house was constructed in 1826, and he had told his sons that the jug of whisky had been placed under the corner of the building; but so many years had passed since his death that the story was regarded as a legend, and was not believed until the jug was unearthed. Owen county is "dry," and the news of the find spread rapidly and hundreds of people flocked to the scene, but no one was permitted to drink more than a teaspoonful of the liquor.

Selling Tobacco.

Quite a number of the growers have sold their tobacco to local buyers, while some have sold to buyers out of the county. The tobacco that was in the pool was sold with the understanding that it was to remain. Good prices have been paid.

Sowing More Rye.

More rye has been sowed this fall than usual, and a considerable area of it will be turned under in the spring and other crops planted. The growing rye prevents the land from washing during the winter, and in many fields affords pasture early in the spring before grass has advanced sufficiently, and when turned under acts as a first class fertilizer for the crop that takes its place. Farmers are awakening to the necessity of providing support for their soil in this county, and many consider the sowing of rye for turning under in the spring as the most valuable treatment that they can give it, while it serves in a two fold capacity, that of fertilizer and of affording early pasture.

That Fish Trap Bridge.

Nothing has been heard for some time of the bridge with which it was proposed to span Big Bone creek at a point near its mouth and known as "The Fish Trap." At one time it was thought it would be up and in use in a short while, about which time Gallatin county "buckled," and little or no progress seems to have been made since. It appears that Gallatin county failed to see that the interest of the public demanded a bridge at "The Fish Trap," and so far Boone has been wholly unable to convince her otherwise or to compel her to come forward to put up her share of the cost of the structure as provided by law where a bridge crosses the line between two counties.

The farmers are busy getting their corn in as fast as they can, the work of which is necessarily slow because of the sappy condition of the ears.

Coughs of Children

Especially night coughs. Nature needs a little help to quiet the irritation, control the inflammation, check the progress of the disease. Our advice is—give the children Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Ask your doctor if this is his advice also. He knows best. Do as he says.

We publish our formulas
Ayer's
We banish alcohol from our medicines
We urge you to consult your doctor

If you think constipation is of trifling consequence, just ask your doctor. He will disabuse you of that notion in short order. "Correct it, at once!" he will say. Then ask him about Ayer's Pills. A mild liver pill, all vegetable.

Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Fifteen Secret Societies.

Rising Sun has fifteen secret orders. That's doing pretty well for a town of this size, but fraternal orders are a blessing to any community. They promote thrift, economy, sobriety, without freezing the soul into selfishness, as is apt to be the case in the usual struggle for wealth or a high social position. They bring men and women into closer social relations, and cherish those feelings that thrive and put forth blossoms in each other's welfare. They make men and women thoughtful and helpful, expanding the sentiments of love, charity and good will. They teach us the religion that breaks bread to the hungry, gives a cup of water to the thirsty, watches at the bedside of the sick, visits the imprisoned, the fatherless and the widows—duties that are sadly neglected, and for a long time were supposed to be confined to the church.—Rising Sun Local.

Will be Declared the Nominee.

No opposition having developed within the prescribed time Judge John M. Lassing will be declared the Democratic nominee for Judge of the Court of Appeals in this district as provided by the committee's order calling the primary election for the second of next month. Judge Lassing has been particularly fortunate in his political career in not encountering opposition in his party for the offices to which he has aspired. He has a way of making his path clear to a nomination long before the time comes to have the matter taken up by a party committe, and those who would like to make the race find he has the nomination sewed up and it is of no use. He is recognized as about the hardest man to handle, politically, in the State, always having the fight won before the battle begins.

Damages Too Small.

Sustaining the plea of the plaintiff that the verdict he secured was "too small," United States Judge Cochran, in Covington, granted the motion for a new trial in the so-called "night rider" case of W. S. Henderson, formerly of Bracken county, now of Cincinnati, against Vachel Jordon and a number of others. Henderson filed suit for $50,000 damages against the men who are alleged to have forced him to quit business as a tobacco broker in Bracken county, and to have driven him from Kentucky. In the United States court, at the last term, he secured a verdict for $300 damages. Attorneys Meyers and Howard, in their motion, declared that several members of the jury were in sympathy with the Equity society.

Green River Burley Sold.

The Burley Committee of the Green River district has closed a deal with the American Tobacco Company whereby the crop of 1909 is sold at fourteen cents for leaf and six cents for trash. On account of the small quantity of Burley raised there the price is considered a good one.

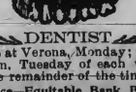
Comes on Sunday.

Halloween comes on Sunday this year, consequently it will be celebrated on the Saturday night before. The celebration of Halloween is an event that is looked forward to with great anticipation on the part of the kid element, of society.

Broke His Leg.

A horse fell, several days ago, with Harry Acra, who resides down on Middle creek, and broke one of his lower limbs. The misfortune comes at a time that Mr. Acra was busy preparing to save the crops he had worked hard to make this year.

Good News.



It is said that Irish potatoes will be very reasonably priced this winter, much cheaper than they are at present. The reason therefor is that the potato crops in Michigan and Wisconsin are bumpers this year.

GOODE GROCERIES
—AT—
Right - Prices.

New Hominy—Old fashion, pound	2½c
New Hominy—Flake 2 quarts	5c.
New Prunes, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Evaporated Peaches	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Evaporated Peaches—extra large, lb	13c
Two pounds	25c
New Figs—large, juicy Smyrna Figs, lb	13c
New Seeded Raisins, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Citron, lb	20c
New Golden Egg Macaroni, package	10c
Three pkgs	25c
New Bulk Macaroni, lb	06c
New Elbo Macaroni, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Barley, lb	04c
New Rold Oats, lb	04c
New Oatmeal, lb	04c
New Aunt Jemima's Pancake Flour, package	10c
Three packages	25c
New Quaker Oats, pkg	10c
Large Round Pkg	15c
New Victor Toy Oats, pkg	10c
New Mackerel, 10c 3 for	25c
New, Fat, Large Mackerel, 13c, 2 for	25c
New Lakeside Sweet Wrinkle Peas, 10c 3 for	25c
New Lakeside Sifted Early June Peas	15c
New Extra Sifted Lakeside Peas	20c
New Honey Drop Corn, can, 15c, dozen	$1.65
New Golden Harvest Corn, can 12c, doz	$1.35
New Superb Maine Corn, can, 12c, dozen	$1.35
New Shoe Peg Corn, can	10c
Three for	25c
New Jaguar Corn, can	07c
Three for	20c
New Cranberries, quart	10c
New Grapenut, 8c, 2 for	15c
Magic Soap, 10c, 3 for	25c
Fels Naptha Soap, 6 for	25c
Pearl Soap, 6 for	25c
Papryka, can	10c
Celery Salt, can	10c
Dry Apples, lb	08c
Capitol Mixed Tea, lb	60c
Gunpowder	60c
Sunbeam Mixed Tea, lb	75c
Gunpowder	75c
Oolong, Young Hyson, English Breakfast and Imperial—all new crop.
Golden Blend Coffee, lb	20c
Moneyworth Coffee, lb	17c
Three pounds for	50c
Salvadore Coffee, lb	15c
Pure Gautamala Coffee—pound	25c

Geo. C. Goode
AGENT.
Groceries & Medicines,
Pike & Washington,
Covington, Kentucky.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST
Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time
At Office—Equitable Bank Building,
WALTON, KY.

Quite a number of Boone county people in Paris, Bourbon county, this week, attending the session of the State Grange.

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits; three per cent. if left six months and four per cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,
WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.
CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.
Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

Fall and Winter Millinery.

I now have on display my new stock of Hats and Baby Caps, with prices to suit every customer. Desiring to reduce my stock I will offer

Specials from 25c up

and hope my customers will take advantage of these bargains. Come in and see them, as also my nice line of

DRY GOODS and JEWELRY.

Cordially yours,
MISS LOU W. ALLEN, Petersburg, Ky.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon
HARNESS
OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at
PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.
Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.
S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank
Incorporated—A. D. 1892.
Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.
Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

CANNOT SPLIT OR CURL LIKE WOOD SHINGLES

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

Last as long as the building and never need repairs. Think of it! They're also fireproof, stormproof, handsome and quite inexpensive.

SEND FOR ESTIMATE
Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

Our Business Constantly Increasing.

For the past seven years our optical business has constantly increased. We treat all alike, selling the best goods at the lowest possible prices to all. We have a complete lens-grinding outfit and can grind and replace broken lenses while you wait.

We can furnish anything made in optical goods.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY.
Phone, South 1746.

DON'T FAIL TO VISIT

ROSENTHAL BROTHERS New Clothing Store

Before buying.—Complete Outfitters for Men, Boys and Children—Everything New and Up-to-Date.

Big Store Building, RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Local News.

The RECORDER is authorized to announce Judge John M. Lassing a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Appellate Judge in this the Sixth Appellate District, subject to the primary election November 2, 1909.

It looks like it is preparing to rain

A Freeze.

The freeze and heavy frost just about cleaned up on vegetation, Sunday night.

Killing Ducks.

R. W. Clark has sacked the feathers of four fine mallard ducks this fall. His automatic gun is giving him great satisfaction as a fowling piece.

Look Desolate.

Jack Frost and the rains have given the forests a desolate appearance, and where, a few weeks ago, life and beauty reigned death and destruction prevail. Such is the way of the world.

Would Not be Caught.

J. S. Tanner and son H. V., of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, were in Burlington, a few days ago on the hunt of the sheriff to pay their taxes. They were determined not to be caught for the penalty.

Talk Both Ways.

A person can hear all kinds of predictions as to the quality and weight of the tobacco now being stripped. Some say it will weigh well and is of good quality, while others say quite to the contrary.

Be a Little Careful.

In a few days the leaves will be several inches deep in a part of the town, when it will be a mighty good time to be careful when throwing down the stub of a cigar, or a match that has been used in lighting a pipe or cigar.

It is Dangerous.

The officers in the city are watching closely for game that is killed and shipped in in violation of the game laws. The country dealers cannot afford to take chances in shipping rabbits, &c., to the city market before the open season. It is decidedly dangerous.

Delivered His Tobacco.

B. B. Hume finished stripping his tobacco last Thursday and delivered it on Friday to Johnnie Hogan, of Hebron neighborhood at $10 per 100 all round. This is the first crop of tobacco that has been delivered in this part of the county.

Will Operate the Crusher.

Geo. Hewitt has been awarded the contract for crushing the stone that the Burlington and Belleview Turnpike Co. has been accumulating for some time. It will require several weeks to execute the contract. The pike company furnishes the crusher and Hewitt, the engine to operate it.

A Drove of Nice Cattle.

Last Thursday William Kirkpatrick took to the city a drove of 40 of about as nice, red cattle as can be gotten together in this county, some of them weighing close to 1,500. The drove was made up of purchases from several different farmers in the county, and was just the class of stuff to bring the top of the market.

Frightful Fate Averted.

"I would have been a cripple for life, from a terrible cut on my knee cap," writes Frank Disberry, Kelliher, Minn., "without Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which soon cured me." Infallible for wounds, cuts and bruises. it soon cures Burns, Scalds, Old Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions. World's best for Piles. 25c. at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Came Back.

Henry Fry, colored, who, several years ago got a lick in one of his eyes that resulted in the loss of the sight of both eyes, has come back to Burlington to make his home after having been gone three or four years. He owns a good little house and a lot of considerable size here. He was one of the most industrious and the thrifty colored men ever in the town, and his misfortune put him entirely out of business, and it is the more deplorable because of his just having reached the prime of life.

BURLEY POOL STILL OPEN

District Committee Decides To Extend Time.

Over 118,000 Acres Have Been Pledged.

At the meeting of the district committee of the Burley Tobacco Society at Winchester, last Thursday, the official reports of the pooled tobacco in each county of the burley district were read. The total aggregates 118,702 acres. A number of counties, however, reported that some of the solicitors had not yet turned in their reports, and that these are expected to materially swell the average.

It was decided to extend the time for closing the pool indefinitely, but subject to the board at any time by order of the executive committee.

The district board convened at 2 o'clock, and it was then moved and seconded that the pledges be called for from the various counties, which was done, with the following results:

County	Acres	County	Acres
Anderson	1,600	Shelby	3,675
Barren	1,965	Trimble	2,598
Boone	2,775	Washington	445
Bourbon	2,738	Woodford	2,575
Bracken	7,073	Gallatin	2,291
Campbell	624	Adams	1,050
Clark	2,251	Brown	2,308
Casey	54	Clermont	1,206
Carroll	2,750	Scioto	500
Fayette	1,781	Switzerland,
Fleming	5,410	Ind.	500
Franklin	4,416	Marion, Ind.	102
Ohio	106	Dearborn,
Grant	5,611	Ind.	105
Harrison	7,514	Green, Ind.	800
Hart	2,371	Larue, Ind.	750
Henry	2,400	Mead, Ind.	500
Jessamine	1,400	Hardin	900
Lewis	1,800	Oldham	433
Kenton	1,346	Garrard	150
Madison	117	Boyle	61
Mercer	1,200	Bowen	269
Mason	7,834	Nelson	3
Montgomery	800	Lincoln	32
Nicholas	3,703	Morrowsville,
Owen	7,283	Ind.	85
Pendleton	3,107	Bath	400
Robertson	2,900	Bullitt	150
Scott	6,702
Spencer	1,609	Total	118,702

The figures given were for the actual average as shown by the pledges delivered, and a majority of the counties report from one to five solicitors to hear from.

A number of the county chairmen in reporting their respective counties told of numerous sales being made at prices ranging from 11 to 16 cents.

A motion was then made and carried to extend the time of closing the pool indefinitely, but subject to be closed at any time by order of the executive board. The minutes of the meeting held the first week in October were then read and with some slight changes accepted.

Mr. C. M. Hanna then moved that a committee be appointed to confer with the other American Society of Equity tobacco organizations in Southern Kentucky, and that these organizations be asked to co-operate with the Burley Tobacco Society in selling this year's crop.

The Burley Tobacco and Insurance Company with a capital of $2,000,000 has filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State at Frankfort. Clarence LeBus is president; A. L. Ferguson, vice president, and G. A. Brooks, secretary. The board of directors is composed of the members of the district board of the Burley Tobacco Society. The company will be ready to begin business at once handling, and insuring the pooled tobacco at Lexington.

Gone South.

Owen S. Watts and wife, of Walton, left last Thursday night by way of the Louisville and Nashville railway, for their new home, Inland, a town not far from Birmingham, Alabama, where Messrs Watts and D. B. Wallace, have large coal mine interests, and which Mr. Watts will manage. He leaves many friends here who hope that he may realize his fondest expectations in his new business.

Lost its Purchasing Power.

From the very high prices that some of the necessaries of life are commanding it looks like Uncle Sam's dollar has lost about half its purchasing power—in other words the country is up against the 50 cent dollar proposition.

Following are a few conundrums and their answers, taken from Pick-Me-Up, that are so full of unvarnished truth that I could not resist the temptation to copy them: What is marriage? Marriage is an institution for the blind. Why do some people never marry? Because they do not believe in divorce. When a man thinks seriously of matrimony what happens? He remains single. When a girl refers to a sad courtship what does she mean? She means that the man got away. Is an engagement as good as a marriage? It is better. When a man says he can manage his wife, what does he mean? He means he can make her do anything she wants to do. When a child is smart and good to whose family is it due? To its mother's. When a child is bad and stupid, to whose family is it due? Ask its mother. Is it possible for a married man to be a fool and not know it? Not, if his wife is alive.

A Shortage in the Pig Crop.

The American Swineherd says: "From the general tenor of letters received from breeders in the different parts of the country, we are led to believe that the pig crop will be demonstrated a short one. The fact is we have been getting into this condition for 18 months or more. High priced grain and pork below a comparative price of grain caused people to market their hogs close and to save fewer sows. As one man said in the office, it is very hard to convince a farmer when he can get 70 cents cash a bushel for his corn at his town elevator, that it was not his duty to cash it in there, instead of feeding it to hogs or any other animals. The shortage is showing in the number of hogs that are being marketed, as they are below previous years, while the number of consumers are constantly increasing."

Balance the Ration.

By the use of ensilage the ration can be greatly cheapened, but ensilage is not a balanced food, and must not therefore be used exclusively. A ration of 45 pounds of ensilage, 8 pounds of clover hay, 1 pound of bran and 1 of linseed meal will cost about 10 cents a day and be as nearly balanced as can be desired. This ration will be better digested than one composed mostly of dry food, and the ensilage can be grown from a silage corn at a cost below that of any other food that can be procured on the farm.—Ex.

Town Elections.

In Petersburg there is no contest for the local offices to be filled at the November election, but in Florence and Walton, there are contests that are proving quite interesting. Florence has two tickets in the field, while Walton has four. Nothing can stir up a community equal to a canvass for town or for a small district office, and often it causes advision in a small communityit takes a long time to heal. It is hoped nothing of that kind will result from either of the above contests.

The Bed-Rock of Success.

lies in a keen, clear brain, backed by indomitable will and resistless energy. Such power comes from the splendid health that Dr. King's New Life Pills impart. They vitalize every organ and build up brain and body. J. A. Harmon, Lizemore, W. Va., writes: "They are the best pills I ever used." 25c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

One of the largest sail boats that has passed here for years stopped last Thursday afternoon. The Miami has two masts and her owner Chas. Billup, of Lawrenceburg, Indiana, claims she can make 14 miles an hour up-stream with a good wind. He is going up the Kentucky river and from there will go to Louisville.—Warsaw Leader.

Rabbits are Fat.

If frost fattens rabbits the Mollie Cottons ought to be in excellent condition now, and by the time shooting at them is permitted they will be exceedingly juicy.

Fighting Leaves.

The women about town have begun the annual autumn fight with the leaves to prevent them from accumulating about their doors.

Some nice fall weather since the 20th inst.

D. M. Snyder is having a new roof put on his barn.

Read Geo. C. Goode's new advertisement in this issue.

Everybody is wishing for a considerable period of nice weather.

For Sale—Eight nice shoats. Apply to John Hogan, near Mt. Zion.

For Sale—No. 1 cow and her calf. Apply to C. L. Aylor, Florence.

Get good and ready for winter, which is liable to begin at most any time now.

Horace Hewitt, the sewing machine man, was transacting business in Burlington, Monday.

Your attention is called to the advertisement of M. L. Swetman & Sons, of Covington, in this issue.

Jordon Beall was in Burlington, Monday, and had a stalk of bamboo which grew to the height of 25 feet on his farm this year.

Big Crops.

Already are some of the farmers beginning to discuss the large crops of tobacco they will raise in 1910, if conditions are favorable.

More to Follow.

Matrimony has about become epidemic in Petersburg and vicinity in the last few weeks and besides the weddings that have taken place and those announced, more are to follow.

Kentucky State Grange.

The Kentucky State Grange is in session at Paris, Bourbon county, this week. It is expected to be one of the most important meetings in the history of the organization.

Looked Like Spring.

The alfalfa on the hill sides about Constance gave that locality a spring-like appearance last week, some of the alfalfa looking like it was about ready again for the harvester.

Don't Go Hunting.

Boys, don't get too impatient and go to the fields after rabbits and birds before the hunting season is opened. Several persons in adjoining counties have already got into trouble by killing rabbits.

A Good Meeting.

The local literary society met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Carver, last Friday evening, where it was entertained handsomely. Several good papers were read, while other features of the meeting were highly entertaining.

Knocked out by the Weather.

Uncertain weather knocked out the game of base ball which was to have been played by the Cincinnati Reds and the Rising Sun team on the grounds of the latter last Thursday. A large crowd of Kentucky fans would have been on hand had the game not been called off.

Selling Tobacco.

Tobacco buyers from Madison are picking up all the loose tobacco in Trimble, Henry and Carroll. The Indiana territory has been thoroughly canvassed. Buyers have also secured a lot in Owen and the lower end of Gallatin, which is to be delivered here. We are displeased that the grower has not gone into the pool. If the contract had been what the News insisted upon there would not have been a solitary crop in Carroll county.—Carrollton News.

A Big Party.

The crowd that assembled at William Hedges' out on Gunpowder Heights, last Friday night, to participate in the celebration of his son, Clifford's, birthday, numbered one hundred, and came from Belleview, Union, Bullitt-ville, Hebron, Florence and Burlington neighborhoods. It was a lively but well behaved assemblage of young people, who kept up the dance until five o'clock Saturday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Hedges and their son, always good entertainers, were at their best last Friday night, and the delightful occasion will long be remembered by every guest.

OUR FIRST FALL SHIPMENT OF

GODMAN SHOES

IS ABOUT GONE.

Our Second Fall Shipment Just Opened Up. Come at once and get a Good Selection before numbers are broken. These Shoes are, without doubt, the

Best Shoes Ever Sold in our Store

ALREADY FAMOUS FOR GOOD SHOES.

WE HANDLE THE FAMOUS

Ball Band Wool Boot & Rubber

OUR WINTER STOCK OF

Blankets, Comforts, Woolens, Yarns, Underwear, Etc.,

IS NOW COMPLETE.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

GIVE US A CALL.

Remember the Election.

There is nothing on the surface in this county that indicates that a very important election is to be held on next Tuesday, an election at which the officers chosen are men who deal directly with local affairs, and it is local affairs after all in which the average citizen is interested. In this county a Democratic nomination for office is regarded as equivalent to an election, consequently after the primary election the interest in the nominees dies out and a small vote is polled at the regular election, and the indications now are that the Democratic vote polled next Tuesday will be unusually small. It should be otherwise and the ticket from the top to the bottom ought to receive the entire party vote. The nominees are entitled to no less a compliment on the part of their party, and each precinct should try to cast a larger per cent of its vote than any other precinct in the county. Don't forget that next Tuesday is election day. Kiss your wife that morning and go to the polls and vote the Democratic ticket.

Slow to Act.

Crittenden, Grant county, has several cases of smallpox among its citizens, the disease being mostly confined to the colored people. When the first cases appeared very little attention was paid to them, and in a short time nearly everybody in the town had been exposed, and the number of patients began to increase, and finally the county board of health met and took such steps as were necessary under the circumstances. In one or two instances the patients have been very sick. The town has not been quarantined, but the yellow flag is displayed at every house where there is a smallpox patient.

Selling Out.

I am going to sell all my jewelry stock and quit handling jewelry in Burlington. My prices quoted on watches last week will remain the same until all are gone. I have a fine assortment of rings as well as clocks and jewelry. All will go at your own price. Remember when these are gone there will be no more bargains offered by me, so don't fail to take advantage while my stock lasts. R. W. CLARK.

Nursing a Broken Limb.

Otis Adams, son of T. J. Adams, of Hebron neighborhood, is home from Cincinnati, nursing a broken lower limb. He drives a wagon for French Bros.' milk depot, and five weeks ago he was thrown by an unruly horse and the wagon ran over one of his legs breaking it.

Posting.

Land owners are beginning to post their premises against invasions by hunters. The list will increase from week to week.

Hogs Will Not Be Cheap.

Several times attention has been called to the fact that no one need to expect cheap hogs soon unless a large crop of them is grown next year. The Live Stock Report of Chicago says also:

Students of conditions affecting the hog trade are nearly a unit in the conclusion that there are no "cheap" hogs in sight. Discounting the claims of a shortage in the supply of matured and immature hogs, as proclaimed by shippers and producers, it cannot be disputed there is extant a decided discrepancy as compared with recent averages. Highest "fall" prices in twenty-seven years, or since 1882, and highest September average prices since the war, combined with the old bugaboo that packers always exert bear pressure prior to the opening of the winter packing season, failed to drive in a run, the best evidence to most minds that the country does not possess the goods. Careful compilation of reports from Clay, Robinson & Co.'s nine offices indicated weeks since that there was decided reduction in the number of young hogs in farmers' hands. That this condition exists generally over the hog producing territory, was corroborated last week by the results of a compilation of reports to the Department of Agriculture. It is further indicated by the demand for stock hogs from practically every section of the feeding belt. Heavy cattle feeding operators will be especially hampered by their inability to secure young hogs in necessary totals. Time was perhaps when the hog raiser could be a little careless of the health and opportunity for growth of his young swine. He is far from facing such a condition now. Prospects are so favorable that the hog will continue so valuable a product of the farm that extreme measures to insure his health, comfort and rapid growth are surely warranted. Don't hurry him to market by the green corn route; give the brood sows extra care and attention and thus add to your profits. He who reaps greatest benefit from a condition affecting trade is he who grasps it quickest, then obeys the dictates of his judgment and plays the string out. There are no "cheap" hogs in sight for many, many moons.

Will Move.

T. J. Adams of Hebron neighborhood, will move in a few days from where he now resides to the Luce farm on the river below Constance.

Good to Look Upon.

It does one good as passing thru the country to gaze upon the large shocks of corn that stand thick in the fields.

For Sale—14 nice heifers—good beef. Apply to John Presser near Waterloo. HORACE HEWETT.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNETT

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY A.C. MCCLURG & CO.

By Evening She Had Her Tree-Cave in a Habitable Condition.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights.

CHAPTER X.—Continued.

The hot ashes flew up in her face and powdered her hair with their gray dust; yet she persisted, blowing steadily until a shred of bark caught the sparks and flared up in a tiny flame. A little more, and she had a strong fire blazing against the tree trunk.

She rested a short time, relaxing both mentally and physically in the satisfying consciousness that Blake never should know how near she had come to failing in her trust.

Soon she became aware of a keen feeling of thirst and hunger. She rose, piled a fresh supply of sticks on the fire, and hastened back through the cleft toward the spring. Around the baobab she came upon Winthrope, working in the shade of the great tree. The three leopard skins had been stretched upon bamboo frames, and he was resignedly scraping at their inner surfaces with a smooth-edged stone. Miss Leslie did not look too closely at the operation.

"Where is—he?" she asked.

Winthrope motioned down the cleft.

"I hope he hasn't gone far. I'm half famished. Aren't you?"

"Really, Miss Genevieve, it is odd, you know. Not an hour since, the very thought of food—"

"And now you're as hungry as I am. Oh, I do wish he had not gone off just at the wrong time!"

"He went to take a dip in the sea. You know, he got so messed up over the nastiest part of the work, which I positively refused to do—"

"What's that beyond the bamboos? There's something alive!"

"Pray, don't be alarmed. It is—er—it's all right, Miss Genevieve, I assure you."

"But what is it? Such queer noises, and I see something alive!"

"Only the vlutures, if you must know. Nothing else, I assure you."

"Oh!"

"It is all out of sight from the spring. You are not to go around the bamboos until the—that is, not to-day."

"Did Mr. Blake say that?"

"Why, yes—to be sure. He also said to tell you that the cutlets were on the top shelf."

"You mean—?"

"His way of ordering you to cook our dinner. Really, Miss Genevieve, I should be pleased to take your place, but I have been told to keep to this. It is hard to take orders from a low fellow—very hard for a gentleman, you know."

Miss Leslie gazed at her shapely hands. Three days since she could not have conceived of their being so rough and scratched and dirty. Yet her disgust at their condition was not entirely unqualified.

"At least I have something to show for them," she murmured.

"I beg pardon," said Winthrope.

"Just look at my hands—like a servant's! And yet I am not nearly so ashamed of them as I would have fancied. It is very amusing, but do you know, I actually feel proud that I have done something—something useful, I mean."

"Useful?—I call it shocking, Miss Genevieve. It is simply vile that people of our breeding should be compelled to do such menial work. They write no end of romances about castways; but I fail to see the romance in scraping skins Indian fashion, as this fellow Blake calls it."

"I suppose, though, we should remember how much Mr. Blake is doing for us, and should try to make the best of the situation."

"It has no best. It is all a beastly muddle," complained Winthrope, and he resumed his nervous scraping at the big leopard skin.

The girl studied his face for a moment, and turned away. She had been trying so hard to forget.

He heard her leave, and called after, without looking up: "Please remember. He said to cook some meat."

She did not answer. Having satisfied her thirst at the spring, she took one of the bamboo rods, with its haggled remaining pieces of flesh, and returned to the fire. After some little experimenting, she contrived a way to support the rod beside the fire so that all the meat would roast without burning.

At first, keen as was her hunger, she turned with disgust from the flabby sun-seared flesh; but as it began to roast, the odor restored her appetite to full vigor. Her mouth fairly watered. It seemed as though Winthrope and Blake would never come. She heard their voices, and took the bamboo spit from the fire for the meat to cool. Still they failed to appear, and, unable to wait longer, she began to eat. The cub meat proved far more tender than that of the old leopard. She had helped herself to the second piece before the two men appeared.

"Hold on, Miss Jenny; fair play!" sang out Blake. "You've set to without tooting the dinner-horn. I don't blame you, though. That smells mighty good."

Both men caught at the hot meat with eagerness, and Winthrope promptly forgot all else in the animal pleasure of satisfying his hunger. Blake, though no less hungry, only waited to fill his mouth before investigating the condition of the prospective tree ladder. The result of the attempt to burn the trunk did not seem encouraging to the others, and Miss Leslie looked away, that her face might not betray her, should he have an inkling of her neglect. She was relieved by the cheerfulness of his tone.

"Slow work, this fire business—eh? Guess, though, it'll go faster this afternoon. The green wood is killed and is getting dried out. Anyway, we've got to keep at it till the tree goes over. This spring leopard won't last long at the present rate of consumption, and we'll need the eggs to keep us going till we get the hang of our bows."

"What is that smoke back there?" interrupted Miss Leslie. "Can it be that the fire down the cleft has sprung up again?"

"No; it's your fumigation. You had plenty of brush on hand, so I heaved it into the hole and touched it off. While it's burning out you can put in time gathering ring grass and leaves for a bed."

"Would you and Mr. Winthrope mind breaking off some bamboos for me?"

"What for?"

Miss Leslie colored and hesitated. "I—I should like to divide off a corner of the place with a wall or screen."

Winthrope tried to catch Blake's eye; but the American was gazing at Miss Leslie's embarrassed face with a puzzled look. Her meaning dawned upon him, and he hastened to reply.

"All right, Miss Jenny. You can build your wall to suit yourself. But there'll be no hurry over it. Until the rains begin, Win and I'll sleep out in the open. We'll have to take turn about on watch at night, anyway. If we don't keep up a fire some other spotted kitty will be sure to come nosing up the gully."

"There must also be lions in the vicinity," added Winthrope.

Miss Leslie said nothing until after the last pieces of meat had been handed around and Blake sprang up to resume work.

"Mr. Blake," she called, in a low tone; "one moment, please. Would it save much bother if a door was made and you and Mr. Winthrope should sleep inside?"

"We'll see about that later," replied Blake, carelessly.

The girl bit her lip, and the tears started to her eyes. Even Winthrope had started off without expressing his appreciation. Yet he at least should have realized how much it had cost her to make such an offer.

By evening she had her tree-cave—house, she preferred to name it to herself—in a habitable condition. When the purifying fire had burnt itself out, leaving the place free from all odors other than the wholesome smell of wood smoke, she had asked Blake how she could rake out the ashes. His advice was to wet them down where they lay.

This was easier said than done. Fortunately the spring was only a few yards distant, and after many trips, with her palm-leaf hat for bowl, the girl carried enough water to sprinkle all the powdery ashes. Over them she strewed the leaves and grass which she had gathered while the fire was burning. The driest of the grass, arranged in a far corner, promised a more comfortable bed than had been her lot for the last three nights.

During this work she had been careful not to forget the fire at the tree. Yet when, near sundown, she called the third meal of leopard meat, Blake grumbled at the tree for being what he termed such a confounded tough proposition.

"Good thing there's lots of wood here, Win," he added. "We'll keep this fire going till the blamed thing topples over, if it takes a year."

"Oh, but you surely will not stay so far from the baobab to-night!" exclaimed Miss Leslie.

"Hold hard!" soothed Blake. "You've no license to get the jumps yet a while. We'll have another fire by the baobab. So you needn't worry."

A few minutes later they went back to the baobab, and Winthrop began helping Miss Leslie to construct a bamboo screen in the narrow entrance of the tree-cave, while Blake built the second fire.

As Winthrope was unable to tell time by the stars, Blake took the first watch. At sunset, following the engineer's advice, Winthrope lay down with his feet to the small watch-fire, and was asleep before twilight had deepened into night. Fagged out by the mental and bodily stress of the day, he slept so soundly that it seemed to him he hardly lost consciousness when he was roused by a rough hand on his forehead.

"What is it?" he mumbled.

"'Bout one o'clock," said Blake. "Wake up! I ran overtime, 'cause the morning watch is the toughest. But I can't keep 'wake any longer."

"I say, this is a beastly bore," remarked Winthrope, sitting up.

"Um-m," grunted Blake, who was already on his back.

Winthrope rubbed his eyes, rose wearily, and drew a blazing stick from the fire. With this upraised as a torch he peered around into the darkness and advanced towards the spring.

When, having satisfied his thirst, he returned somewhat hurriedly to the fire, he was startled by the sight of a pale face gazing at him from between the leaves of the bamboo screen.

"My dear Miss Genevieve, what is the matter?" he exclaimed.

"Hush! Is he asleep?"

"Like a top."

"Thank heaven! Good-night."

"Good-night—er—I say, Miss Genevieve—"

But the girl disappeared, and Winthrope, after a glance at Blake's placid face, hurried along the cleft to stack the other fire. When he returned he noticed two bamboo rods which Blake had begun to shape into bow staves. He looked them over, with a sneer at Blake's seemingly unskilful workmanship; but he made no attempt to finish the bows.

CHAPTER XI.

A Despoiled Wardrobe.

SOON after sunrise Miss Leslie was awakened by the snap and dull crash of a falling tree. She made a hasty toilet and ran out around the baobab. The burned tree, eaten half through by the fire, had been pushed over against the cliff by Blake and Winthrope. Both had already climbed up and now stood on the edge of the cliff.

"Hello, Miss Jenny!" shouted Blake. "We've got here at last. Want to come up?"

"Not now, thank you."

"It's easy enough. But you're right. Try your hand again at the cutlets, won't you? While they're frying we'll get some eggs for dessert. How does that strike you?"

"We have no way to cook them."

"Roast 'em in the ashes. So long!"

Miss Leslie cooked breakfast over the watchfire, for the other had been scattered and stamped out by the men when the tree fell. They came back in good time, walking carefully, that they might not break the eggs with which their pockets bulged. Between them, they had brought a round dozen and a half. Blake promptly began stowing all in the hot ashes, while Winthrope related their little adventure with unwonted enthusiasm.

"You should have come with us, Miss Genevieve," he began. "This time of day it is glorious on the cliff top. Though the rock is bare, there is a fine view—"

"Fine view of grub near the end," interpolated Blake.

"As, yes; the birds—you must take a look at them, Miss Genevieve! The sea end of the cliff is alive with them—hundreds and thousands, all huddled together and fighting for room. They are a sight, I assure you! They're plucky, too. It was well we took sticks with us. As it was, one of the gannets—boobies, Blake calls them—caught me a nasty nip when I went to lift her off the nest."

"Best way is to kick them off," explained Blake. "But the point is that we've hopped over the starvation stile. Understand? The whole blessed cliff end is an omelette waiting for our pan. Pass the leopardettes, Miss Jenny."

When the last bit of meat had disappeared, Blake raked the eggs from the ashes and began to crack them, solemnly sniffing at each before he laid it on its leaf platter. Some were a trifle "high." None, however, were thrown away.

When it was all over, Winthrope contemplated the scattered shells with a satisfied air.

"Do you know," he remarked, "this is the first time I've felt—er—replenished since we found those cocoanuts."

"How about one of 'em now to top off on?" questioned Blake.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Why Musicians Wear Long Hair.

"Why do musicians wear long hair?" said the barber. "Pshaw, I thought everybody knew that. They wear long hair to protect their ears, of course—their sensitive ears. All depends, with musicians, on the ears, the same as all depends on the eyes with painters. And the ears of musicians are delicate, liable to take cold, liable to aches, inflammations and what not. So they protect them with long hair, and you have no more right to laugh at the mane of a pianist or violinist than at the protective shields and pads of your favorite halfback."

Law.

Of law there can be no less acknowledged than that her seat is the bosom of God, her voice the harmony of the world; all things in heaven and earth do her homage, the very least as feeling her care, and the greatest as not exempted from her power; both angels and men and creatures of what condition soever, though each in different sort and manner, yet all with uniform consent, admiring her as the mother of their peace and joy.—Richard Hooker.

WHAT SHE WANTED

"Did you bring a fashion journal?" asked Mrs. Hodgeson as she led Miss Blake, the dressmaker, into the sewing room. Before Miss Blake could answer Mrs. Hodgeson went on: "But I don't care whether you did or not, for I have decided to have an empire frock. I didn't have one all last year because I thought I was too stout, but since I've seen Mrs. Eldredge in her blue satin I've made up my mind that no one is too fat to wear short-waisted gowns. Of course, she looks like a perfect tub in hers, but I'm not nearly as big as she is, am I?"

"No-o," murmured Miss Blake.

"Well, just cut the lining for an empire. We can decide on the trimmings later."

"Do you want the gown to trail?"

"Why, of course. An empire has to, doesn't it?"

"Oh, no; I've made several which clear the floor all the way round."

"Cut it with a train and if I don't like it we can change it."

"It would be better to decide now," said Miss Blake patiently.

"But I can't tell till I see how it will look with a train.

"Very well. Now I'll take your measure, please."

After a few minutes of extremely restless standing Mrs. Hodgeson exclaimed, "I had no idea that you'd need so many measurements for just one of these short-waisted gowns."

"The lining has to be fitted carefully if we expect the outside to set nicely," declared Miss Blake.

"Well, I'll rest a little while you got the lining together."

Mrs. Hodgeson dropped on the sofa as if exhausted and lay there until she caught sight of a large magazine on the bureau where Miss Blake had deposited her hat and gloves.

"Oh, you did bring a fashion book, didn't you?" said Mrs. Hodgeson. "I'll look at the pictures while I rest."

Miss Blake was just finishing the basting of the long length of silesia when Mrs. Hodgeson startled her with an almost tragic cry of "Stop, stop at once!"

"Why, what's the matter?" asked the dressmaker, as her scissors dropped to the floor and her eyeglasses fell off her nose. "Is anything wrong?"

"Wrong! I should say so. Why, every dress in this journal has a long waist. The belts or sashes are below the hips. I don't want a short-waisted gown such as everbody had last winter when every one who is up to date in wearing long-waisted ones. I should think you would have told me, Miss Blake, what the latest style was. I quite depended on you. It's too bad."

Mrs. Hodgeson's bitter tone almost brought tears to Miss Blake's eyes, but she replied as bravely as she could: "You said you had decided on the empire and they are not out of style at all. I've made a great many this season."

"That's it. They're dreadfully common. I want something new. You'll just have to make that lining over into a long-waisted effect. Fortunately you have not cut into the goods."

Miss Blake said nothing, but began to rip the lining with determined snips of the scissors.

"I think the long waist will be more becoming to me, too," remarked Mrs. Hodgeson. "See how slender the woman in this picture looks. It's all the effect of the extremely long waist. Don't you think that style will suit my figure?"

"Why, I suppose so."

"Would you advise a net yoke and sleeves like these in the picture?"

"They are very pretty."

"Well, I'll telephone my husband to bring home the goods. He's a fearfully poor shopper and he loathes a dry-goods store, but if you tell me just what to get and exactly how much I think he can't make a mistake. I'll ask him to come home early with it."

When the long-waisted lining was ready to fit Mrs. Hodgeson said: "I don't seem to look much like the woman in the fashion book." She surveyed her rotund figure in the mirror dubiously during the process of fitting. "But of course the lining looks funny without any goods or trimming. Gracious, I'm glad it's over. How tedious fitting is. I think I'll have to rest again."

Miss Blake sewed in quiet while Mrs. Hodgeson slumbered on the sofa. The latter woke only when her husband came into the sewing room with a parcel.

"Well," he said, "I hope I got here early enough. I broke two engagements and almost broke my neck as well running for the mid-afternoon express so as not to keep you good people waiting. I think I've earned a little golf now."

Mrs. Hodgeson took the package, around which her husband had rolled the evening paper. As she started to unwrap it her eye fell upon thrilling headlines. After an instant's excited reading she exclaimed: "Miss Blake, this paper says that both short waists and long waists are going out—that normal waist lines are to be the thing now. What a shame we didn't know about it! All this time wasted! And this net, too! I shan't want sleeves and yoke of it now if the whole style of my dress is changed. You'll have to take it back to-morrow," turning to her husband, "and Miss Blake, we'll have to fit another lining, won't we?"

"I suppose so," answered Miss Blake.

THE CAT OUT OF THE BAG.

Mrs. Bauer—Tell my son-in-law that I thank him for his invitation, but am unable to accept it.

Servant—Good. He promised me half a dollar if you weren't able to come.

The Reason Why.

"I wonder why men don't take more interest in the primary!"

"Possibly because it is a secondary consideration."—Baltimore American.

Stop guessing! Try the best and most certain remedy for all painful ailments—Hamlins Wizard Oil. The way it relieves all soreness from sprains, cuts, wounds, burns, scalds, etc., is wonderful.

It seems strange to the masculine intelligence that many a woman who is afraid of a mouse isn't a bit afraid of her husband.

Pettit's Eye Salve Restores.

No matter how badly the eyes may be diseased or injured. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Only a disinterested third party is able to realize that there are two sides to a question.

LOSE NO SLEEP

through a nagging cough or irritated throat. Allen's Lung Balsam will heal the affection quickly and harmlessly. All druggists. 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles.

Ever hear of a man getting rich by following the advice given in books on the subject?

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Boarding house coffee is one of the things that are well roasted.

An aching back is instantly relieved by an application of Sloan's Liniment.

This liniment takes the place of massage and is better than sticky plasters. It penetrates—without rubbing—through the skin and muscular tissue right to the bone, quickens the blood, relieves congestion, and gives permanent as well as temporary relief.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. JAMES C. LEE, of 1100 9th St., S.E., Washington, D.C., writes: "Thirty years ago I fell from a scaffold and seriously injured my back. I suffered terribly at times; from the small of my back all around my stomach was like an if I had been beaten with a club. I used every plaster I could get with no relief. Sloan's Liniment took the pain right out, and I can now do as much ladder work as any man in the shop, thanks to

Sloan's Liniment

Mr. J. P. EVANS, of Mt. Airy, Ga., says: "After being afflicted for three years with rheumatism, I used Sloan's Liniment, and was cured, sound and well, and am glad to say I haven't been troubled with rheumatism since. My leg was badly swollen from my hip to my knee. One-half a bottle took the pain and swelling out."

Sloan's Liniment has no equal as a remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints.

Prices, 25c., 50c. and $1.00

Sloan's book on horses, cattle, sheep and poultry sent free. Address

Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass., U.S.A.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Save the Baby—Use

PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS & COLDS

Should be given at once when the little one coughs. It heals the delicate throat and protects the lungs from infection—guaranteed safe and very palatable.

All Druggists, 25 cents.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

If the laand is free from burs and cockles, let the sheep run over the grain and cornfields.

Regular feed, clean, pure water and good housing will prove encouragement to the flock to do their best.

The farm is the place to grow the finest type of manhood. Happy is the farmer who is raising a good crop.

Fertile, moist land will often continue producing good, profitable crops of market hay for an ordinary working lifetime.

Before retiring at night visit the stable and see that everything is all right. You may save a good horse by this little attention.

All fallen and wormy fruit fed to the pigs will do them good and return a profit to the farmer. It will also keep down the insect pests.

It is a good thing to keep accounts of all farming operations to know just where one is at all the time. We all like to know what the other farmer is doing, how he does it, and how much he makes.

It is time to pot Bermuda lilies, if you wish to have them in flower at Christmas rather than (like all the world), at Easter. Freesias, too, should be potted immediately for Christmas flowering.

Many complain that the birds eat up all of their sunflower seeds. This may be true in very rare cases, but it is not generally true. Some birds will eat some of them, but some waste in all crops must be expected.

Among bulbs suited to the window garden, the cyclamen is one of the most interesting varieties. The foliage is neat and elegant, and the whole growth makes a compact little bouquet. The flowers are unusually picturesque in their form.

Those who intend setting out trees and other plants in the fall should make their selections and have their orders in ahead of shipping time. Deal with agents and nurserymen who are known to be honest and who have stock that is up to grade and will grow.

Many farmers have a notion that because sheep will eat weeds and the leaves of brush they do not need any other kind of food. Often when there are no weeds or grass in the pasture the sheep are allowed to graze almost the bare ground, and they are expected to live and thrive on this.

When the colt begins to eat, give it a variety of feeds for the building of the various tissues of its body. Clover hay and wheat bran contain necessary mineral matter for the building of bone. Flax seed meal in small quantities is good for keeping the colt's bowels in good condition and for making its coat sleek.

An occasional bran mash, with about a pint of molasses should be given when a day's rest, or light work can be had. Keep your work team as near in size and shape as possible. By far the most important matter is that they should possess like characteristics of temper, and disposition, so that they will work in harmony.

Instruct your shipper to wrap the roots of the plants well and have him inform you by mail as to the time the shipment is made, so that you can be on the lookout for them and receive them without unnecessary delay. The plants should be insured against funguous diseases and injurious insects. Most states enforce this legally.

The durum wheat seems to have plenty of good qualities, and is coming to the front every year in western Nebraska and Kansas. Such being the case, the millers might as well make up their minds to deal with it. Farmers in the western part of this state are just finding out how to raise it; in years past they have not sowed it early enough and have not used enough seed.

Nitrogen must be maintained by legume crops and the best legume for the corn belt is clover. The clover crop should be left on the ground. If removed, not much, if any, nitrogen is added to the soil. If the crop is removed and fed to average live stock and the manure given average care and hauled back to the field, the loss is nearly one-half of the plant food and three-fourths of the organic matter. If a good crop of clover is left on the ground once every three or four years, only the seeds being removed, it will supply sufficient nitrogen for quite large grain crops.

Give the colts plenty of room to run about in.

Chilly nights makes one think of the winter's supply of fuel.

Be regular in cleaning the hen house and you will not be troubled with vermin.

Working capital for the successful farmer: Money, 25 per cent.; brains, 75 per cent.

Sheep are exceedingly fond of turnips. Harvest the largest and leave the remainder for the sheep.

A general observance of care in gathering eggs, resulting in fewer rots and spots, will raise the average price.

When getting machinery for the dairy, get the best appliances you can, but remember that it requires gumption to work it.

After you have worn out a horse by hard work do not sell him for a mere song. His faithfulness should not go unrewarded.

Introduction of new blood into a flock of noted layers strengthens the blood, if the newcomers are close descendants of a strain of prolific layers.

The old Madonna lily or St. Joseph's lily (lilium candidum), is still one of the most noble and stately of our garden lilies, and this is its planting season.

Daffodils are perhaps the first choice, with crocus, snowdrops and grape hyacinths for variety, and in shady places lilies of the valley and some others.

Hay farming with chemicals as commonly practiced no doubt removes more fertility than it restores, but the process is very slow and no doubt highly profitable under right conditions.

Rhubarb needs plenty of rich fertilizer. Equal parts of hen and horse manure with autumn leaves to cover the crowns during the severe winter months will keep the plants for early spring sprouting.

If the hen has to battle with the strain of growing new feathers with a short supply of nourishing feeds, her flesh will be used up for making feathers and she will grow poor and weak under the strain.

With most of the tuberous and bulbous plants it is imperative to reset in the fall in order to secure a new root growth before the dormant season of midwinter, so that early growth and blossoming will take place.

The Dutch bulbs, so-called tulips, hyacinths and crocuses—have a distinctive charm in their whole form, color and manner of growth, which gives them a very secure place of their own in the floral census of the year.

Rhubarb roots should be re-planted occasionally. If the stools remain undisturbed for several years they often commence to decay in the center and after awhile the whole root becomes diseased. Do not allow the seed stock to ripen.

Straw manure makes an excellent filler for the washy places in the fields. It will fill the holes and catch all the soil that washes into them. The manure contained in the straw will help to make the ground more productive when it is again cultivated.

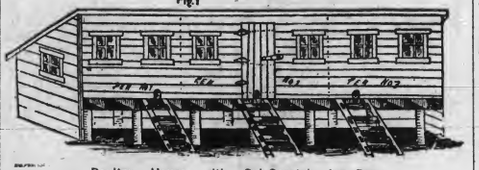
The results from more than 100 cooperative experiments in growing alfalfa, located in over one-half of the counties of New York State, indicate that where neither lime nor inoculation is applied the chance of a successful crop is not more than 20 per cent., or one chance in five.

With the high price of both wool and lambs, it is important that we should give the sheep and lambs extra attention during the most trying seasons of the year. One of these trying seasons is during the latter part of the hot months when the weather is excessively warm and pastures short.

Much improvement can be made by the weaning of the lambs in the summertime, by doing this the ewes are given a chance to recuperate before the next breeding season. These lambs if put on fresh green pasture will also fatten and be in better market condition than if let run with the ewes until late fall.

In several places owners of large herds of dairy cows report that their output this summer has fallen from 10 to 15 per cent. below that of last summer. In most dairy sections, too, there are more cows this year than last, and the fact that less milk is produced this summer than last summer clearly indicates that the average flow per cow has decreased very much.

When the horse refuses to pull, do not get excited and abuse him. Be kind, caress him and allay his excitement by speaking kindly to him. Leave the team alone for ten or fifteen minutes, then urge them again, turning them a little to the right or left, so as to get them in motion before they feel the weight of the load behind them. Drive them about 20 or 30 steps and stop them, if on a hard pull before the excited animal stops of his own accord. Then pat him and start again.



POULTRY HOUSE PLAN WITH SCRATCHING PEN

Best Located on the Side of a Hill to Avoid Standing Water During the Rainy Seasons—By John Sorham.

This is a poultry house which I think will stand the test of all climates. I think it well adapted to the cold climate of Alaska, or the hot climate of Australia, as well as all temperate regions, writes John Sorham in the Poultry Tribune.

It is best to first select a side hill on which to build, so that the water will not be standing around or under the house during rainy seasons. I have mine built on level ground, but shall remodel it soon, digging away about 12 inches of ground from under the house and replacing it with coarse sand. I shall also dig a trench around and close to it, two feet deep, one foot wide, and shall fill in one foot of loose stones, covering with one foot of ground. Tile would be much better than stones to keep the ground dry around the house.

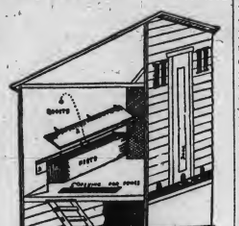


Fig. 1

Poultry House with Sub-Scratch- ing Pen.

The house which I have planned is 8 feet wide, 36 feet in length, consisting of three pens (although it can be divided into any number of pens) each pen being 8x12 feet. The house is 8 feet high in front and 6 feet at the back, and is built with a cheap grade of lumber which is not painted, but a layer of building paper is tacked on, over which is placed a two-ply roofing material. The roof is covered the same way, excepting the paper is covered with three-ply prepared roofing. The floor is double, with a two-inch dead air space, which contains also a layer of building paper; the lumber is good shiplap or tongued and grooved lumber. There is an opening in the floor through which the hens may pass up and down. The step (B) is hinged at the back, with a hook in front so it can be hooked up, completely covering the opening in the floor; each pen is arranged this way. The floor is built two feet from the ground and the hens are fed in this under story in winter. On this basement floor there should be at least six inches of scratching material to keep the fowls busy. This scratching shed under the building is closed up on all sides excepting the front. Each pen is 8x24 feet, making 192 square feet of floor space in which can be kept a flock of 60 hens. In summer I take out the litter and when it rains the fowls all go under the house for shelter.

Section Through Interior.

I have two windows in every pen (above the floor, of course), and when but one pen is built, I also have two windows (one on each side), on the sides. The windows should all be hinged at the top, so as to admit fresh air all over the house when needed, and there should also be a shutter for every window, to be shut on winter nights. These shutters should be made of tongued and grooved lumber and hinged with loose pin steel butts so they may be taken off in warm weather and put out of the way. I always like to have plenty of light and sunshine in the cold winter days, but you know the more windows in the poultry house the colder it is at night, thus you see here is where your shutters come handy. There is also another point in this house which should not be overlooked, that is, the covered roosts. A hinged hood projects over the roosts which keeps the fowls' combs from freezing in severe cold weather. This hood is fastened with loose pin hinges like the shutters and may be taken off in the spring. The hoods are also supplied with hooks and may be hooked up in day time if desired. The roosts (C) are above the nests, between which there is a large dropping board, which also makes a covered passageway (D) for hens to enter the nests. This passageway is open at both ends.

You will notice that in my plan I have only one entrance, this is in the middle pen, while the other pens have a small door for the hens to pass in and out. If you like you may have a door into each pen from single door at the end of the building.

MAKING GATE IN WIRE FENCE

Plan for Making Opening that Can Be Varied to Any Size to Suit—By H. H. Bryant.

In making a gate in a wire fence, use 6x6's for the gate posts and 4x4's for the rest of the posts in the fence. The brace shown at A should be a 4x4, and should be placed two-thirds of the height from the ground on the gate post and one-third of the distance from the ground on the second post. At B is shown a brace made of wire which should be placed around the bottom of the first post, and nailed so that it will not slide. The other end is placed near the top of second post from the gate. By placing a stick in the two strands they can be Cutting Gate in Wire Fence.

twisted and brought taut. The second brace shown at E should be made out of 4x4 fastened to the top of the second post from the gate and secured at the bottom of the third post. The gate frame shown at H, C and F should be made out of 3x3 well put together. Stretch the fence wire across the gate, and cut after stapling firmly to the frame of the gate. Of course, this plan can be varied to any size of length to suit the builder.

Spraying Fruit Trees.

Don't spray only the trees from which you expect to get marketable fruit. Spray all the trees, otherwise the trees you go to the trouble to spray early in the season may become infected later by the unsprayed trees.

Money in Sheep.

Some men have cleared 100 per cent. on their money in sheep for years; but these are the real shepherds. Not every man has the shepherd instinct; but we may all do better than we do.

Corn and Pork.

The farmer who has a number of spring pigs ready for the fattening pens should devote a little time to the study of feeds and their influence on the quality of meat produced. When it is desired to produce pork, or rather fat, one kind of feed is necessary. When the desire is to have lard hogs for the market, no other kind of feed should be used.

Corn is pre-eminently a fat-forming feed, and when the feeder wishes to produce an animal with a great deal of fat to supply the lard trade nothing is better than corn. When the desire is to produce animals for meat alone nothing can be a poorer feed than corn.

The influence of corn on the percentage of fat should be borne in mind and the ration mixed to accomplish the best results.

Manure Currants.

Were you dissatisfied with the size of your currants? Let us whisper a secret. You can improve the fruit greatly by heavy manuring. Now is a good time to apply it. The wood is ripe and is going into its long rest. You may pile straw manure about the bushes so heavily that the grass and weeds, if any, will be smothered, and all the better for the currants. This fruit needs mulching enough to keep the surface cool.

Need of Cream Separators.

With average cows and using the cream separator it is estimated that from $50 to $75 per year can be saved in butterfat with ten cows. This amount will about pay for a good cream separator, and its usefulness will last for many years, making the buying of one a good investment. Being able to sell the cream without hauling the milk to the creamery also saves much time and labor.

Value of Potato.

On account of the starch they contain, potatoes are valuable as food. The potato tuber consists mainly of a mass of cells filled with starch and encircled by a thin, corky rind. As stated, the chief value of the potato as an article of diet consists in the starch it contains, and to a less extent in the potash and other salts. The quantity of nitrogen in its composition is small.

Try This in November.

Thousands upon thousands of families who have not been regular eaters of Quaker Oats will begin on the first of November and eat Quaker Oats once or twice every day for thirty days of this month; the result in good health and more strength and vigor will mean that every other month in the year will find them doing the same thing.

Try it! Serve Quaker Oats plentifully and frequently for the thirty days of November and leave off a corresponding amount of meat and greasy foods. You'll get more health, more vigor and strength than you ever got in thirty days of any other kind of eating.

While you are trying this see that the children get a full share.

Quaker Oats is packed in regular size packages and large size family packages. 7

CALLED TO TIME.

"Ain't she all right, Maria?"

"You might say something nice to me, once in a while, Bob."

United States Leads in Good Work.

In Germany there are 99 public sanatoria for adult consumptives with 10,539 beds, besides 36 private sanatoria with 2,175 beds. In 18 sanatoria for children with tuberculosis there are 837 beds, a total of less than 13,000 beds. The United States has provided over 300 sanatoria with 15,000 beds, showing that this country is in the lead in the anti-tuberculosis war. France has only 12 sanatoria for adult consumptives, with a total capacity of 148 beds. All of these institutions are private except the sanatorium at Aigincourt.

Never Opened His Mouth.

"Not infrequent rays of unconscious humor illumine the otherwise impossible stories that come to my desk from amateurs," says a reader for one of the magazines. Recently I chanced upon this choice bit:

"'John, the husband, and Grace, the wife, ate on together in silence. There was indubitably an ill feeling between them. The husband devoured a plate of soup, half a fish, an entree or two, a piece of roast beef, together with a sweet, without ever once opening his mouth.'"

In Confidence.

"Do your cows give much milk?" queried the fair summer boarder.

"Do they?" echoed the old farmer. "Say, jist atween yew an' me, they give so all-fired much that we dilloot th' well water we sell tew th' campers with it."—Chicago Daily News.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder. It makes tight or new shoes easy. Cures swollen, hot, sweating, aching feet, ingrowing nails. Always use it to Break in new Shoes. At all Druggists, 25c. Don't accept any substitute. Trial package FREE by mail. Address Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N.Y.

Don't think that because a man is willing to lend you a helping hand he'll stand for a touch.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
FOR RHEUMATISM, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, DIABETES, BACKACHE
75 "Guaranteed"

The Wizard of Horticulture

Hon. Luther Burbank

says: "Delicious is a gem—the finest apple in all the world. It is the best in quality of any apple I have so far tested."

And Mr. Burbank knows.

Delicious is but one of the hundreds of good things in Stark Trees—the good things you should know about before you plant this fall or next spring.

Let us tell you about them by writing to-day for our complete, illustrated price-list-catalogue which describes our complete line of fruit trees, ornamentals, etc.

For complete information address the Sales Manager of

Stark Bros., N. & O. Co., Louisiana, Mo.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — Mrs. Emma Imse, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

Sickly Smile

Wipe it off your otherwise good looking face—put on that good health smile that CASCARETS will give you—as a result from the cure of Constipation—or a torpid liver. It's so easy—do it—you'll see. 915

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

FREE

Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer restores original color in mild, healthful manner in from 7 to 14 days. Entirely different from any other. Stops Hair Falling. Is effect is permanent. Does not stain skin or hair like most. Has no sediment, so it's neither sticky nor greasy—it's as pure and clear as water. Don't experiment—use what thousands of others have found safe and satisfactory. For sample and comb illustrated free, write to MARY T. GOLDMAN, 267 Goldman Bldg., St. Paul, Minn. Be sure to mention original color of your hair. Full size bottle for sale by all dealers.

The Modern Razor

NO STROPPING NO HONING

Gillette

KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. Full line stamp and stencil goods. We are no farther from your post office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. Bee Rubber Manufacturing Co.

LIVE STOCK and MISCELLANEOUS ELECTROTYPES

In great variety for sale at the lowest prices by WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION, 147 W. Adams St., Chicago

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 44—1909.

Wanted

A Bright, Capable Man

in each county of this state to sell Stark Trees on commission. No previous experience necessary. The work is pleasant, clean work, highly profitable; and the positions are permanent to the right men.

Many of our salesmen are earning $50 to $80 per month and expenses; some are making more. You can do as well or better if you're a hustler and trying to succeed.

No investment called for; we furnish complete order-getting outfit free and the most liberal contract.

RESINOL

Is the best remedy for stubborn skin and scalp troubles, burns, stings, bruises, boils, and all eruptions. It soothes pain, stops itching and is a certain cure for itching piles. 50 cents a jar, all druggists or sent direct on receipt of price.

RESINOL CHEMICAL COMPANY, BALTIMORE, MD.

"I consider RESINOL OINTMENT indispensable. I have never used anything that gave me so much comfort." W. C. Starbuck, Jamaica Plains, Mass.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY A. C. MCCLURG & CO.

By Evening She Had Her Tree-Cave in a Habitable Condition.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights.

CHAPTER X.—Continued.

The hot ashes flew up in her face and powdered her hair with their gray dust; yet she persisted, blowing steadily until a shred of bark caught the sparks and flared up in a tiny flame. A little more, and she had a strong fire blazing against the tree trunk.

She rested a short time, relaxing both mentally and physically in the satisfying consciousness that Blake never should know how near she had come to failing in her trust.

Soon she became aware of a keen feeling of thirst and hunger. She rose, plied a fresh supply of sticks on the fire, and hastened back through the cleft toward the spring. Around the baobab she came upon Winthrope, working in the shade of the great tree. The three leopard skins had been stretched upon bamboo frames, and he was resignedly scraping at their inner surfaces with a smooth-edged stone. Miss Leslie did not look too closely at the operation.

"Where is—he?" she asked.

Winthrope motioned down the cleft.

"I hope he hasn't gone far. I'm half famished. Aren't you?"

"Really, Miss Genevieve, it is odd, you know. Not an hour since, the very thought of food—"

"And now you're as hungry as I am. Oh, I do wish he had not gone off just at the wrong time!"

"He went to take a dip in the sea. You know, he got so messed up over the nastiest part of the work, which I positively refused to do—"

"What's that beyond the hamhoos? There's something alive!"

"Pray, don't be alarmed. It is—er—it's all right, Miss Genevieve, I assure you."

"But what is it? Such queer noises, and I see something alive!"

"Only the vlutures, if you must know. Nothing else, I assure you."

"Oh!"

"It is all out of sight from the spring. You are not to go around the bamboos until the—that is, not to-day."

"Did Mr. Blake say that?"

"Why, yes—to be sure. He also said to tell you that the cutlets were on the top shelf."

"You mean—?"

"His way of ordering you to cook our dinner. Really, Miss Genevieve, I should be pleased to take your place, but I have been told to keep to this. It is hard to take orders from a low fellow—very hard for a gentleman, you know."

Miss Leslie gazed at her shapely hands. Three days since she could not have conceived of their being so rough and scratched and dirty. Yet her disgust at their condition was not entirely unqualified.

"At least I have something to show for them," she murmured.

"I beg pardon," said Winthrope.

"Just look at my hands—like a servant's! And yet I am not nearly so ashamed of them as I would have fancied. It is very amusing, but do you know, I actually feel proud that I have done something—something useful, I mean."

"Useful?—I call it shocking, Miss Genvieve. It is simply vile that people of our breeding should be compelled to do such meulal work. They write no end of romances about castways; but I fail to see the romance in scraping skins Indian fashion, as this fellow Blake calls it."

"I suppose, though, we should remember how much Mr. Blake is doing for us, and should try to make the best of the situation."

"It has no best. It is all a beastly muddle," complained Winthrope, and he resumed his nervous scraping at the big leopard skin.

The girl studied his face for a moment, and turned away. She had been trying so hard to forget.

He heard her leave, and called after, without looking up: "Please remember. He said to cook some meat."

She did not answer. Having satisfied her thirst at the spring, she took one of the bamboo rods, with its haggled blackening pieces of flesh, and returned to the fire. After some little experimenting, she contrived a way to support the rod beside the fire so that all the meat would roast without burning.

At first, keen as was her hunger, she turned with disgust from the flabby sun-seared flesh; but as it began to roast, the odor restored her appetite to full vigor. Her mouth fairly watered. It seemed as though Winthrope and Blake would never come. She heard their voices, and took the bamboo spit from the fire for the meat to cool. Still they failed to appear, and, unable to wait longer, she began to eat. The cuh meat proved far more tender than that of the old leopard. She had helped herself to the second piece before the two men appeared.

"Hold on, Miss Jenny; fair play!" sang out Blake. "You've set to without tooting the dinner-horn. I don't blame you, though. That smells mighty good."

Both men caught at the hot meat with eagerness, and Winthrope promptly forgot all else in the animal pleasure of satisfying his hunger. Blake, though no less hungry, only waited to fill his mouth before investigating the condition of the prospective tree ladder. The result of the attempt to hurn the trunk did not seem encouraging to the others, and Miss Leslie looked away, that her face might not betray her, should he have an inkling of her neglect. She was relieved by the cheerfulness of his tone.

"Slow work, this fire business—eh? Guess, though, it'll go faster this afternoon. The green wood is killed and is getting dried out. Anyway, we've got to keep at it till the tree goes over. This spring leopard won't last long at the present rate of consumption, and we'll need the eggs to keep us going till we get the hang of our hows."

"What is that smoke back there?" interrupted Miss Leslie. "Can it be that the fire down the cleft has sprung up again?"

"No; it's your fumigation. You had plenty of hrush on hand, so I heaved it into the hole and touched it off. While it's burning out you can put in time gathering ring grass and leaves for a bed."

"Would you and Mr. Winthrope mind breaking off some bamhoos for me?"

"What for?"

Miss Leslie colored and hesitated. "I—I should like to divide off a corner of the place with a wall or screen."

Winthrope tried to catch Blake's eye; but the American was gazing at Miss Leslie's embarrassed face with a puzzled look. Her meaning dawned upon him, and he hastened to reply.

"All right, Miss Jenny. You can build your wall to suit yourself. But there'll be no hurry over it. Until the rains hegin, Win and I'll sleep out in the open. We'll have to take turn about on watch at night, anyway. If we don't keep up a fire some other spotted kitty will be sure to come nosing up the gully."

"There must also he lions in the vicinity," added Winthrope.

Miss Leslie said nothing until after the last pieces of meat had been handed around and Blake sprang up to resume work.

"Mr. Blake," she called, in a low tone; "one moment, please. Would it save much hother if a door was made and you and Mr. Winthrope should sleep inside?"

"We'll see ahout that later," replied Blake, carelessly.

The girl hit her lip, and the tears started to her eyes. Even Winthrope had started off without expressing his appreciation. Yet he at least should have realized how much it had cost her to make such an offer.

By evening she had her tree-cave—house, she preferred to name it to herself—in a hahitahle condition. When the purifying fire had hurnt itself out, leaving the place free from all odors other than the wholesome smell of wood smoke, she had asked Blake how she could rake out the ashes. His advice was to wet them down where they lay.

This was easier said than done. Fortunately the spring was only a few yards distant, and after many trips, with her palm-leaf hat for bowl, the girl carried enough water to sprinkle all the powdery ashes. Over them she strewed the leaves and grass which she had gathered while the fire was burning. The driest of the grass, arranged in a far corner, promised a more comfortable bed than had been her lot for the last three nights.

During this work she had been careful not to forget the fire at the tree. Yet when, near sundown, she called the third meal of leopard meat, Blake grumbled at the tree for heing what he termed such a confounded tough proposition.

"Good thing there's lots of wood here, Win," he added. "We'll keep this fire going till the hlamed thing topples over, if it takes a year."

"Oh, hut you surely will not stay so far from the haobah to-night!" exclaimed Miss Leslie.

"Hold hard!" soothed Blake. "You've no license to get the jumps yet a while. We'll have another fire by the haohah. So you needn't worry."

A few minutes later they went back to the baobab, and Winthrop hegan helping Miss Leslie to construct a bamhoo screen in the narrow entrance of the tree-cave, while Blake built the second fire.

As Winthrope was unable to tell time hy the stars, Blake took the first watch. At sunset, following the engineer's advice, Winthrope lay down with his feet to the small watch-fire, and was asleep before twilight had deepened into night. Fagged out hy the mental and bodily stress of the day, he slept so soundly that it seemed to him he hardly lost consciousness when he was roused hy a rough hand on his forehead.

"What is it?" he mumhled.

"'Bout one o'clock," said Blake. "Wake up! I ran overtime, 'cause the morning watch is the toughest. But I can't keep 'wake any longer."

"I say, this is a beastly hore," remarked Winthrope, sitting up.

"Um-m," grunted Blake, who was already on his back.

Winthrope ruhbed his eyes, rose wearily, and drew a blazing stick from the fire. With this upraised as a torch he peered around into the darkness and advanced towards the spring.

When, having satisfied his thirst, he returned somewhat hurriedly to the fire, he was startled hy the sight of a pale face gazing at him from between the leaves of the bamhoo screen.

"My dear Miss Genevieve, what is the matter?" he exclaimed.

"Hush! Is he asleep?"

"Like a top."

"Thank heaven! Good-night."

"Good-night—er—I say, Miss Genevieve—"

But the girl disappeared, and Winthrope, after a glance at Blake's placid face, hurried along the cleft to stack the other fire. When he returned he noticed two bamboo rods which Blake had begun to shape into bow staves. He looked them over, with a sneer at Blake's seemingly unskillful workmanship; hut he made no attempt to fetch the bows.

CHAPTER XI.

A Despoiled Wardrobe.

SOON after sunrise Miss Leslie was awakened by the snap and dull crash of a falling tree. She made a hasty toilet and ran out around the haobab. The hurned tree, eaten half through by the fire, had been pushed over against the cliff by Blake and Winthrope. Both had already climbed up and now stood on the edge of the cliff.

"Hello, Miss Jenny!" shouted Blake. "We've got here at last. Want to come up?"

"Not now, thank you."

"It's easy enough. But you're right. Try your hand again at the cutlets, won't you? While they're frying we'll get some eggs for dessert. How does that strike you?"

"We have no way to cook them."

"Roast 'em in the ashes. So long!"

Miss Leslie cooked breakfast over the watchfire, for the other had been scattered and stamped out by the men when the tree fell. They came back in good time, walking carefully, that they might not break the eggs with which their pockets hulged. Between them, they had brought a round dozen and a half. Blake promptly hegan stowing all in the hot ashes, while Winthrope related their little adventure with unwonted enthusiasm.

"You should have come with us, Miss Genevieve," he hegan. "This time of day it is glorious on the cliff top. Though the rock is bare, there is a fine view—"

"Fine view of grub near the end," interpolated Blake.

"As, yes; the birds —you must take a look at them, Miss Genevieve! The sea end of the cliff is alive with them —hundreds and thousands, all huddled together and fighting for room. They are a sight, I assure you! They're plucky, too. It was well we took sticks with us. As it was, one of the gannets—boohles, Blake calls them—caught me a nasty nip when I went to lift her off the nest."

"Best way is to kick them off," explained Blake. "But the point is that we've hopped over the starvation stile. Understand? The whole blessed cliff end is an omelette waiting for our pan. Pass the leopardettes, Miss Jenny."

When the last hit of meat had disappeared, Blake raked the eggs from the ashes and hegan to crack them, solemnly sniffing at each before he laid it on its leaf platter. Some were a trifle "high." None, however, were thrown away.

When it was all over, Winthrope contemplated the scattered shells with a satisfied air.

"Do you know," he remarked, "this is the first time I've felt—er—replenished since we found those cocoanuts."

"How about one of 'em now to top off on?" questioned Blake.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Why Musicians Wear Long Hair.

"Why do musicians wear long hair?" said the barher. "Pshaw, I thought everyhody knew that. They wear long hair to protect their ears, of course—their sensitive ears. All depends, with musicians, on the ears, the same as all depends on the eyes with painters. And the ears of musicians are delicate, liable to take cold, liable to aches, inflammations and what not. So they protect them with long hair, and you have no more right to laugh at the mane of a pianist or violinist than at the protective shields and pads of your favorite halfback."

Law.

Of law there can be no less acknowledged than that her seat is the bosom of God, her voice the harmony of the world; all things in heaven and earth do her homage, the very least as feeling her care, and the greatest as not exempted from her power; both angels and men and creatures of what condition soever, though each in different sort and manner, yet all with uniform consent, admiring her as the mother of their peace and joy.—Richard Hooker.

WHAT SHE WANTED

"Did you bring a fashion journal?" asked Mrs. Hodgeson as she led Miss Blake, the dressmaker, into the sewing room. Before Miss Blake could answer Mrs. Hodgeson went on: "But I don't care whether you did or not, for I have decided to have an empire frock. I didn't have one all last year because I thought I was too stout, but since I've seen Mrs. Eldredge in her blue satin I've made up my mind that no one is too fat to wear short-waisted gowns. Of course, she looks like a perfect tub in hers, but I'm not nearly as big as she is, am I?"

"No-o," murmured Miss Blake.

"Well, just cut the lining for an empire. We can decide on the trimmings later."

"Do you want the gown to trail?"

"Why, of course. An empire has to, doesn't it?"

"Oh, no; I've made several which clear the floor all the way round."

"Cut it with a train and if I don't like it we can change it."

"It would he better to decide now," said Miss Blake patiently.

"But I can't tell till I see how it will look with a train.

"Very well. Now I'll take your measure, please."

After a few minutes of extremely restless standing Mrs. Hodgeson exclaimed, "I had no idea that you'd need so many measurements for just one of these short-waisted gowns."

"The lining has to he fitted carefully if we expect the outside to set nicely," declared Miss Blake.

"Well, I'll rest a little while you get the lining together."

Mrs. Hodgeson dropped on the sofa as if exhausted and lay there until she caught sight of a large magazine on the bureau where Miss Blake had deposited her hat and gloves.

"Oh, you did bring a fashion hook, didn't you?" said Mrs. Hodgeson. "I'll look at the pictures while I rest."

Miss Blake was just finishing the hasting of the long length of silesia when Mrs. Hodgeson startled her with an almost tragic cry of "Stop, stop at once!"

"Why, what's the matter?" asked the dressmaker, as her scissors dropped to the floor and her eyeglasses fell off her nose. "Is anything wrong?"

"Wrong! I should say so. Why, every dress in this journal has a long waist. The belts or sashes are below the hips. I don't want a short-waisted gown such as everbody had last winter when every one who is up to date in wearing long-waisted ones. I should think you would have told me, Miss Blake, what the latest style was. I quite depended on you. It's too bad."

Mrs. Hodgeson's bitter tone almost brought tears to Miss Blake's eyes, hut she replied as bravely as she could: "You said you had decided on the empire and they are not out of style at all. I've made a great many this season."

"That's it. They're dreadfully common. I want something new. You'll just have to make that lining over into a long-waisted effect. Fortunately you have not cut into the goods."

Miss Blake said nothing, but began to rip the lining with determined snips of the scissors.

"I think the long waist will he more becoming to me, too," remarked Mrs. Hodgeson. "See how slender the woman in this picture looks. It's all the effect of the extermely long waist. Don't you think that style will suit my figure?"

"Why, I suppose so."

"Would you advise a net yoke and sleeves like these in the picture?"

"They are very pretty."

"Well, I'll telephone my husband to bring home the goods. He's a fearfully poor shopper and he loathes a dry-goods store, hut if you tell me just what to get and exactly how much I think he can't make a mistake. I'll ask him to come home early with it."

When the long-waisted lining was ready to fit Mrs. Hodgeson said: "I don't seem to look much like the woman in the fashion book." She surveyed her rotund figure in the mirror dubiously during the process of fitting. "But of course the lining looks funny without any goods or trimming. Gracious, I'm glad it's over. How tedious fitting is. I think I'll have to rest again."

Miss Blake sewed in quiet while Mrs. Hodgeson slumbered on the sofa. The latter woke only when her husband came into the sewing room with a parcel.

"Well," he said, "I hope I got here early enough. I broke two engagements and almost broke my neck as well running for the mid-afternoon express so as not to keep you good people waiting. I think I've earned a little golf now."

Mrs. Hodgeson took the package, around which her husband had rolled the evening paper. As she started to unwrap it her eye fell upon thrilling headlines. After an instant's excited reading she exclaimed: "Miss Blake, this paper says that both short waists and long waists are going out—that normal waist lines are to be the thing now. What a shame we didn't know about it! All this time wasted! And this net, too! I shan't want sleeves and yoke of it now if the whole style of my dress is changed. You'll have to take it back to-morrow," turning to her husband, "and Miss Blake, we'll have to fit another lining, won't we?"

"I suppose so," answered Miss Blake.

THE CAT OUT OF THE BAG.

Mrs. Bauer—Tell my son-in-law that I thank him for his invitation, but am unable to accept it.

Servant—Good. He promised me half a dollar if you weren't able to come.

The Reason Why.

"I wonder why men don't take more interest in the primary!"

"Possihly because it is a secondary consideration."—Baltimore American.

Stop guessing! Try the best and most certain remedy for all painful ailments—Hamlins Wizard Oil. The way it relieves all soreness from sprains, cuts, wounds, burns, scalds, etc., is wonderful.

It seems strange to the masculine intelligence that many a woman who is afraid of a mouse isn't a hit afraid of her husband.

Pettit's Eye Salve Restores.

No matter how badly the eyes may be diseased or injured. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Only a disinterested third party is ahle to realize that there are two sides to a question.

LOSE NO SLEEP

through a nagging cough or irritated throat. Allen's Lung Balsam will heal the affection quickly and harmlessly. All druggists. 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottle.

Ever hear of a man getting rich by following the advice given in books on the subject?

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Boarding house coffee is one of the things that are well roasted.

An aching back is instantly relieved by an application of Sloan's Liniment.

This liniment takes the place of massage and is better than sticky plasters. It penetrates —without rubbing—through the skin and muscular tissue right to the bone, quickens the blood, relieves congestion, and gives permanent as well as temporary relief.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. James C. Lee, of 1100 9th St., S.E., Washington, D.C., writes: "Thirty years ago I fell from a scaffold and seriously injured my back. I suffered terribly at times; from the small of my back all around my stomach was just as if I had been beaten with a club. I used every plaster I could get with no relief. Sloan's Liniment took the pain right out, and I can now do as much ladder work as any man in the shop, thanks to

Sloan's Liniment

Mr. J. P. Evans, of Mt. Airy, Ga., says: "After being afflicted for three years with rheumatism, I used Sloan's Liniment, and was cured sound and well, and am glad to say I haven't been troubled with rheumatism since. My leg was badly swollen from my hip to my knee. One-half a bottle took the pain and swelling out."

Sloan's Liniment has no equal as a remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints.

Prices, 25c., 50c. and $1.00

Sloan's book on horses, cattle, sheep, and poultry sent free. Address

Dr. Earl S. Sloan,
Boston, Mass., U.S.A.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Save the Baby—Use

PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS and COLDS

Should be given at once when the little one coughs. It heals the delicate throat and protects the lungs from infection—guaranteed safe and very palatable.

All Druggists, 25 cents.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

If the laand is free from burs and cockles, let the sheep run over the grain and cornfields.

Regular feed, clean, pure water and good housing will prove encouragement to the flock to do their best.

The farm is the place to grow the finest type of manhood. Happy is the farmer who is raising a good crop.

Fertile, moist land will often continue producing good, profitable crops of market hay for an ordinary working lifetime.

Before retiring at night visit the stable and see that everything is all right. You may save a good horse by this little attention.

All fallen and wormy fruit fed to the pigs will do them good and return a profit to the farmer. It will also keep down the insect pests.

It is a good thing to keep accounts of all farming operations to know just where one is at all the time. We all like to know what the other farmer is doing, how he does it, and how much he makes.

It is time to pot Bermuda lilies, if you wish to have them in flower at Christmas rather than (like all the world), at Easter. Freesias, too, should be potted immediately for Christmas flowering.

Many complain that the birds eat up all of their sunflower seeds. This may be true in very rare cases, but it is not generally true. Some birds will eat some of them, but some waste in all crops must be expected.

Among bulbs suited to the window garden, the cyclamen is one of the most interesting varieties. The foliage is neat and elegant, and the whole growth makes a compact little bouquet. The flowers are unusually picturesque in their form.

Those who intend setting out trees and other plants in the fall should make their selections and have their orders in ahead of shipping time. Deal with agents and nurserymen who are known to be honest and who have stock that is up to grade and will grow.

Many farmers have a notion that because sheep will eat weeds and the leaves of brush they do not need any other kind of food. Often when there are no weeds or grass in the pasture the sheep are allowed to graze almost the bare ground, and they are expected to live and thrive on this.

When the colt begins to eat, give it a variety of feeds for the building of the various tissues of its body. Clover hay and wheat bran contain necessary mineral matter for the building of bone. Flax seed meal in small quantities is good for keeping the colt's bowels in good condition and for making its coat sleek.

An occasional bran mash, with about a pint of molasses should be given when a day's rest, or light work can be had. Keep your work team as near in size and shape as possible. By far the most important matter is that they should possess like characteristics of temper, and disposition, so that they will work in harmony.

Instruct your shipper to wrap the roots of the plants well and have him inform you by mail as to the time the shipment is made, so that you can be on the lookout for them and receive them without unnecessary delay. The plants should be insured against funguous diseases and injurious insects. Most states enforce this legally.

The durum wheat seems to have plenty of good qualities, and is coming to the front every year in western Nebraska and Kansas. Such being the case, the millers might as well make up their minds to deal with it. Farmers in the western part of this state are just finding out how to raise it; in years past they have not sowed it early enough and have not used enough seed.

Nitrogen must be maintained by legume crops and the best legume for the corn belt is clover. The clover crop should be left on the ground. If removed, not much, if any, nitrogen is added to the soil. If the crop is removed and fed to average live stock and the manure given average care and hauled back to the field, the loss is nearly one-half of the plant food and three-fourths of the organic matter. If a good crop of clover is left on the ground once every three or four years, only the seeds being removed, it will supply sufficient nitrogen for quite large grain crops.

Give the colts plenty of room to run about in.

Chilly nights makes one think of the winter's supply of fuel.

Be regular in cleaning the hen house and you will not be troubled with vermin.

Working capital for the successful farmer: Money, 25 per cent.; brains, 75 per cent.

Sheep are exceedingly fond of turnips. Harvest the largest and leave the remainder for the sheep.

A general observance of care in gathering eggs, resulting in fewer rots and spots, will raise the average price.

When getting machinery for the dairy, get the best appliances you can, but remember that it requires gumption to work it.

After you have worn out a horse by hard work do not sell him for a mere song. His faithfulness should not go unrewarded.

Introduction of new blood into a flock of noted layers strengthens the blood, if the newcomers are close descendants of a strain of prolific layers.

The old Madonna lily or St. Joseph's lily (lilium candidum), is still one of the most noble and stately of our garden lilies, and this is its planting season.

Daffodils are perhaps the first choice, with crocus, snowdrops and grape hyacinths for variety, and in shady places lilies of the valley and some others.

Hay farming with chemicals as commonly practiced no doubt removes more fertility than it restores, but the process is very slow and no doubt highly profitable under right conditions.

Rhubarb needs plenty of rich fertilizer. Equal parts of hen and horse manure with autumn leaves to cover the crowns during the severe winter months will keep the plants for early spring sprouting.

If the hen has to battle with the strain of growing new feathers with a short supply of nourishing feeds, her flesh will be used up for making feathers and she will grow poor and weak under the strain.

With most of the tuberous and bulbous plants it is imperative to reset in the fall in order to secure a new root growth before the dormant season of midwinter, so that early growth and blossoming will take place.

The Dutch bulbs, so-called tulips, hyacinths and crocuses—have a distinctive charm in their whole form, color and manner of growth, which gives them a very secure place of their own in the floral census of the year.

Rhubarb roots should be re-planted occasionally. If the stools remain undisturbed for several years they often commence to decay in the center and after awhile the whole root becomes diseased. Do not allow the seed stock to ripen.

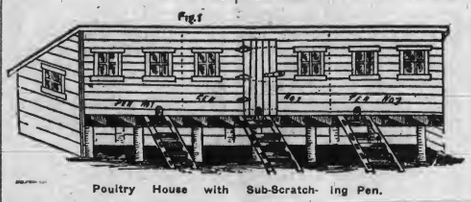
Straw manure makes an excellent filler for the washy places in the fields. It will fill the holes and catch all the soil that washes into them. The manure contained in the straw will help to make the ground more productive when it is again cultivated.

The results from more than 100 cooperative experiments in growing alfalfa, located in over one-half of the counties of New York State, indicate that where neither lime nor inoculation is applied the chance of a successful crop is not more than 20 per cent., or one chance in five.

With the high price of both wool and lambs, it is important that we should give the sheep and lambs extra attention during the most trying seasons of the year. One of these trying seasons is during the latter part of the hot months when the weather is excessively warm and pastures short.

Much improvement can be made by the weaning of the lambs in the summertime; by doing this the ewes are given a chance to recuperate before the next breeding season. These lambs if put on fresh green pasture will also fatten and be in better market condition than if let run with the ewes until late fall.

In several places owners of large herds of dairy cows report that their output this summer has fallen from 10 to 15 per cent. below that of last summer. In most dairy sections, too, there are more cows this year than last, and the fact that less milk is produced this summer than last summer clearly indicates that the average flow per cow has decreased very much.

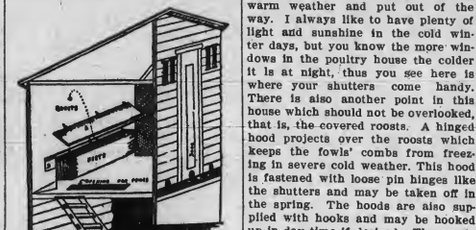


When the horse refuses to pull, do not get excited and abuse him. Be kind, caress him and allay his excitement by speaking kindly to him. Leave the team alone for ten or fifteen minutes, then urge them again, turning them a little to the right or left, so as to get them in motion before they feel the weight of the load behind them. Drive them about 20 or 30 steps and stop them, if on a hard pull before the excited animal stops of his own accord. Then pat him and start again.

POULTRY HOUSE PLAN WITH SCRATCHING PEN

Best Located on the Side of a Hill to Avoid Standing Water During the Rainy Seasons—
By John Sorham.

This is a poultry house which I think will stand the test of all climates. I think it well adapted to the cold climate of Alaska, or the hot climate of Australia, as well as all temperate regions, writes John Sorham in the Poultry Tribune.



It is best to first select a side hill on which to build, so that the water will not be standing around or under the house during rainy seasons. I have mine built on level ground, but shall remodel it soon, digging away about 12 inches of ground from under the house and replacing it with coarse sand. I shall also dig a trench around and close to it, two feet deep, one foot wide, and shall fill in one foot of loose stones, covering with one foot of ground. Tile would be much better than stones to keep the ground dry around the house.

Poultry House with Sub-Scratching Pen.

The house which I have planned is 8 feet wide, 36 feet in length, consisting of three pens (although it can be divided into any number of pens) each pen being 8x12 feet. The house is 8 feet high in front and 6 feet at the back, and is built with a cheap grade of lumber which is not painted, but a layer of building paper is tacked on, over which is placed a two-ply roofing material. The roof is covered the same way, excepting the paper is covered with three-ply prepared roofing. The floor is double, with a two-inch dead air space, which contains also a layer of building paper; the lumber is good shiplap or tongued and grooved lumber. There is an opening in the floor through which the hens may pass up and down. The step (E) is hinged at the back, with a hook in front so it can be hooked up, completely covering the opening in the floore; each pen is arranged this way. The floor is built two feet from the ground and the hens are fed in this under story in winter. On this basement floor there should be at least six inches of scratching material to keep the fowls busy. This scratching shed under the building is closed up on all sides excepting the front. Each pen is 8x24 feet, making 192 square feet of floor space in which can be kept a flock of 60 hens. In summer I take out the litter and when it rains the fowls all go under the house for shelter.

Section Through Interior.

I have two windows in every pen (above the floor, of course), and when but one pen is built, I also have two windows (one on each side), on the sides. The windows should all be hinged at the top, so as to admit fresh air all over the house when needed, and there should also be a shutter for every window, to be shut on winter nights. These shutters should be made of tongued and grooved lumber and hinged with loose pin steel butts so they may be taken off in warm weather and put out of the way. I always like to have plenty of light and sunshine in the cold winter days, but you know the more windows in the poultry house the colder it is at night, thus you see here is where your shutters come handy. There is also another point in this house which should not be overlooked, that is, the covered roosts. A hinged hood projects over the roosts which keeps the fowls' combs from freezing in severe cold weather. This hood is fastened with loose pin hinges like the shutters and may be taken off in the spring. The hoods are also supplied with hooks and may be hooked up in day time if desired. The roosts (C) are above the nests, between which there is a large dropping board, which also makes a covered passageway (D) for hens to enter the nests. This passageway is open at both ends.

You will notice that in my plan I have only one entrance, this is in the middle pen, while the other pens have a small door for the hens to pass in and out. If you like you may have a door into each pen from single door at the end of the building.

MAKING GATE IN WIRE FENCE

Plan for Making Opening that Can Be Varied to Any Size to Suit—By H. H. Bryant.

In making a gate in a wire fence, use 6x6's for the gate posts and 4x4's for the rest of the posts in the fence. The brace shown at A should be a 4x4, and should be placed two-thirds of the height from the ground on the gate post and one-third of the distance from the ground on the second post. At B is shown a brace made of wire which should be placed around the bottom of the first post, and nailed so that it will not slide. The other end is placed near the top of second post from the gate. By placing a stick in the two strands they can be Cutting Gate in Wire Fence.

twisted and brought taut. The second brace shown at E should be made out of 4x4 fastened to the top of the second post from the gate and secured at the bottom of the third post. The gate frame shown at H, C and F should be made out of 3x3 well put together. Stretch the fence wire across the gate, and cut after stapling firmly to the frame of the gate. Of course, this plan can be varied to any size of length to suit the builder.

Spraying Fruit Trees.

Don't spray only the trees from which you expect to get marketable fruit. Spray all the trees, otherwise the trees you go to the trouble to spray early in the season may become infected later by the unsprayed trees.

Money in Sheep.

Some men have cleared 100 per cent. on their money in sheep for years; but these are the real shepherds. Not every man has the shepherd instinct; but we may all do better than we do.

Corn and Pork.

The farmer who has a number of spring pigs ready for the fattening pens should devote a little time to the study of feeds and their influence on the quality of meat produced. When it is desired to produce pork, or rather fat, one kind of feed is necessary. When the desire is to have lard hogs for the market, no other kind of feed should be used.

Corn is pre-eminently a fat-forming feed, and when the feeder wishes to produce an animal with a great deal of fat to supply the lard trade nothing is better than corn. When the desire is to produce animals for meat alone nothing can be a poorer feed than corn.

The influence of corn on the percentage of fat should be borne in mind and the ration mixed to accomplish the best results.

Manure Currants.

Were you dissatisfied with the size of your currants? Let us whisper a secret. You can improve the fruit greatly by heavy manuring. Now is a good time to apply it. The wood is ripe and is going into its long rest. You may pile straw manure about the bushes so heavily that the grass and weeds, if any, will be smothered, and all the better for the currants. This fruit needs mulching enough to keep the surface cool.

Need of Cream Separators.

With average cows and using the cream separator it is estimated that from $50 to $75 per year can be saved in butterfat with ten cows. This amount will about pay for a good cream separator, and its usefulness will last for many years, making the buying of one a good investment. Being able to sell the cream without hauling the milk to the creamery also saves much time and labor.

Value of Potato.

On account of the starch they contain, potatoes are valuable as food. The potato tuber consists mainly of a mass of cells filled with starch and encircled by a thin, corky rind. As stated, the chief value of the potato as an article of diet consists in the starch it contains, and to a less extent in the potash and other salts. The quantity of nitrogen in its composition is small.

Try This in November.

Thousands upon thousands of families who have not been regular eaters of Quaker Oats will begin on the first of November and eat Quaker Oats once or twice every day for thirty days of this month; the result in good health and more strength and vigor will mean that every other month in the year will find them doing the same thing.

Try it! Serve Quaker Oats plentifully and frequently for the thirty days of November and leave off a corresponding amount of meat and greasy foods. You'll get more health, more vigor and strength than you ever got in thirty days of any other kind of eating.

While you are trying this see that the children get a full share.

Quaker Oats is packed in regular size packages and large size family packages.

CALLED TO TIME.

"Ain't she all right, Maria?"

"You might say something nice to me, once in a while, Bob."

United States Leads in Good Work.

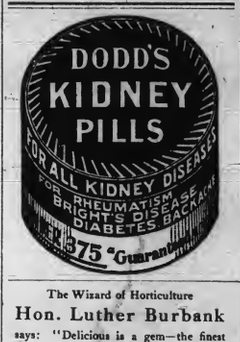
In Germany there are 99 public sanatoria for adult consumptives with 10,539 beds, besides 36 private sanatoria with 2,175 beds. In 18 sanatoria for children with tuberculosis there are 837 beds, a total of less than 13,000 beds. The United States has provided over 300 sanatoria with 15,000 beds, showing that this country is in the lead in the anti-tuberculosis war. France has only 12 sanatoria for adult consumptives, with a total capacity of 148 beds. All of these institutions are private except the sanatorium at Aigincourt.

Never Opened His Mouth.

"Not infrequent rays of unconscious humor illumine the otherwise impossible stories that come to my desk from amateurs," says a reader for one of the magazines. Recently I chanced upon this choice bit:

"'John, the husband, and Grace, the wife, ate on together in silence. There was indubitably an ill feeling between them. The husband devoured a plate of soup, half a fish, an entree or two, a piece of roast beef, together with a sweet, without ever once opening his mouth.'"

In Confidence.



"Do your cows give much milk?" queried the fair summer boarder.

"Do they?" echoed the old farmer. "Say, jist atween yew an' me, they give so all-fired much that we dilloot th' well water we sell tew th' campers with it."—Chicago Daily News.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder. It makes tight or new shoes easy. Cures swollen, hot, sweating, aching feet, ingrowing nails. Always use it to Break in new Shoes. At all Druggists, 25c. Don't accept any substitute. Trial package FREE by mail. Address Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N.Y.

Don't think that because a man is willing to lend you a helping hand he'll stand for a touch.

The Wizard of Horticulture

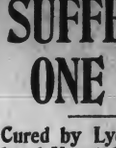
Hon. Luther Burbank

says: "Delicious is a gem—the finest apple in all the world. It is the best in quality of any apple I have so far tested."

And Mr. Burbank knows.

Delicious is but one of the hundreds of good things in Stark Trees—the good things you should know about before you plant this fall or next spring.

Let us tell you about them by writing to-day for our complete, illustrated price-list-catalogue which describes our complete line of fruit trees, ornamentals, etc.



For complete information address the Sales Manager of

Stark Bros., N. & O. Co., Louisiana, Mo.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — Mrs. Emma Imse, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

Sickly Smile

Wipe it off your otherwise good looking face—put on that good health smile that CASCARETS will give you—as a result from the cure of Constipation—or a torpid liver. It's so easy—do it—you'll see. 915

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Largest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

FREE

Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer

restores original color in mild, healthful manner in from 7 to 14 days. Entirely different from any other preparation. Does not stain skin, but leaves hair soft and glossy. Has no sediment, so it's neither sticky nor greasy—it's as pure and clear as water. Don't experiment—see what thousands of others have found safe and satisfactory. For sample and booklet (absolutely free), write to MRS. MARY T. GOLDMAN, 3292-3302 Mo. Blvd., St. Paul, Minn. Be sure to mention original color of your hair. Full size bottle for sale by all dealers.

The Modern Razor

NO STROPPING NO HONING

Gillette

KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. Full line stamp and stencil goods. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. Geo. Ramsay Manufacturing Co.

LIVE STOCK AND MISCELLANEOUS ELECTROTYPES

In great variety for sale at the lowest prices by WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION, 521 W. Adams St., Chicago

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 44—1909.

Wanted

A Bright, Capable Man

in each county of this state to sell Stark Trees on commission. No previous experience necessary. The work is pleasant, clean work, highly profitable; and the positions are permanent to the right men.

Many of our salesmen are earning $50 to $80 per month and expenses; some are making more. You can do as well or better if you're a hustler and trying to succeed.

No investment called for; we furnish complete order-getting outfit free and the most liberal contract.

RESINOL

is the best remedy for stubborn skin and scalp troubles, burns, stings, bruises, boils, and all eruptions. It soothes pain, stops itching and is a certain cure for itching piles. 50 cents a jar, all druggists or sent direct on receipt of price.

RESINOL CHEMICAL COMPANY, BALTIMORE, MD.

"I consider RESINOL OINTMENT indispensable. I have never used anything that gave me so much comfort." W. C. Starbuck, Jamaica Plains, Mass.

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Mrs. D. E. Dudley spent Friday in Cincinnati with friends.

G. M. Allen and wife are visiting relatives and friends at Erlanger.

Frank Craig and Loren Abdon, of East Bend, were visitors here Friday.

C. K. Wood, of Big Bone Springs, spent last Wednesday here with friends.

Eli Carpenter, a prominent farmer of Richwood, was a visitor here last Thursday.

Mrs. John C. Miller spent last Thursday in Cincinnati with relatives and friends.

Mrs. A. Eiche and Miss Nannie Griffith spent Saturday in Cincinnati with friends.

Samuel C. Hicks and B. B. Allphin sold and shipped two car loads of mules the past week.

A. C. Roberts, the versatile correspondent of the Recorder at Verona, spent Saturday here on business.

Harry Jones, of Big Bone, was a visitor here last Wednesday enroute home from a business trip to Cincinnati.

E. P. Northcutt, our enterprising merchant, spent last Thursday in Cincinnati, buying goods for his store.

Ralph Edwards, our clever and popular deputy postmaster, spent last Friday in Cincinnati with friends.

Judge Ben Menefee, of Crittenden, spent last Friday here relative to some litigation concerning the town of Walton.

Mrs. Wm. Houston and daughters, Misses Mary and Bessie, spent part of last week at Latonia with relatives and friends.

Chas. L. Griffith spent a day last week in Cincinnati disposing of a nice drove of hogs raised on his farm near Verona.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. B. Allphin spent a part of last week at Prestonville, Carroll county, the guests of D. C. Carlisle and wife.

Miss Clara F. Stephens, of Union, who is teaching the public school at Mt. Zion, Grant county, was a visitor to friends here, last Saturday.

Robert Coffman, one of our bright and progressive young men, has accepted a position as clerk in the law office of J. G. Tomlin and J. L. Vest.

Charles Sleet and Barnett Sleet, two of the esteemed citizens of the Beaver Lick neighborhood, spent Friday here with their many friends.

Mrs. T. B. Barbour and Mrs. N. C. Hardesty, of Lexington, and Miss Elizabeth Richards, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, spent part of last week here.

W. T. Black, manager of the Consolidated Telephone Co., spent last Friday at West Point, Hardin county, and Saturday in Louisville on business.

Prof. Charles S. Chambers, who has charge of penmanship in the Covington public schools, spent last Saturday and Sunday here with home folks.

Geo. Ossman, one of the clever and popular citizens of Beaver Lick, spent last Friday here with his many friends. He was accompanied by his grandson Ossman Jack.

A. S. Tompkins, the popular and enterprising traveling salesman for the Graf-Morshbach Saddlery Co., Cincinnati, spent last Friday and Saturday here with home folks.

Judge James W. Cammack was here last Friday en route to his home in Owenton, from Williamstown, where he had been holding a session of the Grant county circuit court.

W. T. S. Blackburn and party, of Dry Ridge, were here last Saturday in regard to the proposed electric line to Cincinnati, and are negotiating for the franchise to light the town.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bedinger, of Richwood, spent last Wednesday here attending the convention of the Missionary Society of the Methodist church south, of the Covington district.

Esq. T. F. Curley spent Sunday in Louisville, to which place he was called because of the illness of his venerable father, who is in his 98th year. He was at one time a prominent business man in Covington.

Mrs. J. G. Tomlin, one of our dearly beloved ladies, who has been confined to her home the past 6 months on account of heart trouble was able to be out driving last Friday and her many friends were glad to note her being so well.

Chas. A. Slater, who recently purchased the interest of his partner, Hayes L. Miller, in the Walton Mercantile Company, is doing a fine business, and has a constantly increasing patronage, which he deserves, because of his untiring efforts to please the public.

G. R. Kennedy, superintendent of the Odd-Fellows' Home at Lexington, who purchased the Fernando Carpenter farm on the pike near Devon, spent yesterday here receiving a large purchase of fruit trees from E. C. Diers. He was accompanied by S. Simpson and Everett Aylor.

Died—George Fornash, Saturday, October 23d, after a lingering illness of consumption. He was about 40 years old and leaves a widow and several children and a large circle of friends to mourn his death. The Odd-Fellows conducted their ritualistic service at the Christian church, Monday, after which the remains were taken to Goforth, Pendleton county, for interment.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen S. Watts left, Thursday night, for Inland, Ala., where they will reside, Mr. Watts being interested in a coal mining enterprise at that place and having charge of one of the departments. Mr. and Mrs. Watts are very popular with a large circle of friends here and all regret their departure but wish them happiness and prosperity in their new home.

E. M. Johnson sold his crop of tobacco to Hite & Hennessey, of Covington, at 13 cents per stick, and delivered it at Covington, last Thursday. The crop consisted of 5,200 sticks, and was raised on Mr Johnson's farm in Kenton county. The crop had not been pooled, but Mr. Johnson would have pooled it had he thought the movement would have been successful this year.

Mrs. John L. Vest and little son, Walter Dudley Grant Vest, are spending a couple of weeks at Independence with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Loomis. Mr. Loomis is deputy county clerk of Kenton co., and has charge of the clerk's office at Independence, and as the election is on and he is busy canvassing the county, his daughter, Mrs. Vest, who is an expert on the books, is looking after the affairs of the clerk's office for her father.

A. Kirtley Johnson, who as master of Walton lodge, was its representative in the Masonic Grand Lodge, last week, reports a most delightful time and very satisfactory results, the craft being in fine working shape all over the State. The Grand Lodge adopted the resolution assessing a 25 cents per capita for the support of the old masons' home, and recommended that provisions he also made for the wives of such old masons as desired to go to the home with them.

Rev. Jas. W. Rogers, who attended the annual session of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Kentucky at Louisville, last week, was honored by the election to the office of Grand Chaplain for the year, an honor most worthily bestowed as Bro. Rogers is not only a zealous, earnest mason, but qualified in every way to discharge the duties of the office. He states the session of the Grand Lodge just closed, was one of the most enthusiastic and largest attended for years, and there was a very large amount of business transacted. Bro. Joseph Ewalt of Paris, was elected Grand Junior Warden.

H. B. Mackoy, of Covington, and S. P. Stillwaugh, of Hamilton, Ohio, were here last Wednesday, the latter giving his deposition in the case of the Anderson Machine Company against The Walton Brick Company over the final payment of the purchase price for the brick machine. Mr. Stillwaugh is an expert brick maker, and his testimony is regarded as favorable to the Brick Company. Mr. Mackoy represented the Anderson people and J. G. Tomlin, the Walton people. The case comes up for trial at the December term of the Boone Circuit Court at Burlington.

"Kentucky of Kentucky," is the name of an interesting book just issued from the pen of Mrs. H. Henderson Kniffen, of New York. The authoress is a sister of Mrs. W. W. Evans and a great aunt of Dr. C. C. Metcalfe, of this place, and who was born near Georgetown and reared at Crittenden, and the scene of the story lies in that territory and deals with the period of the civil war. The book is dedicated to Florence Scholz Armstrong, a daughter of an old Presbyterian minister, who one time resided at Crittenden. The interest manifested in the book has caused A. W. Smith to place it on sale at his drug store at Walton. Get a copy.

Of the turkey market Monday's Commercial Tribune said: "That Thanksgiving turkey this year is going to cost considerably more than the festive bird did last year, according to reports received in commission circles. At the present time there are a number of young turkeys being received, but are generally poor in weight, but high in price. Sales during the week in commission circles were made at 18c per pound, which is the same price obtained during the week previous to Thanksgiving. A general shortage in the crop of turkeys is the reason attributed for the high prices. All other fowls will be considerably higher, despite the fact that all grain crops are supposed to be bumper ones."

Looking after Rural Routes.

Uncle Sam continues to look after the roads over which the rural route carriers have to make their daily rounds, and in so many instances have the roads been found in a bad condition that there are threats of a wholesale discontinuance of rural routes. The government takes the position that where a section of country is furnished with so great a convenience as a daily free delivery of its mail, that the citizens ought to show their appreciation of it by keeping the roads in good condition at all times. The carrier who travels a road six days in the week and fifty-two weeks in the year understands what a bad road is much more than the man who is on it only occasionally.

This office is nearly two thirds knocked out by bad colds.

Warning to Hunters.

Any person or persons trespassing or hunting with dog or guns on the lands of the undersigned will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

WALTON PRECINCT.

W. H. Senour	W. E. Dixon
G. W. Taylor	M. E. Fields
G E. Carroll	Bryant Campbell
J. G. Byland	Mrs Jane Kennedy
J. C. Mayhugh	A. R. Johnson
Robt. Chambers	L. S. Wolfe
Ira Aylor	S. C. Hicks
Batty Long	J. S. West
Lawrence Ryan	Clay Baker
N. Taylor	John Mardis
S. M. Hudson	R O. Hughes
Theo. Kennedy	Martha C. Hudson
Ben Cleek	Rebecca J. Hudson
S. C. Bedinger	Kate Hudson
John Goodridge	O. S. Glacken

BURLINGTON PRECINCT.

Mrs Elizabeth Utz

BELLEVIEW PRECINCT.

Julia Dinsmore

When Sick

Women suffering from headache, backache, pain inside, or nervousness, or any other ailment resulting from female trouble, should get Cardui and use it regularly. Cardui has been found, by thousands of ladies, to relieve female weakness, by restoring to health the weak womanly organs.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. F. S. Mills, Murietta, Calif., tried Cardui and writes:

"I don't think anyone can recommend a medicine more highly than I can Cardui. I had a mishap, followed by inflammation. I positively believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui. When I began taking it, I could not stand on my feet. After taking two bottles, I was cured, and I now weigh 165 pounds."

Try Cardui—it will help you. Sold everywhere.

E 45

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Boone Circuit Court, Ky

Maud McCright, Plaintiff,
vs.— Order of Reference.
Kate McWethy, Admr'x of the Estate of R. A. McWethy, &c., Defendants.

On motion of plaintiff this cause is now referred to the Master Commissioner, who will

1st. Settle the accounts of the Administratrix.

2nd. He will ascertain and report the amount of the debts of the decedent, secured and unsecured, the amount of each, and if secured, how.

3d. The amount of personal property, also the real estate and the description of the latter.

4th. He will cite the defendant, Kate McWethy, to appear before him to be examined for the purpose of ascertaining if her inventory of the estate is a full and complete list of the personal estate of the decedent.

5th. He will make allowance to the Administratrix, for her services as such, and to the Attorney of the plaintiff for his services rendered in the bringing of this suit.

On any and all of these matters, he will take such evidence as may be offered, and he may also consider any other evidence, taken by deposition before other officers, authorized by law to take depositions. He will make report of his findings, to the court at its Dec. term 1909

In accordance with the foregoing order, I will begin my sittings at the office of the Clerk of the Boone Circuit Court, on the 4th day of October, 1909, and continue the hearing until the 1st day of Nov. 1909.

Witness my hand, this Sep. 28, 1909.

J. A. DUNCAN, Master Com'r.

Watch Sale at Clark's.

I am going to dispose of all my watches and will offer them at prices that will make you

"TAKE NOTICE."

I think these prices will appeal to you as being the Lowest you ever heard of.

One 16-size Elgin mov. in 20-yr case, Hunting.....$12.25
One 18-size N. Y. Standard in 10-yr case O. F.....$ 6.25
One 12 size N. Y. Standard in 10-yr case O. F.....$ 4.25
One 6-size N. Y. Standard in 10-yr case o.f. Hunting$ 5.75
One 18-size Elgin "look" o.f Silverine case.....$ 5.25
One 18-size N. Y. Standard o. f. Silverine case.....$ 2.75
One 18-size Century o. f. Silverine case.....$ 2.75
One 16-size Century o. f. Silverine case.....$ 3.00

R. W. Clark, Burlington.

NOTICE, TAX-PAYERS.

The Taxpayers of Boone county are hereby notified that I or my deputy will be at the places and on the dates named below to collect 1909 taxes:

Beaver, July 12th and October 11th.
Verona, July 13th and October 12th.
Walton, July 14th and October 13th.
Burlittsville, July 15th and Oct. 21st.
Constance, July 16th and October 8th.
Union, July 19th and October 18th.
Big Bone, July 20th and October 19th.
Petersburg, July 22d and October 15th.
Bellevue, July 23d and October 14th.
Florence, July 26th and October 20th.
Rabbit Hash, July 27th and Oct. 7th.
Hebron, October 22d.
Gunpowder, October 25th.
Richwood, October 26th.
Rates—State, 50c; County, 25c; School, 15c on the $100.
Poll-Tax—County, $1.50; School, 50c; Dog Tax: $1.00.

All supaid taxes become delinquent after November 30th. 6 per cent penalty, due county and state, added December 1st on all delinquent taxes; 6 per cent commission in addition to penalty is allowed Sheriff for collecting delinquent taxes. Cost of levying, 50c; advertising: $1.00. Delinquent Taxes bear 6 per cent interest from Nov. 30th until paid.

M. F. WINGATE,
Sheriff Boone County.

DO YOU WANT A

Piano for $100 Less

than you pay for the same quality elsewhere?

IF SO CALL AND SEE OUR EXCELLENT LINE OF

High Grade Pianos and Player Pianos

We have more than thirty Styles to select from.

WE | WILL TRY TO PLEASE
WILL GIVE VALUE FOR EVERY DOLLAR TO
WILL MAKE TERMS TO SUIT | YOU

Ben J. Wagner Co

No. 82 Pike Street, No. 1132 Banklick Street,

COVINGTON, - - KY.

Store Open Until 9 P. M. Every Evening Until Xmas.

New Arrival in Watches & Gold Jewelry on Sale at Special Low Prices.

Fifty-one years ago the foundation of this house was laid with Quality, Representations and good values to patrons as cornerstones. The present establishment coupled with the fact that it stands to-day as one of its largest institutions of its kind in the three cities speaks eloquently of the publics appreciation of this Store.

Ladies' watch special 14-kt filled, set with genuine cut diamond for $18.50. See them in our window.

MOTGH,
The Jeweler,
613 Madison Ave.
Covington, Ky.

Farm for Sale.

My 113 acre farm on the Ohio river adjoining the town of McVille, Boone county, Ky. On this farm are two good dwellings a good barn and other necessary outbuildings and it will produce anything that will grow in this climate. If this farm is not sold by the first of Feby., 1910, I will rent it for one year for money rent, and give rentor privilege to purchase it at the end of the year, or will rent it for part of the crop, the rentor to give good reference as to him being a neat, industrious farmer. If sold terms will be easy. Possession given March 1, 1910 For further particulars call on or address

S. D. RICE, Grant, Ky.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices. All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co
Rising Sun, Indiana.

Don't Forget and See Our
NEW LINE OF

Tablets, Pencils And School Supplies,

C. M. BALDON,
Burlington, Kentucky.

WE DON'T KNOW WHETHER You Know It or Not

Our Customers help to bring the trade to us. They know they get satisfaction. They will tell you, no matter where you go, you'll never find better Clothing than those handled by us.

OUR LINE OF

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing

CAN NOT BE SURPASSED.

We have a large assortment to select from and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP. We have some nice

MEN'S SUITS at..... $5.00 and $7.50
Better Grades MEN'S SUITS.. $10.00 to $18.00

These include a great many high priced suits which we have reduced

BOYS' SUITS..... $4.00 to $10.00

We are giving especially great bargains in our Boys' Suits.

MEN'S PANTS... $1.00 to $5.00 CHILDREN'S SUITS... $1.25 to $5.00

Kindly visit our Store and you wilt be most favorably impressed with the bargains we are showing.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

M. L. Swetnam Clarenc E. Swetnam Russell E. Swetnam

M. L. Swetnam & Sons,

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,

15 to 21 E. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.

Phone South 170. FREE AMBULANCE.

Take Your County paper.

C. H. ACRA,
AUCTIONEER
GRANT, KY.
Your Patronage solicited

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.

JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875. Subsciption $1.50 year. Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 3, 1909. NO 3.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

ERLANGER.

Born, to Wm, Points and wife, a girl.

Elbert Hoard spent Sunday with friends in Cincinnati.

Miss Edna Geiger and her mother spent Friday in Covington.

William Moss and wife are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a son.

Dr. Slater was the guest of relatives and friends at Big Bone Springs, Thursday.

Misses Grace and Anna Gravenor will be the week's end guests of Mrs. Claude Slater.

Leroy Foster and Miss Edith Lipscomb were guests of relatives in Boone, Saturday.

Mesdames Carrie Slater and Alonzo Victor, spent last week very pleasantly at Paducah.

Capt. and Mrs. Robt. W. Shearer left, Wednesday, for a visit with relatives in Indianapolis.

Miss Jean Taylor returned Wednesday from a two months' visit with relatives in Louisville.

The Halloween party given at the home of Miss Edna Grabow, was well attended by her many friends.

Miss Leona Jones has returned to her home at Butler, after a pleasant visit here with her sister Mrs. Yelton.

The G. T. Club was entertained by Mr. Owen Hoard Thursday eve. The S. S. Home Department met with Mrs. George Fullilove, Tuesday.

Dr. W. B. Stanton, one of our venerable citizens returned the past week from a two weeks' very pleasant visit with friends and relatives in Scott county.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptsti church held an all day's meeting at the home of Mrs. Geiger Tuesday. Those present were Mesdames Kirtly, Hedden, Yelton, Childress, Mills, Wright, Zinkey, Squair, Poore, Edwards, Klokenbrenk, Haden, Geiger, Misses Statira Childress, Dora Huey, Georgia Hoard and Miss Leona Jones, of Butler.

IDLEWILD.

Oct. 29—Why do birds in their little nests agree? Because they would fall out if they didn't.

Mrs. Anna L. Gaines, of Pushburg, is visiting in Louisville.

Courtney Walton, wife and daughter, were shopping in Cincinnati, last Saturday.

James Masters and wife, of Bullittsville, spent Sunday with T. C. Masters and wife, of Ashby.

Stanley Crouch, of Petersburg, agent for Life Insurance, was canvassing this locality, Monday.

John Eggleston and family, near Petersburg, were visiting relatives near Francesville, last Sunday.

Cecil Burns and wife were Sunday visitors at Petersburg, and Jack McMurray and wife at Bob McIntosh's.

W. A. Price and wife, of Erlanger, passed through Tuesday on their return from a visit to their son, Carl and wife at Oak Knoli.

James Feeley and wife were shopping in Lawrenceburg, Monday, and when they returned home their buggy was loaded from top to bottom.

J. T. Gaines is hauling his corn from his farm near here to his home farm. It is nice corn. Good soli, a good tenant and a favorable season is a combination that will make it.

Lost—Between Constance and Idlewild, last Saturday, an umbrella with large crooked handhold. Finder will please leave at Gaar's store, Bullittsville, Pushburg toll-gate or Idlewild, and oblige Courtney Walton.

Owing to our indisposition, last week, we didn't feel able to write our items. We are feeling better now, and hope to be able to be on time every week, for so many are disappointed if they don't find Idlewild.

Last week the weather was bad for the protracted meeting at Bullittsburg, consequently the attendance was not large. Bad as the weather was only one meeting was called off. This week the weather has been nice and the atteudance fairly good.

E. K. Stephens, of Petersburg, passed through Pushburg, Tuesday and Wednesday, and stopped a few minutes each day. He gave us a full history of the coal fight in Petersburg, and his view of the duty of the people in the matter.

On Monday of last week Rev. Bradley, of Petersburg, went to Taylorsport to attend quarterly conference. After getting through with the business of conference he devoted the balance of the week making preparations for a protracted meeting which commenced the first of this week. The meeting will be conducted by Revs. Bradley, and Garriott, of Corinth. Rev. Garriott is a pleasant and fluent speaker. We bespeak for them large audiences.

Misses Bettie Duke and Melvina Evans, of Petersburg, passed through here Sunday, pleasure riding and sight-seeing, and when at or near Hebron, they met an auto which scared their horse and the buggy was upset. The singletree broke which let the horse loose from the buggy, or one or both of the ladies might have been badly hurt or killed. Mr. Edwards, to whom the auto belonged, took the ladies home. Mr. Will Clore and a Mr. Bradford took the horse and buggy back. Neither of he young ladies was hurt.

RABBIT HASH.

The Texas fever is very contagious around here.

Hugh Stephens and wife are visiting friends in Hoosier.

Miss Fanny Burnett is visiting Mike Bailey and family.

John Lee is now threshing last summer's wheat and cow peas.

R. T. Stephens was transacting business in Burlington, Monday.

D. T. Riggs, who has been very sick the past week is some better.

Mrs. Mary O'Neal is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ella North, of Aurora.

Solon Stephens shipped a fine bunch of hogs to the city, Tuesday night.

Paul Baily has gone to Kitchel, Indiana, where he will work this winter.

Mrs. Laura Platt returned to Rising Sun after a couple of weeks' visit here.

Clifford Ryle has been working the past week in Rising Sun for Robt. Platt.

Owen Presser has rented Al Wilson's farm and will move there Christmas.

Dr. Y. Hopkins left, Saturday, for Gardnerville, and from there he goes to Texas.

Captain Noel Gaines, of Frankfort, will lecture at the K. of P. hall Saturday evening.

Will Craig has been rebuilding his barn, which was blown down in the storm last spring.

Miss Bettie Stephens, entertained at dinner, eighteen of her young friends, last Sunday.

Rev. Bradley will begin a series of meetings at the East Bend M. E. church, Sunday evening.

Sam C. McConnell, of Danville, was here recently on a visit among his many friends and relatives.

Miss Doris Hood, a charming young lady, was the pleasant guest of Miss Lou Stephens, Sunday.

Lewis Craig and Stanley Ryle, two of Rabbit Hash's young men, contemplate leaving this community for Illinois at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. Venson have returned to their home in Illinois, after several weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dolph.

Llewellyn Lorimer and Danton C. Irvington, two of Cincinnati's brilliant young men, were calling on friends in this vicinity last Thursday.

Mrs. Ollie Riggs left, Tuesday, for Hamilton, Ohio, where she will remain indefinitely. We were sorry to see her leave as she will be very much missed.

Considerable tobacco was sold in this vicinity last week to Harry Stephens, a buyer for the American Tobacco Company. Prices ranging from 14 to 15 cents.

Miss Lutie Ryle, who has been teaching at Limaburg, was home on a visit Saturday. She is very much liked as a teacher, and her school is progressing very nicely.

Elijah Mirrick, of Crittenden county, was in this community visiting friends and relatives. He was called to the bedside of his father, who has been very ill, but is now some better.

Charles Riggs, one of East Bend's very bright little fellows, broke his arm very badly, one night last week, while coming down the road from church his horse stumbled and threw him several feet over its head.

FLICKERTOWN.

Ross Shinkle is improving slowly.

Lewis Hensley's work mule died a few days since.

J. W. White and wife were Sunday guests at Frank Voshell's.

Chas. Hensley and family visited out on the East Bend road, Sunday.

Courtney Jarrell and wife dined with Henry Deck and wife, Sunday.

F. M. Voshell made a business trip to Sparta, Indiana, one day last week.

Paris Akin and sister, Miss Eva, attended church at Belleview, last Sunday.

Bernard Berkshire, of Petersburg, was in this neighborhood, one day last week, buying cows.

Charles Shinkle pulled off a horse-trade with Truman Riggs, of East Bend, one day last week.

Rev. Brooks preached to a good congregation at the Woolper school house, last Sunday afternoon.

Chas Snelling killed a mad dog on the Belleview pike near J. F. Lambert's, Monday. The dog was a stranger in that neighborhood, and several other dogs are known to have been bitten by it.

FRANCESVILLE.

Oct. 30—Fine weather.

The good people of Taylorsport are holding a series of meetings

We hope they are having an interesting meeting at Bullitsburg.

Mrs. Alice Rouse visited her son, Eris, near Hopeful church, a few days last week.

Our very efficient road overseer, Charlie Goodridge, is having a lot of rock hauled on the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McGlasson entertained a large number of their relatives and friends, last Sunday.

Irish potatoes are not bringing the prices that were expected. Sweet potatoes are selling at 40 to 50 cents a bushel.

Mr. Shaw, of Covington, passed through this neighborhood, one day last week buying unpooled tobacco, for which he was offering good prices.

From the numerous trips some of the women are making to the city, we think there may be a wedding or two in this neigborhood in the near future.

James Riddell and wife, of Riddell Heights, and their daughter, Mrs. Lester Utz, of Hamilton, O., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Zeke Aylor, last week.

Edgar Graves, of Bullittsville, was hauling wheat and potatoes to the Cincinnati market last week. His many friends are glad to know that his health is so much improved.

BELLEVIEW.

Harry Acra is improving nicely.

O. N. Scott is bailng hay at Ed Botts'.

Glad to report Miss Leola Cason as improving again.

Quite a lot of coal is being hauled from the local yards.

Caddie Miller and wife were Sunday guests at R. A. Brady's.

John Moreland, of Ohio, was here last week with a mnle buyer.

Pete Deck and wife entertained the young folks with a party, Saturday night.

John Presser and son, Joe, will begin a new barn for W. B. Walton, this week.

County Clerk B. W. Adams came down one day last week to bring the ballot books.

Mrs. John Deck has returned from a visit with her son, Henry, over on Woolper creek.

Willie Stucky, who has employment in the city, spent Sunday with his parents in McVille.

Henry Briggs and wife, of Waterloo, passed here Sunday enroute to his brother Hogan's, near Petersburg.

A. P. Marshall and Gilley Welsickle sold 3,000 bushels of corn to J. J. Walton at 50 cents a bushel in the field.

It has been many years since we experienced such delightful weather in October as we have had for the past week.

LIMABURG.

The sick are no better.

J. D. Aylor was the Sunday guest of W. L. Kirkpatrick.

O. E. Aylor is preparing to build a corn crib and wagon shed.

P. Utz is making a short visit with relatives in Lexington.

Howard Kelly and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday with his parents near Burlington.

Mrs. C. L. Tanner and sister, Essie Beemon, spent Wednesday with H. L. Tanner and family.

O. E. Aylor and family and W. F. Cloud and wife spent Sunday with Albert Beemon and family.

C. L. Tanner and wife and Willie Rouse and family were guests of H. L. Tanner and family, Sunday.

Mrs. Delila Utz returned to her home in Lexington last Friday, after a three months' visit in this neighborhood.

Clifford Tanner and wife entertained quite a number of their friends with a dance, Wednesday night.

GUNPOWDER.

The meetings at Hopeful are still in progress.

L. H. Busby and family attended church at Big Bone, last Sunday.

J. W. Williams and L. P. Aylor attended court in Covington for the two weeks past.

Miss Ruth and Master Phillip Griffin, of Erlanger, spent last week with relatives in this neighborhood.

A land deal was pulled off here a few days since and a gentleman of Ludlow became owner of the Elbert Senour farm.

Miss Ida Rouse, of Campbell county, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Lonnie Tanner and other relatives in this neighborhood.

H. F. Utz was engaged at Union a couple of days last week, moving the switchboard for the mutual telephone system. Mrs. Marshall will officiate this year.

Robt. Tanner and wife entertained the following guests last Sunday: Mrs. Mary Zimmerman and family. M. R. Tanner and wife and Mrs. Alice Tanner and son, Ira.

Kills Her Foe of 20 Years.

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Me., "was Dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up, I tried Electric Bitters which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am overjoyed to get my health and strength back again." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Kidney Trouble, Lame Back, Female Complaints, its unequaled. Only 50c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

GRANT.

November came in with a warm wave and rain.

Henry Clore is having an addition built to his house.

Charles Maurer made a trip to Cincinnati, last Saturday.

Ottie and Elmer Deck are on duty as night police at McVlile.

Large tows of coal are going south on the present rise in the river.

A real estate deal is on in Belleview, but has not matured yet.

Ben Cook purchased of Loren Abdon, of East Bend, last week, a nice black horse for $150.

Mrs. W. T. Goodridge, of near Burlington, passed through here, Friday, enroute to Rising Sun.

Sheldon Flick, who had his arm broken several weeks ago, is able to use that member again.

Morris Rice, Jas. Rogers and F. C. Brown, cashier of the Citizens Bank, attended court at the hub, Monday.

Gilly Weisickle sold his corn about 750 bushels to J. J. Walton for 50c per bushel.

W. W. Grant can now reach his shop without the use of a skiff as heretofores.

Miss Bettie Dolph visited her brother, Charles Dolph and family, of McVille, last Friday.

Pepper and Joe Smith were out Sunday viewing the beautiful scenery on Mt. Frisbee.

Mrs. T. W. Cook spent several days last week, with Andy Cook and family, of Grant's Landing.

Have you bought a "noodle cutter?" If not, call on yours truly, and be in the swim. 25 cents.

Our new school building is receiving the finishing touches and school will begin the second Monday in November.

Henry Stucky, who has been working over in Hoosier, has returned to old Kentucky and is working for Harry Acra.

The B. & B. Turnpike Co., put their stone crnsher to work at this end of the line, Thursday, and will work towards Burlington.

F. G. Brown has started a feed store on the corner near the bank. Stock fed at reasonable rates—large lot of fodder on hand.

A band of gypsies crossed at the McVille ferry, one day last week. The children in the party were barefooted, but did not seem to mind it.

The local lodge of I. O. O. F., are having their building remodeled, putting the stairway inside, a concrete porch and walk and a new cistern dug.

Lute Abdon, of Gunpowder, who has been working here for several weeks is so well pleased with our town and people that he thinks of locating here permanently.

Quite a crowd of Belleview fans were disappointed last Thursday, when they found out that the game of ball between Rising Sun and the Cincinnati Reds had been canceled.

H. D. Brady and wife, Mrs. F. H. Brown, Mrs. Gene Green, Mrs. M. J. Corbin and daughter, Miss Bernice, and Miss Stella Ryle went to Cincinnati, one day last week, on a shopping expedition.

The outside stairway removed from the I. O. O. F. hall was purchased by Al Rogers to be put up at his store so as to reach the second story of that building from the outside. It will be occupied by the M. W. A. lodge.

Uncle Ben Crisler and wife were shopping in Rising Sun, last Friday, and while there uncle Ben took his first ride in an auto, and reports that he enjoyed a sense of exhileration beyond the power of man to describe.

Geo. Williamson, overseer of the road from here to Rabbit Hash had a force of hands out last week gravelling the hill that goes down to the new bridges at Middle creek. He has his road in the best shape it has been for years.

The citizens of Belleview are hauling gravel and spreading on Main st., from the Rabbit Hash & Waterloo pike to the Burlington & Belleview pike. It will be a great improvement, in fact our little village has enjoyed a boom all summer and fall.

There is some talk of D. M. Snyder taking the principalship of our Graded School. If the rumor is true the patrons are to be congratuated on securing a man who has done much for the cause of education in this county and is in every way fitted for the position.

Oh yes! what do you think of this? Belleview is going to have a Farmers' Fair, when, did you say? Why, Saturday, November 20th, to be sure. The farmers will meet and have a great time socially, and besides there will be prizes given on tobacco, corn, and potatoes as follows:

Tobacco—Best 10 hands lugs	$3.00
Second prize	2.00
Best 10 hands leaf	3.00
Second prize	2.00
Corn—Best white corn, 10 ears	2.00
Second prize	1.00
Irish Potatoes—Best peck (any variety)	1.50
Second prize	.75

The following committee will have charge of the exhibits: J. J. Walton, W. B. Arnold on potatoes; Al Rogers, Henry Clore on corn; Bernard Rogers, Cyrus Kelly on potatoes. The judges will be chosen on day of exhibition and shall be disinterested parties. All samples to be retained by committee.

A great many have taken advantage of the cheap sale at Clark's jewelry store, and the extremely low prices made sales lively. There are still some great bargains left in clocks, watches and jewelry, and all must be sold regardless of cost.

C. W. McFee, of Francesville, took part in the target shooting held by the North Kentucky Club at Dayton, Ky., a few days since, and broke 47 out of 50 targets. He was using inferior ammunition.

VERONA.

James Anderson is erecting a new house on his farm near Verona.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Vest and children spent Thursday in Cincinnati.

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. B'Hymer are entertaining a fine 10 lb. boy at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hume spent Sunday with L. J. Riley and wife, at Union.

J. B. Cummins is progressing nicely with the erection of his new home near town.

Miss Claris Leary, of Zion, is visiting her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Bran.

Mrs. Fanny Powers spent part of last week with her son, Robt. Powers, of Sanders.

Lisle Callahan, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday with his parents, F. M. Callahan and wife.

J. B. McManama spent a few days of last week in Covington with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Bell Taylor, of Walton, spent Friday with her daughter, Mrs. Nicholas McCormack, Jr.

Kirby Leach, of Russell, Ky., was the pleasant guest of his mother, Mrs. Artie Leach, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Powers spent Saturday and Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Irvin Conrad, of Dry Ridge.

Mrs. John McCormack had as her guests a part of last week her parents Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, of near Dry Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Showers, of Crittenden, were the pleasant guests of their parents Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Showers, Tuesday.

Wm. McCormack, our popular L. N. agent, had the misfortune of having his foot severely mashed one day last week by some part of a hay press falling on it.

The Halloween social at the M. E. church, last Saturday evening, was a very pleasant affair and enjoyed by all present. The church was very prettily decorated for the occasion, and the "ghosts" proved themselves a great attraction, visiting the merchants of the town and the Police Judge, but evading the jail. "Dinah" and the "Witch" made themselves a great sensation.

HATHAWAY.

Nov. 1.—This is warm for the 1st.

Corn is selling at 50 cents per bushel.

Colds are quite prevalent in this neighborhood.

G. Franks and wife and a Mr. Johnson, of Grant county, were here one day last week.

James Arrasmith and Geo. Horton delivered their tobacco at Covington one day last week.

The farmers who have sold their tobacco will lose no time now in getting it stripped and delivered.

Geo. L. Smith received a kick from one of his horses last Friday evening, which has crippled him up considerably.

Several members of the Modern Woodmen of America from here attended a big banquet given at Rising Sun, last Tuesday night.

Rev. Allie Stith and family, of near Burlington, attended meeting at Big Bone last Sunday, and were guests of Rev. McMillan and wife the remainder of the day.

Earnest McNeely and John Enbanks and wife, of Gallatin county, came up last Sunday to spend a couple of days with friends. They attended the meeting at Big Bone last Sunday and Sunday night.

The meeting of the past two weeks at Big Bone Baptist church, conducted by Revs. Jenkins, State evangelist, of Louisville, and the pastor, Rev. McMillan and wife closed last Sunday night with 12 additions—9 by profession of faith and baptism, 2 by restoration, and one came under the watchcare until he could secure a letter. Much interest was manifested during the several days and nights of the meeting and good attendance was the rule. The congregation listened very attentively to Bro Jenkins as he preached with power and demonstration. The baptising will take place Wednesday, Nov. 3d, at Hamilton at 2:30 p. m. After the baptising the candidates will meet at the church at 7 o'clock to be given the hand of church fellowship and the charge by the pastor, on christian living and development unto usefulness to the church as members.

HEBRON.

Dink Anderson and wife moved to Ludlow last week.

Emmet Kligore and wife were Sunday guests at John Conner's.

Hubert Conner purchased a team of fine horses in Cincinnati, last week.

W. A. Bullock and wife were Sunday guests at Ed Aylor's at Taylorsport.

James Bullock spent a few days the past week with his sister, Mrs. Jackson, at Camden, Ohio.

Mrs. Lizzie Scroggins, of Denver, Colorado, arrived here several days ago to visit friends and relatives.

Mrs. Amanda Lodge and daughter, Miss Nannie, spent a very pleasant day last Friday with Mrs. Hossman.

Clive Hafer and Mesdames Mabel Sayre and Alice Crigier attended the State Grange in session last week in Paris, Bourbon county.

Miss Faulkner, the trained nurse who has been staying with Mr. John Conner for several weeks, has returned to the city. We are glad to see Mr. Conner able to be about.

Several of the young people of this neigborhood attended the dance given by Misses Stella Popham and Katie Tanner, last Wednesday night, at the home of Clifford Tanner, near Limaburg.

For Sale—Lot alfalfa and corn. Apply to C. T. Northcutt, McVille.

PETERSBURG.

Miss Florence McWethy is visiting relatives at Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Mrs. Robert Green, of Belleview, was a recent guest of Mrs. Owen Allen.

Mrs. Milton Souther, of Idlewild, visited Mr. and Mrs. Owen Allen, one day last week.

Misses Kate and Mary Geisler spent Friday at Lawrenceburg, Ind., on a shopping tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Blythe spent Friday in Lawrenceburg, Ind., with Harry Blythe and wife.

Mrs. F. M. Morgan and little son, Mac, of Cadiz, O., visited relatives here several days last week.

Miss Stella Sturgeon is spending a few weeks in the country with Mrs. W. A. Gaines, near Idlewild.

Mrs. H. N. Gordon and baby were recent guests of her mother, Mrs. Jas. Hensley, at Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Mrs. Harry Brown, of Baltimore, Md., is the pleasant guest of Mrs. Ella Jenkins at her country home below town.

Mrs. Nathan Walton and Mrs. Jas. T. Gaines, of near Idlewild, spent one day last week with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jarrell.

Mrs. Leslie McMullen, and children, of Gunpowder, visited her parents, Plum Gulley and wife, here, last Sunday.

Miss Katie Arnold left, Sunday, for Belleview, after spending several weeks with her brother Hugh and wife at this place.

Will Arnold and sister, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Grant, of near Belleview, spent Wednesday with H. E. Arnold and wife here.

Mrs. S. J. Bradley and daughter left, Saturday, for Taylorsport to join Rev. Bradley, who is conducting a meeting at that place.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Blythe gave them a delightful house-warming Saturday evening. They received many beautiful and useful presents including a nice rocking chair, blankets, towels, center-pieces, a lamp, numerous pieces of silverware, beautiful dishes and graniteware.

Miss Nellie McWethy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. McWethy, and Mr. Robert E. Grant, were married at the Christian church, Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 26th, at 2:30, Rev. R. H. Carter performed the ceremony in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends. Ferns, palms and chrysanthemums formed the floral decorations. The bride was attended by her twin sister, Miss Nora McWethy, and the groom by Mr. Frank Shaddock, of Covington; Mrs. J. M. Grant played the wedding march. Mr. and Mrs. Grant left for Lexington immediately after the ceremony, and will be at home in Lawrenceburg, Ind., on their return.

A charming wedding of the week was solemnized Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Botts. The bride was their daughter, Miss Flossie, and the groom, Mr. Dudley Blythe, of Burlington. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. H. Carter in the presence of a host of friends. Miss Alice Berkshire attended the bride and Dr. Hubert Walton attended the groom. The bride wore a beautiful gown of blue messaline while the groom wore the conventional black. Mrs. L. E. Keim played Mendelssohn's wedding march before and after the ceremony. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Stott, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stott, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Chambers, Mrs. Mary Jarrell, Mrs. H. N. Gordon, Mrs. Will Berkshire, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walton, Misses Edna and Alice Berkshire, Lendyll Alloway, Olivia Allen, Ennie and Merletta Stephens, Amy Gordon, Henrietta Geisler, Lelia Thompson, Beulah and Melicent Berkshire, Mr. G. C. Graddy, and Prof. Willis Tandy. Mr. and Mrs. Blythe will reside in Burlington.

BUFFALO.

Nov. 1.—We are having nice weather again.

Miss Emma Clements spent Saturday with Miss Roxie Aylor.

Mrs. Neal, who has been quite ill, has about recovered her health.

Leonard Kite and wife, of Waterloo, spent Sunday at H. H. Coyle's.

Miss Fannie Smith spent Friday and Saturday with Mrs. Etta Clements.

Lens Sullivan was the guest of Elijah and Hiram Stepheus, Sunday night.

Rev. McMillan entertained Rev. Stith and wife and Rev. Jenkins, last Sunday.

Lewis Clore was the guest of his son, H. H. Clore, Friday night and Saturday.

J. D. McNeely and family spent Saturday night and Sunday at N. H. Clement's.

Miss Edna McAtee was the guest of Miss Jessie Utz, Saturday night and Sunday.

Misses Sadie Crisler and Mary Alton Vought were guests of Mrs. Bristow, Saturday night.

Sandford Bristow and sister, Louise, were at home from Ludlow from Friday until Monday.

Miss Lutie Sullivan and Courtney Kelly were guests of Miss Eva Sebree from Friday until Monday.

Program of Teachers' meeting to be held at Constance, Saturday, November 6th, at 10 a. m.:

Primary Reading..... Ida Hodges
Spelling..... Stella Carpenter
Arithmetic, Percentage. Flora Youell
Arithmetic, Interest.
Mable Regenbogen
Writing..... Anna Miller
History—Discoveries and Settlements..... Keene Souther

The pupils of the school will also have a program, and an all day meeting will be held, beginning promptly at 10 a. m. Patrons and the friends of education are cordially is vited to be present. A. M. Yeats.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. - KENTUCKY.

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed Into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

Horace H. Lurton of Nashville is believed in Washington to have the best chance for appointment to the bench of the supreme court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Peckham. Lurton is an old friend of President Taft.

G. A. Simpson, a Grant county (Ky.) tobacco grower, who shipped 75,000 pounds of his 1908 crop, with the aid of state troops, says he will move to New Mexico, as he fears night riders.

Jacob M. Dickinson, secretary of war, says if his candidacy for senator in Tennessee would unite the Democratic factions in the state, he would make the race.

Prof. Headlee of the Kansas agricultural college says chinch bugs cause from $5,000,000 to $25,000,000 loss annually to the farmers of the state. He is experimenting with destroyers.

Dr. E. B. Morgan, an eye and ear specialist of Paterson, N. J., has come into possession of $1,000,000 through the generosity of a brother who made $7,000,000 in stock deals and shared his fortune.

Cardinal Gibbons says he pities the friendless rich. "Millions," he says, "avail nothing to a man if he have no one to give him solace in sorrow."

Richard Croker's trip to the United States this fall is not in response to a call for aid from Charles W. Morse, according to a statement by Mr. Morse, who is a prisoner in the Tombs at New York.

GENERAL NOTES.

Five hundred Indian bucks and squaws, after receiving their annuities, indulged in one of the wildest orgies that the Leech Lake (Minn.) agency ever witnessed. It was the last day when saloons could sell liquor to the redskins.

Mrs. Frank Stanley, at Pana, Ill., shot and killed her husband, Frank, during a struggle for the possession of a shotgun. The woman claims she shot in self-defense.

Frederick Gebhardt, the New York self-confessed wife murderer, admits he has been guilty of three such crimes, for the purpose of securing the women's money.

Grand jury at Chicago in their final report to Judge Tuthill, declared the jury-drawing system of Cook county "rotten and corrupt," and charge the commissioners with wholesale violations of the law.

Gen. Oliver O. Howard, the last of the union commanders of the civil war, died at his home in Burlington, Vt., of heart disease, aged 79 years.

Credence is given by Tokyo officials to the report that the assassination of Prince Ito was the culmination of a plot, the ramifications of which extended through Korea and into China.

Federal Judge Holt, at New York, handed down a decision which will allow Gustav E. Kissel and Thomas B. Harned, who were among those indicted along with the American Sugar Refining Company for criminal conspiracy, to escape prosecution through the provisions of the statute of limitations.

John R. Walsh, the former Chicago banker, has received $100,000 for an option on his railroads from the United States Steel Corporation, which will enable him to settle his financial difficulties for the time being, at least.

A secret investigation into alleged irregularities in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., is being made by Alexander Bruce Bielaski, a special examiner from the department of justice at Washington.

The fourth annual convention of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association is in session at New Orleans, with President Taft, Vice-President Sherman, Speaker Cannon, several members of the cabinet, numerous governors, senators, representatives, members of state legislatures and members of industrial and semi-public organizations in attendance.

The thirty-ninth annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee was held in Columbus, O., Gen. James Grant Wilson delivering the address.

Fire destroyed Hilliard's opera house at Kenora, Ont. The loss is estimated at $150,000. The fire started in the scenery of the opera house.

The South Dakota Educational association met in annual session in Lead and the Nebraska state Teachers' association in Lincoln.

Sheriff Strassheim of Cook county, Illinois (Chicago), was fined $500 and costs by the Illinois supreme court for contempt in not promptly obeying a mandate of that tribunal. Gov. Deneen will pay the fine if the decision stands as the sheriff has it is alleged, with ever his instructions.

Forty miners were entombed in a mine near Bargoed, Wales, by an explosion. Eleven bodies were recovered and the remainder of those caught are beHeveed to have been killed.

James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson signed articles of agreement at New York for a fight for the world's heavyweight pugilistic championship. The winner is to take 75 per cent of the purse and the battle, which will be 45 rounds, will be fought before the club offering the most inviting terms.

Earth shocks in northern California and southern Oregon, lasting from 10 to 25 seconds, were more severe than any felt in several years previously. But little damage was done.

Rev. Dr. M. C. Hawkes of Ypsilanti, Mich., in an address at Saline, charged that the co-eds at the University of Michigan drink rum in their tea.

Counsel for former Police Inspector Edward McCann of Chicago, convicted of accepting bribes from dive keepers, are seeking a new trial for their client on grounds that jury service has been full of irregularities, as contended by State's Attorney Wayman.

Thaddeus Wilson, 22 years of age, a school teacher of Garnett, Kan., was arrested in Kansas City, charged with sending two letters to R. A. Long, a millionaire lumber dealer, demanding $5,000.

John H. Mackle, a former business man of Columbus, O., was convicted by a Cincinnati jury of embezzling $2,000 belonging to his wife's mother. Sentence was deferred.

Commissioner Williams of the immigration bureau will soon begin hearings in the cases of 150 suspects at New York, charged with being members of the "Black Hand." If the charges are proved they will be deported.

A French court has decided that the children of Princess de Sagan, the young Castellanes, must be sent to a state school, and a penalty of $100 a day is imposed for every day the order is ignored.

Troops are fighting forest fires in the Huachuca forest reservation in Texas. Sheep herders, driven off the ranges, are believed to have started the fires in revenge.

Mayor Pogue of Bemidji, Minn., and three other men had a thrilling experience when a freight train struck the auto in which they were riding. Pogue and a companion were carried on the pilot of the engine for some distance. All were injured, but not fatally.

The McCormick Theological seminary at Chicago celebrated the eightieth anniversary of its founding, eminent theological educators and divines from many cities taking part in the ceremonies.

The honorary commercial commissioners of Japan and their suites arrived in Washington and visited Potomoc drive, along which will be planted 2,000 cherry trees which the emperor of Japan has presented to the government.

John D. Rockefeller has given a million dollars to aid in the extermination of the disease of "hook worm," or "lazy disease" germ in the southern states. He intrusts the expenditure to a commission of 12, including his son and noted scientists.

The federal court of appeals has refused to grant the petition of the government that John R. Walsh be placed in prison pending the appeal of his case to the supreme court of the United States, thus giving the banker a year's liberty at least.

Mrs. Chapin, a suffragette, in attempting to destroy the ballots at an election in London, broke a bottle of acid over the ballot box as a protest against the exclusion of women from the right of franchise. Several officials were painfully burned and she was arrested.

A general uprising of Korean revolutionists is feared following the assassination of Prince Ito at Harbin. His murderer has been identified as a Korean newspaper editor, and the open declarations of approval of the murder has caused great alarm.

Mrs. Charles Edgecomb and four-year-old son were found dead at their home in Chicago from gas asphyxiation. It is believed the child turned on the gas instead of the electric light. He was in the habit of playing with the latter.

Frederick Dietz and his wife perished in a supposedly incendiary fire which destroyed a tenement at West Thirteenth street and Third avenue, New York.

Inventors are to benefit from a classification of patents undertaken by the United States patent office at Washington.

Erwin Weinspach, a Los Angeles druggist, his wife and Jesse R. Thornton, who started for the Sierra Nevada mountains eight weeks ago, are missing. A searching party is to go out.

The body of Prince Ito, Japan's murdered statesman, will be taken to Japan on a warship now at Dairen. Nine alleged accomplices of his assassin are under arrest.

Arthur P. Heinze was sentenced to prison for ten days and fined $250 by Judge Ray in New York on a charge of obstructing justice by advising a witness to evade service.

A naval battle between warships of Greece and 300 mutinous officers from the Greek navy was fought at Salamis, but was not of a very serious nature. However, it is feared that the leader of the revolt, Tsibaldos, will overthrow the government and declare a dictatorship.

John Sickles, tried at Moundsville, W. Va., on the charge of murdering his nephew, Randolph Ritchea, has been acquitted. He pleaded the unwritten law. On approaching the house he heard his 16-year-old daughter scream and as Ritchea ran from the house he shot him.

DEEP WATERWAY IS DEMANDED BY ALL

Great River Convention Is Held in New Orleans.

PRESIDENT FAVORS PROJECT

Promises the Present Administration Will Support Issuance of Federal Bonds If Fourteen-Foot Program Proves Feasible.

New Orleans, Nov. 1.—Ringing demands for "14 feet through the valley" and elaborate argument in support of the program for the creation of a deep waterway from the lakes to the gulf have marked the great convention of the Deep Waterway association that opened here Saturday.

President Taft, Vice-President Sherman, Speaker Cannon, governors of th Mississippi valley states, innumerable senators and representatives and a mighty throng of private citizens who believe in the big river project are here and all urge that it be undertaken and carried to a speedy conclusion.

President Taft Promises Support.

President Taft, who arrived in New Orleans escorted by a great flotilla, after an illuminating trip down the Mississippi river from St. Louis, landed from the lighthouse tender Oleander about eight o'clock Saturday morning, and was driven to his hotel through streets that were canopied with magnolia branches, palmettoes and southern moss, and everywhere entwined in the decorations were the mottoes "Fourteen Feet Through the Valley" and "River Rate Regulation Is Rate Regulation." At the Athenaeum in the afternoon the president aroused a storm of cheers by promising that if the 14-feet project proved feasible and advisable, the present administration would favor the issuance of government bonds to defray the cost.

Not for a "Pork Barrel."

At the same time Mr. Taft made it plain that he would not stand for any plan to make a "pork barrel" of the project. He said he opposed any such general bond issue of $500,000,000 or $1,000,000,000 for waterways improvement, the money to be cut up and parceled out to different sections. He declared that the improvement of waterways had been carried forward in a haphazard fashion in the past, and that a new method should be adopted.

President Taft.

"I believe in the deep waterway," said the president. "I am for it, and I shall use all the power that I possess in doing what may be accomplished to give you citizens of this great valley what you so earnestly desire. It is all a part of a still greater movement inaugurated by Theodore Roosevelt, and properly called by him the conservation of our national resources.

"The projects for irrigation and for the improvement of waterways in the future are not to be for the purpose of distributing 'pork' to every part of the country. Every measure is to be adopted on the ground that it will be useful to the whole country. They are not to be adopted for sending certain congressmen back to Washington or for making certain parts of the country profitable during the expenditure of the money.

"We should take up every comprehensive project on its merits and determine whether the country where the project is to be carried out has so far developed as to justify the enormous expenditure of money and if it will be useful when done. When we decide in favor of a project, I believe in issuing bonds to carry it to completion as rapidly as possible. It has been proposed that we issue bonds for $500,000,000 or $1,000,000,000, and cut it up and parcel the money out in this and that section of the country. I am opposed to any such proposition, because it not only smells of the 'pork barrel,' but would be a 'pork barrel.'"

Sherman, Too, Is for It.

Vice-President James S. Sherman has brought to the people of the middle west the message of the east, promising enthusiastic support of the waterway program. "We people of the east depend on your people of the west," said he. "When we help you, we help ourselves, so there is every reason why we should do all in our power for you, as soon as we realize what you want and why you want it."

Speaker Cannon and Secretary of War Dickinson are no less outspoken in their assurances of support, and many senators and representatives, among them Senator Lorimer of Illinois, the father of the deep waterway movement, this afternoon made addresses full of hopeful enthusiasm.

Secretary of War Dickinson.

Kavanaugh Opens Convention.

William K. Kavanaugh of Missouri, president of the association, called the convention to order Saturday morning and set forth briefly the aims and plans of the organization. He said the deep waterway work is now in this condition:

1. The sanitary district of Chicago has built the deep waterway, practically to Joliet, nearly 40 miles, and $60,000,000 have been spent thus far on the work.

2. The entire route of the lakes-to-the-gulf deep waterway from Joliet to New Orleans, through the Des Plaines river, the Illinois river and the Mississippi river, has been surveyed under direction of congress by United States engineers, who have officially reported to congress that the building of the deep waterway is feasible.

3. The people of the state of Illinois have adopted a constitutional amendment providing for a bond issue of $20,000,000, the money to be spent in constructing the deep waterway southward from Joliet.

4. A bill introduced by United States Representative Richard Bartholdt of Missouri is now pending in congress, providing for the issuance by the United States government of bonds to the amount of $500,000,000, the money to be spent in constructing this deep waterway from the lakes to the gulf and other meritorious projected river improvements.

5. It is intended to ask the Sixty-first congress to pass a bill providing definitely that the United States government undertake the construction of the deep waterway from the point where the Illinois work will end, to the Gulf of Mexico.

In the afternoon, following the address of President Taft, Clifford Pinchot, head of the government forestry department, made an address on the conservation of the nation's natural resources.

In the evening the delegates to the convention were entertained at a stag smoker by the Progressive union of New Orleans. This evening all the delegates and the ladies accompanying them were the guests of the Progressive union at the New Orleans Opera house, where "La Juive" was given by the French Opera Company.

His Politics at Home.

A political canvasser called at a home the other day and inquired as to the political affiliations of the man of the house.

"Oh, well," said the housewife, "he's everything. He's nice when he's away, and he's not so nice at other times.'

"But about politics," said the canvasser. "Is he a Democrat or a Republican?"

"Well, it depends on who he is with," said the lady. "If it's policy to be a Democrat when he's with Democrats, he's a Democrat, and when he's with Republicans he's a Republican."

"I understand," persisted the canvasser, "but between ourselves, what is he at home?"

"Oh, at home he's a perfect terror."

Birth of Biblical Art.

The first Biblical illustrative art consisted in the symbolic frescoes of the Catacombs.

The Russian Dynasty.

The present dynasty of Russia is the house of Romanoff, founded by Czar Michael Fedorovite Romanoff, who ascended the throne in 1613. The Romanoffs are descended from Andrew Kobyla, who came from Prussia to Moscow in 1814.

Ingratitude.

A Missouri farmer was nearly kicked to death by a mule that he had rescued from a burning barn. A mule may be as ungrateful as a thoughtless son.

Appreciation.

"I was strongly tempted when we were in the conservatory alone to take you in my arms and kiss you. Would you have been very angry with me if I had done so?" "Yes—very. But thank you for the compliment."

Fortune's Whims.

"Where did you git de hand full o' change?" asked Meandering Mike. "It was forced on me," answered Plodding Pete. "A lady up de road sicked de dog on me. I had to steal de pup an' sell 'im in self-defense."

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.

Phone, M. 2393.

The Applegate-Piper Co.

MERCHANT TAILORS.

Room 610, Traction Building,

Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,

BURLINGTON, KY.

The Oldest Bank in Boone County,

PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,

With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock.....	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits...	40,000
Liability of Stockholders.....	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR

THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.

17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.

This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR

Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,

Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY

AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.

CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.

New Buggies, Runabouts

and Harness for Sale or Trade.

Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.

When in Burlington call and See me.

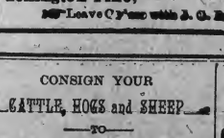
B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.



First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Orders with J. G. [illegible] Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP TO

C. C. SEAL & CO.

Union Stock Yards,

CINCINNATI. • • OHIO

And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.

J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.,

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade

Interesting Kentucky News

FORMAL TRANSFER MADE

Of Frankfort and Cincinnati to Louisville and Nashville.

Frankfort, Ky.—The formal transfer of the Frankfort and Cincinnati railroad, which runs from Frankfort to Paris, to the Louisville and Nashville was made in this city between W. L. Mapother, president of the Frankfort and Cincinnati, and Milton H. Smith, president of the Louisville and Nashville. The Louisville and Nashville assumed the debt on $160,000 worth of bonds, and in addition pays $10 and other considerations. The transfer was to have been made on November 1, but the company to forestall any action of an injunction on the part of the state or the city, in case the state does not act, made the transfer. Now the only action that can be taken either by city, county or state will be to enjoin the L. and N. from operating the road. The railroad officials took no chances on an injunction being filed, for they got the county clerk, N. B. Smith, to sit up practically all night to copy the deed of sale on the record. This action on the part of the railroad company, the attorneys for the citizens say, does not cut any figure in the case, but it is an old rule that possession is nine points in the law, and the Louisville and Nashville will give the bond and go ahead to operate the railroad.

MERGER WITH L. & N.

Of Frankfort and Cincinnati Line Strongly Opposed by Franklin County Citizens.

Frankfort, Ky.—Characterizing the purchase of the Frankfort and Cincinnati by the Louisville and Nashville as a violation of the constitution of Kentucky, the business men, shippers, members of city council and fiscal court of Franklin county have adopted resolutions calling upon Gov. Willson or Acting Gov. Cox and Atty. Gen. Breathitt to prevent the merger. In case the State fails to act, William Cromwell, city attorney, and Frank Dailey, county attorney, are instructed to file injunctions against the Louisville and Nashville to restrain that company from taking charge of the offices of the Frankfort and Cincinnati in this city or county. In case the State acts, the county and city attorneys are instructed to act with them. There was a special meeting of the shippers, the Business Men's club, the city council and the fiscal court, and each of these organizations adopted resolutions calling upon Gov. Willson to prevent the merger. The city and county authorities are going a step further. They are not only going to prevent the merger, but will take action to prevent the Louisville and Nashville from operating or leasing the line.

TO HANDLE NEW TOBACCO CROP.

Executive Committee of New Burley Tobacco and Insurance Co. Arranges Details.

Lexington, Ky.—The executive committee of the New Burley Tobacco and Insurance Co. at a meeting here made arrangements for receiving and handling the new crop of tobacco. Members of the committee were assigned to various counties of the Burley district to receive propositions for warehouses. Alexandria, Campbell county, was the first to make a proposition, offering $5,000 as a donation for a site.

Lebanon, Ky.—A party of neighbors searching for George Bosley, who had been missing for several days, found the body of the farmer in the woods near by, guarded by his faithful dog. Although the animal was weak from hunger, he would not leave the side of his master until help arrived. He kept up a continual battle with a drove of hogs in the woods, but managed to fight them off. Bosley died of heart disease.

Frankfort, Ky.—Superintendent of Public Instruction J. G. Crabbe returned from his tour through the northwest with the southern state superintendents. He is enthusiastic over the great educational developments in the northwest and has returned to Kentucky determined to raise the standard of education in this state equal to that in the northwest and other states.

Louisville, Ky.—Capt. Fred Pfau and Sergt. R. G. Buckley, of the local police department, were arrested on warrants sworn out by Pope Speed, a former police captain, who alleges the two officers threatened him because he was actively at work for the democratic ticket in the coming mayoralty election.

Frankfort, Ky.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed with the clerk of the United States court here against E. C. Harris, a merchant, of Eminence, by Lowry & Goebel, of Cincinnati, Stratton & Terstegge, of Louisville, and other creditors.

Winchester, Ky.—County Judge J. H. Evans has set December 6 as the date for the local option election in Winchester and Clark county.

SETTLEMENT MUST BE PLAIN

To Injured Person to Make It Binding, Says Appellate Court.

Frankfort, Ky.—Contracts of settlement made by the agents of companies with injured employes during their illness will not stand the test of Kentucky courts unless it can be shown that the settlement was made voluntarily and in good faith and with the clear understanding of the injured person. This case came up in the court of appeals when the judgment of the Kenton circuit court giving Elijah Berry $1,466 damages against the Keller & Brady Co., which did the work on Grant's tunnel for the Louisville and Nashville railroad. Berry was injured in a premature blast and the falling rock and secured the judgment of $1,466 in the Kenton circuit court. He is an ignorant, uneducated negro from Asia Minor, and did not understand the English language. While he was ill an agent for the company, so the appellate court says, settled with him for $50 and took his receipt. "Any court would be slow to uphold such a settlement," says the appellate court, "unless it is shown that the injured person knew what kind of settlement he was making and did it voluntarily."

BANK CASHIER PLEADS GUILTY

To Having Misappropriated $15,000—Sentenced to Five Years in Atlanta Penitentiary.

Covington, Ky.—Depressed and broken in health, Bank Cashier Charles McConnaghy, in the federal court here, pleaded guilty to having misappropriated $15,000 belonging to the Citizens' bank of Monticello, Ky. Attorney J. B. O'Neal, representing Mr. McConnaghy, by demurring to the indictment on various occasions, succeeded in having it referred back for revision. However, in each instance the grand jury reported the same number of counts. Mr. O'Neal's plea for his client was a masterful one and touched the court officials, and upon concluding Judge A. M. J. Cochran sentenced McConnaghy to five years in the Atlanta penitentiary. He was placed in the custody of Federal Marshal Steve Sharp.

OPPOSED TO SHIP SUBSIDIES

Is Kentucky State Grange—Favors Parcels Post and Election of Senators by Popular Vote.

Paris, Ky.—After adopting resolutions favoring the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, and favoring parcels post, but opposing ship subsidies, the Kentucky State Grange closed its annual meeting here. The following officers were elected: Master, F. P. Walcott, Covington; overseer, N. C. Tanner, Boone county; treasurer, J. W. Connor, Boone county; secretary, Mrs. Mabel G. Sayre, Hebron, Ky. Organizers will be placed in every county in the state.

SHORTAGE IN TURKEY CROP.

Wet Weather of Last Spring and Poultry Diseases Are Held Responsible.

Versailles, Ky.—Reports have been received from all over Central Kentucky of a considerable shortage in the turkey crop, and the city family that eats Thanksgiving turkey this year will probably pay a little more than it did in 1908. The wet weather last spring and poultry diseases are held responsible for decimating the young turkeys. In normal years the turkeys raised in a dozen blue grass counties are worth over $500,000 to the farmers' wives.

Lexington, Ky.—An order was entered in circuit court dismissing all action of the Southern Mutual Investment Co. and the American Reserve Bond Co. against J. D. Purcell, Joseph and John Skain and J. W. Appleton. These defendants have settled with Receiver James C. Rogers by the payment of $49,000, Purcell and Skain $20,000 each and Appleton $9,000.

Louisville, Ky.—That every railroad in Kentucky will show an enormous increase in revenues for the year 1909 was a statement issued by a member of the Kentucky railroad commission, now compiling a report for the past 12 months. It is stated that tremendous gains have been made in all state lines.

Lexington, Ky.—The executive committee of the Burley Tobacco and Insurance Co., which has been in session here, adjourned to meet again Nov. 3. The committees appointed to arrange for warehouses will report at the next meeting.

Lexington, Ky.—D. Talmadge McGuire, who recently deserted his store at Lemon's Mill after having sent his bride of three months to Louisville for a visit to her mother, returned to Lexington.

Owensboro, Ky.—Charles Bowlds, 30, charged with wrecking the Bank of Grand county, Colorado, was born and reared in Owensboro. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bowlds, prominent people of this county.

GOEBEL MONUMENT DEDICATION

Will Take Place Feb. 3, 1910, the Tenth Anniversary of Burial.

Frankfort, Ky.—On February 3, 1910, the tenth anniversary of the burial of Gov. William Goebel in the State cemetery here, the monument erected by popular subscription will be formally unveiled and dedication ceremonies held. Former Gov. James B. McCreary, of Madison county, and J. C. W. Beckham, of Nelson county, will be the orators of the occasion. The date of the unveiling was determined upon at a meeting of the Goebel monument executive and building committee, held in the parlors of the Capital hotel. Judge Lewis McQuown, Dr. E. E. Hume, J. C. W. Beckham, James B. McCreary and Miss Sally Jackson, of the committee, were designated a committee to act with a committee of citizens of Frankfort and of the general assembly of 1910 to arrange for the dedication ceremonies. The monument cost $15,500. Of the total fund collected $1,234.04 remains in the fund, and this is made a perpetual fund for the care of the lot and monument.

JOHN CHARLESWORTH

To Head Freethinkers Meeting, Which Will Be Held on November 14 in St. Louis.

Lexington, Ky.—The Freethinkers of America are going to hold a convention in St. Louis, Sunday, November 14, for the purpose of forming a national organization, and John R. Charlesworth, of this city, says that he will be elected president. Charlesworth was born in London, learned the bricklayers' trade, enlisted in the British army, bought his release before the expiration of his term of enlistment, came to America, studied law, earned a diploma, went to Texas and became the attorney for the Texas Liquor Dealers' association in a campaign against the "drys" some 12 years ago. The convention to be held in St. Louis is Charlesworth's inspiration and he wrote the call under which it is to be held.

MORE INDICTMENTS

For Illegal Registration Returned by Grand Jury in Lexington.

Lexington, Ky.—Another batch of 60 indictments, charging offenses against the registration of voters on October 5, making a total of 234 true bills found by the present grand jury, were returned in the circuit court. With the exception of possibly half a dozen, these indictments are all against persons who registered as democrats or who are known to be identified with the democratic organization. The information upon which the indictments have been brought was for the greater part furnished from the headquarters of the candidates on the republican ticket. Judge Watts Parker, who impaneled and instructed the grand jury, is a candidate on the republican ticket to succeed himself in the office to which he has been twice elected.

GROWER SAVES HIS TOBACCO

By Shipping 75,000 Pounds, Stalks and All, to Lexington.

Lexington, Ky.—G. A. Simpson, whose home is in Grant county, near Mason, shipped 75,000 pounds of unstripped tobacco to a local warehouse, and arrived here to attend to the stripping and sale of the tobacco. It is alleged that Simpson was told that if he did not join the pool his tobacco would be destroyed by night riders. To prevent the destruction of his crop he loaded it on freight cars, stalks and all, and shipped it here. Simpson is not a member of the burley pool.

Carlisle, Ky.—The Nicholas county board of control of the burley tobacco organization adopted a resolution declaring that as a representative of the burley society in the county, it "stands for law and order and will refuse to take any action to prevent crops of independent growers from being marketed in Carlisle." The board had been urged to make an effort to keep independent crops off the market, if possible. The county in the last year has been the scene of numerous night-riding depredations.

Clay City, Ky.—Robert A. Irvin, who was in charge of the Soul Winners Methodist college here, and one of the best known educators in the state, was found dead in a cornfield near this city. Death was due to heart disease. He was 74 years old.

Paris, Ky.—The fortieth annual session of the Kentucky State Grange met here in a two days' session, with F. P. Wolcott, of Covington, master of the Grange, presiding. An open session was addressed by Mortimer Whitehead, of New Jersey, national treasurer.

Louisville, Ky.—Eugene Bates, a negro, who two years ago killed Patrolman Simeon Cannon in this city, surrendered himself to County Jailer Monroe. It is charged Bates shot Cannon from ambush. He refused to talk of the alleged crime.

STATE GUARDS SENT TO "BLOODY BREATHITT"

Where Impending Clash May Come Any Time—Sender of Message Clothed in Mystery.

Lexington, Ky.—The shadow of a tragedy is hanging over "Bloody Breathitt" again.

Sunday night state troops are pouring into that mountain metropolis on special trains to prevent a possible clash that most of the populace fear will come before the ballots cast in Tuesday's election are counted.

The hot blood of the mountain feuds, long dormant, is again seething from animosities engendered in the campaign now drawing to a close. Armed men troop the streets of Jackson or gallop along the mountain passes.

State troops will be on guard Monday and Tuesday, November 2, during the hours of the election, and as long thereafter as there is probability of bloodshed as a result of the heated contest which has grown out of the bitter campaign being waged here over county and district offices.

The request for troops was telegraphed Sunday to Lieut. Gov. Cox, who is acting governor at Frankfort in the temporary absence of Gov. Willson. Acting Gov. Cox at once communicated with Adjt. Gen. P. P. Johnson and the latter Sunday night ordered the Lexington company of state guards into Breathitt county.

The Lexington company left here on a special train at midnight, and is due to arrive there early Monday morning, and future operations will depend on the report of Capt. Sams to Adjt. Gen. Johnson.

Gov. Willson, who was attending the waterways convention at New Orleans with President Taft, is rushing across the intervening states to arrive in his own jurisdiction by Monday morning, having been advised by wire Sunday afternoon that "Hell's to pay in Breathitt." He took the first train north.

That the situation is very acute was indicated by the fact that the special train bearing the troops was held here at midnight until the arrival from Frankfort of 2,000 rounds of ball ammunition which was rushed over on a special interurban car to take the place of the riot ammunition with which the Lexington troops were equipped.

Capt. Sams is ordered to report to Judge James P. Adams, who is the present Republican circuit judge of Breathitt, which gave rise to the belief that Adams himself made the call on the state authorities for troops, inasmuch as the latter at Frankfort positively refused to give the name of the person making the call, saying that if he were known he would be subject to the vindictiveness of his enemies.

EXPLOSION WRECKED MINE

And 12 Bodies Have Been Taken From the Hole—Suspicion That Dynamite Ignited Deadly Gases.

Johnstown, Pa.—At least 15 men lost their lives Sunday afternoon, when an explosion occurred in the Franklin Slope Mine No. 2 of the Cambria Steel Co. at Franklin, a suburb of this city.

There is a suspicion that it was a dynamite explosion which, in turn, ignited mine gas.

It occurred at 3:05, at a time when the number of men in the mine was uncertain and variously estimated at between 15 and 25. Every man in the room where the mine gas went off was instantly killed and burnt so badly that identification was impossible.

The force of the explosion was terrific, the brattices in the mine being blown down for a long distance, the tracks torn up and the overhead wires blown out of place.

Neck Broken in Football Game.

West Point, N. Y.—Football, as played by the colleges, claimed another victim Sunday morning when Cadet Eugene A. Byrne, of Buffalo, N. Y., a fourth-year man at the United States Military academy, died in the cadet hospital as a result of injuries received on the gridiorn. Because of the death of Byrne no more football will be played by the West Point 11 this year.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Oct. 30.—Cattle—Extra—$6.40@6.50. Calves—Extra, $8@8.25. Hogs—Choice, $7.85@7.90. Sheep—Extra, $3.90@4. Lambs—Extra, $6.10@6.25. Flour—Spring patent, $5.60@5.90. Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.21@1.23. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 63c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41c. Rye—No. 2 choice, 76@78c. Hay—Choice timothy, $14.50@14.75. Butter—Dairy, 24½c. Eggs—Per doz., 36½c. Apples—Choice, $3.70@4. Potatoes—Per brl., $1.75@2. Tobacco—Burley, $9.50@16.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.20@1.22. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 61¼c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 40½@41¼c. Pork—Prime mess, $23.75@24. Lard—Prime, $12.45.

Louisville, Oct. 30.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.20@1.22. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 62c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41½c. Hay—Choice timothy, $14.75. Hogs—Extra, $7.90. Lard—Prime, $12.45.

Indianapolis, Oct. 30.—Cattle—Prime, $6.40@6.50. Hogs—Choice, $7.25@8. Sheep—Extra, $4.25.

NOT SO BAD.

Nervous Lady—Don't your experiments frighten you terribly, professor? I hear that your assistant met with a horrible death by falling four thousand feet from an aeroplane.

Bold Aviator—Oh, that report was greatly exaggerated.

Nervous Lady—Exaggerated! How?

Bold Aviator—It wasn't much more than two thousand five hundred feet that he fell.

RASH ALL OVER BOY'S BODY.

Awful, Crusted, Weeping Eczema on Little Sufferer—A Score of Treatments Prove Dismal Failures.

Cure Achieved by Cuticura.

"My little boy had an awful rash all over his body and the doctor said it was eczema. It was terrible, and used to water awfully. Any place the water went it would form another sore and it would become crusted. A score or more physicians failed utterly and dismally in their efforts to remove the trouble. Then I was told to use the Cuticura Remedies. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and before we had used half the Resolvent I could see a change in him. In about two months he was entirely well. George F. Lambert, 139 West Centre St., Mahanoy City, Pa., Sept. 26 and Nov. 4, 1907."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Typographical Union Led.

The first tuberculosis sanitarium to be erected for the benefit of the laboring men was built by the International Typographical union in connection with its home at Colorado Springs. The International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union have recently decided to erect a similar sanitarium, and steps are now being taken to open such an institution. The International Photo-Engravers' union, while not conducting a sanitarium of its own, pays for the treatment of its tuberculous members in institutions in various parts of the country. The International Boot Workers' union are recommending to their members that they rally themselves with the various organizations united in the fight against tuberculosis.

The Rare Gift of Courtesy.

Courtesy includes not merely social kindness, graces of speech, absence of rudeness, but honorable treatment of business associates and of all the fellow citizens with whom a man of affairs may have business to transact. It is not American to keep one citizen waiting all day at the door because he is poor, and to grant another citizen an interview because it is believed he is rich. Wisdom is not confined in a purse, and frequently much wisdom may be learned from a poor man.

Unusual Luck.

"So you've rented that haunted house which was on your hands so long?"

"Yes; rented it to an actor."

"Did he find out its reputation?"

"That's the very thing that decided him to take the house."

"Rather surprising!"

"He said it would be such a comfort for him to get inside of a house where the ghost walked every night."

Two of a Kind.

Mrs. Boggs—I hate to have a man always complaining about some little thing. Now, my husband is continually harping on the lace curtains.

Mrs. Woggs—Yes, and my husband has been kicking on our front door every morning at three o'clock for the last 20 years.—Puck.

Of course it is possible to convince a woman, but she is apt to forget that she has been convinced, and then you have to do it all over again.

THE DIFFERENCE

Coffee Usually Means Sickness, But Postum Always Means Health.

Those who have never tried the experiment of leaving off coffee and drinking Postum in its place and in this way regaining health and happiness can learn much from the experience of others who have made the trial.

One who knows says: "I drank coffee for breakfast every morning until I had terrible attacks of indigestion producing days of discomfort and nights of sleeplessness. I tried to give up the use of coffee entirely, but found it hard to go from hot coffee to a glass of water. Then I tried Postum.

"It was good and the effect was so pleasant that I soon learned to love it and have used it for several years. I improved immediately after I left off coffee and took on Postum and am now entirely cured of my indigestion and other troubles all of which were due to coffee. I am now well and contented and all because I changed from coffee to Postum.

"Postum is much easier to make right every time than coffee, for it is so even and always reliable. We never use coffee now in our family. We use Postum and are always well."

"There's a reason" and it is proved by trial.

Look in pkgs for a copy of the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections! Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

S. G. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2058. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1892.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000
Surplus,.....$6,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building.
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. Vest, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, Ky.
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., Ludlow, Ky.
R. F. D.—1,
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, Ky.
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
H. POPE Agent, Grant, Ky.

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.
Write for printed list.

This is a Democratic Moon.

Half a vote cast in the county yesterday. The proposed constitutional amendment received a majority.

In Louisville the Democrats elected the mayor by 2,500; in New York by 75,000

Peck, Democrat, wins out for mayor in Cincinnati.

The Democratic ticket won out in Kenton county.

Allen, Bevarly, Watson, Rouse and Byland were elected to the council in Walton.

Chester Davis defeated for the clerkship in Ludlow by 81 votes.

Night Riders in Grant County.

[Grant County News.]

Mason, this county, has had an experience with "near night-riders."

G. A. Simpson, who is a prominent farmer living between Mason and Heekin, grew this year a very large crop of tobacco. His neighbors pooled their crops and he refused to do so, declaring that he lost money for the past two years because he had been in the pool.

Naturally his neighbors who were in the pool were pretty "sore" because of Simpson's attitude. It is reported that Simpson received more than one warning and that he finally decided to ship his crop of tobacco to Lexington without stripping.

Last week he started to haul his tobacco to the depot and load it in freight cars. He received a warning notice to desist or there would be trouble. He paid no attention to the warning but secured a large force of men who helped him in hauling. Several of these men were from this place.

A report was current here that he had soldiers guarding the crop, and reports from Cynthiana stated that a squad of several soldiers from the Cynthiana military company had moved under sealed orders into Grant, was verification of this report.

On Friday night F. P Cunningham, who is in the employ of the Q. & C. Railroad as detective, received orders to go to Mason and protect the railroad company's property. Cunningham declares there was a body of men on horseback in Mason that night, but that none of them came about the cars, two of which had been loaded, except one man who walked down the track and looked them over. The night was very dark and stormy and Cunningham did not recognize any of the crowd. His duty was to see that cars were not molested and ended there.

Saturday morning a jug of coal oil was found under one of the cars, but whether it was placed there by some "night rider" with the view of scaring Simpson, or whether it was their intention to burn the cars is mere guess work.

Since Saturday there has been no further demonstration and Simpson has gone ahead and finished shipping his tobacco.

One of the boys who was working for Simpson has given out the information that there were 22 men in the crew working for him, and that eight were soldiers in citizens clothing. Simpson declares that he had no soldiers. He will send men to Lexington to strip the tobacco which will be sold on the open market.

UNION.

Price Conner and family, of Kenton county, were guests at Mrs. Susie Adams,' Wednesday.—Mrs. J. W. Kennedy spent the greater part of the past week in Walton with her daughter, Mrs. Sam C. Hicks—Ben S. Houston has a few choice Rhode Island Red cockerels to sell.—Jas. Gatson, an old resident of Union, but now located in Covington, is here visiting his many friends.-Mesdames N. S. Bristow and Ezra Blankenbeker entertained, Saturday afternoon, from 2 until 5 in honor of Miss Mary Alton Vaught.—The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. W. M. Rachal, Thur day afternoon, at 2 o'clock.—Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Black, of Walton, spent Saturday with Mrs. J. W. Conner.—Mike Holzworth received $1,161 for the 71 hogs he shipped to Cincinnati, Monday, Oct. 28.—Mrs. L. H. Voshell went to Key West, Saturday, and remained over Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Julia Stansifer.—Miss Clara Stephens, a prominent teacher in the Grant county public schools, made a brief visit with her parents Harry Stephens and wife, last week.—Miss Addie May Conner is attending business college in Cincinnati.—J. W. Kennedy made a business trip to Corinth the first of the week.—Price Conner of Covington, is visiting his brother, W. M. Rachal.—Miss Effie Beemon will assist Mrs. Emma Marshall with the Farmers' switch board.—Little Miss Gladys Rogers is boarding with Miss Eugenia Riley and attending the public school.—Sanford Bristow and sister, Miss Louise, spent several days recently with their parents N. S. Bristow and wife.—David Houston and wife, of Verona, were guests of their son, Ben S. Houston, Sunday.—Rev W. E. Hatcher will preach at Union Baptist church next Sunday morning and night.

Personal Mention.

G. G. Hughes was laid up for repairs, a few days last week.

Mrs. James L. Clore and children will move to the city, this week.

Miss Bernice Corbin, of Belleview, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Snyder.

Henry Clore and wife entertained a large delegation of relatives and friends, Sunday.

Miss Besse Hall left, last Thursday, for a two weeks' visit with relatives in Newport.

Deputy Assessor Cloud was looking after business in Burlington, last Saturday afternoon.

Ed Hawes came up from Lakeland last Sunday to be on hand for the election, yesterday.

Mr. Hughes, representing the Swensen Land Co., of Chicago, was in Burlington, Monday.

C. L. Gaines can supply the Louisville Courier-Journal for $7.50 per year. Can you beat it?

D. E. Castleman and daughters, Misses Mary and Sallie, were in Cincinnati, Saturday, shopping.

Mrs. Anna Kirkpatrick returned, one day last week, from a visit to her daughter at Roachdale, Indiana.

Mrs. F. P. Walton, of Covington, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dudley Rouse, several days last week.

Edgar Hensley and wife, of Locust Grove, were Sunday guests of their daughter, Mrs. Jesse Eddins.

Rev. Edgar Riley went to Walton, Sunday, to fill his regular appointment with the Christian church at that place.

Geo. Gordon and Manllus Goodridge, of Francesville neighborhood, were among the last Saturday visitors to Burlington.

Mrs. Edgar Berkshire was called to Ft. Thomas, Campbell county, last week, on account of the serious illness of her mother.

County Clerk B. W. Adams was out several days last week delivering the ballots for the election that was held yesterday.

E. L. Rouse was an early caller at this office Monday morning. He reported the health of his daughter, Mrs. Wilson as very poor.

Chas. E. White and wife entertained his broth, W. S. White and wife, of Hathaway, and Bud Rector and wife, of Locust Grove.

Miss Birdie Horner, of Newport, is the guest of Mrs. Nannie Mauer at the home of her father, James Goodridge on Middle creek.

Judge John M. Lassing, of the court of appeals attended county court here Monday and met many of his Boone county friends.

Quite a number of taxpayers has been in the "come and go" the past week, while the sheriff's mail has increased very considerably.

N. E. Riddell and wife returned last Saturday from Birmingham, Alabama, after a delightful visit of several days with Mr. and Mrs. George F. Piper.

A postal received from W. F. McKim requests the address of his paper changed from Long Beach, California to Los Angeles, and adds, "all well."

John Hogan, of Hebron neighborhood, was in Burlington a day or two last week. He has bought considerable tobacco this fall, some of which he has received.

Addison Riddell, of Nebraska, was meeting friends in Burlington. He looks like the western breezes have agreed with him. His aquaintances were glad to see him.

O. P. Phipps and family, of Bullittsville, will be installed as citizens of Burlington in the next few days, where Mr. Phipps will take charge of the livery business.

A strange gentleman was here last week and looked over the farms of D. M. Snyder and Joseph Case, near town on the Belleview pike, with a view to purcessing one or the other.

Walter Campbell, of Latonia, was in this neighborhood a few days the past week, looking after his interests down on Wooiper creek. Mr. Campbell and his son are doing a good business in the city.

Miss Nellie Kirkpatrick, the efficient assistant operator, will have charge of the Burlington telephone exchange while Miss Emma Adams is visiting her sister, Mrs. DeCoursey in Sandford, Florida.

Gordon, son of A. W. Gaines, who lives a mile and a quarter out on the Florence pike, is attending commercial school in Cincinnati. He is a good student, and will make rapid progress in his studies.

Uncle Lystra Aylor, of Walton, came down last Thursday to spend a few days with relatives in this part of the county. He will spend the coming winter with his son, W. L. Aylor, who lives in Delhi.

Ransom Ryle, of Locust Grove neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington, last Saturday, and while in town dropped into this office and spun a "few" with the lead heavers. As he left town he had a large "wood-eater" across his lap, which looked very much like he intended going into winter quarters.

Charles Regenbogen, of Hebron neighborhood, was in Burlington, last Saturday. He recently purchased 160 acres of land near Amarilla, Texas, and has great faith in the future of that country, but when he moves to his new home he will leave enough real estate in Kentucky for a home in case his Texas venture does not make good.

Friends of Dudley Blyth to the number of about twenty, armed with the most noisy implements obtainable, called on him and his bride last Monday night about seven o'clock at his father's near town, and administered an old fashioned charivari. Dudley was soon in the ranks of the noise producers, and contributed his share, but was not long in passing around a box of cigars, which brought the noise to a conclusion. While the boys enjoyed the cigars, the bride played several pieces on the piano, after which the crowd dispersed, leaving their congratulations and best wishes for the bride and groom's happiness and prosperity.

Cure Your Dandruff

Why? Because it is annoying, untidy. And mostly, because it almost invariably leads to baldness. Cure it, and save your hair. Get more, too, at the same time. All easily done with Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula. Stop this formation of dandruff!

Does not change the color of the hair.

Formula with each bottle. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it, then do as he says.

Ayer's

The new Ayer's Hair Vigor will certainly do this work, because, first of all, it destroys the germs which are the original cause of dandruff. Having given this aid, nature completes the cure. The scalp is restored to a perfectly healthy condition.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

Wanted—Home for stout, healthy boy, nine years old. Apply to John C. Sebree, Petersburg, Ky.

Subscribe for your magazines and periodicals thru C. L. Gaines. He is agent for periodicals of all kinds.

C. L. Gaines can furnish the Cincinnati Post, Time-Star or Kentucky Post, rural route edition. Patronage solicited.

Geo. W. Sleet, who, several years ago shook the Boone county dust from his feet, and cast his lot in Kenton county near the Grant county line east of Crittenden, was in Burlington, Monday, and met many of his old friends in this county, whom he has not seen for many years. When Mr. Sleet bought the farm on which he now resides he made a ten strike, and now has one of the best farms in Kenton county. He is one of the cleverest men on earth, and his friends are glad to know of his good luck.

County Board Of Control.

The County Board of Control of the Burley Tobacco Society met at the Court House, Monday, president J. C. Hughes presiding, and all the precinct members present. The precinct members of the board were instructed to secure optiou on warehouses in their respective precincts, T. F. Curley and O. K. Whitson were appointed a special committee to secure warehouse and storeroom at Walton.

A suit was brought against William Isbell, of Big Bone, to enjoin him from selling tobacco which he had poised.

About 2,800 acres of Boone county tobacco has been signed to the pool.

Forced Into Exile.

Wm. Upchurch of Glen Oak, Okla. was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lungracking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after takling six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infallible for Coughs and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat. Cures Bronchitis, Grip, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup. 50c and $1.00, trial bottle free, guaranteed by Bentler's drug store Erlanger.

A Card of Thanks.

There are those who say Burlington is old-fashioned. Then we like old-fashioned towns. If kindness and consideration to strangers are old-fashioned, Burlington is that. If hospitality and friendliness are old fashioned, then Burlington is not unjustly accused. We prefer the beating of loving and sympathetic hearts above the pulsation of factories. We admire the light of human love more than electricity. Hand clasps are more to us than technical etiquette. It is not so much for the actual value of the contributions, tho that was not inconsiderable, as for the spirit revealed to us by the "house warming" given us Friday evening, that we wish in this way to express our appreciation. Tho treated with kindness from the beginning we now feel that we are indeed not among strangers. We thank you all. We remember the occasion not simply as a "house warming" but, in a broad and true sense, a "heart warming."

MR. AND MRS. E. L. DIX.

For Sale—2 two horse plows, and a two horse jumper. Apply to Joseph Ryle, Burlington r. d. 2.

PT. PLEASANT.

Mrs. Clayton Walton is sick.

Mrs. E. A. Souther has been sick the past week.

Miss Hulda Darby was the guest Sunday, of Miss Allie Tapman.

Mike Clore, wife and son spent Sunday with Wm. Kenyon and wife.

Master Jack Richardson was the guest of Horace Cleveland Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bradford visited relatives in Union, Saturday and Sunday.

The young people will give a box social at Edgar Souther's residence, Saturday night, Nov. 13. Proceeds to go for church building.

Wm. Kenyon narrowly escaped a serious injury last week. He was struck by a falling brick while at his work but is able to be around.

James Kendall and wife, of Fairview, visited Mrs. D. W. Riggs Tuesday and in the afternoon called on Sherman Riggs, who has been quite sick for several weeks.

Mrs. Adeline Hood, Mrs. I. C. Davis and children, Mrs. Ed. Morehead and children and Mrs. John Clark and children, of Sailor Park, formerly Horne City, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Ellen Russell. They were on the search for hickory nuts but were unsuccessful.

GOODE GROCERIES —AT— Right - Prices.

New Hominy—Old fashion, pound	2½c
New Hominy—Flake 2 quarts	5c
New Prunes, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Evaporated Peaches	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Evaporated Peaches —extra large, lb	13c
Two pounds	25c
New Figs—large, juicy Smyrna Figs, lb	13c
New Seeded Raisins, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Citron, lb	20c
New Golden Egg Macaroni, package	10c
Three pkgs	25c
New Bulk Macaroni, lb	06c
New Elbo Macaroni, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Barley, lb	04c
New Rold Oats, lb	04c
New Oatmeal, lb	04c
New Aunt Jemima's Pancake Flour, package	10c
Three packages	25c
New Quaker Oats, pkg	10c
Large Round Pkg	15c
New Victor Toy Oats, pkg	10c
New Mackerel, 10c 3 for	25c
New, Fat, Large Mackerel, 13c, 2 for	25c
New Lakeside Sweet Wrinkle Peas, 10c 3 for	25c
New Lakeside Sifted Early June Peas	15c
New Extra Sifted Lakeside Peas	20c
New Honey Drop Corn, can, 15c, dozen	$1.65
New Golden Harvest Corn, can 12c, doz	$1.35
New Superb Maine Corn, can, 12c, dozen	$1.35
New Shoe Peg Corn, can	10c
Three for	25c
New Jaguar Corn, can	07c
Three for	20c
New Cranberries, quart	10c
New Grapenut, 8c, 2 for	15c
Magic Soap, 10c, 3 for	25c
Fels Naptha Soap, 6 for	25c
Pearl Soap 6 for	25c
Papryka, can	10c
Celery Salt, can	10c
Dry Apples, lb	08c
Capitol Mixed Tea, lb	60c
Gunpowder	60c
Sunbeam Mixed Tea, lb	75c
Gunpowder	75c
Oolong, Young Hyson, English Breakfast and Imperial—all new crop.
Golden Blend Coffee, lb	20c
Moneyworth Coffee, lb	17c
Three pounds for	50c
Salvadore Coffee, lb	15c
Pure Gautamala Coffee—pound	25c
New Dates, 3 lbs for	25c
New Codfish, fancy Boneless, lb	15c
New Buckwheat Flour—three pounds	10c
New Sweet Cider, gal	25c
New Kraut, 3 lbs	10c

Don't forget the Best Flour on Earth,

"CAPITOL."

Geo. C. Goode

AGENT.

Groceries & Medicines,

Pike & Washington,

Covington, Kentucky.

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,

WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.

CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cash

JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.

Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

Fall and Winter Millinery.

I now have on display my new stock of Hats and Baby Caps, with prices to suit every customer. Desiring to reduce my stock I will offer

Specials from 25c up

and hope my customers will take advantage of these bargains. Come in and see them, as also my nice line of

DRY GOODS and JEWELRY.

Cordially yours,

MISS LOU W. ALLEN, Petersburg, Ky.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.

S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated A. D. 1892.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cenf Interest on Time Deposits.

THE SIDE-LOCK OF CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

Is another feature that makes them so popular with property owners.

This and the overlap makes them absolutely proof against rain, snow, and in fact all climatic conditions.

They're fireproof too, and their appearance makes even a cheap building look handsome.

They're not expensive and when you consider that they last as long as the building and never need repairs, you'll see what a handsome investment they make.

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

Our Business Constantly Increasing.

For the past seven years our optical business has constantly increased. We treat all alike, selling the best goods at the lowest possible prices to all. We have a complete lens-grinding outfit and can grind and replace broken lenses while you wait.

We can furnish anything made in optical goods.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.

Local News.

45 Cents a Bushel.

In some localities in the State corn has been selling as low, as 45 cents a bushel, but 50 cents appears to be the general price.

Why They Did Not Happen.

An exchange says: "On account of the crowded condition of these columns, several deaths and births had to be postponed this week."

Improving It's Looks.

When Clore, Kelsa and Tanner finish painting the iron work on the court house the looks of the building will be improved considerably.

Roads Improving.

Dirt roads which were not in the best of condition the first of last week improved very much during the week, and are now nice to travel over again.

Hauling Logs.

Bert Sullivan devoted several days the past week hauling logs to the mill to have cut into lumber from which to increase his shed room for livestock.

Want More Light.

East Enterprise, Indiana, is installing an electric light plant, and it is said it will be the smallest town in the world lighted by electricity, when its plant is in operation.

Watched Closely.

John Kelsa's work on the court house cupola, last week, was watched with considerable interest. He moved about at the giddy height as though it was an every day's business with him.

Last Stand.

Deputy Sherift W. D. Cropper made his last out-of-town collecting taxes, last Thursday. The collections up to that time were about equal in amount to that at the corresponding period last year.

More Post Cards.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church has had printed another installment of post cards containing the picture of the court house. They have sold quite a lot of the court house cards in the past.

Indian Summer.

The weather was inclined to Indian summer the past week, and had all other localities contributed a volume of smoke equal to that sent up by Burlington a first class Indian summer would have been the result.

Driving Cattle.

B. H. Berkshire and Lloyd Norris, of Petersburg, passed through Burlington, driving a considerable drove of nice cattle, last Thursday, enroute to C. C. Hughe's farm out on the East Bend road, where they will graze.

Will be in the Field.

Charles Clore, the Hebron painter and dealer in turkeys, will be in the field again as usual, collecting a large stock of these fowls for the holiday market. He is a good buyer and handles all the turkeys he can buy every fall.

Getting in Good Shape.

The directors of the Walton and Verona Turnpike Company are making arrangements by which the indebtedness of the road will be adjusted at an early date and the road put on a basis that will soon make it entirely selfsustaining.

Died at Age of 94.

Patrick Curley, father of Esq. T. F. Curley, of Walton, died in Louisville, last week, at the advanced age of 94. His remains were sent to Covington for interment. At one time he was prominent in Covington business circles.

Nothing Doing.

Nothing has been doing for some time with the pipe line for which a survey has been made and the right of way obtained across the county, but this does not disturb the owners of the land taken, as they have been paid as per contract for the right of way.

Young Girls Are Victims

of headache, as well as older women, but all get quick relief and prompt cure from Dr. King's New Life Pills, the world's best remedy for sick and nervous headaches. They make pure blood, and strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 25c at Bentler's drug store Erlanger.

State Grange Officers.

As usual Boone county got her quota of the officers of the State Grange for the ensuing year. F. P. Walcott, of Covington, was re-elected master; N. C. Tanner, overseer; J. W. Conner, treasurer; Mrs. Mabel Sayre, secretary; W. H. Clayton, lecturer. The last four are of this county, two from Hebron and two from Union.

Doc Came Over.

Dr. Glacken, the Richwood veterinary, was in Burlington one day last week looking after some of his patients, preparing some of them for an active campaign at the corn pile.

Hunting Hogs for Meat.

J. S. Cullum, of Ph. Pleasant neighborhood, was in Burlington, one day last week, hunting hogs to feed for his meat. Hogs for sale for that purpose are very scarce in this county at this time and are in demand.

Put on the Finishing Touches.

William Graves, of Hebron, put the finishing touches on C. C. Roberts' residence last week, helping the appearance of the building very much. A paint brush in the hands of an industrious man can brighten up a building in a little time.

Will Take Possession January 1.

The district and county officers elected yesterday will enter upon the discharge of their official duties on the first day of next January. the district officers, Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, for six years, and the county officers for four years.

Enjoying Himself.

A postal card received at this office from O. J. Ryle announces his arrival at Los Angeles, Cals., and a visit to Long Beach, where he met W. F. McKim and his son, Herbert. He stated that he enjoyed the trip to the west coast, and that the weather was fine.

Wants to Rent or Buy.

Mr. Northcutt, who resides on the farm of S. D. Rice, adjoining McVille, was in Burlington, last Thursday, looking for a farm to buy or rent, in time for raising a crop next year. He has been raising big crops on the Rice farm for the last two or three years.

A New Down Spout.

Jesse Kirkpatrick put an additional down-spout on the front of the court house, one day last week. It was considerably larger than those put up when the building was erected, they being entirely too small to accommodate the large volume of water it is often necessary to be carried from the roof.

Donation Party.

Surprised does not express faintly the condition of Prof. and Mrs. Dix, last Friday night, when their home but recently established was invaded by a considerable crowd of people, each bearing a present of some essential article in the business of house keeping. An inventory of the donations showed a long list of useful articles, thoughtful neighbors had brought. The orators of the evening were D. E. Castleman and D. M. Snyder, to whose speeches Prof. Dix responded in a brief talk. After spending a short time in a most pleasant manner the donors took their departure, leaving Prof. Dix and his wife to recover from the surprise and to take an invoice of the long list of the generous donations.

A Residence Collapsed.

The old brick dwelling down on Gunpowder creek, known as the Jonathan Utz house, collapsed a few nights since. It was one of the oldest brick houses in the county, and had not been looked upon as any too safe for several years. It was owned by Perry Ryle, and at the time it fell, it was occupied by a Mr. Fogel and wife, who escaped from the mass of falling brick, being warned of the approaching danger by the cracking of the walls. Fifty years ago it was occupied by Jonathan Utz and his family of several children, and was a home where Kentucky hospitality of the genuine article was dispensed. This old land mark disappears long after the passing of all persons who had any recollection of the time it was erected.

Using Natural Gas.

Benjamin Paddock, manager of the Hebron creamery, is the only person in this county whose residence is heated and lighted by natural gas, which also furnishes fuel for cooking and doing his laundry work. Mr. Paddock occupies the residence of the late Theodore Rouse, a few hundred yards northwest of Hebron. A few months since he employed a well driller to sink a well near the house to obtain water for domestic purposes, and at the depth of 150 feet natural gas was struck. At first it was suspected that the flow of gas came from a small pocket and it would soon be exhausted, but such was not the case, and after several days there appeared to be no decrease in the supply, and Mr. Paddock at once set about having his residence piped in order to utilize the gas, which is maintaining its pressure, and furnishing him fuel and light in a most satisfactory manner. Some believe that a well sunk at the proper location in the vicinity of Hebron would find natural gas in a paying quantity.

A BIG SUIT DECIDED.

Judge John M. Lassing an Interested Party.

Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran in Covington, last week, handed down an important decree in the litigation of Judge John M. Lassing, of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, against the Central Home Telephone Company, of Wilmington, Del., and the Columbia Trust Company, of Louisville. The original action was for an alleged mortgage, and a receiver was asked for at the time. It is alleged that the Central Home Telephone Company delivered to the Louisville banking concern on July 1, 1906, bonds aggregating $5,000,000 on which interest at 5 per cent, according to the allegation of Judge Lassing, was to be paid. Judge Lassing is the owner of 67 bonds, valued at $1,000 each, and one of $500. It was also alleged that the company fraudulently delivered to its President $550,000 worth of bonds as collateral security on an indebtedness of less than $50,000. It is declared that the President wrongfully converted the bonds to his own use and has failed to account for them, which, it is alleged, has made the concern insolvent. Judge Lassing also claimed that the company was indebted to him $8,000, which he paid for them as security on notes and for which he had a mortgage.

Shortly after Judge Lassing filed his petition E. H. Winkworth filed a similar action, the cases being consolidated later. The decree handed down by Judge Cochran directs the Special Master to sell the plant to foreclose the mortgage.

Cut Out the "Free."

Hereafter the R. F. D. will simply be R. D. and you can mark your mail "R. D." The government has issued orders that the word "free" be dropped and that the service be known as Rural Delivery. The service has become so general that there is no longer any need to sign the free part of the title.

Took Out a Blackboard.

Bert Smith, who resides down on Woolper, and is a member of the county school board, was in town, last Thursday, and when he left for home he had in his wagon a large composition black board for the Woolper school house. Mr. Smith believes in education and also believes in having a school house equipped so as to give a teacher all the advantages possible.

Turkeys Scarce.

Heretofore Central Kentucky has furnished thousands of fine turkeys for the Thanksgiving and holiday markets, but in that section there is a very small crop and dealers there who are in the habit of handling these fowls in car load lots will receive only a few hundred this fall, consequently the price is expected to be very high this season.

A Big Dance.

Last Wednesday night Leslie Nichols and wife, who live a mile out on the East Bend road, gave the young people an old time cotillion party. The night was beautiful and the young people came from far and near to enjoy the Kentucky hospitality that was dispensed on the occasion, and at an early hour the house was thronged with the pleasuresekers, so when the Zellers colored band began to draw the bow and finger the guitar, the dance was on in its intensity and did not cease until the tune, "Home, Sweet Home," came at the hour of low twelve, when the crowd at once dissolved, having spent the first half of the night in a manner the most pleasing to all. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols spared no pains to make the pleasure and comfort of their guests perfect.

Closing His Term.

[Owen County Democrat.]

Hon. F. C. Greene, wife and son, John Lindsay, of Carrollton, are visiting here. Mr. Greene closes his term as Commonwealth's Attorney so far as Owen county is concerned at this session of the court. He has made an able and courageous officer and retires to the practice of law under very flattering prospects. He has already been employed in several cases of considerable note, among them being a suit against the Louisville & Nashville railroad by the administrator of James Pryor Tandy, deceased, for $25,000 damage for the killing of Mrs. Tandy at Eagle Station some few months ago and also a suit filed in Covington last Friday by Mrs. J. T. McEndre of English, Carroll county, against the Cincinnati, Covington & Latonia Street Railway Company for $25,000 damages sustained by reason of Mrs. McEndre being thrown from a street car.

Burning the Leaves.

There was a big leaf burning in Burlington, last Thursday evening, a performance in which the little folks took much interest.

County Board of Education.

The importance of the county board of education does not seem to be realized by a majority of the people of this county. Besides having the expending of large sums of money in behalf of education, it is the duty of the board to see that the taxpayers get value received for their money by devising means to bring the schools of the county up to a higher standard of excellency than has ever been attained here. The taxpayers of the present day may protest all they please against the increase of the tax rate in the interest of advanced education, but the probability is that in crease has come to stay. The present school law may be modified some by the next General Assembly, but nothing is likely to be done that has for its object the reduction of taxes. The younger element is in control in Kentucky, and new departures will come thick and fast. The saying that "money makes the mare go," is going to be exemplified in this State, and the low tax rate, once the boast of Kentucky, has gone to return no more.

An improved educational system has been demanded by a considerable element in Kentucky for a decade or more, and the law under which the county boards of education operate is a step in that direction. It gives the board absolute control of the public schools in the county, even to the providing of fuel. The board fixes the salaries and employs the teachers, and has general supervision of the school property. Under these conditions and considering the magnitude of the cause for which the board is supposed to labor, where is there a set of men whose responsibilities are so grave? The expenditure of the school money is the very smallest part of the board's official duty. Its principal labor is the upbuilding of the schools of the county that the children of today, who are the men and women of tomorrow, may reap the fullest benefits possible from the educational means that the State pr vides. Good schools are a large factor in shaping the character and destiny of the children, and for the schools in this county the county board of education is now responsible, and it is hoped the board will prove equal to the task it has assumed.

Handling Pooled Tobacco.

Charges for handling pooled tobacco have been fixed as follows:

Redrying and prizing, $1.00 per hundred pounds in weight.

Prizing in winter or summer order, 65c per hundred.

For storage, 25c per month per hogshead.

For sampling, inspection and recoopering, $2.00 per hogshead.

For insuring, two per cent per annum on sale price as before stated.

All money accumulating to this fund in excess of the actual cost for handling will belong to the stock for dividends. It is the purpose of the company to handle the tobacco as economically as possible. For this year it is proposed to rent as many available barns and warehouses for redrying as possible, and build a few. The chairman of each county has been directed to get an option on all such barns and warehouses in the county both for rental and sale value, with accurate dimensions and description of some, capacity, how equipped and where located, and report to the Executive Committee at Lexington at the earliest date. The company will be willing to pay fair rental compensation according to value of building, but in no case excessive, and the chairman are directed to get options on lots for new buildings where excessive rental is demanded.

Sold for $600.

B. B. Hume sold his blue pacing horse, last Thursday, to George G. McCormick, of London, Canada, for $600. Mr. McCormick is the person who purchased of Mr. Hume, some time since, the bay pacer, Tom Wilkes, which made a record of 2:06 this season, and for which the owner has been offered $5,000.

A Halloween Party.

The principal social event of the past week, was the surprise party given Miss Pauline Kelly by her many young friends, last Saturday night. The guests were masked upon their arrival, but masks were soon discarded, and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

Was It Stolen?

From the circumstances connected with the disappearance of the hog, for which J. E. Smith advertised, last week, it is not hard to draw the conclusion that the animal was stolen from the pasture. A hog of that kind is not apt to leave its mates, especially when they are being well fed.

Fine Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Blythe gave a big dinner, Sunday, in honor of their son, Dudley and wife, who arrived home last Sunday.

OUR FIRST FALL SHIPMENT OF

GODMAN SHOES

IS ABOUT GONE.

Our Second Fall Shipment Just Opened Up. Come at once and get a Good Selection before numbers are broken. These Shoes are, without doubt, the

Best Shoes Ever Sold in our Store

ALREADY FAMOUS FOR GOOD SHOES.

WE HANDLE THE FAMOUS

Ball Band Wool Boot and Rubber

OUR WINTER STOCK OF

Blankets, Comforts, Woolens, Yarns, Underwear, Etc.,

IS NOW COMPLETE.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

GIVE US A CALL.

DAVIS

SAYS,

Have you bought your Rubbers yet?

If not buy 'em now. Don't wait for them to get cheaper. They have advanced 12 per cent since we bought and we bought in large quantities, anticipating the advance.

A $2,000.00 Rubber Stock at last year's prices.

Think what this means to you and take advantage of this price saving opportunity on Rubbers at

DAVIS'

THE SHOE MAN,

Rising Sun, Indiana.

Halloween in Burlington.

The Halloween exercises were put through in Burlington, last Saturday night, without a skip anywhere. Early in the evening the juvenile population, assisted by some of the adults, most of whom were clad in white and wore the most grotesque faces, took possession of the town, and for two or three hours made merry, calling at the business houses and residences of friends. After the juveniles had subsided another set, somewhat older and decidedly more noisy, made Rome howl for a few hours, but the real thing was not put on until about midnight, when the men of muscle and great industry appeared on the scene, and what they did was a plenty in abundance, and when they "rang off," buggies and swings were on top of houses, saw logs and other heavy timbers barricaded the doors to the stores, while minor tricks were numerous In fact the old town was given a pretty general shake up. Many stunts that required labor and a great deal of muscle were pulled off. The exercises were concluded after midnight by the running of the Halloween derby in which the clatter of hoofs indicated there were two entries. The contest consisted of two heats, but the result has never been made known to the public. A clear night and a full moon are great muscle developers on Halloween night. One thing is to the credit of the Halloweeners, very slight damage to property resulted from their laborious performance.

Buy Plenty of Potatoes.

This is going to be a winter in which the potato will prove popular on almost every table in the land. It can be prepared in more ways than anyother vegetable, and the high price of meat and other articles of food will bring the tuber to the front in every way the good cooks know how to handle it. The potato is the poor man's friend, and one that the rich man likes to have convenient in case of an emergency.

Coming Nicely.

Wheat is coming up nicely, and in a few days it will cover the ground.

Good Prices Prevail.

Dearborn county has a bumper crop of tobacco this year. The crop exceeds that of any former year and top notch prices prevail. Allen Edwards, of Homestead, was the first man to deliver tobacco to the Harrison warehouse this year. He had several thousand pounds and received 13½ cents a pound for his entire crop. James Jordon, who had a crop of tobacco on Jerry Nowlin's farm at Pella, received 14 cents for his crop. The entire yield from the Nowlin farm amounted to $4,000.—Lawrenceburg Press.

Sold Out.

Joseph Case has sold his farm half a mile west of Burlington, on the Belleview pike, to Joseph Clements, of Greensburg, Indiana, for $3,400, possession to be given February 1, 1910. The farm consists of 52 acres of land, a splendid six room residence, a good barn and other necessary out buildings, and being part of what is known as the E. H. Baker place.

A Fine Crop of Burley.

Owen county has probably the finest crop of tobacco this year she has ever grown, and at an average of 1,000 pounds per acre the crop will aggregate ten million pounds. At an average price of 20 cents the crop will bring two million dollars, and that is not so bad for Owen. It has been conceded that the crop will grade much higher than in 1907.—Democrat.

A Scalded Boy's Shrieks

horrified his grandmother, Mrs. Maria Taylor, of Nebo, Ky., who writes that, when all thought he would die, Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured him. Infallible for Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Corns, Wounds, Bruises. Cures Fever Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions, Chilblains, Chapped Hands. Soon routs Piles. 25c at Bentler's drug store Erlanger.

Bought a Five Shooter.

James Slayback, in order to keep in the procession of up-to-date hunters, when the season opens, has provided himself with a new shot gun, a five shooter. There is no doubt but what he will get his share of the game this fall.

All Who Would Enjoy

good health, with its blessings, must understand, quite clearly, that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best, each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to living aright. Then the use of medicines may be dispensed with to advantage, but under ordinary conditions in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time and the California Fig Syrup Co. holds that it is alike important to present the subject truthfully and to supply the one perfect laxative to those desiring it.

Consequently, the Company's Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna gives general satisfaction. To get its beneficial effects buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

MAJOR OR MINOR.

Mr. Lunnon—I suppose I may address you as major, sir! Every man in these southern states seems to be a colonel or a major.

Texas Bill—I'm no major; I'm a miner.

SUFFERED TERRIBLY.

How Relief from Distressing Kidney Trouble Was Found.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wolf, 388 W. Morgan St., Tipton, Mo., says: "Inflammation of the bladder reached its climax last spring and I suffered terribly. My back ached and pained so I could hardly get around and the secretions were scanty, frequent of passage and painful. I was tired all the time and very nervous. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking a few boxes was cured and have been well ever since."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

That Got Him.

A theatrical manager delighted in taking a rise out of conceited or vain members of his company.

"I see you are getting on fairly well," he remarked.

"Fairly? I am getting on very well," replied the hero of the play, promptly. "I played Hamlet for the first time last night. You can see by the papers' glowing criticisms how well I got on."

"I have not read them," replied the other, quietly, "but I was there."

"Oh, you were. Well, you noticed how swimmingly everything went off? Of course, I made a bungle of one part by falling into Ophelia's grave, but I think the audience appreciated even that."

"I know they did," said the manager, with a slight smile; "but they were frightfully sorry when you climbed out of it again."

Two Items.

"I suppose with all this modern prison philanthropy, abolishing stripes and convict uniforms generally, they will soon introduce dress suits for the well-behaved prisoners in our penal institutions."

"Well, you know, they already give convicts watches and chains."

Mistaken Identity.

"I always did enjoy that scene in which Hamlet comes out and soliloquizes," said Mr. Cumrox.

"My dear," replied his wife, "you are confused again. You have gotten Hamlet mixed up with that vaudeville person who comes out and throws his voice."

Beaten by Nature.

Waggs—I had the laugh on my wife yesterday.

Boggs—How did it happen?

Waggs—We were out driving and she discovered an echo that beat her out of the last word.—Stray Stories.

Some people would drown with a life preserver at hand. They are the kind that suffer from Rheumatism and Neuralgia when they can get Hamlins Wizard Oil, the best of all pain remedies.

Fools in glad rags are often permitted to rush in where unlaundered hobos would be knocked down and dragged out.

Eggs, Eggs, More Eggs! I get twice as many eggs winter and summer since I discovered a new method how, and what will make hens lay more eggs. It's free. Write Mrs. L. Alley, New Madrid, Mo.

Contentedness in all accidents brings great peace of spirit and is the great and only instrument in temporal felicity.—Jeremy Taylor.

ARE YOU LOSING FLESH through a racking cough that you cannot seem to check? A bottle of Allen's Lung Balsam will cure the trouble and help you back to health.

A woman's idea of a tactful man is one who is able to increase the admiration she has for herself.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Somehow the majority of our habits seem to be bad ones

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY A. C. MCCLURG & CO.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights. The trio secured eggs from the cliffs.

He at Once Began Experiments in the Art of Pottery.

CHAPTER XI.—Continued.

Miss Leslie sighed. "Why did you speak of them? I am still hungry enough to eat more eggs—a dozen—that is, if we had a little salt and butter."

"And a silver cup and napkins!" added Blake. "About the salt, though, we'll have to get some before long, and some kind of vegetable food. It won't do to keep up this whole meat menu."

"If only those little bamboo sprouts were as good as they look—like a kind of asparagus!" murmured Miss Leslie.

"I've heard that the Chinese eat them," said Winthrope.

"They eat rats, too," commented Blake.

"We might at least try them," persisted Miss Leslie.

"How? Raw?"

"I have heard papa tell of roasting corn when he was a boy."

"That's so; and roasting-ears are better than boiled. Win, I guess we'll have a sample of bamboo asparagus a la Les-lee!"

Winthrope took the penknife and fetched a handful of young sprouts from the bamboo thicket. They were heated over the coals on a grill of green branches and devoured half raw.

"Say," mumbled Blake, as he ruminated on the last shoot, "we're getting on some for this smell hole of a coast house, and chicken ranch and vegetables in our front yard. We've got old Bobbie Crusoe beat, hands down, on the start-off, and he with his shipful of stuff for handicap!"

"Then you believe that the situation looks more hopeful, Mr. Blake?"

"Well, we've at least got an extension on our note for a week or two. But I'm not going to coddle you with a lot of lies, Miss Jenny. There's the fever coming, sure as fate. I may stave it off a while; you and Win, ten to one, will be down in a few days—and not a smell of quinine in our commissary. Then there'll be dysentery and snakes and wild beasts— No; we're not out of the woods yet, not by a—considerable."

thrope, "I must say, you're not very encouraging."

"By Jove, Blake," muttered Win-

"Didn't say I was trying to be."

"But, Mr. Blake, I am sure papa will offer a large reward when the steamer is reported as lost. There will be ships searching for us—"

"We're not in the British channel, and I'll bet what few boats do coast along there don't nose about much among these coral reefs."

"I fancy it would do no harm to erect a signal," said Winthrope.

"Only thing that would make a show is Miss Leslie's skirt," replied Blake.

"There is the big leopard skin," persisted Winthrope. To his surprise the engineer took the suggestion under serious consideration.

"Well, I don't know," he said. "If we had a water background, now. But against the rocks and trees—no; what we want is white. I'll tell you—when Miss Jenny sets to and makes herself a dress of that skin, I'll fly her skirt to the zephyrs."

"Mr. Blake! I really think that is cruel of you!"

"Oh, come now; that's not fair! I wouldn't have said a word, but you said you wanted to help."

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Blake. I—I did not quite understand you. I really do want to help—to do my share—"

"Now you're talking! You see, it's not only a question of the signal, but of clothes. We've got to figure anyway on needing new ones before long. Look at my pants and vest, and Win's too. Inside a month we'll all be in hide—or in hiding. That's a joke, Win, me b'y; see?"

"But in the meantime—" began Miss Leslie.

"In the meantime we're like to miss a chance or two of being picked up, just because we've failed to stick out a signal that'd catch the eye twice as far off as any other color than scarlet. Do you suppose I worked my way up from axman to engineer, and did not learn anything about flags?"

"But it is all really too absurd! I do not know the first thing about sewing, and I have neither thread nor needle."

"It's up to you, though, if you want to help. My sisters sewed mighty soon after they learned to toddle. 'Bout time you learned— There, now; I did not mean to hurt your feelings. You've made a fair stagger at cooking, and I bet you win out on the dressmaking. For needle you can use one of these long, slim thorns—poke a hole, and then slip the thread through, like a shoemaker."

"Ah, yes; but the thread?" put in Winthrope.

"The cocoanut fiber would hardly do," said Miss Leslie, forgetting to dry her eyes.

"No. We could get fairly good fibers out of the palm leaves; but catgut will be a whole lot better. I'll slit up a lot for you, fine enough to sew with. And now, let's get down to tacks. No offense—but did either of you ever learn to do anything useful in all your blessed little lives?"

"Why, Mr. Blake, of course I—"

"Of course what?" demanded Blake, as Miss Leslie hesitated. "We know all about your cooking and sewing. What else?"

"I—I see what you meant. I fear that nothing of what I learned would be of service now."

"Boarding-school rot, eh? And you, Winthrope?"

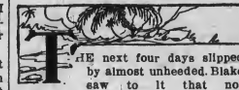
"If you would kindly name over what you have in mind."

"Um!" grunted Blake. "Well, it's first of all a question of a practical—practical, mind you,—knowledge of metallurgy, ceramics, and how to stick an arrow through a beef roast."

"I—ah—I believe I intimated that I have some knowledge of archery. But I doubt—"

"Cut it out! You'll have enough else to do. Get busy over those bows and arrows, and don't quit till you've got them in shape. Leave my bow good and stiff. I can pull like a mule can kick. Well, Miss Jenny; what is it?"

"Is not—has not ceramics something to do with burning china?"



"Sure!—china, pottery, and all that. Know anything about it?"

"Why, I have a friend who amuses herself by painting china, and I know it has to be burned."

"And that's all!" grunted Blake. "Well, let me tell you. When I was a little kid I used to work in a pottery. All I can remember is that they'd take clay, shape it into a pot, dry it, and bake the thing in a kiln. We've got to work the same game somehow. This kind of eating will mean dysentery in short order. So there's going to be a bean-pot for our stews, or Tom Blake'll know the reason why. Nurse up that ankle of yours, Win. We'll trek it to-morrow—cocoanuts, and maybe something else. There's clay on the far bank of the river, and across from it I saw a streak that looked like brown hematite."

CHAPTER XII.

Survival of the Fittest.

THE next four days slipped by almost unheeded. Blake saw to it that not only himself but his companions had work to occupy every hour of daylight. When not engaged in cooking and fuel gathering, Miss Leslie was learning by painful experience the rudiments of dressmaking.

At the start she had all but ruined the beautiful skin of the mother leopard before Blake chanced to see her and took over the task of cutting it into shape for a skirt. But when it came to making a waist of the cub fur, he said that she would have to puzzle out the pattern from her other one. Between cooking three meals a day over an open fire, gathering several armfuls of wood, and making a dress with penknife, thorn, and catgut, the girl had little time to think of other matters than her work.

Winthrope had been gazetted as hunter in ordinary. His task was to keep Miss Leslie supplied with fresh eggs and each day to kill as many of the boobies and cormorants as he could skin and split for drying. Blake had changed his mind about taking him when he went for cocoanuts. Instead, he had gone alone on several trips, bringing three or four loads of nuts, then a little salt from the seashore, dirty but very welcome, and last of all a great lump of clay, wrapped in palm fronds.

With this clay he at once began experiments in the art of pottery. Having mixed and beaten a small quantity, he molded it into little cups and bowls, and tried burning them over night in the watch-fire. A few came out without crack or flaw. Vastly elated by this success, he fashioned larger vessels from his clay, and within the week could brag of two pots suitable for cooking stews, and four large nondescript pieces which he called plates. What was more, all had a fairly good sand glaze, for he had been quick to observe a glaze on the bottoms of the first pots, and had reasoned out that it was due to the sand which had adhered while they stood drying in the sun.

He next turned his attention to metallurgy. The first move was to search the river bank for the brown bog iron ore which he believed he had seen from the farther side. After a dangerous and exhausting day's work in the mire and jungle, he came back with nothing more to show for his pains than an armful of creepers. Late in the afternoon, he had located the haematite, only to find it lying in a streak so thin that he could not hope to collect enough for practical purposes.

"Lucky we've got something to fall back on," he added, after telling of his failure. "Pass over those keys of yours, Win. Good! Now untangle those creepers. To-night we'll take turns knotting them up into some sort of a rope-ladder. I'm getting mighty weary of hoofing it all around the point every time I trot to the river. After this I'll go down the cliff at that end of the gully."

Winthrope, who had become very irritable and depressed during the last two days, turned on his heel, with the look of a fretful child.

To cover this undiplomatic rudeness, Miss Leslie spoke somewhat hurriedly. "But why should you return again to the river, Mr. Blake? I'm sure you are risking the fever; and there must be savage beasts in the jungle."

"Thats my business," growled Blake. He paused a moment, and added, rather less ungraciously: "Well, if you care, it's this way—I'm going to keep on looking for ore. Give me a little iron ore, and we'll mighty soon have a lot of steel knives and arrow-heads that'll amount to something. How're we going to bag anything worth while with bamboo tips on our arrows? Those boar tusks are a fizzle."

"So you will continue to risk your life for us? I think that is very brave and generous, Mr. Blake!"

"How's that?" demanded Blake, not a little puzzled. He was fully conscious of the risk; but this was the first intimation he had received or conceived that his motives were other than selfish—"Um-m! So that's the ticket. Getting generous, eh?"

"Not getting—you are generous! When I think of all you have done for us! Had it not been for you, I am sure we should have died that first day ashore."

"Well, don't blame me. I couldn't have let a dog die that way; and then, a fellow needs a Man Friday for this sort of thing. As for you, I haven't always had the luck to be favored with ladies' company."

"Thank you, Mr. Blake. I quite appreciate the compliment. But now, I must put on supper."

Blake followed her graceful movements with an intentness which, in turn, drew Winthrope's attention to himself. The Englishman smiled in a disagreeable manner, and resumed his work on the bows, with the look of one mentally preoccupied. After supper he found occasion to spend some little time among the bamboos.

When at sunset Miss Leslie withdrew into the baobab, Winthrope somewhat officiously insisted upon helping her set up her screen in the entrance. As he did so, he took the opportunity to hand her a bamboo knife, and to draw her attention to several double-pointed bamboo stakes which he had hidden under the litter.

"What is it?" she asked, troubled by his furtive glance back at Blake.

"Merely precaution, you know," he whispered. "The ground in there is quite soft. It will be no trouble, I fancy, to put up the stakes, with their points inclined toward the entrance."

"But why—"

"Not so loud, Miss Genevieve! It struck me that if any one should seek to enter in the night, he would find these stakes deucedly unpleasant. Be careful how you handle them. As you see, the sharper points, which are to be set uppermost, run off into a razor edge. Put them up now, before it grows too dark. You know how nine-pins are set—that shape. Good-night! You see, with these to guard the entrance, you need not be afraid to go to sleep at once."

"Thank you," she whispered, and began to thrust the stakes into the ground as he had directed.

He had not been mistaken. The vague doubts and fears which she already entertained would have kept her awake throughout the night, but thanks to the sense of security afforded by the sword-bayonets of her silent little sentries, the girl was soon able to calm herself, and was fast asleep long before Blake wakened Winthrope.

Immediately after breakfast, Blake—who had spent his watch in grinding the edges from a stone and experimenting with split and bent twigs—put Winthrope's keys in the fire, and began an attempt to shape them into a knife-blade. To heat the steel to the required temperature, he used a bamboo blowpipe, with his lungs for bellows.

Winthrope turned away with an indifferent bearing; but Miss Leslie found herself compelled to stop and admire his dexterous use of his rude tools.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Always Light in the Sky.

"The sky," says the Scientific American, "is never dark. This, however, is not due to the sun, but to the stars. The Milky Way is above the horizon in summer in our latitude, and it gives a great deal of light by night, enough to make the night sky of that time brighter than when it is not a part of our night sky, as is the case in winter. Then, too, the stars which cannot be seen by the unaided eye give us much light. The stars which are not visible to the eye give more light than those which are visible."

Rice Crop Is Large.

Korea's average annual rice crop is placed at 2,560,000,000 pounds.

REAL NEED.

"I say, old chap, will you lend a friend a dollar."

"Is he really in need of it?"

"Rather. He wants to pay me with it."

How to Care for the Child.

Perplexed mother writes: "My child has sneezing fits after the morning sponge bath. What would you advise?" Some mothers give their babies a hypodermic of morphine for sneezing. But we have always felt that this was too harsh a remedy. Give the baby about three tablespoonfuls of Old Tom gin with a little sugar and a pinch of lemon peel. The sugar makes this remedy more grateful to the child. Be sure to keep this prophylactic away from father.

Anti-Climax.

"How's yer wheat?"

"First rate."

"Pigs doin' well?"

"Fine."

"That puny colt come 'round all right?"

"He sure did."

"Glad to hear things is so likely, Bill. How's your wife?"—Washington Herald.

Resinol Quickly Cures Ills and Accidents the Skin Is Subject To, Also Heals Wounds.

I find occasion almost daily to recommend Resinol to some of my friends, and hear of most gratifying results. We use the ointment altogether in my family, and are never without a jar of it, for it promptly cures the ills and accidents the skin is subject to. D. M. Castle, Philadelphia, Pa.

A Terrible Disease.

"Do you own an automobile?" inquired the unobservant party. The other shook his head sadly.

"No," he sighed, "I have been a sufferer all my life from chronic pedestrianism."

Hardly.

"Would you," he asked, "care to live to be 100 years old?"

"Not if anybody knew it," she replied.

As you grow for it, somewhere or other you will find what is needful for you in a book or a friend.—George Macdonald.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Louisville, Ky.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has certainly done me a world of good and I cannot praise it enough. I suffered from irregularities, dizziness, nervousness, and a severe female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored me to perfect health and kept me from the operating table. I will never be without this medicine in the house."—Mrs. SAM'L LEE, 3623 Fourth St., Louisville, Ky.

Another Operation Avoided.

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from female troubles, and my doctor said an operation was my only chance, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me without an operation."—LENA V. HENRY, R. F. D. 3.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

DYOLA DYES

16 fast, beautiful colors, 10c per package at dealers. If not in stock, send us 10c stating color desired.

ONE DYE FOR ALL GOODS

Color card and book of directions free by writing Dy-o-la, Burlington, Vermont.

DYOLA DYES

Don't Cough!—Use PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

Will instantly relieve your aching throat. There is nothing like it for Asthma, Bronchitis and lung troubles. Contains no opiates. Very pleasant to take. All Druggists, 25 cents.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Don't let the garden go ragged.

Vigilance is the price of safety.

It is not a question of whether we can afford a silo, but rather can we afford to do without one. Better plan now for one.

This husking, bundling and storing should be done as early as possible, as the fodder will not have lost any of its feeding value.

The general appearances of a shipping package aids greatly in making a sale in the market. Use only new cases and place only uniform sized fruit in these packages.

The colt may be weaned at from five to seven months of age, according to its habits of eating and its physical condition. The sooner it learns to eat grain and other nutritious feeds, the sooner it may be weaned.

A number of tests to determine which is more profitable—drilling oats with a disk drill, or broadcasting, has recently been made. The results were all in favor of drilling. A study of the root systems of young oats gives us the reason why drilled grow much more uniformly and therefore yield more bushels per acre than broadcast oats.

As a soiling crop cowpeas are very satisfactory. As they should not be planted till the soil and weather are warm the crop is not available for feed until the latter part of summer, when they fill a place in a well-planned system of soiling and furnish an abundance of succulent green feed, although, perhaps, less palatable than alfalfa.

It is a fact that sheep can do on less water than most other domestic animals, but they cannot do entirely without it. It is a lack of good management to allow them a shortage of water during the dry season. Those who allow their sheep to exist on brush and weeds without water during the dry months will find that their animals will be in thin flesh and in low physical condition for entering the winter.

The cowpea is sometimes sown in combination with other crops, such as corn, Kaffir corn and sorghum for hay. When planted in these combinations there is danger of the cowpeas becoming stunted in growth if the crop with which it is combined is planted too thick. Sown broadcast, cowpeas often make little growth with these crops, but when planted in rows with corn and cultivated the growth is quite satisfactory.

Now that the season's rush is over, take a vacation and go camping or fishing for two or three days. Take plenty of feed along for the horses and let them rest while you are resting. The value of an outing is in the change of surroundings and forgetting to think about your business. With a pole and fishing line, thinking is easy, and the mind becomes rested and refreshed. Camp life soothes the nerves and makes the whole being stronger.

Wheat is selling at the highest prices for many years, and farmers are glad of that. But the grain is not the only value in the wheat crop. The straw is worth much if properly handled. It makes fair rough winter feed for a variety of live stock, and it is the best of bedding for all kinds of farm animals. Straw should be stacked so that it will not spoil and so that it will be good for bedding during the winter and spring, when most bedding is needed.

With all plants the setting out in the fall, while the soil yet contains some stored heat from summer, enables them to start a new root growth, which in turn enables them to make an earlier, more sure and more vigorous growth the following season. Regardless of early or late setting, the fall work will usually give better roots of the plants for more perfect moisture and food contact to carry them successfully over the first season's growth.

Cowpeas make excellent hay, which, if properly handled, is equal to alfalfa in nutritive value, although, as a rule, cows do not eat cowpea hay as readily as they do alfalfa. When sown for hay it is usually preferable to plant it in close drills, requiring about one bushel to the acre, and when so planted the plants have a tendency to grow more upright, which makes the crop more easy to cut with the mower. If grown in rows, although the production of forage may be as great, it is more difficult to harvest, and as the ranker growth of the individual plants often makes the hay more weedy.

Treat the cow kindly; this requires no cash outlay.

It's hard to make a man believe he owns a poor cow.

The cow and the hen have kept starvation from many a door.

Use the milk pails and cans for no other purpose than to hold milk.

Yearly cow tests are becoming more and more popular; try them yourself.

Twenty acres of corn put into the silo will supply 30 head of thrifty cows for a year. Try it.

You cannot grow a good crop of grain and a good crop of weeds on the same ground in the same season.

The farmer who gets the best results from the cows is not in the habit of supposing everything to be right.

When the rain makes the ground soft, dig out all the brush in the patch of useless ground and plant fruit trees. They will soon grow into money.

A little brain work in planning short cuts in dairy work will save an immense amount of time and big work and time is money on the farm, as it is elsewhere.

The farmers of Kansas plant 9,000,000 bushels of wheat every year, from which they harvest about 74,000,000 bushels, most of which is ground up into flour in the home mills.

"Dry-land" alfalfa is merely the common alfalfa which through continuous culture without irrigation on arid land has acquired more or less drought-resisting qualities.

As a rule, it is better to set out fruit and ornamental trees, shrubs, vines, perennial roots and bulbs in the fall than in the spring. Of course, the work often can be done as well in the spring as in the fall, but many times the soil and season are unfavorable, and the proverbial spring rush comes on so quickly that the job must be slighted.

If the soil in which the plants are to be set has been prepared and the holes dug, set out the plants as soon as they are unpacked, but if the soil is not prepared, immediately prepare a deep trench, set the plants in it—spreading them out well—and cover the roots deeply with fine soil. If the soil is dry, moisten it so that it will not extract any moisture from the roots.

For setting out trees, shrubs and any plants at any season, spare no time and labor in preparing the soil and digging spacious holes for the reception of the roots of the plants, for upon the successful starting of the roots depends to a very large degree the future success of the plant. Previous to setting, cut off any injured or decayed roots and settle plant in the hole prepared for it, so that none of the roots will be bent or cramped.

Two or three weeks' time will be required to complete the blanching of the early celery varieties, and the boards must be kept in position until the crop is removed from the ground, after which they may be used again two or three times during the season. If the celery is allowed to remain in the boards too long, after it has reached a marketable stage, it loses in weight and flavor and is liable to be injured or even destroyed by the attacks of blight.

Silage to keep well must be cut so that it will settle evenly. The leaves must not be in one place and the coarser parts of the stalks in another. It must be thoroughly mixed, and nothing will do this mixing so well as a man. The silage must also be packed tightly next the sides of the silo, as that is where it is likely to lie so light that it will permit the air to enter. The top of the silage should be composed of corn that is as green as possible, as this will decay and seal the whole, thus keeping out the air. Too dry silage can be improved by adding water at the top.

Pasture lands receive too little attention from the majority of farmers. If the pastures thrive and produce good growth, all right, and then, if they run out, and grow up in weeds, the man thinks he hasn't time to look after and improve matters. These conditions are often allowed to exist till the land has to be broken up and put to grain of some sort in order to fight the weeds successfully; and while few realize it, such lands have lost their owners from two to three dollars an acre every year they were left to run as they might. The "stitch in time" saves all this trouble and loss.

In a recent experiment to determine the relative value of oats as feed for horses, six mature grade Percheron geldings were fed on a basal ration of clover and timothy hay, three receiving oats and the other three corn as a supplemental ration. Estimating the corn to be worth 40 cents per bushel, oats 30 cents per bushel, and hay $8 per ton, it was found that the average cost of food per hour of work was 3.3 cents for the corn-fed horses and 4.54 cents for those fed oats. The use of corn to the exclusion of other grain for a period of 48 weeks was found not to be detrimental to the health of work horses, and they endured hard work during the hot weather as well as those receiving oats.

Amateur Photography

"I have the pictures at last," announced the amateur photographer, jubilantly. "They are first-class. Sit down, all of you, and I'll pass them around. This is the group I got on the terrace of Isabel's yard."

"It's good of everybody but me!" exclaimed Isabel. "Did you ever see such a fright as I am! Why, I look like a peanut! You see, I was trying not to laugh."

"Let me see it," said her sister, seizing the print. "Merciful goodness! Look at my hair! Isn't it perfectly terrible! It's good of you, Louise."

"Oh, no!" cried Louise. "I never took a worse one. But isn't it sweet of Isabel. What made you put your hands out in front like that, George?" They look as big as a house."

"I always have so much on my hands they have to be large," explained George, cheerfully. "Will you look at the frown I've got on? Why didn't you tell me I was frowning?"

"I couldn't take the picture and look pleasant for all of you at the same time," said the amateur photographer, testily. "I think that's a first-class group."

"Go on, show us another photograph," said George.

"This is a picture of that little brook we found up in the woods," said the amateur photographer, more cheerfully. "I didn't have anything to put the camera on or I could have taken a time exposure."

"I can't see the water," complained Isabel. "What makes it so dark in spots?"

"It isn't dark," said the amateur photographer. "That's just the shade from the trees."

"It looks black to me," said George. "What other pictures are there?"

"Here's a view of Louise's house," said the amateur photographer.

"Oh, let me see!" cried Louise. "What makes it lean backward that way?"

"I had the camera tipped a little, that's all," said the amateur photographer, shortly. "It's an excellent picture."

"When you sort of squint along it the picture looks ever so nice," said Isabel's sister, comfortingly. "Oh, who's the ghost?"

"It isn't a ghost," said the amateur photographer. "That's a picture of Adelaide. You see, it was a dark, rainy day and I tried to take a time exposure holding the camera in my hands. It isn't half a bad picture if you look at it closely."

"It makes me dizzy" said Isabel. "Is that a picture of Santa Claus coming down the chimney?"

"Not exactly," confessed the amateur photographer. "I took a picture of our wood fire and then snapped Maurice without changing the film and of course it looks as if Maurice were coming down the chimney. That was a mistake on my part, of course."

"And this one," asked George. "Are they having a fit? What a hideous face!"

"That's your own face, as it happens," explained the amateur photographer, with evident pleasure. "That is a group that I took by flashlight."

"If you had left the gas lighted the eyes would have been better," suggested Louise. "You see how staring they are?"

"I know that now," said the amateur photographer. "Nobody told me beforehand, though every one seems to have known it well enough."

"It isn't really half bad," said Isabel's sister gently. "That one of me is good."

"That isn't you, I'm sorry to say," said the amateur photographer. "The one on the other side of the table is you. That's Louise."

"This one is splendid," exclaimed Isabel. "I never saw a better picture of a colored woman."

"I took that indoors," said the amateur photographer, patiently. "It's supposed to be a likeness of my mother."

"Here's another group," said Louise. "Mercy! I didn't dream I laughed in that picture. I declare, I'll never be snapped again. What on earth made you snap us at that moment?"

"My hat's all on one side, too!" said Isabel. "Isn't that picture terrible?"

"Nothing but the corner of my hat shows," said Adelaide. "And that completely hides George. Who's this in the corner?"

"That isn't anybody," said the amateur photographer, gathering up his belongings. "My fingers had some developer on them and it left a spot, that's all. I spent hours and a small fortune on these pictures and it's mighty little thanks I get."

"Well, you can't say they're good of me!" said Adelaide. "Though I don't see why the rest of you object to them."

"Some of them are splendid," said Isabel's sister. "That is, I've seen lots worse ones and I think you did better than most people do when they take snapshots."

"Thank you," said the amateur photographer humbly. "I'll take a picture of you all by yourself whenever you want me to."

His Way.

"What is that uncertain knocking that I hear?"

"That," said the medium, "is the spirit of your departed husband."

"I guess it's him, all right; that's just the kind of noise he used to make when he came upstairs late at night."

The Best Food for Workers.

The best food for those who work with hand or brain is never high priced.

The best example of this is found in Quaker Oats. It stands at the top among foods that supply nourishment and vigor, without taxing the digestion, and yet it is the least expensive food one can eat.

This great food value and low cost make it an ideal food for families who want to get the greatest good from what they eat.

Laborers, factory or farm hands, fed plentifully on Quaker Oats will work better and with less fatigue than if fed on almost any other kind of food. All of these facts were proved and very interesting information about human foods were gathered by Professor Fisher of Yale University in 1908. In addition to the regular package Quaker Oats is packed in large sized family packages either with or without china dishes. 8

Waste Material.

In process of time it was observed that the multi-millionaire philanthropist had ceased giving costly library buildings to towns and cities.

"Why is this, Mr. Canaggy?" the reporters asked him.

"Young men," he said, "what is the use of building great houses for libraries when all a man needs for an education is five feet of books?"

Whereat they marveled, but they could not answer him.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Snake Story.

"Before he went fishin'," said the town story teller, "he swallowed 'bout a pint an' a half of snakebite remedy, an' of course you know what that is. Well, after the snake bit him the reptile cut all sorts o' capers, kaze the remedy went straight to its head. Last thing it tried to do wuz to swaller its tail, an' it got itself in the form of a hoop an' I'm a liar ef the children didn't roll it around all day!"

Why He Bought It.

Conductor — Say! aren't you old enough to know that you can't ride on a child's ticket?

Silas Filkins — Sure I be. But only yistiddy Samanthy sed I wuz gittin' t' be childish-like, an' so I thought mebbe y'd let me ride half-fare.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Why He Won.

Abou Ben Adhem set forth his claim.

"I never lied about what a good time I had on my vacation," he cried.

And, lo, etc.

Rough on Rats fools the rats and mice, but never fools the buyer. The secret is, you (not the maker) do the mixing. Take a hint, do your own mixing; pay for poison only, then you get results. It's the unbeatable exterminator. Don't die in the house. 15c, 25c, 75c.

An office seeker's love for his country is a good deal like that of a titled foreigner for an American heiress.

PERRY DAVIS' PAINKILLER has no substitute. No other remedy is so effective for rheumatism, lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia or cold of any sort. Put up in 25c, 35c and 50c bottles.

The first time a girl is disappointed in love she imagines she has nothing left to live for.

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. Agents Wanted. Get catalog. Dr. James Manufacturing Co.

PATENTS FRANKLIN H. HOUGH, Washington, D. C. No attorney's fees until patent is obtained. Write for inventor's Guide.

For Croup and Whooping Cough

there is no quicker, surer remedy known than Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant. Four generations of children have been relieved and cured by this old and reliable medicine.

DR. D. JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT

has been successfully employed for over 78 years in countless cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, Colds, Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs and Chest, Pleurisy, and similar ailments.

For the sake of your children keep a bottle of Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant in your home where you will have it at hand in an emergency. Sold by all druggists in three size bottles, $1.00, 50c and 25c.

Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge is the ideal worm medicine, and an effective tonic for adults and children alike.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

FROM WINTER TO SUMMER
Three Ideal Winter Cruises to the
WEST INDIES
etc., 16 and 28 days duration, by twin-screw S. S. MOLTKE (12,500 tons) during January, February, and March. Also cruises to the Orient and South America.
HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE
41-45 Broadway - - - New York

LIVE STOCK AND MISCELLANEOUS
Electrotypes
IN GREAT VARIETY FOR SALE AT THE LOWEST PRICES BY WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION
354 W. Adams St., Chicago

Busted

Many a man goes broke—in Health—then wealth. Blames his mind—says it don't work right; but all the time it's his bowels. They don't work—liver dead and the whole system gets clogged with poison. Nothing kills good, clean-cut brain action like constipation. CASCARETS will relieve and cure. Try it now. 916

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment. All druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

Paper-Hangers & Painters

You can greatly increase your business with no extra investment by selling Alfred Peats' Fadeless Wallpaper. We want one good worker in each vicinity, and to the first worthy applicant will send FREE, by prepaid express, five large sample books showing a $250,000.00 Wallpaper Stock for customers to select from. We offer liberal profits to our representative. Answer quickly that you may get the agency in your vicinity for this year. Alfred Peats Co., 144-146 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

Readers of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 45—1909.

The Wizard of Horticulture
Hon. Luther Burbank

Wanted
A Bright, Capable Man

says: "Delicious is a gem—the finest apple in all the world. It is the best in quality of any apple I have so far tested."

And Mr. Burbank knows.

Delicious is but one of the hundreds of good things in Stark Trees—the good things you should know about before you plant this fall or next spring.

Let us tell you about them by writing today for our complete, illustrated price-list-catalogue which describes our complete line of fruit trees, ornamentals, etc.

in each county of this state to sell Stark Trees on commission. No previous experience necessary. The work is pleasant, clean work, highly profitable, and the positions are permanent to the right men.

Many of our salesmen are earning $50 to $80 per month and expenses; some are making more. You can do as well or better if you're a hustler and trying to succeed.

No investment called for; we furnish complete order-getting outfit free and the most liberal contract.

For complete information address the Sales Manager of

Stark Bro's. N. & O. Co., Louisiana, Missouri

A Few Acres In California

In one of the rich valleys along the line of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific

mean a comfortable living, an assured future and money in the bank.

For complete and reliable information get our illustrated booklets on California land. Call on or address

E. L. LOMAX, G. P. A., Omaha, Neb.

(159)

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois.

5¢

CHEW AND SMOKE
MAIL POUCH
TOBACCO
STANDARD FOR OVER 30 YEARS

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

John G. Adams, of Key West, was a visitor here, last Friday.

E. P. Northcutt spent Thursday in Cincinnati buying goods for his store.

John C. Miller and son Fred, spent Saturday in Cincinnati on business.

E. N. Wilson, of Jonesville, Owen county, was here last Friday on business.

Miss Myrtle Murphy spent Saturday in Cincinnati with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Allie Moxley spent last Thursday in Cincinnati with relatives and friends.

Harry Jones, of Big Bone Springs, spent Friday here with relatives and friends.

John Lane, of Ludlow, spent part of the past week here with relatives and friends.

John Binder, of Big Bone Springs, was a business visitor here last Wednesday.

J. Claude Hume, the efficient postmaster at Verona, was a visitor here last Friday.

W. H. Hightower, of Morningview, Kenton county, spent Saturday here on business.

G. W. B. McManama, of Erlanger, spent last Thursday here, guest of G. M. Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sleet, of Kenton county, were visitors here last Thursday.

Dr. D. M. Bagbay and wife were visitors to relatives near Independence, last Friday.

Miss Callie Benson spent the past week at Big Bone Springs, the guest of Miss Myrtle Miller.

Hon. J. G. Tomlin spent part of the past week at Warsaw and in Chicago on law business.

Frank B. Hamilton, of Verona, was a visitor here Friday, and spent the day in Cincinnati on business.

Miss Jane Jones, of Big Bone, and Miss Annie Pearl Hughes, of Beaver Lick, were visitors here last week.

Robert L. Green and brother, Will, of Big Bone, were visitors here, Friday, and spent the day in Cincinnati.

A Ralph Edwards, our handsome and popular deputy postmaster, spent part of the past week in Cincinnati with friends.

A. M. Edwards, our enterprising merchant, spent part of last week in Cincinnati, attending the carriage dealers' convention.

Chas. A. Slater spent last Thursday in Cincinnati, purchasing a lot of goods for his store, the Walton Mercantile Company.

Henry C. Diers spent part of the past week in Henry county delivering about $4,000 worth of nursery stock sold there by him this season.

John L. Vest spent the past week at Warsaw, and Vevay, Indiana, taking depositions in some law cases to be tried in the Gallatin circuit court.

Mrs. Jane E. Johnson and daughter, Miss Hattie, returned home here, last week, from a pleasant visit to relatives and friends at Sparta, Gallatin county.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Veach, of Kenton county, were visitors here, last Wednesday, after which they spent a couple of days in Covington with relatives and friends.

B. B. Aliphin and S. C. Hicks, our enterprising horse and mule buyers, spent a couple of days, last week, in Cincinnati, negotiating the sale of several car loads of livestock.

W. L. Vallandingham, of Science Hill, Shelby county, is the new telegraph operator of the Q. & C. railroad at Kensington. Mr. Vallandingham is boarding at the Phoenix Hotel here.

A. W. Smith and daughter, Mrs. W. B. Noell, enjoyed a delightful visit to Cincinnati, last Wednesday, going especially to see "Way Down East," as presented at one of the theaters.

Miss Cecile Menefee, who is attending business college at Cincinnati, taking a course in stenography and book-keeping, is well pleased with her studies, and progressing rapidly.

A. Kirtley Johnson, our popular mail carrier, enjoyed the pleasure of a visit to friends in Covington and Cincinnati, last Thursday. His brother, E. M. Johnson, carried the mail that day in his stead.

Rev. D. T. Buck returned home, last Thursday, from a visit to his old home at Abington, Virginia. He was also at Johnson City, Tennessee, attending the stockholders meeting of the Buck & Snodgrass Lumber Co., of which he was elected vice-president.

Harmon Slayback, of Beaver Lick, has accepted a clerkship in the store of Woodford R. Miller in Walton, and will be pleased to have his friends call. Mr. Slayback is a polite and accommodating young gentleman, and will add considerably to Mr. Miller's store and trade.

'Squire T. F. Curley was called to Covington, last Thursday, to attend the funeral of his father, Patrick C. Curley, who died at his home in Louisville, October 26th, at the advanced age of 98 years. The deceased was formerly in the vinegar business at Covington and has resided in Louisville for some time. The interment took place at St. Mary's cemetery near Covington.

Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Harris were presented with a fine nine-pound son October 24th. Rev. Harris, who was recently appointed to the charge of the Epworth League Church M. E. Sonth, at Lexington, spent the past week here, his wife being at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rouse. He is well pleased with his new location, but regrets that Conference did not permit him to remain at Walton where he has a most enjoyable relation.

On Tuesday morning, Oct. 12, occurred one of the most beautiful weddings ever solemnized in the Grants Lick church, the contracting parties being Dr. J. D. Northcutt and Miss Ora Byrd. Rev. Martin performed the ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. The church was beautifully decorated in smilax and carnations. The impressive ring ceremony was used, and as the hands of the clock pointed upward, bringing luck to the bride. The wedding party to the music of Mendleshon's wedding march, played by Miss Myrtle Neale, arrived, and up the left isle came Rev. Martin followed by the groom's two brothers, Messrs Edgar and John Northcutt, then the groom and his best man, John Russel Bryd, the bride's brother, while up the right isle came the matron of honor, the bride's cousin, Mrs. Edward Washburn, followed by the two maids, Miss Bess J. Thatcher and Miss Mary Wright, then the bride and her maid of honor, Miss Frances Thatcher. The bride was beautifully gowned in white embroidery swiss, carrying an immense shower bouquet of white carnations and smilax. Her only ornament being a gold pin, worn by her mother on her wedding day 27 years ago. The maids and matrons of honor were all gowned alike in white, carrying pink carnations and smilax. After the ceremony a few intimate friends repaired to the hospitable home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Byrd, where a bountiful repast was awaiting them. Among the honored guests was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Martha Barden, whose 88 years did not prevent her from entering into the fun and frolic of the younger folks. Others present were: Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Houston. Anna and Clifford Gosney, Myrtle Neale, Fan, Bess, Edith and Ruth Thatcher, Asa Pelley, Miss Flora Barden, Mary Wright, E. W. and A. J. Northcutt, Rev. Martin and Mrs. W. E. Washburn. The bride and groom left amidst a shower of rice and good wishes for their honeymoon trip to Nashville, Tenn., and other points south.

FOR SALE—Eight four-months old Poland China pigs—eligible to register. R. C. GREEN, nov 3-tf Walton, Ky.

DEVON.

Miss Emma Rivard is the guest of relatives in Covington, this week.

Arthur Connelly and sister, Miss Emma, were guests of Mrs. W. A. Rice, Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Rouse and mother, of Florence, were guests of Effie Hogriffe, recently.

Mrs. Ben Bristow visited her sister, Mrs. Louis Lampton, at Bank Lick, Thursday.

J. C. Rivard, of Covington, came out Saturday evening and had a fox chase with the boys.

D. M. McCarty, of Bank Lick, was doing some masonry work for Alfred Rivard, Tuesday.

Theodore Groger had for his guests Thursday, Mr. Busse, of Covington, and Mr. Henn, of Cummingsville, O.

Henry Childress, of Erlanger, and Miss Burke, of Covington, were guests in this neighborhood, Sunday.

Miss Lucy Scott and sister, Marie, returned home Sunday after a delightful visit with friends in Newport.

Wm. Woodward and Hiram Rivard raised the finest potatoes in this neighborhood. Hiram had some so large he had to cut them in two to dig them. How about that Hiram?

A letter received from Alex Connely and family report they had a delightful trip to Sanfernando. Mrs. Connely was very tired from the journey, bnt otherwise better than when she left here.

The party who entered Mr. John Meiman's barn and took the lines off of his buggy harness is known, and he had better return them and save further trouble.

BULLITTSVILLE.

Mesdames Birkle and Grant and Miss Mary Corn are quite ill.

James Grant and wife were Sunday guests at C. E. Stephens'.

Farmers are busy hauling their potatoes to market. The potatoes are large and plentiful.

Mrs. Lon Gaines, of Covington, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Geo. Gaines, who is improving in health.

Mrs. William Hedges and son, of Gunpowder, were Sunday guests of her sister, Mrs. Lucy Walton.

The protracted meeting at Bullittsburg Baptist church, conducted by Rev. Brooks, closed last Sunday night. Good weather and large congregations.

Benjamin Stephens' auto broke down in Missouri, and the passengers and the machine took a train for the remainder of the trip to their home, Ashland, Kansas.

RICHWOOD.

Mrs. Gaines Robinson has been ill of a cold.—Will Carpenter's and Gaines Robinson's driven wells struck an abundance of water.—Carry Carpenter is improving.—Jerry Carpenter had a severe attack of bleeding at the nose a few nights ago. —Tom Carpenter is working at the Pullman shops in Ludlow.—Thos. Frazier has moved into one of M. Grubb's houses.—Ollie Dixon's colonial porch is a dandy.—P. P. Hunter and wife are visiting at Jasper, Alabama.—M. L. Tanner and wife, Union, and P. P. Hunter and wife, were Sunday guests at Walter Grubb's.—Frank Scales, colored, living on F. B. Williams' farm, dropped dead of heart disease, last Wednesday. He had been complaining but was up and about.—D. B. Dobbins, Ell Rice and Miss Lilla B. Hammon attended the State Grange meeting at Paris, last week.—P. P. Hunter, of the American Carriage Co., and Miss Ida Grubbs, daughter of M. Grubbs, were quietly married at Catlettsburg a few days since, by Rev. Garrison. They took an extended trip, going to Washington, D. C., New York and other points.

The Boone County Insurance Company made an assessment of 2½ per cent, last Monday, to pay C. E. Lipscomb's loss of $1,125 and some incidental expenses.

For Sale—Thoroughbred Poland China boar, 2 years old, price $15. L. D. McGLASSON, Taylorsport.

HERE AND THERE.

Sunday was a fine autumn day.

R. J. Akins' baby has been quite sick for several days but is better.

A Mr. Wise from Ohio was scouring Boone county, last week, in quest of mules.

Don't forget the Sunday School at Woolper school house every Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

W. O. Rector sold to B. Berkshire, Saturday, a fine milk cow for $50; he also sold to Chas. Akin a nice yearling colt.

Bernard Sebree went to Cleves, O., last Saturday and got his young mare that he has had in the hands of a trainer over there.

Rev. Brooks met with the Woolper Sunday School, last Sunday, and gave them a short but interesting and encouraging talk.

FLORENCE.

Wallace Tanner and wife entertained the following at dinner recently: Rev. Walterick and family, Owen Beemon and wife, Lon Acra and family, R. H. Tanner and family, Perry Utz and family, John Surface and wife, Mrs. Agnes Witenburg, Jacob Rouse and wife, James Tanner and family, Oliver Russ, Mrs. Fannie Clutterbnck and mother, Mrs. E. V. Rouse and daughter Gladys.—Ed. Rouse, wife and baby visited friends here Sunday.—Owen Bradford and wife entertained the Misses Corbins, Sunday.—Joe Baxter and wife entertained quite a number of friends and relatives at dinner, Sunday.—Lee Clutterbnck moved from here to Erlanger, Tuesday.—Mrs. Hank Tanner and daughters, Coreta and Annita were guests at Mrs. Edgar Aylor's, of Hebron, Saturday.

"$2,000.00"

Mr. Luther Guthrie, of Beaufort, N. C. spent money freely in employing doctors to cure his wife from continual headache. He writes:

"One bottle of Cardui did my wife more good than anything she has taken for ten years past. She had suffered with headache for ten years and I had spent $300.00 for doctors' bills for her, but nothing did her any good.

Take CARDUI

She has taken two bottles of Cardui and it has done her two thousand dollars ($2,000) worth of good. Just as long as it is made, I shall have Cardui in my home."

For all forms of female pain, like headache, side ache, pain in limbs, dizzy feelings, dragging down-sensations, etc —Cardui has been found to be an effective remedy. Don't wait till you are "all run down." Try Cardui at once. Sold everywhere.

E 46

Warning to Hunters.

Any person or persons trespassing or hunting with dog or guns on the lands of the undersigned will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

WALTON PRECINCT.

W. H. Senour	W. E. Dixon
G. W. Taylor	M. E. Fields
G. E. Carroll	Bryant Campbell
J. C. Byland	Mrs Jane Kennedy
J. C. Mayhugh	A. R. Johnson
Robt. Chambers	L. S. Wolfe
Ira Aylor	S. C. Hicks
Batty Long	J. S. West
Lawrence Ryan	Clay Baker
S. Taylor	John Mardis
S. M. Hudson	R. O. Hughes
Theo. Kennedy	Martha C. Hudson
Ben Cleek	Rebecca J. Hudson
S. C Bedinger	Kate Hudson
John Goodridge	O. S. Glacken

BURLINGTON PRECINCT.

Mrs Elizabeth Utz	W L B Rouse
Oscar Gaines	Bart G Aylor

BELLEVIEW PRECINCT.

Julia Dinsmore

BULLITTSVILLE PRECINCT.

Mrs Mary Gaines	John W Clore
Elbert Rouse	Huey Aylor
Jeff D Cloud	Harvey Aylor
H D McGlasson	Ben Paddock
R C McGlasson	C E Clore
E J Aylor	Chester Hood

UNION PRECINCT.

E L Rouse	W H Wilson

FOR SALE.

My farm of about 200 acres, on good road near Francesville, 3 miles north of Hebron, Boone county, Ky. On this farm is a 4-room residence and all necessary outbuildings, all under new roof. There are 50 acres of timber and 50 acres of good tobacco land, and four never failing springs. This land is two miles from the Ohio river and 15 miles from Cincinnati. Rural route and telephone. For terms call at the farm or address C. W. McFEE,
R. D 3, Burlington, Ky.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

DO YOU WANT A

Piano for $100 Less

than you pay for the same quality elsewhere?

IF SO CALL AND SEE OUR EXCELLENT LINE OF

High Grade Pianos AND Player Pianos

We have more than thirty Styles to select from.

WE | WILL TRY TO PLEASE
WILL GIVE VALUE FOR EVERY DOLLAR TO
WILL MAKE TERMS TO SUIT | YOU

Ben J. Wagner Co

No. 82 Pike Street, No. 1132 Banklick Street,

COVINGTON, - - KY.

Store Open Until 9 P. M. Every Evening Until Xmas.

New Arrival in Watches & Gold Jewelry on Sale at Special Low Prices.

Fifty-one years ago the foundation of this house was laid with Quality, Representations and good values to patrons as cornerstones. The present establishment coupled with the fact that it stands to-day as one of its largest institutions of its kind in the three cities speaks eloquently of the publics appreciation of this Store.

Ladies' watch special 14-kt filled, set with genuine cut diamond for $18.50. See them in our window.

MOTGH,
The Jeweler,
613 Madison Ave.
Covington, Ky.

Farm for Sale.

My 113 acre farm on the Ohio river adjoining the town of McVille, Boone county, Ky. On this farm are two good dwellings a good barn and other necessary outbuildings, and it will produce anything that will grow in this climate. If this farm is not sold by the first of Feby., 1910, I will rent it for one year for money rent, and give rentor privilege to purchase it at the end of the year, or will rent it for part of the crop, the rentor to give good reference as to him being a neat, industrious farmer. If sold terms will be easy. Possession given March 1, 1910. For further particulars call on or address S. D. RICE, Grant, Ky.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices. All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co
Rising Sun, Indiana.

NEW PACKED

Dried Peaches, Apples, Prunes,

Raisins, Oranges, Etc.,

Now in Stock.

All other goods as soon as the season opens. Don't forget to call in and compare my Quality and Prices with others.

C. M. BALDON,
Burlington, Kentucky.

WE DON'T KNOW WHETHER

You Know It or Not

Our Customers help to bring the trade to us. They know they get satisfaction. They will tell you, no matter where you go, you'll never find better Clothing than those handled by us.

OUR LINE OF

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing

CAN NOT BE SURPASSED.

We have a large assortment to select from and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP. We have some nice

MEN'S SUITS at..... $5.00 and $7.50

Better Grades MEN'S SUITS... $10.00 to $18.00

These include a great many high priced suits which we have reduced

BOYS' SUITS..... $4.00 to $10.00

We are giving especially great bargains in our Boys' Suits.

MEN'S PANTS... $1.00 to $5.00 CHILDREN'S SUITS... $1.25 to $5.00

Kindly visit our Store and you wilt be most favorably impressed with the bargains we are showing.

Rolfes & Wachs,
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

M. L. Swetnam Clarence E. Swetnam Russell E. Swetnam

M. L. Swetnam & Sons,

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,

15 to 21 E. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.

Phone South 170. FREE AMBULANCE.

Take Your County paper.

C. H. ACRA,
AUCTIONEER
GRANT, KY.
Your Patronage solicited

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.
JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875. Subscription $1.50 year. Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 10, 1909. NO 4.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

FLORENCE.

Preaching here Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. Baker.

Edgar Aylor and wife, of Hebron, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Tanner, of this place, Sunday.

Hank Tanner and family and Edgar Aylor and wife were guests of Ollie Dixon, at Devon, Sunday.

Miss Carrie Clark and brother, Oscar, were guests of John Clark and wife of this place, Sunday.

Albert Lucas and Miss Minnie and Emmet Baxter and Eva Lucas attended church at Beaver, Sunday.

Mrs. John R. Whitson had as her guests, Thursday, Mrs. Chas. Cleek and daughter, Miss Katherine, of Erlanger.

Walter R. Klappert, of Ludlow, and Clarence Searp of Bromley, were Saturday and Sunday guests of H. Cliff Norman.

Miss Stella Baxter gave a birthday party last Tuesday evening in honor of her sister, Miss Minnie. Very interesting games were played after which refreshments were served. Miss Minnie received many useful presents.

GUNPOWDER.

Pastor Walterick is visiting at Mt. Carmel, Ill.

Communion services at Hopeful next Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

J. H. Tanner and family visited at Union, last Sunday, guest of Arthur Tanner and wife.

H. F. Utz and wife spent last Sunday with her parents, B. C. Surface and wife, at Union.

R. R. Houston and Edo Rouse, each, had the misfortune to lose a horse by death, last week.

Harvy Tanner has for sale a Davis swinging churn, 7 gallon capacity, in good shape, nearly new.

Mrs. H. L. Tanner, who was badly hurt by a vicious sheep a couple of weeks ago, is improving slowly.

E. H. Blankenbeker purchased a large drove of nice feeding cattle at the Union Stock Yards, last week.

R. O. Rouse, of Big Bone neighborhood, visited his father, E. L. Rouse, Saturday night and Sunday.

Homer Cleek and wife, of Beaver neighborhood, were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Clint Blankenbeker, last Sunday.

Mrs. Floyd had for guests last Monday Mrs. J. H. Tanner and daughter, Miss Glendora, and Mrs. Lizzie Bartell.

Green's "Ten Sale," Rising Sun, means 10 yard calico dress pattern at 8 cents a yard—limited to one to each lady customer.

Following pupils of the Hathaway school are on the honor roll for last month: Laura Abdon, Joseph and Mildred Moore, Thomas Hubbard, Emma Clements.

ERLANGER.

Mrs. James Worster is very ill.

Jess Clutterbuck and family occupy the Barlage property.

The S. S. Home Department met with Mrs. Warren Tuesday.

The G. T. Club was entertained by Johnnie Westerman, Thursday.

Ransom Vahn has returned home after a pleasant visit in Chicago.

Perry Canady and family, of Florence, occupy the Rollincutter property.

Miss Statira Childress was the guest of friends in Cincinnati, Sunday.

Mrs. Corbin, of Lexington pike, was the guest of Mrs. Summers, Saturday.

Raymond Johnson and wife have moved to the Franks property on Garvey ave.

Mrs. Wolfe, of Florence, was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. K. W. Wolfe, Monday.

Ed Numan and wife, of Gunpowder, were guests of R. O. Hoard and family, Sunday.

Charles Carroll and wife are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a little son.

Mrs. Mary Eubank, of Amsterdam pike, was the guest of her mother Mrs. Westerman, Tuesday.

Little Dorothia Pearl Carroll is visiting her grandparents, Jas. Carroll and family, of Cincinnati, this week.

HATHAWAY.

Nov. 8.—This is fine fall weather.

It is reported that rabbits are scarce.

P. A. Weaver sold a yearling calf to G. L. Smith for $20.

Mrs. Edna Stephens spent last Friday with Claud Ryle and wife.

Robert Hensley, of Belleview, was the guest of Wm. Smith, last Friday.

Robert McNeely and wife went to Patriot, last Saturday, to have his eyes treated.

Mrs. Cynthia Mason and Miss Fannie Smith spent Friday evening at C. B. Mason's.

Mrs. Vina Horton sold her crop of 8,025 pounds of tobacco to Johnnie Hogan at $12.50 per 100.

W. S. White and wife left today for a few days' visit to their daughter, Mrs. John W. Kelly, at Columbus, Indiana.

Geo. L. Smith and wife went to Union, last Thursday, where they were guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Huey and Mrs. H. E. Corbin.

Green's "Ten Sale," Rising Sun, means 25 cent nnderwear for 22½ cts; 50 cent underwear for 45 cents; $1 00 underwear for 90 cents.

Those who united with Big Bone Baptist church and were baptised are Misses Gladys Kinman, Sarah Huey, Ella and Una Adams, Lillian Kelly, Jessie Utz, Jennie Sebree, Clinton McMillan, Hiram J. Stephens. They were given the hand of church fellowship last Wednesday night. This closed the meeting.

Forced Into Exile.

Wm. Upchurch of Glen Oak, Okla. was an exile from home. Mountain air he thought, would cure a frightful lungracking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infallible for Coughs and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat. Cures Bronchitis, Grip, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup. 50c and $1.00, trial bottle free, guaranteed by Bentler's drug store Erlanger.

BUFFALO.

Nov. 8—Considerable tobacco has been stripped.

Miss Jessie Utz is sick.

Mrs. Kate Ashburn is visiting in Burlington.

J. K. Sebree and wife spent Sunday at N. H. Clements'.

P. A. Weaver and wife were Sunday guests at O. B. Utz's,

Mrs. A. J. Utz entertained quite a number at dinner, Sunday.

Elijah Stephens made a business trip to Rising Sun, last Saturday.

Miss Lillian Bristow was the guest of Miss Eva Sebree, last Saturday.

Napoleon Bristow and wife were Sunday guests at Richard Head's.

Mrs. Susie Stephens spent Friday with her mother, Mrs. P. A. Weaver.

Jessie Kelly and niece, Miss Nannie Clore, spent Sunday at Robert Moore's.

Milton Beemon entertained the young folks with a delightful party, Saturday night.

Mrs. Bertha Shinkle entertained Misses Mary Julia Reed and Coo Shinkle, Saturday night.

Miss Emma Clements entertained Misses Lillian Bristow, Eva Sebree, Lee McNeely and Merle Allen, last Sunday.

Green's "Ten Sale," Rising Sun, means 10 yard calico dress pattern at 8 cents a yard—limited to one to each lady customer.

Mrs. Lida M. Conner spent last Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Cincinnati, with her sister Mrs. Estelle Winter, who is being treated for a badly wrenched knee.

One of the enjoyable events of the season was the "Pie Social" given by Mrs. Henry Afterkirk, Saturday night, at her inspitable home in the Richwood neighborhood.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huey's former Sunday school pupils and a number of her intimate friends gave her a royal surprise, Thursday, the 4th inst., the occasion being in honor of her 80th birth day. An elegant dinner was enjoyed by the following guests: Mesdames Josie Allen, Anna Ryle, Katie Huey, Ettie Clements, Nannie Stephens, Emma Marshall, Fannie Adams, Wm. McMullen, Maud Sachwell, Mollie Huey, Misses Janette Huey, Myrtle Presser, and Messrs. Wm. McMillan, J. P. Johnson, G. L. Smith, James Allen, R. L. Huey and N. H. Clements.

The pupils of Prof. A. Limburg will give a concert at Senior's hall, Union, on Saturday, November 20, 1909. The pupils to the number of about a dozen, constituting some of the best musicians in this section, will render an excellent program, consisting of piano, violin and vocal music, and they will be assisted by the choir of the Big Bone Methodist church, which will render some choice selections. Come everybody and enjoy a pleasant evening. Doors open at 7 o'clock. Curtain rises at 7:30. Admission, 25 cents.

DEVON.

Brother Baker was the guest of Ben Wayman and family, Sunday.

Ernest Groger entertained with a dance, the young folks, Saturday night.

Cove Carpenter and family were guests of Ben Cleek, of Kensington, last Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah Percival, of Walton, was the guest, Tuesday, of Cove Carpenter and family.

We learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Michael Cary, which occurred last Saturday.

Harry Rivard and family, of Covington, were guests of his parents at this place, Sunday.

Miss Mary Sandford, who is teaching our school, is progressing nicely, having enrolled 46 pupils.

Mrs. Sarah Rector will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Ben Cleek, of Kensington, for a fortnight.

Miss Emma Rivard returned home, Thursday evening, from Covington, where she had a delightful visit.

Will Brown, of Covington, came out Saturday, and was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Groger, until Sunday evening.

Miss Mary Carpenter, who has been the guests of relatives in Lexington, for the past few months, returned home, Saturday.

Ben Surface and wife entertained with a family dinner at his home, Sunday. All her brothers and sisters were present excepting Mrs. Smith, who is sick.

Emile Rivard left, Monday morning, for Covington, where he will follow the practice of law. He will be in the office of Senator-elect Arnett. We wish him success.

One of the events of interest for this week will be the marriage of Miss Agnes Maher, of near this place, to Mr. Edward Lawler, of Norwood, Ohio. Mr. Lawler is a successful business man, and the bride is quite a favorite with all who know her. The marriage will be a church affair, Wednesday, Nov. 10th, at St. Cecilia Church, Independence. The happy couple, after a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride, will leave for Norwood, where the groom has a handsomely furnished home for his bride.

KIDVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. George Darby gave the young folks a dance Thursday night. All reported a good time.

Miss Eva Clutterbuck has returned home after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. Hal Highhouse, of Ludlow.

J. A. Tanner and wife entertained Sunday Spencer Tanner and family, Roy Tanner and family, B. H. Tanner and family, Mrs. Frances Tanner, Carl Clutterbuck and wife, Ira Walton and wife and Mrs. Fannie Clutterbuck.

UNION.

Mrs. Raymond Byland, of Walton, is with her aunt, Mrs. Geo. Rouse.

Ben Terrill, of Erlanger, was here for a short time, Friday, on business.

Mrs. R. N. Head entertained a large number of friends at dinner, Sunday.

Miss Sadie R. Crisler spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents at Burlington.

Mrs. Ezra Blankenbeker had as her guest, last week, Addie Lee Tanner, of Gunpowder.

T. J. Story, of Florence, did some artistic paper hanging for Mrs. J. M. Utz, last Thursday.

The Union and Florence Turnpike Co., is erecting a new toll-house on its road north of town.

Miss Dell L. Utz spent several days last week, at Gunpowder, with her friend, Miss Madge Williams.

Miss Elizabeth Stephenson is home after a two week's' visit with her frlend, Mrs. Henry Afterkirk, near Richwood.

Rev. C. E. Hatcher preached two excellent sermons to large and attentative congregations at the Baptist church, Sunday.

The dance in the Town Hall, Friday night, was attended by the largest crowd ever in the hall. A very enjoyable time was had by all.

Misses Maggie Clarkson, Bertha Newman, Edythe Feldhaus, and Messrs. Joe Wilson and Geo. Clarkson spent Sunday with Grace Beemon.

Mrs. Lida M. Conner spent last Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Cincinnati, with her sister Mrs. Estelle Winter, who is being treated for a badly wrenched knee.

One of the enjoyable events of the season was the "Pie Social" given by Mrs. Henry Afterkirk, Saturday night, at her inspitable home in the Richwood neighborhood.

Mrs. Elizabeth Huey's former Sunday school pupils and a number of her intimate friends gave her a royal surprise, Thursday, the 4th inst., the occasion being in honor of her 80th birth day. An elegant dinner was enjoyed by the following guests: Mesdames Josie Allen, Anna Ryle, Katie Huey, Ettie Clements, Nannie Stephens, Emma Marshall, Fannie Adams, Wm. McMullen, Maud Sachwell, Mollie Huey, Misses Janette Huey, Myrtle Presser, and Messrs. Wm. McMillan, J. P. Johnson, G. L. Smith, James Allen, R. L. Huey and N. H. Clements.

The pupils of Prof. A. Limburg will give a concert at Senior's hall, Union, on Saturday, November 20, 1909. The pupils to the number of about a dozen, constituting some of the best musicians in this section, will render an excellent program, consisting of piano, violin and vocal music, and they will be assisted by the choir of the Big Bone Methodist church, which will render some choice selections. Come everybody and enjoy a pleasant evening. Doors open at 7 o'clock. Curtain rises at 7:30. Admission, 25 cents.

DEVON.

Brother Baker was the guest of Ben Wayman and family, Sunday.

Ernest Groger entertained with a dance, the young folks, Saturday night.

Cove Carpenter and family were guests of Ben Cleek, of Kensington, last Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah Percival, of Walton, was the guest, Tuesday, of Cove Carpenter and family.

We learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Michael Cary, which occurred last Saturday.

Harry Rivard and family, of Covington, were guests of his parents at this place, Sunday.

Miss Mary Sandford, who is teaching our school, is progressing nicely, having enrolled 46 pupils.

Mrs. Sarah Rector will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Ben Cleek, of Kensington, for a fortnight.

Miss Emma Rivard returned home, Thursday evening, from Covington, where she had a delightful visit.

Will Brown, of Covington, came out Saturday, and was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Groger, until Sunday evening.

Miss Mary Carpenter, who has been the guests of relatives in Lexington, for the past few months, returned home, Saturday.

Ben Surface and wife entertained with a family dinner at his home, Sunday. All her brothers and sisters were present excepting Mrs. Smith, who is sick.

Emile Rivard left, Monday morning, for Covington, where he will follow the practice of law. He will be in the office of Senator-elect Arnett. We wish him success.

One of the events of interest for this week will be the marriage of Miss Agnes Maher, of near this place, to Mr. Edward Lawler, of Norwood, Ohio. Mr. Lawler is a successful business man, and the bride is quite a favorite with all who know her. The marriage will be a church affair, Wednesday, Nov. 10th, at St. Cecilia Church, Independence. The happy couple, after a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride, will leave for Norwood, where the groom has a handsomely furnished home for his bride.

KIDVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. George Darby gave the young folks a dance Thursday night. All reported a good time.

Miss Eva Clutterbuck has returned home after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. Hal Highhouse, of Ludlow.

J. A. Tanner and wife entertained Sunday Spencer Tanner and family, Roy Tanner and family, B. H. Tanner and family, Mrs. Frances Tanner, Carl Clutterbuck and wife, Ira Walton and wife and Mrs. Fannie Clutterbuck.

PETERSBURG.

Mrs. Stanley Crouch is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster, at Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Rogers, of Belleview, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Arnold.

Joe Allen, off the Str. Kentucky, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jarrell and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ruth.

Miss Henrietta Geisler attended a Hallowe'en dance, Monday evening, at Aurora, Ind.

Miss Hazel Vesenmire is visiting the Misses Black up near the Lawrenceburg ferry.

Mrs. Steve McWethy and Mrs. Jas. Loder visited Mrs. Will Conway in Aurora, Ind., recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., are visiting at Hon. J. W. Berkshire's.

Chas. Gordon, of Frankfort, spent several days at home, last week, with his parents, M. L. Gordon and wife.

Misses Katie Drake and Mildred Yerkes and Harry Drake and Joe Hurd enjoyed a launch ride to Aurora, Ind., Saturday evening.

The meeting being conducted by Revs. Carter and Atkinson at the Christian church, is progressing nicely, and several new members have been added to the church. The sermons are fine, and all who can should attend.

Death, which knows no waking, has again come into the home of Mrs. Martha McNeely, taking her youngest son, Capt. Lynn Boyd McNeely, aged 55 years. Death is always sad and the separation that it brings must cause a pang to loved ones. Capt. McNeely died Oct. 31st, 1909, at his home in New Orleans, and by his death the state of Louisiana loses one of her bravest river men. Capt. McNeely was raised on the river, having been on the boats from early boyhood with his father, Capt. Perry McNeely. Pneumonia developed during a recent storm was the cause of his death. He leaves a wife, his aged mother, five sisters and two brothers, to mourn his death. Capt. McNeely would go out with his boat at any time during storms and wind to rescue his fellowmen and has saved many lives.

MIDWAY.

Small grain is looking fine in this section.

Farmers are very busy gathering corn and hunting some place to put it.

R. J. Maddin is giving his residence the benefit of a new coat of paint.

John Moore sustained a very painful injury last Friday by running a nail in his foot.

Wm. Gilpin sold 500 bushels of corn, 250 to Scott Chambers and 250 to John Taylor at 55 cents per bushel.

John Cleek shipped 60 hogs to the Cincinnati market, last week, for which he received 8 cents per pound straight.

Mesdames Joe W. Cleek, G. A. Slayback, W. O. Johnson and J. S. Noel went to Landing creek, last Wednesday, to witness the ordinance of baptism conferred upon the nine converts of the recent protracted meeting held at Big Bone Baptist church by Rev. Jenkins.

Miss Rena Calhoun, a charming young lady of Owensboro, who has been the pleasant guest of Miss Anna Cleek the past month, left for her home last week. On the evening of October 5th Miss Cleek gave a reception in honor of Miss Calhoun, and at later dates she was delightfully entertained by Mesdames G. A. Slayback, G. W. Ossman, G. O. Cleek, Misses Emma Cleek and Emily Hughes.

PT. PLEASANT.

J. S. Tanner and family were Sunday guests of Mr. Angus Tanner.

Mrs. Mary Robinson will go to Illinois this week to visit relatives.

The Teachers' meeting at Constance was well attended and well entertained.

A box social will be given at Edgar Souther's Saturday night, Nov. 13th. Proceeds to go in the building fund.

The Pt. Pleasant Country Club has been organized with the following officers: Mort Kenyon, president; J. Wood Riggs, vice-president, Keene Souther, secretary, and Virgie Riggs, treasurer. The club will meet twice a month. Arrangements have been made for starting a library.

FRANCESVILLE.

Charles Beall and son are doing the carpenter's work on his house.

Mrs. Laura Aylor was one of the guests at Jeff Cloud's, on Thursday.

Mrs. Lena Reitman entertained her friend, Mrs. George Bradford, on Friday.

Mr. Ben Eggleston moved, Friday, to the place he bought of his son, John, near Francesville.

Dr. Omer Henry, wife and daughter were guests of his father and family from Thursday until Saturday.

Last Sunday October 31st, the sign was in the heel, and everybody went some where or entertained somebody.

In Memory

Of John J. Tanner, who departed from this life October 6th, 1909.

Call not back the dear departed, anchored safe where storms are o'er. On the border land we left him, soon to meet and part no more, when we leave this world of changes—when we leave this world of care, we shall find our missing loved one in our Father's mansion fair.

THE FAMILY.

Green's Whatnot Table will make you happy.

IDLEWILD.

A good face is the best letter of recommendation.

The protracted meeting at Bullittsburg closed last Sunday night.

Rev. Brooks and wife were transacting business in Cincinnati, Saturday of last week.

The sisters of the Bullittsburg church held a sewing circle at Rev. Brook's, Tuesday.

Mrs. James Kinney and little son, of Lawrenceburg, returned home Sunday after a weeks' visit with her brothers, the Corcoran boys.

B. C. Graddy says he has the best corn this year he ever raised. Had 800 bushels on a little over 12 acres, an average of nearly 70 bushels per acre.

Mrs. Charles Crisler, of Ludlow; Mrs. Jennie Phelps and Mrs. Anna L. Bailey, of Lexington, this State, were guests of Courtnay Walton and wife, Tuesday and that night and will visit among other acquaintances during the week.

One of our mothers said to her little daughter, "why don't you keep quiet like brother? See how quiet he is." "He's got to keep quiet the way we are playin'. We are playin' housekeeping, and his papa came home late, and I'm you," said the daughter.

Rev. Bradley passed thru Thursday evening and reported that the protracted meeting at Taylorsport closed Sunday night, with 7 conversions and three reclaimed, and a much kinder and christian spirit existing among the brethren.

Instead of Mr. Cropper remodeling his icehouse, as we stated some time since, he built it new. Nelson Empire razed the old building to the ground and built a concrete foundation. Mr. Hossman, of Hebron, did the carpenter's work. I suppose the room above ground will be used as a storage room. Mr. Cropper never has things done by halves.

GASSBURG.

Ezra Aylor is feeding 86 hogs for market.

Wheat has made a rapid growth and is looking extra fine.

We had splendid Indian summer last week without any Indians.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Gibb is seriously ill of pneumonia.

Your reporter has about three hundred bushels of extra fine white corn for sale at the market price.

Corn gathering is proceeding rapidly. Some report fine yields and good quality while others report only moderate crops.

Abe Epstein has kept a clothing store in Aurora for 50 years, and Al Bloom has kept a grocery in the same place for 51 years.

If any Thanksgiving and Xmas turkeys are eaten here, they will have to be bought from some other place, as there is not one here.

The recent city election in Aurora was the most bitterly contested of any for many years. The Democrats won out by majorities ranging from 50 to 225, with one exception.

RICHWOOD.

Carey Carpenter is improving.

James Carpenter is able to be out again.

Walter Grubbs has a barrel of pure cider vinegar for sale.

Maines, the sawmill man, is hauling logs from O. F. Glacken's.

Cove Carpenter and family were Sunday guests at Ben Cleek's.

Wm. Carpenter and family were Sunday guests at Wood Carpenter's.

Miss Mary Carpenter has returned from a visit with friends at Lexington.

Jerry Griffith and sister, Mrs. L. Jackson, enjoyed an auto ride last Sunday.

Gaines Robinson had a big railroad fire in his pasture a few days since.

Geo. Rice and family, of Walton, were guests at Thomas Rice's Saturday and Sunday.

J. Wood Carpenter and Cary Carpenter and their families, Walter Robinson and Miss Beulah Surface were Sunday guests at J. T. Powers'.

Mrs. Susie Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Moffett, of Indianapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephens, of Nicholson, were guests at Theo. Carpenter's, Sunday.

James Dobbins and wife, D. B. Dobbins, Mrs. Hammond, Miss Lillie Hammons, Mrs. Northcutt, and Mr. and Mrs. Cummins, were Sunday guests at Will Dobbins'.

M. L. Tanner and family, of Union, M. Grubbs, Will Woodward and family, of Devon, and Walter Grubbs and family, were Sunday guests at Theo. Carpenter's.

Kills Her Foe of 20 Years.

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Me., "was Dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up. I tried Electric Bitters which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am overjoyed to get my health and strength back again." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Kidney Trouble, Lame Back, Female Complaints, its unequaled. Only 50c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Through the kindness of Dr. C. A. L. Reed, of Cincinnati, Dr. Peddicord has been appointed a member of the Auxiliary Legislative Committee of the American Medical Association.

R. W. Clark will have public sale, Saturday, December 18th. tf

Personal Mention.

Mrs. James L. Clore and children moved to Ludlow, last week.

Fred Pfalzgraf, of Idlewild was a caller at this office last press day.

James Loder, of Petersburg, was a caller at this office one day last week.

Dr. Blackerby, of Erlanger, was the guest of Dr. F. L. Peddicord, Monday.

B. L. Rice, of Union, was a pleasant caller at this office, one day last week.

E. K. Tanner, of Gunpowder, was transacting business in Burlington last Monday.

Malchus Souther, of Pt. Pleasant, was among the visitors to Burlington, yesterday.

R. Lee Huey, of Big Bone neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington, Monday.

Jesse Kirkpatrick and Jack Eddins were Sunday guests of Calvert Kirkpatrick at Bromley.

Mrs. W. L. Riddell spent a few days the past week with relatives in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Born, on the morning of Monday, the 8th inst., a 10 pound daughter to Elbert Clore and wife.

The popular postmistress, Miss Olga Kirkpatrick, was in Cincinnati, shopping, last Thursday.

County Attorney N. E. Riddell and wife were Sunday guests at R. B. Huey's, near Commissary.

James M. Utz, of Limaburg, remembered the Recorder with some nice sweet potatoes, last week.

I. L. Rich, of Gum Branch, Big Bone neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington last Thursday.

John Kinney and William Hall, of the Idlewild neighborhood made this office a pleasant call a few days since.

Dr. L. E. Rouse and wife, of Ludlow, were guests of Mrs J. E Gaines last Sunday. Mrs. Gaines is Mrs. Rouse's aunt.

F. A. Hall and wife and Miss Mary A. Thompson and Mrs. Kate Ashburn, dined with Sam Hall and wife, Sunday.

Joe W. Cleek, a prosperous farmer of Beaver neighborhood, was among the callers at this office on Wednesday, of last week.

C. E. Clore, of Hebron, was a caller at this office, Monday. He always makes the lead heavers glad that he called on them.

John Kelsay, the Hebron knight of the paint brush, called at this office, Monday, and gladdened the heart of the poor printers.

Wm. Arnold and Pepper Smith of Bellevue, were transacting business in Burlington, one day last week, and called at this office.

Messrs. C. B. Mason and J. W. Cunningham, of Landing, were among those from a distance transacting business in Burlington last Monday.

Howard Huey, of Commissary neighborhood, remembered this office, one day last week with a sack of nice pears. He understands that local lead heavers have to eat.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W Gaines, who resides out on the Florence pike, entertained quite a number of young people, last Saturday night, from 7 to 10:30 p. m. in honor of their son, Robert.

John C. Byland, of Walton, was in Burlington last Thursday looking after some legal business in which he is interested. Mr. Byland has many friends in this part of the county.

L. H. Busby, the disciple of Vulcan was in Burlington last Friday. He does not come this way often, and is always in a hurry to get back to his shop, where a big run of patronage demands his presence all the time.

Sheriff M. F. Wingate, of Petersburg, was in Burlington, Thursday of last week assisting to count the vote cast in the election held on the 2nd inst. His visits to the county seat are few and far between.

Col. B. F. Norman, of Gunpowder one of the Recorder's staunchest friends, was transacting business in Burlington last Friday. He was accompanied by his son, Clifford. Mr. Norman is a thorough believer in the efficacy of the Recorder as an advertising medium, as when he plants an ad. therein he always gets results.

J. C. Hughes, of Richwood, president of the board of control, and a member of the county board of election commissioners, was in Burlington last Thursday, assisting to count the vote cast at the election on the Tuesday before. Mr. Hughes was anxious to get to Lexington that night to attend a big banquet the board of trade gave the Burley Tobacco Company

W. T. S. Blackburn, of Dry Ridge Grant county, was granted a franchise, by the Boone Fiscal Court, last Monday, for building a traction road through the county. The franchise is not exclusive. Mr. Blackburn stated to the court that all he can do is to get matters in a shape to interest eastern capitalists who have the money to invest, so soon as they are satisfied that the road will be a success.

Hear that the following young couples in Hebron neighborhood will be united in marriage to-day:

Verner Tupman and Miss Georgia McGlasson.

Chester Aylor and Miss Artie Tanner.

Lewis Riddell and Miss Iva Aylor.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed Into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Elwood Worcester of Boston, founder of the Emmanuel healing movement, declares the movement has grown to such an extent and so many ministers are interested that a college at which the teaching of Emmanuel methods shall be the principal feature of the curriculum is demanded.

Dr. Jennie McCowen, president of the Iowa Conference of Charities and Correction, called to order the eleventh annual meeting of that organization in Davenport.

Jose R. Capablanca, the 21-year-old Cuban chess expert, has played 29 opponents simultaneously at New York, defeating 26, losing one game and drawing two.

Samuel Untermeyer, the well-known New York lawyer, has been awarded the prize by the Horticultural society for a chrysanthemum plant 30 feet in circumference and bearing more than 1,000 large and perfect blooms.

Rev. John R. Pratt, pastor of the First Congregational church of Verona, N. J. has been elected mayor of the borough, because no one would run against him, and he is now the busiest man in Verona.

Mrs. Raymond Robins, who is in New York to welcome Mrs. Pankhurst, the English suffragette, said western factory girls are superior physically to those of the east.

Congressman Aiken of South Carolina says he will introduce a bill in the next congress for prohibition in the District of Columbia.

De Witt Clinton Duncan, the well-known Cherokee writer and statesman, is dead at his home in Vinita, Okla., at the age of 75 years. Mr. Duncan wrote many notable articles on Cherokee affairs and poems under the Indian name of "Too-Qua-Stee."

GENERAL NEWS.

Seth Low, former mayor of New York, refused to discuss a report that he was to succeed Whitelaw Reid as ambassador to Great Britain.

William Dobson, cashier of the Canadian Express Company at Niagara Falls, was sandbagged while alone in the company's office at the Grand Trunk station and a package containing $14,156 taken from him by two unknown men in broad daylight.

The British house of commons has passed the third reading of the finance bill by a vote of 379 to 149, the government's majority being much larger than had been anticipated.

A terrific battle between the revolutionists and the Nicaraguan government forces has been fought and the rebels are in possession of Las Lajas, near Los Chiles. Many are reported to have fallen on both sides, Maxim guns being used with terrible effect.

Martin Kaufmann of New York is under arrest at Berlin on the charge of frauds amounting to $107,000 in connection with the Cotton Goods Converter's Company of New York. He was for many years considered one of the most worthy business men of New York.

The twenty-fifth annual national horse show opened in Madison Square garden, New York, with a remarkable display of western draft horses among the exhibits.

It is said that Speaker Cannon is making an effort to purchase the franchise of the South Bend (Ind.) baseball club of the Central league and then transfer it to Danville, Ill., his home.

Twelve miners were killed by a gas explosion in the Cambria Steel Company's coal mine near Johnstown, Pa. All were foreigners.

Judge Marvin of the probate court at Hartford, Conn., announced that he would appoint a conservator for Mrs. Lucinda Treat Goddard, the 70-year-old bride of Charles R. Goddard, a Yale student, who hut recently reached his twenty-first birthday.

Leonard Dunmore, a negro, was burned to death by a mob at Knoxville, Miss., and his daughter, who attempted to render him aid, was shot and fatally wounded. The black man was charged with arson.

Jesse James, Jr., son of the bandit and now living in Kansas City, Mo., has been made defendant in a divorce suit. Mrs. James alleges indignities and declares that her husband has developed a habit of staying out late at night and refusing to tell her where he has been.

An antitoxin administered to Albert Pierce, a snake charmer, after he was bitten by a big "rattler" in a New York museum, saved the man's life.

Alva Coan, aged 17, has confessed that he choked Alexander Hoenig to death two years ago at Freeland while he was attempting to rob the latter.

Problems of city management and betterment were taken up by the American Society of Municipal Improvements which began its sixteenth annual meeting in Little Rock, Ark., James Owen of Montclair, N. J., presiding.

The Central Conference of American Rabbis began an eight days' session in New York. Rabbi David Philipson of Cincinnati is president.

United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, addressing the Marquette club of Chicago, vigorously defended himself and the other "insurgent" senators against the attacks of Speaker Cannon.

The Chicago police are searching for E. J. Goshorn, a prominent business men of Charleston, W. Va., who disappeared from his home on October 20 with about $30,000 in his possession. On the day he vanished Goshorn wrote letters to his wife and several confidential acquaintances stating that he had left home never to return.

Theft of a mail pouch, which it is estimated contained between $25,000 and $50,000 in express and post office orders, was revealed through the cashing of several of the stolen orders in Chicago. The rifled bag was discovered by a farmer boy in a cornfield near Tolono, Ill. Scores of secret service men and post office inspectors are searching for the robbers.

Government troops defeated the Nicaraguan revolutionists in a sharp engagement. Many of Gen. Estrada's followers were killed, wounded or captured. The government lost 15 men, including Gen. Castillo Chammoro.

John Stewart Kennedy, one of America's little-known rich men, who recently died of whooping cough in his New York residence, left bequests of more than $25,000,000 to 60 religious, charitable and educational institutions in his will. The gift is the largest single contribution of its kind ever made.

Former President Roosevelt has lost his record as the highest paid author. For the narrative of his hunt in Africa it is generally understood he is to receive a dollar a word, but a comparatively new magazine announces it has contracted to pay Commander Robert E. Peary $1.20 a word for a north pole story of about 50,000 words.

Following the donation of $1,000,000 by John D. Rockefeller to be used in fighting the hook worm disease in the south, Washington officials have received information that two other $1,000,000 donations are likely to be forthcoming very soon—one from Mrs. Russell Sage, to be used in extending the work for the eradication of tuberculosis, the other from Andrew Carnegie, for fighting pellagra.

Jesse James, Jr., son of the famous bandit, now living in Kansas City, has been sued by his wife for divorce. The couple were married in 1900, a few months after James had been acquitted on a charge of robbing a Missouri Pacific train.

Cholera has invaded the German side of the Russian border and the consular agent at Koenigsburg has reported to the state department at Washington 22 cases, including seven deaths, so far.

Mount Vernon, one of New York city's largest suburbs, has adopted the "Des Moines plan" and it will be the first city in New York state to try the commission plan, including the "recall."

Twenty-two persons were killed and 34 seriously injured by automobiles and horse-driven trucks in New York city during October. This is twice as many as in any other month and forms the largest list of casualties resulting from such accidents of any city in the country for the same time.

All of the original "V. D. B." Lincoln pennies, which aroused such wide interest because of the prominence of Designer Brenner's initials on them and the subsequent change in dies to make the initials less conspicuous, have passed entirely into the public's hands.

Because he spanked a 12-year-old schoolboy with a shingle, Timothy Tripp, a district schoolmaster in the town of Greene, N. Y., was found guilty of assault and sentenced to pay a fine of $20 or serve 20 days in the county jail.

The National Geographic society at Washington has accepted Commander Robert E. Peary's evidence that he reached the north pole, and presented him with a gold medal for accomplishing his achievement.

Attorney Stephen G. Porter filed an appeal in the superior court of Pennsylvania at Pittsburg in behalf of Helen Hoyle, asking for a reversal of her sentence of 25 years to the Western penitentiary, inflicted in Mercer recently, after she was convicted of complicity in the kidnaping of Billy Whitla, the son of Attorney James Whitla of Sharon, Pa.

In the Steinheil trial at Paris, a wild scene of disorder was created when a man giving the name of Lefevre arose and loudly proclaimed that he was the slayer of M. Steinheil and Mme. Japy for whose murder the widow of the former is being tried. Not much credence is placed in the man's confession.

President Taft received a joyous welcome in Columbus, Miss., when he went to visit the birthplace of Secretary of War Dickinson and brother, the secretary with him.

George Baker, recently appointed corresponding secretary to Gov. Marshall of Indiana, committed suicide at Goshen, Ind., by poisoning because a young lady refused to marry him.

Arrangements are being made by the United States with foreign countries by which diplomatic mail will be put in special pouches, thus avoiding the individual handling en route of ordinary mail.

RAZIS THE JEW

Story of the Man Who was Called the Father of the Jews

BY THE "HIGHWAY AND BYWAY" PREACHER

(Copyright, 1908, by the Author, W. S. Sloan.)

Based on the Second Book of Maccabees, chapter 14.

SERMONETTE.

"Razis, one of the elders of Jerusalem, a lover of his countryman, and a man of very good report, who for his kindness was called a father of the Jews."

What a record of a life to leave behind!

Nearly 3,000 years ago this record was made and it still endures as an inspiration and guide to others.

"The good which men do lives after them," is the way an old adage should read, and who can measure all that this means.

It means an upper current set in motion which ceases not in its flow toward God.

Think of it!

How important then is this matter of building the record of a life.

A man cannot live selfishly and build a record for the uplift of his fellow man; neither can he live impurely, or dishonestly, carelessly or indifferently and have his life count for good.

Every footprint planted on the roadway of life must have the toemark nearest to the rising sun of better things.

It is not what a men gets from the world but what he gives to the world that measures and weighs that life.

Jesus said:

"A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things he possesseth."

And again:

"Whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever will lose his life for my seke, the same shall save it."

It is more than the golden rule. It is more than mere doing as you would like to be done by. It is the giving of self, irrespective of what is given to you in return.

It means catching a vision of a larger destiny than is spanned by the mere few short years of life.

Life is only begun here. Influences never die.

How important, then, that the purpose of a life be up instead of down. How sad is the fact that the world is marred and scarred by thoughtless, indifferent, selfish living.

The world should always be the better, not the worse, for a man having lived in it. This is not an obligation of choice but of duty. Each man needs and may be a "father of his country," in small or large degree.

THE STORY.

"IF YE will not deliver me Judas Maccabeus as a prisoner, I will lay this temple of God even with the ground, and I will break down the altar, and erect a notable temple unto Bacchus."

Nicanor thundered the words so all in that vast assemblage before the temple could hear. That was a dramatic and tense scene, as the great general standing above the heads of the multitude stretched forth his hand toward the temple and delivered his awful threat. Back of Nicanor and to his right and left stood the soldiers of his army, and filling all the space before him was the multitude of the Jews who had been drawn together when it was noised abroad in the city that Nicanor had come and was marching against the temple.

"Judas or the Temple," again shouted Nicanor, with rising passion, as he noted the unresponsive looks on the faces of the Jews before him.

"Judas or the Temple?" questioned Razis, one of the elders of the Jews, as he moved about among the people to encourage them. "It shall be neither, for God will protect his temple and will give Judas our deliverer the victory."

"What is that you say?" sharply demanded a voice at Razis' elbow. The latter had worked his way through the crowd, and without realizing it, had reached the line close to Nicanor's soldiers. One of the latter had stepped within the group of Jews Razis was addressing in a low tone, and as he ceased speaking the soldier spoke up, demanding to know what he had said.

Startled by the voice Razis fell back and the Jews realizing his peril closed in after him before the soldier could lay hands upon him, and he was lost to view in the surging multitude.

"Tell me who that was," demanded the soldier, "or else every one of you will feel the strong hand of Nicanor. Razis, you say," the soldier repeated, as several voices in the group spoke the name. And he then turned and made his way back into the ranks of the soldiers.

Late that afternoon a group of priests were making their way towards the temple. The multitude had long since dispersed and Nicanor and his army had withdrawn to their camp.

"Did you know," spoke one of the group, "that a price had been placed upon Razis' head? Nicanor has demanded that he be taken and delivered unto him."

"Razis," exclaimed another, in response, "God help us when we lose him. There is no man in Jerusalem who has done so much for his city. He is a veritable father of the Jews and a worthy son of Abraham."

Thus talking they passed on into the temple.

"None can save the temple and Razis and Judas, but God. We must pray," they said, and in response to the appeal the high priest lifted up his hands toward heaven and prayed, saying:

"Thou, O Lord of all things, who hast need of nothing, wae pleased that the temple of thine habitation should be among us. Therefore, now, O Holy Lord of All Holiness, keep this house ever undefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stop every unrighteous mouth."

And when the prayer had ended and the ceremonies had all been performed, the priests withdrew to one of the upper rooms to take counsel how they might deliver Razis from the hands of Nicanor.

"He will never suffer himself to be taken alive," one of them exclaimed.

"No, but how will he ever make his escape from the city? Every gate is guarded and every road filled with soldiers."

"Yea, and even now there are soldiers scouring the city seeking his hiding place."

"Cannot we hide him in the temple," exclaimed one, with sudden inspiration.

"Yea, we might," responded another of the group, "but Razis will not come. I plead with him that he make the temple his refuge, but he would not, saying that it would only invite disaster upon God's house. He would rather suffer ten thousand deaths than bring defilement or misfortune upon the holy temple."

"Ah, he is a good and holy man," fervidly rejoined the high priest. "I have known the manner of his life from his youth up, and always he has been a succorer of his people."

"Yes, that I well know," spoke up one of the younger of the group. "Did he not minister to the widow and the fatherless when my mother was left alone years ago, and was it not owing to his encouragement and help that I was able and willing to follow the priestly office even as my father desired, and as was befitting one of the tribe of Aaron."

"A noble life indeed he has lived," exclaimed another. "His name is worthy a place among the heroes of a nation. Nicanor may be able to take his life, but he can never destroy the influence of that life. He may kill the body but the spirit and devotion of Razis will continue to go on to lead the Jews toward God."

"Well spoken," heartily responded the members of the group, in unison. "Nicanor can rob us of Razis, but not the memory of his life. May God deliver him, but if not, his will be done."

The tread of soldier feet sounded through the streets of Jerusalem that evening as 500 picked men of Nicanor's army entered the city and marched toward the tower where it was reported that Razis had taken shelter.

"Deliver Razis into our hands or we will raze the tower and burn it with fire," demanded the captain of the soldiers.

But only an ominous silence followed the request.

"Men, you know your duty. Charge the tower."

The great battering ram thundered against the heavy door, and fairly shook the strong tower. Again and again it crashed into the shattered, shivering wood and the door crushed and broken from its fastenings, fell in.

"Now, men, take him alive. Gold and plenty of it, to the man who delivers Razis into the hands of Nicanor, alive," shouted the captain.

The doorway was instantly choked with the burly forms of the soldiers, with swords uplifted, ready to strike if need be, but eager to get the man alive.

"There he is," cried one of the soldiers, pointing upward toward the stairway whence Razis stood on the landing, and instantly a dozen men sprang forward.

Razis, with sword uplifted, held the men at bay just an instant, then quick as a flash he lowered his weapon and placing the hilt on the stair before him, he fell forward. An angry howl rose in hoarse chorus from the disappointed men.

"He has killed himself," they shouted, crowding up the stairway.

But Razis, who had chosen rather to die manfully, than to come into the hands of the wicked Nicanor, and suffer abuse illbefitting his noble birth, in his haste missed his stroke and the sword passed harmlessly through his cloak. He had no time to recover his sword now, so leaping up he sprang boldly up to the top of the outer wall and cast himself down upon the throng of soldiers below, and they divining his purpose, sprang back. Blood gushed like a fountain from his broken body as it crashed upon the pavement, but in spite of his wound, Razis sprang up, and rushing through the midst of the throng he threw himself over the adjacent precipice, with his dying breath calling upon the Lord to receive him and deliver his people.

Now for more domestic disturbances in society. An organization of wealthy Chicago women has been formed to train their daughters for matrimony by teaching them how to cook.

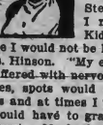
DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION.

Quickly Cures Rheumatic Pains, Also Splendid System Builder.

Go to any good prescription druggist and get the following and mix them: If he does not have these ingredients he will get them from his wholesale house.

One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla, and one ounce Teris compound. Add these to a half pint of first-class whiskey, and use a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed time. The bottle must be well shaken each time. This simple remedy is one of the most effective known. The restorative action will be felt after the first few doses.

JUST SO.



"Your majesty, there's a creditor without."

"Let him go without."

NEW STRENGTH FOR WOMEN'S BACKS.

How to Make a Bed Back Better.

Women who suffer with backache, bearing down pains, dizzy spells and that constant feeling of dullness and tiredness, will find hope in the advice of Mrs. Mary Hinson of 21 Strother St., Mt. Sterling, Ky. "Had I not used Doan's Kidney Pills, I believe I would not be living today," says Mrs. Hinson. "My eyesight was poor. I suffered with nervous, splitting headaches, spots would dance before my eyes and at times I would be so dizzy I would have to grasp something for support. My back was so weak and painful I could hardly bend over to button my shoes and could not get around without suffering severely. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first, and I continued until practically well again."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Remarkable Trimming.

"Jimmy," said the pretty actress to her actor husband, "won't you run down to the milliner's and get me the hat I ordered?"

"Sure I won't make a mistake?" queried Jimmy, somewhat dubiously, with a caution born of an utter ignorance of millinery.

"Oh, you won't," laughed the spouse. "My hat is the white beaver trimmed with orchids. You can remember that."

Gamely he went to his doom. Entering the millinery shop, he asked, valiantly; "Is my wife's hat ready? I mean the white biffer, trimmed with oh-you-kids."

And the French girls in the shop made funny Parisian giggles at him.

Relics of the Stone Age.

During excavations conducted near Willendorf, on the Danube, by the prehistoric section of the Austrian Natural History museum, a chalk figurine, 11 centimeters high, has been discovered in a stratum containing instruments and weapons characteristic of the stone age. The figurine shows traces of having been painted and represents a female figure with remarkable precision of artistic execution.

Refuted.

"Just think of it! One person in every 37 in England is a pauper!"

"Why, John," she returned, "it isn't so. I met more than 37 people in London last summer, and there wasn't a pauper in the lot!"

SOME HARD KNOCKS
Woman Gets Rid of "Coffee Heart."

The injurious action of Coffee on the heart of many persons is well known by physicians to be caused by caffeine. This is the drug found by chemists in coffee and tea.

A woman suffered a long time with severe heart trouble and finally her doctor told her she must give up coffee, as that was the principal cause of the trouble. She writes:

"My heart was so weak it could not do its work properly. My husband would sometimes have to carry me from the table, and it would seem that I would never breathe again.

"The doctor told me that coffee was causing the weakness of my heart. He said I must stop it, but it seemed I could not give it up until I was down in bed with nervous prostration.

"For eleven weeks I lay there and suffered. Finally Husband brought home some Postum and I quit coffee and started new and right. Slowly I got well. Now I do not have any headaches, nor those spells with weak heart. We know it is Postum that helped me. The Dr. said the other day, 'I never thought you would be what you are.' I used to weigh 92 pounds and now I weigh 156.

"Postum has done much for me and I would not go back to coffee again for any money, for I believe it would kill me if I kept at it. Postum must be well boiled according to directions on pkg., then it has a rich flavour and with cream is fine."

Read "The Road to Wellville," found in pkgs. "Postum is Healthy."

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections
Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. G. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 3020. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000
Surplus,.....$5,000
Careful attention given collections and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building.
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged. Money to Loan on Real Estate. Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
WITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, Ky.
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., Florence, Ky.
R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, Ky.
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
M. POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
Office Over Bank. Free

Interesting Kentucky News

Receiver for Burley Society Applied for by Growers Who Pooled Their Tobacco—They Charge that Receipts from Former Crops Are Being Used on This Year's Pool.

Lexington, Ky.—A petition, signed by Dr. G. W. McMillan, of Butler, and 33 other Kentucky tobacco growers, praying that a receiver be appointed for the Burley Tobacco Society, was filed in the Fayette circuit court by Attorneys L. F. Applegate and E. S. Clark, and a hearing of the case was set for November 15. President Clarence Lebus, Secretary G. A. Brooks and J. M. Rankin, treasurer of the Burley Tobacco Society, the Clark County National bank, the Citizens' National bank and the People's National bank of Winchester are made co-defendants with the Burley Tobacco Society. The plaintiffs allege that the Burley Tobacco Society, without authority, has retained out of the proceeds from the sale of the pooled tobacco crops of 1906 and 1907 over $300,000; that a portion of the crops sold for those two years belonged to the plaintiffs; that the Burley Tobacco Society in retaining this money has deprived them of their full share from the sale of their tobacco. It is further charged that the Burley Tobacco Society has spent and is spending for the expenses of the pooling of the 1909 crop and in the maintenance of offices money from this fund; that the officers of the society are holding the books from the owners of the tobacco that was sold, and that the banks are illegally paying out money on warrants issued by the officers. The plaintiffs further allege that all purposes for which the pool of the 1906 and 1907 crops was organized have been completed; that the plaintiffs are entitled to have an accounting and a distribution of the proceeds of the sales; that the defendants have failed to do so, and that the funds will be lost unless a receiver is appointed to take charge of the affairs of the company, audit the accounts and pay over to the plaintiffs the proceeds remaining from the pool, if there be any.

SHOT UP THE TOWN.

Citizens of Jackson, in the Course of an Hour, Fire 2,000 Shots.

Jackson, Ky.—Hundreds of Breathitt county mountaineers poured into this city after the departure of several companies of the troops, and celebrated the democratic victory by shooting out the street lights and discharging their revolvers and rifles. Fully a thousand rounds of cartridges were shot off by the happy men as a tribute to the successful candidates.

Bullets flew thick and fast in the main streets, and it was past midnight before the "whoopees" of the men died away on the roads leading to the hills.

Republicans in general were absent after the mountain factions reached the city. Cyclone cellars were hastily sought, and doors and windows barred. Guns were unlimbered and gotten ready for action, but at last accounts the jubilant democrats had confined their efforts to shooting at inanimate objects.

It was all unexpected, and the sheriff had discharged most of the deputies sworn in for service at the polls. The few authorities left decided not to monkey with the pleasant-spirited county men, and humored them in their celebration efforts.

Troops quartered near the city were ready to take a hand at the first sign of serious conflict.

Breathitt county was carried by the democrats and the following ticket was elected by plurality indicated: Redwine over Adams, for circuit judge, 490; Johnson over Kash, for commonwealth's attorney, 426; Hagins over Hurst, for county judge, 403; Russell over Johnson, for county clerk, 508.

Capt. J. R. Sams, of the Lexington company, reported that on their way to Crockettsville the soldiers were fired upon by a band of men across the Kentucky river. They returned the fire and the detail caught one man, who, when found unarmed, was released.

An interesting feature of the situation was the admission by John Blanton that it was he, and not his brother, Tilden, who killed Demosthenes Noble at the Spring Fork precinct polls during the election. John was arrested at once.

It is stated that $30,000 was spent in Breathitt county by the republican and democratic committees during the campaign just closed.

Judge Redwine declared that he would exterminate the "blind tiger" in Breathitt.

Louisville, Ky.—Sister Mary Anita, a nurse at St. Joseph's infirmary, rendered helpless by a stroke of apoplexy, fell downstairs at the institution and sustained injuries from which she died three hours later. She was a member of a well-known Owensboro family.

Frankfort, Ky.—The late Senator William Lindsay divided his estate equally between his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Holmes Lindsay, and his daughter, Mrs. Marion Lindsay Sayre, of Cincinnati. The will was filed in the Franklin county [illegible]

DEMOCRATS HAVE BIG MAJORITY.

How the Senate Stands.

District.	District.
First—E. M. Taylor, D.	Twenty-first—J. A. Donaldson, D.
Second—W. V. Eaton, D.	Twenty-second—B. M. Arnett, D.
Third—Coan Linn, D.	Twenty-third—R. B. Brown, D.
Fourth—J. R. Catlett, D.	Twenty-fourth—L. W. Arnett, D.
Fifth—J. J. Watkins, D.	Twenty-fifth—W. F. Donelson, D.
Sixth—R. M. Salomon, D.	Twenty-sixth—N. B. Chipman, D.
Seventh—J. W. Wright, R.	Twenty-seventh—Thos. A. Combs, D.
Eighth—T. J. Tichenor, D.	Twenty-eighth—C. M. Thomas, D.
Ninth—G. T. Wyatt, D.	Twenty-ninth—A. R. Burnham, R.
Tenth—A. Brown, D.	Thirtieth—C. H. Mathers, D.
Eleventh—A. J. Oliver, R.	Thirty-first—B. C. Grigsby, R.
Twelfth—J. C. Graham, D.	Thirty-second—J. T. Pritchard, D
Thirteenth—A. A. Taylor, R.	Thirty-third—Hilliard Smith, R
Fourteenth—P. J. Beard, D.	Thirty-fourth—E. E. Hogg, D.
Fifteenth—A. T. Jarvis, R.	Thirty-fifth—J. T. Vice, R.
Sixteenth—L. C. Nell, R.	Thirty-sixth—H. D. Newcomb, D.
Seventeenth—J. F. Bosworth, R.	Thirty-seventh—N. C. Cureton, R.
Eighteenth—R. L. Hubbie, D.	Thirty-eighth—Mark Ryan, D.
Nineteenth—J. P. Smith, R.	Totals—Democrats, 26; Republicans, 12.
Twentieth—W. E. Dowling, D.

How the House Stands.

District.	District.
Adair and Cumberland—W. G. Kean, R.	Jessamine—H. M. Akin, D.
Allen—R. A. Reid, R.	Johnson and Martin—J. W. Turner, R.
Anderson—L. N. Carter, D.	Jefferson—
Ballard and Carlisle—G. J. Reid, D.	Forty-fourth—L. C. Owings, D.
Barren—J. T. Riherd, D.	Forty-fifth—J. M. Letterle, D.
Bath and Rowan—A. H. Points, D.	Forty-sixth—P. J. Louisville, D.
Bell, Hardin, Perry and Leslie—S. B. Johnson, R.	Forty-seventh—Joseph Francis, R.
Boone—J. W. Berkshire, D.	Forty-eighth—H. Huffaker, D.
Bourbon—S. J. Clay, D.	Forty-ninth—R. L. Harris, R.
Boyd and Lawrence—J. W. Stevens, R.	Fiftieth—S. M. Carson, R.
Boyle—W. F. Pittman, D.	Fifty-first—J. S. Robertson, D.
Bracken—G. T. Reynolds, D.	Kenton—
Breathitt, Lee and Magoffin—R. C. Hill, D.	Eightieth—D. A. McVean, D.
Breckinridge—S. P. Parks, R.	Eighty-first—W. A. Price, D.
Bullitt and Spencer—J. P. Zimmerman, D.	Eighty-second—H. J. Meyers, D.
Butler and Edmonson—H. T. Rich, R.	Knox and Whitley—W. B. Creekmore, R.
Caldwell—R. H. Aken, D.	Larue—R. H. Moss, D.
Calloway—H. Chunn, D.	Laurel and Rockcastle—J. J. Taylor, R.
Campbell—	Lewis—T. M. Bertram, R.
Eighty-third—E. A. Weber, R.	Lincoln—W. H. Shands, D.
Eighty-fourth—W. H. Newell, D.	Logan—M. V. Perry, D.
Carroll and Gallatin—Z. T. Coleman, D.	Lyon and Marshall—J. H. McWaters D.
Carter and Elliott—A. J. Counts, R.	McCracken—Eugene Graves, D.
Casey and Russell—J. M. Blair, R.	McLean—J. T. Frazier, D.
Christian—H. Southall, D.	Madison—L. V. Herrington, D.
Clark—R. D. Hunter, D.	Marion—H. T. Gartin, D.
Clark, Jackson and Owsley—F. Roberts, R.	Mason—L. A. Shanklin, D.
Clinton and Wayne—W. L. Shearer, R.	Meade—L. F. Wethers, D.
Crittenden and Livingston—M. F. Fogue, D.	Menifee and Montgomery—W. L. Craig, D.
Daviess—City—Eli Berry, D.	Mercer—J. P. Chinn, D.
Daviess—County—P. W. Berkshire, D.	Metcalf and Monroe—W. D. Allbright, R.
Estill and Powell—W. F. Welch, R.	Morgan and Wolfe—F. M. Lykens, D.
Fayette—City—W. F. Klair, D.	Muhlenberg—J. L. Richardson, D.
Fayette—County—C. C. Patrick, R.	Nelson—F. J. Brown, D.
Fleming—C. W. Fulton, D.	Nicholas and Robertson—W. T. Kenton, D.
Fulton and Hickman—F. Moore, D.	Oldham and Trimble—Zach Clone, D.
Garrard—J. O. Bogie, D.	Owen—L. C. Littrell, D.
Grant—J. S. Steers, D.	Pike—E. E. Trivetts, R.
Graves—O. H. Brooks, D.	Pulaski—M. G. Colson, R.
Grayson—L. C. Roberts, D	Scott—V. A. Bradley, D.
Green and Taylor—O. M. Kelsey, D	Shelby—J. W. Hollarel, D.
Greenup—J. H. Williams, D.	Simpson—J. R. Claypool, D
Hancock—W. W. Spencer, D.	Todd—S. M. Russell, D.
Hardin—J. C. Pirtle, D.	Trigg—J. H. Lackey, D.
Harrison—H. C. Duffy, D.	Union—G. S. Wilson, D.
Hart—S. F. Crabtree, D	City District—S. D. Hines, D.
Henderson—B. D. Mills, D.	Warren—County—W. R. Whitlow, D.
Henry—G. C. Waggoner, D.	Washington—T. D. Graham, D.
	Woodford—H. A. Schoberth, D.
	Totals—Democrats, 72; Republicans, 32.

LATONIA RACES WILL CONTINUE,

It Is Said, Into Early Part of December.

Covington, Ky.—Horsemen will be delighted to hear that the official announcement will probably be made of the extension of the Latonia meeting. It is stated on pretty good authority that instead of closing on November 6, as heretofore expected, the meeting will run into the early part of December so as to give the horsemen in the west a chance to earn their oats up until the winter meetings open in the south. The big aviation meet is scheduled for Latonia next week, but it is thought that the management will avoid any complications or clash by giving way to the balloon promoters for three days and then go on with the meeting without further interruption.

Lexington, Ky.—Frank J. Marshall, of Brooklyn, and J. W. Showalter, of Georgetown, are going to settle the controversy over the chess championship here. Showalter is acknowledged to be the technical champion of the United States, but he has given up chess as a profession.

Frankfort, Ky.—R. K. McClure & Sons, one of the oldest dry goods and business houses in Frankfort, filed a petition in bankruptcy, giving the liabilities as $120,000, with assets about the same. Eli H. Brown, Jr., was appointed receiver.

Louisville, Ky.—Maj. David W. Sanders, 74, one of the south's greatest men, for years Kentucky's most noted lawyer, confederate veteran, scholar and a man of highest rank in Louisville citizenry, died in his apartments at a local hotel.

Louisville, Ky.—The unusual spectacle of a mailcarrier wilfully destroying United States mail was witnessed, it is said, by four persons, when Chas. Warren Troll is alleged to have tossed several bunches of mail matter into a sewer. He was arrested.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE.

Caused by the Burning of a Grain Elevator at Mayfield.

Mayfield, Ky.—The grain elevator and storage house of the flouring mill of R. U. Kevil & Sons, containing about 65,000 bushels of wheat, were totally destroyed by fire. The buildings and elevator were valued at $10,000. The total insurance on grain and structures is $44,500. The fire, it is presumed, started from a spark from a passing train. Fire a few hours later destroyed a stable and a quantity of feed stuff belonging to Willard Bullock, the damage being $300.

TROOPS SENT TO JACKSON,

Where Bands of Armed Citizens Parade the Streets.

Jackson, Ky.—The excitement and confusion here is intense and the town is completely in the hands of armed citizens, who parade the streets until late at night, firing guns and creating such disorder that the people are afraid to venture out on the streets. A special train from Lexington arrived in the city, bringing 26 soldiers from the Lexington company, under command of Capt. J. R. Sams. The town was taken entirely by surprise by the arrival of the troops.

Frankfort, Ky.—Commissioner of Agriculture Rankin issued his final crop report for the year. The report says the farmers of Kentucky have had the most prosperous year in the history of the state.

Paducah, Ky.—Samuel A. Norman, of Mayfield, Ky., filed a petition in bankruptcy here, giving his liabilities as $199,332.53 and assets $565 and 72 shares of stock in the Mayfield Woolen Mills.

Falmouth, Ky.—The main plant of the Falmouth Saw and Planing Mill Co. caught fire and was consumed, together with a big lot of lumber, entailing a loss of $6,000, partially covered by insurance.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT VICTORY FOR THE CARTER MEDICINE COMPANY IN THE UNITED STATES COURT.

The United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York—sitting in New York City—has just awarded to the Carter Medicine Company a decree which again sustains the company's exclusive right to use the red package for liver pills.

By the terms of the decree, it is, among other things:

Adjudged that the Carter Medicine Company is the owner of the sole and exclusive right to the use of red colored wrappers and labels upon said small, round packages of liver pills of the style described in the bill of complaint; said right having been acquired by the prior adoption of said style and color of package for liver pills by the complainant predecessors more than thirty years ago, and established by the continuous and exclusive use of the same in constantly increasing quantities by said predecessors and by the complainant, the Carter Medicine Company, itself, from the time of their said adoption until the present day.

The decision just announced is perhaps the most important and far-reaching of all, by reason of the character of the tribunal which rendered it. No Court in the country stands higher.
—National Druggist, St. Louis, Mo.

HAS ITS GOOD POINTS.

"One nice thing 'bout shootin' pheasants durin' th' open season is that you kin bring 'em home in broad daylight, and you don't have to divvy up with no game constable so's he'll keep his mouth shut."

Mistake Somewhere.

A story comes from a Kentucky town that is worth repeating. There lives there a woman who says that she has immediate communion with the Almighty, and now and then delivers to those of common clay a message that she has received from on high. The fact that these messages sometimes take on a very materialistic hue does not alter their effectiveness, in her opinion.

One day she went into the office of a well known attorney and approached him solemnly as one about to reveal an awe-inspiring secret.

"The Lord sent me to you for $25," she announced.

The attorney looked up and smiled.

"That must be a mistake," he replied, blandly, "because the Lord knows I have not got it."

Celestial communication was thereupon broken off.

Looking Brighter.

"Things are looking brighter now," says a Billville citizen. "The sheriff is now my brother-in-law, and he won't levy on my crop; the town doctor boards with me, and doesn't charge a cent for tellin' me that if I don't quit eatin' six meals a day I'll not live to be a hundred, and last of all, the head undertaker is my best friend, and has promised to fix me finally.

"I feel that I don't half deserve so many blessings, but I've got 'em and I'm going to hold on to them."—Atlanta Constitution.

She Could Not.

"With one wave of my wand," says the fairy, "I can make you grow young again."

"Excuse me," replied the woman, "if I decline your kind offer. If you can bring youth to me at my present age, all right; but I positively refuse to travel back through pyrography, the first stages of bridge, the habit back, the straight front, balloon sleeves, and all the rest of the fads I can remember."

The Price of Courtesy.

"Politeness costs nothing," said the man who quotes proverbs.

"You are wrong again," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "You have evidently not figured how much it cost to persuade a New York waiter to look pleasant and say 'thank you.'"—Washington Star.

Dyola is Far Superior to any dye I have ever used. It colors silk, cotton and wool as nicely as other dyes color either alone. That's what Mrs. Simmons writes us, and she knows. If you have any dyeing to do, use Dyola Dyes. 10c a package at your dealer's. Direction book and color card sent free by writing to Dyola, Burlington, Vt.

A man will coax his wife till she gives in, and is pleased with himself when he succeeds, but when the children coax her, and she yields, he is disgusted with her.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

Strong Winds and Sand Storms cause granulation of the eyelids. PETTIT'S EYE SALVE soothes and quickly relieves. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

Gratitude is the sweetest music that flows from the human heart.—Henry Lee.

DON'T NEGLECT THAT COUGH

It certainly racks your system and may run into something serious. Allen's Lung Balsam will check it quickly and permanently. For sale at all druggists.

The spirits fail to materialize at a temperance seance.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.

Phone, M. 2393.

The Applegate-Piper Co.

MERCHANT TAILORS.

Room 610, Traction Building,

Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,

BURLINGTON, KY.

The Oldest Bank in Boone County,

PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS.

With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR

THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.

17c Pound—6 pounds for $1.00.

This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR

Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,

Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY

AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.

CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.

New Buggies, Runabouts

and Harness for Sale or Trade.

Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.

When in Burlington call and See me.

B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave City with J. C. [illegible] Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP TO

C. C. SEAL & CO.

Union Stock Yards,

CINCINNATI. OHIO

And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.

J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade

The Democratic defeat in Lexington was a big surprise, as they were considered invincible in that city.

The Democrats will have an overwhelming majority in the next General Assembly of this State.

The Louisville Evening Post, Republican, is worrying over the question, "What became of the registered Independent vote in Louisville on the 2nd inst?"

The directors of the Burley Tobacco and Insurance Company have decided that the new company shall handle the crop directly through its own employes.

With the proper kind of a "Head" to lead it, the Democratic party in Louisville had no trouble in winning, as the returns from the election in that city on the 2d inst., show.

The town of Burlington is interested in having the tobacco grown in this precinct handled here, and if it has any influence with those who have the designating of localities where warehouses and store-houses shall be located, they should use it to that end. Especially are the merchants interested in keeping the precinct tobacco here, as it means more to them in the matter of dollars and cents than it means to anybody else. It will be more convenient to the growers of the precinct to deliver their tobacco in Burlington than it will to delrlve it elsewhere. If the growers ho desire to deliver their tobacco to a warehouse in Burlington, joined by the people in Burlington, will petition for a warehouse and storehouse here they could reasonably expect their wishes in the matter would be complied with. There is no good reason why the growers in this precinct should be required to deliver their tobacco at a place other than Burlington.

Another Big Suit.

G. W. McMillan and 32 others have filed suit in the circuit court at Lexington against the Burley Tobacco Society, Clarence LeBus, G. A. Brooks, J. M. Rankin, the Clark-co. National Bank, Citizens' National Bank and People's State Bank.

The plaintiffs say they pooled their crops of tobacco in 1906 and also in 1907, and under the agreement that when a fixed price was obtained for their tobacco the proceeds were to be divided pro rata among the respective intereste, less the necessary expenses of handling the crop.

The plaintiffs say the crops have been sold and part of the proceeds distributed, but large sums remain in the hands of the organization.

They further allege the defendants are wasting the balance, which amounts to more than $300,000, in employing canvassers, speakers and paying their expenses in going over the country in an attempt to create and organize a pool for the 1909 crop and paying salaries and expenses not for the use and benefit of the persons who pooled in 1906 and 1907. They ask a receiver.

The suit is filed by Attorneys Applegate & Clarke, Covington. The motion for the appointment of a receiver is set for hearing in Circuit Court on Monday, Nov. 15.

Most of the plaintiffs to the action are residents of Campbell and Kenton-cos.

Scarcity of Beef Cattle.

From every quarter and source of information comes the evidence of the growing scarcity of beef cattle. The Breeders Gazette says that high priced corn is tending strongly to dearer beef and shorter consumption of it, and adds: "From whatever angle statistics are studied they reveal a growing scarcity of beef cattle. During the last three years the number of cattle slaughtered in the United States has decreased until in the past year there were 296,380 fewer cattle inspected at slaughtering points than two years before, although inspection has been extended to 876 establishments while before it included only 708. Exports have also dwindled until now they are 41 per cent smaller in volume than five years ago, and most of this decrease has been made in the last three years. During this time the number of cattle imported has grown fourfold. With these increased imports decreased exports and decreased slaughter there should be an increase in the number of cattle on farms, but the Department of Agriculture estimates a decline in visible supply of 2,100,000 head. Along with this heavy shrinkage in the beef cattle supply, even in the face of decreased consumption, there has been an increase in the slaughter of calves, indicated by inspection of [illegible] a quarter

THE FARMER.

He Wants The Best of Everything and Has The Money to Buy It.

Reports indicate that the farmers of this country will this year receive ten billions of dollars for their crops. If this estimate is anywhere near correct, the farmers will have a lot of money to spend somewhere. It is well known to the national advertiser that the farming trade is becoming exceedingly valuable. The farmer has gotton out of the "hayseed" and "ox-cart" class and is now an automobile crowd. He wants the best of everything, and he seems to have the wherewithal to buy it. Formerly the farmer was considered as stingy and penurious from necessity, but now, through prosperity, he has become an intelligent and careful buyer of the first class.

It is stated and truly that the farmers of today are the most thoroughly educated and progressive class in the whole country. No other people have had so much provision for their education and equipment as the farmers. The government pours out its millions for the farmers; for him the States build colleges and equip experiment stations, fairs, institutes and conventions; scientists and experts give the best of their time and knowledge to solve his problems. In the colleges the farmers' sons are in the majority.

The farmer of today wants all the things that the most intelligent and progressive city man wants, and he has the money to buy them.

Many farmers now live in "smart" houses fitted out with bathrooms, toilets and steam heat. They are the largest buyers of pianos and good furniture and household equipment in the country. They have the telephone, the daily mail, take the daily paper and read magazines, in fact, in many instances they are thoroughly in accord with the spirit of the age.

The farmers' trade if rightly cared for is worth a great deal to a drug store, formerly their purchases consisted chiefly of bitters, asafoetida and headache pills. Now they buy the same things as everyone else. The farmer and his family use toilet goods, soaps, perfumery, face powder, household articles, cigars, candy stationary, and a thousand and one things that are sold in the drug store beside drugs. Perhaps the greatest advance that has been made by the farmer is in his reading matter and there is nothing as interesting and educational as the magazines of today.

A. W. SMITH.

Considerable corn has been put in the crib.

The hunting season will open next Monday.

Both local schools are progressing nicely.

The leaf burning in Burlington is about completed.

This month has furnished some beautiful fall weather.

The grass in the pastures has been growing some this month.

Kirby West, Walton, is at home again after a considerable trip abroad

Green's "Ten Sale," means linoleum at 37½ to 55 cents a square yard; carpets 15 to 58 cents a yard.

A full coal bin or a large pile of wood is a good thing to have convenient at this season of the year.

Green's "Ten Sale," Rising Sun, means $3 cloaks for $2 70; $9 cloaks for $8 10; $15 cloaks for $13 50, all new.

Green's "Ten Sale," Rising Sun, means $6 suits for $5 40; $15 suits for $13 50; $25 suits for $22 50, all new styles.

Plenty of good food for stock this winter, and animals ought to keep in good order until grass comes next spring.

An oyster supper will be given at the Grange Hall, Bullittsville, Thursday, November 25, from 3 p. m. to 11 p. m. All are invited.

The Ladies' Aid and Mission Society of Big Bone Baptist church will give a pie social at Mrs. R. L. Huey's from 4 to 11 p. m., November 19th.

At a recent meeting of the Kentucky Society in Atlanta, Georgia, W. W. Gaines, son of George W. Gaines, of Bullittsville, this county, was reelected president.

Sheriff-elect B. B. Hume found Robt. Allen's horse, the taking of which is mentioned in another column. It is said that the man who took the horse is in the habit of borrowing horses and riding them off and then abandoning them after failing to find a purchaser.

Level Headed.

Hon. John W. Berkshire, of Petersburg, was in town, last Friday. He expects that the next session of the General Assembly will be of great importance to the people of the State, and is very desirous to be able to reflect the will of his county on every question that comes up. Mr. Berkshire is a well balanced man, and was never known to approach fanaticism on any subject, and the interest of Boone county will be looked after in a most faithful manner so long as he is a member of the legislature.

Found His Horse.

A hand that Robert Allen, of lower Gunpowder, had hired borrowed a horse of Mr. Allen a few days ago to ride. When the time came for the man and horse to be at home again they failed to show up, and after some time Mr. Allen began to grow uneasy and instituted an investigation but failed to learn anything as to their whereabouts. About the time Mr. Allen had become satisfied that his horse was gone, he learned that it was at the stable of Allison & Yates.

Desperate Coughs

Dangerous coughs. Extremely perilous coughs. Coughs that rasp and tear the throat and lungs. Coughs that shake the whole body. You need a regular medicine, a doctor's medicine, for such a cough. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

We publish our formulas

Ayer's

We banish alcohol from our medicine

We urge you to consult your doctor

Any good doctor will tell you that a medicine like Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cannot do its best work if the bowels are constipated. Ask your doctor if he knows anything better than Ayer's Pills for correcting this sluggishness of the liver.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Official Vote of Boone County.

Following is the vote as received by the several candidates in this county on the 2d inst.:

For Circuit Judge—
J. W. Cammack 1,165
For Commonwealth's Attorney—
E. E. Winn 1,160
For Representative—
J. W. Berkshire 1,160
John L. Vest 245
For Circuit Clerk—
J. A. Duncan 1,147
J. C. Hume 233
For County Judge—
P. E. Cason 1,125
Charles Ransler 241
For County Attorney—
N. E. Riddell 1,135
G. G. Huges 237
For County Clerk—
J. H. Rogers 1,157
Ed Botts 215
For Sheriff—
B. B. Hume 1,159
Jonas Stevens 222
For Assessor—
T. G. Willis 1,135
L. E. Thompson 223
For Jailer—
J. Sam Adams 1,148
W. M. Stephens 218
For Coroner—
A. A. Murat 1,128
For Surveyor—
W. E. Vest 1,136
For Supt. Schools—
Edgar Riley 1,143
Constitutional Amendment—
Yes 447
No 147

Following is the list of Justices of the Peace elected: First district—E. J. Aylor; Second district—Wm. Stephens; Third district—M. Scott; Fourth district—J. S. Noell; Fifth district—B. S. O'Neal; Sixth district—R. H. Tanner.

Following is the vote as cast in the town election at Walton:

For Police Judge—
T. J. Crowe 85
Ed Fullilove 37
For Town Marshal—
Bruce Dudgeon 49
W. C. Moxley 45
For Trustees—
A. W Smith ... 57 S. W. Beverly . 60
Ray Byland ... 63 H. C. Diers ... 52
A. E. Edwards 57 G. M. Allen ... 65
Wm. Renslar . 59 H. R. Watson . 60
Taylor Grubbs. 58 W. O. Rouse . 61

In Florence the following trustees were elected. Three of the candidates tied at the polls, and when the election commissioners drew for the choice, David Brown won out: J. R. Whitson, J. L. Carpenter, Omer Macander, J. O. Carpenter, D. H. Brown.

In Petersburg there was no contest for the town offices. The following were elected:

Police Judge—H. E. Arnold.
Marshal—Charles Weils.
Trustees—Peter Keim. John Gisler, G. M. Ruth, J. W. Snyder, O. N. Aloway.

For Sale—Sow and 9 pigs. Apply to Albert Conner, Burlington.

For Sale—Fresh Jersey cow and calf. Apply to R. N. Head, near Union

Green's "Ten Sale," Rising Sun, means $2 25 skirts for $2; $5 skirts for $4 50; $10 skirts for $9.

Warning to Hunters.

Any person or persons trespassing or hunting with dog or guns on the lands of the undersigned will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

WALTON PRECINCT.

W. H. Senour	W. E. Dixon
G. W. Taylor	M. E. Fields
G E. Carroll	Bryant Campbell
J. C Byland	Mrs Jane Kennedy
J. C. Mayhugh	A. R. Johnson
Robt. Chambers	L. S. Wolfe
Ira Aylor	S. C. Hicks
Butty Long	J. S. West
Lawrence Ryan	Clay Baker
H. Taylor	John Mardis
S. M. Hudson	R. O. Hughes
Theo. Kennedy	Martha C. Hudson
Ben Cleek	Rebecca J. Hudson
J C Bedinger	Kate Hudson
John Goodridge	O. S. Glacken
J J Hudson	Geo W Ransom

BURLINGTON PRECINCT.

Mrs Elizabeth Utz	W L B Rouse
Oscar Gaines	Bart E Aylor
Clarence Easton	Kail Rouse
T. J. Walton.	Peter Buchart.
Hewitt Bros.	Chas. A. Gaines

BELLEVIEW PRECINCT.

Julia Dinsmore

BULLITTSVILLE PRECINCT.

Mrs Mary Gaines	John W Clore
Ebert Rouse	Huey Aylor
Jeff D Cloud	Harvey Aylor
H L McGlasson	Ben Paddock
R C McGlasson	C E Clore
E J Aylor	Chester Hood

UNION PRECINCT.

E L Rouse	W H Wilson

PETERSBURG PRECINCT.

F M Voshell	C L Voshell

HAMILTON PRECINCT.

R Lee Huey

GOODE GROCERIES

—AT—

Right - Prices.

New Hominy—Old fashion, pound	2½c
New Hominy—Flake 2 quarts	5c
New Prunes, 1b	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Evaporated Peaches	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Evaporated Peaches—extra large, 1b	13c
Two pounds	25c
New Figs—large, juicy Smyrna Figs, 1b	13c
New Seeded Raisins, 1b	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Citron, 1b	20c
New Golden Egg Macaroni, package	10c
Three pkgs	25c
New Bulk Macaroni, 1b	06c
New Elbo Macaroni, 1b	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Barley, 1b	04c
New Rold Oats, 1b	04c
New Oatmeal, 1b	04c
New Aunt Jemima's Pancake Flour, package	10c
Three packages	25c
New Quaker Oats, pkg	10c
Large Round Pkg	15c
New Victor Toy Oats, pkg	10c
New Mackerel, 10c 3 for	25c
New, Fat, Large Mackerel,	13c, 2 for 25c
New Lakeside Sweet Wrinkle Peas, 10c 3 for	25c
New Lakeside Sifted Early June Peas	15c
New Extra Sifted Lakeside Peas	20c
New Honey Drop Corn, can, 15c, dozen	$1.65
New Golden Harvest Corn, can 12c, doz	$1.35
New Superb Corn, can, 10c, dozen	$1.20
New Shoe Peg Corn, can	10c
Three for	25c
New Jaguar Corn, can	07c
Three for	20c
New Cranberries, quart	10c
New Grapefruit, 2 for	15c
Magic Soap, 5c, 6 for	25c
Fels Naptha Soap, 6 for	25c
Pearl Soap	6 for 25c
Papryka, can	10c
Celery Salt, can	10c
Dry Apples, 1b	08c
Capitol Mixed Tea, 1b	60c
Gunpowder	60c
Sunbeam Mixed Tea, 1b	75c
Gunpowder	75c
Oolong, Young Hyson, English Breakfast and Imperial—all new crop.
Golden Blend Coffee, 1b	20c
Moneyworth Coffee, 1b	17c
Three pounds for	50c
Salvadore Coffee, 1b	15c
Pure Gautamala Coffee—pound	25c
New Dates, 3 lbs for	25c
New Codfish, fancy Boneless, 1b	15c
New Buckwheat Flour—three pounds	10c
New Sweet Cider, gal	25c
New Kraut, 3 lbs	10c
New Crop New Orleans Molasses, gallon	55c
New Honey, 1b	10c
New Sago, 1b	10c
New Farina, 1b	5c
New Lentels, 1b	5c
New Split Pear, 1b	5c

Don't forget the Best Flour on Earth,

"CAPITOL."

Geo. C. Goode

AGENT.

Groceries & Medicines,

Pike & Washington,

Covington, Kentucky.

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,
WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.
CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.
Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

Fall and Winter Millinery.

I now have on display my new stock of Hats and Baby Caps, with prices to suit every customer. Desiring to reduce my stock I will offer

Specials from 25c up

and hope my customers will take advantage of these bargains. Come in and see them, as also my nice line of

DRY GOODS and JEWELRY.

Cordially yours,

MISS LOU W. ALLEN, Petersburg, Ky.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.
S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated—A. D. 1892.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

THE SIDE-LOCK OF CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

Is another feature that makes them so popular with property owners.

This and the overlap makes them absolutely proof against rain, snow, and in fact all climatic conditions.

They're fireproof too, and their appearance makes even a cheap building look handsome.

They're not expensive and when you consider that they last as long as the building and never need repairs, you'll see what a handsome investment they make.

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

Our Business Constantly Increasing.

For the past seven years our optical business has constantly increased. We treat all alike, selling the best goods at the lowest possible prices to all. We have a complete lens-grinding outfit and can grind and replace broken lenses while you wait.

We can furnish anything made in optical goods.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.

OVERCOATS AND SUITS

Largest and Most Complete Line for Men, Boys and Children at the Lowest Prices.

ROSENTHAL BROS. New Clothing Store

Big Store Building, RISING SUN, INDIANA.

TEN SALE GREEN'S TEN SALE. TEN SALE

Means $700 saved to our customers during November. During this sale will give a SPECIAL DISCOUNT of 10 per cent on each purchase in the following departments:

Cloaks, Suits, Shirtwaists, Dress Goods AND Underwear.

This saves you $1 on a $10.00 purchase; 25 cents on a $2.50 purchase, and so on. In addition to the Special Discounts there are bargains in every Department of Our Store.

Come early while the the Assortments are complete. Yours for more Business, Better Bargains and Happy Customers.

GREEN'S

CASH STORE,

Rising Sun, Indiana.

There's a Missing Word.

There is a missing Word in this advertisement and there will be one in each of our ads. in this paper from now to November 24th. We have lots and lots of good things to tell you about this fall and in order to get as many to read our advertisements as possible we will give $5.00 in gold as stipulated below. Fill out the following coupon or make one like it and fill it out.

The missing word in Green's advertisement dated Nov. 10 is.....found between the words .....and.....

Name.....

Address.....

$5.00 in gold will be given for the largest number of correct answers to the eleven propositions and in case of a tie the money will be equally divided. All answers must be filed at our store within 10 days from the date of the coupon. It costs you nothing to submit your answers and in reading our advertisements you will be sure to keep posted as to the many bargains we are offering.

Last week's Coupons must be in our store within 10 days from the date of issue. Don't delay.

OUR FIRST FALL SHIPMENT OF

GODMAN SHOES

IS ABOUT GONE.

Our Second Fall Shipment Just Opened Up. Come at once and get a Good Selection before numbers are broken. These Shoes are, without doubt, the

Best Shoes Ever Sold in our Store

ALREADY FAMOUS FOR GOOD SHOES.

WE HANDLE THE FAMOUS

Ball Band Wool Boot and Rubber

OUR WINTER STOCK OF

Blankets, Comforts, Woolens, Yarns, Underwear, Etc.,

IS NOW COMPLETE.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

GIVE US A CALL.

SEE

E. A. ANDERSON

FOR

Men's AND Boys' Clothing

Underwear, Hats and Caps.

Work Clothes of Every Description.

Our Stock is Entirely New and Up-to-Date.

WE SAVE YOU MONEY.

E. A. ANDERSON,

Rising Sun, Ind.

Two Doors Above Davis' Shoe Store.

Give Me a Call When in Town.

Local News.

Wheat Doing Nicely.

The wheat sowed this fall has come up nicely.

Sawing Some.

The local saw mill was cutting lumber several days last week.

Ripening.

The Thanksgiving turkey has begun to ripen, and will be picked in a few days.

Hunting a Dance.

Three of Burlington's gallants scoured the country between Florence and Constance, last Thursday

Dreading Bad Weather.

The carriers on the rural deliveries are living in dread of the winter that is now about on them.

Captured Both Cities.

The Democrats captured about all the offices in both of the cities, Aurora and Lawrenceburg, on the 2d inst.

Beautiful Nights.

When luna gave mother earth her best efforts, last week, it was almost light enough to read without artificial assistance.

Will Handle Pooled Tobacco.

If the Burlington precinct is permitted to handle its pooled tobacco at home, Albert Conner has been recommended for that position.

Bought Land in Texas.

Asa McMullen, who was in southeastern Texas, week before last, looking after some land he owned there visited the Pan Handle where he made a purchase of the Swensen Land Co., of Chicago.

Telephone Election.

The Consolidated Telephone Co. held its annual election last Wednesday, and reelected the old officers. The system continues to grow, and is regarded as one of the very best local systems in the State.

Timely Suggestions.

In this issue J. C. Hughes, president of the Boone county Board of Control, offers some very timely suggestions in regard to stripping and grading tobacco. Read Mr. Hughes' article and follow it closely and you will profit by it.

A Scalded Boy's Shrieks

horrified his grandmother, Mrs. Maria Taylor, of Nebo, Ky., who writes that, when all thought he would die, Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured him. Infallible for Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Corns, Wounds, Bruises, Cures Fever Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions, Chilblains, Chapped Hands. Soon routs Piles. 25c at Beutler's drug store Erlanger.

Brooms Will Be Very High.

The advance of 25 per cent in the wholesale price of brooms and the consequent advance of 10 cents for these indispensable articles of household use by the retailer has created quite a stir among housewives all over the country. They are crying corner and trust, but broom manufacturers say that the only reason for the advance is the practical failure of the broom corn crop in this country. A few years ago it sold as low as $30 to $40 per ton. In 1898, as a result of a famine in the crop and an inflated currency, broom corn sold from $45 to $50 per ton. The range within the past year, or until the crop harvest of 1909, has been $80 to $100 per ton. The latter price is considered a good price and yields satisfactory and remunerative profits for its production. On that basis the value of the crop in the United States for a productive season amounts to $7,000,000. The crop of 1909 and the present prices can be easily explained. For the first time in many years there was little carried over from the last crop into the present one, either in raw or manufactured stock.

Farmers Are Posting.

Going upon the theory that a person, who regards the authority of land owners over their own domains, will not trespass thereupon contrary to their will if it is known, many farmers in this county are inviting hunters and trappers to keep off of their land, by means of a notice published in these columns. The farmers are not required to publish this notice in order to put them in a position to proceed against trespassers, but it is done in order that the public may know that they are opposed to having men and dogs traveling over their lands at will, indulging in reckless shooting and the committing of depredations. From year to year the annoyance of careless hunters has increased until the farmers are almost afraid to turn their stock out of their barns during the hunting season, and they have resolved to give a fair notice of their desire to have hunters to remain off of their premises, and then in the event their protests are not regarded they will feel free to proceed under the law against the trespassers.

No Digging Allowed.

F. M. Voshell, who lives in the Plattsburg neighborhood, was in town last Friday, and added his name and that of his brother, C. L. Voshell, to the list of posters in another column. He says they intend to put a stop to digging on their farms for pole cats and other animals. This has become a great nuisance in the last few years, and has been the cause of the loss to them of several lambs, and they are determined to break it up.

Divided.

The local teamsters are divided as to which is the best hill to pull—the Constance hill on the Bullittsville and Dry Creek pike, or the Henderson hill on the Burlington and Belleview pike. As is the case in all other momentous questions the populace is divided.

Declined.

The trustees of the Belleview graded school tendered the principalship to county superintendent D. M. Snyder, who declined to accept, owing to considerable unfinished official business he has on hand and which he hopes to complete before his term of office expires.

Young Girls Are Victims

of headache, as well as older women, but all get quick relief and prompt cure from Dr. King's New Life Pills, the world's best remedy for sick and nervous headaches. They make pure blood, and strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 25c at Bentler's drug store Erlanger.

A Big Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stephens entertained the young people with a big dance, one night last week, at their home a mile and a half south of Burlington. A large crowd of young-sters were on hand at an early hour, and the enjoyment of the occasion was indulged in until midnight, when all departed hoping to be the guests of the host and hostess again at no distant future.

Still at Work.

W. T. S. Blackburn, of Dry Ridge, Grant county, was in Burlington, last county court day. Having had the route surveyed for a traction road from Dry Ridge to Owenton, Owen county, he has turned his attention to making the necessary steps to build the road from Dry Ridge to Covington, the road to eventually be extended to Lexington via Williamstown and Georgetown. If Mr. Blackburn succeeds in his plans he presents to the people along the proposed routes of his system, he will certainly be a benefactor, as nothing would be of more value to the territory he proposes to traverse than a traction road. It is certainly hoped that the Blackburn system of traction roads will soon be a reality.

About Half a Vote Cast.

About half the vote of each party was cast in this county at the recent election. The many Democrats satified themselves with the thought, "we'll win anyhow," while the Republicans were saying, "we can't win nohow," and the result was the combined vote of the two parties that remained away from the poles amounted to several hundred.

Old Masons Home.

The Grand Lodge of the Masonic Order decided to make the location of the Old Masons Home at Shelbyville permanent. This conclusion was arrived at when it became known that a concrete dam could be constructed across a ravine on the place, that would make a sufficient supply of water for all purposes. This dam is now being built and will be paid for by the members of the Order who reside in Shelby county. The reservior or lake, that will result from the construction of the dam, will be fourteen feet deep at the deepest point, and the lake will be supplied from the draining from a watershed that covers fifteen acres of land.

There are about $3,000 available for the construction of new buildings and these will be built with an eye to the comfort and convenience of the inmates of the Home. There will be accommodations for seventy when the work is done and it must and will be completed before the end of next summer.

The Grand Lodge also assessed every member in the State 25 cents per year for the maintenance of the Home and this means an annual income of over $7,000. The farm and dairy, conducted under the management of Mr. A. F. Heinrich, are money-makers. The income from that source, supplemented by the annual assessment, will put the institution in a position to take care of all the old Masons who may be admitted to the Home. The local Masons and the people of Shelbyville generally, are glad that the matter has been settled and that the Home will remain here.—Shelby Record.

Buying Tobacco.

A prominent Lexington tobacco warehouse is authority for the statement that the warehouses of Louisville and Cincinnati have in the last few days sent a small army of buyers into the interior counties of Kentucky comprising the Burley district with instructions to buy all the leaf tobacco possible before the pool is finally declared on. The Louisville buyers he says, have been operating mainly in Shelby, Anderson, Oldham, Mercer, Boyle, Garrard and other counties traversed by the Louisville Southern and Louisville and Nashville railroads out of Louisville. The Cincinnati buyers have been active in the northern tier of counties, coming as far south as Clark and Montgomery. These buyers, he says, have been negotiating direct with the growers, buying their tobacco in the barns for 10 and 12 cents and even as high as 15 cents a pound, stripped as it hangs in the barn. He estimates that millions of pounds of tobacco have been bought up by them, which, of course will not go to the pool."

To The Tobacco Growers:

As the season of the year has arrived for handling and stripping tobacco, I write this letter to our farmers to urge upon each grower of tobacco the very great importance of keeping each grade of tobacco together and not mix up the grades. I would advise to make at least two grades of each kind—that is bright and dark trash; bright and dark lug; a good, long bright, and common bright leaf; a good and common dark leaf, and extra and common tips.

Your damaged or green house burn should also be graded into two or more grades, as the value of your tobacco now, more than ever, depends on the distinct grades you make of it. Better throw away the common, damaged tobacco than mix it with the better grades. Don't be afraid that you will make too many grades. The Burley Tobacco Society has about 40 different grades.

The Burley Tobacco Society only promises to hand sort the tobacco, and if mixed in stripping it will, necessarily have to be put in low grades. If you have only 50 pounds of any grade, strip and tie it up as such, and get full score for what you have. There is some fine tobacco in each crop that I have examined this year, and let us take time and take it out and keep it separate and get full value for what we have.

It is also necessary that you grade your tobacco according to length as well as color. A type of uniform length and color will grade two or three points higher than one with several lengths together even if same color.

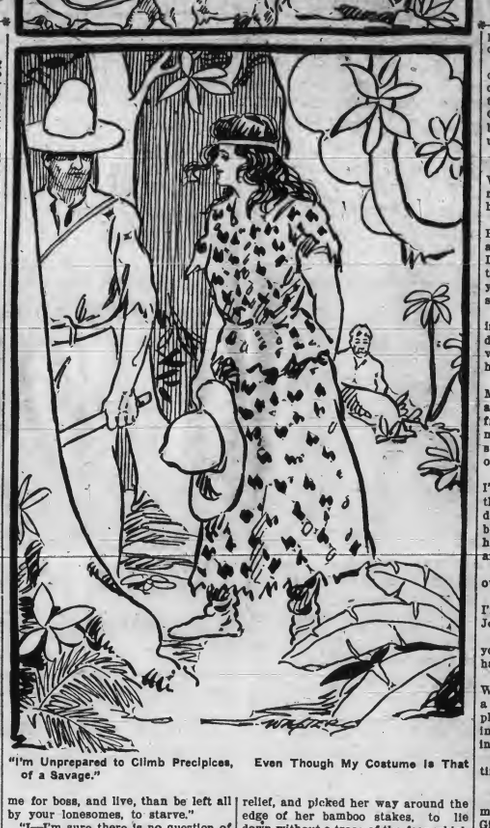
We have an extra good crop of tobacco in Boone county this year, and if all growers will take a little pains and care in handling this tobacco we can place old Boone county in one of the highest grades in the Burley District.

Hoping this letter may be of some value to our pooled tobacco growers and help them to get a better price, I am most

Fraternally Yours,
J. C. HUGHES, President
Board of Control.

Green's "Ten Sale." Rising Sun, means unbleached muslin worth 8½ cents for 7 cents; worth 7 cents for 6 cents; worth 6 cents for 5 cents. Green's bleached muslin worth 10 cents still 9 cents.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE



BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT 1908, BY A.C. MCCLURG & CO.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake reached safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights. The trio secured eggs from the cliffs. Miss Leslie's white skirt was decided upon as a signal.

"I'm Unprepared to Climb Precipices, Even Though My Costume Is That of a Savage."

CHAPTER XII.—Continued.

One after another, the keys were welded together, end to end, in a narrow ribbon of steel. The thinnest one, however, was not fastened to the tip until it had been used to burn a groove in the edge of a rib, selected from among the bones which Miss Leslie had thrown out of the baobab. The last key was then fastened to the others; the blade ground sharp, tempered, and inserted in the groove. Finally, pieces of the keyring were fitted in bands around the bone, through notches cut in the ends of the steel blade. The result was a bone-handled, bone-backed knife, with a narrow cutting edge of fine steel.

Long before it was finished Miss Leslie had been forced away by the requirements of her own work. In fact, Blake did not complete his task until late in the afternoon. At the end, he spent more than an hour grinding the handle into shape. When he came to show the completed knife to Miss Leslie, he was fairly aglow with justifiable pride.

"How's that for an Eskimo job?" he demanded. "Bunch of keys and a bone, eh?"

"You are certainly very ingenious, Mr. Blake!"

"Nixy! There's little of the inventor in my top piece—only some hustle and a good memory. I was up in Alaska, you know. Saw a sight of Eskimo work."

"Still, it is very skilfully done."

"That may be— Look out for the edge! It'd do to shave. No more bamboo splinters for me—dull when you hit a piece of bone. I'm ready now to skin a rhinoceros."

"If you can catch one!"

"Guess we could find enough of them around here, all right. But we'll start in on some of Win's sheep and cattle."

"Oh, do! One grows tired of eggs, and all these sea-birds are so tough and fishy, no matter how I cook them."

"We'll sneak down to the pool, and make a try with the bows this evening. I'll give odds, though, that we draw a blank. Win's got the aim, but no drive; I've got the drive, but no aim. Even if I hit an antelope, I don't think a bamboo-pointed arrow would bother him much."

"Don't the savages kill game without iron weapons?"

"Sure; but a lot have flint points, and a lot of others use poison. I know that the Apaches and some of those other southern Indians used to fix their arrows with rattlesnake poison."

"How horrible!"

"Well, that depends on how you look at it. I guess they thought guns more horrible when they tackled the whites and got the daylight let through 'em. At any rate, they swapped arrows for rifles mighty quick, and anyone who knows Apaches will tell you it wasn't because they thought bullets would do less damage."

"Yet the thought of poison—"

"Yes; but the thought of self-preservation! Sooner than starve, I'd poison every animal in Africa—and so would you."

"I— You put it in such a horrible way. One must consider others, animals as well as people; and yet—"

"Survival of the fittest. I've read some things, and I'm no fool, if I do say it myself. For instance, I'm the boss here, because I'm the fittest of our crowd in this environment; but back in what's called civilized parts, where the law lets a few shrewd fellows monopolize the means of production, a man like your father—"

"Mr. Blake, it is not my fault if papa's position in the business world—"

"Nor his, either—it's the cussed system! No; that's all right, Miss Jenny. I was only illustrating. Now, I take it, both you and Win would like to get rid of a boss like me, if you could get rid of Africa at the same time. As it is, though, I guess you'd rather have me for boss, and live, than be left all by your lonesomes, to starve."

"I—I'm sure there is no question of your leadership, Mr. Blake. We have both tried our best to do what you have asked of us."

"You have, at least. But I know. If a ship should come to-morrow, it'd be Blake to the back seat. 'Papa, give this—er—person a check for his services, while I chase off with Winnie, to get my look-in on 'Is Royal 'ighness.'"

Miss Leslie flushed crimson— "I'm sure, Mr. Blake—"

"Oh, don't let that worry you, Miss Jenny. It don't me. I couldn't be sore with you if I tried. Just the same, I know what it'll be like. I've rubbed elbows enough with snobs and big bugs to know what kind of consideration they give one of the mahsses—unless one of the mahsses has the drop on them. Hello, Win! What's kept you so late?"

"None of your business!" snapped Winthrope.

Miss Leslie glanced at him, even more puzzled and startled by this outbreak than she had been by Blake's strange talk. But if Blake was angered, he did not show it.

"Say, Win," he remarked gravely, "I was going to take you down to the pool after supper, on a try with the bows. But I guess you'd better stay close by the fire."

"Yes; it is time you gave a little consideration to those who deserve it," rejoined Winthrope, with a peevishness of tone and manner which surprised Miss Leslie. "I tell you, I'm tired of being treated like a dog."

"All right, all right, old man. Just draw up your chair, and get all the hot broth aboard you can stow," answered Blake, soothingly.

Winthrope sat down; but throughout the meal, he continued to complain over trifles with the peevishness of a spoiled child, until Miss Leslie blushed for him. Greatly to her astonishment, Blake endured the nagging without a sign of irritation, and in the end took his bow and arrows and went off down the cleft, with no more than a quiet reminder to Winthrope that he should keep near the fire.

When, shortly after dark, the engineer came groping his way back up the gorge, he was by no means so calm. Out of six shots, he had hit one antelope in the neck and another in the haunch; yet both animals had made off all the swifter for their wounds.

The noise of his approach awakened Winthrope, who turned over, and began to complain in a whining falsetto. Miss Leslie, who was peering out through the bars of her screen, looked to see Blake kick the prostrate man. His frown showed only too clearly that he was in a savage temper. To her astonishment, he spoke in a soothing tone until Winthrope again fell asleep. Then he quietly set about erecting a canopy of bamboos over the sleeper.

Just why he should build this was a puzzle to the girl. But when she caught a glimpse of Blake's altered expression, she drew a deep breath of relief, and picked her way around the edge of her bamboo stakes, to lie down without a trace of the fear which had been haunting her.

CHAPTER XIII.

The Mark of the Beast.

MORNING found Winthrope more irritable and peevish than ever. Though he had not been called on watch by Blake until long after midnight, he had soon fallen asleep at his post and permitted the fire to die out. Shortly before dawn, Blake was roused by a pack of jackals, snarling and quarreling over the half-dried seafowl. To charge upon the thieves and put them to flight with a few blows of his club took but a moment. Yet daylight showed more than half the drying frames empty.

Blake was staring glumly at them, with his broad back to Winthrope, when Miss Leslie appeared. The sudden cessation of Winthrope's complaints brought his companion around on the instant. The girl stood before him, clad from neck to foot in her leopard-skin dress.

"Well, I'll be—dashed!" he exclaimed, and he stood staring at her open-mouthed.

"I fear it will be warm. Do you think it becoming?" she asked, flushing, and turning as though to show the fit of the costume.

"Do I?" he echoed. "Miss Jenny, you're a peach!"

"Thank you," she said. "And here is the skirt. I have ripped it open. You see, it will make a fine flag."

"If it's put up. Seems a pity, though, to do that, when we're getting on so fine. What do you say to leaving it down, and starting a little colony of our own?"

Miss Leslie raised the skirt in her outstretched hands. Behind it her face became white as the cloth.

"Well?" demanded Blake soberly, though his eyes were twinkling.

"You forget the fever," she retorted mockingly, and Blake failed to catch the quaver beneath the light remark.

"Say, you've got me there!" he admitted. "Just pass over your flag, and scrape up some grub. I'll be breaking out a big bamboo. There are plenty of holes and loose stones on the cliff. We'll have the signal up before noon."

Miss Leslie murmured her thanks, and immediately set about the preparation of breakfast.

When Blake had the bamboo ready, with one edge of the broad piece of white duck lashed to it with catgut as high up as the tapering staff would bear, he called upon Winthrope to accompany him.

"You can go, too, Miss Jenny," he added. "You haven't been on the cliff yet, and you ought to celebrate the occasion."

"No, thank you," replied the girl. "I'm still unprepared to climb precipices, even though my costume is that of a savage."

"Savage? Great Scott! that leopard dress would win out against any set of Russian furs a-going, and I've heard they're considered all kinds of dog. Come on. I can swing you into the branches, and it's easy from there up."

"You will excuse me, please."

"Yes, you can go alone," interposed Winthrope. "I am indisposed this morning, and, what is more, I have had enough of your dictation."

"You have, have you?" growled Blake, his patience suddenly come to an end. "Well, let me tell you, Miss Leslie is a lady, and if she don't want to go, that settles it. But as for you, you'll go, if I have to kick you every step."

Winthrope cringed back, and broke into a childish whine. "Don't—don't do it, Blake— Oh, I say, Miss Genevieve, how can you stand by and see him abuse me like this?"

Blake was grinning as he turned to Miss Leslie. Her face was flushed and downcast with humiliation for her friend. It seemed incredible that a man of his breeding should betray such weakness. A quick change came over Blake's face.

"Look here," he muttered, "I guess I'm enough of a sport to know something about fair play. Win's coming down with the fever, and's no more to blame for doing the baby act than he'll be when he gets the delirium, and gabbles."

"I will thank you to attend to your own affairs," said Winthrope.

"You're entirely welcome. It's what I'm doing— Do you understand, Miss Jenny?"

"Indeed, yes; and I wish to thank you. I have noticed how patient you have been—"

"Pardon me, Miss Leslie," rasped Winthrope. "Can you not see that for a fellow of this class to talk of fair play and patience is the height of impertinence? In England, now, such insufferable impudence—"

"That'll do," broke in Blake. "It's time for us to trot along."

"But, Mr. Blake, if he is ill—"

"Just the reason why he should keep moving. No more of your gab, Win! Give your jaw a lay-off, and try wiggling your legs instead."

Winthrope turned away, crimson with indignation. Blake paused only for a parting word with Miss Leslie. "If you want something to do, Miss Jenny, try making yourself a pair of moccasins out of the scraps of skin. You can't stay in this gully all the time. You've got to tramp around some, and those slippers must be about done for."

"They are still serviceable. Yet if you think—"

"You'll need good tough moccasins soon enough. Singe off the hair, and make soles of the thicker pieces. If you do a fair job, maybe I'll employ you as my cobbler, soon as I get the hide off one of those skittish antelope."

Miss Leslie nodded and smiled in response to his jesting tone. But as he swung away after Winthrope, she stood for some time wondering at herself. A few days since she knew she would have taken Blake's remark as an insult. Now she was puzzled to find herself rather pleased that he should so note her ability to be of service.

When she roused herself, and began singeing the hair from the odds and ends of leopard skin, she discovered a new sensation to add to her list of unpleasant experiences. But she did not pause until the last patch of hair crisped close to the half-cured surface of the hide. Fetching the penknife and her thorn and catgut from the baobab, she gathered the pieces of skin together, and walked along the cleft to the ladder-tree. There had been time enough for Blake and Winthrope to set up the signal, and she was curious to see how it looked.

She paused at the foot of the tree, and gazed up to where the withered crown lay crushed against the edge of the cliff. The height of the rocky wall made her hesitate; yet the men, in passing up and down, had so cleared away the twigs and leaves and broken the branches on the upper side of the trunk, that it offered a means of ascent far from difficult even for a young lady.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

A Harder Job.

The tributes to the popularity of Mr. Hammond's son pleased the father, who was the oldest summer resident of Shrubville. They pleased him the more because they came from natives of the soil, whose good opinion could not be forced in any way.

"He's a real good boy, that boy o' yours," said Capt. Hollis Towne, and Capt. Lothrop James added his word of approval.

"I like the cut of his jib," he announced, with decision, "and I like his ways; he ain't too forth-putting, nor yet he ain't too stand-offish.

"Thing of it is you and his ma haven't tried to have him 'brought up,' same as most of the summer folks do with their children; he's just been 'raised' like we were, and that's why he gets on with everybody in the town, sir!"—Youth's Companion.

Women Who Suffer

from woman's ailments are invited to write to the names and addresses here given, for positive proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound does cure female ills.

Tumor Removed.

Chicago, Ill.—Mrs. Alvena Sperling, 11 Langdon Street.
Lindley, Ind.—Mrs. May Fry.
Kinsley, Kans.—Mrs. Stella Gifford Beaman.
Scott, N.Y.—Mrs. S.S. Barber.
Cornwallville, N.Y.—Mrs. Wm. Roughton.
Cincinnati, O.—Mrs. W.K. Houch, 7 Eastview Av.
Milwaukee, Wis.—Mrs. Emma Imse, 563 1st St., German.

Change of Life.

South Bend, Ind.—Mrs. Fred Curtis, 1014 S. Lafayette Street.
Noah, Kentucky.—Mrs. Lizzie Holland.
Brookfield, Mo.—Mrs. Sarah Louisquent, 207 S. Market St.
Paterson, N.J.—Mrs. Wm. Somerville, 136 Hamburgh Avenue.
Philadelphia, Pa.—Mrs. K. E. Garrett, 2407 North Garnet Street.
Kewaskum, Wis.—Mrs. Carl Dahlke.

Maternity Troubles.

Worcester, Mass.—Mrs. Desyire Coté, 117 Southgate Street.
Indianapolis, Ind.—Mrs. A. P. Anderson, 1207 E. Pratt Street.
Big Run, Pa.—Mrs. W. E. Pooler.
Atwater Station, O.—Mrs. Anna Mudhaupt.
Cincinnati, Ohio.—Mrs. E. H. Maddocks, 2136 Gilbert Avenue.
Mogadore, Ohio.—Mrs. Lee Mangas, Box 131.
Dewittville, N.Y.—Mrs. A. A. Giles.
Johnstown, N.Y.—Mrs. Homer N. Seaman, 108 E. Main Street.
Bartonsview, Ill.—Mrs. Peter Langenbahn.

Avoid Operations.

Hampstead, Md.—Mrs. Jos. H. Dandy.
Adrian, Ga.—Lena V. Henry, Route No. 3.
Indianapolis, Ind.—Bessie V. Piper, 29 South Addison Street.
Louisville, Ky.—Mrs. Sam Lee, 3223 Fourth St.
South West Harbor, Maine.—Mrs. Lillian Robbins, Mt. Desert Light Station.
Detroit, Mich.—Mrs. Frieda Rosenau, 544 Meldrum Avenue, Germain.

Organic Displacements.

Mosier, Ills.—Mrs. Mary Ball.
Ligonier, Ind.—Mrs. Elisa Wood, R.F.D. No. 4.
Malbourne, Iowa.—Mrs. Clara Watermann, R. F. D. No. 1.
Bardstown, Ky.—Mrs. Joseph Hall.
Lewiston, Maine.—Mrs. Henry Cloutier, 58 Oxford Street.
Minneapolis, Minn.—Mrs. John G. Moldan, 2115 Second Street, N.
Shamrock, Mo.—Josie Haas, R.F.D. No. 11, Box 32.
Marlton, N.J.—Mrs. Geo. Jordy, Route No. 3, — Box 46.
Chester, Ark.—Mrs. Ella Wood.
Collin, Ga.—Mrs. T. A. Cribb.
Pendleton, Ind.—Mrs. May Marshall, R.R. 44.
Cambridge, Neb.—Mrs. Nellie Moslander.

Painful Periods.

Goshen, Ala.—Mrs. W. T. Dalton, Route No. 3.
Chicago, Ill.—Mrs. Wm. Tully, 466 Ogden Av.
Paw Paw, Mich.—Mrs. Emma Draper.
Finching, Mich.—Mrs. Burt Loyd, R.F.D. No. 31, care of D. A. Sanborn.
Coffeeville, Miss.—Mrs. S. J. Jones.
Cincinnati, Ohio.—Mrs. Flora Ahr, 1302 Ernst Street.
Cleveland, Ohio.—Miss Lizzie Steiger, 5510 Fleet Avenue, S.E.
Wesleyville, Pa.—Mrs. Maggie Ester, R.F.D. 1.
Dyersburg, Tenn.—Mrs. Lue Hilliard, R.R. 1.
Hayfield, Va.—Mrs. Mayme Windle.

Irregularity.

Herrin, Ill.—Mrs. Chas. Folkel.
Winchester, Ind.—Mrs. May Deal.
Dyar, Ind.—Mrs. Wm. Oberloh, R. F. D. No. 1.
Baltimore, Md.—Mrs. W. S. Ford, 1908 Lanvale Street.
Roxbury, Mass.—Mrs. Francis Merkle, 13 Field Street.
Clarksdale, Mo.—Miss Anna Wallace.
Guysville, Ohio.—Mrs. Ella Michael, R.F.D. 3.
Dayton, Ohio.—Mrs. Lou Hale, Box 38, National Military Home.
Lebanon, Pa.—Mrs. Harry L. Rittle, 233 Lehman Street.
Sykes, Tenn.—Minnie Hall.
Detroit, Mich.—Mrs. Louise Jung, 332 Chestnut St.

Ovarian Trouble.

Vincennes, Ind.—Mrs. Syl. B. Jerauld, 308 N. Tenth Street.
Gardiner, Maine.—Mrs. S. A. Williams, R. F. D. No. 14; Box 38.
Philadelphia, Pa.—Mrs. Chas. Boell, 2407 N. Garnet Street.
Plattsburg, Miss.—Miss Verna Wilkes, R.F.D. 1.

Female Weakness.

Williamantic, Conn.—Mrs. Etta Donovan, Box 220.
Woodside, Idaho.—Mrs. Rachel Johnson.
Rockland, Maine.—Mrs. Will Young, 6 Columbia Avenue.
Scottville, Mich.—Mrs. J. G. Johnson, R.F.D. 3.
Dayton, Ohio.—Mrs. F. S. Smith, 431 Elm St.
Erie, Pa.—Mrs. J. F. Redlich, R. F. D. No. 7.
Beaver Falls, Pa.—Mrs. W. P. Boyd, 2109 Seventh Avenue.
Fairchance, Pa.—Mrs. I. A. Dunham, Box 152.
Fort Hunter, Pa.—Mrs. Mary Jane Shatto.
East Earl, Pa.—Mrs. Augustus Lyon, R.F.D. 2.
Vienna, W. Va.—Mrs. Emma Wheaton.

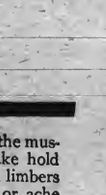
Nervous Prostration.

Oronogo, Mo.—Mrs. Miss McKnight.
Camden, N.J.—Mrs. Tillie Wade, 451 Liberty Street.
Joseph, Oregon.—Mrs. Alice Huffman.
Philadelphia, Pa.—Mrs. John Johnston, 210 Siegel Street.
Christiana, Tenn.—Mrs. Mary Wood, R.F.D. No. 2.
Pecos, Texas.—Mrs. Ada Young Eggleston.
Graniteville, Vt.—Mrs. Chas. Barclay, R.F.D.

These women are only a few of thousands of living witnesses of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. Not one of these women ever received compensation in any form for the use of their names in this advertisement—but are willing that we should refer to them because of the good they may do other suffering women to prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable and honest medicine, and that the statements made in our advertisements regarding its merit are the truth and nothing but the truth.

For Rheumatic Pains

As we get older the blood becomes sluggish, the muscles and joints stiffen and aches and pains take hold easier. Sloan's Liniment quickens the blood, limbers up the muscles and joints and stops any pain or ache with astonishing promptness.



Proof that it is Best for Rheumatism.

Mrs. DANIEL H. DIEHL, of Mann's Choice, R.F.D., No. 1, Pa., writes:—"Please send me a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for rheumatism and stiff joints. It is the best remedy I ever knew for I can't do without it."

Also for Stiff Joints.

Mr. MILTON WHEELER, 2106 Morris Ave., Birmingham, Ala., writes:—"I am glad to say that Sloan's Liniment has done me more good for stiff joints than anything I have ever tried."

Sloan's Liniment

is the quickest and best remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Toothache, Sprains, Bruises and Insect Stings.

Price 25c., 50c., and $1.00 at All Dealers.

Send for Sloan's Free Book on Horses. Address

DR. EARL S. SLOAN, BOSTON, MASS.

There is positively no bounds to the utility of

ERUPTIONS POISON IVY BURNS ITCHING ECZEMA NETTLE RASH

RESINOL

ERYSIPELAS ABRASIONS HERPES SCALDS CHAFING RING WORM

for home or family use when soreness of the skin prevails. If first soothes, then heals. A certain cure for itching piles.

RESINOL CHEMICAL COMPANY, BALTIMORE, MD.

Resinol Ointment, Resinol Toilet Soap, Resinol Medicated Shaving Stick are sold at all Drug Stores.

WIZARD OIL GREAT

FELT SORRY FOR MRS. BROWN

Simple Explanation of Rural Mail Carrier's Failure to Deliver Package to Owner.

The rural free delivery reaches its flower of perfection in Vermont, according to the Saturday Evening Post.

"Mr. Carrier," said a lady who was summering among the mountains, "I have a letter, received several days ago, saying a package has been forwarded to me by mail. I have not received it yet. Have you seen anything of it?"

"A package?" asked the rural free deliverer.

"Yes, sir."

"What kind of a package?"

"Why, a small package—a box, in fact—covered with paper, containing some of my property."

"A small box; pasteboard, probably?"

"Yes."

"Let me see," pondered the rural free deliverer. "A package? Oh, yes, I guess that was your package I delivered to Mrs. Brown down in the foothills a few days ago. She hadn't had any mail for a long time, and I kind of felt sorry for her."

ECZEMA COVERED HIM.

Itching Torture Was Beyond Words—Slept Only from Sheer Exhaustion—Relieved in 24 Hours and Cured by Cuticura in a Month.

"I am seventy-seven years old, and some years ago I was taken with eczema from head to foot. I was sick for six months and what I suffered tongue could not tell. I could not sleep day or night because of that dreadful itching; when I did sleep it was from sheer exhaustion. I was one mass of irritation; it was even in my scalp. The doctor's medicine seemed to make me worse and I was almost out of my mind. I got a set of the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent. I used them persistently for twenty-four hours. That night I slept like an infant, the first solid night's sleep I had had for six months. In a month I was cured. W. Harrison Smith, Mt. Kisco, N. Y., Feb. 3, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

One Was Enough for Johnny.

The Sunday school lesson was from that scripture which teaches that if your brother strike you on one cheek, you should turn the other also and endure even for seventy times seven. Johnny had listened to his teacher very attentively, while she emphasized this fact, and after the lesson the superintendent rose to make a few remarks.

"Now, boys," he said, "how many times ought another boy to strike you before you hit him back?"

"Just about once!" promptly answered Johnny.—Delineator.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Last Resort.

"They're going to increase the tax on beer!" "Then we won't drink any." "And they're going to increase the tax on spirits." "Then we won't drink any." "And they're going to tax wine." "Then we won't drink any." "And they're going to tax inheritances!" "Then let's drink up our money!"

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

For Consideration.

All pertinent facts must be considered when we are dealing with the great problem of prosperity. Would you put the plus or minus sign before the item that the county jail has a great falling off in patronage?—Detroit Free Press.

Many Children Are Sickly.

Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children, used by Mother Gray, a nurse in Children's Home, New York, cure Summer Complaint, Feverishness, Headache, Stomach Troubles, Teething Disorders and Destroy Worms. At all Druggists', 25c. Sample mailed FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

We speak good of the dead because as a rule we have exhausted our supply of invectives on them when they were alive.

Some people are more afraid of germs than they are of a mad dog.

School children should eat

Quaker Oats

at least twice a day

Assorted china in the Family Size Package

TAMMANY

Sullen and Silent,

Following the Defeat of All Its Candidates

Except Gaynor, the Next Mayor of New York.

THE RESULT IN NEW YORK.

Vote For Mayor.

Boroughs.	Bannard.	Gaynor.	Hearst.
Manhattan and Bronx	86,595	183,576	87,265
Brooklyn	73,944	92,259	50,037
Queens	10,966	16,334	14,830
Richmond ...	5,037	7,073	2,722
Total	176,542	249,242	154,904

Gaynor over Bannard 72,700; Gaynor over Hearst, 94,318; Bannard over Hearst, 21,638.

New York.—William J. Gaynor will be the mayor of New York after January 1, next, in succession to George B. McClellan. His plurality is 72,700 votes. Hearst ran third.

The Tammany nominees for the supreme court bench were defeated with the rest of the ticket. The voters were no respecters of persons. Charles H. Truax was renominated by Tammany and ran a little ahead of his ticket, but lost nevertheless.

Tammany is sullen and silent. Not one of the prominent men of the organization cared to discuss its affairs. In most quarters it was taken for granted that the leadership of Chas. F. Murphy was at an end.

Jubilee in Old Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky.—This has been a democratic holiday in Louisville and the supporters of William O. Head, in the mayoralty race, have been wild with enthusiasm and excitement.

Now the democrats are beginning to speculate on when the big plumtree will begin to bestow favors.

Mayor-elect Head has not confided his purposes to any one, but the rank and file of the democrats are disposed to take him at his word when he declared in his campaign that when he was elected there would be a "general house-cleaning" at the city hall immediately after his inauguration.

A movement is on foot to give Mayor-elect Head a big reception and banquet here, which will be attended by democrats from all parts of Kentucky.

State democrats are proclaiming the victory here as an indication of democratic victory in the state in 1911. They want to come to praise the Louisville democrats for its victory.

The legislature will be so largely democratic that it is safe to predict that the coming assembly will do some things that Gov. Willson will not like.

Tom Johnson Defeated.

Cleveland, O.—Tom Johnson, the picturesque mayor of Cleveland, has been defeated by a decisive majority by Herman Baehr (Rep.). Baehr, the first Republican to be elected mayor in ten years, declared that his election was due to dissatisfaction of the people with the methods of handling city business. The election of Baehr is believed to mean a certain settlement of the long street railway war which Johnson began eight years ago when he demanded a three-cent rate of fare

Whitlock Is Re-Elected.

Toledo, O.—Brand Whitlock, author and political successor of the late "Golden Rule" Mayor Samuel M. Jones, was elected mayor for a third term. Practically the entire independent ticket was elected with him, including council.

Results in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Samuel Lewis Shank, the candidate of the Republicans, was elected mayor of this city by a majority of about 1,500 over Charles Gauss, his democratic opponent.

Results throughout the state show that the Republicans and Democrats got about an even division of the cities of secondary importance. The election in most of these cities was on strict party lines, although the wet and dry issue appeared in many towns.

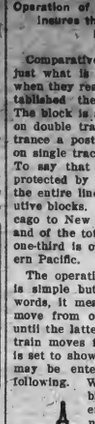
Among the towns that voted either to restore the saloons or continue them in operation were Muncie, Lafayette, Hartford City, Evansville, Valparaiso, Michigan City and Terre Haute.

In spite of the fact that he has been convicted of subornation of perjury and has been disbarred, Lemuel Darrow succeeded in being re-elected mayor of Laporte on the democratic ticket for his fifth term.

Kokomo and Greencastle declared strongly for the abolition of the liquor traffic. At South Bend the issue was not on the abolition of the saloons, but on their better regulation, and the Democrats elected Charles L. Goetz mayor on a platform of good government, which has for its chief aim the overthrow of the "wide open town" regime that has existed for several years.

Henry Is Defeated.

San Francisco, Cal.—F. J. Heney was defeated for district attorney by a large majority. He led in the recent graft investigations and was bitterly opposed by those whom he had fought as prosecutor. Fickert, the Republican, who defeated Heney, formerly was attached to the prosecutor's office.



Patrick Henry McCarthy was elected mayor by about 2,000 plurality over Crocker (Rep.), and Leland (Dem.), who ran about even.

HOW BLOCK SIGNALS WORK

Operation of Ingenious System That Insures the Safety of Railroad Passengers.

Comparatively few people know just what is meant by block signals when they read that a railroad has established the system on its lines. The block is a length of track which, on double track roads, has at its entrance a post and movable arm, and on single track lines one at each end. To say that a line has every inch protected by this system means that the entire line is divided into consecutive blocks. Only one line from Chicago to New York is thus protected, and of the total in the United States, one-third is on the Union and Southern Pacific.

The operation of the block system is simple but absolute. In a few words, it means that a train cannot move from one block into the next until the latter block is empty. As a train moves forward, the signal arm is set to show that the block just left may be entered by the next train following. When a train enters a block it so affects the energy that is a part of signaling that the semaphore arm remains horizontal until the block is vacated, when the arm automatically drops and points diagonally toward the ground. Therefore, as long as the engineer sees only drooping signals he can keep on going, but the instant he finds the arm stretching out over the track, he must come to a stop, knowing that that block is occupied by another train.

The energy mentioned above is electricity, the current being obtained from a battery near each post. The rails of each block are made as if all of one piece by connecting the joints with wire. The extreme ends are then connected and thus a circuit is formed in which the current flows. When no train is in the block, the mechanism operated by the current pulls the arm down and holds it there. When a train enters the block the wheels and axles, combined with the rails, form a shorter circuit, the energy that held the arm down is withdrawn and up it swings to a horizontal position.

Each block is independent of all other blocks. When the last wheels of a train leave it, the current resumes its flow and the signal arm at the entrance is pulled down to the "proceed" position. But before the hind wheels have finished doing this, the front wheels of the locomotive have entered the next block and caused the arm there to rise to the "stop."

For a single track line the automatic arrangement is the same, but there is a signal at each end of the block. To prevent two trains on a single track line entering a block at the same time from opposite ends, before the entrance to a single track block is reached the train sets a stop signal at the far end of that block, and as it enters it sets the entrance signal to stop just as is done on double track. Half a mile or more before reaching the entrance signal of each block the engineer comes to what is called the "distant," which tells him how the other or "home" signal is set.

As the automatic signal is constructed, it cannot show "go ahead" unless the entire combination of rails, wire, current, magnet, etc., is working perfectly. If a wire parts, a rail breaks, a battery fails, a switch point opens the slightest, the combination fails and the released arm resumes the horizontal position. So, when the engineer sees the stop signal, he knows that there may be a train on the block, an open switch, or a broken rail or signaling apparatus.

At night colored lights are displayed on the same posts. The lamps will burn eight days without replenishing, but are refilled every four or five days. When the home signal is at stop, the engineer sees the flame through a red glass. The caution light on the distant is yellow. A green lights means go ahead and is used on both the home and distant signals.

Where two or more lines cross at grade the general plan of semaphore arms for day and colored light for night is the same, but owing to the complications all signals are controlled by levers operated by men from a central station. The crossing and contiguous tracks are governed by the interlocking system. When this is in perfect order and the crossing unoccupied, it displays "stop" to every track approaching the crossing. Any change must be made by the signalman, and to display "proceed" he must first lock all other approaches with the stop signal.

There are now about 11,000 miles of railway equipped with the block system. The only line thus protected every inch from Chicago to California is via the Northwestern, Union and Southern Pacific. One-third of the 11,000 miles of automatic signaling is on the Harriman lines—and the Northwestern has more miles of double track automatic than any other railway.

DRAW OF RIVER BRIDGE WAS OPEN

And Flying Auto Went Through—Victims Were Two Women and Four Men.

Chicago Ill.—A big touring car with six passengers, two women and four men, plunged into an open drawbridge of the Chicago river at the Jackson boulevard crossing Sunday night and all were drowned.

The accident was witnessed by Dr. A. E. Bertling, who, with his wife and a couple of friends, was in another automobile waiting for the bridge to close.

None of the bodies have been recovered and the names of the victims are not known.

According to Dr. Bertling, there was no guard chain or policeman at the opening. He was barely able to see that the bridge was open, the night being foggy.

As the car dashed by him he shouted to the driver that the bridge was open. The chauffeur did not hear him, for the car did not slacken speed.

"I did not dream the chauffeur and the passengers in the other car were proceeding headlong, and had no thought but that they had observed that the bridge was open," said Dr. Bertling.

"I am certain there was no chain across the roadway and no policeman, either city or park, on guard. It all happened in an instant. The big car, which had approached from the east, behind me did not slow up, and when I came to a realization that they were going over I shouted at the top of my voice, but in vain.

"The car had bowled over the edge and down into the river. I jumped out of my car and ran to the edge of the water and, peering over, could see plainly one man and one woman struggling in the water and shouting in agonized tones for help.

"The boat for which the bridge had opened had got by Jackson boulevard before the automobile plunged in. Immediately after the car went in the river another vessel, larger, came up from the same direction and proceeded through the draw before the bridge tender turned the bridge.

"What effect the passage of the second vessel had on the fate of the unfortunate party in the car or on the car I do not know. The river at that point has a swift current and I could observe that the persons, who were visible, were carried rapidly south in the stream.

"It seems to me that ten minutes elapsed before the bridge was closed, although the bridge tender told me he had seen the catastrophe. It may have been, however, a shorter time."

It was not until late Sunday night that any clew could be secured as to the identity of the victims. It is believed that the automobile belonged to R. T. Miles, a member of the Chicago Automobile club. The names of the women are unknown. It was said at the automobile club that Miles was not in the machine. The car was making 30 miles an hour.

ENGINE HAULING FAST FREIGHT

Exploded Near Hornell, N. Y., and Two Were Killed, While Others Were Injured.

Hornell, N. Y.—By the blowing up of an Erie railroad engine, west of Belmont, Engineer Chauncey Green and Fireman Christopher Ryder, of this city, were instantly killed, and Brakeman F. C. Tracy so badly scalded that he may die.

Engineer William Lamphear and Fireman C. A. Lockwood sustained serious injuries.

The train was No. 73, a west-bound fast freight, hauled by two engines.

Near Belmont there came a blinding flash and a deep roar, and the leading engine was hurled from the tracks and down the steep embankment.

The force of the explosion hurled Engineer Green through the side of his cab and drove his body up to the shoulders in the dirt embankment at the side of the track. Fireman Ryder was caught under the engine and terribly mangled. Death in both cases was instantaneous.

The explosion hurled the second engine from the tracks and down the embankment, and 14 cars were piled up in the ditch.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Nov. 6.—Cattle—Extra, $5.85@6.00. Calves—Extra, $8.50. Hogs—Choice, $8@8.05. Sheep—Extra, $4.15@4.25. Lambs—Extra, $6.35@6.50. Flour—Spring patent, $5.60@5.90. Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.18@1.20. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 62c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41c. Rye—No. 2 choice, 76@78c. Hay—Choice timothy, $14.50@15. Butter—Dairy, 24c. Eggs—Per doz., 28c. Apples—Choice, $3.70@4. Potatoes—Per brl., $1.75@2. Tobacco—Burley, $8.50@16.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.17@1.18. Corn—No. 2 mixed 63@63½c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 40@41¼c. Pork—Prime mess, $23.75@24. Lard—Prime, $12.95.

Louisville, Nov. 6.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.18@1.20. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 63c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15. Hogs—Extra, $8.05. Lard—Prime, $12.95.

Indianapolis, Nov. 6.—Cattle—Prime, $5.80@6. Hogs—Choice, $7.75@8.10. Sheep—Extra, $4.25.

If You Were Sure

that AN INVESTMENT OF $350.00 would make you independent for life, would you make it? We claim such an investment will make it possible for you to make $5,000.00 a year, and we ask you to give us a chance to prove it.

Investigate now; don't delay; we furnish highest bank references and stand rigid investigation; land deeded as absolute security for your money, so that you can't lose; you can buy on monthly payments; $15 cash and $15 per month. Write at once for particulars.

ALABAMA SUMATRA & HAVANA TOBACCO CO.
1303 Heyworth Building, Chicago, Illinois

The Wizard of Horticulture
Hon. Luther Burbank

says: "Delicious is a gem—the finest apple in all the world. It is the best in quality of any apple I have so far tested,"—and Mr. Burbank knows.

Delicious is but one of the hundreds of good things in Stark Trees—the good things you should know about before you plant this fall or next spring.

Let us tell you about them by writing today for our complete, illustrated price-list-catalogue which describes our complete line of fruit trees, ornamentals, etc.

Wanted—A Bright, Capable Man

in each county of this state to sell Stark Trees on commission. No previous experience necessary. The work is pleasant, clean work, highly profitable, and the positions are permanent to the right men, who apply immediately.

Many of our salesmen are earning $50 to $80 per month and expenses; some are making more. You can do as well or better if you're a hustler and trying to succeed.

No investment called for; we furnish complete order-getting outfit free and the most liberal contract.

For complete information address the Sales Manager of

STARK BRO'S NURSERIES & ORCHARDS CO., LOUISIANA, MO.

A Motor Hint.

Miss Lillian Russell, who looks younger than her daughter, was talking about age at a dinner in New York. Miss Russell, who is always witty, ended with this moto:

"It is a sure sign of age in a woman when she begins to get out of her motor car backwards."

Take a hint, do your own mixing. Rough on Rats, being all poison, one 15c box will spread or make 50 to 100 little cakes that will kill 500 or more rats and mice. It's the unbeatable exterminator. Don't die in the house. Beware of imitations, substitutes and catch-penny ready-for-use devices.

How Kind.

Edyth—Jack says I was made to kiss.

Mayme—A diplomatic way of referring to your turned-up nose, wasn't it?

PERRY DAVIS' PAINKILLER

has no substitute. No other remedy is so effective for rheumatism, lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia or cold of any sort. Put up in 25c. 35c and 50c bottles.

The surest proof of being endowed with noble qualities is to be free from envy.—La Rochefoucault.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Procrastination is the thief of many a good time.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
FOR RHEUMATISM, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, DIABETES, BACKACHE
75 "Guaranteed"

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Children's Coughs Cause the Little Ones Much Unnecessary Suffering

PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS and COLDS

Gives instant relief—soothes and heals the little throats and prevents more serious illness. Children like it too—so pleasant to take and does not upset the stomach.

All Druggists, 25 cents.

CRUISE To the ORIENT

"CINCINNATI"
21st Annual Cruise Leaves New York January 29, 1910

80 days $325 up

An Ideal Trip under most Perfect Conditions
Also cruises to the West Indies and South America
HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE
41-45 BROADWAY, NEW YORK
P. O. Box 1767

Millions Say So

When millions of people use for years a medicine it proves its merit. People who know CASCARETS' value buy over a million boxes a month. It's the biggest seller because it is the best bowel and liver medicine ever made. No matter what you're using, just try CASCARETS once—you'll See. 917

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

KNOWN SINCE 1836 AS RELIABLE
PLANTEN'S (TRADE MARK) C & C OR BLACK CAPSULES
SUPERIOR REMEDY FOR URINARY DISCHARGES
DRUGGISTS OR BY MAIL ON RECEIPT OF 50c
H. PLANTEN & SON, 93 HENRY ST. BROOKLYN, N.Y.

Paper-Hangers & Painters

You can greatly increase your business with no extra investment by selling Alfred Peats' Prize Wallpaper. We want one good worker in each vicinity and to the first worker applicant will send FREE, by prepaid express, five large sample books showing a $250,000.00 Wallpaper Stock for customers to select from. We offer liberal profits to our representatives. A hustler can start you and get the agency in your vicinity for 1910.
Alfred Peats Co., 144-146 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

Five Minutes in the Morning
NO STROPPING NO HONING
TRADE Gillette MARK
KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

LIVE STOCK AND MISCELLANEOUS ELECTROTYPES
In great variety for sale at the lowest prices by WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION, 521-27 Adams St., Chicago

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. Arents Rubber Stamp Co. wanted. Get catalog.

WOMEN may add several dollars weekly to their income, easily, in spare time. Write for particulars of how we start you in permanent business. Easy, pleasant work that should result in a life income. STEPHEN M. REDLING, Turner Falls, Massachusetts.

CLEBURNE COUNTY, ARKANSAS, needs farmers to raise hay, corn, oats, wheat, fruit and potatoes. Pure air and water; healthy climate and good schools and churches. Prices right. M. R. Vinson, Heber, Ark.

PATENTS FRANKLIN H. HOOD, Washington, D. C. No attorney's fee until patent is obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

DEFIANCE STARCH Contains no chemicals to injure the finest fabric. Best to work with and 16 ounces to the package.

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Scott Smith spent Saturday in Cincinnati on business.

R. S. Veach spent Saturday in Covington on business.

A. W. Smith, our popular druggist, spent Monday in Cincinnati.

Geo. W. Ossman, of Beaver Lick, was a welcome visitor here Friday.

J. C. Miller, of the Equitable Bank spent part of this week in Cincinnati

R. N. Clements, of Napoleon, was here yesterday, the guest of friends.

Wm. H. Tillman and wife spent last Friday in Cincinnati on business.

John L. Vest spent part of the past week at Catlettsburg, on law business.

John T. Williford, of Ryle, Gallatin county, spent Monday here with friends.

W. S. Martin, deputy sheriff of Kenton county, was here Monday on business.

Robert I. Ratcliff and nephew J. Wilmot Kinslear, spent Saturday in Cincinnati.

C. Presley Adams, cashier of the Gibson House, Cincinnati, spent Saturday here with friends.

B. Lee Cleek, of Union, the clever county assessor, spent a part of last week here listing property.

Dr. Harry W. Hamilton, our popular dentist, spent last Friday in Cincinnati on special business.

Mrs. O. P. Maxwell is very ill of typhoid fever at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bollington.

H. C. Diers spent Tuesday at Glencoe on business pertaining to the sale of his nursery stock made there.

Geo. W. Maines, our enterprising saw mill proprietor, spent Sunday and Monday in Aurora, Indiana, with his family.

Joseph Fisher, one of our enterprising farmers, spent Monday in Williamstown, where he disposed of a young mule.

Lystra Aylor, one of our esteemed citizens, spent part of last week in the northern part of the county with relatives and friends.

Miss Sallie Herndon, a pretty and charming young lady, spent part of the past week here the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. C. Tomlin.

Henry C. Diers spent part of the past week in Henry county, making settlement for a large amount of nursery stock sold there.

J. G. Leach, of Georgetown, was here a part of last week enroute to Owen county, to visit his sister, Mrs. J. J. Adkins and husband.

Master Bruce Wallace, of Warsaw, spent Saturday here with his father, D. B. Wallace, accompanying him home that evening.

C. E. Williams and wife and their daughter, Elizabeth, of Rising Sun, were guests of John C. Milier and wife, last Saturday and Sunday.

FOR SALE—Four eight-months old male Poland China pigs—eligible to register. R. C. GREEN,
nov 3-tf Walton, Ky.

Reward—$5.00 reward will be paid for the return of my female, white setter dog; black ears. No questions asked. Howard Smith, Walton, Ky.

Jesse E. Franks spent Sunday in Covington, with his daughter, Mrs. Blackwell, whose husband is recovering from a surgical operation on his nose.

Mrs. I. L. Hopkins, of Key West, and Mrs. James W. Cleek, of Walton, spent a day in Cincinnati, last week, and were guests of Mrs. John M. Lassing.

C. W. Mayfield, of Ludlow, was here the first of the week prospecting as to installing an electric light and power plant in Walton on a very equitable basis.

Hon. J. G. Tomlin spent part of last week at Warsaw, preparing some of his cases there for trial in the Gallatin circuit court which convenes there next week.

A. Kirtley Johnson and wife spent Saturday in Cincinnati with friends and on business. His brother, Edmud Johnson, filled his position as rural mail carrier that day.

Miss Mattie Miller, of Big Bone Springs, spent Friday here with her parents, Wood R. Miller and wife, and Mrs. Miller accompanied her home for a visit of several days.

Mrs. Nannie Slater, of Campbellsburg, Henry county, spent part of last week here with relatives and friends, going from here to Erlanger to visit her son, Dr. C. R. Slater.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Warth spent last week in Scott county, near Georgetown, the guests of relatives and friends. They formerly resided in Scott county and have many friends there.

Hon. J. G. Tomlin spent Friday in Cincinnati and Saturday in Newport, presiding as special judge the latter day in the Campbell Circuit Court in a case involving a real estate title.

A. M. Edwards, our enterprising merchant, spent last Friday in Covington, appraising the value of some property on which the Walton Building Association contemplates making a loan.

Walton Lodge No. 719, F. and A. M., conferred the Entered Apprentice degree on Roy D. Stamler at the regular meeting, last Friday night. The work was enjoyed by a large attendance.

Geo. P. Nicholson, our popular contractor and builder, spent Wednesday in Cincinnati on business and the balance of the week at Williamstown, where he is erecting a fine bank building.

Dr. T. T. Metcalf, of Independence, the popular treasurer of Kenton county, was a visitor here Friday on business pertaining to the Equitable Bank and Trust Company, of which he is a director.

For Rent or Sale—The nice two story residence property of O. S. Watts, in the excellent residence quarter of Walton, Ky. For full particulars call or address D. B. Wallace, Equitable Bank, Walton, Ky.

W. C. Black, the popular superintendent of the Consolidated Telephone Company, with headquarters at Walton, spent last Wednesday at Burlington, attending a meeting of the board of directors of the telephone company.

Mrs. Sidney Merrill, of Williamstown, spent part of last week here, guest of her friend and former townswoman, Mrs. J. B. Doubman. Mrs. Merrill was returning from a visit to her uncle, J. G. Nortcutt and family at Glencoe.

Leslie C. Morris, who has been ill for some time with nervous trouble, and brain affection, has been very poorly the past couple of days, being violent at times, and having to be attended and controlled during his irrational moments.

John L. Vest and J. G. Tomlin spent the first of the week at Warsaw, preparing for the trial of the Montgomery will case in the Gallatin circuit court, which convenes in Warsaw, next Monday. Mr. Tomlin spent Tuesday in Owenton on some special business.

The Philomathean Society of the Walton High School will hold its annual banquet at the school chapel Friday night, Nov. 12th, at which all the members are expected to be present. A very entertaining program has been arranged. J. Wilmot Kinslear is the president and Miss Mary Vest is the secretary.

Wm. P. Crouch, a prominent farmer of near Glencoe, was here Friday, arranging to purchase some building material for the improvement of the Society of Equity tobacco warehouse at Glencoe, he being a member of the Gallatin County Board of Control and having the warehouse under his charge.

A. B. Tomkins and wife spent a day last week with relatives and friends at Warsaw, where they were warmly welcomed, that county being the birth place of Mrs. Tompkins and where she spent her girlhood. Mr. Tompkins was also a citizen of that county for quite a period, consequently the visit was a delightful one in every respect.

Rev. E. C. Buck, a brother of our esteemed citizen, Rev. D. T. Buck, was elected the legislative representative from Washington county, Va., last week, on the Democratic ticket, without making a singe speech or making a canvass. Rev. Buck is a minister of the Christian church and resides at Abbington, Va., and is a talented gentleman.

The Walton High school with Prof. C. O. Morgan principal, and his efficient corps of teachers, is making a splendid showing this year, and the pupils are doing excellent work. There is a very earnest cooperation between the pupils and the teachers that is not only praiseworthy, but augurs the best results by the close of the school year.

There was a delightful all-day religious meeting of the Old School Baptists at Salem church, last Friday, when Rev. Jones, the pastor, of Indiana, and Rev. John S. Steers, of Dry Ridge, delivered very interesting sermons. There was a large attendance, and all enjoyed the beautiful day and the bountiful basket dinner spread for the occasion.

Mrs. J. B. Harris has been very ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rouse, threatened with pneumonia. Her husband, Rev. J. B. Harris, who has charge of the Epworth Church at Lexington, has spent most of the week here at her bedside. Their little son, recently born, is getting along very well, and the mother is now much better.

Mrs. John Carroll Hamilton, of Nelms, Okiahoma, arrived here last week, to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. A. B. Tompkins and family. Mrs. Hamilton formerly resided near Sparta, Ky., and has a large circle of friends in Kentucky who will be glad to meet her again, as she is a most estimable lady of attractive qualities of heart and mind.

Wm. Menke, of Kenton county, and Miss Goldie Young, of Walton, were married at the residence of the officiating minister, Rev. D. T. Buck, in Walton, on Thursday, November 4th. The groom is the son of Mrs. Carrie Menke, and the bride is the daughter of William young, and both are very deserving and estimable young people. They will make their home in Ohio, where the groom has a profitable position.

One of the biggest recent events in the Big Bone neighborhood, was the dinner given a few days since by Mr. and Mrs. Frazier Miskell in honor of the home coming of their son, Charles, from the Philippine Islands, where he made a gallant soldier. Twenty-eight children and grandchildren sat at the festal board and enjoyed the bountiful repast. The young man owns a fine ranch in Colorado.

Ray Green, only child and sweet little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Green, died at their home in Louisville, a few days since of pneumonia. She was a most lovable child, and would have been four years old on the 24th inst. The remains were brought here and the funeral took place at the Baptist church, Rev. H. C. Wayman conducting the services, after which the interment took place in the Baptist cemetery. There was a large number of sorrowing and sympathizing friends present. Mr. Green is stationed at Louisville as Kentucky's immigration agent, and is a brother of cashier R. C. Green of the Walton Bank and Trust Co. The many friends here tender the grief-stricken parents their heartfelt sympathy in their great bereavement.

Friday night quite a number of the members of the Methodist church and of other religious denominations assailed the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell with a "pound party," and by an assortment of bundles containing a variety of presents, and words of welcome to Walton made the evening a most happy one that will long be remembered by Bro. Campbell and his excellent wife. The evening was a delightful one to all because of the hearty good cheer and the joyous feeling that prevailed. Rev. Campbell is the new pastor of the Walton Methodist church and his initial work has greatly impressed our people with his splendid qualities as a pastor and preacher, and his congregation are more than pleased with him and his wife.

Woman's Age

often does not agree with her appearance. Pain and suffering add to the years till many women look much older than they really are.

Many women, avoiding pain by the regular use of that effectual remedy, for women, Wine of Cardui, keep their youth and beauty.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. Annie Vaughan, Raleigh, N. C., tried Cardui and writes:

"I was sick and worn out almost unto death. My sister finally persuaded me to take Cardui. Before I had taken five bottles I was well and strong."

Try Cardui. It is for women. Its tonic, building qualities should restore you gently to health. Thousands of women have found it to give them lasting benefit.

Try Cardui.

For sale everywhere.

E 47

Mrs. Martha Hume, one of the venerable ladies of the Nicholson neighborhood, died at her home there last Friday after a brief illness from pneumonia, aged about eighty years. Mrs. Hume was beloved by a large circle of friends for her many excellent qualities, and her long life has been a most useful one, and consecrated to the Lord and Master in all the better walks of life. Mrs. Hume was an old time Baptist, and contributed greatly to the upbuilding of the church work. The funeral took place Sunday at 1 o'clock from the residence of Eugene Rankin in Kenton county, the services being conducted by Rev. J. S. Steers of Dry Ridge. There was a very large attendance of sorrowing friends who came to pay a tribute to the memory of this excellent lady.

Saturday evening, members of the Baptist church, and friends of other denominations, gave Rev. H. C. Wayman and wife a donation surprise party that was a surprise indeed, as Bro. Wayman was about to retire for the night when the thundering knocks and joyous voices announced the presence of the presence of the visitors to the number of 84, who, with all kinds of packages, containing useful articles for the household, came to show their appreciation of the pastor of the church and his lovable wife. The evening was a most happy one because of the genuine spirit of kindly feeling that pervaded all, and Rev. and Mrs. Wayman endeavored in every way to show their high appreciation of the kindness and generosity of all the visitors. Bro. Wayman is completing his course at the Baptist Theological College at Georgetown.

WANTED—500 turkeys, delivered at my place near Hebron, Ky., Saturday, Nov. 20th, or Monday, Nov. 22nd will pay 15 cents per pound. C. E. Clore.

For Sale—Male Poland China hog, one year old. Apply to Wm. Berkshire, Petersburg.

For Sale—Bay stallion, 5 years old, 16 hands high, sired by Addington. Address W. G. Riddell, Hebron, Ky.

For Sale—Combinationl lock, iron safe, weight 375 pounds, just the right size for a home or small business. Cost $40, will sell for $20. Apply to R. W. Clark, Burlington.

$25 Reward—I will pay $25 reward for the return to me in Erlanger, of an English Setter (female), with white black ears, ticked body—strayed or was stolen from the residence of Howard Smith in the town of Walton about six weeks ago.
H. W. SMITH, Erlanger, Ky.

Fruit Trees For Sale.

Apples and Pears, have arranged to furnish Peaches, Cherries and other nursery stock at reasonable prices.
Also B. P. Cockerels.
B. T. KELLY,
R. D. 2, Burlington, Ky.
Farmers Telephone line.

FOR SALE.

My farm of about 200 acres, on good road near Francesville, 3 miles north of Hebron, Boone county, Ky. On this farm is a 4-room residence and all necessary outbuildings, all under new roof. There are 50 acres of timber and 50 acres of good tobacco land, and four never failing springs. This land is two miles from the Ohio river and 15 miles from Cincinnati. Rural route and telephone. For terms call at the farm or address C. W. McFEE,
R D 3, Burlington, Ky.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

CLOSING OUT SALE!

Having Sold our Store Building, we offer our entire Stock of

DRY GOODS and NOTIONS

BOOTS AND SHOES,

—AT—

WHOLESALE PRICES

MUST BE SOLD OUT BY

December 1st, 1909

Full Stock of Winter Shoes. Also a Full Line of the Famous "BALL BAND RUBBER GOODS."

Come! Investigate, and Save Money.

BEDINGER BROS., - - - Richwood, Kentucky.

New Arrival in Watches & Gold Jewelry on Sale at Special Low Prices.

Fifty-one years ago the foundation of this house was laid with Quality, Representations and good values to patrons as cornerstones. The present establishment coupled with the fact that it stands to-day as one of its largest institutions of its kind in the three cities speaks eloquently of the publics appreciation of this Store.

Ladies' watch special 14-kt filled, set with genuine cut diamond for $18.50. See them in our window.

MOTGH,

The Jewfler,
613 Madison Ave.
Covington, Ky.

Farm for Sale.

My 113 acre farm on the Ohio river adjoining the town of McVille, Boone county, Ky. On this farm are two good dwellings a good barn and other necessary outbuildings, and it will produce anything that will grow in this climate. If this farm is not sold by the first of Feby., 1910, I will rent it for one year for money rent, and give rentor privilege to purchase it at the end of the year, or will rent it for part of the crop, the rentor to give good reference as to him being a neat, industrious farmer. If sold terms will be easy. Possession given March 1, 1910. For further particulars call on or address
S. D. RICE, Grant, Ky.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices.

All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co

Rising Sun, Indiana.

—NEW PACKED—

Dried Peaches, Apples, Prunes, Raisins, Oranges, Etc.,

Now in Stock.

All other goods as soon as the season opens. Don't forget to call in and compare my Quality and Prices with others.

C. M. BALDON,
Burlington, Kentucky.

—WE DON'T KNOW WHETHER—

You Know It or Not

Our Customers help to bring the trade to us. They know they get satisfaction. They will tell you, no matter where you go, you'll never find better Clothing than those handled by us.

OUR LINE OF

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing

CAN NOT BE SURPASSED.

We have a large assortment to select from and guarantee FIT, STYLE, MATERIAL and WORKMANSHIP. We have some nice

MEN'S SUITS at..... $5.00 and $7.50

Better Grades MEN'S SUITS... $10.00 to $18.00

These include a great many high priced suits which we have reduced

BOYS' SUITS..... $4.00 to $10.00

We are giving especially great bargains in our Boys' Suits.

MEN'S PANTS... $1.00 to $5.00 CHILDREN'S SUITS... $1.25 to $5.00

Kindly visit our Store and you wilt be most favorably impressed with the bargains we are showing.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

M. L. Swetnam Clarenc E. Swetnam Russell E. Swetnam

M. L. Swetnam & Sons,

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,

15 to 21 E. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.

Phone South 170. FREE AMBULANCE.

Take Your County paper.

C. H. ACRA,
AUCTIONEER
GRANT, KY.
Your Patronage solicited

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.
JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875.
Subsciption $1.50 year.
Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 17, 1909. NO 5.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

IDLEWILD.

Large attendance at Bullittsburg church, Sunday.

Nov. 12.—Money is not required to buy one necessity of the soul.

Mrs. Cecil Burns was shopping in Lawrenceburg, Saturday of last week.

Mrs. T. G. Willis and daughter were shopping in Cincinnati, last Saturday.

Farmer Jones and wife spent Sunday with John Acra and wife, on Doublelick.

James Day, near Bullittsburg church, spent Sunday with his father at Sand Run.

The Bullittsburg church Missionary Society met at Mrs. Lucy Walton's near Bullittsville, Wednesday.

John Wise was right when he said, "if Methuselah hadn't been a man the world would never have known his age."

O. P. Winters and daughter, of Harrison, Ohio, visited his brother-in-law, Albert Gray and family Sunday and Monday.

If you want to know the weather from day to day, watch the forecast in the Cincinnati Post, and the reverse of the forecast will be the weather to a dot.

George Pfalzgraf and brother went, Sunday, to see the Government dam at Fernbank, Ohio. Mr. Pfalzgraf says it is worth any man's time and money to see it.

Clay Hensley, of Petersburg, floated the remainder of his barge of coal to Aurora, as he had sold all he could. Of course everybody was not supplied, but were waiting for Duke's 4 cent coal. As soon as Hensley's coal was gone Duke's coal raised to 13 cents quicker than a cat could lick her eye.

One of the most delightful events of the season occured at the home of Mrs. Anna Eliza Lonaker, on Woolper, Sunday, Nov. 7th, the day being her 64th birthday anniversary. All her children and grandchildren, 50 in number, were present with well filled baskets At the noon hour the table was spread with all the delicacies of the season The dinner has never been excelled on Woolper. The day was enjoyed by all, the afternoon being spent in general conversation, vocal and instrumental music. Those present were Walter Lonaker and family, Ed Lonaker and family, Jasper McGuire and family, Geo. Hensly and family, Lewis Hensly and family, Kirb Ryle and family, William Moreland and family, Jonas Stayback and family, Bert Smith's family, Flave Louder and family, James Moreland, Ben Warford and Mrs. Ina Malory and little son, Charley Hossler was present with his camera and took their photos. Mrs. Lonaker was the recipient of many nice and useful presents. All departed for their homes late in the evening wishing her many more happy birthdays,

GUNPOWDER.

Miss Dora Black, of Ohio, is visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

H. L. Tanner and son, Lonnie, shucked and cribbed 137 shocks of corn last week.

A large congregation was present at communion services at Hopeful last Sunday.

Mrs Minta Utz and mother, Mrs. Ada Surface, were shopping in Cincinnati last Friday.

W. R. Rouse and Frank Hosman, of Hebron, attended church at Hopeful, last Sunday.

Mrs. Lou Jacobs, of Ashland, Ohio, and Roy Coburn, of Portsmouth, Ohio, are visiting friends in this neighborhood.

Spencer Rouse and wife visited at Florence, last Sunday, guests of W. H. Tanner and wife.

After a week's visit to friends in this neighborhood, Mrs. Lizzie Bartell returned to her home in Florence, last Friday.

H. F. Utz, Richard Head and Ed Utz drove a lot of fine cattle to the Cincinnati stock yards, last Friday, and received good prices.

There will be a meeting of the joint council of the Boone County Charge next Monday at 2 o'clock p. m. All the members of that body are requested to be present, as there is important business to attend to.

DEVON

C. Carpenter entertained some city friends, Sunday.

Mrs. Elberta Tanner and Mrs. Omer Armstrong, of Atwood, were guests of Mrs. Cove Carpenter, last Tuesday.

W. F. Schild, wife and little daughter, Hazel, of Lexington pike were guests of Mrs. Schild's sister, at this place Sunday.

The hunting season is on, and guns are heard in all directions. There being but little game the housewives are keeping a watchful eye over their turkey crop.

Alfred Rivard, wife and son, Benjamin, and Miss Emma Connely and niece, Miss Leta Rice, and Mrs. Charles Young and Miss Klpp, of Walton, were pleasant guests of Ben Bristow and family, Sunday.

GRANT.

Rogers Bros,' work mule which was injured some time ago, died last Saturday morning.

School begins here Monday in two rooms. The principal, Mr. Thomas, of Owen county, cannot come until a week from today.

The writer spent the past week helping his brother, S. B. Ryle, of Rabbit Hash, strip tobacco. He has a fine crop of about 8,000 lbs.

The noise on old Centennial this morning sounds like the bombarding of Santiago, and the molly cotton are hunting the tall and uncut.

Morris Rice and wife sold their household and kitchen furniture at public auction Saturday evening. They will leave in a few days for the Panhandle in Texas.

Odelia Grasser was born in Strasburg, Germany, Dec. 6th, 1832, departed this life at the home of her son, Andy Cook, of Salem Ridge, Ind., Nov. 6th, 1909, aged 76 years and 11 months.

Bert Parsons and wife, of Cincinnati, came down Saturday evening to visit the former's parents on Middle creek. Bert evidently intends to hunt the toothsome bunny as he had his blunderbuss along.

Don't forget the farmers' fair here next Saturday. In our items of Oct. 27th, the typo made me say J. J. Walton and W. B. Arnold committee on potatoes ,when it should have been committee on tobacco.

We had the pleasure of hearing Noel Gaines lecture on the Philippines and the doom of official treason, at East Bend, last week. Those who did not attend these lectures missed a rare treat.

She was united in marriage to Theodore Cook, March 13th, 1851. To this union 12 children were born, 7 sons and 5 daughters, one daughter dying in infancy and one son met death by drowning several years ago at Patriot. There were living at the time of her death forty-five grandchildren and 35 great-grand-children, besides many friends and neighbors here and at Patriot. Interment in Patriot cemetery Nov. 8th.

UNION.

Roy Riley is attending business college in Cincinnati.

Miss Harriet McHatton is home after a visit with relatives in Erlanger.

Sam C. Hicks and B. B. Allphin, of Walton, were here on business, Friday.

Mrs. Susie Utz and Miss Jessie were guests of Mrs. O. B. Utz, last Thursday.

Miss Blanche Stephens left for Richmond, Saturday, to enter college, and will remain until June.

Mrs. J. J. Garrison and Mrs. Abe Rice went to Cincinnati, one day last week, to hear Gypsy Smith.

Dr. H. G. Blanton drove over from Erlanger, and spent the day with Dr. H. C. Lassing, Saturday.

John Crisler, of Gunpowder, has bought the J. W. Williams farm and will move to it this spring.

Mrs. Lloyd Stephens entertained a number of relatives from Erlanger and Richwood at dinner Sunday.

L. H. Voshell, J. C. Platt and Tom Bunkett went to Latonia to see Glenn Curtis, the noted aviator and inventor make a trip in his aeroplane.

Mesdames L. H. Vo hell and L. B. Dickerson spent Monday and Tuesday in Erlanger with Mrs. Ben Terrell.

Rev. Wallace Evens, of Walton, occupied the pulpit at the Presbyterian church, in the absence of its pastor, Rev. McMiller, who is in Virginia.

Misses Sadie R. Crisler, Virginia and Addie May Conner, and Messrs. Henry Conner Chas. Denady and Albert Robinson formed a merry theatre party at the grand Saturday night.

Eight indictments against prominent Owen County farmers for the burning of the barn on County Road Supervisor Nelson Cunningham, were returned by the grand jury last week. All were released on $2,000 bond. Cunningham sent out recently notices to all men over 21 in his district to appear for work on the county roads as is required by the state law. Repeatedly warned that his barn would be burned if he attempted to enforce the law, he continued sending the notices. His correspondents made good; the barn was burned and the next day almost every man in the county appeared for work. The wrath'ul Sup r.is- or then went before the grand jury.

In digging a trench on William street between Walnut and Vine for a water pipe to the city hall livery stable workmen employed by A. C. Blllups struck the trestle put in when the old O. and M. road was built nearly sixty years ago. The trestle was constructed of white pine and the portion the workmen uncovered was apparently as sound as new timber.—Lawrenceburg Press.

VERONA.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Powers spent Friday in Cincinnati, shopping.

Irvin Conrad, wife and little son, were Sunday guests of R. O. Powers and family.

Mrs. Bell Taylor and grandson, of Walton, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Henry Cotton.

Mrs. Charles Leary and daughter and father-in-law, of Zion, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Brand.

Mrs. Kirtley Johnson and two of her charming daughter, of Walton, spent Sunday in Verona with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Conrad and baby, of Dry Ridge, were the week's end guests of Mrs. Conrad's parents, Joseph Florence and wife

Hunting season is here and Brer rabbit and Sir quail had better be looking sharp, as Nimrod has a good many relations living here.

News reached here yesterday that the prominent part of Jonesville, Grant county, including the bank and several store houses was burned Saturday night.

Rev. S. M. Theobald, of Campbellsburg, filled his appointment here Saturday and Sunday at New Bethel Baptist church, delivering his usual interesting sermons to very large congregations.

Mrs. L. J. Hume, Mrs. John Ellis-ton, Mrs. George Dudgeon and Mrs. Sophia Whitson, delightfully entertained the Ladies' Aid Society of Concord Baptist church at the home of Mrs. L. J. Hume, last Thursday. At 12 o'clock the ladies were invited to the dining room, where a sumptuous dinner was served. In the afternoon business was transacted and $10 was made up. There was 24 present.

HERE AND THERE.

Born, to W. O. Rector and wife on the 10th inst, a girl.

Miss Lottie Burns left, Saturday, for a week's visit to Mrs. Brook's of Cincinnati.

Herbert Snyder, of Cincinnati, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Snyder.

Chas. Flinn delivered some fat hogs and cattle to Kastner at Lawrenceburg, last Wednesday.

Mr. Geo. Bohannon has returned from a pleasant visit to his parents and friends in Gallatin county.

Indications are the next grandjury will have considerable work investigating violations of the game laws.

Cabil Beemon and Wilson Gaines spent Saturday in Cincinnati, purchasing artillery with which to inaugurate the hunting season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Maxwell, of Covington, arrived Sunday on a few days' visit to the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Snyder.

Joe Givan and wife, of Ind., spent a couple of days last week with Ed Botts and sister, Miss Pearl. Ed returned home with them Sunday.

Charles Sebree, of Cleves, came down last Saturday to look after his land on Woolper, and while he was here, went to Burlington and paid his taxes.

We are indebted to kind friends for some of our best items this week. If every one would take the pains to hand us all items of interest this column would be greatly improved.

Several farmers report having finished husking corn, and quite a number have a considerable portion of their tobacco stripped. It is seldom that farm work is so far advanced as it is this fall.

Clyde Akin, of Moores Hill, Ind., is spending a few days with his parents on lower Woolper. He has been considerably indisposed for several days, and came home for a few days of much needed rest.

A GRANITE WEDDING.

On the 8th inst., the tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Souther, of Idlewild neighborhood, was celebrated by their host of friends after the style of a granite wedding, and numerous articles of much use was given them. Although it was gloomy and cloudy without it was bright and happy within, and the occasion will long be remembered by those present, who were Misses Ida Berkshire, Anna, Lucy, Inez and Kittie Gaines, and Mesdames H. G. Cropper, of North Bend, J. Garr and C. E. Stephens, of Bullittsville; N. S. and Courtney Walton, R. C. Gaines, James T. Gaines, Ben R. Gaines, Elgar Cropper, Geo. Kreyleich, Carl Price, of Idlewild, and Mrs. J. J. Duncan and Legrand Gaines, of Burlington; Sidney Blankenbeker, of Louisville; Mrs. Ellen Terrill, of Petersburg, and this writer. The gentlemen present were Courtney Walton, George Kreyleich, J. T. Gaines, William A. Gaines and Legrand Gaines. A most excellent dinner was spread and greatly enjoyed by the guests. All were sorry when the parting hour arrived, and took their leave, hoping Mr. and Mrs. Souther will celebrate many, many more anniversaries of their wedding.

X X

CALLED TO ILLINOIS.

Rev. J. H. Walterick, of Florence, pastor of the Lutheran churches in this county, was a caller at this office last Saturday afternoon when he made arrangements for advertising his sale, which will take place on the 30th inst. He has accepted a call to a charge in Illinois to which he will go immediately after his sale. By his kindly and gentlemanly traits Rev. Walterick has endeared himself to all who know him here, and the departure of him and his family causes sorrow among his parishioners and friends.

ERLANGER.

Frank Porter, of Dayton, was the guest of friends here last week.

The S. S. Home Department met at Mrs. Katie Roder's, Tuesday.

Miss Maggie Sidnor, of Hinton, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Garnet.

John Rigler and mother have returned from a visit in West Virginia.

Leroy Foster was at Independence, the guest of Miss Edith Lipscomb, last Sunday.

Robert and Ethel White, of Newport, were here Sunday, guests of relatives and friends.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Kiokenbrenk, Tuesday.

Brent Fight, of Covington, was here last Saturday and Sunday, the guest of Owen Hoard.

Mrs. Carrie Fuillove and daughter, Ida, of Cincinnati, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Dryadale.

Leslie Porter and wife, of Dayton, were guests of Mrs. Harvy Westerman the first of the week.

Johnnie Westerman and Miss Ona Forsythe were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eubanks, of Amsterdam pike, last Sunday.

HEBRON.

Communion services at Hebron next Sunday morning at 10:30.

The C. E. Social will be held at Mrs. Clara Hafer's, next Saturday night.

Gordon Aylor, of Ludlow, spent Saturday night and Sunday visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Verner Tupman will go to housekeeping in a portion of the residence with Mrs. Davis, of this place.

Mrs. Joseph Schwartz died, Monday, Nov. 8th, after an illness of several months. She leaves a husband, three sons and two daughters to mourn her death. The funeral services were held at Florence Catholic church, last Friday morning at 10 o'clock, after which the remains were taken to the St Mary's cemetery for burial.

Miss Iva, daughter of M. L. Aylor and Lewis Riddell, and Miss Georgia daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McGlasson, and Verner Tupman, were married last Wednesday afternoon at Rev. J. H. Walterick's, near Florence. After the ceremonies the happy couples left for Cincinnati, returning the next day to Mrs. Tupman's, near Constance, where an elegant dinner was enjoyed by a number of guests. Each couple received many useful and beautiful presents. May happiness attend them along the journey of life is the wish of their many friends.

FLICKERTOWN.

Nice rains.

Frank Voshell has been indisposed for several days.

Wm. White spent Saturday and Sunday at Guilford, Indiana.

Ed Botts made a business trip to Lawrenceburg, last Saturday.

Wm. White planted three bushels of potatoes and dug 61 bushels.

Mrs. Lonlaker dined her children and grand children last Sunday.

The hunting season opened Monday, and hunters were numerous.

Mrs. J. W. White and daughter, Alice, visited at E. Ogden's, Monday.

Mrs. Harry Kettle, of Cleves, was the guest of the writer and family, recently.

Miss Rose Beemon was the guest of Miss Eva Akin several days the past week.

Carl Beacom raised the largest Hoosier Boy Irish potatoes in this neighborhood.

Elbert Sullivan was in Lawrenceburg, last Thursday, having some dental work done.

Charles Sullivan and wife entertained the young folks with a party, last Thursday night.

C. J. Hensly and wife were guests of Hubert White and wife outon the East Bend road, last Sunday.

Mrs. James Burns and children were Sunday guests at William Snelling's over at Rock Spring.

Dock Houston, of Cleves, was the guest of his brother-in-law, Chares Shinkle, last Monday, and spent the day hunting.

BULLITTSVILLE.

Husking corn is the order of the day in this community.

Mrs. Yancy Clore and sons were shopping in Cincinnati, one day last week.

C. E. Stephens and family, Yancy Clore and family, Mrs. Lucy Walton and A. S. Winston spent Sunday with Wm. Hedges and family, of Gunpowder neighborhood.

The death angel has been in our little village and taken from our midst a most highly esteemed young lady, Miss Mary, the only child of A. W. Corn and wife. She departed this life Nov. 14th at 2:30 o'clock. Miss Mary was of a lovely disposition and to know her was to love her. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning after which the remains were laid to rest at Bullittsburg.

Kills Her Foe of 20 Years.

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Me., "was Dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up. I tried Electric Bitters which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am overjoyed to get my health and strength back again." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Kidney Trouble, Lame Back, Female Complaints, its unequaled. Only 50c at Beutler's drug store, Erlanger.

R. W. Clark will have a public sale of all his household goods, etc., county court day, Dec., at 10 a. m.

PT. PLEASANT.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gross gave the young people a dance, last Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tanner were the guests, Sunday, of his parents, J. S. Tanner and wife.

The ladies of this community have organized an Aid Society with Mrs. J. S. Tanner, president.

Mrs. Addie Gaines entertained R. H. Carter and wife and Miss Virgie Riggs, Sunday, and her mother, Mrs. Utz.

The many friends of Mrs. Sallie Souther were glad to see her out at church Sunday, after an absence of several months due to sickness.

The Pt. Pleasant Country Club will hold its first regular meeting at Howard V. Tanner's residence, next Saturday night, the 20th inst.

Miss Edith Feldhaus and Joe Wilson, of Union, spent Sunday with Mrs. G. E. Bradford. Miss Edith will be her guest for sometime.

There will be services at the church through next week continuing on from the regular services the fourth Sunday. Every one is cordially invited to attend.

A very pleasant and profitable social was held at Edgar Souther's residence, Saturday night, though there were several other social functions in the neighborhood.

Among the visitors at church Sunday, were Mr. John Stephens, Mrs. Charles Stephens and daughter, Eva, of Erlanger, and Mrs. Rose Crigler, of Ludlow, Mrs. Davis, of Hebron.

The Pt. Pleasant Christian church has started agitation for a new building. Old Point has long been called the mother of churches, and is a place of pleasant memories and associations to almost everyone in the county. We want like to have pledges from every member and from every one who loves Christ's work. Some members are pledging 5c per week and some 10c, or whatever they feel they can give. May we all be as a unit in preparing dear Old Point for greater work. Pledges and contributions can be given or mailed to Rev. R. H. Carter, Petersburg; B F. McGlasson, Erlanger, R. D. 1.; H. M. Kenyon, Ludlow, R. D. 2, or W. Keene Souther, Ludlow, R. D. 2.

BUFFALO.

Nov. 15—The sick are improving.

Ealy Conly and wife spent Sunday at J. H. Stephens'.

Mrs. William Rue entertained several friends Thursday.

Joseph Huey spent several days last week in Covington.

Miss Nora Ryle visited friends in this neighborhood, last week.

The Ladies' Aid Society met with Mrs. Sallie Huey, last Thursday.

Frank Rue was delivering tobacco in Covington, one day last week.

Mrs. O. C. Rouse and daughter spent Sunday at John Newman's.

Mrs. Etta Clements spent Wednesday night with Mrs. Emma Marshall.

Mrs. P. A. Weaver entertained quite a number of her friends last Friday.

J. D. McNeely, wife and son, Bernard, dined with Rev. McMillan, last Sunday.

J. H. Stephens and sons delivered two loads of tobacco in Covington, last Saturday.

Sandford Bristow and sister, Louisa, of Ludlow, visited in this neighborhood from Friday until Monday.

N. H. Clements and family, and Miss Mary Alton Vought and Lee McNeely spent Sunday at Richard Head's.

There will be a spelling-bee at the Hathaway school house on the night of November 18th, and everybody is cordially invited.

Mesdames Elizabeth Huey, Emma Marshall and Etta Clements spent last Wednesday in Union, guests of Mrs. Nannie Stephens.

PETERSBURG.

Mrs. W. T. Berkshire and Sunday School class say you to kum to Krn z' Hall, Petersburg, Saturday nite, November 20th.

ROOLS.

1st. Every womin what kums must ware a klean kalliker or gingham dress an apern.

2d. Know gent with a biled shirt or dood koller will be aloud to kum onles he pays 10c.

3d. No rats or frizzies onles yew pay 25c.

4th. Any won kummin dressed taky or out of season will be fined 10c.

A kompitent konitty will introduce strangers and look after bashful fellers.

Kum at kandle littin and stay till bedtime an enjoy the fun. All womin and girls bring a pie. No obstreprous boy will be purmited.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church, of Petersburg, will hold a handkerchief bazaar, Saturday, November 20th, in Dr. Weindel's old office building. Everyone who is in need of a handkechief is invited.

Program of Teachers' meeting to be held at Burlington, Saturday, November 20th:

10 a. m., Invocation, Supt. D. M. Snyder; Physics and Health, Prof. E. L. Dix; Reading—Primary, Lutie Ryle, Advanced, Lucy Russell; Grammar—Correct Speech, Stella Carpenter; Writing—Why Neglect? Robert C. McNeely; Arithmetic—Primary, Emil Regenbogen; Geography, Katie Mendel; The Teacher—His Power and Duties, general discussion.

It is earnestly hoped that all the teachers, trustees, patrons and friends of education will be present and help make this meeting a success.

PARIS B. AKIN.

For Sale—Domestic Sewing Machine, in good condition, will sell cheap. Apply to Mrs. W. C. Goodridge, Burlington r. d. 1.

Personal Mention.

B. H. Berkshire, of Petersburg, was a caller at this office, yesterday.

Ben Crisler, of McVille, was transacting business in Burlington, yesterday.

Miss Lizzie Rogers, of Walton, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. C. Roberts.

W. R. Rouse and Jacob Lodge, of Hebron, were callers at this office last Saturday.

T. J. Griffith and wife, of Verona, were guests at the Cowen House, last Saturday night.

Miss Jennie Aylor, of Gunpowder, was the guest of Miss Euna Jones, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hedges entertained several of their relatives in a royal manner, last Sunday.

Dr. Richardson and wife, of Rising Sun, passed through Burlington Sunday afternoon, going to Cincinnati.

Mrs. Kate McWethy and J. I. McWethy, of Petersburg, were transacting business in Burlington, yesterday.

Bud Baker, of Limaburg, accompanied by Richards, of Covington, was in Burlington a few hours Sunday morning.

J. H. Rogers, County Clerk elect, of Walton, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. C. C. Roberts, a couple of days this week.

B. A. Rouse, of Gunpowder, was a caller at this office, last Saturday. His visits to the county seat are few and far between.

Miss Besse Hall ,after a two weeks' visit with relatives at Loveland, Ohio, and Newport, returned home last Saturday night.

Earl Walton, wife and baby, of Petersburg were Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mrs. Walton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Hughes.

Col. C. C. Graddy, deputy revenue collector stationed at Petersburg, was a guest at the Cowen House last Saturday night. The Colonel is looking well and was happy as a lark.

Miss Charlotte Hall, who has a position as stenographer for the H. M. Rubel Co., Cincinnati, spent from Saturday evening until Monday morning with her parents, F. A. Hall and wife.

Clem Kendall, who has a position as painter at Lakeland Asylum for the insane, is spending a few days vacation in this county with his wife's relations. He was hunting Monday on the scenes of his childhood, and late that afternoon called at this office. He has a host of friends here at his old home.

M. S. Rice, of Covington, accompanied by his friend, Mr. Savage, who is a member of the U. S. Army, are spending a few days in this and the Waterloo neighborhood, hunting. Mr. Rice was born and raised near Locust Grove school house, and that section of the county is of particular interest to him.

Look Out for the Cars.

Dr. M. J. Crouch, B. L. Rice and others, promoters of the proposed traction road from Big Bone Springs to Covington, have filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of State, and thus is taken another step looking to the completion of a road that would be of an untold benefit to this county.

Turnpikes have been considered the farmers' avenue for travel for many years, but they have about had their day and must give place to the traction roads that are rapidly becoming a net work in this part of the country.

The traction roads afford for the rural population a comfortable and rapid transit every hour in the day to and from the large cities from which they radiate, and there is no section of country in greater need of an advantage of that kind than the territory which the road will necessarily traverse between Big Bone Springs and Covington.

Besides the great benefits to be derived from the road by those who own land immediately thereon, there is no question but what capital will at once become interested in Big Bone Springs as a health resort, and a large amount of money will be invested in improvements there, a result that would be a benefit to the entire county.

If the gentlemen who are working to secure the road are successful, in future years they will be regarded as public benefactors, and their names will go down to future generations as the first real public spirited citizens the county every developed. It is sincerely hoped that success will crown their efforts.

Change in the School Law.

Important changes in the present school law of Kentucky are to be presented to the Legislature at its next session. The new bill was prepard by the Kentucky Educational Commission and while the bill has not been completed a rough draft of it has been made The bill replaces the present State Board of Education and provides for general supervision of finances and the preparation of examination questions, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction is given much larger powers. As to the County Superintendents the bill will provide that they must devote their whole time to their duties and their salaries are to be increased.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY A. C. MCCLURG & CO.

"Now, Don't Get Mad. Worst Thing in the World for Malaria."

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrops. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights. The trio secured eggs from the cliffs. Miss Leslie's white skirt was decided upon as a signal. Miss Leslie made a dress from the leopard skin. Blake's efforts to kill antelopes failed.

CHAPTER XIII.—Continued.

The one difficulty was to reach the lower branches. She could hardly touch them with her finger-tips. But her barbaric costume must have inspired her. She listened for a moment, and hearing no sound to indicate the return of the men, clasped the upper side of the trunk with her hands and knees, and made an energetic attempt to climb. The posture was far from dignified, but the girl's eyes sparkled with satisfaction as she found herself slowly mounting.

When, flushed and breathless, she gained a foothold among the branches, she looked down at the ground, and permitted herself a merry little giggle such as she had not indulged in since leaving boarding-school. She had actually climbed a tree! She would show Mr. Blake that she was not so helpless as he fancied.

At the thought, she clambered on up, finding that the branches made convenient steps. She did not look back, and the screen of treetops beneath saved her from any sense of giddiness. As her head came above the level of the cliff, she peered through the foliage, and saw the signal-flag far over near the end of the headland. The big piece of white duck stood out bravely against the blue sky, all the more conspicuous for the flocks of frightened seafowl which wheeled above and around it.

Surprised that she did not see the men, Miss Leslie started to draw herself up over the cliff edge. She heard Winthrope's voice a few yards away to her left. A sudden realization that the Englishman might consider her exploit ill-bred caused her to sink back out of sight.

She was hesitating whether to descend or to climb on up, when Winthrope's peevish whine was cut short by a loud and angry retort from Blake. Every word came to the girl's ears with the force of a blow.

"You do, do you? Well, I'd like to know where in hell you come in. She's not your sister, nor your mother, nor your aunt, and if she's your sweetheart, you've both been damned close-mouthed over it."

There was an irritable, rasping murmur from Winthrope, and again came Blake's loud retort. "Look here, young man, don't you forget you called me a cad once before. I can stand a good deal from a sick man; but I'll give it to you straight, you'd better cut that out. Call me a brute or a savage, if that'll let off your steam; but, understand, I'm none of your English kinds."

Again Winthrope spoke, this time in a fretful whine.

Blake replied with less anger: "That's so; and I'm going to show you that I'm the real thing when it comes to being a sport. Give you my word, I'll make no move till you're through the fever and on your legs again. What I'll do then depends on my own sweet will, and don't you forget it. I'm not after her fortune. It's the lady herself that takes my fancy. Remember what I said to you when you called me a cad the other time. You had your turn aboard ship. Now I can do as I please; and that's what I'm going to do, if I have to kick you over the cliff end first, to shut off your pesky interference."

The girl crouched back into the withered foliage, dazed with terror. Again she heard Blake speak. He had dropped into a bitter sneer.

"No chance? It's no nerve, you mean. You could brain me, easy enough, any night—just walk up with a club when I'm asleep. Trouble is, you're like most other under dogs—'fraid that if you licked your boss, there'd be no soup bones. So I guess I'm slated to stay boss of this colony—grand Poo Bah and Mikado, all in one. Understand? You mind your own business, and don't go to interfering with me any more! . . . Now, if you've stared enough at the lady's skirt—"

The threat of discovery stung the girl to instant action. With almost frantic haste, she scrambled down to the lower branches, and sprang to the ground. She had never ventured such a leap even in childhood. She struck lightly but without proper balance, and pitched over sideways. Her hands chanced to alight upon the remnants of leopard skin. Great as was her fear, she stopped to gather all together in the edge of her skirt before darting up the cleft.

At the haobab she turned and gazed back along the cliff edge. Before she had time to draw a second breath, she caught a glimpse of Blake's palm-leaf hat, near the crown of the ladder tree.

"O-o-h!—he didn't see me!" she murmured. Her frantic strength vanished, and a deathly sickness came upon her. She felt herself going, and sought to kneel to ease the fall.

She was roused from the swoon by Blake's resonant shout: "Hey, Miss Jenny! where are you? We've got your laundry on the pole in fine shape!"

The girl's flaccid limbs grew tense, and her body quivered with a shudder of dread and loathing. Yet she set her little white teeth, and forced herself to rise and go out to face the men. Both met her look with a blank stare of consternation.

"What is it, Miss Genevieve?" cried Winthrope. "You're white as chalk!"

"It's the fever!" growled Blake. "She's in the cold stage. Get a pot on. We'll—"

"No, no; it's not that! It's only—I've been frightened!"

"Frightened?"

"By a—a dreadful beast!"

"Beast!" repeated Blake, and his pale eyes flashed as he sprang across to where his bow and arrows and his club leaned against the haobab. "I'll have no beasts nosing around my dooryard! Must be that skulking lion I heard last night. I'll show him!" He caught up his weapons and stalked off down the cleft.

"By Jove!" exclaimed Winthrope; "the man really must be mad. Call him back, Miss Genevieve. If anything should happen to him—"

"If only there might!" gasped the girl.

"Why, what do you mean?"

She hurst into a hysterical laugh. "Oh! oh! it's such a joke—such a joke! At least he's not a hyena—oh, no; a brave beast! Hear him shout! And he actually thinks it's a lion! But it isn't—it's himself! Oh, dear! oh, dear! what shall I do?"

"Miss Genevieve, what do you mean? Be calm, pray, be calm!"

"Calm!—when I heard what he said? Yes; I heard every word! In the top of the tree—"

"In the tree? Heavens! Miss—er—Miss Genevieve!" stammered Winthrop, his face paling. "Did you—did you hear all?"

"Everything—everything he said! What shall I do? I am so frightened! What shall I do?"

"Everything he said?" echoed Winthrope.

"You spoke too low for me to hear; hut I'm sure you faced him like a gentleman—I must believe it of you—"

Winthrope drew in a deep breath. "Ah, yes; I did, Miss Genevieve—I assure you. The beast! Yet you see the plight I am in. It is a nasty muddle—indeed it is! But what can I do? He is strong as a gorilla. Really, there is only one way—no douht you heard him taunt me over it. I assure you I should not be afraid—but it would he so horrid—so cold-blooded. As a gentleman, you know—"

"No; it is not that!" hroke in the girl. "He is right. Neither of us has the courage—even when he is asleep."

"My dear Miss Genevieve, this heast instinct to kill—"

"Yes; hut think of him. If he is a beast, he is at least a brave one. While we—we haven't the courage of rahhits. I thought you called yourself an English gentleman. Are you going to stand hy, and not lift a finger?"

"Really, now, Miss Genevieve, to murder a man—"

"Self-defense is not a crime—self-preservation. If you have a spark of manhood—"

"My dear—"

"For Heaven's sake, if you can't do anything, at least keep still! Oh, I'm sure I shall go mad! If only I had heen drowned!"

"Ah, yes, to be sure. But really now, what you ask is a good deal for a man to risk. The fellow might wake up and murder me! Should I take the risk, might I—er—expect some manifestation of your gratitude, Miss Genevieve?"

"Of course! of course! I should always—"

"I—ah—refer to the—the—bestowal of your hand."

"My hand? I— Would you bargain for my esteem? I thought you a gentleman!"

"To be sure—to he sure! Who says I am not? But all is fair in love and war, you know. Your choice is quite free. I take it, you will not consider his—er—proposals. But if you do not wish my aid, you have another way of escape—that is—at least other women have done it."

The girl gazed at him, her eyes dilating with horror as she realized his meaning.

"No, no; not that!" she gasped. "I want to live—I've a right to live! Why, I'm only just 22—I—"

"Hush!" cautioned Winthrope. "He's coming back. Be calm! There will be time until I get over this vile malaria. It may be that he himself will have the fever."

"He will not have the fever," replied the girl, in a hopeless tone and she leaned back listlessly against the baohab, as Blake swung himself up, frowning and sullen, and flung his weapons from him.

"Bah!" he grumhled, "I told you that brute was a sneak, I've chased clean down to the pool and into the open, and not a smell of him. Must have hiked off into the tall grass the minute he heard me."

"If only he had gone off for good!" murmured Miss Leslie.

"Maybe he has; though you never can count on a sneak. Even you might be able to shoo him off next time; but, like as not, he'd come along when we were all out calling, and clean out our commissary. Guess I'll set to and run up a barricade down there where the gully is narrowest. There're shoals of dead thorn-hrush to the right of the pool."

"Ah, yes; I fancy the vultures will be so vexed when they find your hedge in the way," remarked Winthrope.

"My! how smart we're getting!" retorted Blake. "Don't, worry, though. We'll stow the stuff in Miss Jenny's boudoir, and I guess the birdies'll be polite enough to keep out."

"I must say, Blake, I do not see why you should wish to drag us away from here."

"There's lots of things you don't see, Win, my b'y—jokes, for instance. But what could you expect?—you're English. Now, don't get mad. Worst thing in the world for malaria."

"One would fancy you could see that I am not angry. I've a splitting headache, and my hack hurts. I am ill."

Blake looked him over critically, and nodded. "That's no lie, old man. You're entitled to a hospital check all right. Miss Jenny, we'll appoint you chief nurse. Make him comfortable as you can, and give him hot broth whenever he'll take it. You can do your sewing on the side. Whenever you need help, call on me. I'm going to begin that harricade."

CHAPTER XIV.

Fever and Fire and Fear.

By nightfall Winthrope was tossing and groaning on the bed of leaves which Miss Leslie had heaped heneath his camp. Though not delirious, his high temperature, coupled with the pains which racked every nerve and bone in his body, rendered him light-headed. He would catch himself up in the midst of some rambling nonsense to inquire anxiously whether he had said anything silly or strange. On being reassured upon this, he would relax again, and, as likely as not, break into a bahyish wail over his aches and pains.

Blake shook his head when he learned that the attack had not been preceded by a chill.

"Guess he's in for a hot time," he said. "There is more'n one kind of malarial fever. Some are a whole lot like typhus."

"Typhus? What is that?" asked Miss Leslie.

"Sort of rapid fire, double action typhoid. Not that I think Win's got it—only malaria. What gets me is that we've only been here these few days, and yet it looks like he's got the continuous, no-chill kind."

"Then you think he will be very ill?"

"Well, I guess he'll think so. It ought to run out in a week or ten days, though. We've had good water, and it usually takes time for malaria to soak in deep. Now, don't worry, Miss Jenny. It'll do him no good, and you a lot of harm. Take things easy as you can, for you've got to keep up your strength. If you don't, you'll be down yourself before Win is up."

"I'll while he is helpless and unable— Oh, no; that cannot he! I must not give way to the fever until—"

"Don't worry. You'll likely have it off for a couple of weeks or so. You're lively yet, and that's a good sign. I knew Win was in for it when he began to grouch and loaf and do the hahy act. I haven't much use for dudes in general, and English dudes in particular; but I'll admit that, while Win's soft enough in spots, he's not all mush and milk."

"Thank you, Mr. Blake."

"You're welcome. I couldn't say less, seeing that Win can't speak for himself. Now you tumble in and get a good sleep. I'll go on as night nurse, and work at the harricade same time. You're not going to do any night-nursing. I can gather the thorn-hrush in the afternoons, and pile it up at night."

In the morning Miss Leslie found that Blake had built a substantial canopy over the invalid, in place of the first ramshackle structure.

"It's best for him to be out in the air," he explained; "so I fixed this up to keep off the dew. But whenever it rains, we'll have to tote him inside."

"Ah, yes; to be sure. How is he?" murmured the girl.

"He's about the same this morning. But he got a little sleep. Keep him dosed with all the hot broth he'll take. And say, roust me out at noon. I've had my breakfast. Now I'll have a snooze. So long!"

He nodded, and crawled under the shade of the nearest bush, too drowsy to observo her look of dismay.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

German Proverb.

Good counsel is better than a thousand hands.

Introspection Not for All.

Solitude can be delightful only to the innocent.—Leszczynski.

PICTURE ON MEMORY'S WALL.

Uncle—Well, Tommy, how was your report this term?

Nephew—I call feel it yet, uncle.

GOING UP!

City ways were not altogether new to him, but, as he waited at the elevator shaft, in one of Omaha's large office buildings, he said to his companions.

"Well, I'll be hanged if that isn't a beater."

"Why, what?"

"Just look at that confounded railroad advertising on an Omaha elevator—UP! What won't they do next?"

His companion replied, "Sh—, Sh—, those letters mean 'up.'"

When I see that word, this jingle always comes to my mind:

'Whenever the little word 'up' you see,
Think of Safety, Speed, Service via U. P.'

You will see that word at almost every passenger elevator in the country, but before you leave for the West, be sure to buy your ticket via "The Safe Road to Travel."

Chloroform Zoo Animals.

The practice of cutting the claws of the more ferocious animals of the London zoological garden has recently been greatly facilitated by chloroforming the animals. Heretofore it was done by sheer force by a squad of men, the animal being first secured by ropes.

Nothing will thaw the frigid heart of a man as quickly as a pretty woman's tears.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES

FOR RHEUMATISM, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, BACKACHE, DIABETES

1875 "Guarantee"

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

Paper-Hangers & Painters

You can greatly increase your business with no extra investment by selling Alfred Peats' Prize Wallpaper. We want one good worker in each vicinity, and to the first worthy applicant will send FREE, by prepaid express, five large sample books showing a $250,000.00 Wallpaper Stock for customers to select from. We offer liberal profits to our representatives. Answer quickly that you may get the agency in your vicinity for 1910.

Alfred Peats Co., 144-146 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U. S. mail box. Agents wanted. Get catalog. The James Murdoch & Co. Established 1871.

To Enjoy

the full confidence of the Well-Informed of the World and the Commendation of the most eminent physicians it was essential that the component parts of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna should be known to and approved by them; therefore, the California Fig Syrup Co. publishes a full statement with every package. The perfect purity and uniformity of product, which they demand in a laxative remedy of an ethical character, are assured by the Company's original method of manufacture known to the Company only.

The figs of California are used in the production of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna to promote the pleasant taste, but the medicinal principles are obtained from plants known to act most beneficially.

To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

Had a Sure Thing.

An individual, well known on the Berlin Bourse for his wit, one morning wagered that he would ask the same question of 50 different persons and receive the same answer from each. The wit went to first one and then another, until he had reached the number of 50. And this is how he won the bet: He whispered half audibly to each: "I say, have you heard that Meyer has failed?" "What Meyer?" queried the whole 50, one after another, and it was decided that the het had been fairly won.

Undoubtedly Not.

Capt. Jerome, while visiting Col. Higginson, took a derringer from the table, and asked: "This thing loaded?" But before the colonel could reply the weapon was discharged, the bullet tearing away one of the fingers of the visitor. The colonel, who is widely known on account of his extreme politeness, bowed gracefully, and rejoined: "Not now, my dear captain."

Occasionally a schoolgirl is so romantic that she imagines all poetry should be printed in italics.

WESTERN CANADA

What Governor Deneen, of Illinois, Says About It

Governor Deneen, of Illinois, owns a section of land in Saskatchewan, Canada. He has said in an interview:

"As an American I am delighted to see the remarkable progress of Western Canada. Our people are flocking across the boundary in thousands, and I have not yet met one who admitted he had made a mistake. They are all doing well. There is scarcely a community in the Middle or Western States that has not a representative in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta."

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

125 Million Bushels of Wheat in 1909

Western Canada field crops for 1909 will easily yield to the farmer $170,000,000.00 in cash.

Free Homesteads of 160 acres, and pre-emptions of 160 acres at $3.00 an acre. Railway and Land Companies have land for sale at reasonable prices. Many farmers have paid for their land out of the proceeds of one crop. Splendid climate, good schools, excellent railway facilities, low freight rates, wood, water and rainfall are plentiful.

For pamphlet "Last Best West," particulars as to suitable location and low settlers' rate, apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or to Canadian Gov't Agent.

H. M. WILLIAMS

Law Building Toledo, Ohio

(Use address nearest you.) [1]

A CRUISE TO

SOUTH AMERICA

BRAZIL, ARGENTINA
URUGUAY and CHILE

First trip of its kind ever arranged—will be made by the S.S. Bluecher (12,500 tons) leaving New York January 22, 1910. Duration

81 Days . $350 up

Also cruises to the West Indies and Orient

P. O. Box 1767

HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE

41-45 Broadway - - - - New York

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 47—1909.

The Wizard of Horticulture

Hon. Luther Burbank

says: "Delicious is a gem—the finest apple in all the world. It is the best in quality of any apple I have so far tested,"—and Mr. Burbank knows.

Delicious is but one of the hundreds of good things in Stark Trees—the good things you should know about before you plant this fall or next spring.

Let us tell you about them by writing today for our complete, illustrated price-list-catalogue which describes our complete line of fruit trees, ornamentals, etc.

Wanted—A Bright, Capable Man

in each county of this state to sell Stark Trees on commission. No previous experience necessary. The work is pleasant, clean work, highly profitable, and the positions are permanent to the right men, who apply immediately.

Many of our salesmen are earning $50 to $80 per month and expenses; some are making more. You can do as well or better if you're a hustler and trying to succeed.

No investment called for; we furnish complete order-getting outfit free and the most liberal contract.

For complete information address the Sales Manager of

STARK BRO'S NURSERIES & ORCHARDS CO., LOUISIANA, MO.

For Asthma, Bronchitis and all Throat Troubles Take

PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

The relief is as quick as it is certain. Pleasant to take and guaranteed absolutely free from opiates.

All Druggists, 25 cents.

Oh! That Awful Gas

Did you hear it? How embarrassing. These stomach noises make you wish you could sink through the floor. You imagine everyone hears them. Keep a box of CASCARETS in your purse or pocket and take a part of one after eating. It will relieve the stomach of gas. 917

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment. All druggists. Biggest seller in the world—million boxes a month.

OWES HER LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care but got no relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Emma Wheaton, Vienna, W. Va.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

PATENTS FRANKLIN H. HOUGH, Washington, D. C. No attorney's fees until patent is obtained. Write for inventor's Guide.

STRANGE COMPANY.

The Goose—How times change, to be sure. I have never seen the fox such good friends with a duck before.

A Hero.

Tommy's mother had made him a present of a toy shovel and sent him out in the sand lot to play with his baby brother. "Take care of baby now, Tommy, and don't let anything hurt him," was mamma's parting injunction.

Presently screams of anguish from hahy sent the distracted parent flying to the sand lot. "For goodness' sake, Tommy, what has happened to the hahy?" said she, trying to soothe the wailing infant.

"There was a naughty fly hiting him on the top of his head, and I killed it with the shovel," was the proud reply.—Exchange.

A Lay Matter.

"Would you like the floors in mosaic?" asked the architect.

The Springfield man looked dubious.

"Would you like the floors in mosaic patterns?"

"I don't know so much about that," he finally said. "I ain't got any prejudice against Moses as a man, and maybe he knew a lot about the law. As regards laying of floors, though, I kinder think I'd rather have 'em unsectarian."—Harper's Weekly.

Her Sad Finish.

"Did you ever know a girl to die for love?"

"Yes."

"Did she just fade away and die because some man deserted her?"

"No; she just took in washing and worked herself to death because the man she loved married her."

CAREFUL DOCTOR
Prescribed Change of Food Instead of Drugs.

It takes considerable courage for a doctor to deliberately prescribe only food for a despairing patient, instead of resorting to the usual list of medicines.

There are some truly scientific physicians among the present generation who recognize and treat conditions as they are and should be treated regardless of the value to their pockets. Here's an instance:

"Four years ago I was taken with severe gastritis and nothing would stay on my stomach, so that I was on the verge of starvation.

"I heard of a doctor who has a summer cottage near me—a specialist from N. Y., and as a last hope, sent for him.

"After he examined me carefully he advised me to try a small quantity of Grape-Nuts at first, then as my stomach became stronged to eat more.

"I kept at it, and gradually got so I could eat and digest three teaspoonfuls. Then I began to have color in my face, memory became clear, where before everything seemed a blank. My limbs got stronger and I could walk. So I steadily recovered.

"Now, after a year on Grape-Nuts I weigh 153 lbs. My people were surprised at the way I grew fleshy and strong on this food."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

HEROIC FEDERAL AND STATE OFFICIALS

Make Three Descents Into St. Paul Shaft in Efforts To Reach Victims of Awful Disaster, But Failed.

Cherry, Ill.—Fearlessly risking their lives where more than 350 miners lie entombed and where a rescue party of a dozen brave men were roasted to death the day previous, two members of the United States geographical survey, a mine inspector and a young miner made three descents into the St. Paul shaft at Cherry, Sunday, in heroic, but vain, efforts to reach victims of Saturday's terrible disaster.

These four men, R. Y. Williams and J. M. Webb, of the federal station at Urbana; James Taylor, of Peoria, and Joe Smith, of Spring Valley, reluctantly postponed further search at a late hour Sunday night until morning.

The failure of daring attempts at rescue by this quartette probably seals the fate of more than 350 unfortunates underground.

When the searchers quit their strenuous endeavors Sunday night the imprisoned men in the shaft had been cut off for a period of nearly 36 hours. Hope departed from even the most optimistic hearts with the passing of daylight, and Sunday night the village of Cherry is crushed and stunned in the grip of the great tragedy.

A quiet, more ominous than the hysteria of Saturday night, when women cried, sang and yelled in the frenzy of varying emotions, has settled upon the town. Everywhere are widows and orphans, with sorrow-set faces and eyes dimmed hy long weeping.

Ghastly in its weirdness, a vigil was kept all night at the sealed mouth of the shaft by a score of women whose husbands lay 500 feet below.

Late Sunday night officials of the coal company declared that 178 men had been accounted for and that the men imprisoned in the mines would number possibly 385.

SAND ACTED AS A BUFFER

And Prevented Explosion of the Two Bombs Thrown at Carriage of Viceroy of India.

Armedabad, British India.—The the spirit of revolt is spreading in India was shown Sunday by an attack made by discontents on the lives of Lord and Lady Minto.

The viceroy and his wife have been here for a week's stay at one of the viceregal castles and Sunday were riding through the city most of the time.

While driving through a narrow lane in the park two bombs were thrown at their carriage by a young man in native dress, apparently a student.

A dragoon, who was riding alongside of the carriage, spurred forward and struck the first bomh heroically with the hack of his saber, hurling it some distance away into a sand heap.

The second bomb luckily struck an umbrella which was held by the viceroy's jemidar, a native lieutenant, over Lady Minto's head, and the quick action of the jemidar made it rebound to the ground.

Neither bomh exploded, the soft sand acting as a huffer. An examination of the infernal machines revealed the fact that they contained picric acid, and the carriage would have been undoubtedly wrecked and the occupants killed had they been exploded anywhere near the vehicle.

Just prior to this, as the carriage passed through another street, a bomb exploded some distance away. The explosion attracted the police and many pedestrians, who found a man on the ground with his hand blown off. He proved to be an innocent bystander.

It will be recalled that only a short time ago a fanatic Indian student in London killed Gen. Sir Wylie during a reception in the Indian office.

Many Persons Drowned.

Singapore, India.—Over a hundred passengers and members of the crew of the small steamer La Seyne were drowned or eaten by sharks when the ship was nearly cut in two in a collision with the British-India liner Onda. Among the passengers lost were Baron and Baroness Benicky, the captain of La Seyne, five European officers and 88 others. The rescue of 61 persons from the jaws of sharks was a thrilling incident of the wreck. The accident occurred in a thick haze.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Nov. 13.—Cattle—Extra, $6@6.10. Calves—Extra, $8.75@9. Hogs—Choice, $8@8.05. Sheep—Extra, $4.35@4.50. Lambs—Extra, $7@7.10. Flour—Spring patent, $5.60@5.80. Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.24@1.26. Corn—No. 2 mixed. 62c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41½c. Rye—No. 2 choice, 76@78c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15.25@15.75. Butter—Dairy, 23c. Eggs—Per doz., 26c. Apples—Choice, $3.75@4. Potatoes—Per brl., $1.50@1.75. Tobacco—Burley, $8.90@15.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.20@1.21. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 64¼c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 40@41c. Pork—Prime mess, $23.75@24. Lard—Prime, $13.15.

Louisville, Nov. 13.—Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.22@1.24. Corn—No. 2 mixed, 63c. Oats—No. 2 mixed, 41c. Hay—Choice timothy, $15.50. Hogs—Extra, $8. Lard—Prime, $13.15.

Indianapolis, Nov. 13.—Cattle—Prime, $5.80@6. Hogs—Choice, $7.70@8.05. Sheep—Extra, $4.25.

A GREAT ANNOYANCE.

Kidney Disease Shows Many Painful and Unpleasant Symptoms.

George S. Crowell, 1109 Broadway, Helena, Mont., says: "I was troubled with a disordered condition of the kidneys, some backache and irregular passages of secretions. At times I was obliged to get up out of bed at night, and the urine was unnatural in appearance. On the advice of a friend I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. This remedy helped me at once, strengthened my kidneys and corrected the disordered condition."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

DIFFERENT.

Mr. Wholesale (indignantly)—What's that? You say the cash is not correct. I always thought that hookkeeper was a rascal, and was rohhing me.

Expert Accountant—The cash is $50 over, sir.

Mr. Wholesale—O, well, just give me that and say nothing to him about it. Perhaps he's forgotten to draw some of his salary.

SKIN TROUBLES CURED.

Two Little Girls Had Eczema Very Badly—In One Case Child's Hair Came Out and Left Bare Patches.

Cuticura Met with Great Success.

"I have two little girls who have been trouhled very badly with eczema. One of them had it on her lower limbs. I did everything that I could hear of for her, but it did not give in until warm weather, when it seemingly subsided. The next winter when it became cold the eczema started again and also in her head where it would take the hair out and leave bare patches. At the same time her arms were sore the whole length of them. I took her to a physician, but the child grew worse all the time. Her sister's arms were also affected. I began using Cuticura Remedies, and by the time the second lot was used their skin was soft and smooth. Mrs. Charles Baker, Athion, Me., Sept. 21, '08."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

New England Pie.

Some poor dweller in the benighted heyond of Chicago asks what a real New England pie is like. It probably will not help him to be told, but if he means apple, it is like an essay by Emerson liquefied with the music of Massenet and spiced with the cynicism of Shaw; if he means pumpkin, it is like some of Gounod's music heard in a landscape all sun and flowers. It is too early yet to describe the mince pies of 1909, but last year's—and last year was not an extraordinary good year—were like an increase in salary, and a present from home arriving on the day when one's conscience was behaving itself.—Boston Globe.

Getting In Deep.

The ladies devoted to reform were in session.

"I believe," said one, "that only good men should be permitted to marry."

"But," interposed a second, "would not such a radical policy he promotive of race suicide?"

On the instant they perceived that they had tackled a real problem.

For a Poor Memory.

"Say, Mayme, what's that ring on your finger for?"

"That's so I won't forget that I promised to marry Tommy. Beats a string for looks, too."

PERRY DAVIS' PAINKILLER
should be taken without delay when sore chest and tickling throat warn you that an annoying cold threatens. At all druggists in 25c, 35c and 50c bottles.

As long as a man can find something to kick about he feels that life is worth living.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

Lots of garrulous people make a speciality of saying nothing.

Taking Care of Yourself.

There never was a time when people paid as much attention to their health and strength as they do now. Time was when fine stock and fine horses were fed more carefully than human beings.

The result of properly halanced rations has worked wonders with stock and recent experiments are proving that the same thing is true of mankind.

It has been found that Quaker Oats eaten often and regularly taking the place of heavy, greasy foods will work wonders in the health and strength of a family.

School children fed frequently on Quaker Oats thrive physically and are always capable of the best work at school. For athletes, laborers, it is the best food. One of the attractive features of Quaker Oats is the perfect way it is packed. Besides the regular size package there is the large size family package. 10

Embarrassing.

Not only the houses of the Mexicans, but whatever you admire is yours. If you express a sentiment of approhation of anything, the owner at once says: "Senor, it is yours;" but he simply intends something flattering, and you are therefore not expected to accept anything that is offered to you. An amusing story is told of Sir Spencer St. John, the English ambassador, which illustrates how this national courtesy often provokes embarrassment. Sir Spencer, who is a gallant old bachelor, was promenading with some ladies in the park, when he met a nurse girl with a bright-eyed haby. The ladies stopped to admire the little one, and Sir Spencer asked whose child it was. "Senor, it is your own," replied the nurse, with a courtesy. Sir Spencer has never inquired as to the parentage of pretty children since.

Suspicious.

The father of Judge W. H. Wadhams had a chicken-coop and a dog and a stable hand. It hegan to look to Mr. Wadhams as though some one had discovered the combination. So he kept the coop and the stable hand, hut he got a new dog. Next day the bent old negro who groomed the Wadhams' horses came to him. "You los' you affection foh me, hoss?" he asked. "No, Scipio," said Mr. Wadhams. "I like you as well as ever." "Then," said Scipio, peevishly, "w'y'n't you tie Old Rover in de chicken-coop, 'stid of dat new dorg?"

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Father Was an Invalid.

It had been a hard day in the field, and father and son were very hungry. The only things eatable on the table were 12 very large apple dumplings. The father had consumed ten while the boy was eating one, and then both reached for the one remaining.

"Son," pleaded the farmer, "you wouldn't take the last apple dumpling from your poor sick pa, would you?"—Success Magazine.

It Cured My Baby—Hereafter I Will Always Keep It in the House.

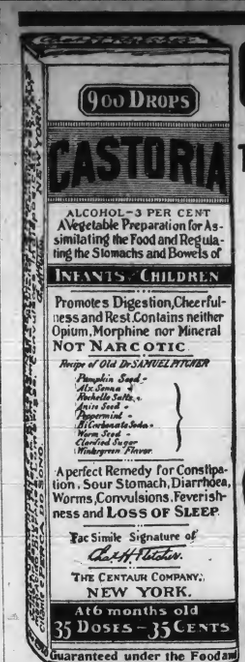
I cannot speak too highly for Resinol Ointment. It cured my haby hoy of Eczema. He had a very severe case and numerous other remedies failed to do any good. I would not be without Resinol Salve in the house.

It is good to apply in cases of hurns, cuts or sores of any kind.

Mrs. F. Cox, Chicago, Ill.

Honor Where Honor Is Due.

First Golfer—Well done, old chap! That's the longest ball I've seen you drive yet!



Second Golfer — I'm afraid the credit's not all mine. A heast of a wasp touched me up in the middle of my swing.—Punch.

The next time you feel that swallowing sensation, the sure sign of sore throat, gargle Hamlins Wizard Oil immediately with three parts water. It will save you days and perhaps weeks of misery.

Probahly the reason some girls make such a fuss when a fellow steals a kiss is because they are afraid he won't give it back.

FOR DEEP-SEATED COLDS and coughs, Allen's Lung Balsam cures when all other remedies fail. This old reliable medicine has been sold for over 40 years. 25c, 50c, $1.00 bottles. All dealers.

If men could make money as easily as they can make love we should all be millionaires in a short time.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3.00 $3.50 & $4.00 SHOES

Wear W. L. Douglas comfortable, easy walking, common sense shoes. A trial will convince any one that W. L. Douglas shoes hold their shape, fit better and wear longer than other makes.

They are made upon honor, of the best leathers, by the most skilled workmen, in all the latest fashions, shoes in every style and shape to suit men in all walks of life.

CAUTION! The genuine have W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom, which guarantees full value and protects the wearer against high prices and inferior shoes. TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

BOYS SHOES $2.00 & $2.50

Wherever you live, W. L. Douglas shoes are within your reach. If your dealer cannot fit you, write for Mail Order Catalog. W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.

A Few Acres In California

In one of the rich valleys along the line of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific

mean a comfortable living, an assured future and money in the bank.

For complete and reliable information get our illustrated booklets on California land. Call on or address

E. L. LOMAX, G. P. A., Omaha, Neb.

(159)

DYOLA DYES
ONE DYE FOR ALL GOODS
16 fast, brilliant colors, 10c per package at dealers. If not in stock send 10c stating color desired and name will be sent with direction book and color card.
DY-O-LA Burlington, Vt.

1,000,000 RAW FUR SKINS WANTED

for my manufacturing and exporting trade. Skunk, Mink, Muskrat and others. Top prices. Write for special quotations.
A. E. BURKHARDT
International Fur Merchant.
CINCINNATI, O.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES
Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois.

5¢

COUPON IN EACH PACKAGE

CHEW AND SMOKE
MAIL POUCH
TOBACCO
STANDARD FOR OVER 30 YEARS

CONSTANCE.

The Teachers' Meeting was called to order by Supt. Snyder. Scriptural reading by Prof. Harrison followed with prayer by D. M. Snyder.

Primary reading was introduced by Ida Hodges, who believes in the word method in teaching beginners how to read. It was then taken up by Prof. Harrison, who gave the teachers some valuable information.

Spelling was next taken up by Prof. Harrison and ably discussed, and he also emphasized the necessity of teaching the diacritics, which is essential in teaching of that branch. It was taken up by Miss Flora Yonell, and then some good points were brought out by Profs. Yealy and W. K. Sonther.

Percentage was introduced by Mrs. Flora Yonell, who believes in the fractional method of teaching percentage, and was then followed by Miss Lucy Russell, who thought the hundred per cent method the best to teach.

Interest was introduced by Miss Mabel Regenbogen and discussed by Prof. Harrison.

Writing was next introduced by Miss Anna Miller, who gave some good points, and was then followed by Prof. Harrison, Ida Hodges and Prof. Yealy.

History was then discussed by Prof. Harrison, who gave some good points on teaching that branch.

Card of Thanks—Resolved, That this association tender a vote of thanks to the children of District 30, and Miss Laura Bell, of Bromley school, for the entertainment given and to the teachers and patrons for the delicious repast spread at the noon hour. D. M. Snyder, Supt.
Ida Hodges, Secty.

The ladies of Florence Catholic church will give a supper at Odd-Fellows' Hall, November 18th, for the benefit of the church. Fine music has been secured, and the second floor will be used to trip the light fantastic by young and old. The ladies extend to all a hearty welcome.

The ladies of Walton Christian church will give a fine supper at the Walton Opera House, Saturday evening, Nov. 20th, at which there will be several attractive features, and a splendid good supper for the enjoyment of all who care to attend and help the church.

The entertainment that was to be given at Bullittsville Grange Hall has been postponed, as has also that which Prof. Limburg had advertised to give in Union.

Lost—On the pike between Burlington and Sam Hall's a gold locket with small picture on inside. Finder will please return to Ruth Hall, Burlington.

Custom is making November 15th a holiday—the day the hunting season opens.

For Sale—About one dozen Barred Plymouth Rock roosters. Apply to J. E. Weaver, Union r. d. 1.

While delving in the ancient records at the county clerk's office recently, in search of historical data, Rev. Edgar Riley, came across the marriage bond of Zebun Pike, discoverer of Pikes Peak, Colorado. It is not generally known that Zebun Pike's wife was a Boone county woman. Following is a copy of the bond:

"Know all men by these presents that we Zebun M. Pike and William Bates are held and firmly bound unto the Commonwealth of Kentucky in the penal sum of fifty pounds currant money payable to the said Governor for the time being and his successors to which payment will and truly to be made we bind ourselves each and every of our heirs executors and administrators jointly and severally firmly by these presents sealed and dated this 4th day of March 1801.

"The Condition of the above Obligation is such that whereas a Licence is desired for a marriage intended between the above bound Zebon M. Pike and Clarassy Brown, now if it should always hereafter appear that there is no lawful cause to destruct the said Marriage then the above obligation to be void else to remain in full force and virtue."

The bond is signed by Zebun M. Pike and Wiliam Bates, the latter making his mark.

LIMABURG

Guns are heard in every direction.

Geo. Hammon is no better.

John Richards and wife, of Covington, are visiting his sister, Mrs. Jacob Utzinger.

C. L. Tanner and wife, Ambros Easton and family, and J. W. Utz and wife were Sunday guests at H. L. Tanner's.

O. E. Aylor and family, and Clem Kendall and family, of Lakeland, are visiting relatives in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Jas. Petitt spent Thursday with Mrs. H. C. Clore.

Mamie Davis is spending this week with her parents, J. T. Davis and wife.

O. E. Aylor had a new corn crib and wagon shed finished last week.

Miss Annie Crigler is going to Bellefontaine, Ohio, this week to spend the winter.

Get your pans ready for Wednesday night as there is to be a wedding this week.

For Sale—Pair large, well broke mules, coming three years old. Apply to Clifford Hedges, Burlington, Kentucky.

The boys all had lots of fun hunting, last Monday, but Albert Conner got the birds.

Huntsman, be careful, little carelessness may cause years of trouble.

Advertisers took considerable space this week. Read all of them.

Carl Rouse took a drove of nice hogs to market yesterday.

JUDGE JOHN M. LASSING.

The Democratic Committee of this the sixth appellate court district, met in Newport, last Thursday, and declared Hon. John M. Lassing the democratic nominee to succeed himself on the appellate bench. The action taken by the committee last Thursday was in pursuance of the call for the primary election on the 2nd inst., and which provided that in the event there was but one candidate by a time fixed in the call, the primary should be called off, and that the committee should meet in Newport on the 11th inst., and declare that candidate the party nominee. The election will take place at the regular election in November, 1910, and the term commencing January 1, 1911, will be for eight years. There is no doubt but that Judge Lassing will be his own successor as his having no opposition for the nomination shows that his party is giving him its solid backing, and there is no question but what he will poll hundreds of Republican votes at the regular election. He is the most successful politician in Kentucky today. Here's to you Judge.

ROLFES & WACHES

The Store for Quality

This is what they all say. A store that meets every requirement for Men, Boys and Children in the line of

CLOTHING

We have the Styles, Variety and Fabric, and you will find it to your advantage to get our prices before buying elsewhere. We have built up our business by dealing fair and honest with our customers. Our line of Suits and Overcoats Cannot be Excelled.

Men's Suits	$5.00 to $20.00	Men's Overcoats	$4.00 to $20.00
Boy's Suits	$4.00 to $12.50	Boys' Overcoats	$3.00 to $12.50
Children's Suits	$1.50 to $ 6.00	Children's Overcoats	$2.50 to $5.00

Men's Pants $1.00 to $5.00.

A fine line of Men's and Boys' Cravennette Overcoats, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $18 and $20.00. We also carry a complete line of Sweater Coats, Jersey and Cardigan Jackets, Leather, Corduroy and Duck Coats and Corduroy and Jeans Pants.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., ++ Covington, Ky

Destroys Hair Germs

Recent discoveries have shown that falling hair is caused by germs at the roots of the hair. Therefore, to stop falling hair, you must first completely destroy these germs. Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, will certainly do this. Then leave the rest to nature.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Formula with each bottle
Show it to your doctor
Ask him about it, then do as he says

Ayer's

Recent discoveries have also proved that dandruff is caused by germs on the scalp. Therefore, to cure dandruff, the first thing to do is to completely destroy these dandruff germs. Here, the same Ayer's Hair Vigor will give the same splendid results.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

A Scalded Boy's Shrieks

horrified his grandmother, Mrs. Maria Taylor, of Nebo, Ky., who writes that, when all thought he would die, Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured him. Infallible for Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Corns, Wounds, Bruises. Cures Fever Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions, Chilblains, Chapped Hands. Soon routs Piles. 25c at Bentler's drug store Erlanger.

For Sale—Barred Plymouth Rock cockerels, at 75 cents each. Apply to Mrs. B. C. Graddy, near Idlewild.

Public Sale!

I will sell at public sale at the residence of the late C. W. Riley, one mile west of Bullittsville, Boone county, Ky., on

Wednesday, Dec. 1, 1909

The following property:

Bay Mare, 8-yrs old, Black Mare, 7 yrs old, both good drivers and workers; good work Mare, 2-yr-old Brown Filly, yearling Black Badger Filly,, good Mule, 2-yr-old Mule, 54 Stock Ewes to lamb in February; 2 Rams, 4 Sows and 31 pigs, 30 tons Timothy Hay in the barn, 300 shocks of Fodder on river farm, Wagon with boxbed, Haybed, 2 ton Wagon Springs, Buggies, Wagon and Buggy Harness, Deering Mower and Binder, 2-h. Rake, Disc Harrow, Breaking Plow, Six-shovel Riding Cultivator, Tobacco Sticks, Crosscut Saw, Wagon Tarpaulin, several Stands of Bees, Corn-sheller, &c.

Terms—Sums of $5 and under, cash; on sums over $5 a credit of six months will be given, purchasers to give notes with approved security, negotiable and payable in the Peoples Deposit Bank, Burlington, Ky.

GEO. L. RILEY.

Sale to begin at 12 o'clock sharp.

For Sale—Top wagon, pole and shafts. James W. Kelly.

For Sale—Good family and work mare. J. Howard Kelly, Limaburg.

GOODE GROCERIES

—AT—

Right - Prices.

New Hominy—Old fashion, pound	2½c
New Hominy—Flake 2 quarts	5c
New Prunes, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Evaporated Peaches	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Evaporated Peaches—extra large, lb	13c
Two pounds	25c
New Figs—large, juicy Smyrna Figs, lb	13c
New Seeded Raisins, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Citron, lb	20c
New Golden Egg Macaroni, package	10c
Three pkgs	25c
New Bulk Macaroni, lb	06c
New Elbo Macaroni, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Barley, lb	04c
New Rold Oats, lb	04c
New Oatmeal, lb	04c
New Aunt Jemima's Pancake Flour, package	10c
Three packages	25c
New Quaker Oats, pkg	10c
Large Round Pkg	15c
New Victor Toy Oats, pkg	10c
New Mackerel, 10c 3 for	25c
New, Fat, Large Mackerel,	13c, 2 for 25c
New Lakeside Sweet Wrinkle Peas, 10c 3 for	25c
New Lakeside Sifted Early June Peas	15c
New Extra Sifted Lakeside Peas	20c
New Honey Drop Corn, can, 15c, dozen	$1.65
New Golden Harvest Corn, can 12c, doz	$1.35
New Superb Corn, can, 10c, dozen	$1.20
New Shoe Peg Corn, can	10c
Three for	25c
New Jaguar Corn, can	07c
Three for	20c
New Cranberries, quart	10c
New Grapefruit, 2 for	15c
Magic Soap, 5c, 6 for	25c
Fels Naptha Soap, 6 for	25c
Pearl Soap, 6 for	25c
Papryka, can	10c
Celery Salt, can	10c
Dry Apples, lb	08c
Capitol Mixed Tea, lb	60c
Gunpowder	60c
Sunbeam Mixed Tea, lb	75c
Gunpowder	75c
Oolong, Young Hyson, English Breakfast and Imperial—all new crop.
Golden Blend Coffee, lb	20c
Moneyworth Coffee, lb	17c
Three pounds for	50c
Salvadore Coffee, lb	15c
Pure Gautamala Coffee—pound	25c
New Dates, 3 lbs for	25c
New Codfish, fancy Boneless, lb	15c
New Buckwheat Flour—three pounds	10c
New Sweet Cider, gal	25c
New Kraut, 3 lbs	10c
New Crop New Orleans Molasses, gallon	55c
New Honey, lb	10c
New Sago, lb	10c
New Farina, lb	5c
New Lentels, lb	5c
New Split Pear, lb	5c

Don't forget the Best Flour on Earth,

"CAPITOL."

Geo. C. Goode

AGENT.

Groceries & Medicines,
Pike & Washington,
Covington, Kentucky.

WE PAY INTEREST,

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administratiou of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrous as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,
WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.
CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.
Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

Fall and Winter Millinery.

I now have on display my new stock of Hats and Baby Caps, with prices to suit every customer. Desiring to reduce my stock I will offer

Specials from 25c up

and hope my customers will take advantage of these bargains. Come in and see them, as also my nice line of

DRY GOODS and JEWELRY.

Cordially yours,

MISS LOU W. ALLEN, Petersburg, Ky.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

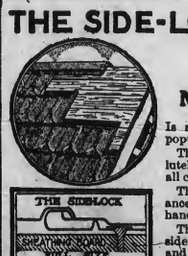
Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.
S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated--A. D. 1892.

Erlanger, Kentucky.



Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

THE SIDE-LOCK OF

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

Is another feature that makes them so popular with property owners.

This and the overlap makes them absolutely proof against rain, snow, and in fact all climatic conditions.

They're fireproof too, and their appearance makes even a cheap building look handsome.

They're not expensive and when you consider that they last as long as the building and never need repairs, you'll see what a handsome investment they make.

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

Our Business Constantly Increasing.

For the past seven years our optical business has constantly increased. We treat all alike, selling the best goods at the lowest possible prices to all. We have a complete lens-grinding outfit and can grind and replace broken lenses while you wait.

We can furnish anything made in optical goods.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

OVERCOATS AND SUITS

Largest and Most Complete Line for Men, Boys and Children at the Lowest Prices.

ROSENTHAL BROS. New Clothing Store

Big Store Building, RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Every Day During November

TEN SALE GREEN'S TEN SALE. TEN SALE

OFFERS

Wonderful Values In Every Department. Get Here Quick and Get Your Share of $700.00 at

GREEN'S

CASH STORE,

Rising Sun, Indiana.

NUF CED.

There's a Missing Word.

There is a missing Word in this advertisement and there will be one in each of our ads. in this paper from now to November 24th. We have lots and lots of good things to tell you about this fall and in order to get as many to read our advertisements as possible we will give $5.00 in gold as stipulated below. Fill out the following coupon or make one like it and fill it out.

The missing word in Green's advertisement dated Nov. 10 is.....found between the words .....and.....

Name.....

Address.....

$5.00 in gold will be given for the largest number of correct answers to the eleven propositions and in case of a tie the money will be equally divided. All answers must be filed at our store within 10 days from the date of the coupon. It costs you nothing to submit your answers and in reading our advertisements you will be sure to keep posted as to the many bargains we are offering.

Last week's Coupons must be in our store within 10 days from the date of issue. Don't delay.

OUR FIRST FALL SHIPMENT OF

GODMAN SHOES

IS ABOUT GONE.

Our Second Fall Shipment Just Opened Up. Come at once and get a Good Selection before numbers are broken. These Shoes are, without doubt, the

Best Shoes Ever Sold in our Store

ALREADY FAMOUS FOR GOOD SHOES.

WE HANDLE THE FAMOUS

Ball Band Wool Boot and Rubber

OUR WINTER STOCK OF

Blankets, Comforts, Woolens, Yarns, Underwear, Etc.,

IS NOW COMPLETE.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

GIVE US A CALL.

Local News.

Last Saturday was a fine day.

Richard White and wife were out in the new buggy, last Sunday.

Edward Rice, of Idlewild, has been quite sick of a fever for several days.

Keep away from strange dogs. Mad dogs are reported in several directions.

In Kenton county, Tracy, Democrat, beat Shaw, Republican, one vote for circuit judge. Shaw is the incumbent.

Circuit Clerk J. A. Duncan and his father, J. W. Duncan, spent Sunday in the country with Edgar Cropper and wife.

The graded school at Belleview began Monday, the beginning of a new epoch in the history of the town.

The rain Sunday night was fine on the small grain, besides it dampened the leaves and grass so as to make hunting much less dangerous on Monday, on account of fire.

The Government crop report just issued places Kentucky's 1909 crop of tobacco at 350,700,000 lbs as against 195,600,000 in 1908. The yield per acre is estimated at 835 pounds.

A great deal of corn has been gathered, and so far, the best yield is reported by L. T. Clore, near town. He has a field that averaged 73 bushels to the acre, while one acre in the field made 99 bushels.

Mr. aand Mrs. John O. Richards, of Covington, were guests at Jacob Utzinger's, near Limaburg, the first of the week. Mr. Richards has a position with a firm that makes composition rollers for printing presses.

Miss Mary, daughter and only child of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Corn of Bullittsville, died at 2 o'clock Sunday morning after a lingering illness of consumption. Funeral from the residence yesterday at 2 o'clock, and burial at Sand Run.

A mad dog from Austenburg, Kenton county, made its way to Erlanger, one day last week, and bit a large number of dogs, a dozen or more of which were killed without delay, while the remainder of the canine population of the town is being closely watched for symptoms of rabies.

The rain last Sunday night was all that was needed to give the hunting season an auspicious opening on the Monday following, and the patter on the shingles was to the liking of many a man and boy, who, on Sunday, had proclaimed, "It will go hunting tomorrow if it rains tonight."

Clarence Webb, colored, is alleged to have the habit of throwing rocks at other colored people when on the streets, and last Saturday afternoon a rocked hurled by him "kerplunked" a colored girl in the back, and now the boy is taking meals served by Jailer Sam Adams at the county's expense.

Supt. Snyder treated this office to some delicious pears, last Friday morning.

People at Richwood and in that vicinity are feasting on the bargains that Bedinger Bros. are giving at their closing-out sale.

Walter Riddell, of Hebron neighborhood, is disposing of his stock with a view to taking a position with Dr. Burkhardt at Wyoming, Ohio.

The Boone County Medical Association will hold a meeting in Florence've today. An interesting program has been prepared for the occasion.

It is an old saying, "sow wheat in the dust if you want to make a good crop," and from the looks of the wheat now, the old saw appears to be making good.

Seveuty bushels of corn to the acre is a very large yield, and there are farmers in the Burlington neighborhood, who claim they have corn that will make it.

Considerable tobacco was bulked down and stripped, last week, and fine samples are in evidence. The growers who are in the pool anticipate a long price for their crops.

In another column will be found the sale advertisement of George L. Riley, of Bullittsville. He haas a long list of live stock, farming implements, etc., to sell. The sale will take place on Wednesday, December 1.

The Owen County Democrat of last week said, "The fine weather prevailing now is giving the farmers an opportunity to do much farm work. Many plant beds are being burned and a number of farmers have done considerable fall plowing."

Capt. Kothmyer, of Constance, had his new boat on the dry dock, last week, for the purpose of putting a larger wheel on it. The wheel put on last week is the third prop it has tried, the first and second being too small for the power the engines furnished.

With suits being filed against it nearly every day, the Burley Tobacco Society is having its share of troubles. The latest attempt to embarrass it is on the part of some for a "show-down." They are all citizens of Clark county who are sore over the removal of the headquarters.

A good joke on an editor who went one evening to report a party at a home recently blessed with a new baby. He met his hostess at the door, and after the usual salutations he asked after the baby's health. The lady who was quite deaf and suffering with the grippe thought he was asking about her cold and answered that although she usually had one every winter, this was the worst one she ever had; it kept her awake at night a good deal and at first confined her to her bed. Then noticing that the newspaper man was getting nervous she said she could tell by his looks that he was going to have one just like hers, and asked him to go in and sit down.—Ex.

OBITUARY.

Alfred E. Chambers was born Jan. 7th, 1847, at the beautiful old homestead known as Locust Lake, near Petersburg, Boone county, Ky. He was the son of Alfred E. and Amanda S. Chambers, and was the last member of his family, father, mother and two sisters, having departed this life several years ago. In 1876 he was married to Laura Scott of Kenton county, and established his home, Oak Knoll, on a portion of his father's estate, here he lived for 37 years among relatives and life long friends, amidst the scenes of his childhood. To this union was born seven children, Dr. A. E. of Texarkana Tex, C. S of Walton, Dr. W. K. of Los Angeles, Cal., Mrs. Alleen Atkinson, of Covington, Mrs. Herma Mathews and Lawrence S. of Petersburg Ky. and Malcolm, deceased. He was known as a man of integrity, honesty and uprightness of character, ever true to his convictions. He was always a moral man, but recognizing the fact that morality alone was not sufficient, he became a believer in Christ and united with the Christian Church at Petersburg about thirteen years ago continuing a faithful member until his death.

He was a devoted husband and father. Loving his home more than all else, outside pleasures had little charm for him. He had been engaged in the U. S. Revenue Service for over sixteen years, having received his commission under President Cleveland, holding it until his death.

He was stricken on the morning of September 30th and passed peacefully away October 7th at his home in Petersburg. He was reconciled to the Father's will and was conscious that he was crossing the river. In his death Boone county loses another of her native residents who was highly respected and esteemed as was evinced by the concourse present at the funeral services. In the strength of his character he leaves to his children a legacy more precious than gold and a monument more lasting than granite or bronze.

RULES ADOPTED.

The Burley Tobacco Company in session at Lexington the past week adopted several measures relative to the management of the present crop. A difference of one cent per pound was adopted as an adjustment between tobacco in winter order and summer order.

The same system and same number of grades will be used as was used in the last pool.

Banks were authorized to lend money on warehouse receipts to the amount of half the graded value.

Efforts will be made to have warehouses ready to receive the crop by the first of December.

In each county the general manager will be in the employ of the Burley Company but will be under the supervision of the Board of Control and a foreman will be appointed for each warehouse in the county. Salaries will be on a sliding scale and will depend on the amount of tobacco handled in each county.

Bear in mind that you have no right to go on the land of another, with dog and gun, without first having obtained permission of the owner or his agent.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

William Wilson, Burlington lineman for the Consolidated Telephone Company, met with a distressing accident, last Thursday, shortly after noon. He had been down towards Petersburg repairing a little, and when coming down the long hill on the Petersburg and Burlington pike immediately west of Idlewild, the mule he was driving, ran off and threw the unfortunate man out of the buggy, about half way down the hill. The mule ran down to Idlewild and into Fred Pfalzgraf's shop. In a few minutes after a stranger reported that a man was lying by the road side halfway up the hill, badly hurt, and it was known at once to be lineman Wilson. Persons rushed to his assistance, and Dr. Duncan was called and hastened to the scene as fast as possible, and an examination revealed that Wilson's left leg was badly broken just above the ankle, a considerable fragment of the bone having come out. At first the doctor thought amputation would be necessary, and telephoned back to Burlington to have preparations made for the work, and summoned Drs. Perkins, of Belleview, and Senior, of Union to assist in the operation, but by the time Wilson was gotten to Burlington, it had been decided that if possible the foot ought to be saved, consequently he was sent to Christs Hospital Cincinnati, by the telephone company, where Dr. Whitacre examined the injury and gave it as his opinion that the foot can be saved, which was great relief to all the friends and acquaintances.

Other injuries were discovered on the person of Wilson, but they were only slight. There are many theories as to the cause of the accident, but Mr. Wilson says he thinks the mule scared at something and jumped when something about the harness broke, and a broken strap on one of the shafts confirms him.

Report from Wilson, yesterday, was that he is improving nicley, and will be out in a few weeks.

Gone to Her Reward.

Mrs. Catherine Carrey was laid to rest Tuesday in St. Mary's cemetery, with services at Florence Catholic church, where she was a life long member. She was sick for many years, but bore her sufferings with patience until the day when our Lord called her home. Rev. Father Kathman preached her funeral sermon to a large concourse of friends, who extend to the family their sympathy in this sad hour of bereavement.

A Friend.

Card of Thanks.

While our hearts are overwhelmed with grief, we are not unmindful of the many acts of kindness shown us during our late bereavement, in the death of Catherine Carrey, our beloved mother, and to the relatives and friends whose presence and kind sympathy helped to alleviate our sorrow, we tender our most sincere thanks; also for the beautiful floral offerings, and also we thank Rev. Kathman for his words of consolation, the pallbearers and Mr. Allison, the undertaker.

The Family.

For Sale—About 40 tons good Timothy Hay. Apply to J. C. Bedinger, Richwood. 2w

SEE

E. A. ANDERSON

FOR

Men's and Boys' Clothing

Underwear, Hats and Caps.

Work Clothes of Every Description.
Our Stock is Entirely New and Up-to-Date.

WE SAVE YOU MONEY.

E. A. ANDERSON,

Rising Sun, Ind.

Two Doors Above Davis' Shoe Store.

Give Me a Call When in Town.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co

Rising Sun, Indiana.

STALLION FOR SALE.

Bay Stallion, Five years old, 16 hands high, sired by Addington. W. G. Riddell, Hebron, Ky.

Plenty of rain this week.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices. All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

FOR SALE.

My farm of about 200 acres, on good road near Francesville, 3 miles north of Hebron, Boone county, Ky. On this farm is a 4-room residence and all necessary outbuildings, all under new roof. There are 50 acres of timber and 50 acres of good tobacco land, and four never failing springs. This land is two miles from the Ohio river and 15 miles from Cincinnati. Rural route and telephone. For terms call at the farm or address C. W. McFEE,
R D 3, Burlington, Ky.

Take the Recorder.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. - KENTUCKY.

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed Into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

Senator Aldrich in an address before the bankers of Des Moines declared that if a central bank of the United States should ever come it must be the servant and not the master of existing financial institutions.

Commissioner Henry W. West of the District of Columbia has sent his resignation to the president. Mr. West was appointed seven years ago by President Roosevelt. He resigns to resume newspaper work in Washington.

W. Cameron Forbes has assumed the office of governor general of the Philippines. The formal inauguration will take place November 24.

Jamea J. Corbett, a bricklayer and former Bostonian, who when last heard from was seeking employment at Pittsburg, Pa., is heir to $250,000, which will be turned over to him when he puts in an appearance at Boston.

Charles P. Taft, brother of the president, has purchased a rare portrait, probably the finest of its kind in the world, in Limoges enamel, for which it is understood he paid $100,000. It is a portrait of the duke of Nevera, by Limousin, a sixteenth century artist.

Franklin Taylor, who ran for municipal judge in the New York election and lost, filed an expense account of $832.23, accompanied by the remark that "A fool and his money are soon parted."

Mrs. Sarah T. Rorer, the well-known culinary expert, shocked the Mothers' club of New York by declaring that men were not fit to bring up their own sons.

Gen. Thomaa H. Hubbard has been elected president of the Lincoln University Endowment association, to succeed the late Gen. O. O. Howard.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, as president of the National Conservation association, authorizes a statement on the danger of the monopolistic control of water power and coal lands, which is declared to be urgent.

Rev. Harry E. Woodcock, who was ordained as a minister of the Congregational church in 1848, celebrated his ninety-third birthday in Kansas City by preaching a sermon.

GENERAL NEWS.

The national apple show opened in Spokane, Wash., with exhibits from commercial orchards in all parts of the northwest and a prize list of $25,000.

Advocates of an inland waterway from the Mississippi to the Apalachicola and thence across the Florida peninsula to the Atlantic met in convention in Jacksonville, Fla.

A Cairo (Ill.) mob lynched Will James (negro) the confessed slayer of Miss Anna Pelley, and Henry Saizner, (white) a photographer accused of the murder of his wife. James confessed his crime implicating another colored man named Arthur Alexander. The rope by which James was strung up broke and he was then shot to death. Later his body was burned on a pyre built by his slayers. Saizner was hanged afterwards and a search for Alexander instituted. Gov. Deneen ordered several companies of state militia to the scene.

The American Federation of Labor in convention at Toronto, Ont., has gone on record as favoring trade schools in connection with the public school system.

Mrs. Jeannette Ford-Stewart, accused by C. L. Warriner, the defaulting Cincinnati treasurer of the Big Four Railroad Company, denies that she shared in his peculations by blackmailing him, and declares she will tell the whole story in court. She says her tale will disclose some sensational facts.

President Taft, in a speech at Richmond, Va., outlined his annual message to congress and put reclamation and irrigation first in importance, with anti-trust, interstate commerce and postal savings banks following.

The Kansas board of health has issued a decree against the roller towel, and that feature of the country hotel will have to go in Kansas.

The supreme court of the United States has decided against the complainants in the case of 13,000 Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians excluded from the citizenship rolls by Secretary Hitchcock of the interior department March 4, 1907. The Indians had asked for redress.

Soft pedals and other equipment for the famous chimes of Trinity church, New York, now being put in, are intended to make the chimes play "with feeling."

President Taft returned to Washington after his 13,000-mile tour of the west and uth.

The National Municipal league and the American Civic association began their annual meetings in Cincinnati with a joint session at which addresses were made by Charles J. Bonaparte and J. Horace McFarland, presidents of the organizations.

Fragmentary reports received at Kingston, Jamaica, from the countryside show that the damage to railroads, plantations and telegraph lines by a hurricane is very heavy. In and around Kingston the property loss is estimated at $500,000.

Arthur Alexander, the negro whom William James, the black man lynched at Cairo, Ill., implicated in the murder of Miss Anna Pelley, was taken to Kankakee by a strong guard of soldiers and safely lodged in jail there Cairo is under martial law but the mob spirit there is apparently broken.

Ransom R. Cable, one of the builders of the Rock Island Railway system, is dead at the home of his son, Benjamin F. Cable of Chicago, after a brief illness. He was 75 years of age.

Clara Brodenberger, an 18-year-old girl, told the Chicago police that her mother, who is now confined in an insane asylum, shot and killed her husband, Henry Brodenberger, a jeweler of Madison, Wis., three years ago because she was jealous of him. This clears up a case that has mystified the police for years.

James F. Bendernagel, for many years general superintendent of the Williamsburg Sugar Refinery Company, was arrested and indicted at New York, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government by false weighing of sugar. He was released on $5,000 bail.

President Taft delivered an address at the installation ceremonies of making Dr. William Arnold Shanklin president of Wesleyan university, at Middletown, Conn.

Driven to bay by an armed mob, Earl Bullock, the 17-year-old bandit of Lawrence, Kan., held up the Endora (Kan.) State bank for the second time. He shot Fred Starr, a patron of the bank and snatching $800, fled. A mob pursued him and when capture was inevitable Bullock fired a bullet into his own head and will probably die. He was accompanied by William McKay, aged 15 years, who was jailed. Lesa than a month ago Bullock robbed the same bank of nearly $1,000 and when Policeman Wilson Pringle undertook to arrest him, the youthful robber shot and killed the officer.

Mrs. Isabella G. McCoah, widow of the late Dr. James McCosh, who was president of Princeton college from 1868 to 1888, died at her home at Princeton, N. J. She was the mother of Dr. Andrew McCosh, who was killed in a runaway accident in New York last year.

Gustav H. Schwab of the Merchants' association of New York, announced that in the near future he will resign from the chairmanship of the executive committee of the National Council of Commerce owing to pressure of business.

Directum, 2:05¼, who set a world's record for four-year-old trotters in 1893 on the Nashville track, died at Savage, Minn. Death was due to blood poisoning. M. W. Savage purchased Directum, who was 21 years old, in 1898 for $20,000.

That Samuel L. Clemens is the greatest living literary man was the opinion voiced by Prof. Brander Matthews of Columbia university during his fourth lecture on "Moliere" at the Cincinnati university. This opinion was called forth by a series of questions from one of the students in the audience.

Because his wife would not get up and prepare his breakfast as quickly as he thought she should Steve Wasmenski of Paterson, N. J., set fire to the bed on which she lay and nearly made himself a widower.

After 48 years of active service in the United States army, Maj. Gen. John F. Weston, commander of the department of California, has retired, having passed the age limit.

The grand encampment of Illinois Odd Fellows began in Springfield.

Thomas J. Hall, aged 17, the son of a Louisville furniture dealer, entered the Merchants' National bank at New Albany, Ind., and in an attempt to hold up the institution shot and killed J. H. Fawcett, the cashier, and seriously wounded President J. K. Woodward. In attempting to escape young Hall shot and mortally injured a colored chauffeur when the latter failed to start his automobile. The youthful robber was captured on the Kentucky side of the river after an exciting chase and only escaped the vengeance of a mob by a ruae on the part of the sheriff.

Deputy United States Attorney General Stimson at New York is making preparations to push criminal proceedings against the sugar trust which, it is charged, has stolen $30,000,000 from the United States treasury through underweighing importations in the last 20 years.

Seven persons were injured, some probably fatally, in a wreck on the Missouri, Oklahoma & Gulf railroad, five miles south of Henryetta, Okla. Two passenger coaches left the track and turned over.

Four Chinamen who had been smuggled into the United Statea from Canada and billed to St. Louis as "merchandise" were taken from a freight car in the yards of the Wabash railroad at St. Louis. They told the police that they had been placed in the car in Montreal.

Frank Pierce, assistant secretary of the interior, it is announced, has refused to grant a right of way to the proposed Oklahoma Pipe Line Company, holding that the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, a Standard Oil branch, is already in Oklahoma and should handle Oklahoma oil.

Interesting Kentucky News

INDICTMENTS RETURNED

Against Latonia Racing and Agricultural Association for Permitting Gambling.

Covington, Ky.—The report of the Kenton county grand jury finds fault with the police department, superintendent of the workhouse, and councilli, which it instructs to furnish former Latonia with a steam fire engine and fire cisterns. It also returned an indictment against the Latonia Racing and Agricultural association, which is charged with permitting gambling on its premises, as what is known as the bookmaking system waa allowed, and not the pari-mutuels, recognized and permitted by law. This is the first time in the history of a grand jury sitting in Covington that it indicted the association. In two counts the Ludlow Lagoon and Amusement Co. is charged with unlawfully permitting contrivances for betting in the shape of slot machines.

CHARGES ARE PREFERRED

Against Covington Physicians by State Medical Association.

Louisville, Ky.—Dr. Lee Strouse, of Covington, has been cited to appear before the state board of health, in this city, on December 13, to answer charges preferred by Ernest Rau, chairman of the Council of the Kentucky State Medical association. The affidavit and the citation of J. N. McCormick, the secretary of the state board of health, directing Dr. Strouse to appear in Louisville, were turned over to Sheriff Davidson, of Covington. Dr. Strouse has been practicing medicine in Covington for a number of years, and is at present the physician at the county jail.

Covington, Ky.—Judge O. H. Waddell, appointed a special judge by Gov. Willson to hear the mandamus proceedings filed by County Attorney Frank Tracy to compel the election officers of Precinct D of the Third ward to certify to the vote on the stub book and which they failed to fill out, and to have the election officers of Precinct E of the Second ward credit him with a vote alleged to have been changed from his credit to that of Judge Shaw by W. M. Goulet, who was indicted by the grand jury for alleged violations of the election laws, refused Mr. Tracy the mandamus.

Louisville, Ky.—Members of the Associate Societies of the Colonial Dames of America attained a sweeping victory in convention when they adopted an amendment covenant providing that equal voice in the association's affairs be given to noncolonial chaptera of the body. Heretofore delegates from the noncolonial chapters have not been permitted to enjoy equal convention rights with delegates from the original 13 states.

Frankfort, Ky.—While the woodwork on which the electric switchboard is fastened was burning in the Capitol theater here the audience at the Dockstader Minstrels, in order to prevent a panic, joined in with Lew Dockstader and Al Jolson, singing and whistling "Fighting the Flames," and prevented a panic. The fire was soon put out.

Georgetown, Ky.—The fireman on the 10:25 Q. & C. train bound from Georgetown to Frankfort, noticing a broken flange on the front truck of his engine, jumped as he approached the bridge at McConnell's Run, and was badly bruised. The engineer, Nat Horton, tried to follow, but fell, spraining his ankle. The train got over the bridge safely.

Louisville, Ky.—Stockholders of the National Casualty Insurance Co. voted for absorption by the Consolidated Casualty Co., and the stock of the former company will be immediately exchanged for stock in the consolidated concern. C. C. McChord, who was president and general counsel for the old company, becomes vice president and associate counsel.

Covington, Ky.—Judge William McD. Shaw overruled the motion of County Attorney Frank Tracy, asking that the alleged election frauds be removed from the hands of the grand jury, and that a special grand jury be legally drawn.

Lexington, Ky.—Tilden Blanton, one of the four men under indictment for the killing of Demosthenese Noble, in Breathitt county, on election day, was brought here for treatment in St. Joseph's hospital. Blanton was shot in the right arm.

Lexington, Ky.—Frank J. Marshall, of Brooklyn, won the first game in his tournament with J. W. Showalter, of Georgetown, Ky., for the chess championship of the United States, held here under the auspices of the Lexington Chess club.

Mt. Sterling, Ky.—The Burley society will at once begin the erection of a large warehouse 80 by 120 feet, with 24 feet to the eave, and will have a capacity for rehandling and redrying 650,000 pounds of tobacco, and will be one of the best plants of its kind in the state.

BOOKS OF BURLEY SOCIETY

Ordered Into Court For Records in Regard To the Pools of Years 1906 and 1907.

Winchester, Ky.—Circuit Judge Benton ordered a subpoena ducesetecum issued for Gus A. Brooks, secretary of the Burley Tobacco society, directing him to appear at Winchester November 17 to testify at the hearing of the suit for a receiver for the society pools of 1906 and 1907, which was filed last week by J. B. Gaitskill and other tobacco growers. Secretary Brooks is ordered to produce in court all records, books and papers relating to the business of the Burley society in the two years mentioned.

GAS TUBE USED

By Woodward To End His Life in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo.—A man who had registered as "Sam Houston" at the European hotel, 220 Missouri avenue, but whose papers and jewelry would indicate he is William A. Woodward, from Covington, former chief clerk for a railroad, was found dead from asphyxiation in his room. A rubber tube was connected with a gas jet and held securely to the man's nostrils by a towel knotted about the tubing and then tied at the back of the head. In a good black suit were found two photographs, one of a child about 3 years old and another of an attractive young woman attired as a college girl and wearing a mortar-board cap bearing the date '98, two pawn tickets showing $12 had been obtained on a diamond ring, watch chain and locket with the monogram "W. A. W." These indicate that his home was in Covington, Ky.; that he was a member of the Knights of Pythias and that in 1908 he was a bookkeeper for the Interstate railway, and 1909 its chief clerk.

Williamstown, Ky.—There was a new development in the case of Mrs. Ranaom Roberts when she came to Williamstown and swore to affidavit that Earl Thompson, negro, had attacked her. Feeling is at fever heat again. It was rumored that Thompson would be brought here from Georgetown for a hearing. The officers were warned not to bring the negro here, as a daylight lynching would result if they did. Judge Cammack will be asked to hold a special term of the Grand circuit court to try the negro.

Owenton, Ky.—Circuit court adjourned, after Allie Overstreet was given seven years in the penitentiary for murder, and the case of Ed Willson, for the killing of Anderson Webster, continued until next court. Nine arrests were made in connection with the burning of a barn of Nelson Cunningham.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—Fire destroyed the home of John Alexander, and the family barely escaped with their livea. The loss is about $2,500, with $1,500 insurance.

Winchester, Ky.—David Burrus, a nine-year-old schoolboy, stole a ride on the rear of an automobile and then jumped off, fracturing his skull. He may recover.

Lexington, Ky.—In adjourned session here the executive board of the Burley Tobacco and Insurance Co. approved, conditionally, the purchase of a bonded warehouse at Harrodsburg, with a capacity of 1,000,000 pounds. The purchase of two acres of ground at Lawrenceburg and five acres in Mt. sterling was also approved.

Frankfort, Ky.—With the indorsement of the Kentucky Bankers' association a bill prepared by Secretary of State Bruner will be introduced at the next session of the legislature providing for the appointment of the Kentucky board of bank examiners.

Owenton, Ky.—Eight indictments against prominent Owen county farmers for the burning of the barn of County Road Supervisor Nelson Cunningham were returned by the grand jury here. All were released on $2,000 bond.

Henderson, Ky.—Eighty-three employes of the Green River Coal Co. have filed suit against that company for wages alleged to be due in amounts ranging from $1.16 to $122.90, and aggregating $1,773.99.

Lexington, Ky.—Emma Hines, proprietor of a resort at Owensboro, Ky., set fire to her house and shot at a neighbor twice and then went to an undertaker's shop and committed suicide by shooting herself.

Louisville, Ky.—Rain, which began falling in the Ohio river counties and in the valleys of its tributaries, is reported as having extinguished many forest fires in Kentucky.

Columbia, Ky.—Charles Dykes and Otis Price, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Jim Cross, prisoners here, escaped by tunneling through an eighteen-inch brick wall.

Owensboro, Ky.—Ten thousand dollars and a yearling calf were raised by Rev. C. C. Carroll to wipe out the debt of the Third Baptist church here.

FIRES HOUSE AND KILLS WIFE.

Crazed By Drink, Kentuckian Ends Last Orgy With Arson, Murder and Suicide.

Richmond, Ky.—After setting fire to his own house Cassius Moody cut his wife's throat, leaving her to be burned in the flames, and, going to a building in the yard, committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. Mrs. Moody crawled to the road in front of the house and died in the presence of neighbors who were attracted to the place by the fire. Mrs. Moody, before her marriage ten years ago, was Mattie Sennan, of St. Louis. Moody is said to have been crazed by drink. The double tragedy occurred at Kingston, this county.

BREWERS WIN VICTORY

By the "Near-Beer" Decision of Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky.—The brewers of Kentucky and the adjoining states won a victory in the court of appeals when Judge Barker, for the court, handed down the opinion in the case of the city of Bowling Green against W. H. McMullen, who had been convicted of selling malt beverages known as next-to-beer, which contained less than two per cent of alcohol and were non-intoxicating. The opinon of the lower court holding it was not a violation of the local option statutes to sell auch beverages was adopted by the court of appeals. Judge O'Rear dissented in the opinion. The court says that the legislature sought to prevent intemperance in passing prohibition legislation and that the sale of non-intoxicating liquors does not come under this statute.

TRACY DECLARED VICTOR

For Circuit Judge by Board of Election Commissioners.

Covington, Ky.—By a plurality of one vote Frank E. Tracy, democrat, was declared winner in the election for circuit judge of Kenton county, Kentucky, over Judge Shaw, republican, by the board of election commissioners in Covington, after a twelve-hour session, in which all the disputed ballots were carefully gone over. The official election returns gave each 7,158 votes, but the investigation resulted in a net gain of one for Tracy. He and the other democratic candidates were granted certificates of election.

Louisville, Ky.—Col. John B. Castleman, one of Kentucky's greatest admirers of horses, left for New York to attend the horse show there. He sent ahead his famous saddle horse, Carolina, which will be entered in several events, principally that intended to show her Denmark blood as a cavalry charger. Col. Castleman expects to arouse much interest in the Kentucky horse as a cavalry animal.

Frankfort, Ky.—The much-mooted question whether or not an innkeeper in this state had the right to sell intoxicating liquors to guests on Sunday when served with the regular meals was settled by the court of appeals in the case of the Seelbach Hotel Co., of Louisville, against the commonwealth. The appellate court is of the unanimous opinion that the innkeeper has no such right.

Frankfort, Ky.—The outstanding warants in Kentucky amount to $918,616 and the deficit in the general expense fund amounts to $388,167, so that the total indebtedness of the state Nov. 1 amounts to $1,306,784. There is $292,589 in the treasury, however, as there remains in the sinking fund $136,726 and in the school fund $544,029.88.

Frankfort, Ky.—Insurance Commissioner Charles W. Bell admitted two more foreign insurance companies to Kentucky to do business. They are the Meridian Life Insurance Co., of Indianapolis, with $200,000 capital stock, and the Rhode Island Fire Insurance Co., of Providence, with $300,000 capital stock.

Winchester, Ky.—In the suit of J. E. Gaitskill et al. against the Burley Tobacco Society, the motion for the appointment of a receiver was set for November 17, before Judge Benton, of the Clark circuit court, and arguments will be heard on that day.

Frankfort, Ky.—Articles of incorporation of the Covington and Big Bone Interurban Railway Co., with a capital stock of $150,000, were filed here. The company will build a traction line from Covington to Big Bone Springs.

Louisville, Ky.—All the old officers and directors of the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Co. were re-elected at a meeting of the stockholders here. Reports from officers showed the company to be in excellent condition.

Louisville, Ky.—Maj. Thomas H. Hayes, a confederate veteran, former state senator, formerly division superintendent for the Pullman Car Co., and a member of a pioneer Kentucky family, died here of pneumonia.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone, Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 5029. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in..... $50,000
Surplus,.. ..... $6,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated.
All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co. HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $6 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Uts, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., "
R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
Ed. POPE Agent, " " Grant, Ky

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me. Write for printed list.

Farming the Wild Turkey

Novel Thanksgiving Idea Suggested By The Bird Experts

THE newest idea, appropriate to Thanksgiving, is that wild turkeys should be farmed—that is to say, bred regularly under conditions of semi-domestication. Ornithological experts say that it is entirely feasible, and in the adoption of such a plan lies the hope for the preservation of our greatest game bird from final extinction.

The wild turkey, of course, is a species entirely distinct from the tame bird with the white-meated breast. One reason why its preservation is important is that it is needed to contribute from time to time its hardy blood and much-prized game flavor to the domesticated variety by interbreeding. The comparatively dark meat of the breast of many of the tame turkeys that come to market nowadays at the Thanksgiving season is attributable to such matings, which are eagerly sought by the knowing producer of feathered stock.

The wild turkey is so notoriously shy that most people would be inclined to suppose it incapable of domestication. Such an inference, however, according to the expert, is a mistaken one. As a matter of fact, the bird is not by nature much afraid of man, but rather tame and sociable, so far as human beings are concerned. In Massachusetts during early colonial days there were great numbers of wild turkeys, and frequently they made themselves at home in the close neighborhood of the dwellings of settlers.

To-day the species is entirely extinct in New England, and in other parts of the country the fowl is extremely wild and hard to shoot—not, however, because of a natural shyness of disposition, but simply for the reason that it has been hunted and trapped so persistently. If wild turkeys were bred and reared on farms—a matter of no great difficulty to accomplish, say the experts—they would be docile enough, and, with proper protection, would multiply rapidly.

The fact that wild turkeys have maintained their foothold to some extent in long-settled parts of their old territory—as, for example, in Virginia and Maryland—appears to indicate that it would be entirely practicable to restock portions of their former ranges. But, inasmuch as the country anciently occupied by them is now for the most part populated by human beings, it is necessary, in order to accomplish the object suggested, that their multiplication shall be encouraged under conditions of at least partial domestication—that is to say, by farming the birds for pleasure and profit.

It is believed that, if proper protection were given to such enterprises by the law, sporting club and wealthy individuals owning or leasing large tracts would gladly go into the business of breeding wild turkeys—not for market of course, but for the pleasure derivable from such an enterprise. At the present time not a few such organizations and proprietors of great private estates maintain similar preserves for the quail or "bob-white," holding field trials in competition, to test the ability of dogs to find and point the birds. These field trials are in reality dog races, and no shooting of the quail is allowed.

Where wild turkeys are concerned, however, there is no reason why such extensive preserves, covering in some instances many thousands of acres, should not afford admirable sport under suitable restrictions. There is no form of outdoor amusement more delightful than turkey hunting. But, if farmers could be persuaded to take up the idea, and to breed the birds, they might sell shooting privileges to sportsmen at a rate which would put much more money into their pockets than they could gain by sending the fowls to market.

If the business were suitably managed farms of 500 to 1,000 acres would yield a larger revenue from wild turkeys than from poultry, sportsmen being usually willing to pay several times more for the fun of shooting birds than the latter would fetch as marketable game. For such purposes, of course, it would be neither necessary nor desirable that the fowls should be too tame. On the other hand, experience has shown that wild turkeys are not disposed to go far away from an accustomed source of food supply.

The wild turkey is prolific, and takes kindly to civilization. Like its tame congener, it is a great consumer of injurious insects, particularly grasshoppers, and as such would be useful to the farmer. The female lays from 15 to 20 eggs for a "clutch," but raises only one brood in a year. Foxes, hawks and owls are deadly enemies, but it would be the business of the farmer to protect the birds from these foes, as he does in the case of his farm-yard poultry. As for human poachers, adequate laws for protection against them would have to be passed; but the sportsmen, if once they became interested in the matter, could be relied upon to exert in this direction a powerful influence, which has never yet failed of success in affairs of the kind.

It seems difficult to realize that less than 100 years ago wild turkeys were so abundant that they often sold for six cents apiece, a very large one, weighing 25 or 30 pounds, occasionally fetching as much as 25 cents. To-day a large specimen, gobbler preferred, is worth $5. The species has been wiped out, not by sportsmen, but by pot-hunters, who kill the birds on the roosts, trap them in pens, or lie in ambush for them, attracting them within easy shooting distance by imitating the call of the hen or the young "poult."

On Fisher's island, in Long Island sound, a most interesting experiment has already been made in the rearing of turkeys under semi-domestication—though in this case the species dealt with is the tame one. On this island, which is the most successful turkey farm in the world, the birds are permitted to run wild, and are not even furnished with any shelter, other than they can find among the trees and scrub. But plenty of corn is thrown about where they can get it.

BACK FROM THE HUNT

In this artificial wilderness, as it might be called, which covers an area of about 4,000 acres, the turkeys get as close to nature as possible. Indeed, the whole idea of their management is to let them alone, interfering with them as little as possible. In the winter time their heads often freeze under their wings when they are at roost. But the exposure does them no harm; on the contrary, it renders them exceedingly vigorous, and they attain huge size, the gobblers sometimes weighing as much as 50 pounds when sent to market.

Every spring a few wild gobblers, trapped for the purpose in Virginia or the Carolinas, are introduced into the flocks on Fisher's island, to contribute fresh blood. This is esteemed a matter of the utmost importance. Our tame turkeys are notoriously difficult birds to rear, under ordinary circumstances, being delicate and liable to epidemics—on which account many farmers have given up trying to raise them. The reason why is simply that there has been too much in-breeding, and the stock has lost its hardiness.

A number of varieties of the tame turkey have been developed by breeding, the principal ones being the Bronze, the Buff, the Slate, and the White, the Black and the Narragansett. The White was originally an albino. But all of these are derived from a single species, which is of Mexican origin. There is only one other known species, which is native to Yucatan and Guatemala. It is called the "ocellated turkey," owing to the fact that its tail is ornamented with eyes like that of the peacock. It is one of the most beautiful of birds, its feathers blazing with metallic reflections of gold, green, blue and bronze.

The Thankful Heart

Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.—Ephesians v:20.

The thankful spirit is the true and sure source of a happy life. There are plenty of things to be thankful for, and it is wise to make an effort to find them. They are never far away. They are under our control. We are their masters. God made us that way. We may be in touch with very disagreeable people, but if we do not like disagreeable feelings we need not have them. There are many good things to think of with reference to such people. Be a missionary to them. Think how nice it would be if such a person had a sweet disposition and let your own radiate its virtues.

We can rejoice and be glad no matter where we are. Paul and Silas sang hymns while in jail. Why not? It was bad enough to be in jail. God was good to them. He revealed to them facts of eternal life. These were good things to think about, and why should they not enjoy them? To sing was a reasonable thing to do. God had given them something against the day of trouble and they used it. Why should not we? What is the use of being miserable when we can just as well be happy? God is near us in the joys and comforts of life as well as in our trials and temptations. We have good reasons to be thankful under all conditions of life. The sun always shines no matter about the clouds. Daylight is a good thing, but the best thing is, God created us in his image and after his likeness. There is a divine element in our nature that enables us to think God's thoughts in the facts of nature as well as in the words of Scriptures.

The natural world is a product of thought developed and governed by a system of divine laws that are always in force. God has planned and made laws by which we live, breathe, walk, see, hear, think, talk and learn the meaning of things. How our Heavenly Father has planned the universe for man's comfort and how thankful and happy man should be!

Mark the difference between the accomplished Christian gentleman and man in his uncivilized state and then be thankful for the Gospel and what the discovery of the laws of nature has done for you. Open your mind to see how God planned the laws of steam and electricity in keeping with man's capacity to utilize these forces and thus bring joy and comfort to human hearts. Go through your house, look and think as you go. You will see things of art and culture everywhere—books, magazines, newspapers, pictures, and conveniences, and works of art bearing the marks of the divine in man, which means you who look. When in the city you may look around and notice the buildings, and works of man, and remember that the people who have done all these wonderful things are members of your family. God is their father and he has given them a task you could not do. They are doing the work and you are getting the benefit of it.

God has given every person a religious nature. It is a source of great comfort and joy. Are you weary? "I will give you rest." "Let not your heart be troubled." "My peace I leave with you." These are God's promises. They should mean much to us. Are you poor and homeless? Turn your thoughts on the Saviour's promises and picture to yourself the golden city; locate your mansion, receive your old friends, tell them to come in. Thankful? How can one help but be thankful? The Christian's spirit is the thankful, happy spirit. Every person should have it. It is the conquering spirit. It never meets defeat. No matter where one is or how sad the conditions of life, the hopes of heaven are always bright. The Christian, happy spirit always has something worth while to do. The wickedness of the world is round us. Throw a dash of Gospel sunlight along the pathway of the sin-suffering friend. A light in the darkness is what he needs. Smile on him. Let him see your gladness when he would expect to see sorrow.

The thankful spirit brings gladness in all conditions of life. There are beautiful characters among the needy as well as in elegant homes on the boulevards. If the rich can afford to adorn their homes and beautify them and pay the price I will enjoy their beauty and render thanks. There is a difference in men's natural attainments. They are God-made and are needed for the improvement and comfort of mankind. Without them there could be no schools, no true progress, and what would we do without the conveniences made possible through the labor of others. They are necessary to the comforts of our homes and in every department of the work of life. God help you to look and see reasons to be thankful every day of your life.—Rev. J. B. MacGuffin.

For the Thanksgiving Dinner

The delicate flavor of the pumpkin is developed only by a long and gentle application of heat, so when preparing it for pies always stew it for three or four hours, then mix it with the other ingredients.

To each cupful of pulp add two well beaten eggs, half a cupful of sugar, a tablespoonful of cornstarch, dissolved in a cupful of cream, half a teaspoonful each of ginger and cinnamon and a teaspoonful of lemon extract; add a large tablespoonful of melted butter and fill the paste full with this mixture. Bake brown in a moderate oven.

Although the observance of Thanksgiving is particularly a northern custom, the following recipe for Virginia pudding is given in the Housekeeper as appropriate to the occasion.

Turn one pound of stoned raisins, one pound of dried currants, one-fourth of a pound of citron sliced thin into a large mixing bowl and dredge well with flour. Add half a pound of fresh suet chopped small, then mix the whole thoroughly. In another bowl cream one-half pound of butter with an equal weight of sugar; add to this mixture the yolks of six eggs beaten smooth and one pint of rich, sweet milk.

Whip the whites of the eggs very stiff, then add them alternately with one and a quarter pounds of sifted flour to the mixture. Then stir into it the juice and grated rind of one lemon, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and cloves, one-half teaspoonful of mace, one grated nutmeg and one-half teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a little cold water. Lastly, add the fruit, stirring and beating vigorously until the whole is thoroughly mixed.

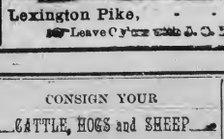
Pour into a well floured pudding bag, allowing plenty of room for swelling, drop into a roomy pot of boiling water and boil continuously for five hours. Serve hot with a sauce made as follows: Cream together one cupful of white sugar and a lump of butter the size of an egg. When smooth and white, heat in the grated rind of a lemon and the whipped white of an egg.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.
Phone, M. 2393.
The Applegate-Piper Co.
MERCHANT TAILORS.
Room 610, Traction Building,
Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,
BURLINGTON, KY.
The Oldest Bank in Boone County,
PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,
With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.



RARUS FLOUR
THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.
17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.
This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR
Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,
Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY
AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.
CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.
New Buggies, Runabouts
and Harness for Sale or Trade.
Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.
When in Burlington call and See me.
B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director and Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Order at [illegible] Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR
CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP
—TO—
C. C. SEAL & CO.
Union Stock Yards,
CINCINNATI. • • OHIO
And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.
J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Mrs. J. B. Harris, who was very ill, is much better.

Howard Smith spent Thursday in Cincinnati on business.

J. Claud Hume, of Verona, spent part of Saturday here with friends.

James Allen is enjoying a visit to his old home near Big Bone Springs.

E. P. Northcutt and pretty daughter, Miss Mayme, spent Thursday in Cincinnati.

Judge B. F. Menefee, of Crittenden, was a business visitor here one day last week.

Mrs. O. P. Maxwell, who has been seriously ill of typhoid fever, is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Diers spent last Friday in Cincinnati, visiting relatives and friends.

David L. Castleman, of Folson, Grant county, spent a day here last week on business.

H. R. Watson spent Thursday in Cincinnati on business for the firm of Watson & Dudgeon.

H. W. Smith and wife, of Erlanger, are here visiting relatives, and Mr. Smith is enjoying a big hunt.

Charles Young, who has charge of G. W. Maines' saw mill, spent a day last week in Cincinnati on business.

Dr. J. F. Cleek, one of our enterprising young farmers, spent a day last week in Cincinnati on business.

Dr. and Mrs. Carlton Crisler, of Cincinnati, were guests of Dr. B. K. Menefee and wife, one day the past week.

Walter Johnson, one of our splendid young men, was in Cincinnati a day last week, and sold 12 hogs for $170 83.

Misses Minnie and Jane Jones, of Big Bone Springs, were visiting here last Friday, en route to Cincinnati to spend the day.

Alfred Hamilton, of Gallatin county, was a visitor here last week, the guest of his sister, Mrs. A. B. Tompkins and family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. DeMoisey and little daughter, of Ludlow, were the guests of his brother, R. F. DeMoisey and wife, part of last week.

Claud Ford, the accommodating paying teller of the Fifth-Third National Bank, Cincinnati, spent Saturday and Sunday here with his parents.

W. O. Rouse spent Friday at Verona on business. His milling firm has bought a large quantity of fine corn for domestic use at 50 cents per bushel.

W. Lee Johnson spent a day in Cincinnati, last week, on the live-stock market, and sold 14 nice hogs at 8 cents a pound, the top of the market.

Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. B. Tompkins, spent part of the past week at Latonia, guest of her son, Wm. T. Hamilton and wife.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Walton Methodist church will give a social at sister Mrs. John Stamler's, during the holidays, due notice of which will be given.

Howard Smith's hunting dog for which he had been offered $80, and which had been missing for some time, was found the other day. It had been shot and killed.

Robert Lassing, of Newport, spent Friday and Saturday here, coming out to attend the banquet of the Philomathean Society held at the school chapel Friday night.

Mrs. J. P. Williford and mother, Mrs. Thos. Maxwell, of Gallatin county, spent Saturday here at the bedside of Mrs. O. P. Maxwell, who is recoving from a severe spell of illness.

B. W. Adams, the clever county clerk, of Burlington, and John G. Adams, his nephew and a popular citizen of Kenton county, spent last Saturday here with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Berry Noell spent last Friday in Cincinnati. Mr. and Mrs. Noell are selling part of their household effects, intending to move to Sandford, Florida, where Mrs. Noell's father resided when she was a little child.

John W. Sleet, who recently purchased the merchandise establishment of Fred C. Johns, at Key West, is doing a fine business and is well pleased with his investment. Mr. Johns contemplates going to Texas in the spring.

John Fink, our artistic painter, is busy at his trade on contracts in Erlanger and in Cincinnati. He has just closed a large contract for the painting of a large church in Cincinnati, being awarded the contract over several competitors, and at a better price because of his superior workmanship.

Henry C. Diers, who has just completed the delivery of about $4,000 worth of nursery stock to patrons in Boone, Owen, Gallatin, Carroll and Henry counties, has met with most satisfactory results, the patrons being well pleased with the delivery, and many supplemented their previous orders for spring delivery.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Diers are in Chicago, visiting their son, Harvy, and wife. They expect to remain there about a week, and then go to Lima, Ohio, to visit their daughter, Mrs. Lora Wills, and husband, and then to Dayton, Ohio, to visit his brother, Augustus Diers, and family.

James W. Miller, of Covington, was a visitor here last Thursday, en route to Big Bone Springs on a visit to his brother, George L. Miller, and other relatives. He formerly resided at Normansville, where he was born and raised. He opened a store there 43 years ago, erecting the building now occupied as a store by his nephew, John C. Miller. He has a host of friends in that quarter. He is now in his 74th year, and is in fair health with the exception of an occasional attack of asthma.

C. E. Lipscomb, who recently lost his residence by fire on his farm near town, has bought the farm of Mrs. Nancy J. Cluster, comprising 51 acres, with a barn and residence, and the purchase price is $2,000 cash in hand. He made the purchase to avoid the necessity of building a residence so late in the year, and will move to the property at once, bringing his invalid father and his sister back from Covington, where they have been since the fire.

Prof. Limberg will give a musical recital at Senior's Hall in Union, on Saturday evening, November 20th, in which his pupils to the number of about a dozen, assisted by the choir of the Big Bone church, will entertain with a program of choice music. Prof. Limberg has a class here and in Beaver Lick, and several from those places expect to attend.

Later—Since the above was put in type, Pro. Limberg has notified this office that the entertainment has been postponed for the present. Due notice of the next date will be given when is decided upon.

Chas. F. Miskell, who has been visiting his parents, Frazier Miskell and wife, of Big Bone Springs, spent Saturday here, accompanied by his brother, John, and they were guests of Will H. Sheets and wife, the latter being their sister. Mr. Miskell was on his way to his home in Victor, Colorado, where he owns a ranch, and he is so well pleased with that locality that he advises men with small capital to try the western country as the opportunities for advancement and prosperity are much greater in that quarter than in this old, settled country.

Rev. J. W. Rogers is in receipt of a beautiful invitation to attend a special meeting of Covington Chapter No. 35, Royal Arch Masons, Thanksgiving, November 25th, when the Royal Arch Degree is to be conferred on three candidates. A banquet for which that Chapter has established the reputation of prince of entertainers, will be served at 6 o'clock. The ladies have also been invited to partake of the hospitality with music and euchre after the banquet, and the desert minstrels will be in charge of Companion W. W. Timmerman. The committee in charge are Companions F. J. Mayer, J. Cliff Reed, J. M. Riffe.

Died.—Leslie C. Morris, who had been ill for a long time with softening of the brain, died at his home here, November 9th, aged 43 years. During his long illness his devoted wife gave him every attention, and all that medical skill could do to alleviate his condition was done, but all was of no avail. Mr. Morris was born in Grant county, and had resided in this quarter all his life. He was married to Miss Ada Conner, who survives him and grieves over the loss of a dear companion. Mr. Morris was a good citizen, and his death is deplored by a large circle of friends. The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon of last week from the Walton Baptist church, Rev. W. W. Evans conducting the services, after which the remains were interred in the Baptist cemetery.

Kirby West, who has been in the Philippine Islands for about six years, returned home here last week, and is the guest of his mother, Mrs. Enoch West and family. Mr. West was in the employ of the U. S. Government in the capacity of superintendent of construction work. He is a very bright and intelligent young man, and gives a very interesting account of his sojourn in Uncle Sam's far eastern possessions. In his journey home he made a tour of Japan, China, Russia and other European points of interest, and his observation intensified his loyalty to his beloved country. He is a graduate of Harvard College, and like all college bred men, his views of the respective countries are of a high order, fruitful of thought and consideration and he has gathered a fund of information that is very interesting and instructive. Mr. West will remain here for some time, and his many friends welcome him back to his old Kentucky home.

FOR SALE—Four eight-months old male Poland China pigs—eligible to register. R. C. GREEN,
nov 8-tf Walton, Ky.

Corbin sells sauer kraut 3 pounds for a dime.

Forced Into Exile.

Wm. Upchurch of Glen Oak, Okla. was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lungcracking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infallible for Coughs and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat. Cures Bronchitis, Grip, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup. 50c and $1.00, trial bottle free, guaranteed by Bentler's drug store Erlanger.

Try Corbin's N. O. Molasses, 55 cts gallon.

The second month's examination in the County High School resulted in placing two students on the Roll of Honor by having made the required average of 90 per cent. They were Ruth Kelly, Sophmore, 92 per cent, and Robert McGlasson, Freshman, 90½. All students are working hard, and I believe we shall have several more on the Roll next month. The examinations are thorough and the grading rigid so that the parents and friends of any student may know that he is entitled to the exact grade which he receives.
EVERETT L. DIX, Principal.

Corbin has received a lot of new honey.

The town of Jonesville, Owen county lost 35 residences and business houses by fire, Sunday morning, which just about wiped the town off of the map. The fire is supposed to have started from a cigar stub, that some member threw in cuspidor at the Odd-Fellows' meeting Saturday night, as the building in which the lodge met was where the fire originated. The insurance that was carried by the property owners does not begin to cover the loss.

Young Girls

just entering into womanhood, often suffer much pain and misery during the change of their physical organization. Many women will tell you their female trouble started during that trying period, and has clung to them ever since.

Cardui is a friend to young girls, as well as to women of all ages. It has been found to help women during their trying periods by relieving pain and restoring disordered organs to health.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. Mary Hudson, Eastman, Miss., writes: "While staying with me and going to school, my young sister was in terrible misery. I got her to take a few doses of CARDUI and it helped her at once.

"I have taken Cardui myself and believe I would have been under the clay had it not been for that wonderful medicine."

Try Cardui. It will help you. For sale everywhere.

E 48

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

Fruit Trees For Sale.

Apples and Pears, have arranged to furnish Peaches, Cherries and other nursery stock at reasonable prices.

Also B. P. Cockerels.

B. T. KELLY,
R. D. 2, Burlington, Ky.
Farmers Telephone line.

Warning to Hunters.

Any person or persons trespassing or hunting with dog or guns on the lands of the undersigned will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

WALTON PRECINCT.

W. H. Senour	W. E. Dixon
G. W. Taylor	M. E. Fields
G E. Carroll	Bryant Campbell
J. C. Byland	Mrs Jane Kennedy
J. C. Mayhugh	A. R. Johnson
Robt. Chambers	L. S. Wolfe
Ira Aylor	S. C. Hicks
Batty Long	J. S. West
Lawrence Ryan	Clay Baker
S. Taylor	John Mardis
S. M. Hudson	R. O. Hughes
Theo. Kennedy	Martha C. Hudson
Ben Cleek	Rebecca J. Hudson
J. C. Bedinger	Kate Hudson
John Goodridge	O. S. Giscken
J. J Hudson	Geo W Ransom
Rev. Lafe Johnson farm.

BURLINGTON PRECINCT.

Mrs Elizabeth Utz	W L B Rouse
Oscar Gaines	Bart E Aylor
Clarence Easton	Karl Rouse
T. J. Walton.	Peter Buchart.
Hewitt Bros.	Chas. A. Gaines
Mrs. A. Harding.
Minerva Weaver.

BELLEVIEW PRECINCT.

Julia Dinsmore

BULLITTSVILLE PRECINCT.

Mrs Mary Gaines	John W Clore
Elbert Rouse	Huey Aylor
Jeff D Cloud	Harvey Aylor
H L McGlasson	Ben Paddock
R C McGlasson	C E Clore
E J Aylor	Chester Hood

UNION PRECINCT.

E L Rouse	W H Wilson
Jas Delahaunty

PETERSBURG PRECINCT.

F M Voshell	C L Voshell

HAMILTON PRECINCT.

R. Lee Huey

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell at public sale at the Lutheran Parsonage, on the Burlington pike, near Florence, Ky.,

Tuesday, Nov. 30th, 1909,

Tae following property:

One fine driving horse, 6 yrs-old, not afraid of automobiles, street or steam cars; one 4 yr-old Jersey Cow, now giving milk and will be fresh Jan. 15th, 1910; one surrey, nearly new; one good top buggy; one full set single harness, extra set traces; one sled; hanging lamp; 100 bus. coal, and other articles too numerous to mention.

Usual terms will be given.

J. H. WALTERICK.

Sale to begin at 1 o'clock.

Young Girls Are Victims

of headache, as well as older women, but all get quick relief and prompt cure from Dr. King's New Life Pills, the world's best remedy for sick and nervous headaches. They make pure blood, and strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 25c at Bentler's drug store Erlanger.

CLOSING OUT SALE!

Having Sold our Store Building, we offer our entire Stock of

DRY GOODS and NOTIONS

BOOTS AND SHOES,

→AT←

WHOLESALE PRICES

MUST BE SOLD OUT BY

December 1st, 1909

Full Stock of Winter Shoes. Also a Full Line of the Famous "BALL BAND BUBBER GOODS."

Come! Investigate, and Save Money.

BEDINGER BROS., - - - Richwood, Kentucky.

Now is the time to Buy a Piano for Christmas.

We will Save you $100.00 on a strictly

High Grade Piano or Player Piano.

THE TONE, QUALITY AND DURABILITY OF OUR PIANOS CANNOT BE EXCELLED ANYWHERE.

Cash or Easy Payments. Large Stock to Select from

When in Covington call in and see us.

Ben J. Wagner Company,

No. 82 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

Farm for Sale.

My 113 acre farm on the Ohio river adjoining the town of McVille, Boone county, Ky. On this farm are two good dwellings a good barn and other necessary outbuildings, and it will produce anything that will grow in this climate. If this farm is not sold by the first of Feby., 1910, I will rent it for one year for money rent, and give renter privilege to purchase it at the end of the year, or will rent it for part of the crop, the renter to give good reference as to him being a neat, industrious farmer. If sold terms will be easy. Possession given March 1, 1910. For further particulars call on or address

S. D. RICE, Grant, Ky.

New Arrival in Watches & Gold Jewelry on Sale at Special Low Prices.

Fifty-one years ago the foundation of this house was laid with Quality, Representations and good values to patrons as cornerstones. The present establishment coupled with the fact that it stands to-day as one of its largest institutions of its kind in the three cities speaks eloquently of the publics appreciation of this Store.

Ladies' watch special 14-kt filled, set with genuine cut diamond for $18.50. See them in our window

MOTCH,
The Jeweler,
613 Madison Ave.
Covington, Ky.

→NEW PACKED←

Dried Peaches, Apples, Prunes,

Raisins, Oranges, Etc.,

Now in Stock.

All other goods as soon as the season opens. Don't forget to call in and compare my Quality and Prices with others.

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

M. L. Swetnam Clarenc E. Swetnam Russell E. Swetnam

M. L. Swetnam & Sons,

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,

15 to 21 E. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.

Phone South 170. FREE AMBULANCE.

Take Your County paper.

C. H. ACRA,
AUCTIONEER
GRANT, KY.
Your Patronage solicited

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property knowu as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.
JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1881
Subscription $1.50 Year
Try It One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 24 1909. NO 6

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

FRANCESVILLE.

Most of the farmers are through shucking corn.

Glad to see William Goodridge able to be out again.

Mrs. Jameson Aylor is with her son, Zeke, for the present.

Our road overseer is having rock broken and spread on the roads.

Mrs. Chas. Scothorn was a guest at Charlie Beall's, Saturday afternoon.

Some one stole Mrs. Mae Aylor's preserves, jelly and some fruit, last week.

Miss Mary Frank Goodridge, who has been quite sick, is very much improved.

Mrs. Nellie Markland and son, Graham, were at their home here a few days recently.

Miss Sadie Rieman's father and mother, of Rising Sun, visited here last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Clinton Riddell's friends will be sorry to hear of her illness at her home in Hamilton, Ohio.

We all sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Corn in their sad affliction, the death of their daughter, Miss Mary. An abler pen than mine must tell of her many good qualities and virtues.

Frank Aylor and wife entertained her grand-mother and aunt, her father and mother, Harry Kilgore and wife, W. B. Graves, wife and daughter; Mrs. Milton Souther, of Idlewild; Meadmes John and Harry Roberts and Miss Beulah Roberts, of Burlington; Henry Aylor and wife, on Sunday the 14th inst.

HATHAWAY.

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving day.

Nov. 22.--Everybody hunts but father.

The turkey crop is short in this vicinity.

The farmers will soon begin to butcher their hogs.

This writer made a business trip to the city, one day recently.

Mrs. Cynthia Mason spent last Thursday as guests at C. B. Mason's.

Geo. L. Smith attended the funeral of Mrs. Anna Taylor at Richwood, last Friday.

Thos. Summers, of near Grange Hall, was down on Gunpowder, buying corn, one day last week.

Tobacco that was bulked some time ago had to be stripped out on account of it getting warm in the bulk.

W. S. White's 67th anniversary was celebrated at his home on the 14th inst., by his children and grand children. Those present were James W. White, wife and little daughter, Wm. Rector and family, Edward Brady and family, and the writer and family. A fine turkey graced the table with all the trimmings, besides other delicacies of the season. The day was spent very pleasantly.

The death angel visited this community again and removed from our midst our esteemed friend and neighbor, Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Ryle Smith, daughter of James Wm. and Viola Ryle. She was born Jan. 18th, 1886, confessed her faith in Jesus Christ and united with the Bellevue Baptist church at the age of 12 years. She was united in marriage to George N. Smith, Feb. 11th, 1903, and departed this life Nov. 16th, 1909. God saw fit in his infinite wisdom to remove her and her two infants, Ryle and Jennie, into glory, leaving to mourn their death her husband and father, mother, and many other relatives and friends. The funeral was in charge of R. A. Steele, of Rising Sun. The remains were taken to the church at Belleview, where the funeral sermon was preached by Rev. H. B. Hensley, the pastor, after which the body was placed in the tomb in the new city of the dead to await the resurrection morn.

Card of Thanks.--We take this means of thanking our many friends and neighbors and Drs. Carlyle and Perkins and our neighbor ladies for their untiring efforts in our sad affliction, and time of need, and Rev. Hensley for his consoling remarks, and the friends for floral offerings.

The Family.

Everything in Good Shape.

The Board of Control of the Burley Tobacco Society of Boone Co., met here last Thursday to canvass the warehouse situation, and arrange for the rental or purchase of suitable warehouses in the county. The Booth warehouse at Walton was rented for the current year. The entire board was present at the meeting, viz: Joseph C. Hughes, Chairman, Richwood; R. C. Green, treasurer, T. F. Curley, secretary, Walton; W. M. Whitson, Verona, J. L. Jones, Landing; Hon. J. W. Berkshire, Petersburg; R. B. Huey and Albert Conner, Burlington, and W. B. Arnold, of Bellevue. The situation seems to be very good in this county, and the organization has been quite successful in pooling the crop, there being only a small per cent out of the pool, and nearly all of that has been sold.

IDLEWILD.

Nov. 20--Mrs. Fletcher Clore and Mrs. James Day were shopping in the city, last Saturday.

T. C. Masters of Ashby was visiting in Bullittsville Sunday.

John Barnes and family, of Pushburg, were guests of Ed Burres and wife, near Burlington, Sunday.

E. K. Stevens, of Petersburg, moved to his farm near Bullittsville Friday.

Samuel R. Owens, of Lancaster, is teaching the school at the White Swan. Commenced Monday.

Huckster McGowan took from Idlewild and gathered up on his route about 300 rabbits Thursday.

Kreitzer was down, Tuesday of last week, and took a lot of rabbits to the city that was killed Monday.

Fletcher Clore has been quite poorly two or thee weeks and Jas. Day's little boy has been sick. Are glad to report that both improving.

Amon Wilson, of Ludlow, was the guest of Samuel Delph, of Garrison, from Tuesday until Saturday. Was down for a few days' hunt.

Cleve Rector and wife, of Ashby, spent Sunday with Mrs. Rectors father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jones, of Bullittsville.

Mrs. Jasper McGuire and daughter, Pearl, of Grandview, were the guests of Omer McGuire and wife, of Idlewild, the latter part of last week.

W. C. Gaines was called to Carrollton on Saturday of last week on account of sickness of his baby. His wife is spending a few weeks there.

We should be sensible. Society never lacks for fools, and what we consider very entertaining nonsense may soon be looked upon as very tiresome folly.

We had a special invitation to attend the ice cream supper at Bullittsville, and had made arrangements to do so. Now that it is called off we are sorely disappointed.

Pleasant Lamb and wife, of Covington, came down, Tuesday, and are guests of John Kinney, of Gaines Heights. Are down for a hunt. Mr. Lamb lived in this vicinity at one time

Who can tell the value of a smile? It costs the giver nothing but is beyond price to the erring and relenting, the sad and cheerless, the lost and forsaken. It disarms malice, subdues temper, turns hatred into love, revenge into kindness, and paves the darkest paths with gems of sunlight.

ERLANGER.

Geo. B. Coe left, this week, for a visit with friends in Knoxville, Tenn.

Mrs. T. Geiger entertained a number of relatives and friends, last Sunday.

Mrs. Hauer, of Lexington pike, was the Friday afternoon guest of Mrs. Chas. Carroll.

Miss Edna Geiger and mother were guests of Mrs. Joe Geiger, of outer Erlanger, last Thursday.

Mrs. Perry and daughter, of Covington, and Finn Herman, of Dayton, Ohio, spent a part of last week with relatives here.

Mrs. George Miller had as her guests, last Sunday, Mr. Black and family, of Big Bone, and John Moore and family, of Beaver Lick.

Raymond Johnson, wife and little daughter, Agnes May, have returned home from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Snelling, near Burlington.

The members of the S. S. Home Department of the Christian church had an all day meeting at the home of Mr. M. Lucas in honor of his 81st birthday.

Mrs. Jessie Fullilove Woester left, Saturday, for her future home at Kansas City. Mrs. Woester is a lovely young woman and will be greatly missed by her many friends and relatives in Erlanger where she was raised.

GASBURG.

Rabbits about exhausted.

The corn grown on the overflow bottoms is very poor in quality.

Tobacco stripping and husking corn are being pushed to the limit.

Your reporter and wife passed the 42d anniversary of their marriage, Sunday.

Our public school is progressing nicely under Miss Mendel, who appears to be giving good satisfaction.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Gibb has about recovered from a dangerous spell of pneumonia.

Phillip and Frank Klopp, of Lawrenceburg, were looking after their landed interests here the latter part of last week.

There will be a considerable decrease in acreage planted to market truck next season. The season just past has been the most unprofitable for many years.

Dr. T. B. Castleman, of Latonia, will be in Burlington next county court day, Dec. 1st, and the Tuesday following to do dental work. He will be found at his old stand at Mrs. Susan Clutterbuck's.

DEVON.

Nov. 22.--Some nice weather this month.

Robt. Rouse was visiting in Cincinnati, Monday.

The dairy inspectors passed thru Saturday, investigating stables.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stevens Sundayed with friends in Covington.

Gertrude and Lorreta Mejman will be home, Tuesday, to spend Thanksgiving with their parents.

O. Rouse and wife returned home Sunday, after a few days' visit with Mr. Rouse's parents at Alexandria.

Miss Adelia Gerwie, a charming young lady of Covington, was Mrs. Meiman's guest Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Ben Bristow and son, James, were in the city, Saturday, shopping.

Mrs. Willis Champion, of Livingston county, is the guest of relatives here.

Emile Rivard, of Covington, was the guest of his parents Saturday and Sunday.

James Warrington and son Geo. of Covington, were guests of Arthur Connely and Will Rice, last week.

Edward Lawler and wife, of Norwood, Ohio, came out, Wednesday and visited relatives at this place until Sunday evening.

J. C. Conrad and wife entertained Edward Lawler and wife and several other friends at 5 o'clock dinner, Saturday evening.

Robert Rouse was the guest of relatives at Independence, Saturday, and attend the dance given by Albert Stephens and wife.

VERONA.

Health of the community good.

C. W. Waller has two sows and 14 pigs for sale.

J. E. Ransom is in Texas expecting to buy property there.

Marion Bagby, who has purchased property here will move in soon.

Dr. Coleman, of Walton, was the pleasant guest of Dr. B'Hymer, last Sunday.

Owing to the high price of hogs a great many beeves are being butchered here.

C. C. Roberts has the contract for painting and papering Mrs. Kate Ryan's new residence.

John Myers and family, of Jonesville, who have been spending a week here returned home Saturday.

Denten Cotton and family, of Jonesville, spent a few days here with his mother, Mrs. Henry Cotton.

Mrs. Kate Ryan's new residence is nearing completion. Albert Vasitine is doing the carpenter work.

Cloyd Powers sold to G. W. Roberts at $200 route, last week, and to Lengthy Johnson a fine two-year old colt for $125.

A. C. Roberts has just finished making a large delivery of fruit trees for the Fairview Nurseries, of Rochester, N. Y.

Miss N. E. Hamilton has sold her two cottages to J. E. Ransom, and will move to her large dwelling in the center of town.

C. W. Lewis, who has the contract to build James Anderson's dwelling, is getting along nicely. The building is raised and roofed.

GUNPOWDER.

Spencer Rouse had the misfortune to lose a valuable colt by death last week.

Harry Tanner has purchased property in Florence and will move there in the spring.

Some of the farmers are thru gathering corn and the most of them have a good yield.

A protracted meeting is in progress at Ebenezer, Rev. J. H. Walterick, is conducting the services.

Ed Hensley and wife, of Waterloo neighborhood, were guests of R. R. Houston last Saturday night and Sunday.

A full attendance of the membership of Hopeful church are requested at the services next Sunday. There is business of importance.

W. Williams sold his farm in the Union neighborhood to John Crisler a few days since. Mr. Williams will devote all of his time to his store at Gunpowder.

The Grangers are putting forth a great effort to make their supper to be given at Florence, on Thursday night, a great success. Come, everybody and enjoy a pleasant time.

Lost--A black sow, will weigh about 150 lbs., has had a ring in nose but it is out. Anyone giving information leading to her recovery will be liberally rewarded by Robt. Tanner.

J. P. Tanner, our mail carrier, has purchased a new rig in which he will carry the mail this winter. It is constructed so as to shut out wind and water, and will make his job more desirable.

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the season was an entertainment given by L. C. Acra and wife last Sunday. Invitations had been sent to about 30 guests, all of whom responded. A most bountiful dinner had been prepared by the hostess, assisted by her mother Mrs. R. O. Beemon, consisting of turkey and all of the trimmings, and everything else that a person could possibly desire and then some. Sacred music was a feature of the occasion, accompanied by the organ, at which Mrs. Fannie Clutterbuck presided. The guests left that hospitable home feeling that this is a better world on account of Mr. and Mrs. Acra being in it, and the entire assembly will join me in saying that the occasion was a pleasant one and highly appreciated.

FLORENCE

Mrs. L. H. Voshell, of Union, was the guest of Mrs. Dave Brown, Saturday.

Miss Fannie Hoggins is the guest of her sisters, the Misses Hoggins, of this place.

Miss Hattie Snyder, of Gunpowder, was the guest of Miss Nannie Corbin Saturday.

Mrs. Annie Crigler has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Mitchell, of Chicago.

Lee Whitson and children and John Bramlage, of Erlanger, were guests of Mrs. J. R. Whitson, Saturday.

Don't forget the supper to be given here Thursday night at the hall--supper and entertainment for 25 cents.

PETERSBURG.

Miss Ruth Snyder is quite sick.

Mrs. Aletha Hensley is visiting relatives at Ludlow.

Mrs. Nannie Olds and Mrs. Harry McWethy spent Friday in Cincinnati.

Robert Griffith and wife are spending a week with relatives at Sparta.

Henry Gordon and wife spent Sunday with relatives at Lawrenceburg.

Keeler Stephens and family have removed to their former home near Bullittsville.

H. E. Arnold and wife arrived Thursday, after spending several days with relatives near Belleview.

The Ladies Aid Society wishes to thank all those who responded so readily to their request for a handkerchief. The bazaar was a decided success, the proceeds amounting to something like $11.

RICHWOOD.

J. T. Powers put a new roof on his Lipp house.

Theo. Carpenter's Ormonde colt can go a 3 minute mile.

Claude and Marian Tanner were Sunday guests of M. Grubbs.

F. P. Hunter and family, of Jasper, Florida, are here on a visit.

Robinson & Garrison will soon take posses sion of the Bedinger store.

Mrs. Amanda Carpenter spent several days the past week at Wm. E. Glacken's.

A town hunter was shot in the face while hunting on W Gaines place. He was severely hurt but would not give his name.

E. H. Surface and family, Walter Grubbs and family and Thos. and Eli Rice were Sunday guests at Leslie Barlow's near Gunpowder.

Bob Fisk, who collected Cary Carpenter's money for potatoes sold, was captured and placed in Covington jail charged with horse stealing. He collected $9.50 from a woman who bought potatoes of Cary.

HEBRON.

Church services at Hebron next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

Dick Tanner and wife entertained several of their friends at dinner, Sunday.

Mrs. Alice Rouse entertained at her hospitable home with a royal dinner, last Sunday.

Miss Lena Davis, of Limaburg, spent a very pleasant afternoon with Miss Bessie Lodge, last Friday.

Mrs. Lizzie Scoggins returned to her home in Denver, Colo., last week, after a month's visit with relatives.

John L. Conner and wife and two grand-daughters, and Robt. L. Ayer and family, spent Sunday with Edward Ernst and wife.

Boy Goodridge and wife spent Sunday with his father, who resides below Taylorsport and has been very sick for some time and is no better.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Verner Tupman gave them a housewarming last Wednesday afternoon. They received many useful presents.

Synopsis of Jos. Chambers' Will

The following is given out as a synopsis of the will of the late Joseph Chambers, which was probated last Monday in Covington: His nephews, John and Joseph Chambers get the 600 acre farm in North Bend; Nancy P. Chambers residence in Covington for life and at her death to Walter Chambers, who is to receive $1,000 additional when he is 25 years old; to Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, Covington, $4,000; Lucy and Ella Gaines each $5,000 in cash, Nannie Bedinger, a niece, $3,000; Robert Chambers, a cousin, 100 acre farm near Walton, $2,500 and his gold watch; Ella Brooks, a cousin, and her son, $500 each; Alfred Chambers, a cousin, $1,000; to the children of Mary Chambers $1,000 to be equally divided; his silver ware to John and Joseph Chambers; furniture to be divided between these nephews and cousin, Robt. Chambers, residue of estate goes to children of Geo. T. Gaines. Robert Chambers is the executor without bond; Vactor Chambers gets three houses in Covington. The will bears date Nov. 26, 1906.

We are informed that a number of the tobacco raisers out of the pool in this county have formed a pool and sold their tobacco at 13 and 13 1-2 cents per pound, in winter order prized E. O. B. Owenton. The amount sold is estimated at about a million pounds.--Owen County Democrat.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. F. A. Hall is visiting her sister in Newport.

Mr. J. W. Duncan was quite ill several days the past week.

N. E. Riddell was transacting business in Cincinnati, last Thursday.

Mrs. E. W. Duncan is visiting her mother and other relatives at Walton.

Frank Robbins, of Gunpowder, was a caller at this office yesterday.

F. A. Utz, of Florence, was transacting business in Burlington, yesterday.

F. W. Kassabaum, the Aurora tombstone man, was in Burlington, Monday.

O. P. Phipps and family are now residents of Burlington, having moved in last Friday.

W. T. Berkshire, of Petersburg, was transacting business in Burlington, last Thursday.

V. W. Gaines and wife of Idlewild, were visiting in Burlington, last Saturday afternoon.

H. O. Adams, from down on Riddell's Run, was a business visitor to Burlington, last Saturday.

C. C. Roberts and wife spent two or three days the latter part of last week with her father near Walton.

Robt. McNeely and wife, of Big Bone neighborhood, were transacting business in Burlington, last Saturday.

Joe Ryle, was in last Saturday directed his paper changed to Cleves, Ohio, where he will work this winter.

M. L. Riddell and wife were guests of B. H. Berkshire and wife, of Petersburg, Sunday and Sunday night.

John White the Recorder's correspondent at Hathaway, was transacting business in Burlington, last Saturday.

J. T. Stephenson, one of the prosperous farmers of Gunpowder neighborhood, was a caller at this office yesterday

Dudley Blyth and wife spent a few days the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Botts, of Petersburg.

Robert Wilson and Richard H. Stephens, of Rabbit Hash, made the overland trip to market with cattle again the past week.

Judge W. M. Fenley, a prominent member of the Kenton county bar, was transacting business in Burlington, last Friday.

A. M. Edwards, of Walton; Jonas Stevens, of Idlewild; B. F. Zimmer of Constance and W. T. Stott, of Petersburg, were in Burlington, Monday.

Joseph Bullock, the Hebron architect of male wearing apparel, was delivering some of the output of his shop in Burlington, last Saturday.

S. D. Rice, of McVille, was in Burlington, last Saturday. He has not sold his fine river bottom farm yet, and it is for rent for money.

Jerry Carpenter, of Richwood, was transacting business in Burlington, last Friday. Jerry is one of the clevrest men in his part of the county.

T. Z. Roberts, a genial old bachelor from down on Middle creek, was a caller at this office, last Saturday, to see some of the machinery in operation.

Hon. John C. Byland, of Walton, spent last Friday at the county seat, having business before the court in his capacity as administrator of an estate.

Prof. Paris B. Akin, of Plattsburg, vice-president of his educational district was a caller at this office, last Saturday. From his looks it is evident he is putting his feet under the table at his father's, this fall.

Everett Aylor, who lives on the 'Wood Carpenter farm" near Richwood, was a visitor at Burlington and called at this office, last Saturday. Mr. Aylor was in delicate health for several years, but is now robust and active.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Furnish, left, last Friday, for their home, Golden Pond, Trigg county, where Mr. Furnish is cashier of a bank. Mrs. Furnish had been the guest of her relatives here for several weeks. Mr. Furnish arrived one day last week to accompany his wife and baby to their home.

Farmer John Cloud, of Woolper's breezy heights, was in town on two or three occasions, last week, wearing that satisfied look of the farmer who has his cribs full of nice corn, the mow full of hay, plenty of fodder for sheep and cattle, the bin full of coal and a long rick of stove wood convenient.

County Surveyor, W. E. Vest, together with commissioners Clinton Gaines, A. W. Corn and Geo. McGlasson, divided the land of the late C. W. Riley, about ten days ago, viz: The home place to the widow, Mrs. Corinna B. Riley; the river farm of 77 acres, to the infant heirs, Thos. M., and Chas. W., while Edna M. gets part of the river farm and nine acres of the Hedges place near Francesville. Edgar C. and Geo. L. get the remainder of the Hedges place. This place contains 138.4 acres. Edgar C. then bought out the interests of Geo. L. and Edna M. Riley in the Hedges farm.

Stephens Bros. of Idlewild neighborhood, are building a large hog house in which will be a concrete floor and concrete feed boxes It will be about the most up-to-date "hogery" in the county when completed.

There has been plenty of rain in this part of the country the past season and up to the present but over in Pennsylvania, only a few hundred miles away, there has been a water famine, and the railroads are hauling hundreds of tank car loads daily to the miners at and near Shamokin.

The model for the new statue of Henry Clay to replace the one shattered by lightning in the Lexington cemetery has been accepted, and the new statue will be completed and placed in position by April 1st 1909. The head was torn from the statue by a bolt of lightning about eight years ago.

There have been many lynching bees in the south, but the recent lynching at Cairo, Illinois, had an element of participants never heard of south of Mason and Dixon's line. Cairo is the first place at which women ever came to the front and manipulated the rope that sent a miserable wretch into eternity.

The overwhelming defeat of the proposed amendment to the constitution at the recent election demonstrates that the people of Kentucky, as a body, are emphatically opposed to making any provision whereby they can be taxed any heavier than is possible under the constitution as it now stands.

Louisville Democrats are enjoying the loaves and fishes which they captured on the 2nd inst. They feel as though it will be a long time before the Republicans are called to another feast there, but Democratic supremacy in Kentucky's metropolis depends on the good behavior of the officials recently installed.

The furnishings for the Governor's reception room in the new capitol at Frankfort will cost $15,000. The rug which is to cover the floor is being made to order in France and will be one of the show pieces in the new capitol. It will be the most expensive single article in the whole building and was especially designed for the room in which it is to be laid.

The Owen County Democrat says David Haley, who has for the past six years spent much of his time in Owen, is a candidate for Sargent-at-Arms of the next State Senate. He made a great race for this place at the last session, being beaten by only two votes. He holds a deputy county clerks commission under the newly elected County Clerk of Owen county."

Traction roads have no trouble securing the right of way through Central Kentucky, where is located the highest price land in the State, and where are to be found the best facilities for neighborhood and other travel. The property owners in that locality recognize the very great advantage of traction roads and encourage their construction when the opportunity is presented.

Kentucky had a Democratic Governor, last Wednesday, Con Linn, president pro tem of the State Senate being temporarily in the Governor's chair during the absence from the State of Gov. Willson and Lieut. Gov. W. H. Cox. Mr. Linn succeeds to the Governor's chair when both the Governor and Lieutenant Governor are out of the State or die. The former contingency happened last Wednesday.

From statistics gathered from country banks and bankers, one of the Louisville banks estimates the Burley tobacco in Kentucky this year at between 190,000,000 and 210,000,000 pounds. Other types in the State are estimated at between 175 million and 190 million pounds, making a total crop in the State of between 365 million and 400 million pounds. This bank also estimates between 55 and 65 per cent of the Burley crop has been or will be pooled.

The Teachers' District meeting held in Burlington, last Saturday, was one of the most interesting of the fall meetings. The several subjects were handled in an able and profitable manner. The attendance was small, but the enthusiasm on the part of the teachers was none the less for that reason. The teachers in attendance spent a profitable day. Miss Lucy Russell had taken great pains to have the public school room handsomely and appropriately decorated for the meeting.

The State Agricultural Commissioner on Wednesday issued his final crop report for 1909, a summary of the past four months. The year has been very favorable for farmers. The average wheat yield for the State is placed at eleven bushels. The average yield of corn thirty bushels; the average yield of oats, twenty bushels. He says the usual crop of dark tobacco was grown and an average yield produced. The average yield of burley tobacco is given at 800 pounds per acre. The fruit crop was very light.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. - KENTUCKY.

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed Into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

Count Boni de Castellane has been in Rome two weeks trying to arrange for papal annulment of his marriage with Anna Gould, now the Princess de Sagan, so he may remarry.

President Simon of Haiti arrived at Cape Haitien on the gunboat Liberte and was given an enthusiastic welcome. The town was decked with flags in his honor.

Mrs. Marie Radleigh of New York city, 48 years old and married 20 years, has given birth to her nineteenth child. Only nine are living, but one of them, a daughter 19 years old, is married and the mother of one baby.

Rings lost by Mrs. Goldie Dixon of New Town, Mo., valued at $500, were found by Mrs. Margaret Adams of Chicago at the Union station in Kansas City and restored to their owner.

Col. Charles Smith, 81 years old, who served in the Mexican war and in the civil war, died at his home in Terre Haute, Ind.

Herman Erenhaft, a New York tailor with a large family, will soon come into possession of $100,000. He inherits from an aunt in Austria the fortune which will relieve him and his family from the stress of poverty.

GENERAL NEWS.

There is a possibility that President Zelaya of Nicaragua may attempt further high-handed action toward the United States and show his contempt of President Taft's refusal to receive the new Nicaraguan minister by giving the American consul at Managua his passports before he can act further on behalf of this government.

"The safety of a ship going to a port which is closed or blockaded in fact or in theory is a question for the interested parties to determine and act on and not a question for determination by the officials concerned in clearances."

Two heroic men, R. Y. Williams and F. M. Morris, descended into the St. Paul mine at Cherry, Ill., and paved the way for a fight against the flames, and it is confidently believed that the entombed men dead or alive will soon be reached. They went down through the air shaft and found that the fire was raging at the foot of the shaft but in other portions of the mine the temperature was nearly normal, this gave the stricken women and children renewed hope.

John Mitchell, in a speech before the American Federation of Labor, indorsed a report of the committee on boycott and declared that he intended while at liberty to declare for the rights guaranteed him by the organic law of his country.

The body of Hedwig Zinda, the young Polish girl who had been missing several days, was found in an abandoned office at Milwaukee. She had been assaulted and murdered by unknown fiends.

A whole family is dead as the result of a three-cornered duel that was fought at Pioneer, La., between Clarence Compton and Sylvester and Albert Owen. Compton, his wife and his little daughter were all killed and Sylvester Owen was slightly wounded. After the killing he and his brother surrendered to the sheriff. The trouble grew out of an unkind remark made by Compton to the boys' sister. Mrs. Compton with her child stepped into the line of fire during the shooting.

Rumors are current in New York that the government will halt, temporarily at least, the merger of the Western Union Telegraph and American Telephone & Telegraph Companies, and determine whether the law prohibiting combinations in restraint of trade is not being infringed upon.

Rev. J. C. Hathaway, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, at Maryville, Mo., committed suicide by hanging. No reason can be assigned for the deed.

The National Association of Railway Commissioners have adopted a uniform code of demurrage rules applicable alike to state and interstate transportation.

Dowager Duchess Consuelo of Manchester, formerly Miss Consuelo Yznaga of New York, who has been seriously ill for some time in London, is in a critical condition.

The laymen's missionary movement for evangelization of the world opened its session in Baltimore.

President Gompers, Vice-President [illegible] and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, [illegible] granted a stay until November [illegible] the appellate court at Washington [illegible] issuance of a mandate [illegible] jail for contempt of [illegible]

Washington.—The tense situation resulting from the reported execution of two Americans, LeRoy Cannon and Leonard Grace by the order of President Zelaya of Nicaragua, for their alleged participation in the revolution now in progress in that country, has become aggravated by the failure to receive definite news of their fate and caused the state department to make the announcement Friday that in the future every American citizen abroad will be as safe as though he was in his own home.

The present heads of the department have chafed under the old-time statement that a British citizen was safe anywhere, but that if an American crossed a frontier he had to put himself under the protection of the British minister or consul before he could go out and look at the scenery with an unruffled mind.

That is the real movement back of the strenuous way in which the department of state is going after President Zelaya of the Nicaraguan republic, who is reported to have shot two American revolutionists without consulting representatives of this country.

Impatient over the inadequacy of the information received in two telegrams from the American consul at Managua, Secretary Knox dispatched a peremptory order for full and complete advices.

"Immediately ascertain and cable full and positive information as to the fate of the two captured Americans," says his message. "This government," the dispatch continues, "can scarcely credit the report of the summary execution of two American citizens taken with the revolutionary army. The charge d'affaires of Nicaragua here has also been asked telegraphically to demand full information for this government, which will not for one moment tolerate such treatment of American citizens."

This is a pronunciamento to the Central and South American governments in particular that care must be exercised in their treatment of questions affecting American individuals and American interests.

There is a grimness about the attitude of the state department officials which does not usually attach to the adjustment of diplomatic questions. The department is determined to go to the bottom of this affair.

A further interpretation of the recognition of the belligerency of the revolutionists was made by Secretary Knox, in response to inquiries from various merchants doing business with Atlantic ports. To each has been repeated the previous announcement with this addition.

The first body to be removed from the St. Paul mine at Cherry, Ill., was that of Ollie Freiberg. Searchers saw 19 other bodies but were unable to recover them. The fire is under control.

Richard Watson Gilder, the author and editor of the Century Magazine, is dead of heart failure at New York, aged 65 years.

The inquiry instituted by the department of the interior into the validity of coal entry lands in Alaska, around which the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy centers, has begun at Seattle, Wash.

No trace of the murderers of little Hedwig Zenda, at Milwaukee, has yet been obtained by the police. A big reward will be offered for their capture by the city council.

Sheriff F. R. Davis of Alexander county, Illinois, from whom the Cairo mob took the negro Will James and lynched him, has been removed from office by Gov. Deneen, in accordance with mob violence act, which leaves him no discretion.

Two Americans, Leonard Grace and LeRoy Cannon, have been executed in Nicaragua by order of President Zelaya. They were captured while serving with the revolutionary army. The state department has ordered two warships to proceed to Nicaraguan ports with all possible speed and President Taft says Zelaya will be held responsible for his action.

Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, for years one of the most powerful leaders of the Christian Science denomination in New York, has been excommunicated by the board of directors of the mother church at Boston, on the charge of persisting in teaching and practices contrary to Christian Science.

Henry S. Boner, for 32 years superintendent of the Lutheran Publication society, died at his home in Philadelphia. He was 73 years old.

Max O. Dreicorn was killed and William B. Reid and A. La Laberte were probably fatally injured in an automobile accident at West Springfield, Mass.

As a result of the voters of Waukegan, Ill., defeating a $55,000 bond issue, Mayor Fred Buck ordered all street lights put out of commission and the fire and police department curtailed so that only one fireman will be on duty days and one nights and only one policeman on days and one nights.

Blaine Selvage, a young mechanic of Eureka, Ill., made a trial flight of three-quarters of a mile at an average height of three feet in one minute and a half with a monoplane of his own construction.

A long stride toward the complete control by one corporation of all wire communication in the United States was made in the acquisition by the American Telephone & Telegraph Company of the control of the Western Union Company. Officials of the Postal Telegraph Company emphatically deny that they will be in the merger.

Robert Morrison, head of the Brooklyn comb factory that burned last week, killing ten persons, committed suicide at his home in New York. His son died in the fire and the disaster is said to have driven him insane.

DIGGING FOR THE ENTOMBED MINERS GOES ON FURIOUSLY

With Hope of Getting the Men Out Alive, While Firefighters Combat Mad Flames.

FAINT RAPPINGS ARE AGAIN HEARD BY TOILING RESCUERS

Who Struck When Ordered Not to Advance, and Finally Were Allowed To Have Their Own Way—Steps Are Taken to Fix Responsibility For the Disaster—Story of the Rescue Told by Catholic Priest.

Cherry, Ill.—The mine explorers who returned to the surface at 11 o'clock Sunday night report hearing faint shouts for help in the far east drift of the second vein.

For 70 feet the roof of the drift was collapsed, making it impossible to reach the spot from which the shouts are supposed to have emanated for several hours.

Andrew Wilhite, one of the rescuing party, said he was certain he had heard human voices, and that they had penetrated the crevices in the long pile of hot debris.

Diggers are working through the pile as rapidly as possible.

Spurred on by the conviction that scores of live men still are caged in the black hole of the St. Paul mine, parties of rescuers are digging feverishly in drifts so hot as to be almost unbearable.

Tapping has been heard in the faraway subterranean passages, and in spite of the fierce fires that have broken out anew, the rescuers hope to have entered every pocket of the mine by noon Monday.

So determined are the men to reach the imprisoned miners, without a minute's delay, that one group of rescuers struck and left the mine at noon Sunday because they were not permitted to work in the direction after they heard faint tappings. For several minutes the work below the surface was tied up while there was an excited conference.

Then the men were rushed down the 300-foot shaft to follow the sounds that they believe will lead to their hoped-for goal.

There are 50 pockets almost exactly like the one which so nearly became the grave of the 20 men who were restored to their families Saturday. Any one of these may contain other imprisoned miners.

In the midst of this search for living among the dead is a rapidly increasing demand to place the village under martial law. Just who began the agitation, or what form it has taken could not be learned in detail. Officers of the two companies of militia here, however, admitted that they had been informed of the movement and intimated that the shift from civil to military rule might take place any moment.

Impetus was given to this agitation by the shooting and wounding of a fleeing soldier who was wanted as a witness in Galesburg.

While the incident was not connected directly with the troublous times here, it has served to add to the list of arguments favoring a declaration of martial law.

Charles P. Connolly, mayor of Cherry, and mine experts, who, early Saturday ridiculed the idea that life might still exist in the burning mine, Sunday prophesy that 100 more miners will have been brought to the surface by noon Monday. The miracle of Saturday afternoon has left the inhabitants of Cherry in a frame of mind where they will take any development as a matter of course.

The return of these men from the grave is accepted here as nothing less than the deed of Providence. To expect a repetition of this mercy is not considered by the wives and relatives of the lost men as extravagant or beyond the range of reason.

This probably has been the most remarkable experience through which Cherry or any other mining village in the world ever passed. The village, whose population normally is less than 2,000, is crowded with visitors from every town and village within a radius of 100 miles, who make its temporary population more than 10 times that number.

The discovery a week ago Saturday that 300 lives were supposed to have been snuffed out in a few minutes struck the village dumb.

But the discovery that the scores—possibly a majority of the missing men still are alive in the black sepulchre has caused a frenzy of hope and fear that nothing less could bring about.

Determined definitely to fix responsibility for the mine disaster, and declaring that a grand jury probe will probably be demanded, Duncan McDonald, president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, and Attorney Seymour Stedman, counsel, from Chicago, Sunday admitted that they were attempting to uncover legal proof of the St. Paul Coal Co.'s alleged failure to use reasonable precautions for safety of the men in the Cherry mine.

Further indications that proposed action against the coal company was being vigorously pushed were discovered Sunday night when it became known that Luella Twining, of Denver, representing the Western Federation of Miners, and Edwin R. Wright, of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, were in conference with Duncan McDonald and Attorney Stedman regarding this phase of the situation.

THRILLING ACCOUNT

Of the Finding of the Living Men in the Mine from a Brave Priest.

Cherry, Ill.—A graphic description of the discovery of the men from the viewpoint of the rescuers was told by Father James P. Henry, of St. Mary's church, Mendota, Ill. Father Henry, wearing a miner's cap and a flaming torch, was down in the mine with the rescue party. He said:

"Just about 2 o'clock, when we were, as near as I can tell, 300 feet into the gallery from the hoisting shaft, our party slacked up because of a pile of debris in the way. Suddenly David Powell said:

"'Listen, boys, I thought I heard something.'

"We were all silent. A faint pounding, as if coming through the thickness of a wall, was heard.

"'My God,' said Powell, 'I believe somebody is alive in there.'

"Some of the other men replied: 'No, that is impossible. Nobody in the world thinks for a minute the men could live down here for seven days.'

"'Well now,' I said, 'let's listen again.'

"It was a weird scene. The lights on our torches kept bobbing up and down as we labored and filed the place with moving shadows.

"'Now, let's stop and listen again,' said Powell. Much to our glee the pounding sounds came louder. A few more digs in shovelfuls brought down the dirt from the top, and a little black hole appeared before us.

"Two or three of us climbed over the dirt and yelled: 'Are any of you alive in there, boys?'

"An answer came back, 'Yes.'

"Before another word could be uttered the men began pulling at the dirt again, and soon a large gap appeared. We yelled in to them: 'Hold one of our torches.'

"'How many of you are alive in there, boys? We will save you in a minute.'

"In faint, husky voices, the men called back, 'Yes, we are alive, and you bet we are hungry, too. Have you got some lunch out there?'

"I crawled up as near the hole as I could without interfering with the men.

"'God bless you, men, we will get you out in a minute and give you all the lunch you can eat. Be patient as you can.'

"I could not see anything back in there, for the men were in total darkness, so I climbed back and prayed that God would make the number we were about to rescue from the living graves of as many as possible.

"We kept yelling in to the men to keep up their courage, promising them that the way would soon be clear and the cage in the hoisting shaft was down and ready to carry them to the surface.

"One of the men inside answered back: 'Most of us are all right and feeling fine, but there is one poor fellow in here—a Frenchman called Frank—who is almost gone and I'm afraid he will be dead in a few minutes if he does not get some fresh air.'

"When the pile of dirt finally tumbled down some of the men were staggered by the inrush of air and the lights from our torches. For during seven days they had lived in total darkness.

"With a shout we jumped over and met them, throwing our arms around their necks and almost lifting them from their feet. Their joy was inexpressible. They pounded us on our backs and continued to laugh and cry aloud until the whole place reverberated with the cheering.

"We wanted to carry the men to the hoisting shaft in our arms, but they insisted they were strong and well enough to walk out themselves. The only trouble was they were practically blinded by the torchlight. We threw blankets over their heads and started to escort them.

"My first move was to get after the poor little Frenchman who was reported dying. I found him outstretched on his back, breathing his last. Holding a torch over his face, which was black from soot, I said: 'Do you give your soul to God?'

"He answered: 'Yes. I am afraid I will never get up alive.'

"That was true. I administered the last sacrament and in a minute he was dead.

"I then joined the others and walked toward the shaft. There occurred then one of the greatest acts of heroism I have ever heard or read of. It can hardly be believed.

"Walter Waite, one of the men we rescued, on hearing that there were others alive in another part of the mine, threw off the blanket with which he had covered his head and shouted: 'Well, then, by God, I am not going out of the mine until I get the others.'

"We remonstrated, saying that for him to remain down there longer would mean his death.

"We will take you up to the fresh air and give you some nice, warm food, and then maybe we will let you help us do the rest of the work, we told him, but Waite persisted, and we actually had to use force to get him into the cage. All the way up he shouted: "Let me go down and help get up the others.'

"All the time those on the surface held, as during the last three or four days, a firm conviction that everybody in the mine was dead. Nobody conceived of any other possibility. It was a great joy, then, to cry up the shaft: 'We've got some men alive. Hoist her up quick.'

"Up we went like a shot and rushed the men into a Pullman car standing near."

DECISION OF THE UNITED STATES COURT

Holds the Standard Oil To Be a Monopoly and Orders the Gigantic Trust Dissolved.

St. Paul, Minn.—By a decision of the United States circuit court Saturday the Standard Oil Co. was dealt a knockout blow.

In brief, the decision holds, after having recited the acts of the company, that these transactions constituted a combination and conspiracy in restraint of, and to monopolize, commerce among the states and with foreign nations in violation of Sections 1 and 2 of the anti-trust act of July 2, 1890, and the government is entitled to an injunction against the further continuance and operation thereof.

The decree enjoins the seven individual defendants, the Standard Oil Co. and its subsidiary corporations from continuing to carry into effect the illegal combination they have formed and from entering into any like combination of conspiracy, the effect of which will be to restrain interstate commerce in petroleum or its products, to prolong the unlawful monopoly of such commerce obtained by the defendants as stated in the decree, and they are forbidden from engaging or continuing in interstate commerce until they discontinue their illegal combination.

The decree takes effect 30 days from the date of its filing unless suspended by an appeal to the United States supreme court.

The opinion was written by Judges Walton and Sanborn, of St. Paul, and concurred in by Judges Vandeventer, Hook and Adams, with a special concurring opinion by Judge Hook, of the United States circuit court for the Eastern district of Missouri. The opinion of the court was filed simultaneously in St. Louis and St. Paul.

In this decision the government of the United States wins a sweeping victory, and according to Frank B. Kellogg, of this city, who was the government's special prosecuting officer, the government has won every point for which it contended.

The case will be appealed direct to the United States supreme court, as the judges who signed the decree are in effect the judges of the United States circuit court of appeals, although they were sitting for the purpose of trying this case as the circuit court for the Eastern district of Missouri.

No doubt a stay will be granted for the purpose of an appeal. When the decree takes effect, unless a stay is granted, an injunction will issue restraining the standard Oil Co. from a further continuance of its business under its present formation.

Tired of Guaranty Law.

St. Louis, Mo.—The Enid State bank has become a national bank again as a result of the Oklahoma City bank's recent failure. Fifty other state guaranty banks have taken similar action.

Finland's New Chief.

Helsingfors, Finland.—The resignation of Gen. W. A. Von Boeckman, governor general of Finland, has been accepted. Vice Gov. Maj. Gen. Zein has been appointed acting governor general.

Plague Spreading.

Guayaquil, Ecuador.—The bubonic plague is spreading. During the first two weeks of November there were 94 cases, of which 28 were fatal. In the same period there were 19 cases of yellow fever, with 7 deaths.

Marshal Shot By Negro.

Vicksburg, Miss.—After he had shot and fatally wounded City Marshal Walter Nichols and was in turn shot by Nichols, Jas. Estes, a negro, was lynched by a mob at Delhi, La. Nichols was attempting to arrest the negro.

Fled From Peril.

Madrid.—All the villages in the vicinity of the volcano, which appeared a few days ago in Las Flores mountains, have been evacuated. The eruption, however, has greatly diminished, and the danger is now considered less.

China Negotiates With Russia.

Peking.—China has opened negotiations with Russia for the purchase of the latter's Manchurian railways. China has signified her readiness to take them over if Russia's terms are satisfactory, and [illegible] price.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. G. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2020. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in..... $50,000
Surplus,.. ..... $5,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, Ky.
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., Florence, Ky.
R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, Ky.
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Warerooms:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
[illegible] POPE Agent, [illegible] Agent, Ky.

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.
Write for printed list.

Interesting Kentucky News

NOTED TURFMAN A BANKRUPT.

Edward Corrigan Files Petition in Bankruptcy in Federal Court at Frankfort.

Frankfort, Ky.—Edward Corrigan, the former master of Hawthorne, and the most picturesque character on the American thoroughbred turf for many years, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the federal court in this city. Corrigan's liabilities are $174,100.06, which are secured by $59,800 worth of good securities and $12,653.15 of notes owed principally by horsemen. Practically all the money that Corrigan has borrowed and the debts he has contracted have been in the last two years, so that the race-track war has proved killing to him in a financial way, and the depreciation in the value of horses has had its telling effect. The only securities that Corrigan has of value is his stock in the New Orleans Jockey club, as he owns 593 shares of stock in that club. Evidently he has disposed of his interests in the Kansas City and Chicago race tracks, for nothing is said of stock in those tracks in his list of assets.

STATE WILL PROTECT

With Troops James Hall, Who Will Testify in the Night Rider Cases.

Frankfort, Ky.—Troops will be furnished by the state to protect James Hall, formerly of Caldwell county, who will testify in the night rider cases at Princeton. Gen. Johnston ordered Capt. Henderson of Company K, Third regiment, to proceed to Central City with a sufficient number of men and meet Hall there and take him to Princeton and guard him. Hall was formerly a night rider, and will testify in the night rider cases now in progress in Princeton. He has been living in Kansas.

Louisville, Ky.—The board of directors of the Citizens' National Life Insurance Co. elected the following officers: W. H. Gregory, president; Charles D. Pearce, first vice president; R. F. Gregory, second vice president; J. W. Lam, third vice president; Geo. Bohon, fourth vice president; L. W. Key, treasurer; Helm Bruce, general counsel; J. W. Peake, secretary; W. W. Moore, general manager; Dr. T. Hunt Stucky, chief medical director. The executive and finance committee was authorized to select a site outside the city for the permanent home for the company.

Louisville, Ky.—John C. C. Curry, of Harrodsburg, was chosen president of the Kentucky board of fire underwriters to succeed J. H. Lucas, of Nashville. John Picton, of Nashville, was chosen vice president and H. C. Bean, of Louisville, was re-elected secretary and treasurer. The four vacancies on the executive board were filled by the election of L. F. Scott, F. M. Drake, C. F. Snyder and W. P. Fishback. The next meeting of the board will be held here November, 1910.

Lexington, Ky.—Col. Max Mosler, John B. Swift and I. M. Asher, of Cincinnati, were here, making an inspection of the plant of the Kentucky Barytes Co., at Nicholasville. John Swift, as president of the Eagle White Lead Co., closed a contract for the lead output of the Barytes plant for the next five years.

Winchester, Ky.—D. R. Daniel, the defeated democratic candidate for county judge of Powell, has filed notice of contest, alleging gross fraud and irregularities in every precinct in the county. J. B. Blackburn and R. C. Welsh are also contesting the police judgeship of Stanton.

Nicholasville, Ky.—Burglars raided this town and Jessamine county. At the two leading drug stores plate glass in doors were broken and cash taken. The clothing store of R. M. Sparks & Co. and the general merchandise store of William Lowen, at Jessamine Station, were raided.

Winchester, Ky.—The Blue Grass League directors met here and formally awarded the 1909 pennant to the Winchester club. The Sapiding trophy, also won by the Winchester club, was presented. A banquet followed.

Goff, Ky.—The general store of Green and Vincent Goff was destroyed by fire. Loss $8,000, with $2,000 insurance. The fire was of an incendiary origin. Bloodhounds are on the trail of suspected parties.

Beattyville, Ky.—In the Lee circuit court H. L. Wheeler, a local attorney, and B. Fulton French, of Hargis-Callahan-French fame, exchanged blows. Judge Adams imposed a fine of $30 each.

Springfield, Ky.—Bloodhounds were used to trail Henry Stykes, a negro waiter, who fatally shot Prentice Bobbitt, a wealthy business man, at a local hotel. A mob outbreak is feared.

Louisville, Ky.—James F. Grinstead, former mayor of Louisville, is seriously ill at his home in this city, according to announcements made by his physicians. Acute stomach trouble is the cause of his illness.

CAMMACK COUNTY UNIT ACT

Is Construed as a Victory in Part for Both Liquor and Temperance Forces.

Frankfort, Ky.—The court of appeals construed the Cammack county unit act in an opinion prepared by Judge Lassing, reversing the judgment of the Muhlenberg circuit court in the case of John T. May against J. B. Ferguson. The court holds that the county is a unit, except when there is in it a city or cities of the first, second, third or fourth class. The decision, therefore, is a victory, in part, for the liquor forces and a victory for the temperance forces. In some of the cities in this state the liquors are sold because precincts in the city have voted "wet," but in the decision in the case at bar the court decided that the county is the unit and the city is the unit as provided in the Cammack bill. The opinion declares void the local option election held in the Magisterial District No. 1 of Muhlenberg on December 7, 1908, including Central City. In this election the Magisterial District went "dry" by a large majority and the city by only 23 votes. At two previous elections, however, the city had voted "wet." Central City is a city of the fourth class, so there are two units in Muhlenberg county. In discussing the case, the appellate court says: "So long as the city preserves its identity by taking a vote upon the same day that the vote is taken in the entire county, the status can not be changed by the will of the majority of the voting population of Muhlenberg county, much less the Magisterial District in the city, and the precinct or Magisterial District in "dry" territory no longer being recognized as a unit, there was no authority under which the county judge could legally order an election in Magisterial District No. 1; and, as a vote had been taken in Central City within less than three years from December 7, 1908, the county judge was without authority to order an election in Central City on the date."

The judgment of the Kenton circuit court, in the case of the Reliance Textile and Dye Works Co., of Covington, against John Williams, was reversed in an opinion by Judge Carroll. Williams had obtained a judgment of $1,000 for damages for personal injuries sustained while employed by the company, a bale of cotton falling on him in a warehouse owned by the company. The bale of cotton was thrown down by Sidney Fox, a fellow employe, and the appellate court holds that the petition of Williams should have been dismissed on peremptory instructions under the fellow-servant rule.

The judgment of the Fayette circuit court was reversed in the case of Margaret Helm, trustee, against the commonwealth by the auditor's agent, the appellate court holding that a single woman may establish and maintain her home anywhere she desires, as may a single man. The auditor's agent had sued to recover taxes for the years of 1904 to 1908 inclusive. Miss Helm, who is quite wealthy, had maintained her home in Woodford county, but boarded in Lexington. She therefore avoided the payment of city taxes in Lexington.

In another opinion, by Judge Parker, the judgment of the Ohio circuit court was reversed in the case of Mary F. Maddox against Moses Maddox. The husband of Mary F. Maddox had been paid a certain sum of money and given an interest in 243 acres of land to maintain and support the parents of the Maddoxes. Mary F. Maddox's husband died and she was unable to carry out the contract, and the court held that the land should revert to Moses Maddox and Mattie Maddox, who would carry out the contract.

Lexington, Ky.—The local camp of Confederate Veterans was called by Commander Otis S. Tenny to meet to pass resolutions embracing a petition to President Taft that he pardon Joseph Shipp and his co-defendants, who are now in jail at Washington, serving the sentence of the supreme court for alleged conspiracy in the negro lynching at Chattanooga.

Frankfort, Ky.—The $15,000 contract for the erection of the heating and lighting plant at the State Normal and Industrial institute went principally to Louisville men when let. The successful bidders were A. J. Andrews & Co., heating; Harry I. Wood & Co., lighting; Marine Electric Co., outside lighting.

Frankfort, Ky.—Bernard Brislan, appointed a cadet in the United States Naval academy at Annapolis, was notified that he would not be able to qualify because he is near-sighted. He was appointed by Senator Thomas H. Paynter.

Louisville, Ky.—Jack Showalter, of Georgetown, Ky., defeated Frank J. Marshall, of Brooklyn, in the fourth game of their chess series for the championship of the United States, at present held by Showalter.

Frankfort, Ky.—The board of assessment and valuation met and increased the assessment on whisky from $9 to $10 per barrel. The increase means an additional $20,000 in taxes from this source.

BURLEY SOCIETY AGAIN SUED.

Appointment of Receiver and Division of $300,000 Among Members Is Asked.

Lexington, Ky.—Attorney L. T. Applegate, of Covington, appeared in the circuit court with the statement that Dr. G. W. McMillan and his co-plaintiffs in the action for a receiver for the Burley Tobacco Society, recently filed here, were not ready to go into a hearing of the petition and moved for a continuance. The attorneys for the Burley Tobacco Society objected to the granting of further time and the court sustained the objection. Attorney Applegate thereupon moved that the case be dismissed without prejudice, which was done. He then filed another suit for the same plaintiffs and against the same defendants, and making the same general allegations as in the former suit. They again charge that more than $300,000 belonging to members of the pool of the 1906 and 1907 crops is in the hands of the defendants and should be distributed, and they ask for the appointment of a receiver.

INJUNCTION AGAINST MERGER

Of L. & N. and F. & C. Partly Sustained by Circuit Judge Stout.

Frankfort, Ky.—The order of Circuit Judge R. L. Stout, partly dissolving and partly sustaining the injunction restraining the Louisville and Nashville from taking over the Frankfort and Cincinnati, was filed in the Franklin circuit court. The court's decree enjoins the changing of either freight or passenger rates, the alteration of the physical properties of the Franklin and Cincinnati and the sale of its stock and bonds by the L. and N. It also restrains the mingling of the monies and assets of the two companies.

Cynthiana, Ky.—The disappearance of Mrs. Morris Kellar, of this city, and formerly well known in Covington, Ky., has reached a point now where every known means to locate her is being resorted to. Her husband went to Covington to take up the search, which for days has been conducted by Mrs. Kellar's brothers, John, Thomas and Richard Dwyer. The couple have five small children, who anxiously await the return of their mother.

Frankfort, Ky.—Acting Gov. Cox appointed a number of additional delegates from Kentucky to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress to meet in Washington December 8 to 10 inclusive. They follow: Frankfort, Dr. E. E. Hume, Col. C. E. Hoge, George B. Harper, J. Swigert Taylor, Capt. Pearl T. Burdette, Robert Nichol, U. Keenan; Maysville, J. Wesley Lee, Thomas M. Russell and H. N. Ficklin; Dayton, Oscar F. Barrett; Harrodsburg, D. L. Moore.

Lexington, Ky.—Charles Baker and Will Harris, local negroes, looking to be uncommonly well dressed, were taken into custody and it was found they were attired in clothing that had been stolen at Nicholasville, and that there was more of the same plunder in two suit cases that they had left at a shoe shop. The negroes were sent to Nicholasville to answer the charge of burglary.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—Prof. James G. Branham, 74, died in Birmingham, Ala. He was a teacher in this section for many years, an employe in the revenue service at Owensboro under Cleveland's administration, and a gallant soldier in the confederate army.

Lexington, Ky.—The jury in the case of James Gleason, of Louisville, charged with entering the Queen and Crescent railroad freight depot office with the intention of burglarizing the safe, could not reach a verdict and he was discharged.

Winchester, Ky.—The Kentucky State Eclectic Medical association, in annual session here, elected Dr. L. F. Robbins, of Salt Lick, president; Dr. J. H. Schulz, of Jeffersonville, vice president, and Dr. H. H. Magore, of Flemingsburg, secretary.

Frankfort, Ky.—Acting Gov. William H. Cox, of Maysville, was slightly injured in a trolley car collision at Ft. Spriggs while on his way from Lexington to this city. Every passenger was badly shaken up and more or less injured.

Louisville, Ky.—In the presence of one of the largest and most joyous assemblages of democrats ever gathered in Louisville, William O. Head, democrat, took the oath as mayor of the city of Louisville and assumed office.

Covington, Ky.—Fred Ferguson, 23, of South Portsmouth, is in the county jail here, charged with slaying William Culbertson, a C. and O. night ticket agent of this city. He was captured in Rhinelander, Wis.

Louisville, Ky.—The Kentucky and Indiana Bridge Co. has amended its charter, and the belief here is that the company contemplates either a new bridge or extensive improvements to the present structure.

LEAP FROM A THIRTY-FOOT BRIDGE

Is Taken Bu Auto In Georgia and Three Are Killed—Several Others Badly Injured.

Cuthbert, Ga.—Three persons are dead and two probably fatally injured as a result of an automobile accident here late Sunday night.

The dead: Curtis Williams, Fort Gaines, Ga.; James Shepard, Edison, Ga., and Horace Shepard, Edison Ga.

The injured: Miss Helene Mattox, aged 30, Coleman, Ga., and Miss Mary Mattox, aged 19, Coleman, Ga.

The accident occurred two miles west of here, as the party were returning from Cuthbert to Coleman.

Planning to get married, James Shepard and Miss Helen Mattox, accompanied by Horace Shepard, a brother of the prospective groom, and Miss Mary Mattox, a sister of the fiancee, secured an automobile from Hert's garage at Ft. Gaines, Ga., Sunday afternoon, and were quickly driven to Cuthbert by Curtis Williams.

Upon reaching this point all the ministers of the place refused to marry the couple on account of their youth, neither having passed a twentieth birthday. The party hastily left town.

Speeding along at a rate of 30 miles an hour, and while attempting to light a cigarette, Chauffeur Williams lost control of the machine when crossing a 30-foot bridge over the Central railway and the party was dashed to the railroad below, the machine falling upon Shepard and Williams.

Williams' neck was broken and death resulted instantly.

The two Shepards were frightfully injured and death resulted in a few minutes. Helen Mattox was injured internally.

The women were removed to a neighboring farmhouse. The bodies of the three men were brought here in a hand car. Williams was 23 years old.

A negro witnessed the accident and rushed here to tell the story.

PISTOLS DRAWN BY CAPTAIN

Kept Frenzied Passengers From the Lifeboats—Women and Babes Were the First To Be Rescued.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The passengers and crew of the steamship St. Croix, of the Schnbach-Hamilton line, after a miraculous escape from death, camped Saturday night in houses and barns on the Malibu ranch, 25 miles north of Santa Monica and a short distance from Point Duma, where the vessel was burned to the water's edge late Saturday afternoon.

The fire started in the ship's engine room at noon while the passengers and officers were at dinner.

While flames were issuing from all parts of the vessel and when it was no longer safe to attempt to save the ship, Capt. Warner, of the St. Croix, swung over his ship's side into a waiting boat below, the last man to leave the ship.

Fifteen minutes after the captain left the smoking hull an explosion rent the ship and the St. Croix was enveloped in flames. Every one of the 150 men, women and children had been saved.

With drawn pistol Capt. Warner took his place opposite each boat and allowed only women and children to take their places. When they were all cared for the men were given a chance.

All of the women were off the vessel by 1:30 o'clock. Some one hurried and the boat was swung out too quickly. A block broke and the women were thrown into the water. One carried a tiny baby and the child was hurled overboard.

The steward of the ship jumped in and saved the baby. He was crushed against the side of the ship as he brought the child to the other lifeboat, which had been lowered successfully. His arm was broken and he was lifted into the boat with difficulty. He was the only one injured.

Two Injured In Auto Accident.

Mexico City, Mex.—Upsetting a perambulator on the way, an automobile driven by Hector Casosus, son of former Ambassador to the United States Joquin Casosus, collided with another machine here Sunday. Young Casosus suffered a broken collar bone and C. H. Rathborn, of Tampico, was seriously injured. The machine was making 50 miles an hour when it veered, upset the baby carriage and crashed into the other auto. The elder Casosus is now in New York.

Little Girl Saves Boy's Life.

Portage, Wis.—The presence of mind of little six-year-old Viola Anderson saved the life of her playmate, Henry Hollands, aged 5. The boy's foot became caught in a cattle guard. The girl ran down the track toward an approaching train, waving her stocking cap, and attracted the attention of Engineer Dowsett, who stopped the train.

Union Miners To Strike.

Lead, S. D.—Union employes of the Homestake mine voted to ask permission of their parent bodies to strike against the order that no union men are to be employed after January, 1910.

Fell Out of Wagon, Broke His Neck.

Alexandria, La.—Aaron Johnson, a negro, who was 115 years old, fell out of a wagon and broke his neck as he was being conveyed to the Rapides parish poor farm to become an inmate.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. Piper

Phone, M. 2393.

The Applegate-Piper Co.

MERCHANT TAILORS.

Room 610, Traction Building.

Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,

BURLINGTON, KY.

The Oldest Bank in Boone County,

PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,

With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR

THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.

17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.

This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR

Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,

Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY

AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.

CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.

New Buggies, Runabouts

and Harness for Sale or Trade.

Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.

When in Burlington call and See me.

B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Cars with A. G. Brown, Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR

CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP

—TO—

C. C. SEAL & CO.

Union Stock Yards,

CINCINNATI. • • OHIO

And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.

J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade.

Teachers' Meeting.

Program of Teachers' Meeting to be held at Bullittsville, Saturday, December 4th at 1 p. m.:

Reading—Primary and Advanced—Mrs. Wood; Spelling and Diacritics—Edna Riley; Arithmetic—Fundamental Principles—H. L. Harrison; Arithmetic—Percentage and Compound—E. C. Riley; Grammar—Diagramming and Analysis—Sadie Rleman; History—C. V. Brooks; Geograph, Primary and Advanced—Mrs. F. E. Kirtley; Physiology and Hygine, Importance of Teaching—Dr. Nunnelly; School Discipline and Morals—D. M. Snyder.

All who are interested in good schools and better education for our girls and boys are invited to attend these meetings, and take part, as the teacher cannot do it all, but must work in conjunction with you, who are frinds of Education.

H. L. HARRISON.

Aylor-Tanner Wedding.

A quiet though beautiful wedding took place November 17th, 1909, the contracting parties being Miss Artie Tanner, accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Tanner, and Mr. Chester Aylor, son of Rev. M. L. Aylor, at the home of the bride on the Burlington pike near Limaburg, at 8 p. m., Rev. Allie Stith officiating. The bride was beautifully attired in princess costume of casawba silk, while the groom wore the conventional black. A bountiful repast was served immediately after the ceremony. Several of their friends responded to the invitations and many presents were received as follows: Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Farrell, set of wine glasses; Miss Nellie Rouse, cake plate; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Riddell, sugar bowl and cream pitcher; Miss Ottie Rouse, cheese plate; Miss Leola Clore, silver sugar shell; Miss May Farrell, flower vase; Miss Myrtle Clore, cake plate; Earl Aylor, two pair towels; W. R. Garnett, box cigars; Mrs. Allie Stith and Miss Ethel Allen. We wish them a long and happy journey through life. x x

Kills Her Foe of 20 Years.

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years," declares Mrs. James Duncan, of Haynesville, Me., "was Dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after eating or drinking and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up. I tried Electric Bitters which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am overjoyed to get my health and strength back again." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Kidney Trouble, Lame Back, Female Complaints, Its unequaled. Only 50c at Bentler's drug store, Erlanger.

Are you seeking information on all matters pertaining to the proper management of a successful stock farm? If so, send $1 to C. L. Gaines and subscribe for The Breeder's Gazette.

GRANT.

Very little tobacco has been stripped in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Carrie Utz, of Florence, visited friends here the past week.

Born, on the 19th inst., to Andy Cook and wife, an 8 pound boy.

Mrs. John Ryle, of Petersburg, was the guest of Pepper Smith and wife, last week.

The corn and potato show advertised for last Saturday afternoon did not materialize.

Miss Myrtle Corbin's music pupils gave a very fine recital on the evening of the 13th inst.—[The program ought to have been sent previous the recital—this week is too late to publish it.—ED.]

CONSTANCE.

Gus Knole has moved to William Tanner's house.

H. Bogenstine is putting a new roof on his house.

The new porch adds much to the looks of Alex Anderson's residence.

John Dye has built a stone wall and cement steps in front of his residence.

Stanley Parsons was operated on a few days ago for a fibroid tumor on his neck.

John Klasener has two hogs to kill, one that will weigh 450 and the other 500 pounds.

Sam Peno was badly bruised by falling down an elevator of the Cooperage Co., a few days since.

Robert Ingram's barn burnt Friday afternoon. He barely had time to get his horse and buggy out.

Several of Leonard Anderson's young friends celebrated his 18th birthday with a party at Mrs. R. H. Hood's.

Tom Clore is putting the Stringtown road in good condition. In another year he will have of it a first-class pike.

The benches and desks for the new school house at Taylorsport were received in time for the school to begin on the 22d inst.

George Hetzel was adjusting a prop under Capt. Kotnyers' new boat while it was beached, and the prop slipped, letting the boat drop, catching George beneath it, and almost mashing the life out of him before he was released.

C. L. Gaines can supply the Delineator, World's Work and Everybody's Magazine for $3.75.

For Sale—Aged Jersey cow with two months old calf by her side.—Price $25. Call on W. H. Eggleston at Francesville.

Forced Into Exile.

Wm. Upchurch of Glen Oak, Okla., was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lungracking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infallible for Coughs and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat. Cures Bronchitis, Grip, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup. 50c and $1.00, trial guaranteed by Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger.

COMES TO BURLINGTON AGAIN.

NOEL GAINES.

Noel Gaines, who was here this summer and delivered four lectures, has been engaged to return and conduct a big union meeting some time in the near future. Col. Gaines is meeting with great success in the lecture and revival work, and our people have a treat in store, judging from what those say who have heard him, and indeed that is the best way to measure any public speaker. Just here let it be understood, the great and lasting good that comes from Noel Gaines' work. Petersburg is a living monument to this. All who know, say that in no city in the entire nation, are all the people so happy and peacable toward each other. That all the people are united, and that Noel's work has made it easier, not harder, for every citizen to "love his neighbor as himself," a thing all christians have got to do. It is reported that the secret of his success is his loyalty to God and the people. His fearlessness, earnestness and gentleness. And his great faith in God. One Boone county man said, "I have heard lots of him and thought of course he was a christian; but I have never before heard such truth as he brings out, and his faith in God is so great that it just astounds you. The date of this big union meeting commences will be published in the Recorder. Watch every issue for the date which the committee will announce. x x

ROLFES & WACHES

"The Store for Quality"

This is what they all say. A store that meets every requirement for Men, Boys and Children in the line of

CLOTHING

We have the Styles, Variety and Fabric, and you will find it to your advantage to get our prices before buying elsewhere. We have built up our business by dealing fair and honest with our customers. Our line of Suits and Overcoats Cannot be Excelled.

Men's Suits	$5.00 to $20.00	Men's Overcoats	$4.00 to $20.00
Boy's Suits	$4.00 to $12.50	Boys' Overcoats	$3.00 to $12.50
Children's Suits	$1.50 to $6.00	Children's Overcoats	$2.50 to $5.00

Men's Pants $1.00 to $5.00.

A fine line of Men's and Boys' Cravennette Overcoats, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $18 and $20.00. We also carry a complete line of Sweater Coats, Jersey and Cardigan Jackets, Leather, Corduroy and Duck Coats and Corduroy and Jeans Pants.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET, Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky

Have One Doctor

No sense in running from one doctor to another. Select the best one, then stand by him. Do not delay, but consult him in time when you are sick. Ask his opinion of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds. Then use it or not, just as he says.

Ayer's We publish our formulas. We banish alcohol from our medicines. We urge you to consult your doctor

Always keep a box of Ayer's Pills in the house. Just one pill at bedtime, now and then, will ward off many an attack of biliousness, indigestion, sick headache. How many years has your doctor known these pills? Ask him all about them.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

A Scalded Boy's Shrieks

horrified his grandmother, Mrs. Maria Taylor, of Nebo, Ky., who writes that, when all thought he would die, Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured him. Infallible for Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Corns, Wounds, Bruises, Cures Fever Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions, Chilblains, Chapped Hands. Soon cures Piles. 25c at Bentler's drug store Erlanger.

The Iowa Supreme Court has held that a private business concern under the Iowa statute can legally refuse to serve a negro.

Public Sale!

I will sell at public sale at the residence of the late C. W. Riley, one mile west of Bullittsville, Boone county, Ky., on

Wednesday, Dec. 1, 1909

The following property:

Bay Mare, 8-yrs old, Black Mare, 7 yrs old, both good drivers and workers; good work Mare, 2-yr-old Brown Filly, yearling Black Badger Filly., good Mule, 2-yr-old Mule, 54 Stock Ewes to lamb in February; 2 Rams, 4 Sows and 31 pigs, 50 tons Timothy Hay in the barn, 300 shocks of Fodder on river farm, Wagon with boxbed, Haybed, 2 ton Wagon Springs, Buggies, Wagon and Buggy Harness, Deering Mower and Binder, 2-h. Rake, Disc Harrow, Breaking Plow, Six-shovel Riding Cultivator, Tobacco Sticks, Crosscut Saw, Wagon Tarpaulin, several Stands of Bees, Corn-sheller, &c.

Terms—Sums of $5 and under, cash; on sums over $5 a credit of six months will be given, purchasers to give notes with approved security, negotiable and payable in the Peoples Deposit Bank, Burlington, Ky.

GEO. L. RILEY.

Sale to begin at 12 o'clock sharp.

R. W. Clark will have a public sale of all his household goods, etc., county court day, Dec., at 10 a. m.—Terms of credit made known on day of sale.

GOODE GROCERIES

—AT—

Right - Prices.

New Hominy—Old fashion, pound	2½c
New Hominy—Flake 2 quarts	5c
New Prunes, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Evaporated Peaches	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Evaporated Peaches—extra large, lb	13c
Two pounds	25c
New Figs—large, juicy Smyrna Figs, lb	13c
New Seeded Raisins, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Citron, lb	20c
New Golden Egg Macaroni, package	10c
Three pkgs	25c
New Bulk Macaroni, lb	06c
New Elbo Macaroni, lb	10c
Three pounds	25c
New Barley, lb	04c
New Rold Oats, lb	04c
New Oatmeal, lb	04c
New Aunt Jemima's Pancake Flour, package	10c
Three packages	25c
New Quaker Oats, pkg	10c
Large Round Pkg	15c
New Victor Toy Oats, pkg	10c
New Mackerel, 10c 3 for	25c
New, Fat, Large Mackerel, 13c, 2 for	25c
New Lakeside Sweet Wrinkle Peas, 10c 3 for	25c
New Lakeside Sifted Early June Peas	15c
New Extra Sifted Lakeside Peas	20c
New Honey Drop Corn, can, 15c, dozen	$1.65
New Golden Harvest Corn, can 12c, doz	$1.35
New Superb Corn, can, 10c, dozen	$1.20
New Shoe Peg Corn, can	10c
Three for	25c
New Jaguar Corn, can	07c
Three for	20c
New Cranberries, quart	10c
New Grapefruit, 2 for	15c
Magic Soap, 5c, 6 for	25c
Fels Naptha Soap, 6 for	25c
Pearl Soap	6 for 25c
Papryka, can	10c
Celery Salt, can	10c
Dry Apples, lb	08c
Capitol Mixed Tea, lb	60c
Gunpowder	60c
Sunbeam Mixed Tea, lb	75c
Gunpowder	75c
Oolong, Young Hyson, English Breakfast and Imperial—all new crop.
Golden Blend Coffee, lb	20c
Moneyworth Coffee, lb	17c
Three pounds for	50c
Salvadore Coffee, lb	15c
Pure Gautamala Coffee—pound	25c
New Dates, 3 lbs for	25c
New Codfish, fancy Boneless, lb	15c
New Buckwheat Flour—three pounds	10c
New Sweet Cider, gal	25c
New Kraut, 3 lbs	10c
New Crop New Orleans Molasses, gallon	55c
New Honey, lb	10c
New Sago, lb	10c
New Farina, lb	5c
New Lentels, lb	5c
New Split Pear, lb	5c

Don't forget the Best Flour on Earth,

"CAPITOL."

Geo. C. Goode

AGENT.

Groceries & Medicines,

Pike & Washington, Covington, Kentucky.

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent cent. If left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1900. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,

WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.

CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.

JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.

Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

fall and Winter Millinery.

I now have on display my new stock of Hats and Baby Caps, with prices to suit every customer. Desiring to reduce my stock I will offer

Specials from 25c up

and hope my customers will take advantage of these bargains. Come in and see them, as also my nice line of

DRY GOODS and JEWELRY.

Cordially yours,

MISS LOU W. ALLEN, Petersburg, Ky.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.

S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated—I. D. 1892.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.

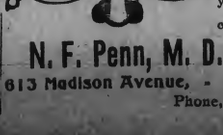
Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

THE SIDE-LOCK OF CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

Is another feature that makes them so popular with property owners.



This and the overlap makes them absolutely proof against rain, snow, and in fact all climatic conditions.

They're fireproof too, and their appearance makes even a cheap building look handsome.

They're not expensive and when you consider that they last as long as the building and never need repairs, you'll see what a handsome investment they make.

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

Our Business Constantly Increasing.

For the past seven years our optical business has constantly increased. We treat all alike, selling the best goods at the lowest possible prices to all. We have a complete lens-grinding outfit and can grind and replace broken lenses while you wait.

We can furnish anything made in optical goods.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.

OVERCOATS & SUITS

Largest and Most Complete Line for Men, Boys and Children at the Lowest Prices.

ROSENTHAL BROS. New Clothing Store

Big Store Building, RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Only 9 Days

MORE OF

TEN SALE GREEN'S TEN SALE. TEN SALE

THE 10 per cent DISCOUNT ON

Cloaks, Skirts, Waists, Dress Goods and Underwear

will be given any day in November and all other departments are offering Special for the last Nine Days of our Sale.

GET YOUR SHARE AND BE HAPPY.

GREEN'S

CASH STORE,

Rising Sun, Indiana.

NUF CED.

There's a Missing Word.

There is a missing Word in this advertisement and there will be one in each of our ads. in this paper from now to November 24th. We have lots and lots of good things to tell you about this fall and in order to get as many to read our advertisements as possible we will give $5.00 in gold as stipulated below. Fill out the following coupon or make one like it and fill it out.

The missing word in Green's advertisement dated Nov. 10

is.....found between the words

.....and.....

Name.....

Address.....

$5.00 in gold will be given for the largest number of correct answers to the eleven propositions and in case of a tie the money will be equally divided. All answers must be filed at our store within 10 days from the date of the coupon. It costs you nothing to submit your answers and in reading our advertisements you will be sure to keep posted as to the many bargains we are offering.

Last week's Coupons must be in our store within 10 days from the date of issue. Don't delay.

OUR FIRST FALL SHIPMENT OF

GODMAN SHOES

IS ABOUT GONE.

Our Second Fall Shipment Just Opened Up. Come at once and get a Good Selection before numbers are broken. These Shoes are, without doubt, the

Best Shoes Ever Sold in our Store

ALREADY FAMOUS FOR GOOD SHOES.

WE HANDLE THE FAMOUS

Ball Band Wool Boot & Rubber

OUR WINTER STOCK OF

Blankets, Comforts, Woolens, Yarns, Underwear, Etc.,

IS NOW COMPLETE.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

GIVE US A CALL.

Local News.

Born, on the 15th inst., to Jacob Craig and wife, a fine daughter.

Tomorrow is recognized as a holiday for the common school pupils.

Born, on the 18th inst., to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gaines, a nine pound daughter.

Jerry Delph operated his lumber factory at its full capacity a day or two last week.

Allen Goodridge, of Francesville, died Monday. Funeral today at 10 o'clock at Sand Run.

Turkey, cranberries, oysters and celery you are expected to feast on tomorrow and be thankful.

The hunters cannot overstock the market with rabbits, as the material is not to be had.

Homer and Roy Clutterbuck have had a metal roof put on the residence in Burlington, belonging to them.

It is rumored that R. W. Clark, the Burlington, Ky., jeweler, will locate in this city.--Lawrenceburg Press.

James Slayback sold his tobacco to Geo. Blyth, last week. The price was a lump and a good one. The tobacco is in the pool.

William Carpenter, of Locust Grove neighborhood, delivered some nice little hogs to William Kirkpatrick, one day last week.

Farmers have had very fine weather for gathering their corn, at no time have they had to work on frozen ground or in the mud.

Albert Conner and Edson Riddell spent last Friday in the Locust Grove neighborhood pursuing the festive bunnies and the plump Bob Whites.

Several of the local hunters made pretty good killings of quails on two or three hunts, last week, J. F. Blyth, the veteran, being one of the lucky number.

In this issue appears the advertisement of Simon's Bazaar, of Pike street, Covington. Boone county ladies will find it to their advantage to make a call there.

The farmer who has been industrious and has taken advantage of the fine weather this fall will soon have nothing to do but eat juicy back bones, spareribs, sausage and kraut. Who would not be a farmer under such circumstances?

They may raise some tobacco in Missouri but it seems that Kentucky after all is the place to sell it. Saturday a shipment of Missouri tobacco was sold in one of the Lexington warehouses at an average of 21 1-2c.—Blue Grass Clipper.

Last Friday was the day designated by Superintendent Crabbe for each of the public schools in the State to take up a contribution for the benefit of the orphans' home at Louisville, and pupils of the Burlington schools made a very nice contribution.

There is a demand on the part of the Government for veterinaries, and Dr. Otto Crisler's friends hope to see him drop into one of Uncle Sam's positions soon after he completes his course, which will be in the coming spring. The Government pays good salaries for veterinaries.

JOSEPH CHAMBERS DEAD.

Well Known and Former Resident of Burlington Dies at the Grand Hotel, Cincinnati.

WAS IN HIS SEVENTY-SIXTH YEAR.

Friends of Joseph Chambers, former resident of Covington, and an elder in the Madison avenue Presbyterian church, were greatly shocked to learn of his death in the Grand hotel yesterday afternoon after a brief illness of three weeks, due to a carbuncle at the base of the brain covering an area of five by eight inches.

The decedent was about sixty-five years of age and had retired from the active practice of law some years ago. Of late he spent his winters in Florida and the hot summer months in Michigan. He was a widower, his wife having died a number of years ago. The closest surviving relatives are two nephews, Joseph Chambers, managing editor of a daily newspaper in Sacramento, Cala., Mr. Chambers knew that death was near and a few days before had given directions to his cousin, Robt. Chambers of Boone county, as to how the funeral was to be conducted. The services are to be held Thursday afternoon in the Madison avenue Presbyterian church. The Rev. Gilbert Glass, pastor of the church, is to conduct the services and the elders of the church are to serve as pallbearers. Interment will be in Highland cemetery.

Mr. Chambers was a heavy holder of property in Covington and was rated to be worth a quarter of a million.--Commercial Tribune, Wednesday, November 13.

Mr. Chambers was 75 last March, was a son of the late Chas. Chambers, who owned and occupied for many, many years the farm where W. J. Rice, lives near Burlington, building the large brick residence thereon. Mr. Chambers had not been a resident of this county for many years, consequently he was known only to the older people, who admired him because of his many sterling qualities. His wife, who died many years ago was a daughter of the late James Gaines of Walton neighborhood.

Not So Plentiful.

The results of the first day's rabbit hunt this fall were rather insignificant as compared with those of the first day of last year's open season, which confirms the statement that the toothsome bunnies are not so plentiful.

The First Snow.

The first snow of the winter fell last Wednesday. It came down in a timid manner and the fall during the entire day made a very modest show at night, but it was sufficient to make one reflect upon what he had done with last summer's money.

Thanksgiving Day.

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving day, and while thousands are feasting on 15 cent-a-pound turkey there are other thousands who have not a crumb of food to their names. It always has been and will ever be thus in this land of plenty.

Will Swap Horses Occasionally.

"Uncle Ras" Stephens, of Buffalo neighborhood, was a visitor to Burlington and a caller at this office, last Wednesday. His good wife has been in poor health for some time, and Uncle Ras leaves home only when business requires. Mr. Stephens is nearing his 78th birthday, and his wife is four years his junior, being the oldest couple in the county, while two better people cannot be found. Mr. Stephens is known in this and adjoining counties for his horse-trading proclivities, but he said he did not have on his trading clothes last Wednesday, although he was not averse to pulling off a horse trade that day had the modern talent come at him in a manner that was interesting.

A Corn that Yilds Well.

Legrand Utz and son, William, of Limaburg neighborhood, were in Burlington last Saturday. The former called at this office and showed, to some extent, the result of the butchering of the first installment of his winter's meat. Mr. Utz raised, this year, a white corn, the seed of which came from Georgia. It made a splendid yield and an actual test showed that it shells three pecks to the bushel of ears. It has a very small cob, very large grain, and makes excellent meal.

In Good Shape.

H. L. Tanner, of Hopeful neighborhood, was among the callers at this office, last Thursday. He had sold his tobacco, was about finishing gathering a fine crop of corn, and had butchered hogs for his next year's meat, and was feeling pretty good, thank you. He reported about all the tobacco in his neighborhood sold and to a Covington buyer at prices ranging from $11 to $13.50 per 100 pounds. Very few pooled their tobacco in his neighborhood.

Covington Needed Him.

The Covington authorities concluded they needed the man who took Robert Allen's horse, and would not allow him brought back to this county. If the fellow is guilty of all the horsethefts attributed to him, it would take him until some time in the next century to do time in the pen for each offense.

Tobacco Money in Hoosier.

The Vevay Revelle states that this year's tobacco crop in Switzerland county will amount to $625,000, which if apportioned throughout the county would mean $50 to every man, woman and child who have their homes in old Switzerland.

Always Happens in Summer.

Herbert Kirkpatrick has, on half a dozen different occasions, had the real "bug in his ear," and he says he has noticed that it always has been in summer that he is thus annoyed.

Slightly Winterish.

St. Patrick's day in November brought the first installment of winter weather, and, while it was not severe, yet it was very uncomfortable as is always the case with the first spell of winter.

BOONE COUNTY BOYS LUCKY.

Another One of Her Boys Appointed To Office in Louisville.

Natives of Boone county, who are members of the medical profession in Louisville, evidently have a "political stand-in" in down there. Dr. T. H. Baker, who was city health officer for some time under Republican Mayor Grinstead, has a Democratic successor in Dr. W. Ed Grant, another native of Boone county, and a son of the late Dr. E. L. Grant. Mayor Head appointed Dr. Grant, upon his going into office last Wednesday. The Courier-Journal says: "Dr. W. Ed Grant, who succeeds Dr. T. H. Baker as City Health Officer, is one of the best-known physicians in the city. He has been practicing his profession in this city for twenty-five years. He was instructor for many years in the medical colleges and also in the dental college in this city. He is a brother of Dr. H. H. Grant, another well-known physician in the city. He is a native of Boone county. His experience as medical examiner for many insurance companies will be of great aid to him in his new office. He is regarded as being at the head of his profession in this city. He has never held office previous to his present appointment."

Metal the Favorite Roof.

The metal roof is the favorite in Burlington, and they are replacing shingle roofs nearly every time a residence is rerooled.

Came Near Breaking his Jaw.

Atty. D. E. Castleman fell, one evening last week, and his chin struck a rock and for a while he thought the bone was fractured.

Died, Nov. 6th, 1909, at the home of her son, Andrew Cook, below Aurora, Ind., Mrs. Adelia Cook, in her 77th year.

She had been afflicted for several years, during which she was almost helpless, and had been anticipated by her children who are Mrs. Mary Klopp, of Petersburg; Jake and Theodore Cook and Mrs. Joseph Mauer, of Belleview; Mrs. Lizzie Wingate, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Lena McConnell, of Greensburg, Indiana, Charles, George and Wm. Cook, of Patriot, Indiana, who survive.

Mrs. Cook's maiden name was Grasser, and she was born Dec. 6, 1832, in Strausburg, Germany, and was married to Theodore Cook, March 13th, 1851. To them were born twelve children, ten of whom live to mourn the loss of a mother. Interment at Patriot, Indiana.

At this time of the year about 300 mules a day are being sold at the St. Louis National Stock Yards. They are all grades, but the principal demand at the present time is for good, fat cotton mules, and miners are also selling freely. Big heavy mules are moving less readily, but it is only a question of price.

There will be a total eclipse of the moon on Nov. 27th, totality beginning at 2:46 a. m. and ending at 4:08 a. m. It will be visible in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Central and South America.

SEE

E. A. ANDERSON

FOR

Men's AND Boys' Clothing

Underwear, Hats and Caps.

Work Clothes of Every Description.
Our Stock is Entirely New and Up-to-Date.

WE SAVE YOU MONEY.

E. A. ANDERSON,

Rising Sun, Ind.

Two Doors Above Davis' Shoe Store.

Give Me a Call When in Town.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co

Rising Sun, Indiana.

Lost--From my premises, sixteen sheep. Any information as to their whereabouts will be thankfully received by Mrs. F. M. Howlett, Big Bone.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices. All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

FOR SALE.

My farm of about 200 acres, on good road near Francesville, 3 miles north of Hebron, Boone county, Ky. On this farm is a 6-room residence and all necessary outbuildings, all under new roof. There are 50 acres of timber and 50 acres of good tobacco land, and four never failing springs. This land is two miles from the Ohio river and 15 miles from Cincinnati. Rural route and telephone. For terms call at the farm or address C. W. McFEE,
R D 3, Burlington, Ky.

Take the Recorder.

Eating for Strength.

The greatest pleasure to be derived from eating is the pleasure one gets in the knowledge that his food is giving him greater strength and vitality.

Because of this fact there is a constant increase in the consumption of Quaker Oats; every time the strength making qualities of Quaker Oats have been tested by scientific investigation or by experiments in families it has been found to be a food without an equal.

It builds the muscles and brain without taxing the digestive organs; it costs so little anyone can afford it, and it is so carefully prepared and packed that it is absolutely pure and clean. A Quaker Oats eating family is always a healthy family. 11

Quaker Oats is packed in regular size packages and also in large size family packages. The latter very convenient for those not near the store.

NO PLACE FOR A PAINTER.

Visitor—Does the painter Maler live here?

Landlady—No; they are all respectable people in this house.

RECIPE FOR CATARRH.

Furnished by High Medical Authority, Gives Prompt Results.

The only logical treatment for catarrh is through the blood. A prescription which has recently proved wonderfully effective in hospital work is the following. It is easily mixed.

"One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint first-class whiskey." These to be mixed by shaking well in a bottle, and dose in tablespoon doses before each meal and at bedtime.

The incredients can be gotten from any well stocked druggist, or he will get them from his wholesale house.

Misery.

The neighbor's dog sits out on the front lawn and howls dismally. The man in the window looks out and yells: "Sh-h-h, you beast!" The dog continues to howl. The man again comes to the window and this time hurls a shoe at the dog. Still the animal howls. Another shoe follows. The next day the man's wife goes around in her stocking feet because she can't find her shoes. The man hasn't the price of another pair of shoes for her, and the next night the dog howls louder than ever.

STATE OF OHIO CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D., 1886.

{ SEAL } A. W. GLEASON, NOTARY PUBLIC.

HALL'S Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Good Work Goes On.

During the year that has passed since the international congress on tuberculosis met at Washington, one institution or organization for the treatment or prevention of tuberculosis has been established every day, Sundays and holidays included, according to a bulletin of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Fifteen new beds in hospitals or sanitoria have been provided also for every day of the year.

Prove It at Our Expense.

Housewives who have used the old fashioned dyes only have the idea that each fabric requires a separate dye. Thousands of women who have used Dyola Dyes know that Dyola will give a fast brilliant color to either cotton, wool, silk or mixed goods. To prove it, we will send a 10c package, any color, with color card and book of directions, absolutely free, to any woman who will send her name and dealer's name to Dyola, Burlington, Vt.

Fighting the Slave Trade.

Although slave-trading is generally supposed to be a thing of the past, the United States contributes annually $100 as its share of the expense of keeping up at Brussels an institution known as the international bureau for the repression of the African slave trade.

Shake Into Your Shoes

Allen s Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder. It makes tight or new shoes feel easy. It is a certain cure for sweating, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Always use it to Break in new shoes. Sold by all Druggists, 25c. Trial package mailed Free. Address Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, New York.

What has become of the old-fashioned boy who would rather stay home and work than go to school?

The danger from slight cuts or wounds is always blood poisoning. The immediate application of Hamlins Wizard Oil makes blood poisoning impossible.

The great and good do not die even in this world, embalmed in books their spirits walk abroad.—Smiles.

Eggs, Eggs, More Eggs! I get twice as many eggs winter and summer since I discovered a new method—how and what will make hens lay more—eggs, life free. Write Mrs. L. Alley, New Madrid, Mo.

A philosophical man when considering his own troubles isn't.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY A. C. MCCLURG & CO.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliff's by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights. The trio secured eggs from the cliffs. Miss Leslie's white skirt was decided upon as a signal. Miss Leslie made a dress from the leopard skin. Blake's efforts to kill antelopes failed. Overhearing a conversation between Blake and Winthrope, Miss Leslie became frightened. Winthrope became ill with fever.

CHAPTER XIV—Continued.

At noon, having learned that Winthrope's condition showed little change, Blake ate a hearty meal, and at once set off down the cleft. He did not reappear until nightfall; though at intervals Miss Leslie had heard his step as he came up the ravine with his loads of thorn-brush.

This course of action became the routine for the following ten days. It was broken only by three incidents, all relating to the important matter of food supply. Winthrope had soon tired of broth, and showed such an insatiable craving for cocoanut milk that the stock on hand had become exhausted within the week.

The day after, Blake took the rope ladder, as he called the tangle of knotted creepers, and went off towards the north end of the cleft. When he returned, a little before dark, the lower part of his trousers was torn to shreds, and the palms of his hands were blistered and raw; but he carried a heavy load of cocoanuts. After a vain attempt to climb the giant palms on the far side of the river, he had found another grove near at hand, in the little plain, and had succeeded in reaching the tops of two of the smaller palms.

Under his directions, Miss Leslie clarified a bowl of hird fat—goose grease, Blake called it—and dressed his hands. Yet even with the bandages which she made of soft inner bark and the handkerchiefs, he was unable to handle the thorn-brush the following day. Unfortunately for him, he was not content to sit idle. During the night he had cut a bamboo fishing pole and lengthened Miss Leslie's line of plaited cocoanut-fiber with a long catgut leader. In the afternoon he completed his outfit with a hairpin hook and a piece of half-dried meat.

He was back an hour earlier than usual, and he brought with him a dozen or more fair-sized fish. His mouth was watering over the prospective feast, and Miss Leslie showed herself hardly less eager for a change from their monotonous diet. As the fish were already dressed, she raked up the coals and quickly contrived a grill of green hamboos.

When the odor of the broiling fish spread about in the still air, even Winthrope sniffed and turned over, while Blake watched the crisping delicacies with a ravenous look. Unable to restrain himself, he caught up the smallest fish, half cooked, and bolted it down with such haste that he burnt his mouth. He ran over to the spring for a drink, and Winthrope cackled derisively.

Miss Leslie was too absorbed in her cooking to observe the result of Blake's greediness. She had turned the fish for the last time, and was about to lift them off the fire, when Blake came running back, and sent grill and all flying with a violent kick.

"Salt!" he gasped—"where's the salt? I'm poisoned!"

"Poisoned?"

"Poison fish! Don't eat! God!—Where's the salt?"

The girl stared at him. His agony was so great that beads of sweat were rolling down his face. He writhed, and stretched out a quivering hand—"Salt, quick!—warm water—salt!"

"But there's none left! You remember, yesterday—"

"God!" groaned Blake, and for a moment he sank down, overcome by a racking convulsion. Then his jaw closed like a bulldog's, and gritting his teeth with the effort, he staggered up and rushed off down the cleft.

"Stop! stop, Mr. Blake! Where are you going?" screamed the girl.

She started to run after him, but was halted by an outburst of delirious laughter. Winthrope was sitting upright and waving his fever-blotched hands—"Hi, hi! look at 'im run! 'E's got w'at'll do for 'im! Run, you swine; you—"

There followed a torrent of cockney abuse so foul that Miss Leslie blushed scarlet with shame as she sought to quiet him. But the excitement had so heightened his fever that he was in a raving delirium. It was close upon midnight before his temperature fell, and he sank into a death-like torpor. In her ignorance, she supposed that he had fallen asleep.

Her relief was short-lived, for soon she remembered Blake. She could see him lying beside the pool or out on the bare plain, his resolute eyes cold and glassy, his powerful body contorted in the death agony. The vision filled her with dismay. With all his coarseness, the man had showed himself so resourceful, so indomitable, that when she sought to dwell upon her reasons to fear him, she found herself admiring his virile manliness. He might be a brute, but he did not belong among the jackals and hyenas. Indeed, as she called to mind his strong face and frank, blunt speech she all but disbelieved what her own ears had heard.

And anyway, without his aid, what should she do? Winthrope had already become as weak as a child. The emaciation of his jaundiced features was a mockery of their former plumpness. Blake had said that the fever might run on for another week, and that even if Winthrope recovered, he would probably be helpless for several days besides.

What was no less serious, though she had concealed the fact from Blake, she herself had been troubled the past week with the depression and lassitude which had preceded Winthrope's attack. If Blake was dead, and she should fall ill before Winthrope recovered, they would both die from lack of care. And if they did not die of the fever, what of their future, here on this desolate savage coast?

But the very keenness of her mental anguish so exhausted and numbed the girl's brain that she at last fell into a heavy sleep. The fire burned low, and shadowy forms began to creep from behind the bamboos and the trees and rocks down the gorge. There was no sound; but greedy, wolfish eyes gleamed in the starlight.

Only the day before Blake had told Miss Leslie to store the last rack of cured meat inside the baobab. The two sleepers lay between the fire and the entrance to the hollow. Slowly the embers of the fire died away into gray ashes, and slowly the night prowlers drew nearer. The boldest of the pack crept close to Miss Leslie, and, with teeth bared and back bristling, sniffed at the edge of her skirt. Whether because of her heavy breathing or the odor of the leopard skin, the beast drew away, with an uneasy whine.

There was a pause; then, backed by three others, the leader approached Winthrope. He was still lying in the death-like torpor, and he lacked the protection which, in all likelihood, the leopard skin had given Miss Leslie. The cowardly brutes took him for dead or dying. They sniffed at him from head to foot, and then, with a ferocious outburst of snarls and yells, flung themselves upon him.

The Girl Was Now Frantic.

Had it not chanced that Winthrope was lying upon his side, with one arm thrown up, he would have been fatally wounded by the first slashing bites of his assailants. The two which sought to tear him were baffled by the thick folds of Blake's coat, while their leader's slash at the victim's throat was barred by the upraised arm. With a savage snap, the beast's jaws closed on the arm, biting through to the bone. At the same instant the fourth jackal tore ravenously at one of the outstretched legs.

With a shriek of agony, Winthrope started up from his torpor, and struck out frantically in a fury of pain and terror. Startled by the violence of this unexpected resistance, the jackals leaped back—only to spring in again as the remainder of the pack made a rush to forestall them.

Winthrope was staggering to his feet, when the foremost brute leaped upon him. He fell heavily against one of the main supports of his hamboo canopy, and the entire structure came down with a crash. Two of the jackals, caught heneath the roof, howled with fear as they sought to free themselves. The others, with brute dread of an unknown danger, drew away, snarling and gnashing their teeth.

Wakened by the first ferocious yelps of Winthrope's assailants, Miss Leslie had started up and stared about in the darkness. On all sides she could see pairs of fiery eyes and dim forms like the phantom creatures of a nightmare. Winthrope's shriek, instead of spurring her to action, only confused her the more and benumbed her faculties. She thought it was his death cry, and stood trembling, transfixed with horror.

Then came the fall of the canopy. His cries as he sought to throw it off showed that he was still alive. In a flash her bewilderment vanished. The stagnant blood surged again through her arteries in a fiery, stimulating torrent. With a cry, to which primeval instinct lent a menacing note, she groped her way to the fallen canopy, and stooped to lift up one side.

"Quick!—into the tree!" she called.

Still frantic with terror, Winthrope struggled to his feet. She thrust him towards the baobab, and followed, dragging the mass of interwoven bamboos. Emboldened by the retreat of their quarry, the snarling pack instantly began to close in. Fortunately they were too cowardly to rush at once, and fear spurred their intended victims to the utmost haste. Groping and stumbling, the two felt their way to the baobab, and Miss Leslie pushed Winthrope headlong through the entrance. As he fell, she turned to face the pack.

The foremost beasts were at the rear edge of the bamboo framework, their eyes close to the ground. Instinct told her that they were crouching to leap. With desperate strength she caught up the canopy before her like a great shield, and drew it in after her until the ends of the crossbars were wedged fast against the sides of the opening. Though it seemed so firm, she clung to it with a convulsive grasp as she felt the pack leaders fling themselves against the outer side.

But Blake had lashed the bamboos securely together, and none of the beasts was heavy enough to snap the supple bars. Finding that they could not break down the barrier, they began to scratch and tear at the thatch which covered the frame. Soon a pair of lean jaws thrust in and snapped at the girl's skirt. She sprang back, with a cry: "Help! Quick, Mr. Winthrope! They're breaking through!"

Winthrope made no response. She stooped, and found him lying inert where he had fallen. She had only herself to depend upon. A screen of sharp sticks which she had made for the entrance was leaning against the inner wall, within easy reach. To grasp it and thrust it against the other framework was the work of an instant.

Still she trembled, for the eager beasts had ripped the thatch from the canopy, and their inthrust jaws made short work of the few leaves on her screen. Unaware that even a lion or a tiger is quickly discouraged by the knife-like splinters of broken hamboo, she expected every moment that the jackals would hite their way through her frail harrier.

She remembered the sharpened stakes of her screen, hidden under the leaves and grass of her bed. She groped her way across the hollow, and uncovered one of the stakes. In her haste she cut her hand on its razor-like edge. All unheeding, she sprang back towards the entrance. She was none too soon. One of the smaller jackals had forced its head and one leg hetween the bars, and was struggling to enlarge the opening.

Fearful that the whole pack was about to burst in upon her, the girl grasped the bamboo stake in both hands, and began stabbing and lunging at the beast with all her strength. The jackal squirmed and snarled and snapped viciously. But the girl was now frantic. She pressed nearer, and though the white teeth grazed her wrist, she drove home a thrust that changed the beast's snarls into a howl of pain. Before she could strike again, it had struggled back out of the hole, beyond reach.

Tense and panting with excitement, she leaned forward, ready to stab at the next beast. None appeared, and presently she became aware that the pack had been dannted by the experience of their unlucky fellow. Their snarls and yells had subsided to whines, which seemed to he coming from a greater distance. Still she waited, with the bamboo stake up raised ready to strike, every nerve and muscle of her body tense with the strain.

So great was the stress of her fear and excitement that she had not heeded the first gray lessening of the night. But now the glorious tropical dawn came streaming out of the east in all its red effulgence. Above and through the hamboo barrier glowed a light such as might have come from a great fire on the cliff top. Still tense and immovable, the girl stared out up the cleft. There was not a jackal in sight. She leaned forward and peered around, unable to believe such good fortune. But the night prowlers had slunk off in the first gray dawn.

The girl drew in a deep, shudder ing sigh, and sank back. Her hand struck against Winthrope's foot. She turned about quickly and looked at him. He was lying upon his face. She hastened to turn him upon his side, and to feel his forehead. It was cool and moist. He was fast asleep and drenched with sweat. The great shock of his pain and fear and excitement had broken his fever.

With the relief and joy of this discovery, the girl completely relaxed. Not observing Winthrope's wounds, which had bled little, she sought to force a way out through the entrance. It was by no means an easy task to free the wedged framework, and when, after much pulling and pushing, she at last tore the mass loose, she found herself perspiring no less freely than Winthrope.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

INSISTED ON HOLE IN COFFIN.

Through It Col. Butler's Triumphant Pigtail Should Protrude.

Thomas Butler, a colonel in the army of the United States early in the nineteenth century, died in New Orleans in 1805 in the midst of his celebrated controversy with Gen. Wilkinson regarding the wearing of his queue.

Col. Butler insisted on wearing his hair in the old-fashioned style in disobedience to Wilkinson's orders. According to Pierce Butler in his biography of Judah P. Benjamin, while the dispute was still raging Butler died and left directions that a hole should be bored in the head of his coffin and that he should be borne to the grave with his triumphant pigtail protruding in defiance. The family tradition is that these directions were carried out

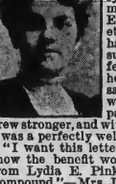
A NURSE'S EXPERIENCE.

Backache, Pains in the Kidneys, Bloating, Etc., Overcome.

A nurse is expected to know what to do for common ailments, and women who suffer backache, constant languor, and other common symptoms of kidney complaint, should be grateful to Mrs. Minnie Turner, of E. B. St., Anadarko, Okla., for pointing out the way to find quick relief. Mrs. Turner used Doan's Kidney Pills for a run-down condition, backache, pains in the sides and kidneys, bloated limbs, etc. "The way they have built me up is simply marvelous," says Mrs. Turner, who is a nurse. "My health improved rapidly. Five boxes did so much for me I am telling everybody about it."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

After acquiring all the knowledge he can from books, many a man takes a postgraduate course by marrying a widow.



ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will cure that cough of a fresh cold, but once those stubborn coughs that usually hang on for months, Give it a trial and prove its worth. 25c. 50c and $1.00.

Not to alleviate if we can all that needs alleviation.

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman.

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAN, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

Get More for Furs

One shipment will convince you that we pay the highest prices for furs—from 20% to 40% more in actual cash than any other house. We do not pad our price list to tempt you to ship to us, but grade each skin honestly and pay the highest prices possible on this basis.

We furnish traps, bait and other supplies at cost. Send today for Free Catalog, Game and Market Reports and we'll give you absolutely free our new "Trapper's Guide," containing nearly 100 pages of valuable tips and secrets. Largest in the world in our line.

TRAPPERS GUIDE FREE

Funsten Bros. & Co., 143 Elm St., St. Louis, Mo.

Paper-Hangers & Painters

You can greatly increase your business with no extra investment by selling Alfred Peats' Prize Wallpapers. We want one good worker in each vicinity, and to the first worthy applicant will send FREE, by prepaid express, five large sample books showing a $250,000.00 Wallpaper Stock for customers to select from. We offer liberal profits to our representatives. Answer quickly that you may get the agency in your vicinity for 1906.

Alfred Peats Co., 144-146 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

1,000,000 RAW FUR SKINS WANTED

for my manufacturing and exporting trade. Skunk, Mink, Muskrat and others. Top prices. Write for special quotations.

A. E. BURKHARDT, Manufacturer and Exporter of Raw Furs and Manufactured Furs, CINCINNATI, O.

RUBBER STAMPS

Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. Agents wanted. Get catalog.

The Yawman & Erbe Mfg. Co. Rochester, N.Y.

PATENTS

OBTAINED OR NO CHARGE MADE

Send sketch for free search and report. also Guide book. E. F. BUNYEA CO., Washington, D. C.

PATENTS

FRANKLIN H. HOUGH, Washington, D. C. No Attorney's fees until patent is obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

Best for Children

PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

Gives instant relief when little throats are irritated and sore. Contains no opiates and is as pleasant to take as it is effective.

All Druggists, 25 cents.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Canada's Day of Thanks a Month Earlier Than in the United States.

For some reason better known to the Canadians themselves than to the people on this side of the line, our Canadian cousins celebrated their Thanksgiving a month or more earlier than we do. It may be that the Canadian turkey had become impatient, and sounded a note of warning, or it may be that the "frost on the pumpkin" declared itself. But whatever the reason, their Thanksgiving day is past. It may have been that the reasons for giving thanks so much earlier than we do were pushing themselves so hard and so fast that the Canadians were ashamed to postpone the event. They have had reasons, and good ones, too, for giving thanks. Their great broad areas of prairie land have yielded in abundance, and here, by the way, it is not uninteresting to the friends of the millions of Americans who have made their home in Canada during the past few years to know that they have participated most generously in the "cutting of the melon." Probably the western portion of Canada, comprising the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, have the greatest reason of any of the provinces to express in the most enthusiastic manner their gratitude. The results in the line of production give ample reason for devout thanksgiving to Providence. This year has surpassed all others in so far as the total increase in the country's wealth is concerned. There is no question that Providence was especially generous. The weather conditions were perfect, and during the ripening and harvesting period, there was nothing to interfere. And now it was well it was so, for with a demand for labor that could not be supplied, there was the greatest danger, but with suitable weather the garnering of the grain has been successfully accomplished. There have been good general averages, but these are accounted for by the fact that farmers were indifferent, relying altogether upon what a good soil would do. There will be no more low averages though, for this year has shown what good, careful farming will do. It will produce 130 million bushels of wheat from seven million acres, and it will produce a splendid lot of oats, yielding anywhere from 50 to 100 bushels per acre. This on land that has cost but from $10 to $15 per acre—many farmers have realized sufficient from this year's crop to pay the entire cost of their farms. The Toronto Globe says:

"The whole population of the West rejoices in the bounty of Providence, and sends out a message of gratitude and appreciation of the favors which have been bestowed on the country. The cheerfulness which has abounded with industry during the past six months has not obliterated the conception of the source from which the blessings have flown, and the good feeling is combined with a spirit of thankfulness for the privilege of living in so fruitful a land. The misfortunes of the past are practically forgotten, because there is great cause to contemplate with satisfaction the comforts of the present. Thanksgiving should be a season of unusual enthusiasm."

What's a Gentleman?

An exact definition of a gentleman has been tried many times, never perhaps with entirely satisfactory results. Little Sadie had never heard of any of the difinitions, but she managed to throw a gleam of light on the subject, albiet one touched with unconscious cynicism. The word was in the spelling lesson and I said:

"Sadie, what is a gentleman?"

"Please, ma'am," she answered, "a gentleman's a man you don't know very well."—Woman's Home Companion.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

When two women begin to talk over the back fence his satanic majesty hears a lot about their neighbors that he never even suspected.

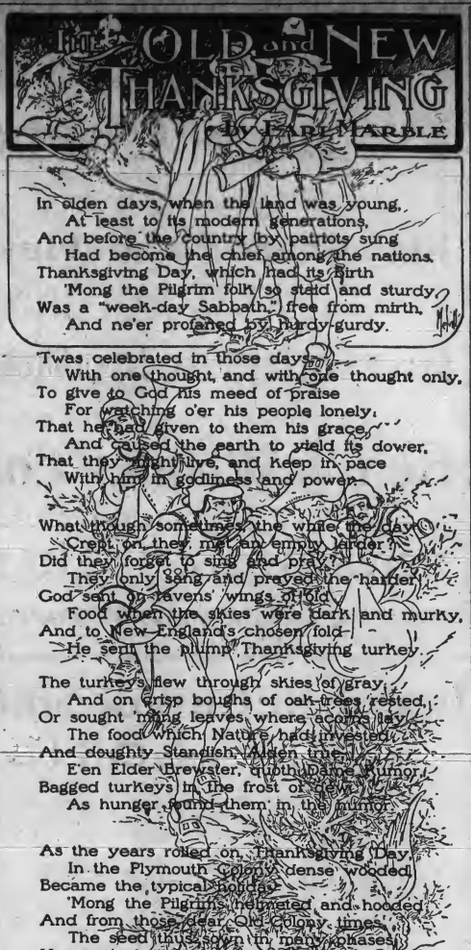
Pettit's Eye Salve for 25c.

Relieves tired, congested, inflamed and sore eyes, quickly stops eye aches. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

There is no surer and no readier remedy for your own cares than to try to lessen the cares of other people.

DOCTOR YOURSELF

when you feel a cold coming on by taking a few doses of Perry Davis' Painkiller. It is better than Quinine and safer. The large 50c bottles are the cheapest.



To consider anything impossible that we cannot ourselves perform.

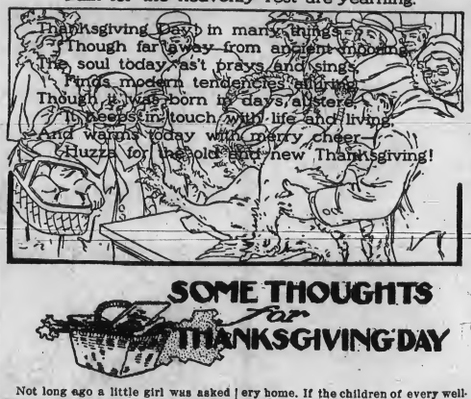
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

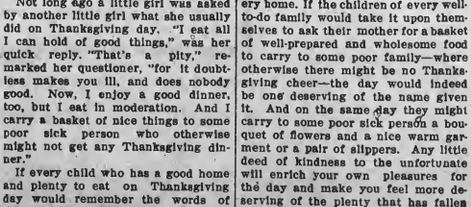
To believe only what our finite minds can grasp.

In olden days, when the land was young,
At least to its modern generations,
And before the country by patriots sung
Had become the chief among the nations,
Thanksgiving Day, which had its birth
'Mong the Pilgrim folk, so staid and sturdy
Was a "week-day Sabbath," free from mirth,
And ne'er profaned by hurdy-gurdy.

'Twas celebrated in those days
With one thought, and with one thought only,
To give to God his meed of praise
For watching o'er his people lonely,
That he had given to them his grace,
And caused the earth to yield its dower,
That they might live, and keep in pace
With him in godliness and power.



What though sometimes the winter day
Crept on, they met an empty larder?
Did they forget to sing and pray?
They only sang and prayed the harder.
God sent on ravens' wings of old
Food when the skies were dark and murky,
And to New England's chosen fold
He sent the plump Thanksgiving turkey.

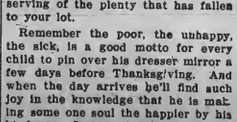


The turkeys flew through skies of gray,
And on crisp boughs of oak trees rested,
Or sought mong leaves where acorns lay,
The food which Nature had invested,
And doughty Standish, Alden true,
E'en Elder Brewster, quoth Dame Rumor,
Bagged turkeys in the frost or dew,
As hunger found them in the rumor.

As the years rolled on, Thanksgiving Day
In the Plymouth colony dense wooded
Became the typical holiday
'Mong the Pilgrims, helmeted and hooded,
And from those dear, Old Colony times
The seed thus sown in many climates
Has spread till thanks in many chimes
Is given in hearty songs and praises.

Thanksgiving Day! when hearts and homes
Give thanks for all earth's varied blessings,
And the wanderer, where'er he roams,
Returns for olden days' caressings,
And knows, as he nears the old farm-house,
And hears the turkeys' "glou" and "gobble,"
That joy is his, though clothed in blouse,
And to the door he scarce can hobble.

Thanksgiving Day! the day of days,
When all who have New England training
Know that amid November grays
The Christ-like spirit e'er is reigning,
And hearts to its old-time content
From worldly sorrows e'er are turning,
While sinful souls, to earth-life lent,
Fain for the heavenly rest are yearning.



Not long ago a little girl was asked by another little girl what she usually did on Thanksgiving day. "I eat all I can hold of good things," was her quick reply. "That's a pity," remarked her questioner, "for it doubtless makes you ill, and does nobody good. Now, I enjoy a good dinner, too, but I eat in moderation. And I carry a basket of nice things to some poor sick person who otherwise might not get any Thanksgiving dinner."

If every child who has a good home and plenty to eat on Thanksgiving day would remember the words of the thoughtful and kind-hearted little girl quoted above there would be cause for much rejoicing and thankfulness on the day that we all look forward to with so much anticipation. But it is a fact, sad to relate, that too many persons—not merely children, but grown-ups as well—think of Thanksgiving merely as a day of feasting—I might say of gorging. Parents make the mistake of not reminding their children of the needy poor whose tables are without the good things to eat on that day of all days when plenty is supposed to be in every home. If the children of every well-to-do family would take it upon themselves to ask their mother for a basket of well-prepared and wholesome food to carry to some poor family—where otherwise there might be no Thanksgiving cheer—the day would indeed be one deserving of the name given it. And on the same day they might carry to some poor sick person a bouquet of flowers and a nice warm garment or a pair of slippers. Any little deed of kindness to the unfortunate will enrich your own pleasures for the day and make you feel more deserving of the plenty that has fallen to your lot.

Remember the poor, the unhappy, the sick, is a good motto for every child to pin over his dresser mirror a few days before Thanksgiving. And when the day arrives he'll find such joy in the knowledge that he is making some one soul the happier by his kindness. Just try it, boys and girls.

TRADE MOVEMENT

Wonderfully Accelerated By Adjustment of Monetary Matters—Railroads Prominent As Investors.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Monetary anxieties have faded and business is wonderfully large and prosperous. Some serious problems appear, one of them the higher prices in many of the markets, but these are in process of adjustment. The copper industry, so long under the depressing influence of a tremendous production, will be favorably affected by plans for bringing the trade under better control. Reports from the various trade centers continue of the same general nature. Some lull in the demand for pig iron is offset by continued heavy purchases of finished material at advancing prices, and reports are not infrequent of premiums being paid for prompt delivery. Buying of rolling stock and other equipment by prominent railroads is a conspicuous feature, and some congestion is noted at car shops because of difficulty experienced in obtaining needed material.

Trade continues steady with dry goods jobbing houses and shows many evidences of broadening in retail channels. Prices continue to rise, advances in prints having been announced on Monday. Other advances were made unannounced in other lines. Cotton prices continue to have a direct influence on the values of foods, and manufacturers are becoming more and more conservative in building up stocks, and are causing merchants to restrict sales to spot and nearby deliveries. Some good sales of prints for shipment to Manila have been made, but export trade generally is quiet. Underwear and hosiery lines for fall are being opened, and initial orders at the necessary advances are of a moderate character.

Trade in shoes steadily expands, and the market is very firm, with buyers obliged to meet the advance. Calf leather shoes are especially high. The entire leather market is in a decidedly strong position and stocks of about all varieties are closely held up. There is a constantly stiffening tendency on all varieties and prices are materially higher than they were two months ago. The packer hide market continues to rule firm. The country hides are still east. Declines have occurred in some varieties of foreigns, but there have been advances in other descriptions.

RETAIL TRADE

Ceases Lagging and Resumes Encouraging Activity.

New York.—Bradstreet's weekly report says:

With the arrival of cold weather this week retail trade, hitherto inclined to lag, has taken on the appearance of activity, and distributive trade reports are more encouraging than for some time past. In some sections snow, interrupting transportation, has dulled some lines of wholesale trade, but the general effect has been helpful. In wholesale lines generally the nearer approach of winter has had a stimulating effect upon general feeling. Reports from the shoe manufacturing trade are better, East and West, and the coal trade, it is hoped, will show further improvement. In the cotton goods trade the feature has been an advance in prices of prints, and a tendency to advance prices of other cotton goods and to find buyers at the higher levels is noted. Holiday trade is good with jobbers, and spring trade reports encouraging. From the industrial field generally the report is of large output, and in some cases, as in the Western shoe trade and the automobile industry, extra time is being run. The railroads are buying freely of equipment and track material. Pig iron buying shows a slackening after a long active period, with output large and stocks not accumulating. The lumber trade is reported good as a whole.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending November 18 were 232, against 221 last week, 273 in the like week of 1908, 265 in 1907, 212 in 1906 and 224 in 1905. Business failures in Canada for the week number 26, against 29 last week and 33 in corresponding week of 1908.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Nov. 20.—Flour—Market steady; winter patent $5.60@5.90, spring patent $5.60@5.90, rye $4.60@4.80. Wheat—Dull and steady; No. 2 red $1.24@1.26, No. 3 $1.13@1.20. Corn—Ear corn firmer, shelled steady; new corn is as follows: No. 2 white 60@61c, No. 2 mixed 59c. Oats—Steady; No. 2 white 43½@44c, No. 2 mixed 42@42½c. Hay—Steady with timothy in demand; No. 1 timothy $15.25@15.75, No. 1 clover mixed $14@14.50, No. 1 clover $15.25@15.75. Rye—Steady; No. 2, 76@78. Mill Feed—Bran 21.50, middlings $23.50@24.50.

Live Stock Markets.

Cincinnati, Nov. 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 5,173 head; market steady; extra $6.60@6.85, good to choice, $4.90@5.85; heifers, extra $5.25@5.35; cows, extra $4.35@4.50. Milch Cows—Extra $65. Calves—Market slow; extra $8.75@9, fair to good $7@8.50. Hogs—Receipts 2,875 head; market active; good to choice butchers $8.10@8.20, extra $7.65; pigs (110 lbs. and less) $5.75@7.25. Sheep—Market steady; extra $4.35@4.50, good to choice $3.60@4.25. Lambs—Extra $7, good to choice $6.25@6.90.

For sore throat, sharp pain in lungs, tightness across the chest, hoarseness or cough, lave the parts with Sloan's Liniment. You don't need to rub, just lay it on lightly. It penetrates instantly to the seat of the trouble, relieves congestion and stops the pain.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. A. W. Price, Fredonia, Kans., says: "We have used Sloan's Liniment for a year, and find it an excellent thing for sore throat, chest pains, colds, and hay fever attacks. A few drops taken on sugar stops coughing and sneezing instantly."

Sloan's Liniment

is easier to use than porous plasters, acts quicker and does not clog up the pores of the skin. It is an excellent antiseptic remedy for asthma, bronchitis, and all inflammatory diseases of the throat and chest; will break up the deadly membrane in an attack of croup, and will kill any kind of neuralgia or rheumatic pains.

All druggists keep Sloan's Liniment.
Prices 25c., 50c., & $1.00.
Dr. Earl S. Sloan,
BOSTON, MASS.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

FROM WINTER TO SUMMER
Three Ideal Winter Cruises to the
WEST INDIES
etc., 16 and 28 days duration, by twin-screw S. S. MOLTKE (12,500 tons) during January, February, and March. Also cruises to the Orient and South America.
P. O. Box 1767
HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE
41-45 BROADWAY - - - NEW YORK

You Can Shave Yourself With NO STROPPING NO HONING
TRADE Gillette MARK
KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

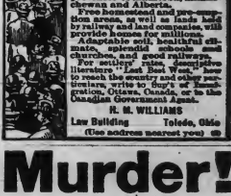
MILLIONS OF WOMEN



Regard Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment as unrivaled for Preserving, Purifying and Beautifying the Skin, Scalp, Hair and Hands, for Sanative, Antiseptic Cleansing and for the Nursery.

Sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; India, B. K. Paul, Calcutta; China, Hong Kong Drug Co.; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokio; Russia, Ferrein, Moscow; So. Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, etc.; U.S.A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. Post Free, Cuticura Booklet on the Skin.

WESTERN CANADA

What Prof. Shaw, the Well-Known Agriculturist, Says About It:

"I would sooner raise cattle in Western Canada than in the corn belt of the United States. Feed is cheaper and climate better for the purpose. Your market will improve faster than your farmers will produce the supplies. Wheat can be grown up to the 60th parallel [830 miles north of the International boundary]. Your vacant land will be taken as a rule beyond present economics. We have enough people in the United States alone who want homes to take up the land."—Many

70,000 Americans

will enter and make their homes in Western Canada this year. 1909 produced another large crop of wheat, oats and barley, in addition to which the cattle industry was an immense item. Cattle raising, dairying, mixed farming and grain growing in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Free homestead and pre-emption areas, as well as lands held by railway and land companies, will provide homes for millions.

Adaptable soil, healthful climate, splendid schools, churches, and good railways.

For settlers' rates, descriptive literature "Last Best West," how to reach the country and other information, write to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to the Canadian Government Agent.

R. M. WILLIAMS
Law Building Toledo, Ohio
(Use address nearest you)

Murder!

One gets it by highway men—Tens of thousands by Bad Bowels—No difference. Constipation and dead liver make the whole system sick—Everybody knows it—CASCARETS regulate—cure Bowel and Liver troubles by simply doing nature's work until you get well—Millions use CASCARETS, Life Savers!

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 48—1909.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3.00 $3.50 & $4.00 SHOES

Wear W. L. Douglas comfortable, easy walking, common sense shoes. A trial will convince any one that W. L. Douglas shoes hold their shape, fit better and wear longer than other makes.

They are made upon honor, of the best leathers, by the most skilled workmen, in all the latest fashions, shoes in every style and shape to suit men in all walks of life.

CAUTION! The genuine have W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom, which guarantees full value and protects the wearer against high prices and inferior shoes. TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

BOYS SHOES
$2.00 & $2.50

Wherever you live, W. L. Douglas shoes are within your reach. If your dealer cannot fit you, write for Mail Order Catalog. W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.

RESINOL

stops itching. Is the most effective application known for eczema. The best dressing for burns or scalds, a prompt and effectual remedy in all forms of inflammation, eruptions and irritation of the skin. 50 cents a jar, all druggists or sent direct on receipt of price. A certain cure for itching piles.

RESINOL CHEMICAL COMPANY, BALTIMORE, MD.

"I have found in my experience nothing to equal RESINOL for all diseases of the skin."
S. S. Stewart, Stewart Station, Pa.

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Wayne Byland was sick several days last week.

L. L. Lampton, of near Independence, was a visitor here, Wednesday.

Mrs. Clarence Calman, of Columbus, Ohio, is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Rice.

O. M. Powers, the clever coal merchant at Key West, spent Monday here on business.

Mrs. L. J. Stephenson has been very ill at her home near town, but is now much better.

Nat Moffett, a prominent and popular citizen of Kenton county, spent Friday here with friends.

Robert G. Knox of Lagrange, spent Friday here on business for his firm The Batesville, Ind., Casket Company.

Miss Ruth Boulton, one of our popular and pretty young Misses who has been on the sick list has about recovered.

John L. Jones, one of the prominent and successful farmers of Landing, spent Thursday here with relatives and friends.

Mrs. George Rice and sister, Mrs. Calman, attended the funeral of Miss Mary Corn at Bullittsville Tuesday of last week.

Hon. John W. Berkshire, of Petersburg, our popular legislative representative, spent Thursday here with his many friends.

FOR RENT OR SALE.—The O. S. Watts two story dwelling in Walton. For particulars call on D. B. Wallace at Equitable Bank, Walton, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Northcutt spent part of last week in Cincinnati and bought a fine $525 Gabler piano for their daughter, Miss Mayme.

Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Coleman and little daughter, Elizabeth, spent part of last week with relatives and friends at Georgetown and vicinity.

Lost—Pair of gold eye glasses, on the road between Erlanger and Florence, last Saturday. Return to owner, Mrs. R. W. Carpenter, Richwood, and receive reward.

Lystra Aylor, one of the esteemed old land marks of the county, who has been making his home here with Jacob Kipp, has gone to Delhi, Ohio, to spend the winter with relatives.

The ladies of the Walton Christian Church entertained in a royal manner with an elegant supper at the Walton opera house Saturday evening at which there was a large attendance and a handsome sum realized for the benefit of the church.

Mrs. Harry Warren, of Cincinnati, spent Sunday and part of Monday here with her sister, Mrs. John M. Stamler. It had been Mrs. Warren's intention to remain a couple of weeks but on account of the death of her sister-in-law she was summoned home.

Chas. A. Slater spent Thursday in Cincinnati on business, and on his return home was taken quite ill and was confined to his home for several days. His son Dr. J. G. Slater looked after the interests of The Walton Mercantile Company's store during the absence of his father, the proprietor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Berry Noell and two children left, last Monday for Sandford, Florida, where they expect to make their home. Her father, A. W. Smith, has subscribed for the Boone County Recorder to be sent her at her special request as she desires to hear from the old home. Mr. Smith resided at Sandford some years ago, being interested in an orange plantation.

Hon. J. G. Tomlin and John L. Vest left, Monday morning, for Warsaw to attend the Gallatin Circuit Court in session there. They are the attorneys for the heirs of Hugh Montgomery, who died several years ago, leaving a large estate, and the heirs have brought suit to set aside the will, alleging that the distribution was unequal. It is a big case and will afford a bitter contest.

A. M. Edwards has sold the Phoenix Hotel to D. G. Rice, of Lawrenceburg, Indiana, who will take charge the first of the month. The purchase price was $3,500. The hotel is an excellent property and ought to be a profitable investment. Mr. Rice is a traveling salesman for the Baldwin Piano Company, of Cincinnati, and his wife will conduct the hotel while he is on the road. Mr. and Mrs. George Fullilove who have been so successfully conducted the hotel, will surrender the property Dec. 1st, and move to their former residence in Walton.

H. E. Roberts, of Platte, South Dakota, arrived here last week on a visit to his sister, Mrs. Ruth-Roberts and other relatives. Mr. Foberts was born near Verona, and is a son of Thomas Roberts, and left that locrlity in 1860, going to Indiana, serving in the federal army during the civil war, and going to Dakota 27 years ago. He is now in his 77th year, and strong and hearty. He is delighted with Dakota, and says the country is in a very prosperous condition, Mr. Roberts will go from here to Camden, Delaware, to visit his daughter, Mrs. Maud Mifflin,.

Millard Allen, son of John Allen, of Kenton county who recently enlisted in the U. S. Army and is now a member of Company B. 11th regulars stationed at Ft. Russell, Wyoming, and he writes to have the Boone County Recorder sent to his address Millard is well pleased with army life, and has gained 14 pounds since his transfer to the West. He is a clever young man of excellent habits. Not being able to secure a satisfactory position in mercantile circles he concluded to try the army for a four year's enlistment, and there is no doubt but he will make a good soldier.

STALLION FOR SALE.

Bay Stallion, Five years old, 16 hands high, sired by Addington.

W. G. Riddell, Hebron, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Frakes spent last thursday in Cincinnati.

J. C. Rogers and son, of Illinois, are here on a visit to relatives.

Miss Belle Grubbs has returned from a visit with relatives in Scott county.

John L. Vest and A. M. Edwards spent a day last week at Independence on business.

E. C. Stephens, of Columbus, O., spent part of past week here with his brother, E. K. Stephens.

B. B. Allphin and Thos. Percivall have disposed of several car loads of livestock in the city the past week.

John H. Webster, of near Napoleon, Gallatin county, spent last Thursday here, with friends on business.

Chas. L. Griffith, the clever president of the Equitable Bank & Trust Company, spent a day, last week on business.

Geo. C. Conly, of Elliston, and Ben Bingham and Frank Rex, of Kyle, Gallatin county, were here last Saturday.

Mrs. J. I. Wills, of Williamstown, came down last week, to spend several days with her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Nelson.

Mrs. G. W. Murphy and pretty daughter, Miss Myrtle, spent a day last week in Cincinnati with relatives and friends.

Geo. L. Miller, wife and grandson, Conner Carroll, of Big Bone Springs, and Lew W. Miller and wife, of Landing, spent Sunday here with relatives and friends.

John C. Miller, of the Equitable Bank, and Joseph McCormack, of Verona, left Tuesday of last week, for Harlan, Ind., on a prospecting trip with the view of organizing a Deposit Bank with Mr. McCormack as cashier.

Dr. B. W. Stallard, who is located at Columbus, Ohio, practicing his profession of dentistry, spent a few days the past week here at his former home where he has many warm friends. He is doing well in his new location, and likes Columbus very much.

Mrs. Wallace Garrison had for her guest a few days since her sister, Mrs. J. J. Garrison, of Union. They visited their brother, Joseph Violette of Crittenden, one day, and then went to Cincinnati a day to hear "Gipsy Smith," the world's great evangelist.

Hunters have been out in great force, coming from the cities in such droves that the trains were crowded beyond their seating capacity. The farmers, generally, have posted their farms as the trespassing of the hunters became very annoying, besides hazardous to live stock.

Students' Recital—Saturday, December 4th, at 2 p. m., a short program will be given by the pupils in the Piano and Expression Classes of the Walton Graded School Chapel. This is a first of a series of afternoon recitals to be given during the winter. All are most cornially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lunsford, who left a year ago for Southeastern Texas, have returned, accompanied by their son-in-law, J. S. Williams and wife, and son, J. B. Lunsford and wife, of Olney, and Chas. Lunsford, Denton, Wise county. They all prefer Kentucky, notwithstanding they were prosperous in the LoneStarStar.

Prof. W. Hind Roberts, of Owenton, spent Saturday and Sunday here the guest of his sister, Mrs. Ruth Roberts. Prof. Roberts is one of the finest old gentlemen we ever knew, and he has an extensive identification with a large circle of excellent people, having been the teacher of the children of the best families at Warsaw and Owenton, where he has the esteem of the entire citizenship because of his many excellent, gentlemanly qualities. His many friends sympathize with him in his great bereavement in the death of his estimable wife.

Horse Stolen—From the stable of Bryan Campbell on Lexington pike below Walton, Tuesday night, Nov. 16th, one dark brown mare, about 11 years old, 15½ hands high, white spot in forehead, lower lip torn to teeth. Liberal reward for return or information leading to her recovery.

BRYAN CAMPBELL,
Walton, Ky.

A PETERSBURG BOY.

Capt. Lynn B. McNeely Dies at Algiers, La., at the Age of Fifty-Five.

Capt. Lynn B. McNeely, one of the oldest and best known of local river pilots, died yesterday shortly after 2 o'clock at his residence, 16 Pelican avenue, Algiers, after an illness of ten days. He was in command of the Board of Port Commissioners' Fire boat Samson at the time of his death and contracted a cold while on duty, from which pneumonia developed.

Captain McNeely was born at Petersburg, Boone county, Ky., in 1856, and received his early education in the public schools of that little town. In 1876 he and his wife removed to Algiers, where Capt. McNeely resided ever since. At the time he came to this city he was in the service of W. H. Brown & Son, of Pittsburg, handling their coal tows, and he remained with this firm nine years. After he severed his connection with it he was pilot on various harbor tugs for a number of years and later entered the service of the Union Ferry Company as a ferry pilot. He was in the employ of this concern several years and was promoted to the position of senior captain and commanded the ferry-boat Thomas Pickles, the largest and most important boat of the ferry company's fleet. He left this position to become the master of one of the big river packets, but in 1904, when he was appointed to the command of the Samson, he resigned his post and took charge of the fire boat and has been in command of her ever since.

Capt. McNeely leaves a wife, two brothers, Marion McNeely, of Cairo, Ill., and Capt. H. F. McNeely; and five sisters, Mrs. Mat Loder and Mrs. Stephen McWethy, of Petersburg; Mrs. Marie Conway Friar, of Memphis, Mrs. Vin. Waldon, of Cincinnati and Mrs. Emma Wendel, of Frankfort. His mother, Mrs. Martha J. McNeely, of Petersburg, is also living.

Captain McNeely was a member of long standing in Crescent City Lodge No. 18, River and Harbor Pilots, and a large delegation from that organization will attend the funeral, which will take place from the residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. John Foster, of the Algiers Methodist Church will conduct services at the residence. The interment will be in the McDonogh cemetery.—New Orleans, (La.) Exchange.

Lost—On Garrison creek, a Beagle hound bitch, with white, and brown or yellow spoth.

ED AYLOR, Hebron, Ky.

What the wind did for the fodder shocks, Monday, was a plenty.

Avoid Trouble

Women, when threatened with a mishap, should take Cardui and prevent the trouble from occurring.

In your delicate condition it will save you much pain and misery. Thousands have tried Cardui before confinement and have found it of wonderful benefit.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. Fannie Nichols, of Mexico, Mo., writes: "Last year I was threatened with a mishap and Wine of Cardui helped me more than any other medicine. Now I have a fine healthy boy. I think Cardui the finest medicine I know of for female troubles, and I wish all suffering women would try it."

Get Cardui.
Sold everywhere.

E 41

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

Fruit Trees For Sale.

Apples and Pears, have arranged to furnish Peaches, Cherries and other nursery stock at reasonable prices.

Also B. P. Cockerels.

B. T. KELLY,
R. D. 2, Burlington, Ky.
Farmers Telephone line.

Warning to Hunters.

Any person or persons trespassing or hunting with dog or guns on the lands of the undersigned will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

WALTON PRECINCT.

W. H. Senour	W. E. Dixon
G. W. Taylor	M. E. Fields
G E. Carroll	Bryant Campbell
J. C. Byland	Mrs Jane Kennedy
J. C. Mayhugh	A. R. Johnson
Robt. Chambers	L. S. Wolfe
Ira Aylor	S. C. Hicks
Batty Long	J. S. West
Lawrence Ryan	Clay Baker
S. Taylor	John Mardis
S. M. Hudson	R. O. Hughes
Theo. Kennedy	Martha C. Hudson
Ben Cleek	Rebecca J. Hudson
J. C. Bedinger	Kate Hudson
John Goodridge	O. S. Glacken
J. J Hudson	Geo W Ranson
Rev. Lafe Johnson farm.

BURLINGTON PRECINCT.

Mrs Elizabeth Utz	W L B Rouse
Oscar Gaines	Bart E Aylor
Clarence Easton	Karl Rouse
T. J. Walton.	Peter Buchart.
Hewitt Bros.	Chas. A. Gaines
Mrs. A. Harding.
Minerva Weaver.

BELLEVIEW PRECINCT.

Julia Dinsmore

BULLITTSVILLE PRECINCT.

Mrs Mary Gaines	John W Clore
Elbert Rouse	Huey Aylor
Jeff D Cloud	Harvey Aylor
H L McGlasson	Ben Paddock
R C McGlasson	C E Clore
E J Aylor	Chester Hood

UNION PRECINCT.

E L Rouse	W H Wilson
Jas Delahannty

PETERSBURG PRECINCT.

F M Voshell C L Voshell

HAMILTON PRECINCT.

R. Lee Huey

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell at public sale at the Lutheran Parsonage, on the Burlington pike, near Florence, Ky.,

Tuesday, Nov. 30th, 1909,

Tae following property:

One fine driving horse, 6 yrs-old, not afraid of automobiles, street or steam cars; one 4 yr-old Jersey Cow, now giving milk and will be fresh Jan. 15th, 1910; one surrey, nearly new; one good top buggy; one full set single harness, extra set traces; one sled; hanging lamp; 100 bus. coal, and other articles too numerous to mention.

Usual terms will be given.

J. H. WALTERICK.

Sale to begin at 1 o'clock.

Young Girls Are Victims

of headache, as well as older women, but all get quick relief and prompt cure from Dr. King's New Life Pills, the world's best remedy for sick and nervous headaches. They make pure blood, and strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 25c at Bentler's drug store Erlanger.

C. H. ACRA,

AUCTIONEER

GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.

JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

Now is the time to Buy a Piano for Christmas.

We will Save you $100.00 on a strictly

High Grade Piano or Player Piano.

THE TONE, QUALITY AND DURABILITY OF OUR PIANOS CANNOT BE EXCELLED ANYWHERE.

Cash or Easy Payments. Large Stock to Select from

When in Covington call in and see us.

Ben J. Wagner Company,

NO. 82 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

Great Removal Sale Is Now GOING ON.

We must dispose of our entire stock and fixtures, as we will positively not move a dollar's worth of goods into our new building, no matter what loss we may sustain. This is your chance in a lifetime to buy up-to-date garments in the height of the season at such sacrificing prices.

One Lot of Ladies' Tailor-Made Suits—Strictly up to date; Regular price $10 and $12. Removal price..... $6.98

One Lot of Ladies' Tailor-Made Suits—Broadcloth and Worsted; 45-in. coat, fine satin-lined; regular price $15. Removal price $9.98

One Lot of Ladies' High-Grade Tailor-Made Suits— Regular price $18 and $20. Removal price..... $11.98

One Lot of Ladies' Long Coats—Regular price $5.00 Removal price..... $2.98

One Lot of Ladies' Long Coats—Regular price $7.98 Removal price..... $4.98

One Lot of Ladies' High-Grade Long Coats—Regular price $18 and $20. Removal price..... $9.98

One Lot of Ladies' Fine Trimmed Hats—Silk velvet shapes and elegantly trimmed in wings and plumes. Regular price $3 50. Removal price..... $1.98

One Lot of Ladies' Dress Skirts—Regular price $2.50. Removal price..... $1.50

One Lot of Ladies' Dress Skirts—Nicely trimmed; regular price $2.98. Removal price $1.98

FURS, FURS, FURS—See our line of Furs before purchasing elsewhere. We will positively save you from $2.00 to $10.00 on every set of Furs.

SIMON'S BAZAAR

NO. 36 PIKE STREET

Covington, - Kentucky.

New Arrival in Watches & Gold Jewelry on Sale at Special Low Prices.

Fifty-one years ago the foundation of this house was laid with Quality, Representations and good values to patrons as cornerstones. The present establishment coupled with the fact that it stands to-day as one of its largest institutions of its kind in the three cities speaks eloquently of the publics appreciation of this Store.

Ladies' watch special 14-kt filled, set with genuine cut diamond for $18.50. See them in our window.

MOTCH,

The Jeweler,
613 Madison Ave.
Covington, Ky.

NEW PACKED

Dried Peaches, Apples, Prunes, Raisins, Oranges, Etc.,

Now in Stock.

All other goods as soon as the season opens. Don't forget to call in and compare my Quality and Prices with others.

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

M. L. Swetnam Clarenc E. Swetnam Russell E. Swetnam

M. L. Swetnam & Sons,

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,

15 to 21 E. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.

Phone South 170. FREE AMBULANCE.

Take Your County paper.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper, Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875.
Subsciption $1.50 year.
Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 1. 1909. NO 7

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

ERLANGER.

Mrs. P. E. Blackerby is visiting friends in Cynthiana.

Robert White of Newport, is here visiting relatives and friends.

Charlie Geiger and Russell Moulden spent Thursday in Burlington.

Owen Hoard and Chas. Forsythe spent Thanksgiving with friends at Walton.

Charles Blekers, wife and son, of Chattanooga spent Thanksgiving here with E. A. Ellis.

Mrss. B. B. Hume, of Burlington, was the guest of Mrs. C. L. Carroll, one day last week.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. Edwards.

The S. S. Department held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Fullilove, Tuesday, in honor of her birthday.

David Fee and wife have returned to their home in Covington, after a visit to her grandfather, J. H. Horner.

Bryant Ryall, who is attending Perdu University, is a guest at J. O. Taylor's.

Miss Lawretta Geiger entertained a number of the young people, last Wednesday evening, it being her birthday.

BELLEVIEW.

Mrs. J. J. Walton is very ill.

The graded school is moving along nicely.

Archa Acra, of Rising Sun, spent Saturday and Sunday with your reporter and wife.

Farmers are about through gathering their corn, some have their tobacco crop stripped and sold and delivered.

Uncle Let Nichols passed here Saturday enroute for Harry Acra's near Rabbit Hash, after spending several weeks with Lystra Smith on Ashby.

Dode Pope and wife gave the young folks a dance, Saturday night. Dode and family will move into James Akins' property in Mc-Ville today. He sold his house and lot to Joseph West.

While hunting down on the East Bend road, one day last week, Henry Clore discharged his shot gun accidently, tearing away the toe next to the great toe on his left foot. He is getting along very nicely.

The members of the Modern Woodmen camp to which Harry Acra belongs, met at his house on Thanksgiving day, and gathered about all his corn. C. G. Riddell cut and hauled him three big loads of wood. Harry and his wife extend their thanks to all the friends who were so thoughtful of him. It will be remembered that Mr. Acra broke one his lower limbs some time since.

IDLEWILD.

Nov. 26.—Is the world growing better or worse? Worse, in my opinion.

Cecil Burns and wife spent Sunday with relatives in Petersburg.

Jack McMurray and family spent Thanksgiving with Bob McIntosh and mother.

Mrs. Lulu Hall, of Gaines Heights spent Thanksgiving with relatives in Cincinnati.

Richard McMurray entertained the young people with a dance, last Saturday night.

Hop[illegible]ling has commenced here. John[illegible]es was the first in this neig[illegible]hood to kill.

Jas[illegible]ble, of Petersburg, returned to his old love—moved back to Francesville, Monday.

John Eggleston and family, of Petersburg, were visiting in the Francesville neighborhood, Sunday.

Farmer Jones and wife spent Sunday very pleasantly with his brother, Ben and family, of Bullittsville.

Ernest Brown and wife, of Bullittsville, spent the evening of Thanksgiving with papa and mama Brown, of Idlewild.

The Bullittsburg school closed Thursday evening until the following Monday, as did the school at the White Swan for Thanksgiving, but opened again Friday.

Monday evening's wind storm did considerable damage to shocked corn and hay stacks in this neighborhood. Two or three miles below here along the river it did more damage than here.

Thanksgiving services at Bullittsburg church, after which the minister, Rev. C. V. Brooks, ate his Thanksgiving dinner at H. C. Duncan's, and on his return reported an excellent dinner and a pleasant afternoon.

A little boy down on Garrison prided himself on his bravery. One morning on returning from a neighbor's, when near home he met a strange dog. He fled to the home as fast as his legs could carry him. On being questioned as to whether he was afraid, he said: "No, I just thought it a good time to see how fast I could run."

After seeing our statement of the amount of fruit we had put up one of our neighbors asked, "what do you, one person, want with so much fruit? You have enough for a family of four or five." Well, it takes as much for one person as for a family of four or five. In warm weather a family can have what one person can't have; for instance, in the season of green beans and peas, what one person would eat at two meals wouldn't be enough to cook and season so as to be good; more would be a waste. There are other things that a family can have that one can't and that's broils, squalls and squabbles.

FLICKERTOWN.

Henry Deck and family dined with James Burns, Sunday.

Elmer Jarrell visited his brothers on upper Woolper, Sunday.

The writer baled a fine lot of hay for E. M. Holton, last week.

John Scott, of Aurora, was here Sunday looking after his horses on pasture.

James Minor is having his house remodeled. Joseph Minor is doing the work.

Willie White visited his uncle, C. L. Voshell, of Indiana, Saturday and Sunday.

Bert Smith's young horse fell in his ice house, one day last week, but did not get hurt.

Robert Malory and family visited his father-in-law at Sparta, Ind., several days last week.

Fred McCarty and family, of Covington, visited Ben Hensley and family, Saturday and Sunday.

Ed Brady, wife and daughter, of Landing, and F. M. Voshell, wife and son visited J. W. White and family, Sunday.

HERE AND THERE.

Hog killing is the order of the day.

Mrs. Ethel Warford, of Cleves, is visiting her mother at Plattsburg.

Geo. Hewett will finish crushing stone for the B. & B. turnpike, this week.

Woody Sullivan had the misfortune to lose a fine male Poland China hog, last week.

The local fox hunters gave Reynard some lively chases during the fine weather last week.

Omer McGuire moved, last week, from Idlewild to W. T. Ryle's place near the Woolper bridge.

It is said that an effort will be made to organize a J. O. U. A. M. lodge at Burlington in the near future.

Thomas Hensley and family, of Cleves, spent several days last week visiting friends and relatives in this county.

Dolphie Sebree and sister, Miss Jennie, of Beech Grove neighborhood, attended Sunday school at Woolper school house, Sunday afternoon.

All members of Boone Camp No. 11718, M. W. of A. are requested to be present at its meeting next Saturday night to elect officers for the ensuing year, and to arrange a holiday programme.

HEBRON.

A large crowd attended church here Sunday night to hear Rev. J. H. Walterick's farewell sermon.

Several from here have been to hear "Gypsie Smith," the great evangeliat, at the Music Hall, Cincinnati.

Bert Jones and wife were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, of Idlewild, several days last week.

Henry Quick and family and Chester Davis and wife, of Ludlow, spent Thanksgiving day with Mrs. Belle Clore.

M. L. Aylor and Lewis Riddell and wife, spent Sunday very pleasantly with Chas. Cleek and family at Erlanger.

Rev. S. P. Harshman, of Springfield, Ohio, will preach a trial sermon at this place Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

An oyster supper will be given here at the town hall on Saturday night, Dec. 18th, for the benefit of the Hebron church. All are invited to attend.

The Recorder wants all the news of the county. If any of its friends know of deaths, births, accidents, serious sickness, friends visiting from other counties, or friends from home visiting in other counties, or any thing that would prove of interest to the Recorder readers, they are urgently requested to telephone it to the office if they have a telephone or write it if they have no telephone. The Recorder aims to publish everything that is worth printing and if the readers will assist in a small way, there will be no local happenings in the county that will not be found in its columns from week to week. The Recorder wants all the news. Do its patrons want it to have it?

—0—0—0—

The sale of the personal estate of M. A. Conner, is advertised in another column.

—0—0—0—

For Sale—Thoroughbred Rhode Island Reds, and Brown Leghorns Roosters. Apply to Julius. Bristow, Phone 193-X. Unlon, Ky.

FLORENCE.

Elmer Snyder, of Cincinnati, was the guest of relatives here Sunday.

C. W. Myers and family entertained Rev. Baker and wife, Sunday.

The supper given here by the Grangers was attended by a large crowd.

Howard and Helen Goodridge were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Laile of Price pike, Thursday.

Miss Elizabeth Southerland, of Erlanger, was the guest of Mrs. Dave Brown a few days last week.

Harry Brown and wife spent last Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robers, of Burlington.

Mrs. Carl Cluterbuck entertained her mother Mrs. McKenney and daugher, of Erlanger, Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Emma Rouse and daughter, Miss Gladys, have returned to Clifton after spending Thanksgiving at their home in Florence.

Virginia Buckner lost her breast pin between Ed Corbin's store and the Methodist church Sunday night. Anyone finding it will please return it to her.

GUNPOWDER.

Hog killings are the order.

The storm last Monday week blew about all of the fodder down, in this neighborhood.

For Sale—Thoroughbred light Bramah roosters. Apply to Mrs. B. C. Surface, Devon.

L. M. Rouse and wife, of Union neighborhood, broke bread with the writer last Sunday.

Mrs. Susie Utz and grand-daughter, Miss Jessie, were guests of Mrs. Floyd, last Thursday night.

Rev. Walterick preached his farewell sermon at Hopeful, last Sunday, to a large and attentive congregation. Bro. Walterick has labored very faithfully for nearly three years in the Boone County Charge and has won for himself quite a large circle of friends, who wish him success in his new field of labor at Loogootee, Illinois.

Rev. O. F. Harshman of Springfield, Ohio, will visit the Boone Couny Charge next Sunday, and preach as follows: At Ebenezer a 10:30 a. m.; Hopeful, at 2 p. m.; Hebron a 7 p. m. Immediately after each service there will be an election for the purpose of electing a pastor. A full attendance of the membership is desired at each meeting.

John M. Long, an old and respected citizen, died last Friday at the advanced age of 77 years. He had been a sufferer of brights disease for quite a long while. A brief service was conducted by Rev. Walterick, after which the remains were buried in Hopeful cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends. The family has the sympathy of the entire community in its sad bereavement.

There was big doin's at the home of H. F. Utz, last Thursday, the occasion being for a two fold purpose—to celebrate Thanksgiving day and thirteenth anniversary of his marriage. At the noon hour the guests were invited to the dining room where the table was beautifully decorated with flowers and loaded with all the delicacies of the season. The guests who enjoyed that bountiful repast were B. C. Surface and wife, E. H. Surface and family; Mrs. Alice, Miss Effie and Ward Daughters, of Cincinnati; P. J. Allen and wife, Leslie Barlow and family and your correspondent and wife. Vocal and instrumental music was a feature of the occasion. Some very beautiful selections were rendered by Mr. Ward Daughters, Mrs. Minta Utz and Mrs. Allen.

HATHAWAY

Butchering hogs was the order last week.

Turkeys made a fine yield this year. Some are very large.

Hunters were numerous in this neighborhood all last week.

Thanksgiving services were held at Big Bone church last Thursday.

Joe Green and wife entertained with a party, last Saturday night.

Mrs. M. M. Ryle spent Thursday of last week with Lewis M. Stephens and family.

W. S. Wilson has for sale two hogs that will weigh about 275 pounds each.

Mrs. William McMillan spent a couple of days with her parents in Grant county, last week.

Joe Keffer and wife, of Gallatin county, spent a couple of days with John McNeely, last week.

Lee McNeely and Murrel Allen spent last Thursday with Ira Ryle and took a hunt near Commissary.

Robert McNeely and wife went to Patriot, last Saturday, thence to his uncle Herman's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hance, of near Big Bone, spent last Friday with E. H. Baker and family, near here.

Paris B. Akin and brother Chas. of Woolper, spent last Thursday with Oath Hubbard, and went hunting.

John Presser, contractor and builder of McVille, was out on Gunpowder, last Sunday, and spent the day with W. S. White and wife.

Mat Ryle and family of Beech Grove, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Nathen Clements and family, near here.

The Ladies' Aid Society will give a pie social at Mrs. R. Lee Huey's on December 3d, from 3 to 10 p. m. All are cordially invited to attend.

This writer found a piece of money in the road, one day last week. He will not tell how much as some one might want it for Christmas.

PETERSBURG.

I. S. Shy spent Sunday with his family at Cynthiana.

Miss Pauline Alden entertained a number of her friends one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Blyth, of Burlington, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Botts.

Charles and Joe Allen spent last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Allen.

Miss Almma Botts, of Lawrenceburg, spent Friday with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Cox.

Miss Stella Sturgeon returned home last week after spending a month with friends in the country.

John Sweazey, of Norwood, Ohio, spent Thanksgiving here with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sweazey.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Colller, of Lawrenceburg, Indiana, spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Gordon.

Preparations are being made to start the distillery here. Everyone is busy and helping to get it in readiness to run at the earliest possible time.

The box social held at the home of Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Bradley, Wednesday night, by the Epworth League, was a decided success. All who attended reported a good time.

WALTON.

Robert Moore, of Hathaway, was a visitor here last Wednesday.

Miss Sallie Grubbs spent her Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Huff, the popular Undertaker of Latonia, spent last Thursday here on business.

Mrs Oliver Maxwell, who has been very ill of typhoid fever is now on the road to recovery.

The little son of John L. Vest and wife was very ill last week but has completely recovered

Dr. Waller S. Herndon and wife, Lexington, spent Thanksgiving here with his sister Mrs. J. G. Tomlin.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rouse, of Crittenden, were guests of J. D. Doubman and wife, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Missouri Warren, of Cincinnati, spent part of last week here with her sister, Mrs. W. C. Moxley and husband.

Mrs. John C. Miller and daughter Miss Emma Jane, spent the past several days at Rising Sun, Ind., the guests of Ed Williams and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Green and daughter, Miss Louise, spent last Thursday with their relatives Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Green, of Owen county.

H. C. Diers and wife have returned from a very pleasant visit of two weeks to relatives and friends at Chicago, Dayton and Lima, Ohio.

Mrs. Julia Adams-Rouse and little son spent a part of last week in Cincinnati visiting her brother, C. Presley Adams, who is the cashier of the Gibson House.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry Noell writes that they arrived safely at their new home, Sandford, Florida, and are delighted with their surroundings and prospects.

Winston Brown and Earnest Buck, attending school at Campbellsburg, spent the holidays of last week here with home folks.

Gaines Robinson, of Richwood.

H. W. Nelson, who has been employed at Williamstown, and Dry Ridge, for some time at his trade of plastcrer, has returned home here the season for his business being about over.

Fred Miller spent several days of the past week at his old home at Big Bone Springs enjoying a hunt. West, spent a few days last week in Cincinnati with friends.

Cincinnati with friends.

Dr. C. R. Slater, of Erlanger, was a visitor here last Wednesday, coming up with his mother, Mrs. Nannie Slater, who was enroute to Elliston Station to visit relatives and friends before returning home to Campbellsburg.

Geo. M. Moore, of near Crittenden, was here last Wednesday looking for his gold watch stolen from his home last week. He traced it to Covington where the thieves went from here, after selling a lot of stolen clothes here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Garrison entertained the following at an elegant dinner on Thanksgiving day: Mr. and Mrs. John Garrison of Union, Mr. and Mrs. Elza Garrison, and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hicks, of Richwood, and Miss Nannie Violette, of Walton.

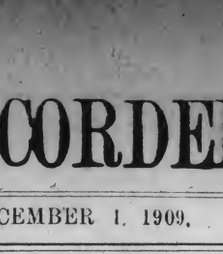
Joseph Finley, of Georgetown, was here Wednesday, enroute to his big farm of 600 acres on Eagle Creek, near Elliston Station. Mr. Finley is the jailer of Scott-co., and had Caleb Powers in his custody for seven years. Mr. Finley retires from office Jan. 1st.

FRANCESVILLE.

Some of our neighbors have killed hogs.

Mrs. Harry Roberts and daughter, visited her parents last week.

Miss Sadie Relman spent several days last week with friends at Harrison, Ohio.



W. B. Graves and family, of Hebron, were guests of his father and mother Sunday.

E. S. Scothorn and wife, of Francesville, are 87 and 80 years of age respectively.

Mrs. M. M. Davis, of Westwood, Cincinnati, visited her sister here from Thursday until Sunday.

We are glad to correct a mistake made in last week's issue concerning the theft of Mrs. Frank Aylor's fruit and preserves. It was in Mr. Will Grigler's cellar and he had moved it to make room for something else.

Looking Over the Territory.

Hon. Arthur B. Rouse, of Burlington, Boone County, was in Bedford the first part of the week looking over the field as a prospective candidate for Congress. While he was not announced as a candidate he says that he has received much encouragement from the country counties of the District to enter the race. If he does make the race, it is reasonable to suppose that there will be the same fight of the cities against the country. With a solid country vote it is possible to put a country man in this time. Mr. Rouse is a farmer and lawyer and is good congressional timber.—Trimble County Democrat.

Mr. Rouse returned home, last Saturday afternoon, from a tour of the greater portion of the district and reported his prospects in the counties he visited of a most flattering character. It is conceded he is the man for the country portion of the district to present as its candidate if it expects to win over a city man.

It is announced that the executive committee of the American Tobacco Company will meet in Lexington today to consider a proposition made by the Burley Tobacco Society for the sale of one hundred and twenty million pounds of the 1909 crop. If the deal is consummated it will be the largest transaction of its kind on record.

MAKES STRONG PLEA TO BURLEY POOLERS.

To the Poolers of the 1906 and 1907 Crops of Tobacco:

In view of the fact that there are suits now pending in the Federal and State courts, which tend to hamper us in carrying out the principles of pooling our tobacco for profitable prices, notwithstanding we have increased the price by reason of the 1906 and 1907 pools at least 100 per cent. and that if said suits now pending against the Burley Tobacco Society are successful, they will have a tendency to destroy our movement in which we have thus far been eminently successful, I wish to make this request

I wish to plead with all the 1906 and 1907 poolers to stand by the action of their representatives in the Burley Tobacco Society because of the fact that they have paid over to us, as the books show, all of the money that our tobacco brought except 1 per cent. and an outage fee of $3 per hogshead. Lets be men and not curs; let us stand by our first principles.

I do therefore earnestly ask each Board of control of every county in the Burley district to call a mass-meeting of the men in the 1906 and 1907 pools and get from them an expression as to their willingness to allow money now in the treasury for the conduct and operation of the business of the society and the furtherance and promotion of its best interests.

Please attend to this at once.

M. C. Rankin,

—0—0—

Commissioner of Agriculture.

In compliance with the above The Boone County Board of Control requests that all growers of tobacco, who pooled their tobacco with the Burley Tobacco Society in 1906 and 1907, meet at the court house in Burlington on the first Monday in December to take such action as they may deem best.

T. F. Curley, Secty.
Boone County Board of Control.

Rich Men's Gift Are Poor.

besides this: "I want to go on record as saying that I regard Electric Bitters as one of the best gifts that God has made to woman," writes Mrs. O. Rhinevault, of Vestal Center, N. Y., "I can never forget what it has done for me. The glorious medicine gives a woman buoyant spirits, vigor of body and jubilant health. It quickly cures Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Headache, Backache, Fainting and Dizzy Spells; soon builds up the weak, ailing and sick lady. Try them. 50c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

A Splendid Meeting Closed.

The protracted meeting conducted at the M. E. church at East Bend by the pastor, S. J. Bradley, assisted by Rev. Noell Gaines, closed Sunday night, Nov. 21st, with seven additions to the church, after a two weeks' meeting. Bro. Gaines' preaching was splendid and the community was greatly stirred up and benefitted. May the Lord bless Bro. Gaines where-ever he goes preaching the truth as he did to the people in this neighborhood.

RICHWOOD.

John Toole has returned from a trip to Ohio.

Much hunting but not much finding the hunters report.

Ed Acra and family were Sunday guests of his father near Gunpowder.

Garrison & Robinson will take possession of the Bedinger store December 1st.

Earl Robinson and Hannah Hearn came home from school and spent Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummins and son, of Covington, were Thanksgiving guests at Wm. Dobbins'.

W. E. Glackin and wife, and Ben Northcutt and wife, were Sunday guests at Gaines Robinson's.

J. T. Powers fell while putting a roof on a building, a few days since, and fractured one of his ribs.

Found—Pair steel rim glasses near Excelsior Grange Hall. Owner can have same by calling at Walter Grubbs'.

Theodore Carpenter and wife entertained a large number of guests, last Sunday, among them several from a distance.

E. H. Surface and family, Leslie Barlow and wife, Thomas Rice and Walter Robinson were Sunday guests at Walter Grubbs'.

F. F. Robinson and wife were surprised last Wednesday evening by a number of friends whom they entertained most royally.

Major Conner and family, William Rice and family, Ed Wach and a friend, of Covington, were Thanksgiving guests at Thomas Rice's.

Theodore Carpenter, wife and son, Eldridge, were guests of Ernest Porter and wife, at Verona, a couple of days last week, and how the rabbits did go.

The heavy wind smashed several of the large windows in our bank building, and a guard was kept for two nights, until the windows were repaired.

A dog belonging to a Mr. Broadus, and supposed to have rabies, passed here one day last week, and bit several dogs, and some of them have been killed.

Walter Grubbs and family, W. P. Hunter and wife, M. Grubbs and W. Vallandingham, of Cincinnati, spent Thanksgiving with M. L. Tanner near Union.

Joseph Chambers— An Appreciation.

The memorial which appeared in the Recorder of last week contained the principal data in the life of Mr. Chambers, and the following shall be written simply in relation to his qualities as a man. In his death, this community lost the companionship and Godly example of a noble Christian gentleman. He was representative of the Old Regime, and was distinguished to the last days of his life by the indefinable charm of manner and character that was peculiar to the older time. He had the rare combination of dignity and gentleness, rectitude and tolerance, scholarship and faith, stewardship and liberality, that make the well-rounded man, the "Israelite, indeed, in whom is no guile." His personality was enriched, and his mind finely furnished by varied experience, wide and searching study, and extended travel.

The qualities of his disposition and temper were no less attractive than those of his mind. Modest and unostentatious; discriminate in judgement; delicate in honor; universally kind in conduct; the dominant element in his make-up was that scriptural charity, which "vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up, thinketh no evil, suffereth long, and is kind." As Tennyson wrote of Albert the Good, he "wore the white flower of a blameless life."

Added to these traits—nowise overstated—and giving a vital power to the whole, was the sanctifying grace of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Largely blessed in worldly goods, and holding within himself such resources as might attempt self-sufficiency, he counted all things but loss, that he may gain Christ. His fidelity and liberality to the Madison Ave., Presbyterian Church, Covington, where he was for years an Elder and a shining light, were fruitful in good works and encouraging to God's people. He loved the Sanctuary, and was always in his place at the Sabbath and mid-week services. His public prayers were both pleasing and elevating in their fine phrasing and thoughtful spirituality. The last words he spoke to his pastor were in loving injunction for the welfare of the church he had served so long and well.

Though his loss will be felt in church affairs, his judicious foresight in providing for a continuation, to a good extent, of his financial support, and his fine influence in the hearts of the members will perpetuate his faith and service for years to come

His liberality and wise counsel were given to the church at large, as well as to the congregation with which he was associated, and for 40 years he was prominently connected with the great educational and evangelistic enterprises of the Presbyterian Church in Kentucky and the South. At the recent opening of the magnificent new Railroad Y. M. C. A. building in Covington, he was spoken of as one of the strong friends of that institution from the beginning.

He sank tranquilly to his rest, sustained by the same faith and hope which had directed his life. His calm equipoise of spirit, as he said his simple and unaffected "goodbye" to the friends who were with him near the end, was touching and admirable in the extreme. Having "fought a good fight, finished his course, and kept the faith, henceforth there is laid up for him a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the Righteous Judge, will give him at that day."

GILBERT GLASS.

FREED AT LAST

From the Awful Tortures of Kidney Disease.

Mrs. Rachel Ivie, Henrietta, Texas, says: "I would be ungrateful if I did not tell what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. Fifteen years kidney trouble clung to me, my existence was one of misery and for two whole years I was unable to go out of the house. My back ached all the time and I was utterly weak, unable at times to walk without assistance. The kidney secretions were very irregular. Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to good health, and I am able to do as much work as the average woman, though nearly eighty years old."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers, 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

BUT SHE HAD ENOUGH.

Johnny—Mother, let's go in here and buy a baby; they're cheap to-day.

Schools for Tuberculous Children.

Special schools for tuberculous children have now been established in Providence, Boston, New York, Rochester, Washington, Hartford, Conn., Chicago and Pittsburg. New York has three schools and Washington, D. C., two. The board of education of New York city is proposing to establish three more, and similar institutions are being planned in Detroit, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Newark, N. J.

In cities like Providence, Boston and New York, where outdoor schools have been conducted for two years, the results obtained from the treatment of children in special tuberculosis open air schools seem to show the great advantage of this class of institutions. This, coupled with the experience of open air schools in Germany and England, proves that children can be cured of tuberculosis and keep up with their school work, without any danger to fellow pupils.

The Darky's Idea of It.

A correspondent of the Walker County Messenger tells this one:

"A darky was on trial in the criminal court last week on a charge of bigamy. After the jury has returned a verdict of guilty Judge McReynolds remarked:

"'The best I can do, Crum, is to give you the minimum.'

"'Lordy, mercy me, jedge, don't do dat! I'd rather go to the pen,' said Crum."—Atlanta Constitution.

That Single Thought.

You've heard the old story of sweet wedded bliss, of the two hearts that flutter as one, and the two souls single-thought sealed with a kiss, and have wondered, no doubt, how 'twas done. As a wise one who was by experience taught, this effect we will briefly explain; in most of the cases that "one single thought" is: "I wish I was single again!"

Avoiding Popularity.

"How shall we avoid popularity?" John Wesley once asked his preachers, and straightway gave them the answer in a set of rules. Here is rule 4: "Warn the people among whom you are most of esteeming or loving you too much." And here is rule 5: "Converse sparingly with those who are particularly fond of you."

Getting whipped when a boy hurts, but it doesn't hurt half as much as the wearing out process that he experiences when he is old.

SECRET WORKERS

The Plan Upon Which Coffee Operates.

Coffee is such a secret worker that it is not suspected as the cause of sickness or disease, but there is a very sure way to find out the truth.

A lady in Memphis gives an interesting experience her husband had with coffee. It seems that he had been using it for some time and was an invalid.

The physician in charge shrewdly suspected that coffee was the "Worm at the root of the tree," and ordered it discontinued with instructions to use Postum regularly in its place.

The wife says: "We found that was the true remedy for his stomach and heart trouble and we would have gladly paid a hundred times the amount of the doctor's charge when we found how wise his judgment was.

"The use of Postum instead of coffee was begun about a year ago, and it has made my husband a strong, well man. He has gained thirty-five pounds in that time and his stomach and heart troubles have all disappeared.

"The first time I prepared it I did not boil it long enough and he said there was something wrong with it. Sure enough it did taste very flat, but the next morning I followed directions carefully, boiling it for fifteen minutes and he remarked 'this is better than any of the old coffee.'

"We use Postum regularly and never tire of telling our friends of the benefit we have received from leaving off coffee."

Look for the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNETT

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT 1908 BY A.C. MCCLURG & CO.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights. The trio secured eggs from the cliffs. Miss Leslie's white skirt was decided upon as a signal. Miss Leslie made a dress from the leopard skin. Blake's efforts to kill antelopes failed. Overhearing a conversation between Blake and Winthrope, Miss Leslie became frightened. Winthrope became ill with fever. Blake was poisoned by a fish. Jackals attacked the camp that night, but were driven off by Genevieve.

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued.

She was far too preoccupied, however, to consider what this might mean. Her first thought was of a fire. She ran to her rude stone fireplace and raked over the ashes. They were still warm, but there was not a live ember among them. Yet she realized that Winthrope must have hot food when he awakened, and Blake had carried with him the magnifying glass. For a little she stood hesitating. But the defeat of the jackals had given her courage and resolution such as she had never before known. She returned into the cave, and chose the sharpest of her stakes. Having made certain that Winthrope was still asleep, she set off boldly down the cleft.

At the first turn she came upon Blake's thorn barricade. It stretched across the narrowest part of the cleft in an impenetrable wall, 12 feet high. Only in the center was a gap, which could have been filled by Blake in less than two hours' work. The girl's eyes brightened. She herself could gather the thorn-brush and fill the gap before night. They no longer need fear the jackals or even the larger beasts of prey. None the less, they must have fire.

Spurred on by the thought, she was about to spring through the barricade when she heard the tread of feet on the path beyond. She crouched down, and peered through the tangle of brush in the edge of the gap. Less than ten paces away Blake was plodding heavily up the trail. She stepped out before him.

"You—you! Are you alive?" she gasped.

"Live? You bet your boots!" came back the grim response. "You bet I'm alive—though I had to go Jonah one better to do it. The whale heaved him up; I heaved up the whale—and it took about a barrel of sea-water to do it."

"Sea-water?"

"Sure . . . I tumbled over twice on the way. But I made the beach. Lord! how I pumped in the briny deep! Guess I won't go into details—but if you think you know anything about seasickness— Whew! Lucky for yours truly, the tide was just starting out, and the wind off shore. I'd fallen in the water, and the Jonah business laid me out cold. Didn't know anything until the tide came up again and soused me."

"I am very glad you're not dead. But how you must have suffered! You are still white, and your face is all creased."

Blake attempted a careless laugh. "Don't worry about me. I'm here, O. K., all that's left,—a little wobbly on my pins, but hungry as a shark. But say, what's up with you? You're sweating like a— Good thing, though. It'll stave off your spell of fever a while. How'd you happen to be coming down here so early?"

"I was starting to find you."

"Me!"

"Not you—that is, I thought you were dead. I was going to make certain, and to—to get the burning-glass."

"Um-m. I see. Let the fire go out, eh?"

"Do not blame me, Mr. Blake! I was so ill and worn out, and I've paid for it twice over, really I have. Didn't those awful beasts attack you?"

"Beasts? How's that?" be demanded. "Oh, but you must have heard them! The horrid things tried to kill us!" she cried, and she poured out a half incoherent account of all that had happened since he left.

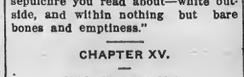
Blake listened intently, his jaw thrust out, his eyes glowing upon her with a look which she had never before seen in any man's eyes. But his first comment had nothing to do with her conduct.

"How's that?—sorry Win got rousted out of his nice little snooze—

"I Don't Believe Win Was Built for the Tropics."

Why, don't you know, we'd been all alone in our glory by to-night if it hadn't been for those brutes. He was in the stupor, and that would have been the end of him if the beasts hadn't stirred him up so lively. I've heard of such a thing before, but I always thought it was a fake. Here you are sweating, too."

"I feel much better than yesterday. I did not tell you, but I have felt ill for nearly a week."



"'Fraid to tell, eh?—and you were so scared over the beasts— Scared! By Jiminy, you've got grit, little woman! There's two kinds of scaredness. You've got the Stonewall Jackson kind. If anybody asks you, just refer them to Tommy Blake."

"Thank you, Mr. Blake. But should we not hasten back now to prepare something for Mr. Winthrope?"

"Ditto for yours truly. I'm like that sepulchre you read about—white outside, and within nothing but bare bones and emptiness."

CHAPTER XV.

With Bow and Club.

THE fire was soon re-lit, and a pot of meat set on to stew. It had ample time to simmer. Winthrope was wrapped in a life-giving sleep, out of which he did not awaken until evening, while Blake, unable to wait for the pot to boil, and nauseated by the fishy odor of the dried seafowl, hunted out the jerked leopard meat, and having devoured enough to satisfy a native, fell asleep under a bush.

The sun was half down the sky when he sat up and looked around, wide awake the moment he opened his eyes. Miss Leslie was quietly placing an armful of sticks on the fuel heap beside the baobab.

"Hello, Miss Jenny! Hard at it, I see," he called cheerfully.

"Hush!" she cautioned. "Mr. Winthrope is still asleep."

"Good thing for him. He'll need all of that he can get."

"Then you think—"

"Well, between you and me, I don't believe Win was built for the tropics. This fever of his, coming on so soon, wouldn't have hit nine men in ten half so hard. He's bound to have another spell in a month or two, and—"

"But cannot we possibly get away from here before then? Is there no way? Surely, you are so resourceful—"

"Nothing doing, Miss Jenny! Give me tools, and I'd engage to turn out a seagoing boat. But as it is, the only thing I could do would be to fire-burn a log. That would take two or three months, and in the end we'd have a lop-sided canoe that'd live about half a second in one of these tropic squalls."

"Do not the natives sail in canoes?"

"Maybe they do—and they make fire by rubbing sticks. We don't."

"But what can we do?"

"Take our medicine, and wait for a ship to show up."

"But we have no medicine."

"Have no— Say, Miss Jenny, you really ought to have stayed home from boarding-school and England long enough to learn your own language. I meant, we've got to take what's coming to us, without laying down or grouching. Both are the worst things out for malaria."

"You mean that we must resign ourselves to this intolerable situation—that we must calmly sit here and wait until the fever—"

"No; I'll take care we don't sit around very much. We'll go on the hike, soon as Win can wobble. Which reminds me, I've got a little hike on hand now. I'm going to close up that barricade before dark. Me for a quiet night!"

Without waiting for a reply, he took his weapons, and swung briskly away down the cleft.

He returned a few minutes before sunset, with what appeared to be a large fur bag upon his back. Miss Leslie was pouring a bowl of broth from the stew-pot, and did not notice him until he sang out to her: "Hey, Miss Jenny, spill over that stuff! No more of that in ours!"

"It's for Mr. Winthrope. He has just awakened," she replied, still intent on her pouring.

"And you'd kill him with that slop! Heave it over. He's going to have beef juice."

"Oh! what's that on your back? You've killed an antelope!"

"Sure! Bushbuck, I guess they call him. Sneaked up when he was drinking, and stuck an arrow into his side. He jumped off a little way, and turned to see what'd bit him. I hauled off and put the second arrow right through his eye, into his brain. Neatest thing you ever saw."

"You surely are becoming a splendid archer!"

"Yes; Jim dandy! I could do it again about once in 10,000 shots. All the same, I've raked in this peacherino. Trot out your grill and we'll have something fit to eat."

"You spoke of beef juice."

"I've a dozen steaks ready to broil. Slap 'em on the fire, and I'll squeeze out enough juice with my fist to do Win for to-night."

He made good his assertion, using several of the steaks, which, having lost less than half their juices in the process, were eaten with great relish by Miss Leslie and himself.

Winthrope, after drinking the stimulating beef juice and a quantity of hot water, turned over and fell asleep again while Blake was dressing his wounds. None of these was serious of itself; but Blake knew the danger of infection in the tropics, and carefully washed out the gashes before applying the tallow salve which Miss Leslie had tried out from the antelope fat.

The dressing was completed by torchlight. Blake then rolled the sleeper into a comfortable position, took the torch from Miss Leslie, and left the cave, pausing at the entrance to mutter a gruff good-night. The girl murmured a response, but watched him anxiously as he passed out. A step beyond the entrance he paused and turned again. In the red glare of the torch, his face took on an expression that filled her with fright. Shrouded by the gloom of the hollow, she drew back to her bed, and without turning her eyes away from him, groped for one of her bamboo stakes.

But before she could arm herself, she saw Blake stoop over and grasp with his free hand the mass of interwoven bamboos. He straightened himself, and the framework swung lightly up and over, until it stood on end across the cave entrance. The girl stole around and peered out at him. He had spread open the antelope skin, and was beginning to slice the meat for drying. Though his forehead was furrowed, his expression was by no means sinister. Relieved at the thought that the light must have deceived her, she returned to her bed and was soon sleeping as soundly as Winthrope.

Blake strung the greater part of the meat on the drying racks, built a smudge fire beneath, and stretched the antelope skin on a frame. This done, he took his club and a small piece of bloody meat, and walked stealthily down the cleft to the barricade. Quiet as was his approach, it was met by a warning yelp on the farther side of the thorny wall, and he could hear the scurry of fleeing animals.

He kept on until the barricade loomed up before him in the starlight. From cliff to cliff the wall now stretched across the gorge without hole or gap. But Blake grasped the trunk of a young date-palm which projected from the barricade near the bottom, and pushed it out. The displacement of the spiky fronds disclosed the low passage which he had made in the center of the barricade. He placed the piece of meat on one side, two or three feet from the hole, and squatted down across from it, with his club balanced on his shoulder.

Half an hour passed—an hour; and still he waited, silent and motionless as a statue. At last stealthy footsteps sounded on the outer side of the thorn wall, and an animal began to creep through the wall, sniffing for the bait. Blake waited with the immobility of an Eskimo. The delay was brief.

With a boldness for which Blake had not been prepared, the beast leaped through and seized the meat. Even in the dim light, Blake could see that he had lured an animal larger than any jackal. But this only served to lend greater force to his blow. As he struck, he leaped to his feet. The brute fell as though struck by lightning and lay still.

Blake prodded the inert form warily; then knelt and passed his hands over it. The beast had whirled about just in time to meet the descending club, and the blow had crushed in its skull. Chuckling at the success of his ruse, he drew the palm back into the opening, and swung his prize over his shoulder. When he came to the fire, a glance showed him that he had killed a full-grown spotted hyena.

In the morning, when Miss Leslie appeared, there were two hides stretched on bamboo frames, and the air was dark with vultures streaming down into the cleft near the barricade. Blake was sleeping the sleep of the just, and did not wake until she had built the fire and begun to broil the steaks which he had saved.

Again they had a feast of the fresh antelope meat. But with repletion came more of fastidiousness, and Blake agreed with Miss Leslie when she remarked that salt would have added to the flavor. He set off presently, and spent half a day on the talus of the headland, gathering salt from the rock crannies.

For the next three days he left the cleft only to gather eggs. The greater part of his time was spent in tanning the hyena and antelope skins. Meantime Miss Leslie continued to nurse Winthrope and to gather fire wood. Under Blake's directions, she also purified the salt by dissolving it in a pot of water, and allowing the dirt to settle, when the clarified solution was poured off and evaporated over the fire in one of the earthenware pans.

At first Winthrope had been too weak to sit up. But treated to a liberal diet of antelope broth, raw eggs, hot water, and cocoanut milk, he gained strength faster than Blake had expected. On the fourth day Blake set him to work on the final rubbing of the new skins; on the fifth, he ordered him to go for eggs.

Much to Miss Leslie's surprise, Winthrope started off without a word of protest. All his peevish irritability had gone with the fever, and the girl was gratified to see the quiet manner in which he set about a task which seemed an imposition upon his half-regained strength. But the very motive which, seemingly, prevented him from protesting, impelled her to speak for him.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Premium on Total Abstinence.

A prominent manufacturer of West phalia, Germany, has offered to pay ten marks ($2.50) to any one of his employes who has joined a total abstinence society, with extra and larger reward for those who maintain their membership for definite periods of time.

The Exceptional Equipment

of the California Fig Syrup Co. and the scientific attainments of its chemists have rendered possible the production of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, in all of its excellence, by obtaining the pure medicinal principles of plants known to act most beneficially and combining them most skillfully, in the right proportions, with its wholesome and refreshing Syrup of California Figs.

As there is only one genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna and as the genuine is manufactured by an original method known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only, it is always necessary to buy the genuine to get its beneficial effects.

A knowledge of the above facts enables one to decline imitations or to return them if, upon viewing the package, the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. is not found printed on the front thereof.

WORK OF A BUDDING GENIUS

Couplet That Lacked Something of the Divine Fire, But Strikingly Original.

The ten-year-old daughter of an artist believes that she is destined to fill a great place in literature, and all her spare moments are devoted to writing poetry about every conceivable subject, according to the San Francisco Wasp. Recently she attended her first church wedding, and so filled with inspiration was she that she immediately began to write a poem descriptive of the event. A few days afterward, when her mother was entertaining friends, the youthful prodigy asked permission to read her poem before the guests. Her mother bumored her with not a little secret pride. Stanza by stanza the poem progressed until the young lady reached the point where the description of the bridesmaids was set forth. There one of her couplets read thus:

Some had pug noses and some had Roman,
And each wore a blue ribbon about her abdomen.

"Julius Caesar" Sent to Bed.

At the British Authors' club banquet in bis bonor, Lieut. Shackleton told an amusing story of a man who went home one night after dinner and took with him four or five others.

"Come in, boys," he said, "and have a last drink."

"But your wife might not like it," one of the party replied.

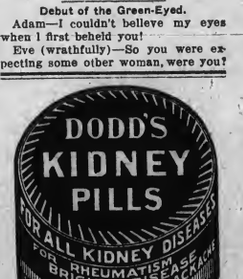
"My wife!" was the answer; "I am Julius Caesar in my house."

On entering they were received by the lady of the house with the words: "Oh, walk in, gentlemen; there is plenty of drink in the dining room. As for Julius Caesar, he is going to bed."

Purchasing Power.

A young gentleman of our acquaintance, who had just reached the age of six, was recently waiting with his mother for a train at a railway station, when he noticed a penny-in-the-slot weighing machine. He asked his mother a great many questions about it, and at last received permission to drop in his penny and be weighed. Having obtained that important information, he said: "How much would I have weighed, mamma, if I had dropped in a dollar?"

Dr. S. F. Spohn, President of the Spohn Medical Co., proprietors of Spohn's Distemper Cure, was recently elected mayor of Goshen, Ind., by a good majority. Mr. Spohn was for a number of years County Supt. of Schools, making such a record that his neighbours and friends, regardless of political lines, insisted on his accepting the nomination for mayor.



He Knew the Reason.

"I can say one thing in favor of Mr. Featherly," remarked Mrs. Hendricks, the landlady; "he never takes the last piece of bread on the plate." "No, indeed, Mrs. Hendricks," assented Dumley, cordially, "Featherly ain't quick enough."—Bazar.

Debut of the Green-Eyed.

Adam—I couldn't believe my eyes when I first beheld you!

Eve (wrathfully)—So you were expecting some other woman, were you?

TAKE A DOSE OF

PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

It will instantly relieve that racking cough. Taken promptly it will often prevent Asthma, Bronchitis and serious throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed safe and very palatable.

All Druggists, 25 cents.

USEFUL HINTS AND INFORMATION

Eat Pineapples for indigestion.—Mrs. B.

Avoid overexertion and take some good Treatment. There are a number of Treatments for Female Diseases and Piles, but the best one we have ever heard of is CURE-ETTO, prepared by the Home Treatment Association, 223 E. Md. St., Indianapolis, Ind. The Association will send a $1 course of Treatment Free to any reader of this paper mailing 20c to help pay cost of mailing.—Mrs. L.

Sage Tea is a splendid Hair Tonic. —L. B. W.

CHEAP COALS.

Smythe—Do you pay much for your coal?

Jones—Not a cent. I live near the railway line, and get my son to make grimaces at the engineers of all the trains as they pass.

TORE HIS SKIN OFF

In Shreds—Itching Was Intense—Sleep Was Often Impossible.

Cured by Cuticura in Three Weeks.

"At first an eruption of small pustules commenced on my hands. These spread later to other parts of my body, and the itching at times was intense, so much so that I literally tore the skin off in shreds in seeking relief. The awful itching interfered with my work considerably, and also kept me awake nights. I tried several doctors and used a number of different ointments and lotions but received practically no benefit. Finally I settled down to the use of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills, with the result that in a few days all itching had ceased and in about three weeks' time all traces of my eruption had disappeared. I have had no trouble of this kind since. H. A. Krutskoff, 5714 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., November 18 and 28, 1907."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Boy's Essay on Clothing.

Here is an extract from an essay, written by a boy in a London school: "Clothing is an article which everybody should wear. The least of this article is worn by savages or natives, which is a piece of cloth or a few leaves or feathers round the waist. In cold countries, same as Eskimos, the people wear more clothes than we do, count of the icy cold out there. They can skate all the year round, except about one thaw there is in summer. If they walked about like natives they would catch cold directly and die of bronkitis. We put clothes on which are nearly like our bodies, some have caps, coats and trousers, but women and girls wear hats and frocks to tell who they are."

Special Note from Atchison.

The engagement of Mr. Hiram Hardesty and Miss Suzette Snarley is announced. It occurred the other evening at 9:45 on the red sofa in Miss Snarley's parlor. The young lady was dressed in black, and wore no ornaments. She did not look unusually pretty, and what caused the young man's mental aberration is not known. Neither one could remember exactly what was said, and both admitted it was not the first time he kissed her. We print the details for the romantic young things who are always curious to know how an engagement is brought about.—Atchison Globe.

Hypnotism Long Recognized.

Hypnotism has been recognized by the medical profession since the fifteenth century and in the last 100 years has been experimented and tested out in thousands of cases by such savants as Charcot in Paris and Bernheim in Nancy, yet with all these years of trial its results have not justified its practical and general use in sickness.—New York Press.

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

A Domestic Arrangement.

"Bluster and his wife seem to get along very well together."

"That's because they have set aside one day in the week to do all their fighting. On the other days they keep the peace."

Resinol Ointment That Can Be Found.

I have used Resinol Ointment now for two years and shall never give it up. I wouldn't be without it, being the best healing ointment I have found yet. John B. Dain, London, Eng.

The Sad and Splendid.

Solomon was in despair.

"My wives gave me 700 samples to match on my way down town this morning," he cried.

Herewith he became color blind.

It really makes little difference whether the earth is flat or round so long as we can make both ends meet.

WHEN YOUR JOINTS ARE STIFF and muscles sore from cold, rheumatism or general pain, when you slip, strain or bruise yourself use Perry Davis' Painkiller. The home remedy 70 years.

A wise man suppresses fully two thirds of his opinions.

The Tither's Advantage

Tithing Is Convenient.

To many earnest advocates of tithing it may seem a bit of sacrilege to put forward such an argument as a reason for a Christian man's adopting the tithe rule. It is their habit to argue simply that it is God's will, and that should settle it.

Yet in his very interesting article in the Interior, Mr. Thomas Kane, who is the best-known champion of tithing among the American churches and whom certainly no one else excels in constancy and consistency of devotion to the principle as a law of God, says it was as a matter of convenience that he began the practice himself. Appreciation of its convenience was the start from which he went on to accept it as an obligation.

It is no denial or discount of the fact of God's will in any right act or practice of men to say that the act or practice fits in with other right elements of life and so makes life the easier to live and the better worth living.

For that is simply saying that God's universe is all tuned alike to the keynote of his will, and whatever is right and according to his will anywhere makes harmony as far as it reaches.

So it is really not a cheap thing but a profound thing—a great testimony to the rightness of it—to argue that tithing helps a man to solve a troublesome puzzle of life more simply and conveniently than it can ever be settled otherwise.

Definite Rule a Benefit.

That puzzle is one which increases as the causes of worthy benevolence multiply in the church and in the world of good will. Every day a man who has not adopted a definite rule of benevolence is obliged to take up anew the question whether he can "afford" to aid such and such a cause.

To be honest with each call that comes to him, he has to bring to the surface every time the fundamental question of what proportion of his means he ought to send out into the big world to do good, and what proportion it is his duty to keep in hand for the discharge of obligations private to himself and his family.

To go through that question conscientiously every time an appeal reaches him for church, missions or charity, must be terribly wearing to any man who has even the dimmest notion of duty wrapped up in his benevolences.

But he can save all the wear and tear if he will. Just let him settle the problem by one sweeping decision. Let him set a proportion of his income which shall regularly go out to these broader uses.

That is to say, let him become a systematic, determined tither—fixing naturally his proportion of benevolent funds according to Biblical precedent not lower than one-tenth.

Demands of Duty Decided.

Then his puzzle is over as far as deciding the demands of duty in giving and keeping. What remains is simply the task of a distributing administrator—determining the relative claims of approved benevolences on the total fund available in his hands.

Occasionally, to be sure, there will come the sweep of some great emergency which will overleap his system—as every good system should be subject to emergency modification. And of course, when a man's income increases without corresponding charges against it, he ought to consider the increase of his ten per cent. ratio. But for the ordinary daily run of life the tither has a bedrock adjustment of the right relation between generosity and thrift, and he can live on it with easy conscience.

By adopting the rule of the tithe, a man is defended also from degeneration of his character into selfishness and stinginess.

It is almost ludicrous but altogether pathetic to see how much pains men spend in dodging the peril of hearing about human needs that might require money. They are mortally afraid that in an unguarded moment some adroit solicitor by tearful appeal will get them to give something they "can't afford."

Now the pity of it is not that this or that benevolence fails to get money which it ought to have—the solicitor probably can obtain it from some other giver—but the pity is that the man who shuts himself up in such a fashion shuts more than his purse; he shuts his heart.

Lose Touch with Humanity.

Men who, because they have no systematic rule of benevolence, must guard themselves from doing too much, on that very account never hear—for they dare not listen—what fine things men are doing for men in the world; what heart-touching wants other men suffer which a little money would supply. And the consequence is that one by one they lose all the links of connection which tie them up close with human kind. They get to living wholly inside themselves.

And especially they always have to watch against getting interested in big causes. Thus, for instance, they carefully avoid mission sermons. If they once got caught with the mission idea, there is no telling where it might lead them.

And that is the way the hardhists are produced. They are just the cowards of humanity who are scared at what it might cost to live in real hearty, broad sympathy with their fellow men.

But the tither isn't frightened; he has already determined to go to the limit of his conscientious duty, and the more he can find out about the good deeds that are being done in the world for the sake of the mercy of Jesus Christ, the better he will be able to dispense wisely that portion of his income which is set aside to be thus dispensed.

Promotes Unselfishness.

At the worst, the tither can't be totally selfish. He has built a dike in his life fully able to turn the biggest wave of selfishness that ever flowed in out of the cold seas of ignorance. One-tenth of him at least is going to be saved from this debasement.

But the still better and finer thing in the tither's life is that just because he is open to study and learn more and more about his fellow men and their benevolent impulses, the generous area in him is continually expanding.

And that is the reason why such a proportion of tithers, after they get along a way with the experience of the system, want to increase the ratio and end by making their "tithe" considerably more than a tenth.

But come to think of it, maybe it's not discreet to set that down among arguments for tithing—this observation that the habit grows on one. It might give a new fright to the timid. —From The Interior.

The Gethsemane of Life.

For every one of us, sooner or later, the Gethsemane of life must come. It may be the Gethsemane of struggle and poverty and care; it may be the Gethsemane of long and weary sickness; it may be the Gethsemane of farewells that wring the heart by the deathbeds of those we love; it may be the Gethsemane of remorse and wellnigh despair for sins that we cannot overcome. Yet, in that Gethsemane —aye, even in that Gethsemane of sin —no angel merely, but Christ himself, who bore the burden of our sins, will, if we seek him, come to comfort us. He will, if, being in agony, we pray, He can be touched. He is touched with the feeling of our infirmities. He, too, has trodden the winepress of agony alone; he, too, has lain downcast in the night upon the ground and the comfort which then came to him he has bequeathed to us—even the comfort, the help, the peace, the recovery, the light of hope, the faith, the sustaining arm, the healing anodyne of prayer.—Dean Farrar.

The Grateful Heart.

Blessings beyond what can be counted are enjoyed by the children of men. Every breath is adding to their number, both as regards the body and the soul, and yet, as if we had a title to them all and more, we seize upon the gift, and forget to praise the Giver. As when the ten lepers were cleansed, only one returned to thank his Deliverer, few are ready now with thanksgiving for the mercies which they enjoy in such ample abundance.

It cannot be doubted that the religion of Jesus is designed to make us happy. The very God of peace would thereby diffuse a portion of the joy of heaven through man's heart upon earth. And how can that be better promoted than by cherishing the spirit of praise—by recognizing God's goodness in every gift, and thanking him for it by acknowledging our own unworthiness, and the Lord's loving kindness! When life on earth is thus a hymn, existence in heaven will be one long hosanna.—W. K. Tweedle.

God's Love for Us.

If ever human love was tender, and self-sacrificing, and devoted; if ever it could bear and forbear; if ever it could suffer gladly for its loved ones; if ever it was willing to lavish itself for the comfort or pleasure of its objects; then infinitely more is Divine love tender, and self-sacrificing and devoted, and glad to bear and forbear, and to suffer, and to lavish its best blessings upon the objects of its love. Put together all the tenderest love you know, of the deepest you have ever felt, and the strongest that has ever been poured out upon you, and heap upon it all the love of all the loving hearts in the world, and then multiply it by infinity, and you will begin, perhaps, to have some faint glimpse of what the love of God is.

The Divine Will.

It is sometimes a small matter that hindereth and hideth grace from us, at least if anything can be called small, and not rather a weighty matter, which obstructeth so great a good. And if thou remove this, be it great or small, and perfectly overcome it, thou wilt have thy desire. For immediately, as soon as thou givest thyself to God from thy whole heart, and steekest neither this nor that, according to thine own pleasure or will, but settlest thyself wholly in him, thou shalt find thyself united and at peace, for nothing can afford so sweet a relish, nothing be so delightful, as the good pleasure of the Divine will.—Thomas a Kempis.

Encompassed by Salvation.

Are you a disciple of the Lord Jesus? If so, he says to you, "I am with you alway." That overflows all the regrets of the past and all the possibilities of the future, and most certainly includes the present. Therefore, at this very moment, as surely as your eyes rest on this page, so surely is the Lord Jesus with you. "I am" is neither "I was" nor "I will be." It is always abreast of our lives, always encompassing us with salvation. It is splendid, perpetual "now." —Frances Ridley Havergal.

From the horny hand of toil comes the richest harvest of content.—W. Stewart Royston.

LOST REGISTERED LETTERS FOUND IN QUEER PLACE

Missed From a Mangled Mail Bag, They are Recovered From Car Trucks.

It does not always follow that the disappearance of registered mail packages indicate a robbery of the mail. This was demonstrated on The Overland Limited train No. 2 Friday, November 5th, when a package of five registered letters from Schuyler disappeared between that point and Omaha.

The recovery of the lost package was as strange as its disappearance. The Schuyler pouch is picked up from a crane by means of a pouch catcher as the train passes. This pouch catcher is attached to the mail car and hooks onto the pouch suspended from the crane as the train passes. In this particular instance the pouch catcher did not make a good catch and the pouch fell under the wheels of the train and was cut in two. The mail was scattered along the track for a considerable distance, but the five registered letters, which were in a packet, could not be found when the other mail was picked up. The impression at once prevailed that the registered package had been found and kept by some one and it was reported as lost.

Postoffice Inspector L. A. Thompson was started out to investigate. His first visit was to Council Bluffs to make inquiries of the postal clerks on the car, and scarcely had he reached there when he received word that the registered package had been found by the car cleaner resting snugly on the trucks under the dining car, where it had been blown or thrown when the mail pouch was flung under the wheels at Schuyler.

That the package was not injured in the slightest, nor jarred from its position on the trucks, is simply another tribute to the Union Pacific's unsurpassed roadbed and perfect track.

The Cost of Politics.

In his reminiscences of Grover Cleveland, George F. Parker tells a story concerning prodigal expenditures in politics. A rich man who had been nibbling at the Democratic nomination for governor of New York asked William C. Whitney's advice. This is the advice: "Of course, you ought to run! Make your preliminary canvass, and when you have put in $200,000 you will have become so much interested in it that you will feel like going ahead and spending some money."

The Fez a Necessity.

All through the markets of every Turkish city and village are little shops where the fez can be pressed and ironed for a few cents. At his prayers a Moslem could not use a hat with a brim, as his head must press the prayer rug a certain number of times during each prayer. As the head must be covered at all times, a fez or some other brimless covering must be used.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Prescriptions Not General.

Some people look on a doctor's prescription in the same light as a cookery recipe and pass it on to their friends for general use. They forget that some symptoms may come from totally different causes and that to take a medicine prescribed for a friend is a very risky thing to do and may do a great deal of harm.

The next time you have a cold on the lungs try rubbing Wizard Oil on your chest and see how quickly it will draw out the inflammation and break up the cold.

A man may be as brilliant, as clever, as strong and as broad as you please, but, with all this, if he is not good he may be a paltry fellow.—J. S. Blackie.

EGGS, EGGS, More Eggs! I get twice as many eggs winter and summer since I discovered a new method how, and what will make hens lay more eggs. It's free. Write Mrs. L. Alley, New Madrid, Mo.

In the opinion of the beauty doctor many a homely woman has a fine face for business.

WHEN YOU'RE AS HOARSE as a crow, When you're coughing and gasping, When you've an old-fashioned deep-seated cold, take Allen's Lung Balsam. Sold by all druggists, 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles.

The season is here when many a family man would like to swap his big automobile for a small coal yard.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

The worm may turn, but the grindstone has to be turned.

THE BOY AND HIS AUNT.

Little Nephew—Auntie, did you marry an Indian?

Aunt—Why do you ask such a silly question, Freddy?

Little Nephew—Well, I saw some scalps on your dressing table.

Foreign Trade of United States.

Great Britain buys more goods from the United States than from any other three principal countries in the world —$620,000,000 worth in 1908; $10,000,000 more than from France, Germany and Holland combined, according to the July report of the department of trade and commerce of Canada.

The less a man knows about women the more he thinks he knows.

The finest assortment of table china in

Quaker Oats

Family Size Packages 15

Readers of this paper desiring to buy anything advertised in its columns should insist upon having what they ask for, refusing all substitutes or imitations.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

Instantly relieve Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Coughs. Unexcelled for clearing the voice. Absolutely free from opiates or anything harmful. Price, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00 per box. Sample sent on request.

JOHN I. BROWN & SON, Boston, Mass.

DEFIANCE STARCH for starching finest linens

WESTERN CANADA

Senator Dolliver, of Iowa, says:

"The stream of emigrants from the United States to Canada will continue."

Senator Dolliver recently paid a visit to Western Canada, and says: "There is a land hunger in the hearts of English speaking people; this will account for the removal of so many Iowa farmers to Canada, but people are pleased with the Government and the excellent administration of law, and they are coming to you in tens of thousands, and they are still coming."

Iowa contributed largely to the 70,000 American farmers who made Canada their home during 1909. Field crop returns alone during year added to the wealth of the country upwards of

$170,000,000.00

Grain growing, mixed farming, cattle raising and dairying are all profitable. Free Homesteads of 160 acres are to be had in the very best districts; 160 acre pre-emptions at $3.00 per acre within certain areas. Schools and churches in every settlement, climate unsurpassed, soil the richest, wood, water and building material plentiful.

For particulars as to location, low settlers' railway rates and descriptive illustrated pamphlet, "Last Best West," and other information, write to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or to Canadian Government Agent.

H. M. WILLIAMS
Law Building Toledo, Ohio
(Use address nearest you.) (3)

CRUISE TO THE ORIENT

"CINCINNATI"

21st Annual Cruise Leaves New York January 29, 1910

80 days $325 up

An Ideal Trip under most Perfect Conditions
Also cruises to the West Indies and South America
HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE
41-45 Broadway, New York
P. O. Box 1767

DYSPEPSIA

"Having taken your wonderful 'Cascarets' for three months and being entirely cured of stomach catarrh and dyspepsia, I think a word of praise is due to 'Cascarets' for their wonderful composition. I have taken numerous other so-called remedies but without avail, and I find that Cascarets relieve more in a day than all the others I have taken would in a year."

James McGune,
108 Mercer St., Jersey City, N. J.

Pleasant. Palatable. Potent. Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped C C C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back. 919

KNOWN SINCE 1836 AS RELIABLE
PLANTEN'S TRADE MARK
C & C OR BLACK CAPSULES
SUPERIOR REMEDY FOR URINARY DISCHARGES
DRUGGISTS OR BY MAIL ON RECEIPT OF 50c
H. PLANTEN & SON, 93 HENRY ST. BROOKLYN, N.Y.

DYOLA DYES

If fast, beautiful colors, 10c per package at dealers. If not in stock, send us 10c stating color desired.

ONE DYE FOR ALL GOODS

Color card and book of directions free by writing Dy-o-la, Burlington, Vermont.

DYOLA DYES

1,000,000 RAW FUR SKINS WANTED

for my manufacturing and exporting trade. Skunk, Mink, Muskrat and others. Top prices. Write for special quotations.

A. E. BURKHARDT
Manufacturer of Fur Garments
CINCINNATI, O.

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Key Checks, etc. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. Agents wanted. Get catalog. The James Murdock Co.

PATENTS FRANKLIN H. HOUGH, Washington, D. C. No attorney's fees until patent is obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 49—1909.

COLT DISTEMPER

Can be handled very easily. The sick are cured, and all others in same stable, no matter how "exposed," kept from having the disease, by using SPOHN'S LIQUID DISTEMPER CURE. Given on the tongue, or in feed. Acts on the blood and expels germs of all forms of distemper. Best remedy ever known for pneumonia. One bottle guaranteed to cure one case. 50 cts. $1 a bottle; $5 and $10 dozen of druggists and horse dealers, or sent express paid by manufacturers. Cut shows how to poultice throat. Our free Booklet gives everything. A special agent wanted. Largest selling horse remedy in existence—twelve years.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Chemists and Bacteriologists, Goshen, Ind., U. S. A.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.00 $3.50 & $4.00 SHOES

THE LARGEST MANUFACTURER OF MEN'S FINE SHOES IN THE WORLD

Wear W. L. Douglas shoes. They are made upon honor, of the best leathers, by the most skilled workmen, in all the latest fashions. Shoes in every style and shape to suit men in all walks of life.

If I could take you into my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer and are of greater value than any other make.

CAUTION.—See that W. L. Douglas name and the retail price is stamped on the bottom. Take No Substitute.

BOYS' SHOES $2.00 & $2.50

Wherever you live, W. L. Douglas shoes are within your reach. If your dealer cannot fit you, write for Mail Order Catalog. W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois.

5¢ BLOCK BROS. VIRGINIA MAT CUT TOBACCO

COUPON IN EACH PACKAGE

CHEW AND SMOKE

MAIL POUCH TOBACCO

STANDARD FOR OVER 30 YEARS

Kentucky produces about one-third of the tobacco in this country, and about one-ninth of the entire crop of the world.

Grant county has about five hundred miles of turnpike roads, most of which are in bad condition, the road tax not being sufficient to sustain them.

According to the advertisements of some of Falmouth's merchants Christmas will come about two weeks later in Pendleton county, this year, than it does in this section.

The information comes from Covington that Walker C. Hall, a well-known attorney and Democratic politician of that city, is an aspirant for Congressional honors in this district.

Congress will convene next Monday, when your Uncle Joe Cannon will be in his glory again, and will take pleasure in going after the members who have been "telling tales out of school."

Judge J. W. Cammack has called a special term of the Grant Circuit Court to begin on the first Monday in December, to try the case of Earl Thompson, the negro charged with criminally assaulting Mrs. Ransom Roberts on the third inst., near Dry Ridge.

The Carroll County Board of Control of the Burley Tobacco and Insurance Co. was in session Monday. The principal business transacted was the report of committees that they had leased barns that could take care of over 3,000,000 pounds of pooled tobacco.—Carrollton News.

The Grant county board of health and some of the local members of the medical profession are conducting a hot discussion in the Grant County News as to whether or not certain persons in that county have had smallpox. The board of health takes the affirmative of the proposition.

A bill to substitute the electric chair for the gallows in Kentucky and providing that all executions shall take place in the State Prison at Frankfort, instead of the county jails, has been drawn by Jailer-elect John R. Pflanz, of Louisville, and will be introduced at the next session of the Legislature by State Senator Herman D. Newcomb, of Louisville. Jailer Pflanz will also father another bill giving "time off" for good behavior to prisoners in county jails.

The next session of the Kentucky General Assembly, which will convene in the new Capitol at Frankfort the first week in January, will be mainly conspicious by the small number of Republicans who will assist in making up the body. Complete returns from every one of the 138 senatorial and legislative districts show that the Democrats will have 60 majority on joint ballot. The political division in each branch is as follows:

Democrats--Senate, 26; House, 73; total 90.

Republicans--Senate 12; House, 27; total 39.

At the recent election the Democrats were successful in each of the nineteen holdover districts, which will give them a decided advantage in the session of 1912, as at the election of 1911 the Democrats will only have to elect one Senator out of the nineteen to be chosen, at that time to control the upper branch of the 1912 session, when a United States Senator to succeed Thomas H. Paynter will be elected.

State Superintendent of Public Instructions, J. G. Crabbe, has recently received from Attorney General James Breathitt an opinion construing the school law on several important points relating to the establishment of county high schools.

The Attorney General says that it lies entirely within the discretion of the county board of education whether or not arrangements are made with a city high school or graded school for the establishment of a county high school. If a contract is entered into for the establishment of a county high school, both parties are necessarily bound to carry it out. The law compels, however, THAT THE FIRST HIGH SCHOOL must be in the county seat.

In regard to the amount of indebtedness the county board may assume for the establishment of a county high school, the Attorney General says it shall not be an amount in excess of the income and revenue for that one year.

In a few days over a month the Kentucky General Assembly will convene in the new capitol at Frankfort, and the session that will follow will have before it many important propositions, among them numerous amendments to the new school law, which has hardly been in force long enough to develop its most objectionable features, although many will be attacked by the representatives as belonging to that category. The present law is liable to be considerably patched by the time it gets through with the next legislature grind, but it is evident that nothing will be done that will reduce the tax which the law as it now stands imposes.

An effort will be made to give the revenue laws a general revision, and the probability is the taxpayer will not know where he "is at" as regards taxes, when the next session of the legislature adjourns. The session will be one in which the conservative legislator will have a great opportunity to serve his constituents in a substantial manner.

The County Board of Education will meet in Burlington next Monday County Court day.

D. M. Snyder, Co. Supt.

Good Things are Coming for You

Florida Oranges, doz....15 & 20c	Shelled Pecans, lb.....60c	Can Green Tiny Lima Beans—elegant.....15c
Florida Grapefruit, each..5 & 8c (never so cheap before)	Shelled California Walnuts, pound.....40c	Can Garden Sugar Beets—fine.....10c
Cranberries, 3 qts.....25c	Shelled Valencia Almonds, pound.....50c	Can Pork and Peas.....15c
Malaga Grapes, lb.....15c	Shelled Jordan Almonds, lb..60c	Can Sweet Potat.....10c
Dates, 3 pounds.....25c	Loose Muscatel Raisins, lb..8½c	Can Sweet Potatoe—mistletoe brand.....15c
Figs, Sweet Smyrna Figs, lb.12½c	Seeded Raisins, lb.....10c	Two for.....25c
Mixed Nuts—Best quality, our own mixing, lb.....17c	Three pounds for.....25c	Cavalier Peas 10c, 3 cans....25c
Three pounds.....50c	Cleaned Currants, lb.....10c	Shoepeg Corn, 10c, 3 cans....25c
California Soft Shell Walnuts, lb. 18c, two lbs.....35c	Citron—best quality, lb.....20c	Carquinez Brand California Peaches, Pears and Apricots, can.....20c
Jumbo Pecans—the sweet kind pound.....18c	Orange & Lemon Peel, lb....20c	Spanish Peppers, can.....12c
Terragona Almonds, lb.....18c	Peaches, pound.....10c	Pure Cream Tartar Baking Powder, lb.....30c
Sicily Filberts, lb.....15c	Three pound.....25c	Golden Blend Coffee, lb.....20c
Large Brazils or Cream Nuts, pound.....12½c	Prunes, pound.....10c	Moneyworth Coffee, lb.....17c
Peanuts, quart.....05c	Three pounds.....25c	Three pounds.....50c
	Apricots, pound.....15c	CAPITOL FLOUR—
	Dry Apples, pound.....08c
	Honey, pound.....10c

Geo. C. Goode, Agent

Pike and Washington Streets,

Covington, - Kentucky.

Personal Mention.

B. B. Hume and Jake Craig Sundayed down on Mud Lick creek.

Joseph Graves, of Erlanger, was in Burlington a few hours last Friday.

B. W. Adams returned the first of last week from a trip to Bovinia Texas.

Robert Aylor, of Hebron, was transacting business in Burlington, Saturday.

Miss Maud Hume spent several days the past week with friends in Walton.

Dudley Blyth and wife spent Sunday with the "old folks" in Petersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burres visited relatives in Limaburg neighborhood, last Sunday.

Clarence Norman, of Gunpowder, was looking after business in Burlington, last Friday.

T. A. Huey, of Union neighborhood, was an early visitor to Burlington, last Saturday.

C. C. Hughes, who is on duty in the revenue service in Covington, spent Sunday at home.

Leonard Kite and wife, of Waterloo, and L. T. Clore, were Sunday guests at R. S. Cowen's.

Harve Smith the leading lady's man in Belleview, was a caller at this office, last Monday.

J. C. Hume and wife, of Verona, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Case, one day last week.

Miss Laura Porter and Garnett Tolin returned Monday afternoon to their school at Danville.

Misses Maud Hume and Laura Frances Riddell ate Thanksgiving turkey with friends in Walton.

Miss Olga Kirkpatrick was a Thanksgiving guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walton, of Petersburg.

Thos. Bradford, of Grange Hall neighborhood, was among the visitors to Burlington, last Saturday.

C. L. Tanner and wife, of Richwood, were guests of Frank Rouse and wife, last Saturday and Sunday.

Circuit Clerk James A. Duncan spent last Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. V. W. Gaines, of Bullittsburg.

E. H. Clore and Ewing Flick, of Bellevue, were among those transacting business in Burlington, Monday.

J. H. Aylor, and G. W. Baker, of Limaburg, came in and swapped a few jokes with the office force, Monday.

Garnett Tolin came home from Danville, last Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving holiday period with home folks.

Clarence Tanner, of Richwood, and Charles Goodridge, of Hebron were among the callers at this office, last Saturday.

Masters Harold and Virgil Gaines spent the Thanksgiving vacation at their uncle W. Lee Gaines' near Walton.

James H. Aylor, of Riddell's Run, and his son, Ezra, of Petersburg, were transacting business in the county seat, last Saturday.

Jasper Sullivan, a popular citizen of Waterloo neighborhood, was among the rural visitors to the county seat, last Saturday.

Rev. H. B. Hensley, pastor of Bellevlew Baptist church, was a pleasant caller at this office a few minutes last Friday afternoon.

Joseph Weaver, of Union, and Benjamin and William Eggleston, of Francesville, were among the callers at this office last Monday.

Miss Sadie Crisler, who is teaching at Union, spent the Thanksgiving vacation in Burlington with her parents, R. S. Crisler and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Curley, of Walton, announce the marriage of their daughter, Pauline Alice, to Dr. Ben W. Stallard, December 8th, 1909.

William Davrainville and wife, of Newport, were guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Susan Kirkpatrick several days the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Case and daughter, and his sister, Mrs. Collins, of Crittenden, were guests of Mrs. Joel K. Corbin, of Erlanger, last Sunday.

William Bondurant and Ezekiel Rice, of Locust Grove neighborhood, were among those transacting business in Burlington, last Saturday.

Thomas Rice and wife entertained Hubert Clore and wife, Everett Clore and wife, Kirb Clore, and wife, and Perry Presser and wife, last Sunday.

Mrs. Hubert Beemon, of Limaburg, was in Burlington, last Saturday, selling nice sausage and head cheese, for the making of which she has a fine reputation.

David Williamson, of Waterloo, and Richard Stephens, of Rabbit Hash, were among those out of town, who were transacting business in Burlington, last Friday.

Hubert Ryle, of Carlton precinct, stopped in while in town, last Saturday, to make the printers glad. Mr. Ryle reported everything in his neighborhood, in excellent condition.

Miss Laura Porter, who is attending school at Danville, came home last Wednesday and remained over until Monday, that time being the Thanksgiving holiday.

Mrs. R. B. Huey and son, Howard, and daughter, Estelle, formerly members of Belleview Baptist church, deposited their letters with Burlington Baptist church, last Sunday.

Mrs. Mollye Dan Pitman announces the engagement of her daughter, Marguerite Hope, to Mr. Eph O. Norman. The wedding will take place late in December.—London (Ky.) Democrat.

H. G. Blanton, of Erlanger, spent a few days the past week the guest of Earl Walton, of Petersburg. They made considerable trouble with the birds and rabbits down there during his stay.

Thomas Hensley and wife, of Cleves, Ohio, spent several days last week with friends in Plattsburg neighborhood. Mr. Hensley accompanied by Lewis Jarrell, was a caller at this office, last Saturday.

J. A. Stephenson, one of the Recorder's loyal supporters in the Verona precinct, made this office a brief call, last Monday. Mr. Stephenson is one of the hustlers in his part of the county.

Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Peddicord entertained the doctor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Peddicord, of Bracken county, and his cousin, C. S. Houston and wife, of Camden, Ohio, several days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Renaker and daughter, Mary Susan, of Dry Ridge, Grant county, were guests of Cashier A. B. Renaker and wife, several days last week. Mr. Renaker was afield with the local sportsmen a day or two.

Capt. H. B. Fenton and five sons: T. F. Fenton, wife and son; H. B. Fenton, jr., and wife; Wm. Fenton, Sidney Fenton, and Robert Fenton, of Newport, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. Fenton's daughter Mrs. Edgar Berkshire, out on the Belleview pike.

Miss Ada McAtee and Mr. Joel Ward, of Ludlow; Miss Alice Carver, of Burlington, and Mr. Elbert Clore, of Bellevue, were entertained, Sunday, by Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Conner, who played the part of host and hostess in a very efficient manner.

James White, the Flickertown correspondent, was a caller at this office, last Saturday afternoon. He says there are lots of nice fish in the creek, but people are too busy to go after them, as the farm work is engaging their attention in an effort to get thru with it before bad weather comes to stay.

Johnnie Hogan and wife, of Hebron neighborhood, were guests of O. P. Phipps and wife, last Sunday afternoon. Mr. Hogan has bought considerable unpooled tobacco, this fall, a very large portion of which he delivered loose to a Covington firm. He has many thousand pounds yet to receive, and has begun prizing. He has made arrangements to handle tobacco at what is known as the Hiram Long barn on the Burlington and Florence pike, near Hopeful church. Mr. Hogan has been handling tobacco for many years, and besides being one of the best buyers in the county he is regarded an excellent judge of the weed.

—0—0—0—

Alone in Saw Mill at Night

unmindful of dampness, drafts, storms or cold, W. J. Atkins worked as Night Watchman at Banner Springs Tenn. Such exposure gave him a severe cold that settled on his lungs. At last he had to give up work. He tried many remedies but all failed till he used Dr. King's New Discovery, 'After using a bottle" he writes, "I went back to work as well as ever." Severe Colds stubborn Coughs get quick relief and prompt cure from this glorious medicine. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free, guaranteed by Bemler's Drug Store, Erlanger.

—0—0—0—

Lost—On pike between Burlington and Florence, a lap robe. Finder will please return to O. P. Phipps, Burlington.

—0—0—0—

A. J. Brodie, buyer for the American Tobacco Company has purchased over a million and half pounds of tobacco this season, the prices ranging from 12 to 15 cents. The American has been shipping twenty hogsheads a day for the past two weeks.—Rising Sun Local.

The Family Physician

The best medicines in the world cannot take the place of the family physician. Consult him early when taken ill. If the trouble is with your throat, bronchial tubes, or lungs, ask him about taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Then take it or not, as he says.

We publish our formulas

Ayer's

We banish alcohol from our medicines

We urge you to consult your doctor

Bilious attacks, sick-headaches, indigestion, constipation, dizzy spells—these are some of the results of an inactive liver. Ask your doctor if he endorses Ayer's Pills in these cases. The dose is small, one pill at bedtime.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell to the highest bidder at the late residence of M. A. Conner, deceased. ¼ mile southeast of Hebron, Boone county, Ky.,

Saturday, Dec. 4, 1909,

the following property to wit:

4 tons Hay, 15 bus. Corn, 1 Melodeon, 1 Couch, 1 Bedstead and Mattress, 2 Featherbeds, 6 Pillows, lot of Quilts, Comforts, &c., 1 Cook Stove and utensils, lot of Dishes, 1 Heating Stove, 12-foot Extension Ladder, Sewing Machine, lot of Canned Fruit, Carpets, Chairs, 3 doz. Chickens and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS—All sums under $5.00, cash; on sums of $5.00 and over, a credit of six months will be given, purchaser to give note with approved security, payable at the Peoples Deposit Bank, Burlington, Ky.

O. C. HAFER, Admr.
J. B. Crigler. Auctioneer.

Sale to begin at 12:30 p. m.

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

THE EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,
WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.
CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.
Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

This Space Reserved for—
Watch, Wait & See.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon
HARNESS
OF ALL KINDS
Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at
PRICES REASONABLE.
Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.
Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

FINE DRIVING SNOW CANNOT PENETRATE
CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

THIS is only one of the advantages of these shingles.

They're fireproof, windproof, make the handsomest kind of a roof, and when they are once on they're there to stay, for "Cortright Metal Shingles" last as long at the building itself.

No trouble, no care; a coat of paint once every five years is all the attention they need.

Yes, they're cheap, quite cheap, considering their advantages, and we're sure you'll be more than satisfied with them from the minute you see them on your roof.

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

A DULL HEADACHE

is Nature's sounding the alarm that something is going wrong. Seventy-five per cent of headaches are caused by refractive errors that can be relieved by properly fitted glasses. We always make a thorough examination and give honest advice as to the condition and care of the eyes.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

M. L. Swetnam Clarence E. Swetnam Russell E. Swetnam

M. L. Swetnam & Sons,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
15 to 21 E. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.
Phone South 170. FREE AMBULANCE.

For Rent.

Tobacco farm of 63 acres of the best tobacco soil in this section, already cleared—will grow three crops. 25 acres pasture, 6 acres Alfalfa, some fine fruit; 1½ miles of Moores Hill, Ind. $300 per year for 3 years. Also a number of farms for sale. Call on or address

F. A. COLE,
Moores Hill, Ind.

10 Per Cent DISCOUNT SALE ON ALL Men's Suits and Overcoats 10 Per Cent

We do this in Order to Introduce you to the Newest, Largest and Best Clothing Store in the City.

NOW IT IS UP TO YOU

ROSENTHAL BROTHERS,

Big Store Building, RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Local Happenings.

Circuit court is close at hand.

Next Monday is county court day.

Last Thursday was splendid weather for a holiday.

Some are holding their turkeys for 20 cents a pound on foot.

Young wheat never looked better at this time of the year.

F. A. Cole, of Moores Hill, Ind., advertises in this issue a good tobacco farm for rent.

Never was there finer fall weather than this part of the country has enjoyed thus far.

It is hoped that the Nimrods will leave enough quails to produce a good crop next season.

A party of Rising Sun business men propose establishing a furniture factory in their town.

Not many turkeys were consumed in Burlington, last Thursday, as a Thanksgiving morsel.

Yesterday was the last day on which to pay taxes and escape the penalty, which was added yesterday.

The Hebron Vault Co. will hold a meeting at Hebron at 2 p. m. on the afternoon of Saturday, December 4th.

Some of the late planted corn has not dried out enough to be gathered and cribbed with out risk of its souring.

Quite a goodly number of the taxpayers in the county waltzed up to the captain's desk at the eleventh hour.

Rev. H. C. Wayman preached to two good sized congregations in Burlington last Sunday morning and evening.

Charlie Westbay's large persimmon tree has been a great resort for the past few weeks for the town juveniles.

It cost the Burlington and Belleview Turnpike Company about $40 a day to operate its stone crusher and spread the stone.

Persons having watches or clocks left for repairs at Clark's will please call for same before his sale next county court day.

Nearly every county in the State is expected to be represented at the Blue Grass Corn Show in Lexington on the 10th, 11th and 13th of this month.

The local hunters, in full uniform and thoroughly equipped, began showing up early Thursday morning, to raid the habitations of the quails and rabbits.

The graded school at Bellevue is now under way, much to the delight of the patrons, who are proud of their new school house and its furnishings.

The Editor enjoyed a turkey dinner last Thursday and he has not been in condition since that time to furnish copy for Typos and the news is a little shy this week.

Willis Clore, an old ex-confederate soldier, who resides with his son-in-law, Thos. Rouse, a mile northeast of town, has been very ill for several days. Mrs. Frank Kirkpatrick, of Covington, has been at the bedside of her sick father, for several days.

Cliff Hedges has a method of keeping fire in a stove over night by an application of ashes and water. He let Charlie Roberts in on the secret, a few nights since, but the plan did not present itself as a success on that occasion, a shower of ashes and a fog of steam resulting very much to the inconvenience of Mr. Roberts.

When the dust is on the counter and the cobweb's on the shelf, and there's no one in the store but your own disheartened self and your stock is getting shelfworn, and every thing looks stale, and bills enough are coming in to make a baker pale. Oh! then's the time a fellow is a feelin' kind o' blue, and is puzzled with the thought of the proper thing to do. In such a situation but one remedy applies If you want to get the customers, you've got to advertise.—Ex.

The First Colored Baptist church of Burlington, has been engaged in an intensely interesting revival meeting for a period of several days. The preacher, is from Newport, and has worked up much enthusiasm among the colored people, and large congregations greet him nightly. Several white persons have gone to hear the preaching and singing, the latter often being continued for a considerable time after the close of the sermon. The members of the church pronounce it the greatest meeting in the history of the local organization.

Will Get the City Next Time.

Cliff Hedges, one of this county's live-at horse traders, and Hugh Pate, a prominent citizen of Rising Sun, pulled off a trade a few days since that involved a span of fine coming two-year-old mules a pair of yearling colts, a set of good, heavy double harness for a wagon and a considerable sum of cash. Hedges got home with everything but the mules, and says the next time he makes a pass at Mr. Pate he expects to bring the town of Rising Sun home with him.

Killing Hogs.

Farmers began butchering hogs, last week, for the next year's meat, and there was some very fine weather for that class of work.

Intervals Short.

Christmas will be here again in a few weeks. Intervals between holidays seem to grow shorter, or holidays become more numerous than they use to be.

Banks Closed.

The two banks and the county clerk's office were closed, last Thursday, on account of Thanksgiving day. Other places of business kept open house.

Took a Day Off.

The rural mail carriers were off of duty, last Thursday. Uncle Sam does not think his rural wards needs mail matter on the day he sets apart for giving thanks.

Building a Faster Boat.

J. W. Whitlock, of Rising Sun, builder of the "Hoosier Boy," the gasoline boat that has beat every boat it has raced, is building one which will out run the "Hoosier Boy."

Doing Good Work.

Charles Garnett, overseer of roads in Kidville neighborhood, did some good work on his roads, last week. He believes in a free use of broken stone on the highway.

Bargains in Jewelry.

Your attention is called to the advertisement of Motch, the jeweler, of Covington. He has increased his space considerably, to tell of the bargains he has in jewelery.

A December Wedding.

The Recorder printed invitations, last week, for a December wedding in the southern part of the county, the contracting parties being two very prominent young people.

Drawing to a Close.

The end of the year is drawing near, and the merchants will need statements, bill heads, envelopes and note heads. Why not send your order to your county paper for that work.

A New Roof.

The Clutterbuck residence will be occupied shortly by J. H. Rogers and his sister, Miss Lizzie, who will assist him with his duties as county clerk when he takes possession of the office.

Crushed Stone.

A large quantity of crushed stone has been spread on the Burlington and Belleview turnpike in the last few weeks, and the road will be in fine condition when the new metal gets thoroughly bedded.

Thought to Have Rabies.

A strange dog appeared in Richwood neighborhood a few days since, and from its peculiar actions some think it was affected with rabies. It bit several dogs, which, at last accounts, had not been killed.

Send In Your Order.

This office has put in a new stock of wedding stationery, which will be furnished on short notice. Don't go elsewhere to get your wedding invitations and then expect the Recorder to give your wedding an extensive notice.

Stalled Engine.

When George Hewitt undertook to move the stone-crusher from the yard near Sam Hall's, last Wednesday, his engine could not pull it through the soft earth. It took considerable work to get the machine back on the pike.

Good Roads Amendment.

One of the strangest things shown by the returns from the election is the vote of the Good Roads Amendment to the Constitution. The most opposition shown to it was in counties and precincts where good roads are unknown.

Give Both Offices.

Subscribers to the Recorder, when requesting the address of their paper changed, should not fail to state from what postoffice the change is desired made. By doing so they will assist this office in many instances. Please bear this in mind.

Got What He Wanted.

Monday morning, while J. J. Payne was wishing for a bite of quail on toast, a flock of nice plump birds alighted on his lawn to enjoy the toothsome green grass. Mr. Payne reached for his shotgun which was ready for action and stepping out on his veranda succeeded in killing four birds. He followed the flock across the yard and bagged three more in a short time, getting seven birds from a flock of nine.—Warsaw Leader.

A New Machine.

Three weeks ago the Recorder installed a Typograph, a slug-casting type-setting machine, the only one in use in Kentucky. None of the attaches of the office ever saw a Typograph before it was uncrated, and it is a pleasure to state that the young man who is giving the machine his attention is progressing nicely in the matter of acquiring speed, and, ere long, will be able to set a column an hour of eight point type.

The Typograph has been installed at a considerable outlay, believing thereby the Recorder will be enabled to render its patrons much better service in the near future. This machine is only a unit in a series of improvements made in this office in the last two years at a cost in excess of the net earnings, but the people of Boone county are entitled to a first-class local paper, and it is to the end they may be served in the best manner possible that these improvements have been made, and the patrons are relied on to make the investment at least self-sustaining, while the publisher, who has never yet been disappointed by the people of the county, pledges himself to continue to give them the best paper it is possible to produce from the material at hand.

There are about five hundred people in this county, whose local pride has never prompted them to subscribe for their county paper, but, as the time has come when the character of a person's citizenship is estimated by the interest he manifests in his county institutions, it is hoped that at least a large per cent of them will become subscribers for their county paper, an institution that does more than anyother to bring the county's people and their interests to the front in the business and social world.

The Recorder requests each of its friends to induce some one or more of the nonsubscribers in his or her neighborhood to subscribe for which service it will allow ten per cent of the amount of the subscription as a commission. This commission applies to new subscribers only.

An Interesting Literary Meeting.

The Boone Literary Society held its semi-monthly meeting with Mrs. W. L. Riddell, last Friday night, President D. E. Castleman presiding, and the secretary, Miss Mary Roberts, keeping the minutes. Some important business was first attended to, among which was the appointment of a committee to prepare articles of incorporation for the society, President Castleman being the chairman of the committee. At the close of the business session an interesting literary program engaged the attention of the society, several interesting papers being read, the reading of which was interspersed with recitations, music, &c. Having concluded the literary program, the fun section of the meeting was introduced by Mrs. Kirb Tanner, who related an amusing incident that caused a hearty laugh to be indulged at the expense of Mrs. C. C. Hughes. Several other very amusing incidents were related, among them one by Mr. Charles Renaker, of Dry Ridge, Grant county, who, with his wife, was the evening's guest of the society. The scene of Mr. Renaker's joke was laid in Grant county, when that was wet territory. The joke section was followed by other interesting features, after which the society adjourned to hold its next meeting with Mrs. Dudley Rouse.

$1,800 Damages.

The Hughes liquor damage case tried at Madison, Ind., Nov. 1st, resulted in a verdict of $1,800 for the plaintiff, Luther Sutton, a ten year old boy residing in Kentucky, whose father was killed in a drunken row at Patriot, Ind., July 4, 1906, and suit was brought vs. William Hughes, who it is alleged sold the boy's father the liquor, he then being a saloon keeper in Patriot. The jury first stood four for defendant, and eight for plaintiff, and a compromise was effected by reducing the judgment from $2,000 to $1,800.—Vevay Democrat.

Knocked Out.

About a year ago County Judge I. T. Stanley and the Fiscal Court in Trimble county, raised the poll tax from $1.50 to $3.50 and increased property tax forty cents on the hundred dollars. Several farmers united and brought suit to have the increase knocked out. Circuit Judge Marshall decided the poll tax to be unconstitutional, but the increase on property tax stands good.

Got Gun Shy.

Albert Conner, one of the best and most successful hunters in this part of the county, was out with a considerable party, on Thanksgiving day, and the shooting was so furious that he became "gun-shy," and layed down in the grass to protect himself from the stray shots that filled the air afield. He is careful with his gun and knows when others are wreckless.

Sold the County Poor Farm.

The County Poor Farm was sold last week for $3,000. J. B. Thomas of Gex, was the purchaser. The use of the farm as a home for the county's poor will be discontinued.—Warsaw Independent.

Business Not So Brisk.

Business is not so brisk up at the sheriff's office since the six per cent penalty attached. Those who were caught by the penalty will not be in a hurry for several days again because of the penalty.

Carried by Five Thousand.

The canvass by the State Returning Board shows that the "good roads amendment" to the Constitution voted on at the recent election, received a majority of about 5,000 in the State. At first it was thought to be badly beaten.

Aristocratic Dogs.

Covington dogs are becoming somewhat aristocratic. A recent postmortem held on one by Dr. L. H. Crisler revealed that the dog, which had been suspected of having rabies and had been chloroformed, was suffering from appendicitis in an advanced stage.

Abundance of Water.

It is believed that the water problem will no longer annoy the Hebron Creamery Co., the last well sunk near the creamery indicating a strong vein has been tapped, one that will furnish an abundance of water for all purposes. At one time the question of a water supply was threatening to become a serious matter with the company.

Stung For 15 Years

by Indigestion's pangs—trying many doctors and $200.00 worth of medicine in vain. B. F. Aysecue, of Ingleside, N. C., at last used Dr. King's New Life Pills, and writes they wholly cured him. They cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headachh, Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowel troubles. 25c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

Entertained Most Delightfully.

One of the local social events of the Thanksgiving period was the party given by Mrs. D. E. Castleman, last Saturday night, in honor of her daughter, Miss Jennie Lee. A large number of young people responded to invitations, and from about eight o'clock in the evening until nearly midnight, the hospitable home was aglow with a spirit of enjoyment. During the evening an elegant repast was served.

Mrs. J. E. Smith was the guest of friends in the city last Sunday and Monday.

Don't Shoot the Quails.

Prof. Harris M. Benedict, assistant in the department of biology at the Cincinnati University, was formerly one of those who set out with dog and gun as soon as the open season was on, but now he declares that "Scientific investigations have shown that each live quail is worth about $15 to the farmer on account of the harmful and destructive insects and worms it consumes. That same quail is worth at most fifty cents for its delicate meat I like quail as well as anybody else, but I don't feel like helping to kill off these birds when their slaughter is a clear loss of something like $14.50 each to the community. I might go hunting sage hens and other birds out in the uncultivated parts of the West were I in that part of the country, for there the insect-consuming work of the birds is not so greatly needed as it is in the cultivated sections."

Teachers Complaining.

There is a general and great complaint on the part of the teachers in public schools of Kentucky on account of the text books furnished by the American Book Company and selected by the Board of Education at Frankfort. Especially is this true of the geographies furnished, and many of the others are totally unsuited to the grades for which they were intended. But it is said that the State is compelled to use them or else be subject to suit on the part of the Company. We have been told that the books are full of inaccuracies and that the foundation of education constructed upon them will be unable and insecure. Superintendent Crabbe and the Board of Education should investigate the matter, and if the complaints are found to be just, the contract should be rescinded or the American Book Company be compelled to furnish text books that are not incorrect or misleading.—Danville Advocate.

Looking One's Best.

It's woman's delight to look her best but pimples, skin eruptions, sores and boils rob her of joy. Listen! Bucklen's Arnica Salve cures them; makes the skin soft and velvety. It glorifies the face Cures Pimples, Sore Eyes, Cold Sores, Cracked Lips, Chapped Hands. Try it. Infallible for Piles. 25c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

OUR FIRST FALL SHIPMENT OF

GODMAN SHOES

IS ABOUT GONE.

Our Second Fall Shipment Just Opened Up. Come at once and get a Good Selection before numbers are broken. These Shoes are, without doubt, the

Best Shoes Ever Sold in our Store

ALREADY FAMOUS FOR GOOD SHOES.

WE HANDLE THE FAMOUS

Ball Band Wool Boot & Rubber

OUR WINTER STOCK OF

Blankets, Comforts, Woolens, Yarns, Underwear, Etc.,

IS NOW COMPLETE.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

GIVE US A CALL.

ROLFES & WACHES

The Store for Quality

This is what they all say. A store that meets every requirement for Men, Boys and Children in the line of

CLOTHING

We have the Styles, Variety and Fabric, and you will find it to your advantage to get our prices before buying elsewhere. We have built up our business by dealing fair and honest with our customers. Our line of Suits and Overcoats Cannot be Excelled.

Men's Suits	$5.00 to $20.00	Men's Overcoats	$4.00 to $20.00
Boy's Suits	$4.00 to $12.50	Boys' Overcoats	$3.00 to $12.50
Children's Suits	$1.50 to $ 6.00	Children's Overcoats	$2.50 to $5.00

Men's Pants $1.00 to $5.00.

A fine line of Men's and Boys' Cravennette Overcoats, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $18 and $20.00. We also carry a complete line of Sweater Coats, Jersey and Cardigan Jackets, Leather, Corduroy and Duck Coats and Corduroy and Jeans Pants.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET,

Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co

Rising Sun, Indiana.

Fruit Trees For Sale.

Apples and Pears, have arranged to furnish Peaches, Cherries and other nursery stock at reasonable prices.
Also B. P. Cockerels.

B. T. KELLY,
R. D. 2, Burlington, Ky.
Farmers Telephone line.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,

HEBRON, KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices. All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,

HEBRON, KY.

FOR SALE.

My farm of about 200 acres, on good road near Francesville, 3 miles north of Hebron, Boone county, Ky. On this farm is a 4-room residence and all necessary outbuildings, all under new roof. There are 50 acres of timber and 50 acres of good tobacco land, and four never failing springs. This land is two miles from the Ohio river and 15 miles from Cincinnati. Rural route and telephone. For terms call at the farm or address C. W. McFEE,
R D 3. Burlington, Ky.

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.
JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

Take your County Paper.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. - KENTUCKY

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

J. Wilbur Chapman, the American evangelist, and Charles Alexander, the singer, who have just completed a tour of Australia and the orient, arrived at Victoria, B. C., on the steamer Empress of China.

Mrs. W. F. Goodspeed and Miss Helen Deshler of Columbus, O., have arrived in New York after making a trip around the world unattended. They say a world trip is just as safe for women alone as going from one city to another.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and children have returned home from their European tour.

Miss Bessie Wood Aspinwall of Newburg, N. Y., and Lieut. Hayden W. Wagner, U. S. A., of Dekalb, Ill., were married at Newburg.

James L. Davenport, first deputy commissioner of pensions, has been appointed commissioner, to succeed Vespasian Warner, resigned.

President Taft has named Chief Justice W. J. Mills of the New Mexico supreme court, as governor of that territory.

Baron Rosen, Russian ambassador to the United States, and the baroness sailed on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie from Cherbourg for New York.

Miss Annette Gardner Munro of Portland, Ore., has been selected as dean of the women's department of the University of Rochester.

The resignation of Vespasian Warner, as United States pension commissioner, has been accepted by President Taft. Mr. Warner resigned because of the illness of his son.

The duke of Roxburghe fell and broke his right leg while riding with the Quorn hounds. The duchess, who formerly was May Goelet of New York, is at his bedside.

Admiral Seymour of the British fleet presented the flagship Inflexible with a silver bowl for its wardroom to commemorate the battleship's part in the Hudson-Fulton celebration at New York.

John G. Carlisle, ill in St. Vincent's hospital in New York, is showing noted improvement.

GENERAL NEWS.

Records which Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the arctic explorer, will submit to the University of Copenhagen to prove his claim that he reached the north pole April 21, 1908, were in the possession of Walter Lonsdale, Cook's secretary when he sailed from New York on the steamer United States for Denmark.

Vote on the English budget has been postponed for a week because many peers desired to speak on the bill, thus upsetting the plan for an early prorogation of parliament outlined by the house of commons.

After 150 more bodies had been discovered in the Cherry (Ill.) mine efforts to carry them to the surface were abandoned because flames threatened the main shaft. Efforts on the part of the Chicago firemen to put out the fire proving futile, the mine was once more sealed and it is probable that the bodies of the dead miners will be incinerated. All hope that any of the men are alive in the shaft has been abandoned.

The disabled steamer Puritan was safely towed to South Chicago after a 24-hour struggle in a storm on Lake Michigan. Many of her 40 passengers and some of the crew were exhausted by the storm of the many hours in which the boat drifted in the trough of the sea.

The ship subsidy bill will be passed at the coming session of congress and without much opposition. The senate, where the measure has always been blocked, the friends of the bill claim, will not oppose its passage to any great extent.

A lull has come in the Nicaragua proceedings as the state department has been advised that President Zelaya's report on the shooting of the two Americans will arrive on the next steamer. However, the gunboat Princeton has been ordered to sail for Corinto as soon as repairs on the vessel have been completed.

Representatives of France at Washington will soon be housed in a magnificent new embassy. Approval of the architects' plans for the building has been announced. The contract will be let and the work begun soon. France will expend $1,000,000 on the embassy.

Six Italians, two women, one man and three children, were burned to death in a tenement house fire in Brooklyn, and several others injured by jumping out of upper-story windows. One hundred persons were asleep in the building when the fire broke out.

Thomas C. Giddings, assistant weigher of the New York customs house, has been arrested on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the importation of figs. Collector Loeb discharged ten more employes, making 83 men dropped since March 9.

President Taft has not written his message to congress nor any part of it, although that body will assemble in a week's time.

Constable James H. Dobbs narrowly escaped lynching at Columbus, Ill., after he had shot and killed William Thompson, his neighbor, during a quarrel of their children.

In a speech at Chicago Mrs. Emmeline Parkhurst, the noted English suffragette, advised her audience to win woman's suffrage by force and advocated stone-throwing and other drastic measures to secure to women the ballot.

The Philadelphia National Baseball club has been sold to a syndicate headed by Horace S. Fogel, a sporting writer, and it is reported that John Kling, the star catcher, formerly of the Chicago team, was secured by the new management in the deal.

Ghouls stole the body of the infant son of Harfield Conrad, a banker, from its grave in Highland cemetery, near Great Falls, Mont., and are holding it presumably for ransom.

Maj. H. D. Bulkey, for more than twenty years prominently connected with the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, and for 18 years its comptroller, died in Baltimore, aged 79 years.

Mrs. Margaret Smith, aged 35 years, and Mrs. Minnie Wright, aged 50 years, were killed by a gas explosion in a boarding house in Rochester, N. Y. Mrs. Wright had applied a match to a leaking jet in their bedroom.

Accused of being a leader in the "white slave" trade, May von der Guyhte is on the way from Winnipeg, Man., to Montreal in irons to be deported to Belgium.

John Devery, homeless and friendless, died of hunger in New York while on his way to a Salvation Army Thanksgiving dinner.

The Doyen system of operating for the removal of cancer—the use of electricity instead of the knife—was employed on a case at St. Luke's hospital in Baltimore. A cancerous growth was removed from a patient's mouth and from parts of the face.

Evidence that Chauffeur Camp, who some weeks ago drove an automobile containing two persons besides himself into the Chicago river, and all three drowned, was incompetent, having had but four days' experience as a driver, was introduced at the coroner's inquest. The bodies of the two passengers of the taxicab have not been recovered.

The new $50,000 building of the University of Colorado, the gift of United States Senator Simon Guggenheim, was dedicated at Boulder, Col. Addresses were made by Senator Guggenheim, President Baker of the university and others.

A gift of $424,000 from an anonymous donor has been made to the Children's Aid society of New York. During the year the society has received more than $1,000,000, the largest fund in its history.

A delegation of college girls, under guidance of the College Equal Suffrage league, is arranging to go to Washington to present a resolution calling for the intereference by this government in the imprisonment in England of Miss Alice Paul of Mooresville, N. J., who smashed the window at the banquet of the lord mayor of London.

William McCormick, aged 31 years, a student at the Moody Biblical institute, Chicago, while temporarily deranged leaped from a third-story window to the pavement and was killed.

The St. Paul mine at Cherry, Ill., which has been sealed again owing to the ravages of fire, will probably not be reopened for three months.

Capitalized at $100,000, the Wright Company of New York has been incorporated at Albany, N. Y., "to manufacture, deal in, and operate machines, ships or other mechanical contrivances for aerial operation.

President Taft ate his Thanksgiving turkey with his family, there being no guests at the White House. He expressed his delight at being able to eat "real food" without being forced to make a speech.

The barge canal proposition voted on at the last state election at Ithaca, N. Y., which authorized the state legislature to spend $5,000,000 for connecting lakes Cayuga and Seneca, was carried by a majority of about 15,000.

Gov. Augustus E. Wilson of Kentucky, acting as chairman of a committee to fix the date and place of the second annual conference of governors, announced from Lexington that it will be held January 18, 1910, at Washington.

During October there were 75,608 immigrant aliens and 16,764 nonimmigrant aliens admitted into the United States, 26,451 United States citizens arrived and 1,616 aliens were debarred, according to the October bulletin of the immigration bureau.

The casualty record for football this season includes 26 deaths and 69 players injured, with the Thanksgiving day games yet to be accounted.

By the latest estimates of the Panama canal commission the big waterway will require nearly $400,000,000 to complete.

The ocean liners Lusitania and Arabic that reached Queenstown reported severe weather in crossing the Atlantic.

To raise enough money to pay the indebtedness on the Christian church at Beaver, Okla., the congregation has taken up farming and it sold a crop of broom corn grown on a 40-acre field near the church. All the work was done by the congregation, headed by the pastor, Rev. R. R. Coffey.

BALLINGER REPORTS

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR TELLS OF WORK OF HIS DEPARTMENT.

STILL AFTER LAND THIEVES

Urges Continuation of Vigorous Prosecution and a Reclassification of the Public Domain—Issuance of Reclamation Fund Bonds Advised—The Indian Bureau.

Washington, Nov. 29.—The annual report to the president of Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, was made public to-day and makes interesting reading. The report covers a portion of the time under the administration of James R. Garfield, and Mr. Ballinger gives him credit for his earnest and efficient services.

Secretary Ballinger comments on the old public land statutes, and continues:

"The liberal and rapid disposition of the public lands under these statutes and the lax methods of administration which for a long time prevailed naturally provoked the feeling that the public domain was legitimate prey for the unscrupulous and that it was no crime to violate or circumvent the land laws. It is to be regretted that we, as a nation, were so tardy to realize the importance of preventing so large a measure of our natural resources passing into the hands of land pirates and speculators, with no view to development looking to the national welfare.

Must Continue Prosecutions.

"It may be safely said that millions of acres of timber and other lands have been unlawfully obtained, and it is also true that actions to recover such lands have in most instances long since been barred by the statute of limitations. The principal awakening to our wasteful course came under your predecessor's administration. The bold and vigorous prosecutions of land frauds through Secretaries Hitchcock and Garfield, have restored a salutary respect for the law, and the public mind has rapidly grasped the importance of safeguarding the further disposition of our national resources in the public land in the interest of the public good as against private greed. Notwithstanding this, it is necessary to continue with utmost vigor, through all available sources, the securing of information of violations of the public-land laws and to follow such violations with rigid prosecutions.

Use Private Enterprise.

"In this present policy of conserving the natural resources of the public domain, while development is the keynote, the best thought of the day is not that development shall be by national agencies, but that wise utilization shall be secured through private enterprise under national supervision and control. Therefore, if material progress is to be made in securing the best use of our remaining public lands, congress must be called upon to enact remedial legislation."

Mr. Ballinger then gives in detail his recommendations for the classification of public lands, and the features of a measure which he advises for the direction of the disposal of water power sites.

The Reclamation Service.

Concerning the reclamation service, the report says in part:

"In view of the importance of a speedy completion of existing projects and their proper extension, and of the necessity in 1912 of an adjustment between the states by which the major portion of the funds arising from the sale of public lands within each state and territory shall have been expended so far as practicable within such state or territory, and in view of the importance of making a beneficial use of waters already appropriated or capable of appropriation to which rights may be lost for nonuse, I believe an urgent appeal should be made to congress to authorize the issuance of certificates of indebtedness, or of bonds against the reclamation fund, to an aggregate of not exceeding $30,000,000, or so much thereof as may be needed."

Energetic reorganization of the Indian bureau is in progress, says Mr. Ballinger, and he recommends that the Indian warehouses at New York, Chicago, Omaha, St. Louis and San Francisco be closed as soon as possible. A more advanced policy respecting the maintenance, improvement and operation of the Yelowstone and Yosemite national parks is urged on the government.

Couldn't Uncouple.

A well-known Scottish clergyman got into conversation in a railroad carriage with a working man, who informed him that he had been a coupler for over 20 years. "Oh," said the minister, "I can beat that! I have been a coupler for over 30 years." "Ay," replied the workman, "but I can uncouple, and you canna!"

Ringing the Belle.

Jeweler—"I understand that you want 'From Guy to Gwenyth' engraved on the inside of this ring, sir?" Youthful Customer—"Yes, that's right But—er—don't cut the 'Gwenyth' very deep. I might want it altered to 'Gladys' or 'Irene!'"

The Philosopher of Folly.

"What's the use," asks the Philosopher of Folly, "in judging a man by what his enemies tell you about him? His friends are all perfectly willing to give you a complete list of his faults."

PENSION LIST FOR LAST FISCAL YEAR

Was the Largest Ever Paid By the Government and Continues To Grow.

Washington.—The great total of $161,972,702.77 was disbursed by the United States government for pensions during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1909, the largest sum ever paid out in a 12-month period by the government. This fact was made public in the report of the secretary of the interior, Richard A. Ballinger.

It will be an amazing revelation to the people that the pension roll is still increasing 44 years after the conclusion of the civil war, even taking into account the number of new names being added by reason of the more recent skirmish with Spain, as it was announced, three years ago, that the apex had been reached, and that the pension roll would decrease much faster than it increased during the period following the civil war and the amendments and new acts affecting the pensioning of old soldiers.

Secretary Ballinger states that since the foundation of the government, there has been disbursed for pensions to soldiers, sailors and marines, their widows and dependents, the sum of $3,912,082,513.73, of which amount $96,445.22 was paid prior to June 30, 1865. Since that date, pension payments have increased from $15,450,549.88 in 1866 to $161,973,703.77 in 1909. The act of February 6, 1909, granting pensions of $12, $15 and $20 per month to the survivors of the war with Mexico and the civil war on reaching the ages of 62, 70 and 75 years, respectively, has added a number of pensioners to the roll.

The last surviving soldier of the revolutionary war died April 5, 1869, and the last surviving widow of that war died November 11, 1906. The name of one daughter of a soldier of the revolution, pensioned by a special act of congress, still remains on the roll. The last pensioned soldier of the war of 1812 died May 12, 1905, but the pension rolls still contain the names of 393 widows of soldiers of that war.

Special acts of congress granting pensions and increases have added greatly to the sum paid out annually above the requirements of the regular pension laws. The total number of pensioners on the rolls at the end of the fiscal year was 946,194, a decrease of 5,493 from the first of the same year.

CULVERT WASHED OUT

And Twenty Japanese Were Killed, While Many Others Were Injured —"Owl" Missed Disaster.

Vancouver, B. C.—Twenty Japanese were killed and 15 injured so badly that several will die in the wreck of a train on the Great Northern railway between Vancouver and New Westminster.

The train left Vancouver on its way to Sumas. When within a mile of the city limits of New Westminster the train ran into a washed out culvert. The engine passed nearly over, then sagged back, and Fireman Kent and Engineer Beattiger jumped, escaping injury.

Immediately behind the engine was a Japanese bunk car, in which 35 men lay, most of them still asleep. The car was cut squarely in two, one-half being crushed to kindling wood and the other smashed in on both sides and ends, sliding into the gully. Three flat cars were piled on top of each other, while the caboose at the rear remained on the tracks.

George W. Kemp, a commercial traveler, who was riding in the caboose, was internally injured. He is at the Vancouver general hospital.

The crowded "owl" passenger train was being held at New Westminster until the work train reached there. Only for this the passenger train would have been wrecked.

Women Fought Duel With Knives.

Bradford, Ark.—In a street duel with knives at Alicia, near here, Miss Nora Owens was fatally injured by Miss Stella Belk, and died within a few minutes. Both young women were prominent. The duel was the result of a quarrel that the pair engaged in some time ago. Miss Owens was cut in four places. Miss Belk was arrested.

Victim of Assassin.

Paris.—An individual, believed to be insane, shot and seriously wounded Gen. Verand on the steps of the Hotel Continental as the general was entering the hotel to attend a banquet. The man was arrested.

Tobacco Markets.

Louisville, Nov. 28.—The total offerings last week were 2,539 hhds., of which 2,077 were burley and 462 dark. Demand better and quality improved. Burley, $6.80@17; dark, $9.80@10.25.

Attempts To Kill Wife and Self.

Beatrice, Neb.—Fred T. Robinson shot his wife and himself here. There is little hope that either will live. Robinson is said to be mentally unbalanced. Recently he wrote the police that the Black Hand was after him.

Little Sent To Roanoke.

Roanoke, Va.—Howard Little, sentenced to be electrocuted for the murder of Mrs. Betsy Justis and five members of the Geo. Meadows family, was brought to this city from Grundy and placed in jail for safe-keeping.

TRADE INCREASING.

Basic Facts Point to Continued Remarkable Industrial Expansion.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

"Favorable industrial conditions remain unchanged and new production is now proceeding at an enormous rate. All through the west the thought and talk of the people is concerning things actually produced and wealth created from the soil. The recent warm weather checked activity in some mercantile lines and high prices and speculative developments work unfavorably in others and this gives the superficial impression of a pause in business revival. But the basic facts still point to a remarkable industrial expension. The heavy demand for steel products continues. There is increasing evidence of the reluctance of mills to accept business extending far into the future and few commitments have been made beyond the first half of 1910.

"With a new and higher basis for cotton prints, effected during the week, a somewhat smaller volume of business by jobbers than customary is reported, although 100,000 pieces were sold by Fall River.

Export trade in cotton goods is very quiet, although many samples are being sent to the Philippines.

"The demand for woolens and worsteds continues active, one leading woolen mill running a larger percentage of its looms than for many years past.

"Cotton yarns are quiet, while the woolen and worsted yarns are easier, although underlying conditions in all divisions of the yarn market continue strong. Trade continues to improve in foot-wear business and at present is of larger proportions than at any time since the past two years. The leather situation remains very strong, although business is not quite as active. About all kinds of domestic hides have held steadily, notwithstanding that the quality is now growing poorer."

CROSS CURRENTS

Tend to Check Full Activity in the Wholesale Trade.

New York—Bradstreet's Weekly Report says:

"Colder weather and the approach of the holiday season have continued to stimulate retail trade and measurably improve reassorting trade with jobbers, and rains and snows, while temporarily retarding country trade by making the roads bad, have checked excessive growth or of insect damage to winter wheat and given a good quantity of moisture to the growing plant, thus placing that crop in good shape to enter the winter.

"In wholesale trade there are, however, some intimations of cross currents tending to restrict fullest activities. The high price of cotton is still responsible for some curtailment of output, and also some hesitation on the part of buyers, who are slow to follow the dry goods market upward. It is to be noted, however, that the advance in prints, going into effect this week, has been quite well received.

"Industrial reports are generally of large, in some cases record, output for the season, though here again, as for instance in the case of iron and steel, undiminished activity in buying is noted in finished products, while the raw material market, particularly pig iron, is quieter and some more ease is noted.

"Business failures in the United States for the week ending November 25 were 211, against 232 last week, 193 in the like week of 1908, 258 in 1907, 174 in 1906 and 188 in 1905.

"Business failures in Canada for the week number 24, which compares with 29 last week and 35 in the like week of 1908.

"Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending November 25 aggregate 4,347,438 bush., against 6,183,583 bush. last week and 4,936,242 bush. this week last year. For the 21 weeks ending November 25 exports are 67,782,144 bush., against 92,311,431 bush. In the corresponding period last year. Corn exports for the week are 64,551 bush., against 140,407 bush. last week and 864,600 bush. in 1908. For the 21 weeks ending November 25 corn exports are 3,689,416 bush., against 3,475,836 bush. last year."

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Nov. 27.—Flour—Market steady; winter patent $5.60@5.90, spring patent $5.60@5.90, rye $4.60@4.80. Wheat—Fair and steady; No. 2 red $1.24@1.26, No. 3 $1.10@1.17. Corn—Ear corn steady, shelled steady; new corn is as follows: No. 2 white 60@60½c, No. 2 mixed 59@59½c. Oats—Steady; No. 2 white 42½@43c, No. 2 mixed 41½@42c. Hay—Steady with good demand; No. 1 timothy $15.50@16, No. 1 clover mixed $14.50@15, No. 1 clover $15.75@16.25. Rye—Steady; No. 2, 77½@80c. Mill Feed—Bran $21.50, middlings $22@22.50.

Live Stock Markets.

Cincinnati, Nov. 27.—Cattle—Receipts 1,014 head; market steady; extra $6.75@6.85, good to choice $4.55@5.75, heifers, extra $5.35@5.50; cows, extra $4.35@4.60. Calves—Market firm; extra $9.75, fair to good $7.50@9.50. Hogs—Receipts 3,573 head; market active; good to choice butchers $8.25@8.30, mixed packers $8@8.25; pigs (100 lbs. and less) $6@7.65. Sheep—Receipts 688 head; market steady; extra $4.50, good to choice $3.75@4.35. Lambs—Extra $7, good to choice $6.25@6.90.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2020. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1884.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000
Surplus,.....$5,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. Vest, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy.
R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington,
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
Ed. POPE Agent, Grant, Ky

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.
Write for printed list.

Interesting Kentucky News

RECEIVER IS ASKED

For Dark Tobacco Growers' Protective Association In Action Filed by Ben S. Street.

Elkton, Ky.—The circuit court of Todd county was asked to appoint a receiver for the Dark Tobacco Growers' Protective association in an action filed here by Ben S. Street. Mismanagement of the affairs of the Dark Tobacco Growers' Protective association and the squandering of its assets are charged by Street, who is a warehouse man of Elkton, and who makes the projected regrading of the 1907 crop of the association a basis for his plaint. He wants the funds of the association attached, claiming that all its convertible property is in Tennessee.

MAY HAVE BEEN "SPOOK."

Negro Ejected from Cistern He Was Digging by Unseen Force.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—While Nathan Davis, colored, was digging a cistern at his home in this city, he was suddenly hurled bodily out of the hole by some unseen explosive force which exerted itself without any warning whatever. The cistern had reached a depth of several feet and Davis was digging in some rock. In addition to throwing the negro out, the rocks were moved about considerably and several bad cuts and bruises were made on Davis's body by the flying particles. He will recover. It is supposed that a pocket of gas was tapped and that when the earth and rocks that covered it were removed that it caused the explosion.

CARRIED BY NARROW MARGIN

Was Good Roads Amendment to Constitution.

Frankfort, Ky.—The Bosworth-Wyatt good roads amendment to the constitution carried in the recent election, the vote being 50,542 for and 45,037 against. The total vote in the presidential election last year was 400,000 votes more than were cast in the good roads amendment. The returns from Kenton county were not sent in, and the successful candidates will have to rely upon certification from the county committee to the secretary of state.

Frankfort, Ky.—The appellate court decided, in the case of the Clear Springs Distilling Co. against the board of trustees of the Bardstown common school district, from Nelson county, that the territory within a boundary of two and one-half miles, measured from the outer boundary of the site of the school building, provided the site does not exceed one acre, is taxable for school purposes. The question involved in this case was whether or not the distilling company should pay taxes on its warehouse, which contains 15,000 barrels of whisky.

Louisville, Ky.—After having eluded capture for many months, Raymond J. Gillette, former manager of the Falls Cities Loan Co., of this city, who is accused of having converted $5,000 of the company's funds, was taken into custody on a ranch in the west, and will be returned to this city at once to stand trial.

Winchester, Ky.—Receivers Lee S. Baldwin and Rufus Lisle executed bond for $200,000, with two bonding companies as sureties, and went to Lexington to take charge of the Burley society's affairs insofar as provided in Judge Benton's decision as affecting the pools of 1906 and 1907.

Frankfort, Ky.—State Veterinarian Eisenman reports that 22 of the 71 Holstein heifers of the Central Asylum herd are infected with tuberculosis. The board is not satisfied with the test of Dr. Eisenman, and Dr. Alex Hart-hill, of Louisville, has been employed to make a test.

Frankfort, Ky.—William J. Murray, 64, formerly of Frankfort, died in Louisville. He was one of the first men to learn to read sounds over the telegraph instruments. Murray was taught telegraphy by James Francis Leonard, the first sound reader.

Louisville, Ky.—To escape the fury of a mob which assemhled in Springfield, Ky., Henry Channell, colored, was brought to Louisville for safekeeping. Channell shot and killed Prentice Babbet in the Springfield Hotel.

Lexington, Ky.—Gus Macey, acting for George H. Estabrook, of Denver, bought the 4-year-old trotting mare, Lilly W, by Simmoneer, dam by Happy King, from James McAllister, for $7,500. Purchase was made by a trial in 2.07.

Louisville, Ky.—For the purpose of procuring the right to vote on school questions Kentucky women will march on Frankfort when the legislature convenes. The Kentucky Federation of Woman's clubs is leading the movement.

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Willson remitted the state part of the fine against the Seelbach hotel, at Louisville, convicted of selling liquor to its guests on Sunday.

BITTER FEUD OPENS

Between Kentucky and West Virginia Families and Bloody Battle is Expected.

Williamson, W. Va.—Mrs. Chas. Daniels and her 16-year-old daughter were shot to death near Devon, Mingo county, by officers and their posse of Pike county, Kentucky. The shooting of Mrs. Daniels and her daughter grew out of a family feud, which has been brewing for some weeks between the Christians and Daniels on the border of Kentucky and West Virginia. The Christians lived in Mingo county, West Virginia, and the Daniels in Pike county, Kentucky. About three weeks ago George Christian ventured to the Kentucky side and was slain by Jim Daniels, and it is claimed that the murder was unprovoked and most brutal. Christian and Daniels were brothers-in-law, and had formerly been allies, having each served a term in the West Virginia penitentiary upon the charge of murder and shooting to kill. They fell out over a trivial matter and became deadly enemies. After the killing of Christian by Daniels the two families and their friends became involved, and for some few days both factions have gone about heavily armed. The Christians secured warrants for Jim Daniels and his brother Charles, who was also said to be implicated in the murder of George Christian, and led hy a posse of 16 under the command of Constable Ferrell, of Pike county, went to the home of the Daniels for the purpose of effecting their arrest. The two Daniels boys were at the home of their father, Charles Daniels, near Devon, and it is said that when the officers approached within a few feet of the house Mrs. Daniels and her daughter threw open the front door and opened fire with Winchester rifles, one of the posse receiving a bullet in the arm, and Mose Christian, father of the murdered Christian boy, had his hat shot from his head. The two Daniels boys and their father opened fire from behind the house. Mrs. Daniels was shot down in the doorway, but the 16-year-old daughter stood over her prostrate form and fired upon the posse until she dropped dead across her mother, pierced by three hullets. The officers closed in, but by forfeiting their lives, the mother and daughter had so effectually covered the retreat of father and brother that they made their escape. There are now some 30 armed Christians and their friends on the West Virginia side, and almost a like numher of the followers of the Daniels faction on the Kentucky side. Both factions are armed with Winchesters, and officers say they are unable to control the situation, and if either of these factions crosses the line and clash, either Gov. Glasscock, of West Virginia, or Gov. Willson, of Kentucky, will be appealed to.

Harlan, Ky.—Parson C. Cornett, jailer of Harlan county, was shot and killed here. George Turner Howard, a surveyor, and his brother, W. J. R. Howard, school superintendent of Harlan county, who were charged with the shooting, surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Huff. The men, it is said, got into an argument over a baseball game.

Louisville, Ky.—Louisville real estate approximating the value of $1,000,000 is disposed of in the will of Marquise Des Monstiers Merinville, of New York, formerly Miss Mary Gwendolyn Bird Caldwell, of this city. She devises the greater portion of her estate, real and personal, to her sister, Baroness Caldwell Von Zedtwitz, who is named executrix without bond.

Lexington, Ky.—The executive board of the Burley Tobacco Insurance Co. awarded to the Hendricks, Moore & Moore Co., of this city, the contract for the erection of a warehouse, 80 by 128 feet, with shed, 12 by 64 feet, at Mt. Sterling.

Campton, Ky.—Rev. John Burcham, of the Baptist church, was arrested and brought to this place on the charge of shootinf and wounding Raleigh Cecil. Cecil is under an indictment for the killing of Burcham's 18-year-old son.

Lexington, Ky.—Frank J. Marshall won the tenth game in the national chess championship match, J. W. Showalter resigning on the twenty-eighth move. Marshall now has six games to his credit, Showalter one, and three drawn.

Winchester, Ky.—J. S. Parrish, who represented Rosenthal & Meyer, of Baltimore, and the Jefferson Woolen Mills, of Tennessee, and whose home was at Elk Hill, Va., shot and killed himself in the Brown Broctoria hotel here.

Lexington, Ky.—The first case of pellagra known in this state resulted fatally to Mrs. Conners, wife of a railroad contractor, who was brought to the Good Samaritan hospital from her homo near Nicholasville.

Frankfort, Ky.—After a meeting of the capitol commission it was decided to stop work on the capitol grounds, as there is no more money to carry on the work.

QUEER PLAY

With Huge Army Rifle Cartridges Results in the Fatal Shooting of a Youth.

Louisville, Ky.—Bullets and brick bats were implements of war in a queer one-man battle which took place here when Edward Spies, 17, was shot over the heart with a huge bullet from an army rifle cartridge. Spies stood a row of the big Krag-Jorgensen cartridges on the fence and amused himself by throwing brickbats at them. His aim was true. He hit the cartridge, the cartridge exploded and hit him. He is dying at his father's home. The bullet entered his breast just above the heart. Spies ran to his home crying "I am shot." He then ran several blocks to a doctor's office and was quickly taken to a hospital. He was too weak to undergo an operation and death was momentarily expected.

CREDITOR ASKS PROTECTION

Under Bankruptcy Law After Debtor Asks for Receiver.

Lexington, Ky.—An effort is being made through action brought in the federal court by the Cincinnati clothing firm, Mayer, Scheuer, Offner & Co., to throw the local clothing corporation, Connell, Ryan & McCarty, into bankruptcy. The action of the Cincinnati firm followed the application of Connell, Ryan & McCarty to the Fayette circuit court for the appointment of a receiver, this firm setting forth its desire to go into liquidation. "There is no necessity for a proceeding in bankruptcy," said Attorney George C. Webb. "The firm is solvent. Its assets are $40,000 and its liabilities about $30,000. Mr. Connell sold his stock in the corporation to a Cincinnati man recently. Messrs. Ryan and McCarty concluded that they did not wish to continue in the business without Connell and they, holding a majority of the stock, voted to liquidate."

TIE-UP OF BURLEY FUND

Secured by Growers—Receiver Will Be Appointed.

Winchester, Ky.—Judge J. M. Benton, of the Clark circuit court, handed down his decision here in the suit for a receivership brought by J. E. Gaitskill and other Clark county growers against the Burley Tobacco and Insurance Co., and granted the petition of the plaintiffs for a receiver for $346,000 held by the company out of the proceeds of the crops of 1906 and 1907. No receiver was named, but a conference of the court and attorneys was held on this and other important matters involved in the decision, which is of far-reaching importance to tobacco growers, and possibly involves the future of the company, recently incorporated and capitalized at $2,000,000.

Frankfort, Ky.—The $10,000 judgment in favor of John R. Nash, of Newport, against the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Co., was set aside hy the court of appeals in an opinion reversing the Campbell circuit court and ordering a new trial.

Louisville, Ky.—Accused hy an enraged hushand of despoiling his home, William E. Proctor, republican candidate for auditor in the recent city election, a former school trustee and a well-known resident of this city, was shot and killed on the street hy R. M. Culley, a wall paper dealer.

Henderson, Ky.—The Stemming District Tobacco association, operating in the counties of Henderson, Hopkins, Webster, Union and Crittenden, closed a deal whereby it sold 13,000,000 pounds of the 1909 crop of tobacco at 7c average. The same terms and conditions of sale as those of the 1907 sale are to obtain. This sale will mean the distribution of nearly $1,000,000 in the association district.

Elizabethtown, Ky.—The Elizabethtown Burley Tobacco district, composed of about 15 counties, held a meeting in this city for the purpose of establishing warehouses in the several counties. Steps were taken to build warehouses throughout the district.

Lexington, Ky.—The new library at State university was dedicated. Addresses were made by Gov. Willson, members of the board of university trustees and others. The library building cost $26,500, and it contains at present 3,000 volumes.

Morgantown, Ky.—E. D. Guffy, of Oklahoma City, Okla., former assistant secretary of state of Kentucky, who was thrown from a buggy at Beaver Dam, died before any of his people except his mother could get to him.

Frankfort, Ky.—Pearl Merchant, arrested in Cincinnati and brought here on the charge of detaining Usetta Williamson, 8, was taken to Lexington for safe-keeping.

Hickman, Ky.—The Richmond & Bond oil mill, operated by G. R. Bond, of Chattanooga, Tenn., was destroyed by fire. Loss $100,000; insured.

An Afternoon Off

It began at the breakfast table. Blifkins had come down ahead of the other members of the family and now, buried in the morning paper, he paid no attention to the noisy greetings of his two boys as they romped into the dining room. Mrs. Blifkins' "good morning" was received in silence. The family was properly subdued. Finally, perhaps ten minutes later, Blifkins noticed that his wife was speaking to him.

"Hardly a good way to start the day," Mrs. Blifkins was saying. "It's getting to be a custom. I know you're not angry or cranky, but you might as well be; the effect is the same. You'll never gain the boys' confidence that way. You never play with them. You're always too busy, thinking or working, and I can't keep Billy at home because there's nothing here to amuse him. Why don't you come home early this afternoon and get acquainted? You can live if you miss your club one afternoon."

So Blifkins went home at three o'clock. Billy, 4½ years, and Dick, two, were waiting for him on the front steps. They began to whoop like young Indians when they saw him get off the car.

"I'm going to play with you this afternoon, boys," Blifkins said. "You wait till I take off these duds and we'll have a time. We're going to get acquainted, we are."

Fifteen minutes afterward Blifkins had turned an old porch seat upside down in the back yard and was making it into a work bench for Billy and Dick. He next fetched from the basement a large tin box filled with all sorts of valuables, such as broken locks and keys, discarded huckles, bits of wire and other junk. It was a treasure hox for Billy and Dick, and soon they were exploring its contents.

Just then Blifkins heard more Indian yells and turned in time to see three boys of Billy's age about to attack from the rear, over the fence.

"I won't play with you," Billy said. "I'm going to play with my papa."

"Well," said one of the boys in perfect good nature, "we're going to play with you."

Blifkins didn't desire to offend Billy's playmates. He determined to be patient. "I don't come home often in the afternoon," he said, "so I wish you'd run home now and come hack to-morrow. Billy and Dick and I—"

"Maw said we could come," one of the boys said.

"But your mamma didn't know I was—"

"Yes she did. That's why she let us come. We're going to—"

Four more hoys and three girls, none more than five years old, now appeared, some from the front, some from the rear. They lined up around Blifkins and stared at him much as they'd stare at a giraffe of an elephant. It's a way children have.

"Children," he said—Billy and Dick here took up their positions near their father—"children, I don't come home often in the afternoon, so I wish you'd go home now and—"

"Maw said—" one of the girls began, but Blifkins interrupted her.

"It doesn't matter what 'maw' said. This is my house and I wish you'd go home."

"We want to play with Billy," was the calm rejoinder.

"I don't want you," Billy said, sturdily supporting his father. No one was at all offended hy Billy's candor.

The argument was here interrupted by the arrival of three more boys. Blifkins' backyard resemhled a kindergarten. Blifkins appealed to his wife, who had come to the kitchen door.

"See here, Martha," he said. "I don't want to insult these children, but—"

"Don't worry, you can't do it," Mrs. Blifkins said, "I've tried it 50 times." I'd like to see you get rid of them."

Blifkins brought out his old speech. "Children," he said. "I don't come home often, so I wish you'd go home no wand—"

"Maw said we could come over"—in chorus.

"Well, this is my house and I think—"

"I'm going to stay," one of the five-year-olds announced, and walked over to the tin box and began to examine what was in it. Blifkins, growing angry, took the boy by one arm, and led him gently but firmly to the front of the house and shooed him off the place. When he returned another boy had stepped just across the property line so that he stood on Blink's lot and cried shrilly: "I'm going to stay here. Maw said—"

Blifkins seized him by the collar and led him to the fence.

One, a very ohliging little chap, announced: "Maw and I could come, but I'll go home and take a nap and come back."

The others, realizing at last that they weren't wanted, walked away grumbling. One turned at the front steps and called: "Billy, oh, Billy! Maw said—"

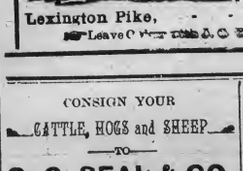
"Scat," said Blifkins, and the boy ran.—Kansas City Star.

Natural Ink.

The River of Natural Ink is a natural curiosity said to exist in Algeria. It is caused by the junction of two streams, one of which drains a region strongly impregnated with iron, while the other flows from a peat-bog and holds a large quantity of gallic acid in solution. The union of these two streams causes the iron and the gallic acid to combine, and thus produces a genuine ink.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. B. PIPER.
Phone, M. 2398.
The Applegate-Piper Co.
MERCHANT TAILORS.
Room 610, Traction Building.
Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,
BURLINGTON, KY.
The Oldest Bank in Boone County,
PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,
With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:
Capital Stock..... $30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits... 40,000
Liability of Stockholders..... 30,000
Total Security for Depositors $100,000
COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.



RARUS FLOUR
THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.
17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.
This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR
Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,
Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY
AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.
CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.
New Buggies, Runabouts,
and Harness for Sale or Trade.
Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.
When in Burlington call and See me.
B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Order at S. C. Barlow's, Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR
CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP
TO
C. C. SEAL & CO.
Union Stock Yards,
CINCINNATI. • • OHIO
And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.
J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade

WALTON.

Mrs. Bagby had for her dinner table, Thanksgiving day, beautiful cut flowers sent by her friend, Mrs. R. J. Scarboro, from Waco, Texas, and which were in a wonderful state of preservation considering their long journey from the south land. Mrs. Bagby who visited Texas says this is typical of the warm hearted ness of the people who can't be surpassed for their courtesy and kind attentions to strangers.

Meeting of the Union League of Christian Endeavor was held at the Christian church, Nov. 26th, proved to be one of the most interesting ever held by the people in this work. The meeting was called to order by Pres. Ransler. A number of songs were sung by the society, after which a number of prayers were offered. Subject for the evening, Thanksgiving. The leader, Mr. Lawrence Warth, read the 95th Psalm. The reading of scripture was followed by an excellent paper prepared and read by Mr. Warth. Mrs. Hind gave a number of helpful remarks bearing on subject, after which Miss Queen Tillman favored the audience with a solo. A number of interesting readings were read by members. After singing song 93 adjourned to meet with the Baptist church in Dec.

Feed for Swine.

The constituents most desirable in feed for swine depend greatly upon the use to which the animal is to put them. A newly born pig's body is largely water, and to grow he must have food that will produce tissue. That is why the milk, primarily designed to furnish proper nourishment for growing animals, needs to be, as it is, so rich in nitrogenous substance. Later, when the time comes that he is intended for quick-fattening, he should, naturally, be supplied with feed containing much fat making material, and it is that quality which has given corn its high place in finishing hogs for slaughter. It is readily seen, therefore, that different kinds of feed will be needed to furnish the most beneficial results, according to the stage of growth of the animal, the energy required for its maintenance, and the end to which the animal is destined; yet it does not necessarily follow that a ration should be one-sided or be dominated by one element to the exclusion of a variety. Losing sight of this is a mistake that has been made more frequently in the use of corn than any other feed; not so much, perhaps, because it is rich in carbonaceous matter, as by reason of its convenience and cheapness in the regions where it flourishes.—From Coburn's "Swine in America."

Alfalfa and Corn to Balance.

The feeding value of alfalfa is largely in its chemical compound known as protein, its extreme digestibility is another desirable quality to be considered, and not least is its appetizing character. Not only do all animals like it, but when given in moderate quantities it seems to increase the general appetite for more fat-making feeds. Steers beginning to "fall-off" on a heavy diet of corn will come to their appetites after being fed only a few pounds of alfalfa daily, will eat and assimilate more corn than before. Alfalfa alone is not a fat making feed. Animals fed upon it grow in weight, but the weight is principally of bone, blood and muscle. It is without sufficiency of fat and carbo-hydrates, and these should be added in such feeds as corn, corn meal, or to a limited degree even in corn stover, sorghum or millet. When alfalfa is fed alone all the protein cannot be digested, and, therefore it is always economical to add some carbonaceous foods; if animals are to be fattened.—Coburn's "The Book of Alfalfa."

The farmer is the greatest man in the world to "bear" his own business. When cattle are down he says it will not pay to raise them and they will never be any better, and if there is any higher priced stock he breaks for that. By the time he buys it and raises some the price has gone to pieces. We seem to go in droves. Wehad a good hay crop last year and the price went down and the price of corn is high. The consequence is they have plowed up their meadows and planted them to corn. By the time they have hammered the price of corn down to 25 cents per bushel hay will be $20 a ton. When horses were $25 per head they quit the business and said they would never be high any more like they use to be, but when any good horse is worth $200 they never consult statistics to see how many horses there are in the United States, but just go on raising all they can. If you should ask almost any farmer how many there in the are United States he would say, "I don't know." He does not seem to remember when they were $25 per head there were only 13,000,000 in the United States and now when they are $200 per head there are 20,000,000. Of course he thinks the business can never be overdone.

UNION.

Miss Nora Ryle is visiting her brother, Jim, in Belleview.

Master Gaines Huey is convalescent from an attack of scarlet fever.

Mrs. Geo. Rice, of Walton, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. John W. Hogan.

Mrs. Margaret Tanner, of Richwood, spent last week with Mrs. Rachal Rice.

J. L. Frazier's driving horse, Sam, dropped dead in the road, last Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrie Stephens spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Grant county.

A large crowd of youug people attended the dance given by Walter Arnold, Friday night.

Rev. J. S. Wilson left, for his home in Lagrange, Friday, after a visit with his aunt, Mrs. Rachal Rice.

Miss Edythe Feldhaus is home from a two weeks' visit with her aunt, Mrs. George Bradford, near Hebron.

Mrs. Emma Marshall entertained Mrs. Susan Ryle, of Petersburg, and Mrs. Agnes Ryle, of East Bend, several days last week.

Miss Nan Elizabeth Huey came out from Covington, Wednesday, and remained until Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Joseph A. Huey.

Mrs. Lida N. Conner is in Covington with her sister, Mrs. Estelle Winter, who is at home from the hospital, and is recovering rapidly.

Ensign Walter H. Lassing came from Portsmouth, New Hampshire, to spend Thanksgiving with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Lassing.

Miss Sadie Crisler and Henry Conner were guests at a delightful dinner given by Miss Madge Williams at her home at Gunpowder, Thursday.

Arthur Dean and Mrs. Dean returned, Sunday, from a delightful visit at Moores Hill, Indiana, where they were guests of Chas. Voshell and family.

Miss Annie Riley's birthday anniversary was pleasantly observed, last Thursday, by a number of relatives and friends gathering at her home with well filled baskets and giving a complete surprise.

DEVON.

Dr. Albert Saddler, of Oakley, O., was guest of friends here, Friday.

Price Conner returned, Wednesday, well pleased with his trip to Texas.

Ben Bristow and Arthur Connely visited W. C. Respass at Latonia, Sunday.

Ernest and Ralph Groger visited relatives at Melbourne, Saturday and Sunday.

W. E. Vest, of Walton, was in this neigbohood, Saturday, surveying the Charles Clemens farm.

Col. John Conner and wife and Price Conner and family were guests Thursday at William Smith's.

The storm on Monday evening of last week, blew down several hay stacks and many shocks of corn.

James Carpenter, of Florence, and sister, Miss Mary, of Richwood, were Monday guests at Cove Carenter's.

Prof. Walter Perry, of Belleview, returned to that place Sunday evening after a pleasant visit here with his parents.

Henry Dixon and sister, Miss Nannie, and cousin, Everett Dixon, of Richwood, were guests of their aunt, Mrs. Hogriffe, Saturday.

Arthur Schield, Robert Hazel, Jas. Tranter, of near Covington, were the guests of James Bristow, Friday. They gave the bunnies a merry chase.

Leo and Elmer Groger had as Sunday guests Raymond Rivard, of Covington; Ben Rivard, James Bristow and Bert and Webb Hogan, of Devon.

Wm. Smith and wife entertained with a family dinner on Thanksgiving day. The occasion was also the celebration of Mrs. Smith's birthday.

J. C. Conrad and wife had as their guests, Sunday, Mrs. Lewis Kroger, of Hamilton, Ohio; Hanorah Cahill, of Indianapolis, Indiana, and Mrs. Michael Cahill and daughter, Miss Minnie, of Florence.

PT. PLEASANT.

Miss Carrie Ritter, of Ludlow, is visiting Miss Virgie Riggs.

Mrs. Stella Clore visited friends and relatives here, last week.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet Wednesday, with Mrs. J. S. Tanner.

Miss Virginia Riggs was the guest of relatives in Ludlow, last Wednes day.

Hazel Walton and Tom Kenyon spent Saturday in Union on a hunting trip.

Mrs. Mary Robinson returned, Saterday, from a visit with relatives in Illinois.

Charlotte Bradford is suffering with a severe cold, it having settled in her neck.

Mrs. B. F. McGlasson entertained Mrs. Stella Clore and Mrs. J. W. Rigg, Friday.

Miss Dora Hood, accompanied by Miss Minnie Stephens, of Rabbit Hash, visited relatives here last week

J. M. Riggs and wife, Mrs. Carrie Scott, Mrs. Stella Clore and son, Earl, spent Sunday with Mrs. Ellen Russell.

The Country Club will be entertained by Howard Tanner and wife at their residence, Friday night, December 3d.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon entertained Bro. Carter and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ab Carter, and brother, Joseph, of Erlanger, Sunday.

The Sunday school is very proud of the young men's class. Great effort is being made to increase the number of its members.

Misses Sarah Black and Edith Feldhaus returned to their home in Union, Friday, after a visit with their aunt, Mrs. G. E. Bradford.

A party of campers spent Sunday and Sunday night on the creek near the church. They claimed to be miners enroute from Illinois to Ohio.

Bro. Carter closed a week's meeting Sunday night, feeling as did those who had attended throughout the week, that they had been a benefit to all.

This neighborhood has been well represented at the "Gipsy Smith" meetings in Cincinnati, and all who have attended, testify to the good he is doing.

Miss Corda Early, of Petersburg, and Ruby Clare Walton, who stays with her to attend school, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with relatives in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Sarah K. Yancy, the great worker in the cause of the Christian Women's Board of Missions, came last Monday to deliver an address at the church, but was prevented by the stormy weather that evening.

Quite a number of relatives and friends of Miss Sarah Elizabeth Tanner was invited to celebrate her 4th birth day, last Wednesday. She received many presents and is a little lady who appreciates them.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Hall of Alline Lodge I. O. O. F. No. 19, Grant, Kentucky.

Whereas, our Heavenly Father has seen fit to visit the sad affliction of our dear brother, George Smith, in the loss of his wife and two infant children, while we feel his loss is their eternal gain,

Resolved, That we extend our heart felt sympathy to the bereaved family with the assurance that we mourn with them in their sad loss. We commend her faithfulness to the whole community as worthy of emulation in every respect.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on our record book, and a copy be sent to our bereaved brother, and a copy sent to the Boone County Recorder for publication.

Committee—W. W. Grant, Elbert Kelly, Clarence McCarty.

Teachers' Meeting at Burlington.

Invocation—Mr. D. M. Snyder.

Prof. Dix made a very interesting and instructive talk on Physics. Mr. Dix illustrates his points with drawings which make them very forceful.

Miss Ryle not being present Reading was discussed by Lucy Russell, and Mr. Harrison and Mr. Riley.

Mr. D. E. Castleman was present and made a few remarks. He does not favor marking books for reference work.

After noon there were several good talks on Writing, introduced by Robert McNeely; among them one from Miss Lizzie Rogers. Quite a heated discussion arose regarding the use of copy books.

There was an open discussion on Arithmetic in Emil Regenbogan's absence.

Miss Mendel was not present, and Mr. Harrison opened the subject of Geography. Mr. Dix gave an instructive talk.

The last subject, "The Teacher —His powers and duties," was opened by Mr. Akin's question, "am I a man teaching or a teaching man."

There were several good points brought out by the different talks on the subject.

Lucy Russell, Secretary.

—0—0—0—

Wm. Wilson at Home Again.

After a seventeen days' sojourn at a Cincinnati hospital, William Wilson, the lineman for the Consolidated Telephone Co., who got one of his lower limbs broken in a run away accident on the Idlewild hill, on the Burlington and Petersburg turnpike, returned to his home last Saturday. The limb is in a plaster cast, but has improved nicely from the time he was taken to the hospital and fracture treated. If the unfortunate man keeps up his rate of improvement, it will not be long before he can get about reasonably well, and the limb will, ultimately, be of little or no inconvenience to him.

Tired Women

Women, worn and tired from over-work, need a tonic. That feeling of weakness or tiredness will not leave you of itself. Take Cardui, that effectual remedy for the ailments and weakness of women. Thousands of women have tried Cardui and write enthusiastically of its great benefit to them.

Take CARDUI

A recent letter from Mrs. Charles Bragg, of Sweetser, Ind., says: "Tongue cannot tell how much your medicine has done for me. Before I began taking Cardui I could not do a day's work. I would work awhile and lie down. I shall always give praise to your medicine."

Try Cardui. For sale everywhere.

E 42

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

For Sale—Four hogs. Will weigh about 200 pounds each. Apply to J. W. Kelly.

Now is the time to Buy a Piano for Christmas.

We will Save you $100.00 on a strictly

High Grade Piano or Player Piano.

THE TONE, QUALITY AND DURABILITY OF OUR PIANOS CANNOT BE EXCELLED ANYWHERE.

Cash or Easy Payments. Large Stock to Select from

When in Covington call in and see us.

Ben J. Wagner Company,

NO. 82 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

Watch Values at Motch's

Is a generally accepted fact made positive by a long Established record. The principal reason is this—we sell our Watches under a Guarantee of reliability and accuracy that protects the buyer absolutely—and we show you over 500 watches to

MAKE YOUR SELECTION FROM.

FOR THE LADIES.		FOR THE GENTLEMEN.
LADIES' SOLID GOLD Watches, plain and engraved	$16 up	GENTLEMEN'S WATCHES Solid Gold from.....	$30 up
LADIES' SOLID GOLD Watches, set with diamonds	$25 up	GENTLEMEN'S "Very Thin" open face Elgin or Waltham	$15 up
LADIES' GOLD FILLED Watches, Elgin movement	$10 up	GENTLEMEN'S Gold filled Watches, any mov. you want	$8 up
LADIES' 25-yr CASE, fitted with our "Motch Special" mo	$14 up	GENTLEMEN'S Nickle Watches.....	$1 up

BEST WATCH OFFERED AT ANYWHERE NEAR THE PRICE.

MOTCH, THE JEWELER,

613 Madison Avenue, - Covington, Kentucky.

Warning to Hunters.

Any person or persons trespassing or hunting with dog or guns on the lands of the undersigned will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

WALTON PRECINCT.

W. H. Senour	W. E. Dixon
G. W. Taylor	M. E. Fields
G. E. Carroll	Bryant Campbell
J. C. By and	Mrs Jane Kennedy
J. C. Mayhugh	A. R. Johnson
Robt. Chambers	L. S. Wolfe
Ira Aylor	S. C. Hicks
Batty Long	J. S. West
Lawrence Ryan	Clay Baker
S. Taylor	John Mardis
S. M. Hudson	R. O. Hughes
Theo. Kennedy	Martha C. Hudson
Ben Cleek	Rebecca J. Hudson
J. C. Bedinger	Kate Hudson
John Goodridge	O. S. Glacken
J. J Hudson	Geo W Ranson
Rev. Lafe Johnson farm.

BURLINGTON PRECINCT.

Mrs Elizabeth Utz	W L B Rouse
Oscar Gaines	Bart E Aylor
Clarence Easton	Karl Rouse
T. J. Walton.	Peter Buchart.
Hewitt Bros.	Chas. A. Gaines
Mrs. A. Harding.
Minerva Weaver.

BELLEVIEW PRECINCT.

Julia Dinsmore

BULLITTSVILLE PRECINCT.

Mrs Mary Gaines	John W Clore
Elbert Rouse	Huey Aylor
Jeff D Cloud	Harvey Aylor
H L McGlasson	Ben Paddock
R C McGlasson	C E Clore
E J Aylor	Chester Hood

UNION PRECINCT.

E L Rouse	W H Wilson
Jas Delahaunty	H F Utz

PETERSBURG PRECINCT.

F M Voshell	C L Voshell

HAMILTON PRECINCT.

R. Lee Huey

C. H. ACRA, AUCTIONEER

GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

R. W. Clark will have a public sale of all his household goods, etc., county court day, Dec., at 10 a. m.—Terms of credit made known on day of sale.

NEW PACKED

Dried Peaches, Apples, Prunes,

Raisins, Oranges, Etc.,

Now in Stock.

All other goods as soon as the season opens. Don't forget to call in and compare my Quality and Prices with others.

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

Capital, $50,000. Surplus, $10,000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated—A. D. 1903.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENHEKER, Vice-President.

S. I. WEBB, Cashier.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875.
Subscription $1.50 year.
Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 8, 1909. NO 8

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

IDLEWILD.

Dec. 4—This is a fine day.

T. G. Willis has gone to hard labor—hauling saw logs.

Mrs. Clinton Galnes went to Louisville, Friday, to visit her daughter Mrs. Randall.

We expected to report a dining at Carl Price's, but did not get the particulars.

Mrs. Seikman, of Taylorsport, returned Sunday from a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs. Luther Scothorn, of Idlewild.

Mrs. Courtney Walton, Mrs Carl Price, Jno. Cropper and daughter, Mrs. R. C. Gaines, were shopping in Cincinnati, Thursday.

Several Woolperites attended the Riley sale, Wednesday, but none bought anything, except Chas Finn, who bought a colt.

Farmer Jones says, in weaning a cow from her calf, if you tie a corn cob to the cow's tail, she won't fret and bawl for her calf.

Farmer Jones killed hogs Thursday. Killed 5 that made 47 gallons of lard, and if he had trimmed as close as is usual they would have made at least 50 gallons.

Thos. Birkle and wife, of Bullittsville, spent Sunday with his uncle Joe Bowers, near Lawrenceburg ferry. He reported his aunt much better than he ever expected to see her.

Courtney Walton says the sorrell filly he has is so perfect in form and such a quick stepper that she completely knocks Ed Botts out, he will have to have sorrell horse farm, put on his mail box.

Rev. V. Brooks and Harry Stevens went to Cincinnati, Friday, to see and hear Gipsey Smith, and Jonas, Charles and William Stevens went up Sunday. Jonas says to hear Gipsey and son sing will make ones hair stand on end.

James A. Duncan, of Burlington, Ves Gaines and wife, Mrs Legrand Gaines and H. C. Duncan, that we know of, spent Sunday with T. G. Willis and wife. Mr. Willis promised to stop when passing and give us a report, but he did not have the time to spare.

GRANT.

The sidewheel steamers are on duty again, as there is a rise in the river.

Several tobacco raisers from here went to the hub, today, to attend the pool meeting.

Miss Lottie Burns, of Woolper, was a Saturday and Sunday guest of John Deck and wife.

Several from here enjoyed the dance given by Hugh Stephens and wife at their home near Rabbit Hash, Saturday night.

An oyster supper billed here for the 4th inst., was postponed on account of the bivalves not arriving. It will come off tonight.

A letter received from W. C. Ryle and wife, of Fresno, California, announces the arrival of an eight pound girl at their home last week.

Earl Lesk and Bob Nixon passed here, one day last week, with two loads of the former's tobacco, he had sold to Brodie. Very little has been stripped in this vicinity.

Miss Stella Ryle, of Commissary, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Brown, of this place, and Miss Gladys Ryle, of Rabbit Hash, were initiated into the mysteries of the Rebecca lodge here Saturday night.

There was a considerable shakeup among our citizens, last week. Dode Pope moved to McVille, Joe West, to the house vacated by Dode and which he purchased, Warren Flick, of McVille, moved into the house vacated by Joseph West. Lute Abdon, of Gunpowder, will move into the house recently vacated by Forest Rice.

HEBRON.

Edgar Aylor fell out of a barn loft, last week, and is somewhat crippled.

E. A. Surface and son, of Richwood, attended church here Sunday night.

Mrs. Geanie Clore, of Waterloo, was visiting relatives in this neighborhood last week.

Miss Kate Ashbrook returned to her home in Covington, last Friday, after a visit of several months with Mrs. Lillie Conner and other relatives.

As M. L. Crutcher attempted to cross the railroad track at Anderson Ferry, last Friday morning, with a load of hay, his horses became frightened at a train which he did not see on account of the fog and upset the load. He jumped and hurt one of his lower limbs very badly.

BULLITTSVILLE.

C. E. Stephens had 4 acres of corn that made 300 bushels.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gaar entertained with an elegant dinner, last Sunday.

A. S. Winston was the guest of Verner Tupman and wife of Hebron Sunday night.

Miss Marietta Stephens was at home Sunday from Petersburg where she is attending school.

E. K. Stephens sold to a Mr. Wilson of Beaver, two sows and 16 pigs for $80, one day last week.

FLICKERTOWN.

J. E. Gaines is building a large pond.

Cage Stephens bought a cow of Robert Woods.

Woodie Sullivan bought a sow and nine pigs of Albert Acra price $28.

Charles Klopp had a nice heifer killed one day last week by hunters.

Courtney Jarrell delivered his tobacco to Thompson at Aurora, Monday.

Mrs. Owen Utz and children, of Newport, visited Ben Hensley and family, several days last week.

UNION.

Mrs. Wm. H. Wilson is quite sick.

Ben Stahl, of Gallatin county, spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Houston.

Billy Black, Supt. of the Consolidated Telephone Company, made the town a brief call, Saturday.

Mrs. Leach, of Georgetown, visited her cousins, W. H., and J. W. Conner, several days last week.

Mrs. Sara Dunbar is entertaining her brother, Charles Ogden and son, of Southern Kentucky.

Arthur Tanner and family spent Saturday night and Sunday at Gunpowder, guests of Mrs. Enoch Rouse.

E. O. Norman arrived from Altamont, Sunday, and remained until Wednesday with his mother, Mrs. Maud Norman.

Joe Wilson was thrown by a fractious horse, Sunday, and had his face badly scratched and one arm considerably sprained.

W. E. Vest, the hustling real estate agent from Walton, was here Tuesday trying to inoculate our citizens with Texas fever germs.

Lloyd Stephens had a number of teeth drawn last week and the loss of blood was so great that he has been confined to his room every since.

In spite of the inclement weather a large crowd of young people gathered at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Love, Friday night, and danced until the early morning hours.

The civil engineers who are surveying the route for the traction line between Covington and Big Bone Springs, are camping on the J. W. Conner farm north of town.

GUNPOWDER.

Rev. O. F. Hartman left a good impression with all who heard him.

L. P. Aylor's old family mare died last week. She had been set free.

B. B. Hume came over last week and sold Bob Tanner a good farm horse.

H. L. Tanner left last Tuesday for Spring Place, Ga., to visit H. O. Rouse and other relatives.

After a few months sojourn in Erlanger Billie Busby Moved back to this neighborhood last Monday.

In a communication which we received from Rev. Walterick he stated that they arrived safely at Mt. Carmel, Ill., his former pastorate.

Mrs. H. F. Utz came very near losing her pocket book while shopping in the city. She left it lying on a counter when she left a store. A clerk saw a person pick it up, and being onto the game followed to the street and reclaimed the pocket book, which was afterwards returned to Mrs. Utz.

RABBIT HASH.

Morris Rice did not tarry long in Texas.

Miss Stella Stephens is convalescent after a spell of typhoid fever.

Miss Hood is preparing for a Christmas entertainment at Victory school house.

C. G. Riddell was kicked by one of his mules but not seriously hurt, last Saturday.

Wilbur Kelly, who had his arm broken by a fall from his horse, is able to go to school.

Work on the pike is progressing nicely. Men are coming out from the city to get work.

Bro. Hensley, accompanied by his father from Texas, filled his appointment at East Bend Saturday.

Lou VanNess and daughter who returned home from Gays, Ill., last week, were given a pound party by their friends and neighbors last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Sallie Stephens purchased J. E. Calverts house and is now a resident of Rabbit Hash. Mr. Calvert bought out Elijah Hodges, who has moved to the place he bought from John Mace Hodges, while John Mace has moved to the Terrill place near Petersburg.

Stung For 15 Years

by Indigestion's pangs—trying many doctors and $200.00 worth of medicine in vain. B. F. Ayscue, of Ingleside, N. C., at last t used Dr. King's New Life Pills, and writes they wholly cured him. They cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headachh, Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowel troubles. 25c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

VERONA.

Corn is selling at $2.50 per barrel here.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Conrad and son, of Dry Ridge, were guests of R. O. Powers and family the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Powers entertained with a family reunion, last Sunday, in royal style. Turkey and all the delicacies of the season were served at the noon hour. A very large number of their friends were present.

Ray, youngest son of J. N. Powers and wife, died last Wednesday. The funeral was preached by Rev. McMillan, Friday, after which the remains were interred at New Bethel. The pallbearers were Misses Lena Tanner, Blanch and Ruby Powers and Blanch Whitson.

(By Another Correspondent.)

Dr. H. E. B'Hymer spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Cincinnati.

Butler Myers, who has a good position in Cincinnati, spent Sunday here with his wife and sons.

Mrs. H. E. B'Hymer and little son, and Miss Alice Ransom, were pleasant guests of Mrs. B. A. Sleet, last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carol Johnson and little daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keiswetter, of Covington, were Sunday guests at Lewis Persival's.

C. W. Sayers and Can and Joseph Snyder, of the Snyder Grocery Co., Cincinnati, were guests of J. C. Hume and family, Sunday. They came out from Cincinnati in their automobile.

Charles Lewis one of our esteem and venerable citizens, was the recipient of a very serious injury, one day last week. While putting in the tin gutters on the new residence which he had been erecting for James Anderson, he slipped on the tin and fell to the ground, sustaining a broken hip.

Last Wednesday the Death Angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Powers, and bore away Roy, their little four year old son, to the realms of eternal bliss. He was sick but a few days and was not thought to be in immediate danger. The entire community extend to Mr. and Mrs. Powers their heartfelt sympathy over their loss.

Card of Thanks.—We desire to extend our sincere thanks to our large number of friends for kindness shown us in the loss of our precious little darling boy. Words cannot express the appreciation from us to each and everyone, and to the minister who offered us such comforting words, assuring us of Roy's eternal happiness with the blessed Lord, our Saviour, in the Heavenly home above.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Powers.

BUFFALO.

Elijah Stephens has been sick.

Mrs. Kate Ashburn is home from a visit.

Frank Rue anticipates moving to Lexington.

Eugene Kelly, of Burlington, spent from Friday until Sunday with R. L. Huey and family.

Mrs. Etta Clements was visiting relatives on Gunpowder from Tuesday morning until Thursday evening.

The pie social given by the Ladies Aid at R. L. Huey's, cleared about $15. About 60 or 70 persons present.

Several from here attended the spelling match at Beach Grove and reported Joe Walton as champion speller and Anna Belle Ryle as champion in cyphering.

The November examination of the Hathaway school places the following on the honor roll: Emma Clements, Edith Kelly, Lillian Kelly, Mildred and Joseph Moore, and Laurabelle Abdon.

PLATTSBURG.

Mrs. Ben Akin and daughter visited at Chas. Finn's, last Wednesday.

Little William Finn has been laid up the past week with a badly hurt knee.

Cage Stephens and family visited Mrs. Stephens mother Mrs. Geo. Aylor, last Sunday.

Courtney Jarrell delivered a load of tobacco to Wingate & Thompson at Aurora, today.

Miss Lola Beemon entertained quite a crowd of young folks, last Saturday night and Sunday.

Miss Jennie Jarrell, of Beech Grove, was the guest of Miss Grace Aylor, several days last week.

Lost or Strayed—Eleven sheep that have been on the premises of Chas. Finn since last August. Owner will please come and get them.

Mrs. Ethel Warford and little daughter, of Cleves, returned to her home last Saturday after a pleasant visit with her mother, Mrs. Laura Sebree, of this place.

RICHWOOD.

Eli Rice and Eli Carpenter are topping J. J. Cleek's silo.

Mrs. Caroline Seniour of Erlanger, is the guest of Thos. Rice.

Mrs. Caroline Seniour, of Eelaugger, is the guest of Thomas Rice.

Our new merchants are busy in their store, getting ready for the holiday trade.

P. P. Hunter and wife, left last Tuesday for a few weeks' stay in Jasper, Alabama.

Albert Robinson has been busy on the mail route, Walter being engaged in the store.

Mrs. Amanda Carpenter entertained several guests, at dinner several days since.

It is said that the early Christmas buyer gets the bargains.

PETERSBURG.

Little Miss Jessie Alloway has been quite sick the past week.

Mrs. Mat True, of Covington, is visiting her sister Mrs. Will Alloway.

Will Crisler, of Olney, Illinois, arrived Friday to work at the distillery here.

Miss Irene Fisher, of Lawrenceburg, is visiting her cousins, Misses Hazel and Edith Yeomans.

Mrs. Burgess Howard and Miss Mayme Helms made a shopping tour to Cincinnati, Monday.

Miss Belle Howze, who has been laid up several days with rheumatism, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weindel and little daughter, Mildred, and Raymond Weindel of Covington, were recent guests of Mrs. Kate McWethy.

Where is Petersburg?

If this question was propounded to Kentuckians, I don't suppose nine out of ten on an average could give a correct answer.

Midway between Aurora and Lawrenceburg, Ind., on twenty-five miles below Cincinnati, lies this quaint, queer little town, on the Ohio river, two miles above the former town and two miles below the latter, both of which can plainly be seen.

It is situated on an elevated plateau, high above the highest water, its streets running parallel with the river. At its upper end the blocks extend back to the hills, while there is a large area of level farm land below it. Its streets are broad with rows of shade trees consisting of maple, hackberry and elm on either side, some of which are four feet in diameter, indicating the growth of a hundred years. Alleys run through every square that are carpeted like the streets with blue grass without a weed, a tin can or an ashbank, looking more like lawns than public highways. Occasionally little stretches of gravel path or driveway are seen, showing they are occasionally utilized as such, and the quiet and stillness is almost audible.

Fine Jersey cows browse along the streets and alleys or lie unmolested chewing their cud in the shade of the trees from morn till eve.

Over the door of the M. E. church is a date showing it was erected in 1847, a similar one on the Christian church is dated 1840.

The buildings are all, without exception, well preserved and in splendid state of repair, and a houses that would cost $1,800 or $2,000 to erect rents for $5 or $6 per month, or one costing $4,000 rents for $7 per month.

Along the river front are little piles of plank and lumber, their ends pointing toward the river. Upon inquiry you are told it is kindling that has drifted ashore. As long as it lies parallel with the river it is public property, but as soon as its position is reversed, it becomes private property and anyone molesting it is subject to a fine, hence it is not molested though it may lie there for months.

They have a large distillery which is operated by employes from those and several other towns. They have a canning factory and some of the best girls and women work in it more for a frolic and by way of diversion than by way of necessity.

No one seems to have much to do and they don't care whether they do that or not. All have cows, chickens, fruit and gardens and live at ease.

If one wants rest, quiet and a town of solitude, go to Petersburg.

NOEL GAINES

Coming Back to Petersburg—A Lecture, "From a Log Cabin to the Pulpit."

Workum Lodge No. 66, K. of P. has been very fortunate in securing the services of Capt. Noel Gaines, of Frankfort, to give his great lecture, "From a log cabin to the Pulpit," in which he tells so vividly of the many interesting incidents in his very eventful life, from a poor boy born in a log cabin, as a student, sheriff, soldier, actor, editor, detective to that of the present, a lecturer. He has just closed a most successful service at East Bend where great crowds from all points even from across the river flocked to hear him.

He goes from Petersburg to Burlington to begin a big union meeting on the 13th. See announcement elsewhere. Capt. Gaines held a very successful meeting at Petersburg just a year ago, by which he greatly endeared himself to the people generally, now they are very happy to know that he is coming back again if but for a short time only. Don't forget the date, Friday night, Dec. 10th, at Krutz's Hall, 7 p. m., rain or shine. All neighboring lodges are invited, together with everybody. Come and get some good brotherhood thoughts. FREE TO ALL.

x. x. x.

The finishing stage has been reached in the work on the new dam which the government is building at Fernbank for the making of the new Cincinati harbor. The power house, which is to contain the machinery and engines needed for the operating of the dam and its connected locks, has been completed, and Colonel Warren of the United States engineers has taken bids for the machinery equipment. This is to include the engines, air compressors, pumps, piping, boilers and all other accessories of a complete plant.

Personal Mention.

Mr. Allen Moorhead, of Bracken county, was a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Peddicord, last Sunday.

Joseph Schwartz, of near Hebron, was looking after business in Burlington, Thursday.

Charles Kelly, of Locust Grove, called in last Thursday and looked over the type setting machine.

Mrs. W. J. Rice spent several days the past week with relatives in Delhi, Covington and elsewhere.

H. G. Blanton, the popular funeral director, of Erlanger, was in Burlington a short time last Friday.

J. S. Cullum, of Pt. Pleasant neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington, last Thursday.

Homer Clutterbuck and wife of Covington, were Sunday night and Monday guests of J. E. Hall and wife.

T. J. Walton and family visited his mother at Erlanger, last Saturday, that being her 79th birthday.

Lewis Aylor, of near town, dropped in one day last week, and enjoyed looking over the machinery in the office.

Dr. G. M. Terrill and family are now at home in their commodious residence on Elm street.—Lawrenceburg Press.

Geo. Roberts, a prominent citizen, a leading business man and an all-around good fellow, of Verona, spent Thursday in Burlington.

W. F. Grant and W. C Weaver, of Gunpowder Heights were transacting business in Burlington, Wednesday afternoon.

Wm. Wilson the telephone lineman who was injured a few weeks ago, will soon be about again, very much to the gratification of his friends.

Hubert Cary, of Florence, was attending to some business in Burlington, last Friday. He was driving one of his handsome buggy animals.

A. B. Rouse has gone to Washington, D. C., to resume his duties as secretary to Congressman J. L. Rhinock, Congress having met last Monday.

J. M. Palmer, of Georgetown, was in Burlington, last Thursday. He is engaged writing life insurance and was looking for persons with whom to place policies.

Miss Nellie Kirkpatrick, assistant operator at the local telephone exchange is visiting relatives in Newport and Covington. She will be absent for a week.

Miss Olga Kirkpatrick, postmistress, has provided her office with a gasoline light that illuminates the room better by night, than it is lighted by nature during the day.

Mr. F. P. Walton and wife, of Covington; Mr. Wm. Keys and wife, of Hyde Park; and Miss Minnie Kelly, of Weestwood, were the guests of Dudley Rouse and wife last Sunday.

John Clore, of Hebron, called in one day last week and left a nice little order for stationery for his own use. Mr. Clore is one who wants to keep up with the procession in this age of progress.

T. J. Walton, and wife, of Commissary, entertained Bernard Rogers, wife and son, Master Walton, and John Rogers, wife and son, Master Russell, William Rogers, Rev. H. B. Hensley and wife and his father from Texas, and Miss Artie Ryle, last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Blankenbeker, of Louisville, Were guests of Supt. D. M. Snyder and wife, last Friday. Mr. Blankenbeker is a member of the realestate firm of Blankenbeker and Taylor, in Louisville. Mrs. B. is a daughter of the late J. Wash Watts, of Bullittsville.

Miss Emma Adams, one of the lady operators of the Burlington switchboard for the Consolidated Telephone Company, arrived home last Thursday evening from a delightful visit to her sister. Mrs. DeCoursey, at Sandford, Florida. While in Florida she visited Dr. W. O. Rouse and wife, at St. Petersburg, where they have a nice home, good health and are doing well.

ERLANGER.

Miss Jennie Geiger and mother spent Saturday in Cincinnati shopping.

Bert Smith, of Big Bone, was the guest of Mr. R. O. Hoard and family, Saturday.

Mrs. Martha Perkins, of Covington, was the guest of relatives here last week.

Robert White, of Newport, was the guest of relatives and friends here last Sunday.

Carl Gardner has returned to Wilmore, after a pleasant visit here with his parents.

Mrs. S. Franks has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Stricker, of Covington.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Rogers are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a little daughter.

James Franklin, wife and daughter, of Dayton, Ohio, were guests of relatives here last week.

James Carroll, wife and son, of Cinnnati, were guests of their parents, Chas. Carroll and wife last Sunday.

Little George Leglighter, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leglighter, passed away Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Leglighter have the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends.

BOONE COUNTY GROWERS MEET

And Endorse the Action of the President and Members of the District Board in the Management of the 1906 and 1907 Crops.

At a meeting held by the Board of Control and the tobacco growers of Boone county, at the court house in Burlington, Monday, with R. B. Huey presiding, the following resolutions were adopted without a dissenting voice:

Whereas, an action pending in the Clark circuit court in which J. E. Gateskill and others as plaintiffs and the B. T. S. as defendants, receivers were appointed to take charge of the affairs of the B. T. S. relative to the handling of the proceeds of the 1906 and 1907 crops of tobacco, and an opinion was rendered which reflects somewhat upon the integrity of the men composing the District Board of the society, criticising the management of the business thereof, now therefore be it resolved:

1st. That we, as members of the Boone County Board of Control and growers of Boone county in mass meeting assembled do hereby endorse the action of the President and members of the District Board in the control and management of the 1906, '07, '08 and '09 pool from its origin to the present time.

2nd. That we, the tobacco growers of Boone county being perfectly satisfied with the management of sales and disbursement of proceeds of the B. T. S. do now authorize the B. T. S. to collect and use for the purpose of completing the 1909 pool our full balance of one per cent and $3 outage fee for both our 1906 and 1907 crop, or any part of this amount that may be in the hands of a receiver.

3d. That we not only endorse the action of our representatives of the B. T. S., but now promise faithfully to stand by them in the future and urge them to use all honorable means for the futherance of the pool, and will be with them to the last ditch to carry the 1909 pool to complete victory.

Coming to Burlington.

A revival meeting will begin in Burlington on the night of Dec. 13th by Capt. Noel Gaines. He will represent no denomination, simply preaching the Gospel for all. He will begin this meeting in the M. lecture "From a Log Cabin to the Pulpit." In this he gives a history of his life, first a poor boy in a log cabin, then a student, afterwards a sheriff, soldier, editor, detective and lecturer.

Every man, woman and child in this town and county should hear Capt. Gaines in this lecture.

One of the special features of the meeting will be the two prizes given to the boy and girl who writes the best composition on "THE TWO FLAGS AND WHAT THEY MEAN." The two flags will be seen on the colored lithographs which are being used to advertise the meeting.

This is a most worthy innovation, one that will help every scholar intellectually and morally, as well as reviving a feeling of American patriotism as nothing else will.

Let everybody encourage this. Let every boy and girl try. Let everyone study and learn all they can about the two beautiful flags, and then write down what they have learned sign their name, giving age and school grade at the top of first page of their paper.

Capt. Gaines has sent special word "That the boy or girl that doesn't show their "grit" by trying for this prize, is not genuine sky-blue Kentuckians, and they must "SKEEDDADDLE" across the Ohio river and get out of Kentucky."

To Whom It May Concern.

As to the past and present rates of the barber business in Burlington, and for one to make a fair margin or a living from the same 25 cents and 30 cents has been and is the required price for hair cutting. My price under 25 cents will be for regular trade hereafter. Thanking one and all for past patronage, and hoping to receive the same for which I will continue to work to your interest as I have in the past. Respectfully,

J. E. Hall.

Honor roll of Bullittsburg graded school. Pupils must have a general average of 95 to get on the roll of honor: 8th grade, Mattie Kreylich, Wallace Rice. 9th grade—C. L. Cropper, Lallie Rice. 3rd grade—Alice Walton.

The tobacco growers who came to Burlington, Monday, were out spoken in their desire that their one per cent and outage should be used in advancing the 1909 pool.

An entertainment will be given at Bullittsville Grange Hall from 3 to 11 p. m., on December 24th. Admission, 25 cents. All are invited.

Dr. T. B. Castleman has gone into a good practice in Burlington again. Read his ad. in another column.

The holiday trade is opening up with the city merchants.

The big meeting at the colored church is still in progress.

R. W. Clark and wife left for Petersburg, yesterday.

Two weeks until Christmas.

NEW RAILWAYS IN CENTRAL CANADA

AMERICAN SETTLERS WELCOME AND DOING WELL.

The Portland Oregonian, of Portland, Oregon, published a cartoon on the immigration of U. S. people to Canada, in its issue of October 5, 1909. The picture was accompanied by the following article:

"Losing American Citizens. The exodus of American farmers to Canada continues to be a phenomenon of the first importance. More of them are crossing the border this fall than ever before, and they are flocking from all parts of the country. Formerly it was the Middle West alone which thus lost the heart of its citizenship. Now all sections of the Union suffer alike. The regret which we cannot help feeling over the migration of many thousands of excellent citizens has an economic side which causes some concern. The 70,000 farmers who will go to Canada to live this fall will take with them some $70,000,000 in cash and effects. This is by no means a negligible sum, and makes a very appreciable drain on our resources. But, of course, the most serious loss is the men themselves and their families, who have forsaken the land of the free and the home of the brave to dwell under the rule of a monarch.

Why do they go? Naturally the cheap and fertile land of Western Canada attracts them. Each emigrant goes with a reasonable expectation of bettering his fortune. Indeed, in a few years he may grow rich through the abundant crops he can raise and the increase of land values. But perhaps that is not the sole reason for the astonishing migration. There is a common notion abroad that in Canada life and property are appreciably safer than they are here. Murders are not so frequent, and are more speedily and surely punished. Mobs and the so-called 'unwritten law' are virtually unknown in Canada. Again the law is a vastly more ascertainable entity there. Canada does not permit its judges to veto acts of the legislative body. When a statute has been enacted it is known to be the law of the land until it is repealed. this naturally imparts to Canadian civilization a security and stability which we have not yet attained.

"We must remember, in the same connection, that the Canadian protective tariff is far less exorbitant than ours, and much less boldly arranged for the benefit of special favorites. Hence there is an impression, very widely diffused, that the Canadians are not so wickedly robbed by the trusts as we are in this country. Reasons like these sufficiently account for the exodus of a body of citizens, whom we can ill afford to lose, but they do not much assuage our regret that they cannot be retained in the United States."

Speaking of this, a Canadian Government representative says that the Americans who cross the border are most welcome. The splendid areas of virgin soil, a large quantity of which is given away as free homesteads, lie close to existing railways and to those under construction. The railway lines that are assisting in this development are the Canadian Pacific, the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific. The latter is built entirely on Canadian soil, and has opened up a wonderful stretch of land. Along this line during the year about closed thousands of American settlers have made their homes. They have built the towns, and immediately began as factors in the building up of the great Canadian West.

Agents of the Government are located in various cities throughout the United States who will be pleased to give any information that may be desired to further the interest of the settler.

A Decoy.

The minister who had exchanged with Rev. Mr. Talcom was scandalized to see Deacon Snowball in the vestry, after service, deliberately taking a 50-cent piece out of the contribution-box and substituting a dime.

"Bror Snowball," he exclaimed, in horror and amazement, "that's plain dishonest doings!"

SKIN ROUGH AS BARK.

Baby Boy Had Intense Itching Humor —Scratched Till Blood Ran.

Found a Cure in Cuticura.

"Our son, two years old, was afflicted with a rash. After he suffered with the trouble several weeks I took him to the doctor but it got worse. The rash ran together and made large blisters. The little fellow didn't want to do anything but scratch and we had to wrap his hands up to keep him from tearing the flesh open till the blood would run. The itching was intense. The skin on his back became hard and rough like the bark of a tree. He suffered intensely for about three months. But I found a remedy in Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. The result was almost magical. That was more than two years ago and there has not been the slightest symptom of it since he was cured. J. W. Lauck, Yukon, Okla., Aug. 28 and Sept. 17, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

We do not know how cheap the seeds of happiness are, or we should scatter them oftener.—Lowell.

EXPOSURE TO COLD and wet is the first step to Pneumonia. Take Perry Davis' Painkiller and the danger is averted. Unequaled for colds, sore throat, quinsy, &c. 25c and 50c.

It takes a woman to tell a secret and magnify its importance.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT 1908 BY A.C.MCCLURG & CO.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He tasted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on monkeynuts, the only possible food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in the cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights. The trio secured eggs from the cliffs. Miss Leslie's white skirt was decided upon as a signal. Miss Leslie made a dress from the leopard skin. Blake's efforts to kill antelopes failed. Overhearing a conversation between Blake and Winthrope, Miss Leslie became frightened. Winthrope became ill with fever. Blake was poisoned by a fish. Jackals attacked the camp that night, but were driven off by Genevieve. Blake returned, after nearly dying. Blake constructed an animal trap. It killed a hyena.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

"Mr. Blake!" she exclaimed, "Mr. Winthrope is going off without a word; but I can't endure it! You have no right to send him on such an errand. It will kill him!"

Blake met her indignant look with a sober stare.

"What if it does?" he said. "Better for him to die in the gallant service of his fellows, than to sit here and rot. Eh, Win?"

"Do not trouble yourself, Miss Genevieve. I hope I shall pull through all right. If not—"

"No, you shall not! I'll go myself!"

"See here, Miss Leslie," said Blake, somewhat sternly; "who's got the responsibility of keeping you two alive for the next month or so? I've been in the tropics before, and I know something of the way people have to live to get out again. I'm trying to do my best, and I tell you straight, if you won't mind me, I'm going to make you, no matter how much it hurts your feelings. You see how nice and meek Win takes his orders. I explained matters to him last night—"

"I assure you, Blake, you shall have no cause for complaint as to my conduct," muttered Winthrope. "I should like to observe, however, that in speaking to Miss Leslie—"

"There you are again, with your everlasting talk. Cut it out, and get busy. To-morrow we all go on a hike to the river."

As Winthrope started off, Blake turned to Miss Leslie, with a good-natured grin.

"You see, it's this way, Miss Jenny—" he began. He caught her look of disdain, and his face darkened. "Mad, eh? So that's the racket!"

"Mr. Blake, I will not have you talk to me in that way. Mr. Winthrope is a gentleman, but nothing more to me than a friend such as any young woman—"

"That settles it! I'll take your word for it, Miss Jenny," broke in Blake, and springing up, he set about his work, whistling.

The girl gazed at his broad back and erect head, uncertain whether she should feel relieved or anxious. The more she thought the matter over, the more uncertain she became, and the more she wondered at her uncertainty. Could it be possible that she was becoming interested in a man who, if her ears had not deceived her— but no! That could not be possible!

Yet what a ring there was to his voice!—so clear and tonic after Winthrope's precise, modulated drawl. And her countryman's firmness! He could be rude if need be; but he would make her do what he thought was best for her health. Was it not possible that she had misunderstood his words on the cliff, and so misjudged—wronged—him?—that Winthrope, so eager to stipulate for her hand— But then Winthrope had more than confirmed her dreadful conclusions taken from Blake's words, and Winthrope was an English gentleman—

She ended in a state of utter bewilderment.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Savage Manifest.

As WINTHROPE had succeeded in dragging himself to and from the headland without a collapse, the following morning, as soon as the dew was dry, Blake called out all hands for the expedition. He was in the best of humors, and showed unexpected consideration by presenting Winthrope with a cane, which he had cut and trimmed during the night.

Having sent Miss Leslie to fill the whisky flask with spring water, he dropped three cocoanut-shell bowls, a piece of meat and a lump of salt into one of the earthenware pots, and slung all over his shoulder in the antelope skin. With his bow hung over the other shoulder, knife and arrows in his belt, and his big club in his hand, he looked ready for any contingency.

"We'll hit first for the mouth of the river," he said. "I'm going on ahead. If I'm not in sight when you come up, pick a tree where the ground is dry, and wait."

"But I say, Blake," replied Winthrope, "I see animals over in the coppices, and you should know that I am physically unable—"

"Nothing but antelope," interrupted Blake. "I've seen them enough now to know them twice as far off. And you can bet on it they'd not be there if any dangerous beast was in smelling distance."

"That is so clever of you, Mr. Blake," remarked Miss Leslie.

"Simple enough when you happen to think of it," responded Blake. "Yes; the only thing you've got to look out for's the ticks in the grass. They'll keep you interested. They bit me up in great shape."

He scowled at the recollection, nodded by way of emphasis, and was off like a shot. The edge of the plain beneath the cliff was strewn with rocks, among which, even with Miss Leslie's help, Winthrope could pick his way but slowly. Before they were clear of the rough ground, they saw Blake disappear among the mangroves.

The ticks proved less annoying than they had apprehended after Blake's warning. But when they approached the mouth of the river, they were alarmed to hear, above the roar of the surf, loud snorting, such as could only be made by large animals. Fearful lest Blake had roused and angered some forest beast, they veered to the right and ran to hide behind a clump of thorns. Winthrope sank down exhausted the moment they reached cover; but Miss Leslie crept to the far end of the thicket and peered around.

"Oh, look here!" she cried. "It's a whole herd of elephants trying to cross the river mouth where we did, and they're being drowned, poor things!"

"Elephants?" panted Winthrope, and he dragged himself forward beside her. "Why, so there are; quite a drove of the beasts. Yet, I must say, they appear smaller—ah, yes; see their heads. They must be the hippos Blake saw."

"Those ugly creatures? I once saw some at the zoo. Just the same, they will be drowned. Some are right in the surf!"

"I can't say, I'm sure, Miss Genevieve, but I have an idea that the beasts are quite at home in the water. I fancy they enjoy surf bathing as keenly as ourselves."

"I do believe you are right. There is one going in from the quiet water. But look at those funny little ones on the backs of the others!"

"Must be the baby hippos," replied Winthrope, indifferently. "If you please, I'll take a pull at the flask. I am very dry."

When he had half emptied the flask, he stretched out in the shade to doze. But Miss Leslie continued to watch the movements of the snorting hippos, amused by the ponderous antics of the grown ones in the surf, and the comic appearance of the barrel-like infants as they mounted the backs of their obese mothers.

Presently Blake came out from among the mangroves, and walked across to the beach, a few yards away from the huge bathers. To all appearances, they paid as little attention to him as he to them. Miss Leslie glanced about at Winthrope. He was fast asleep. She waited a few moments to see if the hippopotami would attack Blake. They continued to ignore him, and gaining courage from their indifference, she stepped out from behind the thicket, and advanced to where Blake was crouched on the beach. When she came up, she saw beside him a heap of oysters, which he was opening in rapid succession.

"Hello! You're just in time to help," he called. "Where's Win?"

"Asleep behind those bushes."

"Worst thing he could do. But lend a hand, and we'll shuck these oysters before rousting him out. You can rinse those I've opened. Fill the pot with water, and put them in to soak."

"They look very tempting. How did you chance to find them?"

"Saw 'em on the mangrove roots at low tide, first time I nosed around here. Tide was well up to-day; but I managed to get these all right with a little diving. Only trouble, the skeets most ate me alive."

Miss Leslie glanced at her companion's dry clothing, and came back to the oysters themselves. "These look very tempting. Do you like them raw?"

"Can't say I like them much any way, as a rule. But if I did, I wouldn't eat this mess raw."

"Yes?"

"This must be the dry season here, and the river is running mighty clear. Just the same it's nothing more than tiquid malaria. We'll not eat these oysters till they've been pasteurized."

"If the water is so dangerous, I fear we will suffer before we can return," replied Miss Leslie, and she held up the flask.

"What!" exclaimed Blake. "Half gone already? That was Winthrope."

"He was very thirsty. Could we not boil a potful of the river water?"

"Yes, when the ebb gets strong, if we run too dry. First, though, we'll make a try for cocoanuts. Let's hit out for the nearest grove now. The main thing is to keep moving."

As he spoke, Blake caught up the pot and his club and started for the thorn clump, leaving the skin, together with the meat and the salt, for Miss Leslie to carry. Winthrope was wakened by a touch of Blake's foot, and all three were soon walking away from the seashore, just within the shady border of the mangrove wood.

At the first fan-palm Blake stopped to gather a number of leaves, for their palm-leaf hats were now cracked and broken. A little farther on a ruddy antelope, with lyrate horns, leaped out of the bush before them and dashed off toward the river Blake could string his bow. As if in mockery of his lack of readiness, a troupe of large green monkeys set up a wild chattering in a tree above the party.

"I say, Miss Jenny, do you think you can lug the pot, if we go slow? It isn't far now."

"Good for you, little woman! That'll give me a chance to shoot quick."

They moved on again for a hundred yards or more; but though Blake kept a sharp lookout both above and below, he saw no game other than a few small birds and a pair of blue wood-pigeons. When he sought to creep up on the latter, they flew into the next tree. In following them, he came upon a conical mound of hard clay, nearly four feet high.

"Hello; this must be one of those white ant-hills," he said, and he gave the mound a kick.

Instantly a tiny object whirred up and struck him in the face.

"Whee!" he exclaimed, springing back and striking out. "A hornet! No; it's a bee!"

"Did it sting you?" cried Miss Leslie.

"Sting? Keep back; there's a lot more of 'em. Sting? Oh, no; he only hypodermicked me with a red-hot darning needle! Shy around here. There's a whole swarm of the little devils, and they're hopping mad. Hear 'em buzz!"

"But where is their hive?" asked Winthrope, as all three drew back behind the nearest bushes.

"Guess they've borrowed that ant-hill," replied Blake, gingerly fingering the white lump which marked the spot where the bee had struck him.

"Wouldn't it be delightful if we had some honey?" exclaimed Miss Leslie.

"By Jove, that really wouldn't be half bad!" chimed in Winthrope.

"Maybe we can, Miss Jenny; only we'll need a fire to tackle those buzzers. Guess it'll be as well to let them cool off a bit also. The cocoanuts are only a little way ahead now. Here; give me the pot."

They soon came to a small grove of cocoanut palms, where Blake threw down his club and bow and handed his burning-glass to Miss Leslie.

"Here," he said; "you and Win start a fire. It's early yet, but I'm thinking we'll all be ready enough for oyster stew."

"How about the meat?" asked Miss Leslie.

"Keep that till later. Here goes for our dessert."

Selecting one of the smaller palms, Blake spat on his hands, and began to climb the slender trunk. Aided by previous experiences, he mounted steadily to the top. The descent was made with even more care and steadiness, for he did not wish to tear the skin from his hands again.

"Now, Win," he said, as he neared the bottom and sprang down, "leave the cooking to Miss Leslie, and husk some of those nuts. You won't mind; have time to do it before the stew is ready."

Winthrope's response was to draw out his penknife. Blake stretched himself at ease in the shade, but kept a critical eye on his companions. Although Winthrope's fingers trembled with weakness, he worked with a precision and rapidity that drew a grunt of approval from Blake. Presently Miss Leslie, who had been stirring the stew with a twig, threw in a little salt, and drew the pot from the fire.

"En avant, gentlemen! Dinner is served," she called gayly.

"What's that?" demanded Blake. "Oh; sure. Hold on, Miss Jenny. You'll dump it all."

He wrapped a wisp of grass about the pot, and filled the three cocoanut bowls. The stew was boiling hot; but they fished up the oysters with the bamboo forks that Blake had carved some days since. By the time the oysters were eaten, the liquor in the bowl was cool enough to drink. The process was repeated until the pot had been emptied of its contents.

"Say, but that was something like," murmured Blake "If only we'd had pretzels and beer to go with it! But these nuts won't be bad."

When they finished the cocoanuts Winthrope asked for a drink of water.

"Would it not be best to keep it until later?" replied Miss Leslie.

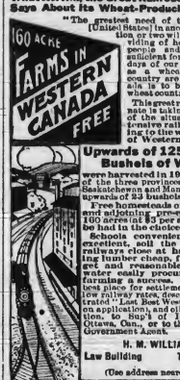
"Sure," put in Blake. "We've had enough liquid refreshments to do any one. If I don't look out, you'll both be drinking river water. Just bear in mind the work I'd have to carve a pair of gravestones. No; that flask has got to do you till we get home. I don't shin up any more telegraph poles to-day."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Uncertain Whether She Should Feel Relieved or Anxious.

FOR OLD PEOPLE.

After reaching the age of forty the human system gradually declines. The accumulated poisons in the blood cause rheumatic pains in the joints, muscles and back. These warnings should be promptly relieved and serious illness avoided by using the following prescription which shows wonderful results even after the first few doses and it will eventually restore physical strength.



"One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint of high grade whiskey. This to be mixed and used in tablespoonful doses before each meal and at bedtime. The bottle to be well shaken each time." Any druggist has these ingredients or can get them from his wholesale house.

WESTERN CANADA

What J. J. Hill, the Great Railroad Magnate, Says About its Wheat-Producing Power:

"The greatest need of this country [United States] in another generation or two will be the providing of homes for its people and producing enough for them. The days of our prominence as a wheat exporting country are gone. Canada is to be the great wheat country."

This great railroad magnate is taking advantage of the situation by extensive railway building to the wheat fields of Western Canada.

Upwards of 125 Million Bushels of Wheat were harvested in 1909. Average of the three provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba will be upwards of 25 bushels per acre.

Free homesteads of 160 acres, and adjoining pre-emptions of 160 acres (at $3 per acre), are to be had in the choicest districts.

Schools convenient, climate excellent, soil the very best, railways close at hand, building lumber cheap, fuel easy to get and reasonable in price, water easily procured; mixed farming a success. Write as to best place for settlement, settlers' low fullway rates, descriptive illustrated "Last Best West" matter free on application, and other information. Send to the Superintendent of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or to the Canadian Government Agent.

H. M. WILLIAMS
Law Building Toledo, Ohio
(Use address nearest you). 40

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

A CRUISE TO

SOUTH AMERICA

BRAZIL, ARGENTINA
URUGUAY and CHILE

First trip of its kind ever arranged—will be made by the S.S. Bincher (12,500 tons) leaving New York January 29, 1910. Duration

81 Days. $350 up

Also cruises to the West Indies and Orient

P. O. Box 1707

HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE
41-45 Broadway - - - - New York

The difference

remember this—

it may save your life. Cathartics, bird shot and cannon ball pills—tea spoon doses of cathartic medicines all depend on irritation of the bowels until they sweat enough to move. Cascarets strengthen the bowel muscles so they creep and crawl naturally. This means a cure and only through Cascarets can you get it quickly and naturally. 550

Cascarets—10c box—week's treatment. All druggists. Biggest seller in the world—million boxes a month.

Little Beauty Night Lamp

Once filled with kerosene it will burn 40 hours and is absolutely odorless. Ornamental, too, because handsomely constructed of brass nickel-plated and each lamp is provided with enough wick to last several years. The lamp can be used in entries, hallways, closets and is invaluable for Nursery and sickroom. Ask your dealer, or by mail (postpaid) 65c. Agts. wanted.

SILVER & CO.
Sole Manufacturers
306 Hewes Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

An absolutely harmless remedy for Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Coughs. Give immediate relief in Bronchial and Lung Affections.
Fifty years' reputation.
Price, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00 per box.
Sample sent on request.
JOHN I. BROWN & SON, Boston, Mass.

FITS cured to stay cured. Eminent judges, ministers, congressmen and the medical press declare my cures permanent. No cure after others fail. WRITE To-DAY FOR FREE BOOK[LET]. Address Dr. W. Towns, Fond du Lac, Wis.

MEPO CURES CATARRH

Mepo Fever, Headache, Colds. Two weeks' treatment sent on receipt of 25c. MEPO Co., 140 Remsen St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Baby Smiles— When He Takes PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS and COLDS

So pleasant that he likes it—and contains no opiates. There is nothing like it for Bronchitis, Asthma and all troubles of the throat and lungs. A Standard Remedy for half a century.

All Druggists, 25 Cents

Kentucky Gleanings

Most Important News Gathered from All Parts of the State.

BONDHOLDERS' POOL

Takes Over Properties in Kentucky and Indiana.

Louisville, Ky.—E. H. Cady, of Toledo, O., representing a committee in charge of a pool of company bondholders, was the only bidder for the property of the defunct Central Home Telephone Co. when Joshua D. Powers, special master, called for bids at the courthouse in accordance with the order of the United States district court for the eastern district of Kentucky. Mr. Cady bid $250,000. He represents interests amounting to $2,000,000. The Central Home Telephone Co. was incorporated in New Jersey, in 1905, with a capital stock of $5,000,000, and gave a mortgage for a like sum. It was planned to merge telephone companies in Kentucky, Northern Tennessee and Southern Indiana, but the scheme fell through and the company went into the hands of a receiver. The company owns more than 300 miles of wires.

FUNDS OF BURLEY SOCIETY

To Be Held Until Court Order in Receivership Directs Its Distribution.

Lexington, Ky.—Rufus Lisle and Lee S. Baldwin, of Winchester, who were appointed by Judge Benton, of the Clark circuit court, as receivers for the Burley Tobacco society's residue from the sale of the pooled tobacco crops of 1906 and 1907, came here, and, following a conference with burley society officials and attorneys, took formal charge of the books and papers of the society. A draft for $201,000, representing the money now in the three banks at Winchester as the remainder of the deposit from the sale of the 1906 and 1907 crops, was made payable to them. They took this draft with them to Winchester. The books and papers will not be removed from the burley offices here. They will not be needed by the receivers until the apportionment is to be made according to the orders of the court. When this will transpire, or whether it will transpire at all depends upon the action of the court of appeals. If the higher court should reverse the decision of the Clark circuit court the apportionment will be made by the officers of the burley society and not by the receivers.

Louisville, Ky.—Considerable excitement prevailed at the First Regiment armory here when Capt. Clemens, of Company G, attempted to place two privates under arrest for non-attendance at drills. Arthur Smith, of the hospital corps, interposed and was likewise placed under arrest. A civilian placed a revolver at the head of the man guarding the prisoners and six other belligerents effected a rescue. A detail of 12 men under Capt. Clemens was sent out to apprehend the prisoners, and a warrant taken out for the civilian.

Frankfort, Ky.—An order was entered in the federal court in the case of Charles F. Coffin against the Bell Jellico Coal Co., of Pineville, dismissing the receiver, R. M. Jackson, of London. Judge Cochran says an agreement of settlement has been reached and directed the receiver to turn the books and funds of the company over to the directors of the Bell Jellico Coal Co.

Frankfort, Ky.—Eighteen men qualified as jurymen to try the $25,000 damage suit of Mrs. Josie Hazelett against Walker Duncan and others accused of killing her husband. All are farmers. It is said the history of the alleged night rider organization in Central Kentucky will be laid bare during the trial.

Lexington, Ky.—The general council unanimously adopted an ordinance authorizing and directing Mayor John Skain to enter into a contract with the Lexington Hydraulic and Manufacturing Co. to furnish the city with water for 25 years, beginning Jan. 1, 1910.

Louisville, Ky.—Harness dealers of Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, who are interested in checking the evils that confront the trade, will attempt to form a permanent organization when the first annual meeting of the Tri-state Harness Dealers' association is held in this city, Jan. 17, 18 and 19.

Danville, Ky.—House dogs in Danville, through some unknown influence, are returning to the wild, untamed state and at nightfall become as ferocious and nomadic as the wolf dogs of pioneer days. Chickens, hogs, sheep and even larger stock fall prey to the vicious curs.

Louisville, Ky.—Louisville may be selected as headquarters for the Modern National Reserve, a fraternal and benefit society. Dr. V. A. Young, supreme president of the organization, is said to be very favorably impressed with this city.

Louisville, Ky.—A demand for reparation at the hands of the civil authorities for the alleged false arrest of Capt. Clements and five men of the First Kentucky regiment was made. The militiamen say that they will proceed with their court.

TAX BILLS ARE COLLECTABLE

In Cities of First Class, Decides Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky.—The validity of Section 2,998, of the Kentucky Statutes, 1909 edition, which provides for the collection of tax bills in cities of the first class, was upheld by the court of appeals, which affirmed the judgment of the Jefferson circuit court in the case of William Specht against the city of Louisville. Specht contended that the act affects adult persons only and does not apply to the property of infants, persons under the disability of coverture or insane persons, and, because the rate of interest charged on tax bills is usurious, is a violation of Section 2,218 and 2,219 of the Kentucky statutes. The court, however, takes the opposite view of the act and upholds it.

BIG TOBACCO SALE.

John H. Hodge, for the Regie Interests, Buys 4,500,000 Pounds.

Madisonville, Ky.—The Stemming association of this district sold its tobacco to John H. Hodge, for the Regie people, of 4,500,000 pounds. Hodge is to get 2,000,000 pounds at Henderson, 2,000,000 at Slaughtersville of the Webster county tobacco and 500,000 pounds at that city of Hopkins county tobacco. This leaves only about 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 pounds of tobacco unsold in the counties of Henderson, Webster, Union and Hopkins of the 1909 crop. The association had approximately 25,000,000 pounds of the 1909 crop, and has disposed of all but about 2,500,000.

PRICELESS RELIC

Of the Revolution Acquired by State Historical Society.

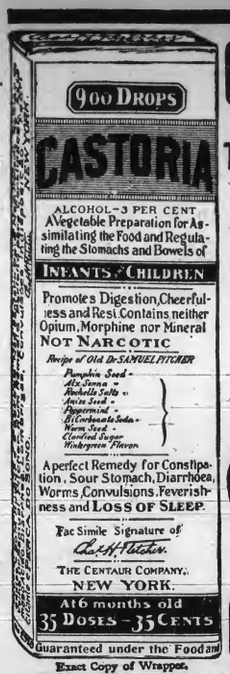
Frankfort, Ky.—The State Historical society will get the cannon captured by the revolutionists from Gen. Burgoyne, which has been in the state arsenal here for years. Gen. Johnston also notified Mrs. Jennie C. Morton, secretary-treasurer, that he would present the society with a painting of Gen. John C. Breckinridge wearing his confederate uniform.

Frankfort, Ky.—Four new companies were admitted to the state by Insurance Commissioner C. W. Bell. They are the Mannheim Fire Insurance Co., Mannheim, Germany, capital stock $200,000; Rhode Island Fire Insurance Co., Providence, capital stock $300,000; the International Fire Insurance Co., Ft. Worth, Tex., capital stock $204,200, and the Federal Life Insurance Co., Chicago, capital stock $150,000.

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Willson received a letter from Herbert Myrick, editor in chief of the American Agriculturist, of New York, stating that he has a client looking for a big tract of farming land suitable for colonization. The client wants either several tracts of land each 10,000 to 100,000 acres, or one tract from 100,000 to 1,000,000 acres. The land is desired for agricultural purposes.

Frankfort, Ky.—Pistol toters get no sympathy from Gov. Willson, as he refused to pardon Arnold Leavell, of Trigg county, convicted of carrying concealed and deadly weapons, although the aged father of the boy, a minister, pleaded to see his son before he dies. The boy is a fugitive.

Lexington, Ky.—Senator Combs and Representative Klair will on the first day of the session of the legislature in January offer a bill providing for a special election for the citizens of Lexington to vote on a proposed $500,000 bond issue for the reconstruction of brick streets.



Lexington, Ky.—The Fasig-Tipton Co.'s tenth annual sale of thoroughbred horses opened with the disposal of 142 head of stallions, mares and weanlings for an aggregate of $28 980, an average of a few cents less than $204. The attendance was good, and the bidding was brisk.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—The Planters' Bank and Trust Co. and the Commercial and Savings bank will be consolidated on Jan. 1 under the name of the Planters' Bank and Trust Co. The capital stock will be $150,000.

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Willson appointed C. H. Waddle, Somerset, special judge of the Kenton circuit court to try the cases of the commonwealth against William Goulet, George Bullock and Ben Brown.

Louisville, Ky.—The arrest of Capt. Reginald Clements and five privates of the First Kentucky regiment is alleged to have been caused by Arthur Smith, who had been arrested for insubordination. Rebellion within the regiment is threatened, it is said.

Russellville, Ky.—J. W. Johnson, a traveling man from Cincinnati, who was injured by jumping from a buggy when the team ran away, died in a Bowling Green sanitarium, from a clot on the brain. His skull had been fractured.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.00 $3.50 & $4.00 SHOES

THE LARGEST MANUFACTURER OF MEN'S FINE SHOES IN THE WORLD

Wear W. L. Douglas comfortable, easy-walking shoes. They are made upon honor, of the best leathers, by the most skilled workmen, in all the latest fashions. Shoes in every style and shape to suit men in all walks of life.

If I could take you into my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer and are of greater value than any other make.

CAUTION.—See that W. L. Douglas name and the retail price is stamped on the bottom. Take No Substitute.

BOY'S SHOES

$2.00 & $2.50

Wherever you live, W. L. Douglas shoes are within your reach. If your dealer cannot fit you, write for Mail Order Catalog. W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.

BURNS HERPES CHAFING ABRASIONS ERUPTIONS RING WORM

RESINOL

SCALDS ECZEMA ITCHING POISON IVY ERYSIPELAS NETTLE RASH

Is a perfect ointment—stops itching instantly. Prescribed by leading physicians throughout the world. A few applications will cure the worst case of itching and inflamed piles. For sale by all druggists or sent direct on receipt of price, 50 cents per jar.

RESINOL CHEMICAL COMPANY, BALTIMORE, MD.

I am glad to say that Resinol Ointment has completely cured me of itching piles.
J. H. Kidall, Dentist, Mt. Washington, Ohio.

For DISTEMPER Pink Eye, Epizootic Shipping Fever & Catarrhal Fever

Sure cure and positive preventive, no matter how horses at any age are infected or "exposed." Liquid, given on the tongue, acts on the Blood and Glands, expels the poisonous germs from the body. Cures Distemper in Dogs and Sheep and Cholera in Poultry. Largest selling live stock remedy. Cures La Grippe among human beings and is a fine Kidney remedy. 50c and $1 a bottle, $5 and $10 a dozen. Cut this out. Keep it; show to your druggist, who will get it for you. Free Booklet, "Distemper, Causes and Cures." Special agents wanted.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Chemists and Bacteriologists GOSHEN, IND., U. S. A.

Makes Shaving Easy
NO STROPPING NO HONING
TRADE Gillette MARK
KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. Agents wanted. Get catalog. The James Murdoch Mfg. Co.

DEFIANCE STARCH never sticks to the iron.

HAMLINS WIZARD OIL GREAT FOR PAIN

THE OIL THAT PENETRATES

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

PATENTS FRANKLIN H. HOUGH, Washington, D. C. No attorney's fees until patent is obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 50-1909.

Outwit the Horse Sharper

Did you ever find a lemon in a horse's nose? How and why did it get there? Did the last horse you bought go incurably lame the next day? Do you know why? Why were his ears tied together with a fine silken thread? Perhaps you are about to buy a horse because you like his "ginger"? Are you sure it is health and high spirits, or IS it ginger—commercial ginger? Are you sure you could tell the age of a horse by its teeth? Or would your experience be like that other man's, who paid $3500 for a 17-year-old horse, thinking he was buying a 7-year-old? The horse had been "Bishoped."

Doped and Doctored horses are sold every day; be on your guard.

Horse buying and trading offer hundreds of opportunities and temptations to use trickery and sharp practice.

There is only one way to meet it:—read

"HORSE SECRETS" EXPOSED

It will protect you—will make you horse-wise and crook-proof, and save you from being cheated by dopes or tricks when buying, selling, or trading. It exposes and makes you acquainted with the tricks and handling methods of gyps and a certain class of unscrupulous dealers. Many of the secrets of this book are now made public for the first time. No such collection of Horse Trading, Horse Buying, Horse Training, and Horse Feeding information has ever before been published. It is impossible even in this large space to give a complete list of the secrets in this sensational book.

"Horse Secrets" has been prepared by Dr. A. S. Alexander, the famous veterinarian, who has had upwards of 25 years' experience in Horse-Buying and Breeding.

How to Secure "Horse Secrets"

Horse Secrets has all the interest of an exciting story. The reader goes along from page to page with increasing wonderment at the clever dishonesty of tricky horse traders. It is a book that will sharpen your wits, and already the demand has far exceeded our expectations. We could sell this book and make large sales, too, at almost any price we wanted to ask. But we believe that WE CAN DO MORE GOOD in another way; therefore we offer it only in connection with the following offer:

Horse Secrets and subscription to FARM JOURNAL for 5 years, both for $1.00

FARM JOURNAL is the paper taken by most farmers, and by at least 150,000 people in towns and villages all over the United States. 650,000 cash-in-advance subscribers read every issue with delight and profit. It is a farm paper for farmers, but it is far more than that. Splendid departments on Vegetables, Flowers, Poultry, Household Hints and Recipes, Fashions, High Grade Patterns, the Family Doctor, Legal Questions, Boys' and Girls' pages, etc., as well as on Horses, Cows, Sheep, Swine, Orchard, and Field Crops.

In short, it is for everybody, town as well as country, and at the same time practical, instructive, amusing, and cheerful.

FARM JOURNAL is clean and pure. It never has to be carried out of the house with the tongs. The advertising columns receive the most careful scrutiny and the bars are up all the time against medical, deceptive, suggestive or nasty advertising of any kind whatever.

FARM JOURNAL is thirty-three years old, and has grown to be by far the largest in the world. Its score of editors are men and women who write "with their sleeves rolled up." They know what they are talking about, and can quit when they are through.

By itself, FARM JOURNAL is worth many dollars a year to every American who lives in or near the country. Yet the price, WITH "Horse Secrets" is only $1.00 for FIVE YEARS.

If you send your dollar within 10 days, we will include free "Poor Richard Revived," our splendid 1910 Farm Almanac. 48 pages of useful and amusing reading, calendar for the year 1910, etc.

A Partial List of Secrets

SECRETS OF HORSE TRADING AND SELLING:

The loose shoe trick. The turpentine and gasoline swindles. The horse-hair trick. The fresh butter and flaxseed tricks. Making a horse appear vicious or unsound. "Shutting" a "heaver." "Plugging" a "roarer." Hiding spavins or lameness. The ginger trick. Tricks of crooked auctioneers. The widow trick. The "burglar" dodge—and many others.

SECRETS OF HORSE FEEDING AND RAISING:

Successful silage feeding to horses. Secret of hand raising a foal. Secret method of fattening draughters. Secret of molasses feeding for horses.

SECRETS OF HORSE TRAINING AND HANDLING:

Secret of stopping halter pulling. Secret of keeping a mule from kicking. Secret of handling and curing balky horses. Secret of curing stall kicking. Etc., etc.

COUPON

FARM JOURNAL, 1087 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Gentlemen:—Enclosed find $1.00 for a copy of Horse Secrets and subscription to Farm Journal for five years.

Name .....

P. O. .....

Street or R. F. D. ..... State .....

As I send this within 10 days, send me "Poor Richard Revived," as promised.

CUT OUT AND MAIL

Farm Journal, 1087 Race St., Philadelphia

MUST HANG.

For Assaulting Mrs. Ramson Roberts,

Earl Thompson Must Hang, Says A Grans County Jury.

Earl Thompson, colored, was found guilty at Williamstown, yesterday, of criminally assaulting Mrs. Ransom Roberts, near Dry Ridge, and his punishment fixed at hanging. Thompson was indicted last Monday by a special grand jury called by Judge Cammack. It is said a mob was ready to hang the negro had any but the death penalty been inflicted by the jury.

This was the first conviction in Grant county for a Capital offense for over thirty years.

Hon. Joe C. S. Blackburn has resigned his position as governor of Panama. The salary of which was $15,000 a year.

The court of appeals has affirmed the life sentence given Beach Hargis for the killing of his father, James Hargis, the Breathitt county feudist.

M. P. Rehorn State Auditor's agent, has sued the Burley Tobacco Society for back taxes as follows: For 1907, cash, $7,473; for 1908, cash, $147,473, and for 1909, cash, $311,000; also for cases in action, $7,000.

The American Tobacco Company has issued a statement in which it denies the report that the company was negotiating for the purchase of the Burley tobacco in the pool, although the statement was pretty well authenticated when first published.

For the third time within a period of five years Indiana leads the states in its yield of corn per acre. The yield, in bushels, came near reaching the 200,000,000. Agents of the department of agriculture reported 196,320,000 bushels from the state. The average per acre was 40 bushels. In hard cash the yield would amount to $118,800,000. The crop is the greatest ever produced in the state.

The promoters of the Big Bone Traction Company, will meet next Friday night with the Covington city council, at which time the matter of the right of way over certain streets in that city will be considered. Dr. Crouch, J. W. Kennedy and others of the promoters are anxious that every person in this county who feels an interest in the success of the road, meet them at the court house in Covington at 7 p. m. next Friday. A large delegation is expected to be out in response to their request and give the proposed road a boost.

Miss Hiett, a teacher in the public school at Murray, Ky., had occasion to whip an unruly boy, whereupon 40 other boys marched out of the school room and refused to return unless the teacher would give up her place. She was compelled to send in her resignation. In the olden time when a boy was whipped at school the chance was that he got another whipping as soon as he reached home. Did the parents of the forty boys have no voice in the matter of compelling their return to school, without any conditions attached?

Teachers' Meeting.

The meeting of the Boone County Teachers' Association, held at Bullittsville, Saturday, December 4th, was opened by a quotation of a part of the 23d Psalm by Rev. E. C. Riley. The selection was followed by Prayer by Prof. Dix.

Mrs. Wood gave a thorough explanation of her method of teaching Primary and Advanced Reading, which was very interesting and instructive.

Spelling and Diacritics were discussed by Edna Riley, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Kirtley, and Messrs. Riley and Snyder.

Arithmetic was introduced by Mr. Harrison, who gave a very interesting talk on the fundamental principles of Arithmetic. Mr. Harrison greatly approves of the object method of teaching Primary Arithmetic. The subject was concluded by a few suggestions on Percentage and its relation to Aliquot Parts by Mr. Riley. He showed wherein Percentage bears a relation to all parts of Arithmetic.

In the absence of Mr. Brooks, Miss. Sadie Rieman discussed History, the topic which had been assigned him.

Mr. Dix entertained the audience for a few minutes by his illustration of the results of the cigarrette and its various accompaniments which was enjoyed very much.

Primary and Advanced Geography was discussed by Mrs. Kirtley who prefers the outline system.

Physiology and Hygene was introduced by Dr. Nunnelly who encouraged the teaching of the science and laid special stress on the care of the body, pointing out several ways in which the study can be made interesting. Dr. Hays concluded the subject by a brief talk, again emphpasizing cleanliness and sanitary conditions.

Mr. Snyder gave a brief talk on School Disciplin and Morals. He believes that the most effectual training begins in the home.

Meeting closed by prayer.

Edna M. Riley, Secretary.

Several new advertisements in this issue—read all of them.

Very wintersh weather followed the hard rain of Monday night.

Good Things are Coming for You

Florida Oranges, doz....15 & 20c	Shelled Pecans, lb.....60c	Can Green Tiny Lima Beans—elegant.....15c
Florida Grapefruit, each..5 & 8c (never so cheap before)	Shelled California Walnuts, pound.....40c	Can Garden Sugar Beets—fine.....10c
Cranberries, 3 qts.....25c	Shelled Valencia Almonds, pound.....50c	Can Pork and Peas.....15c
Malaga Grapes, lb.....15c	Shelled Jordan Almonds, lb..60c	Can Sweet Potat.....10c
Dates, 3 pounds.....25c	Loose Muscatel Raisins, lb..8⅓c	Can Sweet Potatoe—mistletoe brand.....15c
Figs, Sweet Smyrna Figs, lb.12½c	Seeded Raisins, lb.....10c	Two for.....25c
Mixed Nuts—Best quality, our own mixing, lb.....17c	Three pounds for.....25c	Cavalier Peas 10c, 3 cans....25c
Three pounds.....50c	Cleaned Currants, lb.....10c	Shoepeg Corn, 10c, 3 cans....25c
California Soft Shell Walnuts, lb. 18c, two lbs.....35c	Citron—best quality, lb,....20c	Carquinez Brand California Peaches, Pears and Apricots, can.....20c
Jumbo Pecans—the sweet kind pound.....18c	Orange & Lemon Peel, lb....20c	Spanish Peppers, can.....12c
Terragona Almonds, lb.....18c	Peaches, pound.....10c	Pure Cream Tartar Baking Powder, lb.....30c
Sicily Filberts, lb.....15c	Three pounds.....25c	Golden Blend Coffee, lb.....20c
Large Brazils or Cream Nuts, pound.....12½c	Prunes, pound.....10c	Moneyworth Coffee, lb.....17c
Peanuts, quart.....05c	Three pounds.....25c	Three pounds.....50c
	Apricots, pound.....15c	CAPITOL FLOUR—
	Dry Apples, pound.....08c
	Honey, pound.....10c

Geo. C. Goode, Agent

Pike and Washington Streets,

Covington, - Kentucky.

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,

WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.

CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.

JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.

Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

C. E. GARRISON. W. P. ROBINSON.

WILL OPEN THEIR

GENERAL STORE

At Richwood, Kentucky,

Monday, December 13th.

—DEALERS IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Coal, Salt and Farm Implements.

—GIVE US A CALL.—

Garrison & Robinson.

DON'T WORRY!

December Values At Green's Will Make You Happy.

Suits, Cloaks, Skirts, Waists, Dress Goods and Underwear All Selling For Less.

Several New Propositions In Our Premium Department and We Still Give Premium Tickets.

GREEN'S

Rising Sun, - - Indiana.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

FINE DRIVING SNOW CANNOT PENETRATE

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

THIS is only one of the advantages of these shingles.

They're fireproof, windproof, make the handsomest kind of a roof, and when they are once on they're there to stay, for "Cortright Metal Shingles" last as long at the building itself.

No trouble, no care; a coat of paint once every five years is all the attention they need.

Yes, they're cheap, quite cheap, considering their advantages, and we're sure you'll be more than satisfied with them from the minute you see them on your roof.

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

A DULL HEADACHE

is Nature's sounding the alarm that something is going wrong. Seventy-five per cent of headaches are caused by refractive errors that can be relieved by properly fitted glasses. We always make a thorough examination and give honest advice as to the condition and care of the eyes.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.

M. L. Swetnam Clarenc E. Swetnam Russell E. Swetnam

M. L. Swetnam & Sons,

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,

15 to 21 E. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.

Phone South 170. FREE AMBULANCE.

For Rent.

Tobacco farm of 63 acres of the best tobacco soil in this section, already cleared—will grow three crops. 25 acres pasture, 6 acres Alfalfa, some fine fruit; 1½ miles of Moores Hill, Ind. $300 per year for 3 years. Also a number of farms for sale. Call on or address

F. A. COLE,

Moores Hill, Ind.

First Annual Corn Show.

The first annual exhibit of the Kentucky Blue Grass Corn Show will occur at Lexington, Ky. Dec. 10, 11 and 13. The show will be held at Jackson Hall, situated near the Union Station and admirably suited for displaying the corn and also the machinery and other articles which have been offered as prizes.

The purpose of the Blue Grass Corn Show, as conceived by its originators and promoters, is to create and encourage an intelligent interest in corn growing as to cultivation and selection, to the end that the yield of corn may be increased and greater success and prominence given to the growing of this great crop.

Statistics show that the yield per acre of corn in Kentucky is from five to ten bushels less than that in the neighboring states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and others while the possibilities of our climate and soil are not correspondingly less. A great deal of interest has been created by the holding of a number of local Corn Shows in the State recently, i. e. those at Paris and Versailles, and the School Children's Contests instituted by Commissioner Rankin, and the indications are that this show, being held in the central part of the State, will be very successful and but the beginning of larger shows in the future.

Classes are open to Fayette County, to the State and the country at large, and advices have already been received from several professional growers who will exhibit here as well as many local growers. Attractive premium lists have been issued and may be had by applying to the Secretary of the Kentucky Blue Grass Corn Show, Lexington. These premium lists include over $400 worth of premiums, in cash, machinery and merchandise, and liberal prizes are offered for the different classes. The Show will continue thru three days, the last day being Monday, December 13, when all the exhibit here as well as many local will afford an opportunity for farmers, by buying the prize winning samples, to secure some excellent seed corn.

For all information address the Secretary, A. H. Gilbert, Kentucky Blue Grass Corn Show, Lexington, Kentucky.

RAW—FURS. Get my prices. Highest ever known. No lot too large for me. H. Kirkpatrick, Burlington, Ky.

A Jersey calf belonging to Ed Botts, of Plattsburg has been missing about one month. He would like to hear of it.

A very interesting and well attended teachers meeting was held at Bullittsville, last Saturday.

Throat Coughs

Ask your doctor about these throat coughs. He will tell you how deceptive they are. A tickling in the throat often means serious trouble ahead. Better explain your case carefully to your doctor, and ask him about your taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

We publish our formulas

Ayer's

We banish alcohol from our medicines

We urge you to consult your doctor

Who makes the best liver pills? The J. C. Ayer Company, of Lowell, Mass. They have been making Ayer's Pills for over sixty years. If you have the slightest doubt about using these pills, ask your doctor. Do as he says, always.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

Dr. T. B. CASTLEMAN, DENTIST.

Will be at Burlington to practice on County Court day and the following day of each month. You remember his painless extraction of teeth.

A NICE LINE OF

Holiday Furniture

will be found at

HENRY KNORR'S FURNITURE HOUSE,

Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Where you save money, and find just what you want in

Parlor Suites, Library Furniture such as Globe Weirnick Secritaries, Book Cases, Tables, Morris Chairs and Rockers.

IN DINING-ROOM SUITES

a fine selection.

The best and most desirable Kitchen Cabinet on the market from $12.50 up to $30.00, will be best appreciated as a Christmas present by Housekeepers. Other articles such as Foot Stools, Taboretts, Medicine Cabinets, Etc.

A fine selection on hand. We will be much pleased to welcome all his Kentucky friends during the Holiday Season.

HENRY KNORR,

Next to Peoples' Bank.

Reduction Sale.

Desiring to reduce my stock of goods, preparatory to moving my place of business, I will sell from now until Jan 1, all untrimmed hats from 25c to 75c; Pattern hats at $1.50 to $3.50; all ribbons at cost—Veils, Ladies' and Children's Hose and Supporters, Underwear, Belts, Barettes, Kerchiefs, Scarfs, etc. Come early and get choice. Thanks for past favors. Sincerely,

dec8-4t MRS. B. L. CLEEK.

Subscribe for the Recorder.

10 Per Cent DISCOUNT SALE ON ALL Men's Suits and Overcoats 10 Per Cent

We do this in Order to Introduce you to the Newest, Largest and Best Clothing Store in the City.

NOW IT IS UP TO YOU

ROSENTHAL BROTHERS,

Big Store Building, RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Local Happenings.

December came in nicely.

Last Sunday was a very rough day.

The Burlington common school is one of the six months class.

C. L. Gaines is agent for all American and foreign periodicals.

G. W. Sandford lost one of his work horses by death a few days since.

Bidding at Clark's sale Monday was lively, and good prices prevailed.

Stay at home, boys, next week. If the grandjury wants you it will send for you.

The annual calendar distribution is on, and the designs are many and attractive.

The meat that was butchered last week got in jeopardy, on account of the weather.

Subscribe for the Cincinnati Post Time-Star and Ky. Post through C. L. Gaines, the local man.

Right this way if you want those wedding invitations. You can not do better elsewhere.

The boss twelve will assemble in Burlington next Monday, to investi gate the morals of the county.

Every break in the weather at this time of the year is expected to be followed by an ugly period.

Jerry Tanner received, last week, a champion bred Poland China gilt, bred in Brown county, Ohio.

The favorable weather last week caused the delivery of much of the unpooled tobacco to the purchasers.

Some of the Boone county farmers ought to exhibit some of their mammoth corn at the Lexington corn show. Who will they be?

Rev. Edgar Riley is preparing to enter the poultry business on a limited scale, one of his tenants to have charge of the poultry yard.

In this issue you will find the advertisement of B. & A. Griswold, of Rising Sun. When in that city give them a call. Read their advertisement.

Last Saturday was an ideal spring day and bugs and bees were on the move while flies and other insects were as active as in the month of May.

Several loads of tobacco raised in the Locust Grove neighborhood, passed through Burlington, one day last week, enroute to John Hogan's, near Constance.

W. F. McKim directs his Recorder sent to 801 G. street, corner Stafford street, Santa Ana, Cala., and Rev. Walterick wants his sent to Longcoulee, Illinois.

The local hunters have not been doing much for the past week or ten days. The scarcity of game makes hunting too much like work to be sport any longer.

If the weather of the first three days of a month control the weather for that month, there will surely be some trouble with the weather during December.

An apple tree on the farm of Charles Haag on the Guilford pike has the second crop of apples this season. The fruit is fully matured and of good taste.—Lawrenceburg Press.

I. Simon, of Pike street, Covington, has a new message this week for Boone county people. When in his place tell him you are from Boone, the best county in Kentucky.

The Belleview merchants are not curing as much meat as usual, this fall. The price of hogs on foot is too high for them to see a profit in the handling of the bacon next summer.

B. B. Hume is having a couple of young race horses broken to drive. One of them showed, at first, that it came of a high spirited breed of horses and wanted to cut shines.

In a few days R. W. Clark, who sold out his barber shop in Burlington, will be hiking over the Ozark mountains in search of game. He expects to spend several weeks hunting in that section.

The Lawrenceburg Press has been giving its plant outfit a general shakeup, and is now the handsomest local paper in this part of the country. Always a good paper, but now much improved.

During the month of November County Clerk George Fahibush, of Dearborn county, Indiana, issued 334 resident hunting licenses and eight non-resident licenses. The sum thus collected amounted to $458.

The month of December found the pastures covered with a growth of grass on which stock, in many instances, was subsisting. Such a fall as this has been is a great saver of feed for the farmer's animals.

The recent repairs on the Burlington and Belleview turnpike has just about made automobile travel over that road out of the question, and it will be in a bad condition for the use of that class of vehicles for some time to come.

County Clerk elect, J. H. Rogers, was very busy last week getting ready to go to housekeeping. The only mistake he has made in the matter is having his sister for a house keeper instead of some other man's sister.

While debating in your mind what to send to that absent friend or relative for a Christmas present remember that the Recorder would serve acceptably as a gift, and fifty-two times a year would be a pleasant reminder of the giver.

Boss Eddins gave an exhibition, of his horsemanship on the streets last Thursday when he mounted a would-be unruly steed which Cliff Hedges purchased the day before at Geo. Riley's sale. Do as it would the horse could not unseat Boss, and it finally became perfectly submissive.

A considerable crowd attended Geo. Riley's sale last Wednesday afternoon, and, generally, good prices prevailed. Four sows and 30 pigs brought $172; horses from $41 to $172; hay, about $12 per ton; sheep, $6.25 per head. Farming implements sold cheap, most of which were bought by Edgar Riley.

The trapping season is now at hand, as many of the land owners object to trapping on their premises, it will be well for a trapper, before locating his traps to inquire of the owner of the land if he objects. By so doing the destruction of traps in some instances may be prevented.

R. S. Crisler has been experimenting for several days trying to soften a piece of steel in order that he may drill it. The sample came from a Cincinnati factory that claims to turn out bank safes, the steel of which can not be drilled. Mr. Crisler will make a hole through the piece of metal if it is possible for a rural worker in iron to accomplish the feat.

The Boone County Medical Society will meet in Burlington on the 15th inst. at 10 o'clock a. m. Of this society Dr. L. C. Hafer, of Florence, is president, and Dr. F. L. Peddicord, of Burlington, is secretary. At the meeting on the 15th inst., the annual election of officers will be held and annual dues paid. The subjects on the program are of great intereat to the fraternity.

The Recorder desires to express its gratitude to Willie Hughes, carrier on Burlington rural route 1; Elmer Conley, carrier on route 2; William Gaines, carrier on route 3, and Harmie Jones, star route carrier, because of the many favors they have shown it. Each of these gentlemen accommodates the Recorder on every occasion possible. But the boys are made just that way and are happiest when doing a fellowman a kindness.

On the appearance docket for the December term of the Boone circuit court which convenes next Monday are 14 common law and 7 equity cases, which is somewhat larger than the appearance docket for several terms past. The following named have filed their certificates of honesty and probity, and notice of application for license to practice law in this Commonwealth: Edward P. Ransom, John A. Richmon, of Kenton county, Wallace C. Lee, of Henry county, and Eidon J. Wright, of Campbell county.

If you want to see what hard work will do for a fellow no better example can be found than J. M. Eddins. When he came home from Frankfort, where he had held the position of a guard at the penitentiary for several months, and cast his lot among the briars and grubs, he was a strapping, great big man, but his labor campaign last summer reduced him to a mere shadow of his former self, but he is in good health, good spirits, good corn and a good supply of garden truck, and will endeavor, during the winter months to restore his former dimensions.

Alone in Saw Mill at Night

unmindful of dampness, drafts, storms or cold, W. J. Atkins worked as Night Watchman at Banner Springs Tenn. Such exposure gave him a severe cold that settled on his lungs. At last he had to give up work. He tried many remedies but all failed till he used Dr. King's New Discovery. 'After using a bottle" he writes, "I went back to work as well as ever." Severe Colds stubborn Coughs get quick relief and prompt cure from this glorious medicine. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free, guaranteed by Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger.

Riley & Gaar, the Bullittsville merchants, have ordered their bill heads and other stationery printed for 1910. There are some merchants in the county who use the same class of work, but give it to out of the county offices, which do not contribute a cent towards assisting to pay the running expenses of the county, nor never are in a position to speak a good word for them either as individuals nor as business firms. When dispensing your favors you should remember those from whom you expect a favor occasionally.

Not much rich picking for attorneys in the Boone circuit court which convenes next Monday.

Great Removal Sale

IS NOW GOING ON

We must dispose of our entire stock and fixtures, as we will positively not move a dollar's worth of goods into our new building, no matter what loss we may sustain. This is your chance in a lifetime to buy up-to-date garments in the height of the season at such sacrificing prices.

One Lot of Ladies' Tailor-Made Suits—Strictly up to date; Regular price $10 and $12. Removal price..... $6.98

One Lot of Ladies' High-Grade Tailor-Made Suits— Regular price $18 and $20. Removal price..... $9.98

One Lot of Ladies' Dress Skirts, full pleated and elegantly trimmed; regular price $3.98. Removal price $1.98

One Lot of Children's Bearskin Caps, in all colors— sizes 2 to 6 years; Regular price $3.50. Removal price $1.98

One Lot of Ladies' Long Cloaks, the very latest models; Regular price $7.98. Removal price..... $4.98

FURS—FURS—FURS

One Lot of Ladies' Coney Fur Sets, long Scarf and large Muff; Regular price $5.98. Removal price Set.. $2.98

One Lot of Ladies' Fur Sets, Blended Squirrel, Coney and Marten, these sets are absolutely worth $10. Removal price.. $4.98

One Lot of Ladies' Flannelette Dressing Sacks—the latest Removal price..... 39c

One Lot of Ladies' Trimmed Pattern Hats, of Silk Velvet and nicely trimmed in plums and wings; Regular price $3.98. Removal price..... $1.98

One Lot of Ladies' Outing Skirt Patterns—in black and white patterns. Removal price..... 19c

And so on throughout our Entire Stock, as we are positively closing out our present stock of Goods. Mail Orders will be promptly Attended to and Money Refunded if not Satisfactory.

SIMON'S BAZAAR,

36 Pike St., COVINGTON, KY.

TO OUR FRIENDS OF BOONE COUNTY!

We are pleased to announce that we will display during the Holidays an exceptionally fine selection of Holiday Goods.

—OUR STOCK OF—

Dry Goods and Notions

—IS COMPLETE.—

Our Cloaks are of Great Variety and represent the Newest Models.

You are cordially invited to visit our store and examine our stock. Very Respectfully,

B. & A. GRISWOLD,

RISING SUN, INDIANA.

Looking One's Best.

It's woman's delight to look her best but pimples, skin eruptions, sores and boils rob her of joy. Listen! Buckien's Arnica Salve cures them; makes the skin soft and velvety. It glorifies the face Cures Pimples, Sore Eyes, Cold Sores, Cracked Lips, Chapped Hands. Try it. Infallible for Piles. 25c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

—0—0—0—

Plans for a new issue of post cards have been made. The new cards, upon the commercial size, will bear a head of McKinley, and made from an excellent likeness. The small cards, intended for social correspondence, will have the head of Lincoln, while upon the international 2-cent card will appear a portrait of Grant. A woman's portrait will be used in the double or reply cards. The original message card has a likeness of General Washington and upon the reply card will appear Martha Washington's portrait. The borders of all the cards will be attractive. The words "Postal card, required by the Universal Postal Union Convention," will appear in the border of the stamp.

FARM BARGAIN.—A fine farm of 74 acres in Boone County, near Rabbit Hash, on Gunpowder creek, 2 miles from river, 50 acres hillside, 12 acres bottom land, 10 acres timber; fine tobacco land. Farm made $2,000 last year. Has good 4 room box house. Land on east hillside. Price $3,000, one half down, balance on easy payments. Call on or address J. R. Wallace, Warsaw, Ky.

Rich Men's Gift Are Poor.

besides this: "I want to go on record as saying that I regard Electric Bitters as one of the best gifts that God has made to woman," writes Mrs. O. Rhinevault, of Vestal Center, N. Y., "I can never forget what it has done for me." This glorious medicine gives a woman buoyant spirits, vigor of body and jubilant health. It quickly cures Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Headache Backache, Fainting and Dizzy Spells; soon builds up the weak, ailing and sick ly. Try them, 50c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

For Sale—Thoroughbred Rhode Island Reds, and Brown Leghorns Roosters. Apply to Julius. Bristow, Phone 193-X. Union, Ky.

OUR FIRST FALL SHIPMENT OF

GODMAN SHOES

IS ABOUT GONE.

Our Second Fall Shipment Just Opened Up. Come at once and get a Good Selection before numbers are broken. These Shoes are, without doubt, the

Best Shoes Ever Sold in our Store

ALREADY FAMOUS FOR GOOD SHOES.

WE HANDLE THE FAMOUS

Ball Band Wool Boots & Rubber

OUR WINTER STOCK OF

Blankets, Comforts, Woolens, Yarns, Underwear, Etc., IS NOW COMPLETE.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

GIVE US A CALL.

ROLFES & WACHES

The Store for Quality

This is what they all say. A store that meets every requirement for Men, Boys and Children in the line of

CLOTHING

We have the Styles, Variety and Fabric, and you will find it to your advantage to get our prices before buying elsewhere. We have built up our business by dealing fair and honest with our customers. Our line of Suits and Overcoats Cannot be Excelled.

Men's Suits	$5.00 to $20.00	Men's Overcoats	$4.00 to $20.00
Boy's Suits	$4.00 to $12.50	Boys' Overcoats	$3.00 to $12.50
Children's Suits	$1.50 to $ 6.00	Children's Overcoats	$2.50 to $5.00

Men's Pauts $1.00 to $5.00.

A fine line of Men's and Boys' Cravennette Overcoats, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $18 and $20.00. We also carry a complete line of Sweater Coats, Jersey and Cardigan Jackets, Leather, Corduroy and Duck Coats and Corduroy and Jeans Pants.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET, Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co

Rising Sun, Indiana.

Fruit Trees For Sale.

Apples and Pears, have arranged to furnish Peaches, Cherries and other nursery stock at reasonable prices. Also B. P. Cockerels.

R. T. KELLY,
R. D. 2, Burlington, Ky.
Farmers Telephone line.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices. All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

FOR SALE.

My farm of about 200 acres, on good road near Francesville, 3 miles north of Hebron, Boone county, Ky. On this farm is a 4-room residence and all necessary outbuildings, all under new roof. There are 50 acres of timber and 50 acres of good tobacco land, and four never failing springs. This land is two miles from the Ohio river and 15 miles from Cincinnati. Rural route and telephone. For terms call at the farm or address C. W. McFEE,
R D 3, Burlington, Ky.

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Loughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.
JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

Take your County Paper.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. - KENTUCKY

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed Into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

Calvin Demarest is the new champion 18.2 balk line billiard player, having defeated George Sutton, who held the championship, at New York, by a score of 500 to 78.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and her consort, Prince Henry, went to England to visit the king and queen.

Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, the settlement worker, has promised to aid the striking shirtwaist makers in New York. She says the girls were paid "miserable wages."

John G. A. Leishman, the newly appointed American ambassador to Italy, has arrived at Rome.

Mrs. John Wright Hunt, wife of the turpentine king, who eloped with Prince Alexander, a cousin of the czar, returned to New York without the prince and was welcomed by her father, Adelbert Babcock of Brookfield, N. Y.

GENERAL NEWS.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers met in New York in its thirtieth annual session.

President Taft, head of the American Red Cross, opened the fifth annual meeting of that organization in Washington, and addresses were made on relief work in Italy, Key West and elsewhere.

The annual meeting of the Lake Michigan Commercial Fishermen's association was held in Charlevoix, Mich., H. Barlow presiding.

The state horticultural societies of Illinois and Michigan met in annual convention at Champaign and Kalamazoo, respectively.

Striking foreign workmen at a steel plant in Monaca, Pa., tore down an American flag and hoisted in its place a black flag, and when Deputy Sheriff Crowley sought to displace the latter he was shot and fatally wounded.

The Pennsylvania St. Louis-New York flyer was wrecked by a broken rail near Lewisville, Ind., and three express messengers seriously injured. None of the passengers were hurt outside of some minor bruises and cuts.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer in his annual report warned the government to hold on to the navy yards and recommended the immediate building of two battleships of the most destructive type and another dry dock on the Pacific coast capable of docking the largest "Dreadnoughts."

President Zelaya of Nicaragua has become a fugitive from justice and a common murderer in the eyes of the United States, according to a report which emanated from the state department. It is the intention of the government to capture him if possible and try him for the murder of Groce and Cannon, the Americans.

It is believed in New York that the purchase of the majority of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society by J. Pierpont Morgan foreshadows the mutualization of the Equitable.

The British parliament has been prorogued and the fight to end the powers of the house of lords has begun.

A full set of autographs of presidents of the United States, from Washington to Roosevelt, was sold in New York for $9,300.

That Mrs. Jeanette Stewart Ford shot and tried to kill Edgar S. Cooke of Chicago at New York several years ago is asserted by Prosecutor Henry Hunt of Cincinnati, after an investigation in connection with the Warriner embezzlement case.

Secretary Dickinson, in his annual report, recommends to the president many sweeping changes and reforms in the army, including the centralization of troops in forts erected adjacent to the principal cities of the United States, the abolishment of the Roosevelt physical tests for officers and governmental control of wireless telegraphy.

Robert R. Doherty, a prominent Methodist who was one of the founders of the Epworth league, is dead of pneumonia at his home in Jersey City. He was 62 years old.

The Rock Island and Frisco railroads have dissolved the merger that involved more than $500,000,000 and will operate separately hereafter.

The English house of lords rejected the budget and have referred it to the country for its judgment on the measure.

One miner was killed and 100 rescued with difficulty when gas exploded in a mine near Marion, Ill.

Mrs. Mary J. Wilhelm was placed on trial at Newark, N. J., charged with the murder of her husband, Nicholas S. Sica, indicted with her, will be tried separately.

More than 3,000 books which the police say were stolen from public libraries in New York city were found by detectives in two rooms in a Brooklyn boarding house. Many of the books are old and rare. The lot is said to be worth more than $10,000.

While sleep-walking, 17-year-old Hinman Knowiton of South Framingham, Mass., fatally shot both his parents. The boy was arrested.

Patrick Cox, who was extradited from Chicago a few months ago, and tried in County Mayo, Ireland, charged with the death of Edward Murray, was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to five months' imprisonment.

An endowment fund for the support of a post-graduate school for "teacher nurses" has been given to the teachers' college of Columbia university by Mrs. Helen Hartley Jenkins. The amount of the gift has not been made public.

The Canadian senate adopted the bill ratifying the Franco-Canadian treaty and it was assented to by the governor general. The French and Canadian governments will take immediate action to make the treaty effective before the first of the year.

Lewis Merickel, 40 years old, is dead from a rifle wound in the abdomen and Joseph Myers, 13 years old who shot him is held at the Juvenile home. The boy says that Merickel dared him to shoot and that he fired, not thinking the gun was loaded.

A gift of $4,000,000 for the founding of a home for convalescents in New York city becomes available with the death of John Masterson Burke, one of America's little-known millionaires.

The third National Corn exposition opened at Omaha, Neb., with exhibits by the federal government and 25 states, and a vast quantity of competitive entries made by grain raisers.

Representatives of many civic and educational organizations met in New York to devise a means of co-ordinating civic activities and to plan more effective methods of studying political problems.

J. Pierpont Morgan has gained control of the Equitable Life Assurance Company with its $472,000,000 assets through the purchase of stock held by Thomas F. Ryan, the latter having bought the interests formerly owned by James H. Hyde.

Following the abrupt termination of diplomatic relations with Nicaragua the government has dispatched the cruiser Prairie from Philadelphia with 700 marines on board, the cruiser Albany and gunboat Yorktown to Central American waters and it is determined that a stable government shall be established and maintained in the war-riven republic.

A delegation of Chicago business men visited President Taft and made a plea for the suspension of the provisions of the corporation tax law. The president gave them but little encouragement, saying he would take their petition under advisement.

Albert I. Patrick, the New York lawyer under sentence of death for slaying Millionaire Rice, has lost his ninth fight for freedom through the dismissal by the appellate court at Brooklyn of the habeas corpus writ secured by him to determine whether he is being illegally retained by the state.

Woman suffrage advocates throughout New York state are raising a fund of several thousand dollars to be used for promoting the suffrage bill which will be put before the legislature of New York state this winter.

Vermont will erect a memorial to Champlain, the explorer, and will not join New York in such an undertaking.

The average temperature for November in Kansas City, Mo., was 52 degrees, and the highest was 80 on November 3. This breaks all records for the month since the weather Bureau was established there.

Contracts are to be placed for two submarines for the Russian navy. They are planned to cruise in company with a battleship fleet.

The season of heavy gold receipts at the United States assay office in Seattle ended with a total of $11,733,489 for the six months beginning June 1. This is a falling off of $5,775,141, compared with the same period in 1908.

Twenty-three hundred switchmen on 13 railroads between Lake Superior and the Pacific coast have struck for higher wages and better conditions. Unless the strike is speedily settled a serious interruption in traffic is likely.

Combined resources of all the banks of the United States reach more than $21,000,000,000, or about one-fifth of the entire wealth of the country, according to special reports compiled for the use of the national monetary commission.

The National Association of Live Stock Breeders and Raisers, at its convention in Chicago, determined to ask congress for a large appropriation for the prevention and eradication of highly contagious animal diseases.

President Zelaya of Nicaragua has made overtures to Estrada, the revolutionist, intimating that he would retire from the presidency and permit congress to choose his successor. Estrada promptly rejected the proffer and says he will fight the matter out.

Under a writ of habeas corpus Minnie Sprong of Fresno, Cal., recovered her four-year-old daughter, Ruth, held by Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Holland for debt. The Holland couple claimed $50 for care of the girl. Judge Church said the holding of a child under lien or chattel mortgage is not to be considered in a civilized community.

The National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education met in annual session in Milwaukee, delegates from more than twenty states being present. Eminent educators discussed every phase of trade and corporation schools.

SIXTY-FIRST CONGRESS MEETS

Speaker Calls the House to Order and Is Applauded by Friends and Enemies Alike.

Vice-President Sherman Presides Over the Senate---Numerous Bills Designed to Carry Out President Taft's Policies Are Introduced in Both Houses.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The Sixty-first congress of the United States met at noon to-day for the first day of its first regular session, with Vice-President Sherman in the chair of the senate, and Speaker Joseph G. Cannon in the chair in the House. While this congressional gathering is the first regular session, it is the second session in reality, for congress met in extraordinary session last spring at the call of President Taft to consider the matter of a revision of the tariff.

Some interest was lacking in the proceedings of the first day in the capitol because at the beginning of the extraordinary session in March last the speaker of the House was elected. Moreover, before the extraordinary session was ended, Speaker Cannon appointed all the committees which are to take legislation under consideration for the next two winters. The appointment of the committees ended the campaign on the part of the members for choice chairmanships and, if the chairmanships were not forthcoming, for seats in the more important subsidiary bodies of the House.

Ready for Work at Once.

The members have had time to get over jealousies and rivalries and so is that, so far as committee work is concerned, the House not only is ready to proceed at once to consider legislation, but most of the members have brought themselves into a frame of mind to do what they are called upon to do without regard to their past feelings of disappointment and perhaps, anger.

As is always the case on the opening day of congress, admission to the House and Senate galleries was by card and only those fortunate enough to know senators and representatives sufficiently well to secure admission tickets were allowed to witness the proceedings.

Galleries Are Crowded.

The galleries of both House and Senate were jammed with people. All classes of Washington society were represented in the throng of visitors. The diplomatic gallery in the House and in the Senate as well, was filled to its fullest capacity with ambassadors, ministers, attaches and the ladies of the different legations. Members of the families of the president and of the vice-president of the United States occupied seats in the executive galleries; and the cabinet and judiciary and army and navy circles were well represented.

By a rule which was adopted not long ago, flowers are barred from the floor of the House excepting when they are to be used as a tribute to the memory of some deceased member. The result of this rule is that now on the opening days of congress the desks of the members are bare of floral decorations. In the old days both House and Senate were turned into conservatories for the time of the opening proceedings.

Vice-President Sherman.

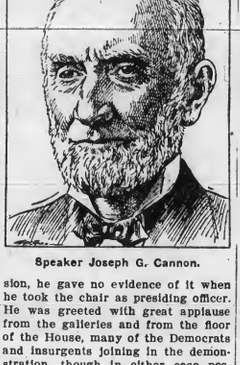
At sharp noon Speaker Cannon called the House to order and asked the chaplain, Rev. Henry N. Couden, to offer prayer. In his prayer which was in a sense a Thanksgiving offering, the chaplain referred to the prosperity of the country, the opportunities of the present and the bright hopes and promises of the future.



Absentees Are Few.

As soon as the prayer was ended the clerk of the House called the roll of membership by states and it was found that there were only a few absentees. The roll call ended the reading clerk of the Senate who had appeared in the House was recognized, and he announced that the Upper House had passed a resolution to inform the House of Representatives that a quorum of the Senate being assembled, that body was ready to proceed to business. The House also was told that the Senate had appointed a committee to join a House committee to inform the president of the United States that a quorum of each house was present and that congress was ready to receive any communication that he "may be pleased to make." On receipt of this message from the Senate, Speaker Cannon appointed a committee to join a like committee of the Senate to wait upon the president. The members of the body directed to notify Mr. Taft that the House was in session were by the appointment of the speaker, the Republican leader, Sereno E. Payne, and the Democratic leader, Champ Clark.

The first day in the House as usual brought out hundreds of legislative measures in bill form, all of which were read by their title only and then referred to the proper committees. It was evident from the tone of the bills introduced that some scores of representatives were anxious to father measures which had been recommended by President Taft as being necessary to carry out proposed policies of progression. The bills ranged from those intended to correct alleged existing evils in interstate commerce to those to give increases of pensions to veterans of the civil war.

Applause Greets Speaker Cannon.

If Speaker Cannon anticipates any particular trouble with the "Insurgents" of the House at the coming session, he gave no evidence of it when he took the chair as presiding officer. He was greeted with great applause from the galleries and from the floor of the House, many of the Democrats and insurgents joining in the demonstration, though in either case possibly the hand-clapping was given as an evidence of regard for the office of speaker, rather than as evidence of any overweening affection for the speaker himself.

Speaker Joseph G. Cannon.

With the committees ready to begin work, the House will settle down to its winter's business at once. No bills will be passed immediately because all measures must be considered in committee, and the meetings of the committees will be held daily from now until the Christmas holidays and some of the more important House bodies will sit during the recess. When congress reassembles in January many of the committees will be ready to report bills, and the debates of the winter will begin.

Opening of the Senate.

Vice-President Sherman called the Senate to order at noon. Rev. Edward Everett Hale, the chaplain of the Senate, having died during the summer recess, his place as chaplain, temporarily, was taken by a local clergyman who offered prayer. In the Senate the roll was called and it was found that nearly all the senators were in their seats. The resolutions were adopted to the effect that committees be appointed to inform the House and the president that the Senate had assembled and was ready to begin the business of the session. As was the case in the House many bills were introduced for consideration during the winter by senators who, like the representatives, desire to have a hand in forwarding administration policies.

After a comparatively short session "in the open," the galleries were cleared and the Senate went into executive session behind closed doors for the purpose of considering nominations for office sent to the Upper House by President Taft.

Tests of Diamonds.

Most persons are obliged, in the purchase of a diamond, to rely implicitly upon the word of the man who sells the stone. While many years of observation and experience are needed to become an expert with respect to the value and purity of diamonds, yet there are certain extremely simple tests capable of being made by the most inexperienced.

One is by means of a needle hole pricked through a piece of ordinary cardboard. Looking through the stone tested at the cardboard, one will see two holes if the diamond be spurious—only one if the gem be genuine. The reason for this is that an imitation diamond will give a double refraction, the real stone but one refraction.

It is claimed that there is no acid having any perceptible effect upon a genuine diamond. Hydrofluoric acid will, if dropped upon a stone made of glass, corrode it, but upon the bona fide stone it will have no effect at all.—Harper's Weekly.

ODD MISTAKE.

Short-Sighted Old Gentleman—How your little boy has grown! But you shouldn't let him go out without a hat.

BACKACHE IS KIDNEYACHE.

Usually There Are Other Troubles to Prove It.

Pain in the back is pain in the kidneys, in most cases, and it points to the need of a special remedy to remove and cure the congestion or inflammation of the kidneys that is interfering with their work and causing that pain that makes you say: "Oh, my back."

Thompson Watkins, professional nurse, 420 N. 23rd St., Parsons, Kan., says: "For some time I was annoyed with sharp twinges across the small of my back and irregular passages of the kidney secretions. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills, I am free from these troubles."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

May Paste Million Posters.

Artists, billposters, printers, paper manufacturers and tuberculosis fighters are all united in a gigantic crusade against tuberculosis which is about to be started under the direction of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. In addition to the gifts of free space on billboards and free printing of posters made by the Associated Billposters and Distributors of America and the Poster Printers' Association, several hundred paper manufacturers have given paper for the posters to the value of several thousand dollars, and artists from all over the United States are contributing sketches for posters, free of charge. The local, state and national anti-tuberculosis associations will see that the posters are placed in cities and towns where they are most needed.

The posters are nine feet long and seven feet wide and will be printed in several colors. If sufficient paper is procured a million will be pasted up. The value of these various contributions would reach fully $2,000,000 if paid for at commercial rates.

Unburdening.

"You must at least give that candidate credit for speaking his mind."

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "But it's unfortunate that people most willing to speak their minds are so often those whose mentalities are more or less unpleasant."

All the Same to Her.

"I must warn you, dearest," he said, "that after we are married you will very likely find me inclined to be arbitrary and dictatorial in my manner."

"No matter," she replied, cheerfully, "I won't pay the slightest attention to what you say."

No Hobnobbing.

Mrs. Askit—When she's abroad does she hobnob with royalty?

Mrs. Nonaught—Mercy, no! Her behaviour is always extremely proper.—Smart Set.

Sufficient Evidence.

"Father was evidently drinking again last night."

"What makes you think that?"

"He sassed the janitor when he came in."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The optician would soon be looking for another job if beer glasses improved the eyesight.

RESULTS OF FOOD

Health and Natural Conditions Come From Right Feeding.

Man, physically, should be like a perfectly regulated machine, each part working easily in its appropriate place. A slight derangement causes undue friction and wear, and frequently ruins the entire system.

A well-known educator of Boston found a way to keep the brain and the body in that harmonious co-operation which makes a joy of living.

"Two years ago," she writes, "being in a condition of nervous exhaustion, I resigned my position as teacher, which I had held over 40 years. Since then the entire rest has, of course, been a benefit, but the use of Grape-Nuts has removed one great cause of illness in the past, namely, constipation, and its attendant evils.

"I generally make my entire breakfast on a raw egg beaten into four spoonfuls of Grape-Nuts, with a little hot milk or hot water added. I like it extremely, my food assimilates, and my bowels take care of themselves. I find my brain power and physical condition much greater and I know that the use of the Grape-Nuts has contributed largely to this result.

"It is with feelings of gratitude that I write this testimonial, and trust it may be the means of aiding others in their search for health."

Look in pkgs. for the little book, "The Road to Wellville." "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 3030. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1886.)
CAPITAL,..... ....$80,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in..... .....$50,000
Surplus,.. ..... $8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
308 F. & T. Bank Building.
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, O
F. A. Uts, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy.,
R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington.
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Warerooms:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
M. POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.
Write for printed list.

DEEP-SEATED COUGH
CURED IN FIVE HOURS.
New Home-Made Syrup.
(Cut this Out.)
From Boston Post.

Progress in medical compounds never ceases, and now it is stated by a prominent medical man that any deep-seated cough or cold on the lungs can be actually cured in five hours by the clock. Opium or morphine have been resorted to in the past, as relief measures. But now it is learned that the system must be treated to rid it of inflammation and congestion. A tonic laxative cough syrurp does the work so quickly and thoroughly as to be almost magical. What heretofore has taken weeks to cure can be accomplished in hours. Get this formula filled or mix it at home and always keep it on hand: One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then take one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day until the system is purified and toned up. Give children less according to age. One filling will usually cure a whole family, as the dose is small.

Good for the Nerves.

At a recent archery tournament in London 300 women took part in the contest, the game having become very popular. It is recommended by London physicians as splendid for the nerves. American women have never taken very kindly to the sport, but the renewal of interest abroad may effect a change in this country.

One Dye for All Goods.

Up to quite recently, wool, silk and cotton each required a separate dye. An enterprising chemist has now perfected Dyoin Dyes which color all goods with one dye, producing same results. Ask your dealer. If he has not stocked them yet, send 10 cents to Dy-o-la, Burlington, Vt., stating color desired and we will send same with color card and book of directions.

Taught by Experience.

"So the jury returned a verdict without leaving the courtroom," said the visitor.

"Yep," answered Broncho Bob. "That's the way Crimson Gulch juries always do nowadays. The boys have had so much trouble that they stay where they are instead of taking chances on getting separated from their hats and overcoats."

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, know F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Not Even Sandy.

Wilford was sitting on his father's knee watching his mother arranging her hair.

"Papa hasn't any Marcel waves like that," said her father, laughingly.

Wilford, looking up at his father's bald pate, replied: "Nope, no waves; it's all beach."—Columbia Jester.

This Will Interest Mothers.

Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children, used by Mother Gray, a nurse in Children's Home, New York, cure Constipation, Feverishness, Teething Disorders, Stomach Troubles and Destroy Worms; 30,000 testimonials of cures. All druggists, 25c. Sample FREE. Address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

A Risky Thing.

"I think I'll go home."

"But it's only 11 o'clock, old man."

"Well, there's nothing doing at the club."

"I know; but consider. Once I went home at 11 o'clock and came near establishing a dangerous precedent."

Fine Tonic Mixture.

A superior tonic, appetizer and stimulant for the exhausted overworked system is one-half pint good whiskey to which should be added one ounce compound fluid balmwort and one ounce compound syrup sarsaparilla. As an appetizer take a tablespoonful before meals. As a tonic take after meals and at bedtime.

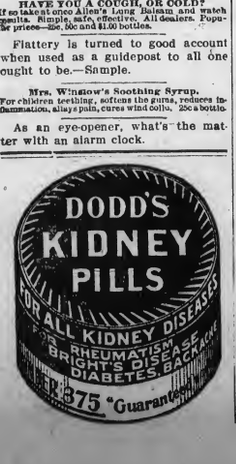
Any druggist can mix it quickly.

Rebuked.

Clarice—Don't you think that our flat is lots nicer than the Browns'?

Friend—Tut, tut, Clarice! It's bad form to match quarters.

One Thing That Will Live Forever,
PETTIT'S EYE SALVE, first box sold in 1807, 100 years ago, sales increase yearly. All druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.



When his satanic majesty tempts some people they want him to get behind them—and push.

HAVE YOU A COUGH, OR COLD?
If so take at once Allen's Lung Balsam and watch results. Simple, safe, effective. All dealers. Popular prices—25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles.

Flattery is turned to good account when used as a guidepost to all one ought to be.—Sample.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

As an eye-opener, what's the matter with an alarm clock.

PRESIDENT TAFT SENDS MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Policy of the Administration Made Clear to the Country.

FAVORS SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

Chief Executive Gives Reasons for Desiring the Passage of Such a Measure—Postal Savings Banks—Plea for Conservation of National Resources.

Washington.—The president transmitted the following message to congress:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The relations of the United States with all foreign governments have continued upon the normal basis of amity and good understanding, and are very generally satisfactory.

Latin America.

One of the happiest events in recent Pan-American diplomacy was the pacific, independent settlement by the governments of Bolivia and Peru of a boundary difference between them, which for some weeks threatened to cause war and even to entrain embitterments affecting other republics less directly concerned. From various quarters, directly or indirectly concerned, the intermediation of the United States was sought to assist in a solution of the controversy. Desiring at all times to abstain from any undue mingling in the affairs of sister republics and having faith in the ability of the governments of Peru and Bolivia themselves to settle their differences in a manner satisfactory to themselves which, viewed with magnanimity, would assuage all embitterment, this government steadily abstained from being drawn into the controversy and was much gratified to find its confidence justified by events.

On the ninth of July next there will open at Buenos Aires the fourth Pan-American conference. This conference will have a special meaning to the hearts of all Americans, because around its date are clustered the anniversaries of the independence of so many American republics. It is not necessary for me to remind the congress of the political, social and commercial importance of these gatherings. You are asked to make liberal appropriation for our participation. It this be granted, it is my purpose to appoint a distinguished and representative delegation, qualified fittingly to represent this country and to deal with the problems of intercontinental interest which will there be discussed.

The Argentine Republic will also hold from May to November, 1910, at Buenos Aires, a great international agricultural exhibition in which the United States has been invited to participate. Considering the rapid growth of the trade of the United States with the Argentine Republic and the cordial relations existing between the two nations, together with the fact that it provides an opportunity to show deference to a sister republic on the occasion of the celebration of its national independence, the proper departments of this government are taking steps to appropriate money toward the completion of the unique exhibit proposed of the opportunity afforded by this exhibition, in which appropriate participation by this country is so desirable. The designation of an official representative is also receiving consideration.

The Pan-American policy of this government has long been fixed in its principles and remains unchanged. With the changed circumstances of the United States and of the republics to the south of us, most of which have great natural resources, and are steadily adopting progressive ideals, the apprehension which gave rise to the Monroe doctrine may be said to have nearly disappeared and neither doctrine as it exists nor any other doctrine of American policy should be permitted to operate for the perpetuation of irresponsible government, the escape of just obligations or the insidious allegation of dominating ambitions on the part of the United States.

Beside the fundamental doctrines of our Pan-American policy there have grown up a realization of political interests, community of institutions and ideals and a flourishing commerce. All these bonds will be greatly strengthened as time goes on and increased facilities, such as the great bank soon to be established in Latin-America, supply the means for building up the colossal intercontinental commerce of the future.

My meeting with President Diaz and the greeting exchanged on both American and Mexican soil warrant, I hope, to signalize the close and cordial relations which so well bind together this republic and the great republic immediately to the south, between which there is so vast a network of material interests.

I am happy to say that all but one of the cases which for so long vexed our relations with Venezuela have been settled within the past few months and that, under the enlightened regime now directing the government of Venezuela, provision has been made for arbitration of the remaining case before The Hague tribunal.

Since the Washington conventions of 1907 were communicated to the government of the United States as a consulting and advisory party, this government has been almost continuously called upon by one or another, and in turn by all of the five Central American republics, to exert itself for the maintenance of the conventions. Nearly every complaint has been against the Zelaya government of Nicaragua, which has kept Central America in constant tension and turmoil. The responses made to the representations of Central American republics, as due from the United States on account of its relation to the Washington conventions, have been at all times conservative and have avoided, so far as possible, any semblance of interference, although it is very apparent that the consideration of geographic proximity to the canal zone and of the very substantial American interests in Central America give to the United States a special position in the zone of those republics and the Caribbean sea.

I need not rehearse here the patient efforts of this government to promote peace and welfare among these republics, efforts which are fully appreciated by the majority of them, who are loyal to their true interests. It would be no less unnecessary to rehearse here the sad tale of unspeakable barbarities and oppression alleged to have been committed by the Zelaya government. Recently two Americans were put to death by order of President Zelaya himself. They were officers in the organized forces of a revolution which was in control of about half of the republic, and as such, according to the modern enlightened practice of civilized nations, they were entitled to be dealt with as prisoners of war.

At the date when this message is printed this government has terminated diplomatic relations with the Zelaya government, for reasons made public in a communication to the former Nicaragua charge d'affaires, and is intending to take such future steps as may be found most consistent with its dignity, its duty to American interests and its moral obligations to Central America and to civilization.

Department of State.

I earnestly recommend to the favorable consideration of the congress the estimates submitted by the department of state and most especially the legislation suggested in the secretary of state's letter of this date, whereby it will be possible to develop and make permanent the reorganization of the department upon modern lines in a manner to make it a thoroughly efficient instrument in the furtherance of our foreign trade and of American interests abroad. The plan to have divisions of Latin-American and Far-Eastern affairs and to institute a certain specialization in business with Europe and the near east will at once commend itself. These politico-geographical divisions and the detail from the diplomatic or consular service to the department of a number of men who bring to the study of complicated problems in different parts of the world practical knowledge recently gained on the spot, clearly is of the greatest advantage to the secretary of state in forescning conditions likely to arise and in conducting the great variety of correspondence and negotiation. It should be remembered that such facilities exist in the foreign offices of all the leading commercial nations and that to deny them to the secretary of state would be to place this government at a great disadvantage in the rivalry of commercial competition.

The consular service has been improved under the law of April 5, 1906, and the executive order of June 27, 1906, and I commend to your consideration the question of embodying in a statute the principles of the present executive order upon which the efficiency of our consular service is wholly dependent.

Expenditures and Revenues.

Perhaps the most important question presented to this administration is that of economy in expenditures and sufficiency of revenue. The deficit of the last fiscal year, and the certain deficit of the current year, prompted congress to throw a greater responsibility on the executive and the secretary of the treasury than had heretofore been declared by statute. This declaration imposed upon the secretary of the treasury the duty of assembling all the estimates of the executive departments, bureaus and offices of the expenditures necessary in the ensuing fiscal year, and of making an estimate of the revenues of the government for the same period; and if a probable deficit is thus shown, it is made the duty of the president to recommend the method by which such deficit can be met.

The report of the secretary shows that the ordinary expenditures of the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, will exceed the estimated receipts by $34,075,620. If to this deficit is added the sum to be disbursed for the Panama Canal, amounting to $38,000,000, and $1,000,000 to be paid on the public debt, the deficit of ordinary receipts and expenditures will be increased to a total deficit of $73,075,620. This deficit the secretary proposes to meet by the proceeds of bonds issued to pay the cost of constructing the Panama Canal. I approve this proposal.

In order to avoid a deficit for the ensuing fiscal year, I directed the heads of departments in the preparation of their estimates to make them as low as possible consistent with imperative governmental necessity.

Civil Pensions.

I am aware that there is a strong feeling in both houses of congress, and possibly in the country, against the establishment of civil pensions, and that this has naturally grown out of the heavy burden of military pensions, which it has always been the policy of our government to assume; but I am strongly convinced that no other practical solution of the difficulties presented by the superannuation of civil servants can be found than that of a system of civil pensions.

Frauds in the Collection of Customs.

I regret to refer to the fact of the discovery of extensive frauds in the collection of the customs revenue at New York city, in which a number of the subordinate employes in the weighing and other departments were directly concerned, and in which the beneficiaries were the American Sugar Refining Company and others. The frauds consisted in the payment of duty on underweights of sugar. The government has recovered from the American Sugar Refining Company all that it is shown to have been defrauded of. The sum was received in full in a current one, which might have been recovered by civil suit against the beneficiary of the fraud, but there was an express reservation in the contract of settlement by which the settlement should not interfere with, or prevent the criminal prosecution of every one who was found to be subject to the same.

Criminal prosecutions are now proceeding against a number of the government officers. The treasury department and the department of justice are exerting every effort to discover all the wrongdoers, including the officers and employes of the companies who may have been privy to the fraud. It would seem to me that an investigation of the frauds by congress at present, pending the probing by the treasury department and the department of justice, as proposed, might by giving immunity and otherwise prove an embarrassment in securing conviction of the guilty parties.

The Tariff Act.

Two features of the new tariff act call for special reference. By virtue of the clause known as the "maximum and minimum" clause, it is the duty of the executive to consider the laws and practices of other countries with reference to the importation into those countries of the products and merchandise of the United States, and if the executive finds such laws and practices not to be unduly discriminatory against the United States, the minimum duties provided in the bill are to go into force. Unless the president makes such a finding, then the maximum duties provided in the bill, that is, an increase of 25 per cent, ad valorem over the minimum duties are to be in force. Fear has been expressed that this power conferred and duty imposed on the executive is likely to lead to a tariff war. I beg to express the hope and belief that no such result need be anticipated.

The discretion granted to the executive by the terms "unduly discriminatory", is wide. In order that the maximum duty shall be charged against the imports from a country, it is necessary that he shall find on the part of that country not only discriminations in its laws or the practice under them against the trade of the United States, but that the discriminations found shall be undue; that is, without good and fair reason. I conceive that this power was reposed in the president with the hope that the maximum duties might never be applied in any case, but that the power to apply them would enable the president and the state department through friendly negotiation to secure the elimination from the laws and the practice under them of any foreign country of that which is unduly discriminatory. No one is seeking a tariff war or a condition in which the spirit of retaliation shall be aroused.

Needs of the Navy.

The return of the battleship fleet from its voyage around the world, in more efficient condition than when it started, was a noteworthy event of interest alike to our citizens and the naval authorities of the world. Besides the beneficial and far-reaching effect on our personal and diplomatic relations in the countries which the fleet visited, the marked success of the ships in steaming around the world in all weathers in schedule time has increased respect for our navy and has added to our national prestige.

Injunctions Without Notice.

The platform of the successful party in the last election contained the following: "The Republican party will uphold at all times the authority and integrity of the courts, state and federal, and will ever insist that their powers to enforce their process and protect life, liberty and property shall be preserved inviolate. We believe, however, that the rules of procedure in the federal courts with respect to the issuance of the writ of injunction should be more accurately defined by statute and that no injunction or temporary restraining order should be issued without notice, except where irreparable injury would result from delay, in which case a speedy hearing thereafter should be granted."

I recommend that in compliance with the promise thus made appropriate legislation be adopted. The ends of justice will best be met and the chief cause of complaint against ill-considered injunctions without notice will be removed by the enactment of a statute forbidding hereafter the issuing of any injunction or restraining order, whether temporary or permanent, by any federal court, without previous notice and a reasonable opportunity to be heard on behalf of the parties to be enjoined, unless it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that the delay necessary to give such notice and hearing would result in irreparable injury to the complainant and unless also the court shall from the evidence make a written finding, which shall be spread upon the court minutes, that immediate and irreparable injury is likely to ensue to the complainant, and shall define the injury, state why it is irreparable and shall also indorse on the order issued the date and the hour of the issuance of the order. Moreover, every such injunction or restraining order issued without previous notice and opportunity by the defendant to be heard should by force of the statute to expire and be of no effect after seven days from the issuance there of or within any time less than that period which the court may fix, unless within the injunction or order is extended or renewed after previous notice and opportunity to be heard.

Second-Class Mail Matter.

The deficit every year in the post-office department is largely caused by the low rate of postage of one cent a pound charged on second-class mail matter, which includes not only newspapers but magazines and miscellaneous periodicals. The actual loss growing out of the transmission of this class of mail matter at one cent a pound amounts to about $63,000,000 a year. The average cost of this transportation of this matter is more than five cents a pound.

It appears that the average distance over which newspapers are delivered to their customers is 291 miles, while the average haul of magazines is 1,049, and of miscellaneous periodicals 1,128 miles. Thus, the average haul of the magazine is three and one-half times and that of the miscellaneous a periodical nearly four times the haul of the daily newspaper, yet all of them pay the same postage rate of one cent a pound. The statistics of 1907 show that second-class mail matter constituted 63.91 per cent. of the weight of all the mail, and yielded only 6.19 per cent. of the revenue.

The figures given are startling, and show the payment by the government of an enormous subsidy to the newspapers, magazines and periodicals, and congress may well consider whether radical steps should not be taken to reduce the deficit in the postoffice department caused by this discrepancy between the actual cost of transportation and the compensation exacted therefor.

A great saving might be made, amounting to much more than half of the loss by imposing upon magazines and periodicals a higher rate of postage. They are much heavier than newspapers and contain a much higher proportion of advertising to reading matter, and the average distance of their transportation is three and a half times as great.

Postal Savings Banks.

The second subject worthy of mention in the postoffice department is the real necessity and entire practicability of establishing postal savings banks. A successful party at the last election declared in favor of postal savings banks, and although the proposition finds opponents in many parts of the country, I am convinced that the people desire such banks, and am sure that when the banks are furnished they will be productive of the utmost good.

Favors Ship Subsidy.

Following the course of my distinguished predecessor, I earnestly recommend to congress the consideration and passage of a ship subsidy bill, looking to the establishment of lines between our Atlantic seaboard and the eastern coast of South America, as well as lines from the west coast of the United States to South America, China, Japan and the Philippines. The profits on foreign mails are perhaps a sufficient measure of the expenditures which might first be tentatively applied to this method of inducing American capital to undertake the establishment of American lines of steamships in those directions in which we now feel it most important that we should have means of transportation controlled in the interest of the expansion of our trade. A bill of this character has once passed the house and more than once passed the senate, and I hope that at this session a bill framed on the same lines and with the same purpose may receive the favor of congress.

Conserving National Resources.

In several departments there is presented the necessity for legislation looking to the further conservation of our national resources, and the subject is one of such importance as to require a more detailed and extended discussion than can be expected upon in this communication. For that reason I shall take an early opportunity to send a special message to congress on the subject of the improvement of our waterways, upon the reclamation and irrigation of arid, semi-arid, and swamp lands; upon the preservation of our forests and the reforesting of suitable areas; upon the classification of the public domain with a view of separating from agricultural settlement mineral, coal, and phosphate lands and sites belonging to the government bordering on streams suitable for the utilization of water power.

Political Contribution.

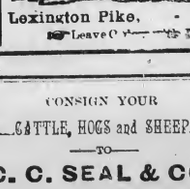
I urgently recommend to congress that a law be passed requiring that candidates in elections of members of the house of representatives and committees in charge of their candidacy and campaign file in a proper office of the United States government a statement of the contributions received and of the expenditures incurred in the campaign for such elections and that similar legislation be enacted in respect to all other elections which are constitutionally within the control of congress.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.
Phone, M. 2393.
The Applegate-Piper Co.
MERCHANT TAILORS.
Room 610, Traction Building.
Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,
BURLINGTON, KY.
The Oldest Bank in Boone County,
PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,
With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.



RARUS FLOUR
THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.
17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.
This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR
Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,
Covington, - - Ky.

YOU NEED A BUGGY
AND I HAVE IT FOR YOU.
CAN SAVE YOU MONEY.
New Buggies, Runabouts
and Harness for Sale or Trade.
Workmanship the Best, and Material Guaranteed.
When in Burlington call and See me.
B. B. HUME, - Burlington, Ky.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.
Lexington Pike, - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders at Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR
CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP
TO
C. C. SEAL & CO.
Union Stock Yards,
CINCINNATI, OHIO
And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.
J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Dr. B. K. Menefee spent Friday in Cincinnati.

Jerry Carpenter, of Richwood, visited friends here, Thursday.

H. C. Diers spent Friday in the city of Cincinnati on business.

T. F. Curley spent part of last week in Cincinnati on business.

Jno. L. Vest and D. B. Wallace spent Sunday and Monday in Chicago on business.

Mrs. C. W. Sanders, who has been suffering greatly with rheumatism, is no better.

Wm. Griffith, one of the old and clever citizens of Beaver Lick, spent Friday here with friends.

W. O. Rouse, our successful chicken fancier, spent last Friday at the fancy poultry show in Cincinnati.

Virgil D. Holder, who is employed in the railroad service at Danville, spent part of last week here with home folks.

J. F. Cleek spent part of last week in Chicago attending the big live stock show and enjoyed the occasion very much.

Mrs. K. W. Nelson and little son Attilla, spent part of last week at Williamstown with her parents Rev. J. I. Wills and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Edwards attended the fancy poultry show at Cincinnati, last Friday, and enjoyed the fine exhibition very much.

Leslie Jones, who is attending the state University at Lexington, spent Thanksgiving here with his parents, Dr. A. N. Jones and wife.

Mrs. John L. Vest spent part of last week at Warsaw, where her husband was engaged in a lawsuit involving $150,000 worth of property.

John L. Rich, Jr., and sister Miss Pearl, of Big Bone, were visiting here last Friday, Miss Pearl going to Covington to spend several days with friends.

Rev. J. B. Harris and mother spent part of last week in Cincinnati taking his infant son in to consult a specialist, the little one having been ill since birth.

H. W. Smith, a popular and clever citizen of Erlanger, enjoyed a hunt in this quarter last week, and besides the good sport had a fine time mixing with his many old friends.

Leslie Vallandingham, who is employed by the Q. & C. as telegraph operator, has moved his family from Science Hill to this place, and is now domiciled in the Dyas property.

Misses Mary Miller, Madge Miller, Lula Bolington, Lena Bolington and Mary Ransler were guests of Miss Sybil Hurt, last Friday evening, enjoying the pleasures of an evening together.

J. S. Cleary, U. S. Postoffice Inspector, was here last week, and went over the affairs of the Walton postoffice, and complimented the management of the office by Ralph Edwards very highly.

The infant son of Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Harris who was taken to Cincinnati for special treatment, died there Saturday, and the remains were brought here, the funeral taking place here Monday.

Rev. D. T. Buck was called to New Liberty, Owen county, last Friday to conduct the religious funeral services of John Curtis, an old and esteemed citizen of that place who died December 1.

Ed. P. Crowe, the State Campaigner of the State wide Prohibition movement, addressed a big audience at the Walton Baptist church in the interest of the coming struggle for State Prohibition.

Mrs. J. B. Harris still remains quite ill and her husband, who is pastor of the Epworth church at Lexington, has been at her bedside most of the past week. Their little baby is not doing very well.

J. W. Cross, who is a traveling salesman for a blacksmith supply house with territory in Missouri, writes that he is having a fine trade, but expects to have the pleasure of spending the Christmas holiday with the homefolks at Walton.

W. E. Vest, the real estate agent, made the following sales last week: Francis Emral to Arthur Hughes, 31 acres near Walton for $1,500; Charles Stephens to Geo. Elliston, 31 acres near Independence for $1,450.

Walton Masonic Lodge had a fine meeting, Friday night, when the Fellow Craft degree was conferred on Dr. Harry W. Hamilton and Roy D. Stamler. The Lodge is in a fine working condition and constantly growing.

J. T. Hurd, the efficient station agent of the Cincinnati Southern Railway, has been sick the past couple of weeks and is yet unable to attend to his duties. C. W. Nelson, of Nicholas county, is filling his position during Mr. Hunt's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tompkins spent a day last week at Carrollton with relatives and friends and on business. They expect to go to Hot Springs, Arkansas, in a short time to avail themselves of the value of baths for several weeks.

Mrs. John C. Hamilton, who recently arrived from Nelms, Oklahoma, on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. A. B. Tompkins, left last week for her old home in Gallatin county where she will spend several weeks with her children who reside there.

Mr. and Mrs W. Lee Gaines and family have moved from their farm near Richwood to their Walton property for the purpose of giving their children the advantage of our excellent school. Our people gladly welcome this excellent family to the town.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Blackwell, of Covington, spent part of the past week here the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Franks. It is with pleasure that we note the recovery of Mrs. Franks from her long and trying illness, as she is now able to be about the house and her general health is greatly improved.

Mabel Hunter has returned home after a lengthy visit to Covington.

Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Jones spent last Thursday in Covington with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Balla Dorsey has opened a dressmaking room at Mr. T. E. Dixon's, of Richwood.

Charles Jones, who attends medical college in Cincinnati, spent a part of last week here with home folks.

Lee Brinley, of Jacksonville, Fla., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Northcutt at their country home last week.

Britt Senour and daughter, Miss Pearl, spent last Sunday with T. W. Senour and family near Independence.

W. O. Jackson and family have moved here from the west, and will have charge of the Ed Taylor farm next year.

J. G. Tomlin was at Newport Ky. Monday acting as special judge and was also at Dayton, O., Tuesday on legal business.

W. H. Young, of Kenton county, spent part of last week here guest of his daughter, Mrs. E. F. Vandandingham and husband.

Mrs. Mary Edwards, of Hamilton, Ohio, spent part of last week here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Northcutt, near Walton.

Robt. C. Green, the popular cashier of the Walton Bank, spent last Thursday in Cincinnati with relatives and friends and on business.

J. D. Dauoman and wife attended the funeral of Dr. Geo. T. Byland at Crittenden, Tuesday. Rev. D. T. Buck conducting the services.

J. F. Blythe, of Burlington, the clever deputy sheriff, was here last Thursday on business pertaining to the Boone Circuit Court which convenes Monday.

Mrs. John C. Miller spent the past week near Big Bone Springs, guest of Harry Jones and family, and enjoying a visit to old friends at her former home.

John C. Miller, the clever assistant cashier of the Equitable Bank, spent last Wednesday in Cincinnati on business for his store at Landing and the bank.

Mrs. Jane P. Conner and nephew, Bernard Wright Southgate, had the pleasure of visiting some of their old friends, Mrs. James Preston Houston, and Mrs. Jane Kennedy, near Walton, and Mrs. Mary Cleek Thomas, of Kensington.

J. Kite Glore, of near Beaver Lick, who was in Cincinnati undergoing treatment for a disease of the ear, returned home last week, and under the care of his physician Dr. J. G. Slater he is much improved with every prospect of entire recovery.

Births.—To Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Perry, of Richwood, a fine son; to Mr. and Mrs. James Pottenger, of near Beaver Lick, a fine son, making seven sons that have blessed this worthy couple. Dr. J. G. Slater was the attending physician in both cases.

Walton Odd-Fellows Lodge held an enthusiastic meeting Saturday night, when Earnest DeMoisey was initiated into the mysteries of the order. The lodge has a large membership of excellent citizens, and Bro. DeMoisey being of this type he is a very welcome addition.

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. B. Campbell have returned from a delightful visit to his parents at Nicholasville, where they formerly resided. Rev. Campbell is the pastor of the Methodist church at Walton and is constantly growing in popular favor with the general public, and Mrs. Campbell is beloved by everybody.

W. Lee Gaines, the claim agent of the C. N. O. & T. P. Railroad Company, made a settlement with Mrs. B. K. Menefee last Saturday for injuries sustained some time ago by stepping off one of the company's trains at Walton whereby her ankle was sprained and she was injured otherwise. Mr. Gaines awarded Mrs. Menefee $200 damage which amount the company has since paid.

Wm. Lunsford, who recently returned from Texas, has bought 8 acres of ground from Jno. L. Vest for $100. The land is situated about a mile from Walton and is known as the Ross heirs tract of land. Mr. Lunsford will erect a neat cottage on the land at once and will crop on the place the coming year. Mr. Lunsford and family are making their home with Patrick Burk for the present.

Miss Lillie Mae Cooke gave a candy pulling recently in honor of Miss Laura Frances Riddell, of Burlington. Those present were: Hazel Vallandingham, Ruth Fullilove, Lillian Graham, Mary Houston, Zuela Mayhugh, Beasie Lee Rice, Isabela Tompkins, Clifford Laws, Weidel Rouse, Russel Miller, Charles Miller, Harry Taylor, Harry Mayhugh. All reported a delightful time, and wishing Miss Lillie Mae many more such evenings.

Hon. J. G. Tomlin and Jno. L. Vest returned from Warsaw, last Saturday, where they had spent a couple of weeks attending the Gallatin Circuit court. They were the attorneys for the contestants of the will of the late Hugh Montgomery and had a hard, bitter fight, and while they did everything that could be expected in the case and put up a fine representation of their side of the case, yet the jury decided in favor of sustaining the will. An appeal will probably be taken to the Court of Appeals as the estate involves about $150,000 worth of property.

H. C. Diers while on his recent trip to Chicago, visited the town of Pullman in that locality, and sold the Pullman Company a large order of maple trees for shade purposes about their beautiful premises. Mr. Diers is receiving many orders from distant territory and in every instance he has been complimented for the splendid nursery stock he sells, and the satisfactory manner of its delivery. The Pullman Company is one of the largest concerns in the United States, and had many bids for the nursery stock, and gave Mr. Diers the preference because of his superior goods.

W. E. Vest, the real estate agent, made two sales of land in this quarter the past week: The first was the Dr. John Loomis farm near Independence, containing 135 acres, belonging to Geo. W. Cook, the purchaser being Wm. McClanhan, of the U. S. Revenue service, and the purchase price being $6,000 in cash and a $4,000 residence in Covington. The other sale was twenty acres of land belonging to Mrs. Johnny DeMoisey, of Walton, to Wm. Miller, of Butler, Pendleton county, the land being situated near Richwood, and the purchase price $1,500 cash. Mr. Miller will build a neat residence and barn on the place at once and will move there as soon as completed.

Rev. Willard Cram, of Williamstown, who recently returned from Seoul, Korea, where he is in charge of the mission of the Methodist Church South, was a visitor at this place a short while last week on his way home from Warsaw, Gallatin county, where he had been holding delightful exercises to overcrowded houses. Mrs Cram and two children are at Williamstown, one of the children being ill. They lost one of there children by death in Korea. Mr. and Mrs. Cram did great work in Korea, and were very popular with the natives. Rev. Cram had charge of 70 churches in his territory. He has grown remarkably stout, and has greatly improved in many respects, but he is the same genial, clever, earnest christian gentleman as of yore, and he has lost none of the savor of his kindly disposition. Rev. Cram and family have a leave of absence until next September when they expect to return to their mission work in Korea. They have been in Korea for seven years.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, Death has again invaded our ranks and took from us our dearly loved sister, Mary W. Corn, and

Whereas, Our hearts are saddened by our loss, yet we look forward to the resurrection morning when we hope to be reunited with her, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we extend to her bereaved parents our heartfelt sympathy and be it

Resolved, That we devote a page of our record book to her memory; that a copy of these resolutions be sent to her family, and one to the Boone County Recorder for publication, and that our charter be draped and that we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Committee—Mabel G. Savre, Katrina Clayton, Belle Quick.

Women

Women who suffer from female ailments, frequently neglect their trouble, till a general break-down follows. Don't wait till your case is as bad as that—take Cardui in time. It is a safe, reliable medicine, for all women.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. Rena Hare, of Pierce, Fla., tried Cardui and afterward wrote: "I was a sufferer from all sorts of female trouble, had pain in my side, drawing pains in my legs, could not sleep, had shortness of breath. "I suffered for years, until my husband insisted on my trying Cardui. The first bottle gave me relief and now I am almost well." Try Cardui. It will help you."

E 43

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

FURS WANTED.

We want 5,000 Minks.
50,000 Muskrats,
20,000 Skunks,
10,000 Raccoons,
15,000 Opossums.
B. F. Wilson Fur Co., Tuscola, Illinois, Box. 17.

FOR SALE—Good, fresh Jersey cow and calf—third time fresh.—Apply to Frank Mullins, Burlington, Ky., R F D 2.

Lost—Buck sheep about a month ago. Information as to its whereabouts will be thankfully received by J. J. Rucker.

Now is the time to Buy a Piano for Christmas.

We will Save you $100.00 on a strictly

High Grade Piano or Player Piano.

THE TONE, QUALITY AND DURABILITY OF OUR PIANOS CANNOT BE EXCELLED ANYWHERE.

Cash or Easy Payments. Large Stock to Select from

When in Covington call in and see us.

Ben J. Wagner Company,

NO. 82 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

Watch Values at Motch's

Is a generally accepted fact made positive by a long Established record. The principal reason is this—we sell our Watches under a Guarantee of reliability and accuracy that protects the buyer absolutely—and we show you over 500 watches to

MAKE YOUR SELECTION FROM.

FOR THE LADIES.		FOR THE GENTLEMEN.
LADIES' SOLID GOLD Watches, plain and engraved	$16 up	GENTLEMEN'S WATCHES Solid Gold from.....	$30 up
LADIES' SOLID GOLD Watches, set with diamonds	$25 up	GENTLEMEN'S "Very Thin" open face Elgin or Waltham	$15 up
LADIES' GOLD FILLED Watches, Elgin movement	$10 up	GENTLEMEN'S Gold filled Watches, any mov. you want	$8 up
LADIES' 25-yr CASE, fitted with our "Motch Special" mo	$14 up	GENTLEMEN'S Nickle Watches.....	$1 up

BEST WATCH OFFERED AT ANYWHERE NEAR THE PRICE.

MOTCH, THE JEWELER,

613 Madison Avenue, - Covington, Kentucky.

Warning to Hunters.

Any person or persons tresspassing or hunting with dog or guns on the lands of the undersigned will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

WALTON PRECINCT.

W. H. Senour	W. E. Dixon
G. W. Taylor	M. E. Fields
G. E. Carroll	Bryant Campbell
J. C. Byland	Mrs Jane Kennedy
J. C. Mayhugh	A. R. Johnson
Robt. Chambers	L. S. Wolfe
Ira Aylor	S. C. Hicks
Batty Long	J. S. West
Lawrence Ryan	Clay Baker
S. Taylor	John Mardis
S. M. Hudson	R. O. Hughes
Theo. Kennedy	Martha C. Hudson
Ben Cleek	Rebecca J. Hudson
J. C. Bedinger	Kate Hudson
John Goodridge	O. S. Glacken
J. J Hudson	Geo W Ranson
Rev. Lafe Johnson farm.

BURLINGTON PRECINCT,

Mrs Elizabeth Utz	W L B Rouse
Oscar Gaines	Bart E Aylor
Clarence Easton	Karl Rouse
T. J. Walton.	Peter Buchart.
Hewitt Bros.	Chas. A. Gaines
Mrs. A. Harding.
Minerva Weaver.

BELLEVIEW PRECINCT.

Julia Dinsmore

BULLITTSVILLE PRECINCT.

Mrs Mary Gaines	John W Clore
Elbert Rouse	Huey Aylor
Jeff D Cloud	Harvey Aylor
H L McGlasson	Ben Paddock
R C McGlasson	GE Clore
E J Aylor	Chester Hood

UNION PRECINCT.

E L Rouse	W H Wilson
Jas Delahanntty	H F Utz

PETERSBURG PRECINCT.

F M Voshell	C L Voshell

HAMILTON PRECINCT.

R. Lee Huey

C. H. ACRA, AUCTIONEER

GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

STALLION FOR SALE.

Bay Stallion, Five years old, 16 hands high, sired by Addington. W. G. Riddell, Hebron, Ky.

NEW PACKED

Dried Peaches, Apples, Prunes, Raisins, Oranges, Etc.,

Now in Stock.

All other goods as soon as the season opens. Don't forget to call in and compare my Quality and Prices with others.

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated—U. D. 1893.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.
S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Capital, $50,000. Surplus, $10,000.
Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. Stop and See Us.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875.
Subscription $1.50 year.
Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 15, 1909. NO 9

BOOST, DON'T KNOCK.

The Union and Covington Traction Road Would Be the Greatest Enterprise Ever Put Through in Boone County.

MORE CAPITAL, LESS TAXES.

Many people in this county are saying there is nothing in the Big Bone and Covington traction scheme that is being pushed by some of the citizens in Union and vicinity. That there is something in the scheme the Recorder verily believes. Dr. Crouch, J. W. Kennedy and B. L. Rice appear to be the principal workers for the road. They are not only taiking for it but are spending their money and time in its behalf, and their character and reputation as business men is such as to support the belief on the part of an outsider that they were meeting with encouragement and a good deal of it, or they would have abandoned their efforts on behalf of the proposed road ere now, but on the other hand, as time passes they become more and more enthusiastic in their work. If there is no chance for success in their undertaking they certainly would have discovered that fact before they began to invest their private means to advance the work. They have had engineers at work on the proposed route, secured the right of way over nearly the entire distance in the country and have asked the city of Covington for a right of way over certain streets in that city. These, with numerous other steps that Messrs. Crouch, Rice, Kennedy and others have taken at their own expense ought to satisfy the public as to their good faith in the ultimate success of the enterprise which they are pushing. Suppose this traction road is constructed, will it be of any benefit to this county as a whole? A ten year old boy ought to be able to see that it will. Every enterprise that causes the investment of capital in this county redounds to the interest of taxpayers in the county. The more capital there is in a taxpaying district the less the rate of taxation for local purposes. There is not a citizen in this county but who can readily understand how his local taxes would be increased were the distillery at Petersburg and the Louisville and Nashville and the Queen and Crescent railroads released from paying taxes for local purposes in Boone county. The converse of this proposition is true when additional capital is brought into the county, therefore every taxpayer in the county is directly interested in the success of the Union and Covington traction road, and doubly interested are those whose neighborhood the road will pass, as the accommodations it will provide them will be daily. It will put their homes in the city as it were, besides increasing the demands for their realty as the dwellers in the crowded cities are constantly on the look out for cosy homes in the country, almost invariably seeking a location on some traction road which will make it possible to live in the country and have employment in the city. The Union and Covington traction road would be the greatest enterprise ever put through in Boone county, so be a booster and not a knocker.

Kentuckians in Missouri.

To the Boone County Recorder:

On the evening of Dec. 9th, the Kentucky Club of William Jewell College, gave its annual reception and dinner. There were one hundred present. The 36 members of the club showed themselves to be worthy representatives of old Kentucky hospitality. I am sending a program of the dinner. We have a warm welcome for all students from Kentucky. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Bruce will be glad to learn that they are well and prosperous. We know of the doings of Boone people thoroughly through the Recorder, which is always welcome. Wishing all a happy Christmas, I am.

J. E. McAtee.

A Good Deserter.

Arnold Beck for many years a resident of Cleves, O., a member of the Fifth Ohio Cavalry, who died recently at the age of 70, it develops had been seven times married and had deserted each wife in turn. He was buried with military honors by his comrades who had no knowledge of his lugamous character. When wife No. 7, whom he married at Addyston, applied for a widow's pension the department discovered two other applications filed for pensions and began an investigation which revealed the above facts. Beck married several of his wives in Indiana and one in Illinois.—Lawrenceburg Register.

Wants the Schedule Changed.

The new management of the Burlington and Erlanger mail route wants to get a change in the schedule so that it will depart from Burlington half an hour or so later than at present. This change would suit the passenger patronage of the bus at this season of the year, as six o'clock is an early hour to have to leave home, especially when there is such a long wait at Erlanger for the train that goes to Cincinnati. No one, unless it is Uncle Sam, will oppose the change.

Must Have Good Roads.

It is claimed by the postoffice department at Washington that the rural mail routes are doing a great work in the way of causing improvements in the public roads throughout the country, as where they are once put on in a community the people will turnout and repair the roads where necessary before they will suffer the mail discontinued on account of bad roads. In a few years no routes will be allowed in localities where the roads over which the mail has to be carried do not come up to a certain standard, which fact will prove another very great incentive to good roads. People will finally learn that it is to their interest to have good roads, no matter from what stand-point the subject is considered, and it is a good thing that something will awaken them to that fact.

He Can't Understand.

A certain gentleman near town, who until about a year ago lead the unhappy life of an old bachelor, concluded a few evenings since that a newly married couple living near him ought to receive the same recognition he did upon his accession to the ranks of the benedicts, put a stick through the eye of a circular saw which he shouldered and carried all over his neighborhood in an effort to organize a charivari club, but ail in no avail, it being too cold for that class of sport, and he is puzzled now to know why his neighbors should not have been given the same welcome accorded him and his bride.

All of the New County Officials.

The Recorder's first edition in the new year will contain the picture of each of the county officials, who enter upon the term beginning January 1st. If they or any of their friends desire extra copies of that edition they should order them at once. Do not wait until the edition is printed for then it will be too late, as there will be no extras. That edition will prove of great interest in years to come as matter of history. The justices of the peace have been requested to take space in the edition, but as yet they have not responded as it was hoped they would.

Farmers Well Pleased.

The present corn crop is nearly harvested, although the scarcity of labor experienced by all growers in this county has delayed the husking of the crop. The majority of the crop has now been harvested, however, and is in the crib, but it may be a week or two before the last can be gathered. The prices now being obtained for the product are high, and farmers are well pleased with the result of all they have marketed this year. Corn is bringing $2.75 a barrel delivered, which makes its raising profitable to the growers.—Blue Grass Clipper.

Miss Mary W. Corn.

When the lovely ones of earth are called to join the throng of the Blessed, we, who are left feel a desolation that can not be expressed in words, and mingled with this is a gladness that she who is gone has entered into joy that can not be disturbed.

Whereas, Boone County Pomona Grange has met with such a loss in the death of our sister, Miss Mary W. Corn, therefore.

Resolved, That we desire to express as far as is possible our loving appreciation of the beautiful traits that made up her character, pure in heart, full of Faith, Hope and Charity, she guarded well Fidelity all the duties of her life in her home, her church and the Grange. We lay our tenderest tribute of praise at her shrine and grieving that we have lost a sister and friend, we ask to be permitted to offer our deepest sympathy to the father and mother who are deprived of her sweet presence and tender ministrations, and with them we shall await the great reunion, hoping the Master of heaven and earth will call all of us to meet her where there are no tears, no pain, only the joy of the Redeemed.

Resolved, That a page of our record book be set aside to her memory, and a copy of this approciation be inscribed thereon, and a copy be sent to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Corn, and one to the Boone County Recorder for publication.

Committee—Mrs. J. L. Frazier, Mrs. W. H. Smith, Mrs. Hubert Rodgers.

HIS LAST ROUND.

Frank C. Greene's Last Visit to the Boone Circuit Court as Commonwealth's Attorney.

This is Commonwealth's Attorney Frank C. Greene's last appearance here in his present official capacity, this term of the court completing the four years' term for which he was elected. Mr. Greene has quite a number of warm personal friends in this county who wish him abundant success in the practice of his profession, which he will pursue at Carrollton. Mr. Greene is a young man of great ability, and his friends confidently expect him to become a leading member in his profession. Genial, companionable and accommodating, he soon surrounds himself with friends wherever he casts his lot.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

HATHAWAY.

Dec. 13.—Colds prevalent.

No school at this place several days this week on account of the illness of the teacher.

The writer sold 45 bushels of corn to Wm. Rector near Waterloo, at 50 cents per bushel.

Owen Allen, of Petersburg, was here last Friday looking at a farm for which he was on a trade.

Johnnie Sullivan and wife entertained the young folks with a play party, last Thursday night.

W. S. White took a load of hogs and sheep to market last Thursday and received satisfactory prices.

W. L. Presser took a couple of load of hogs to Cincinnati last week for which he received $8.30 per hundred.

—o—

GUNPOWDER.

Miss Olive Smith is suffering with rheumatism.

Lute Aylor and family were Sunday guests of B. C. Tanner and wife.

W. N. Smith has improved the appearance of his house by building a new porch.

We had a pretty good specimen of winter weather last week. The thermometer registered at zero at several places.

Frank Rouse, of Union neighborhood, passed through our burg, last Saturday enroute to Ludlow to visit his brother, Dr. L. E. Rouse.

Miss Bessie Talbot, who underwent a surgical operation at a Cincinnati hospital about a week ago, has improved sufficiently to be able to come home, and is now with her sister, Mrs. C. C. Bradford, at Florence.

—o—

ERLANGER.

Dec. 11.—Mrs. R. H. Ingram, of Cincinnati, is here visiting relatives.

Mrs. Elizabeth Skiff, of Lexington, is visiting friends here.

Lonnie Victor has returned to Indianapolis after a visit here.

Miss Edna Geiger spent Saturday afternoon in Cincinnati shopping

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Zitt died Sunday night.

Misa Ida Finnell will leave this week to visit relatives in Missouri.

R. O. Hoard and family are occupying the residence of T. Geiger in Southgate.

Elbert Rice and wife are at home after a two weeks' visit to relatives in Pittsburg.

Raymond Johnson and wife lost their infant daughter, Tuesday night, of pneumonia.

The younger set is making preparations for a german at the town hall on the 30th inst.

The Pastors' Aid Society of the Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. A. Elias.

Dr. Blackerby attended the banquet given this week by the Pendleton county Medical Association at Falmouth.

Mrs. T. Geiger and daughters, Misses Edna, Louretta and Clara, were Sunday guests of Miss Anna Cline, of Carthage, Ohio.

Mr. Ralph Quisenberry has returned to his home in Montgomery, Ala., after a visit here with his sister, Mrs. S. L. Webb.

—o—

IDLEWILD.

Dec. 10.—Its just as necessary for men to have sand in their craws aa it is for old hens.

James Feeley and wife and John McCool and wife were Sunday guests of Charlie Sullivan and wife.

Those who killed hogs before the cold weather began are having less trouble during their meat than those who killed since.

Mrs. W. C. Gaines, of Buiiittsville, returned home from Carrollton, Sunday, where she had been with her sister for the past three months.

Clever Charles Scothorn, of Francesville, was chief cook and bottle washer at Idlewild store while the proprietor went to Cincinnati to lay in a fresh supply of goods.

Roy Reinger and Geo. Frazier, of Cincinnati, were down to see Fletcher Clore the first of this week and bought a horse of Fletcher and one of R. C. Gaines, and a young fox of James Day. Prices not known. They are jolly boys. Come again.

Edwin Marsh and wife, of Versailles, Ind., have been visiting Albert Gray and wife since the latter part of last week, intending to return home Monday but owing to the weather he went home Wednesday and left his wife here until the weather moderates. Mrs. Marsh is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gray.

B. C. Graddy and good wife entertained with an excellent dining Thursday, the following were present: Dr. Nunnelly, Mesdames. Jno. Gaar, Pauline Gaines, and George Gaines, of Bullittsville and vicinity; Mr. and Mrs. Blankenboker, of Louisville; H. C. Duncan and wife and Miss Bunie Willis near here; Courtney Walton and wife, of Idlewild, and Mrs. Carl Price of Oak Knoll.

—o—

PETERSBURG.

Mrs. E. T. Krutz is very ill.

Ira Shy visited his family at Cynthiana, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. R. W. Clark, formerly of Burlington, is visiting her parents Lafayette Helms and wife.

Reese Gordon has opened a grocery store in the Ruth building, formerly occupied by the S. C. Buchanan company.

McMahan and Jackson have secured the use of Krutz's hall every Saturday night during the winter to exhibit their moving pictures. Petersburg is rather short on entertainment and the people gladly welcome this show.

The people of Petersburg were very glad to have Rev. Noel Gaines again with them several days last week. His lecture, Under Two Flags, at Krutz's Hall, Friday night, was largely attended and enjoyed. The music was excellently rendered. On Sunday night he preached a fine sermon entitled, Is Jesus in Your Business? using Luke 5, 1—11 inclusive, as his text. Bro. Gaines certainly brings out the truth in such a simple, straight forward way that no one can fail to see it. He so endeared himself to the people here, during his stay last fall, that everybody was pleased and happy to have him with them if only for this short time. He left, Monday, for Burlington, to begin his great union revival at that place.

—o—

HERE AND THERE.

The local blacksmiths were very busy the latter part of last week.

Hogkilling was the order of the day during the crisp weather last week.

Herbert Snyder is at home to spend the winter, after working several months in Cincinnati.

For Sale—A male Poland China hog, eligible to register. Apply to John Smith, R. F. D. 1, Burlington.

George Hewett finished crushing stone on the B. & B. pike last week, and will begin sawing again at the old stand in a few days.

L. A. Conner looked at several crops of tobacco on Woolper week before last, but his prices were not satisfactory to the growers.

Ed Botts is getting some very hard knocks from all sides. About the time the dogs on the north side of Woolper got through cleaning up on his in a fox chase, along comes Courtney Walton, declaring that he has a sorrel filly that can lay Ed's sorrels in the shade. Too bad, but Ed is from Missouri.

—o—

LIMABURG.

J. W. Utz is sick.

Geo. Hammon is no better.

James Craven is improving slowly.

C. E. Beemon is confined to his room with rheumatism.

Jerry Beemon has several nice shoats and hogs for sale.

Clyde Anderson purchased from Clifford Tanner a fine heifer calf.

C. L. Tanner and wife spent Sunday with her parents, C. E. Beemon and wife.

Aunt Betty Aylor had a fall, one night last week, which is causing her much trouble.

While helping his father kill hogs, last Friday, Coy Waters cut his hand very badly.

Wm. Garnett lost a niee shoat, last week, which he bought of parties near Gunpowder.

Miss Stella Popham and Una Tanner spent last Wednesday with Clifford Tanner and wife.

Robert, infant son of Culum Garnett, died December 5th, after a short illness of membranous croup.

—o—

HEBRON.

M. L. Crutcher is improving very rapidly.

Mrs. Nora Aylor has been quite sick with neuralgia.

Don't forget the oyster supper to be given here Saturday night at the hall.

Robert Snyder and family, of Hopeful, spent Monday, of last week, with Mose Aylor and family.

There will be a Christmas tree and exercises at Hebron church church on Christmas day at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Alice Rouse was visiting her brother, E. J. Aylor and family, of Francesville, several days the past week.

Dr. F. L. Sayre and wife, Wm. H. Clayton, and O.C. Hafer attended the Grange meeting at Union, last Saturday.

—o—

PT. PLEASANT.

Miss Clementine Walton is visiting friends in the city.

A Christmas entertainment will on Christmas day at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Mary Robinson is at her father's, Mr. Fred Jergen's after her visit to relatives in Illinois.

Since Dr. Slater lanced the lump on little Charlotte Bradford's neck, she has steadily improved.

The friends of Mrs. Anna Robinson will be sorry to hear of her severe illness at her home in Newport.

FLORENCE.

Miss Virginia Buckner is sick.

C. W. Myers and family entertained Rev. Jones and Mrs. Carrie Utz, Sunday.

The protracted meeting has closed on account of the bad weather. Two additions.

Hank Tanner, wife and daughters, Coreta and Arminta, were guests of Harve Tanner and wife, Sunday.

The dinner given in the I. O. O. F. Hall Saturday by the Baptists, was well attended considering the weather.

Miss Eva Lucas and brother, Albert, and May and Aian Utz, were guests of Miss Minnie and Stella Baxter, Sunday.

—o—

DEVON.

Frank Prior is progressing nicely with the erection, of his barn.

Wm. Scott, jr., entertained some friends from Newport last week, hunting.

Mrs. Ben Bristow is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Louis Lampton, of Bank Lick.

Mrs. D. P. Regan, of Virginia, is visiting friends and relatives in this neighborhood.

Misses Virginia and Margarite Williams were guests of relatives at this place recently.

Jerome Maher is working at the carpenter's trade in the city, and is much pleased with the work.

Miss May Sandford and pupils are preparing for an entertainment before the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Edward Stuntebeck, of Newport, has returned home after a week's visit with her parents at this place.

Mrs. Edward Stuntebeck and sister, Miss Lucy Scott, were guests of Mrs. Harry Hartman, of Erlanger, Monday.

—o—

RABBIT HASH.

Mrs. Myra Stephens is scriously ill.

Dr. I. E. Carlyle has gone to Louisville on business.

Miss Hetha Ryle is visiting her aunt Mrs. Bennie Clore.

Mrs. Anna Hager entertained Rev. Bradley, last Sunday.

Hubert Ryle, wife and son made a trip to Cincinnati last week.

C. W. Ackman and wife have gone to Cincinnati to spend Xmas.

Sumner Houston, of Covington, is visiting his brother Arthur, of Waterloo.

There will be a Christmas tree at the Rabbit Hash K. of P. Hall December 24th.

Jack Wingate, of Peori, Illinois, is visiting relatives here after an absence of more than ten years.

Miss Julia Akins and Kenneth Berkshire and Miss Grace Sutton were Sunday guests at J. C. Kelly's.

S. B. Ryle will start for California Jan. 3d. The west seems to have a fascination for him as this will be his third trip.

Ben Bob Stephens has bought the Calvert lot in Rabbit Hash and will beautify that city by building a fine new house on said lot.

At the spelling school at Maple Hill Friday night, Soion Ryle was stricken with "scarlatina" Will Smith, with "lumbago," and Minnie Stephens and Joe Walton with "erysipelas." Miss Ruth Kelly carried the palm in the firguring contest.

Rich Men's Gift Are Poor.

besides this: "I want to go on record as saying that I regard Electric Bitters as one of the best gifts that God has made to woman," writes Mrs. O. Rhinevault, of Vestal Center, N. Y., "I can never forget what it has done for me." This glorious medicine gives a woman buoyant spirits, vigor of body and brilliant health. It quickly cures Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Headache Backache, Fainting and Dizzy Spells; soon builds up the weak, ailing and sick ly. Try them. 50c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

A Very Unpleasant Beginning.

J. H. Leary, Grant county's new sheriff, will take possession of his office on Saturday, January 1, and on the Friday following, January 7th, he will officiate at the hanging of Earl Thompson, the negro who is to suffer the death penalty, for criminally assaulting Mrs. Ransom Roberts, near Dry Ridge, a few weeks ago. Mr. Leary will have a record made by no other sheriff in the State as soon as he completes his job at the gallows.

Prevents Appendicitis.

The drinking of an abundance of water will prevent appendicitis, because appendicitis is the result of constipation and constipation is the result of insufficient bile and insufficient supply of liquids. That's what an exchange says, anyway. If anybody wants any further information reasons they will have to go elsewhere for the Recorder is not here to run the doctors out of town by Indigestion's pangs—trying many doctors and $200.00 worth of medicine in vain. B. F. Ayscue, of Ingleside, N. C., at las t used Dr. King's New Life Pills, and writes they wholly cured him. They cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headachh, Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowel troubles. 25c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

Stung For 15 Years

WELL SATISFIED

With Florida, Writes Dr. Rouse from His St. Petersburg Home.

A letter received at this office from Dr. W. O. Rouse, at St. Petersburg, Florida says, under date of December 1:

"We are having delightful weather, and all are doing fine. Rachel goes to Kindergarten every day, and is growing so fast you hardly would know her. I picked my first ripe strawberries out of my truck garden last Sunday. Things are growing fine. We have all kinds of garden truck on the market—lettuce, radishes, peas, eggplant, beans, onions, cabbage, celery, tomatoes, &c. We like it better all the time here. I am building up a nice practice, which I am exceeding my expectation in. I do my work in an automobile, which is far ahead of a horse and buggy. Anyone who inquires how we like it, tell them we are perfectly satisfied and are getting along the best in the world."

Circuit Court.

The December term of the Boone Circuit Court convened last Monday with Judge J. W. Cammack presiding and P. C. Greene attorney for the Commonwealth present to look after the interest of the Commonwealth. The grand jury was organized as follows:

John H. Aylor, Union, Foreman;
Wm. Craig, Rabbit Hash;
Wilber Rice, Petersburg;
A. W. Corn, Buiiittsville;
J. E. Botts, Belleview;
J. H. Waiton, Rabbit Hash;
J. H. Rich, Big Bone;
Wm. Wilson, Beaver;
J. W. Quigley, Florence;
N. S. Walton, Petersburg;
B. A. Floyd, Florence.

The petit jurics were organized yesterday as follows:

Jury No. 1—Ed Anderson, Al Ingram, Owen Beemon, G. W. Smith, Scott Myers, J. H. Tanner, Tom Clore, R. B. Hucy, Mike O'Hara, D. B. Dobbins, L. T. Clore, Batty Long.

Jury No. 2.—R. L. Brown, Edward Clegg, J. L. Loder, Jno. Miller, Wm. Batterson, Gaines Robinson, P. J. Allen, W. L. Gaines, Sherman Riggs A. L. Conner, Harry Kilgore, J. J. Cleek.

Owing to the very bad weather and a dislike on the part of the people to attend court, a very small crowd has been in town so far this week.

It seems that the Boone Circuit Court never comes at a good time for holding court.

Alone in Saw Mill at Night

unmindful of dampness, drafts, storms or cold, W. J. Atkins worked as Night Watchman at Banner Springs Tenn. Such exposure gave him a severe cold that settled on his lungs. At last he had to give up work. He tried many remedies but all failed till he used Dr. King's New Discovery. 'After using a bottle" he writes, "I went back to work as well as ever." Severe Colds stubborn Coughs get quick relief and prompt cure from this glorious medicine. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free, guaranteed by Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger.

Notice to the Public.

Persons indebted to me on account of work done for them in the county clerk's office will confer a very great favor by calling and settling same or by sending the amount by mail. I will retire from office on the first day of January, 1910, and desire to have all my fees collected by that time. Please act promptly and oblige.

B. W. Adams, County Clerk.

Prevented A Lynching.

Judge Cammack's speech to the crowd in Williamstown, last Tuesday, prevented the lynching of the negro, who was that day condemned to be hung. The Judge's assurance that the criminal would be executed as soon as it could be done under the law satisfied the people who would have constituted the lynching party, and they dispersed as requested.

More Bad Luck.

Bad luck continues to follow C. E. Rector, and last week while engaged removing the entrails from a hog at Asa McMullen's killing, the pole on which the hogs were hanging, slipped, causing Mr. Rector to cut two of the fingers on his left hand in a terrible manner, scalping them, as it were, from the knuckles to near their ends.

A Nice Christmas Present.

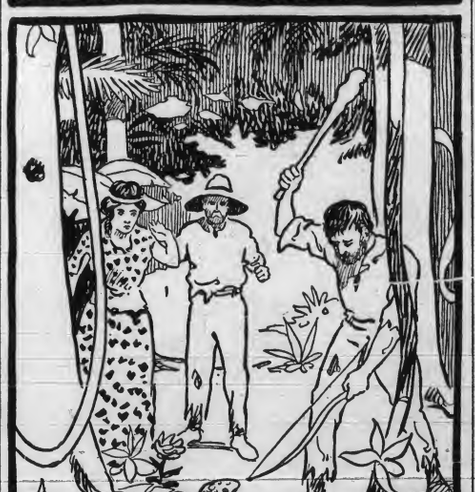
Remember the Boone County Recorder will make a Christmas or New Year's present that will be appreciated by any one-time resident of this county. Why not send it one year to some relative or friend who has cast his or her lot in a strange land.

Wet After Three Years Dry.

After being dry for three years, Somerset voted wet, on Tuesday of last week by a majority of 96 votes.

On Tuesday evening, Dec. 7th, at eight o'clock, at the home of Rev. C. V. Brooks, Mr. Edgar B. Warford and Miss Pearl Cousin, were united in marriage. The vows were taken in the presence of Mr. Carl Price and Mr. Ed Loniaker.

Mrs C. V. Brooks, who has been on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs S. N. Liller in North Carolina, returned Saturday.



INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT 1908 BY A.C. MCCLURG & CO.

"Told You So! See Him Wriggle!"

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights. The trio secured eggs from the cliffs. Miss Leslie's white skirt was decided upon as a signal. Miss Leslie made a dress from the leopard skin. Blake's efforts to kill antelopes failed. Overhearing a conversation between Blake and Winthrope, Miss Leslie became frightened. Winthrope became ill with fever. Blake was poisoned by a fish. Jackals attacked the camp that night, but were driven off by Genevieve. Blake returned, after nearly dying. Blake secured an animal trap. It killed a hyena. On a tour the trio discovered honey and oysters.

CHAPTER XVI.—Continued.

"Would it not be best for Mr. Winthrope to rest during the noon hours?"

"Praid not, Miss Jenny. We're not on t'other side of Jordan yet, and there's no rest for the weary this side."

"What odd expressions you use, Mr. Blake!"

"Just giving you the reverse application of one of those songs they jolly us with in the mission churches—"

"I'm sure, Mr. Blake—"

"Me, too, Miss Jenny! So, as that's settled, we'll be moving. Chuck some live coals in the pot, and come on."

He started off, weapons in hand. Winthrope made a languid effort to take possession of the pot. But Miss Leslie pushed him aside, and wrapping all in the antelope skin, slung it upon her back.

"The brute!" exclaimed Winthrope. "To leave such a load for you, when he knew that I can do so little!"

The girl met his outburst with a brave attempt at a smile. "Please try to look at the bright side, Mr. Winthrope. Really, I believe he thinks it is best for us to exert ourselves."

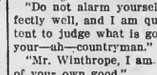
"He has other opinions with which we of the cultured class would hardly agree, Miss Leslie. Consider his command that we shall go thirsty until he permits us to return to the cliffs. The man's impertinence is intolerable. I shall go to the river and drink when I choose."

"Oh, but the danger of malaria!"

"Nonsense. Malaria, like yellow fever, comes only from the bite of certain species of mosquitoes. If we have the fever, it will be entirely his fault. We have been bitten repeatedly this morning, and all because he must compel us to come with him to this infected lowland."

"Still, I think we should do what Mr. Blake says."

"My dear Miss Genevieve, for your sake I will endeavor not to break with the fellow. Only, you know, it is deuced hard to keep one's temper when one considers what a bounder—what an unmitigated cad—"



"Stop! I will not listen to another word!" exclaimed the girl, and she hurried after Blake, leaving Winthrope staring in astonishment.

"My word!" he muttered; "can it be, after all I've done—and him, of all the low fellows—"

He stood for several moments in deep thought. The look on his sallow face was far from pleasant.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Serpent Strikes.

WHEN Winthrope came up with the others, they were gathering green leaves to throw on the fire which was blazing close beside the ant-hill.

"Get a move on you!" called Blake. "You're slow. Grab a bunch of leaves, and get into the smoke, if you don't want to be stung."

Winthrope neither gathered any leaves nor hurried himself, until he was visited by a highly irritated bee. Then he obeyed with alacrity. Blake was far too intent on other matters to heed the Englishman. Leaping in and out of the thick of the smoke, he pounded the ant-hill with his club, until he had broken a gaping hole into the cavity. The smoke, pouring into the hive, made short work of the bees that had not already been suffocated. Although the antelope skin was [illegible] a stick, both more combs left than the three could eat.

Blake caught Winthrope smiling with satisfaction as he licked his fingers.

"What's the matter with my expedition now, old man?" he demanded.

"I—ah—must admit, Blake, we have had a most enjoyable change of food."

"If you are sure it will agree with you," remarked Miss Leslie.

"But I am sure of that, Miss Genevieve. I could digest anything to-day. I'm fairly ravenous."

"All the more reason to be careful," rejoined Blake. "I guess, though, what we've had'll do no harm. We'll let it settle a bit, here in the shade, and then hit the home trail."

"Could we not first go to the river, Mr. Blake? My hands are dreadfully sticky."

"Win will take you. It's only a little way to the bank here and there's not much underbrush."

"If you think it's quite safe—" remarked Winthrope.

"It's safe enough. Go on. You'll see the river in half a minute. Only thing, you'd better watch out for alligators."

"I believe that—er—properly speaking, these are crocodiles."

"You don't say! Heap of difference it will make if one gets you."

Miss Leslie caught Winthrope's eye. He turned on his heel, and led the way for her through the first thicket. Beyond this they came to a little glade which ran through to the river. When they reached the bank, they stepped cautiously down the muddy slope, and bathed their hands in the clear water. As Miss Leslie rose, Winthrope bent over and began to drink.

"Oh, Mr. Winthrope!" she exclaimed; "please don't! In your weak condition, I'm so afraid—"

"Do not alarm yourself. I am perfectly well, and I am quite as competent to judge what is good for me as your—ah—countryman."

"Mr. Winthrope, I am thinking only of your own good."

Winthrope took another deep draught, rinsed his fingers fastidiously, and arose.

"My dear Miss Genevieve," he observed, "a woman looks at these matters in such a different light from a man. But you should know that there are some things a gentleman cannot tolerate."

"You were welcome to all the water in the flask. Surely with that you could have waited, if only to please me."

"Ah, if you put it that way, I must beg pardon. Anything to please you, I'm sure! Pray forgive me, and forget the incident. It is now past."

"I hope so!" she murmured; but her heart sank as she glanced at his sallow face, and she recalled his languid, feeble movements.

Piqued by her look, Winthrope started back through the glade. Miss Leslie was turning to follow, when she caught sight of a gorgeous crimson blossom under the nearest tree. It was the first flower she had seen since [illegible]. She uttered a little cry of delight, and ran to pluck the blossom.

Winthrope, glancing about at her exclamation, saw her stoop over the flower—and in the same instant he saw a huge, vivid coil, all black and green and yellow, flash up out of the bedded leaves and strike against the girl. She staggered back, screaming with horror, yet seemed unable to run.

Winthrope swung up his stick, and dashed across the glade toward her.

"What is it—a snake?" he cried.

The girl did not seem to hear him. She had ceased screaming, and stood rigid with fright, glaring down at the ground before her. In a moment Winthrope was near enough to make out the brilliant glistening body, now extended full length in the grass. It was nearly five feet long and thick as his thigh. Another step, and he saw the hideous triangular head, lifted a few inches on the thick neck. The cold eyes were fixed upon the girl in a malignant, deadly stare.

"Snake! snake!" he yelled, and thrust his cane at the reptile's tail.

Again came a flashing leap of the beautiful ornate coil, and the stick was struck from Winthrope's hand. He danced backward, wild with excitement.

"Snake!—Hi, Blake! monster!—Run, Miss Leslie! I'll hold him—I'll get another stick!"

He darted aside to catch up a branch, and then ran in and struck boldly at the adder, which reared hissing to meet him. But the blow fell short, and the rotten wood shattered on the ground. Again Winthrope ran aside for a stick. There was none near, and as he paused to glance about, Blake came sprinting down the glade.

"Where?" he shouted.

"There—Hi! look out! You'll be on him!"

Blake stopped short, barely beyond striking distance of the hissing reptile.

"Wow!" he yelled. "Puff, adder! I'll fix him."

He leaped back, and thrust his bow at the snake. The challenge was met by a vicious lunge. Even where he stood Winthrope heard the thud of the reptile's head upon the ground.

"Now, once more, tootsie!" mocked Blake, swinging up his club.

Again the adder struck at the how tip, more viciously than before. With the flash of the stroke, Blake's right foot thrust forward, and his club came down with all the drive of his sinewy arm behind it. The blow fell across the thickest part of the adder's outstretched body.

"Told you so! See him wriggle!" shouted Blake. "Broke his back, first lick— What's the matter, Miss Jenny? He can't do anything now."

Miss Leslie did not answer. She stood rigid, her face ashy-gray, her dilated eyes fixed upon the writhing, hissing adder.

"I think the snake struck her!" gasped Winthrope, suddenly overcome with horror.

"God!" cried Blake. He dropped his club and [illegible] to the girl, as a [illegible] ment he had knelt before and flung up her leopard-skin skirt. Her stockings ripped to shreds in his frantic grasp. There, a little below her right knee, was a tiny, red wound. Blake put his lips to it, and sucked with fierce energy.

Then the girl found her voice.

"Go away—go away! How dare you!" she cried, as her face flushed scarlet.

Blake turned, spat, and hurst out with a loud demand of Winthrope: "Quick! the little knife—I'll have to slash it! Ten times worse than a rattlesnake— Lord! you're slow—I'll use mine!"

"Let go of me—let go! What do you mean, sir?" cried the girl, struggling to free herself.

"Hold still, you little fool!" he shouted. "It's death—sure death, if I don't get the poison from that bite!"

"I'm not bitten— Let go, I say! It struck in the fold of my skirt."

"For God's sake, Jenny, don't lie! It's certain death! I saw the mark—"

"That was a thorn. I drew it out an hour ago."

Blake looked up into her hazel eyes. They were blazing with indignant scorn. He freed her, and rose with clumsy slowness. Again he glanced at her quivering, scarlet face, only to look away with a sheepish expression.

"I guess you think I'm just a damned meddlesome idiot," he mumbled.

She did not answer. He stood for a little, rubbing a finger across his sun-blistered lips. Suddenly he stopped and looked at the finger. It was streaked with blood.

"Whew!" he exclaimed. "Didn't stop to think of that! It's just as well for me, Miss Jenny, that wasn't an adder bite. A little poison on my sore lip would have done for me. Ten to one, we'd both have turned up our toes at the same time. Of course, though, that'd be nothing to you."

Miss Leslie put her hands before her face and burst into hysterical weeping.

Blake looked around, far more alarmed than when facing the adder.

"Here, you blooming lud!" he shouted; "take the lady away, and he quick about it. She'll go dotty if she sees any more snake stunts. Clear out with her, while I smash the snake's wriggler."

Winthrope, who had been staring fixedly at the beautiful coloring and loathsome form of the writhing adder, started at Blake's harsh command as though struck.

"I—er—to be sure," he stammered, and darting around to the hysterical girl, he took her arm and hurried her away up the glade.

They had gone several paces when Blake came running up behind them. Winthrope looked back with a glance of inquiry. Blake shook his head.

"Not yet," he said. "Give me your cigarette case. I've thought of something— Hold on; take out the cigarettes. Smoke 'em, if you like."

Case in hand, Blake returned to the wounded adder, and picked up his club. A second smashing blow would have ended the matter at once; but Blake did not strike. Instead, he feinted with his club until he managed to pin down the venomous head. The club lay across the monster's neck, and he held it fast with the pressure of his foot.

When, half an hour later, he wiped his knife on a wisp of grass and stood up, the cigarette case contained over a tablespoonful of a crystalline liquid. He peered in at it, his heavy jaw thrust out, his eyes glowing with savage elation.

"Talk about your meat trusts and Winchesters!" he exulted; "here's a whole carload of beef in this little box—enough dope to morgue a herd of steers. Good God, though, that was a close shave for her!"

His face sobered, and he stood for several moments staring thoughtfully into space. Then his gaze chanced to fall upon the great crimson blossom which had so nearly lured the girl to her death.

"Hello!" he exclaimed; "that's an amaryllis. Wonder if she wasn't coming to pick it—" He snapped shut the lid of the cigarette case, thrust it carefully into his shirt pocket, and stepped forward to pluck the flower. "Makes a fellow feel like a kid; but maybe it'll make her feel less sore at me."

He stood gazing at the flower for several moments, his eyes aglow with a soft blue light.

"Whew!" he sighed; "if only— But what's the use? She's 'way out of my class—a rough brute like me! All the same, it's up to me to take care of her. She can't keep me from being her friend—and she sure can't object to my picking flowers for her."

Amaryllis in hand, he gathered up his bow and club. Then he paused to study the skin of the decapitated adder. The inspection ended with a shake of his head.

"Better not, Thomas. It would make a dandy quiver; but then, it might go on her nerves."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

May Be a Whited Sepulcher.

It is a woman's way to think there is always some good in a man who wears a white vest.—Galveston News

NORTHWESTERN FLYER WRECKED AT CHICAGO

Steel Rail Rips Through a Coach, Killing Two Men, Practically Beheading One of Them.

Chicago, Ill.—The Milwaukee special, on the Northwestern road, was wrecked at Howard avenue, the city limits, two men losing their lives and 18 others being seriously injured.

The entire train of nine cars jumped the track and the engine and coaches caromed along the rails for 600 feet before the engine turned turtle and slid along its side down an embankment.

One of the most remarkable accidents in railroad history attended the wreck. A heavy steel rail, weighing 2,800 pounds, shot upward from the track through the bottom of one car and passed like a torpedo through the floor and on through two cars, spreading death in its train.

The steel rail killed the two men who lost their lives. Had it not been for its flight through the car, no one would have been killed.

It practically decapitated one of its victims and crushed the other to death.

After striking the men, who were Austrian immigrants, it shot through the car at incredible speed, taking an upward course and tearing through the roof at the rear end.

Its flight and destruction here not completed until it had struck a switch shanty at the side of the tracks, demolishing it and nearly killing its two occupants.

Then it rolled down an embankment and lay stretched and twisted in the white snow, having traveled 100 feet in its course.

The engineer of the wrecked train, Isaac G. Harriman, of Milwaukee, was directly accused by R. H. Aishton, general manager of the Northwestern road, of being responsible for the wreck.

The engineer is said to have been trying to make up 15 minutes of lost time.

The dead men were Janos D. Stralla, or Stralla Djanos, and Salvatore Luizzo.

PLANT COVERING A CITY BLOCK

Destroyed By Fire, and Racine Manufacturing Company's Loss is $600,000.

Racine, Wis.—The big plant of the Racine Manufacturing Co., manufacturers of automobile tops and piano stools, together with the Daniel Brotherhood hall, the Mitchell wagon works and several residences, were destroyed by fire here, entailing a loss estimated at $650,000, of which all but $50,000 is borne by the Racine Manufacturing Co.'s plant. The latter concern carried $250,000 insurance.

The main building was six stories high and was 75 by 200 feet in dimension. Five other structures of the plant consisted of four stories and the entire plant occupied a city block.

Twelve hundred men, who were employed by Racine Manufacturing Co., are thrown out of employment.

Can Stay in Canal Zone.

Panama.—The supreme court has decided that the decree issued by President Obaldia expelling W. G. Spiller from the country, was illegal, and rules that Spiller may remain in Panama. Spiller was charged with inducing canal laborers to leave the isthmus, and Lieut. Col. Goethals, chief engineer of the canal, requested the Panama government to deport Spiller. In order to meet the case Obaldia issued an executive decree, declaring that the enticing of canal laborers from the country was a misdemeanor, punishable by expulsion.

Slashed His Throat With Razor.

Philadelphia, Pa.—His mind breaking under the strain of ill-health, John Miller, superintendent of the Mellon National Bank building in Pittsburg, slashed his throat with a razor in the presence of his wife and a car full of passengers in a train bearing him homeward, dying in a few minutes.

Three Asphyxiated By Gas.

Topeka, Kan.—John Richards, his wife and his son were asphyxiated by the fumes from a gas stove in their home here. The bodies were found by the wife of the younger Richards.

Citizens Fight Fire.

Salem, Mo.—A fire in Salem destroyed seven buildings and caused a loss estimated at $100,000. Citizens fought the flames with buckets.

Tobacco Market.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 11.—Last week 2,800,000 lbs. of tobacco was disposed of on the breaks. Flyings $9@14, trash $10@17, lugs, $12.50@18, bright leaf $14@25, red $10@18, tips $8@12, green and damaged $7@9.

Lost Life Trying to Save Companion.

Williamsport, Pa.—William Wease, aged 12 years, was drowned in the Susquehanna when skating, and Robert Glunt, a companion of the same age, is missing, and is supposed to be under the ice. Glunt was trying to rescue Wease when he disappeared.

Fear Pestilence From Drought.

Carthage, Mo.—On account of the continued drought 10,000 people carried water for their needs, and prayers were offered that the city may be spared from pestilence.

OFF DUTY.

Miss Smiff—Oh, doctor, do you know you look perfectly killing this evening?

Doctor—Thank you, but I am not. I'm off duty, you know.

AGONIZING ITCHING.

Eczema for a Year—Got No Relief Even at Skin Hospital—In Despair

Until Cuticura Cured Him.

"I was troubled with a severe itching and dry, scrufy skin on my ankles, feet, arms and scalp. Scratching made it worse. Thousands of small red pimples formed and these caused intense itching. I was advised to go to the hospital for diseases of the skin. I did so, the chief surgeon saying: "I never saw such a bad case of eczema." But I got little or no relief. Then I tried many so-called remedies, but I became so bad that I almost gave up in despair. After suffering agonies for twelve months, I was relieved of the almost unbearable itching after two or three applications of Cuticura Ointment. I continued its use, combined with Cuticura Soap and Pills, and I was completely cured. Henry Searle, Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 8 and 10, 1907."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Every Little Bit Helps.

The lecturer raised his voice with emphatic confidence. "I venture to assert," he said, "that there isn't a man in this audience who has ever done anything to prevent the destruction of our forests."

A modest-looking man in the back of the hall stood up.

"I—er—I've shot woodpeckers," he said.—Everybody's Magazine.

Not Up to Modern Standards.

"Your wife's new hat makes her look like a queen," said the man who tries to be complimentary.

"Don't let her hear you say that," answered Mr. Bliggins; "I have looked through the histories and I never yet saw a picture of a queen who looked as if she enjoyed a first-class milliner."

Taking the Tips.

"Why did Dollarby sell his hotel?"

"He wasn't making money fast enough."

"What is he doing now?"

"He's luxuriating in the position of head waiter."

When it comes to being charitable to the faults of others, the brotherhood of man has the sisterhood of woman heaten to a frazzle.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

We help ourselves when we help others.—W. J. Bryan.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES

FOR RHEUMATISM, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, BACKACHE, DIABETES.

375 "Guaranteed"

Your Liver is Clogged up

That's Why You're Tired—Out of Sorts—Have No Appetite.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS will put you right in a few days. They do their duty. Cure Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, and Sick Headache.

SMALL PILL, SMALL DOSE, SMALL PRICE

GENUINE must bear signature:

Brent Good

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. Agents wanted. Get catalog. The James Manufacturing Co. Fort Wayne, Ind.

PATENTS FRANKLIN H. HOUGH, Washington, D. C. No attorney's fees until patent is obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

Best for Baby and Best for Mother

PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

Is fine for children and adults, very pleasant to take and free from opiates. It soothes and heals the aching throat and assures restful nights to both mother and child.

All Druggists, 25 cents.

Resinol In Three Weeks Does What Other Remedies Failed to Do In Four Months.

My baby's face was like a raw and bleeding piece of meat. I was at my wits' ends what to do. Medicine from three physicians and ointments recommended seemed to make the Eczema worse. Then another mother spoke of Resinol which I procured at once—remember I had no more faith in it than in all the rest I had tried—but I thought it would be wasting only 50c more. Never did I spend 50c to better advantage, for the first and second days I noticed a remarkable change, and now at the end of the third week I have my pretty blue eyed, rosy cheeked, cooing baby well again. I am safe in saying he is perfectly cured and the cure was surely something remarkable. Your Soap and Ointment did in three weeks what everything else I tried failed to do in four months. My baby was positively disfigured, now his complexion is all right again.

Mrs. H. F. Clemmer, Sunbury, Pa.

The Vacant Chair.

What sad memories linger around the old vacant chair. Sitting in the middle of the floor, with a plaintive look about its frayed and seemingly weary back, it brings back a tumultuous riot of sad recollections that time can never efface. Volumes of bitter anguish come to me when I arrive home in time to catch the milkman swiping the loose furniture around the place, and take off my shoes to avoid publicity, and strike my best toe against the rocker of the old vacant chair. Then, forgetting for the moment my unclad feet, I kick the chair on the other rocker. That is when the sadness and suffering that lingers around the old chair comes out with an extra edition and great chunks of gloom settle over me like a herd of ill-natured flies.—Oregon Journal.

Detected.

The consul in London of a continental kingdom was informed by his government that one of his countrywomen, supposed to be living in Great Britain, had been left a million of money. After advertising without result, he applied to the police, and a smart young detective was set to work.

When a few weeks had gone by his chief asked him how he was going on.

"I've found the lady, sir."

"Good! Where is she?"

"At my place. I got married to her yesterday!"

The Exception.

In a home where the mother is somewhat aggressive and the father good-natured and peace-loving, a child's estimate of home conditions was tersely expressed the other day. While dressing, the mother paused in the act of putting on her shoes and said: "I certainly am easy on shoes, I have worn theso for four months. I don't know what you would do, John, if I were not. I am easy on everything." The little girl looked up from her dolls and remarked: "Except father."—Success.

Now and Then.

He is a capitalist now in an Ohio town, but he was not always thus. He has progressed along various lines, and one mark of his progress is the open-back shirt, a comparatively modern invention. To this he is yet new, and recently commented upon it to a friend who was in his room while he was dressing.

"Look at me," he said, sticking his head through his shirt. "When I came to this town I hadn't a shirt to my back, and now—now, I haven't a back to my shirt."

Indorsing Shackleton's Claim.

Grimm—I'm inclined to have considerable confidence in Explorer Shackleton.

Primm—Why?

Grimm—He may be a little too positive in asserting that he didn't discover the south pole, but I'm ready to give him the benefit of the douht.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Limits the Size.

"Marry me," pleaded the mere man, "and your slightest wish shall be granted."

"But," queried the wise woman, "how about the large ones?"

HABIT'S CHAIN

Certain Habits Unconsciously Formed and Hard to Break.

An ingenious philosopher estimates that the amount of will power necessary to break a life-long habit would, if it could be transformed, lift a weight of many tons.

It sometimes requires a higher degree of heroism to break the chains of a pernicious habit than to lead a forlorn hope in a bloody battle. A lady writes from an Indiana town:

"From my earliest childhood I was a lover of coffee. Before I was out of my teens I was a miserable dyspeptic, suffering terribly at times with my stomach.

"I was convinced that it was coffee that was causing the trouble and yet I could not deny myself a cup for breakfast. At the age of 36 I was in very poor health, indeed. My sister told me I was in danger of becoming a coffee drunkard.

"But I never could give up drinking coffee for breakfast, although it kept me constantly ill, until I tried Postum. I learned to make it properly according to directions, and now we can hardly do without Postum for breakfast, and care nothing for coffee.

"I am no longer troubled with dyspepsia, do not have spells of suffering with my stomach that used to trouble me so when I drank coffee."

Look in pkgs. for the little book, "The Road to Wellville." "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

BIG RETAIL TRADE

Marks Advent of Holiday Season—Increase In Price of Woolens and Worsteds.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "The advent of the holidays and the close of the year naturally curtail operations in most primary markets, though retail trade is correspondingly augmented and every indication points to a very large distribution of merchandise.

"The difficulty experienced by the steel mills in making prompt deliveries is the cause for some abatement in the demand for finished products, while the lull in pig iron buying is becoming more pronounced, production rapidly overtaking consumptive requirements. Cotton goods are steadier and larger purchasers of gray goods have been made on contract. The Fall River wage schedules have been continued on a basis of 8 per cent above normal and the wage agreement will be continued for another six months. Jobbers are buying in a very limited way and are taking their semi-annual inventories. The acceptance of all goods on order and anticipation of many December shipments are regarded as very promising signs for the future. Advance business for spring now being charged is better than advance orders taken in the past four jobbing seasons.

"Fall openings on woolens and worsteds are being announced, but at higher prices. The imminence of the government cotton report held trade somewhat in check most of the week, but there is a very general disposition to move conservatively in view of the sustained high position of raw cotton."

Business Failures.

New York.—Bradstreet's reports business failures in the United States for the week ending with December 9 as 259, against 230 last week, 298 in the like week of 1908, 284 in 1907, 220 in 1906, and 226 in 1905. Business failures in Canada for the week number 30, which compares with 25 last week and 60 in the corresponding week of 1908.

Wheat, including flour exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending December 9, aggregate 3,990,457 bushels, against 3,652,846 last week and 3,759,493 this week last year. For the 23 weeks ending December 9 exports are 76,425,447 bushels, against 102,177,182 in the corresponding period last year.

Corn exports for the week are 569,924 bushels, against 356,523 last week and 1,101,084 in 1908. For the 23 weeks ending December 9 corn exports are 4,615,863 bushels, against 6,382,210 last year.

In wholesale lines there is something like a seasonable quieting shown, now that the season of stock-taking is close at hand. A large though perhaps not record volume of business is judicated, but there is very general complaint that high costs restricts profits.

There is particular evidence of slowing down in industrial operations, and output, generally speaking, is at the maximum of the year, but new business in several lines shows what is termed seasonable quieting. Iron output is large, in fact, of record proportions, but new buying in pig iron is smaller, some soft spots have developed and finished lines are not quite as eagerly sought for. In other lines manufacturers are still buying freely of materials, which as a rule are firmly held. Reports as to activity in shoe manufacturing are best from the west.

Colder weather and the nearer approach of the holidays have stimulated trade quite generally throughout the north and west, and even helped southern trade, especially in the western part of the cotton states. As the week advanced there seemed to be evidence that the railroad strike was losing its effectiveness as a trade deterrent, though the statistics of flour output at large northwestern cities show those centers to have been sharply affected.

Mounting Guns at Canton.

Pekin.—It is reported in Hongkong that machine guns have been mounted on the Shamen, at Canton, in expectation of an anti-foreign outbreak. The Pennsylvania and West Virginia has arrived at Hongkong from Malta.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Dec. 11.—Flour—Market steady; winter patent $5.60@5.90, spring patent $5.60@5.90, rye $4.60 @4.80. Wheat—Fair and steady; No. 2 red $1.23@1.26, No. 3 $1.08@1.13. Corn—Ear corn steady, shelled firmer; new corn is as follows: No. 2 white 60@60½c, No. 2 mixed 57½@58c. Oats —Firmer; No. 2 white 46@46½c, No. 2 mixed 44@44½c. Hay—Receipts light and market firm; No. 1 timothy $15.75 @16.25, No. 1 clover mixed $14.50@15, No. 1 clover $15.50@16. Rye—Steady; No. 2, 77@79c. Mill Feed—Bran $21.50, middlings $23.50@24.50.

Live Stock Markets.

Cincinnati, Dec. 11.—Cattle—Receipts 347 head; market steady; extra $7, good to choice $5.25@5.90, heifers, extra $5.75@6; cows, extra $4.50. Calves—Market slow and lower; extra $8.25@9, fair to good $7@8.50. Hogs—Receipts 2,708 head; market quiet; good to choice butchers $8.50 @8.55, mixed packers $8.35@8.50; pigs (110 lbs. and less) $6.50@8.05. Sheep—Receipts 318 head; market strong; extra $4.85@5, good to choice $4.25@ 4.75. Lambs—Extra $7.50, good to choice $7@7.40.

SOUNDS LIKE A FAIRY TALE

THE FARMERS OF CENTRAL CANADA REAP WHEAT AND RICHES.

Up in the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the provinces that compose Central Canada have such a quantity of land suitable for the growth of small grains, which grow so abundantly, and yield so handsomely that no fear need be feared of a wheat famine on this Continent. The story reproduced below is only one of the hundreds of proofs that could be produced to show the results that may be obtained from cultivation of the lands in these provinces. Almost any section of the country will do as well.

With the country recently opened by the Grand Trunk Pacific, the latest of the great transcontinental lines to enter the field of the development of the Canadian West, there is afforded added ample opportunity to do as was done in the case cited below;

To buy a section of land, break it up and crop it, make $17,550 out of the yield and $10,880 out of the increase of value all within the short period of two years, was the record established by James Bailey, a well known farmer within a few miles of Regina. Mr. Bailey bought the 640 acres of land near Grand Coulee two years ago. He immediately prepared the whole section for crop and this year has 600 acres of wheat and 40 acres of oats. The wheat yielded 19,875 bushels, and the oats yielded 4,750 bushels. The whole of the grain has been marketed and Mr. Bailey is now worth $17,550 from the grain alone. He bought the land at $18 an acre, and the other day refused an offer of $35 an acre, just a $17 advance for the time of his purchase. The land cost $11,320 in the first instance. Here are the figures of the case.—Land cost, 640 acres, at $18, $11,320. Wheat yielded 19,875 bushels, at 84 cents a bushel, $16,695. Oats yielded 4,750 bushels at 28 cents a bushel, $855. Offered for land, 640 acres at $35 an acre, $22,400, Increase value of land, $10,880. Total earnings of crop, $17,550, together with increase in value of land a total of $28,540.

It is interesting to note the figures of the yield per acre. The wheat yielded 33½ bushels to the acre, and oats 118.7 bushels to the acre. The figures are a fair indication of the average throughout the district.

Agents of the Canadian Government in the different cities will be pleased to give you information as to rates, etc.

HE DID HIS BEST.

Merchant—What? You were robbed of everything on the way?

Messenger—Yes, but don't worry. They gave me a receipt.

Slow Recovery.

"Is the editor out?" asked a visitor to the office of the Ridgeville Banner.

"Yes, sir," answered the editor's small assistant. "He's gone out to put away a jug of licker left by a subscriber."

"Do you think it will take him long to put it away?"

"Naw, sir, it won't take him long ter put it away, but after that he won't he ahle ter do nuthin' fur a week."

Anti LaGrippe Remedy.

It is now claimed by several western medical men that a whiskey mixture obtainable at any drug store is an absolute preventative and quick cure for had colds and lagrippe. To make this powerful system tonic add one ounce of compound fluid balmwort and two ounces of glycerine to a half-pint of good whiskey. Dose, a tablespoonful three to six times a day.

Coming to Terms.

Possible Boarder—Ah, that was a ripping dinner, and if that was a fair sample of your meals, I should like to come to terms.

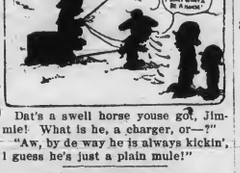
Scotch Farmer—Before we gang any further, was that a fair sample o' yer appetite?

Decollette.

Lady in Box—Can you look over my shoulder?

Man from Country—I've just been lookin' over both of 'em, an', hy gosh, they're all right!—Houston Post.

If you would be happy, keep your eyes wide open during courtship and half closed after marriage.



Our idea of heaven is a place big enough to make it possible for people to be without neighbors.

COUGHING BURST BLOOD VESSEL

Says Danger Avoided and Cures Coughs in 5 Hours.

A writer for the medical press states that coughing is responsible for the bursting of blood vessels quite frequently. A cough or cold means inflammation (fever) and congestion, and these in turn indicate that the body is full of poisons and waste matter. Simple relief, as found in patent cough medicines, and whiskey, often result in more harm than good; as they cause more congestion. A tonic-laxative cough syrup will work marvels and here follows a prescription which is becoming famous for its prompt relief and thorough cures. It rids the system of the cause, except it be consumption. Don't wait for consumption to grasp its victim, but begin this treatment, which cures some in five hours. Mix in a hottle one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less according to age.

HIS STATUS.

Dat's a swell horse youse got, Jimmie! What is he, a charger, or—?"

"Aw, by de way he is always kickin', I guess he's just a plain mule!"

Stated in Cold Figures.

It costs on an average about $250 to cure an incipient consumptive or to care for an advanced case of tuberculosis until death. If he is left in destitute circumstances without proper attention he will surely infect with his disease at least two other persons, and possibly more. Considering that the average life is worth to society in dollars and cents about $1,500, the net loss which would accrue to a community by not treating its poor consumptives in proper institutions would be, for each case, including those who are unnecessarily infected, at the very lowest figure, $4,250. On this basis, if the poor consumptives in the United States who are now sick were segregated from their families, and either kept in institutions until they died, or else cured of their disease, the saving to the country would he the enormous sum of $1,275,000,000.

Fishing Extraordinary.

Representative Flood of Virginia tells a good story in which one of the characters was Gen. Reuben Lindsay Walker of the confederate army. On one occasion the general was waiting for his breakfast, and his faithful negro servant had gone to catch some fish for the feast. When the servant was away an unusually long time the general called to him impatiently:

"Why don't you come here with that fish, Sam?"

Sam in the meantime had caught a flounder, which is white on one side, with a whiteness that looks like raw fish meat.

"All right, Massa Reuben!" called out Sam. "I'se comin' des ez soon ez I kotch de uvver ha'f o' dis here fish."—Washington Times.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials

Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Woman's Daring Deed.

In southern Tunis lies an extensive salt marsh desert called the Shott Jerid, of which the Arahs stand in terror, for many a caravan has been lost in the salt incrusted morass, which, according to De Lesseps is as much as 1,200 feet deep in places. This region has been crossed for the first time in a small automohile by a woman, Myriam Harry, a well-known French novelist.

Rheumatism and Neuralgia never could get along with Hamlins Wizard Oil. Wizard Oil always drives them away from the premises in short order.

Many a man's wife prevents him from losing a lot of money in speculating by not allowing him any to speculate with.

IMPOSSIBLE TO FIND ANYTHING better for sidesche, backaches or stitches than Perry Davis' Painkiller. "Get the large size, it is the cheapest. At all druggists, 25c, 35c and 50c bottles.

It is said that a cat has nine lives, but a cat isn't in it with an old cow when it comes to kicking the bucket.

GOOD WORK IS LOVED WORK

And Therein One Should Find the Contentment That is Chief Part of Life.

If a man doesn't love his work, he had better get something else to do. But the trouble is that such people will hardly love any kind of work. The trouble is in them. They lack intelligence. If they knew enough to know good work, they would soon learn to love it. The manual-training scheme has this in view—to surround the job a man is doing with such intelligence and taste as will make it attractive to him.

"The man who is in love with his job gets more contentment out of life than any other," says Brander Matthews; and he gets a great part of his contentment in doing his work right. No man can love his work who shirks. No man can he contented who is dishonest about his work. This is shirking or doing it negligently. So these things always go together—honest work, contentment and love of the job.

SUFFERED TERRIBLY.

How Relief from Distressing Kidney Trouble Was Found.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wolf, 388 W. Morgan St., Tipton, Mo., says: "Inflammation of the bladder reached its climax last spring and I suffered terribly. My back ached and the secretions were scanty, frequent of passage and painful. I was tired all the time and very nervous. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking a few boxes was cured and have been well ever since."

Remember the name—Doan's. Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Safe Place for the Author.

"In a small town where the audience calls for the author of the piece to come before the curtain, he always feels better if the curtain has a lot of local advertisements on it," said the manager.

"Why so?" asked his friend.

"Why, the people in the audience are not going to throw eggs and take a chance on spoiling their own advertisements, are they?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Precocious.

The little girl was acting naughtily before company. Her mother warned her sharply.

"If you do that again, I'll smack you," she said.

"No you won't," replied the pert daughter. "I'll sit down on myself and then you can't."

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every hottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

With or Without.

"The chicken stew has two prices in the hill of fare. How is that, waiter?"

"With chicken in it it is 30 cents; without it, 10."

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM is the old reliable cough remedy. Found in every drug store and in practically every home. For sale by all druggists. 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles.

Heroic souls in old times had no more opportunities than we have; but they used them.—Charles Kingsley.

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna

Cleanses the System Effectually; Dispels colds and Headaches due to Constipation; Acts naturally, acts truly as a Laxative.

Best for Men, Women and Children—Young and Old.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the Genuine,

manufactured by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS

one size only, regular price 50¢ per bottle.

WESTERN CANADA

What Governor Deneen, of Illinois, Says About It:

Governor Deneen, of Illinois, owns a section of land in Saskatchewan, Canada. He has said in an interview:

"As an American I am delighted to see the remarkable progress of Western Canada. Our people are flocking across the boundary in thousands, and I have not yet met one who admitted he had made a mistake. They are all doing well. The thing is every community in the Middle or Western States that has not a representative in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta."

125 Million Bushels of Wheat in 1909

Western Canada field crops for 1909 will easily yield 40 the farmer $170,000,000.00 in cash.

Free Homesteads of 160 acres, and pre-emptions of 160 acres at $3.00 an acre. Railway and Land Companies have land for sale at reasonable prices. Many farmers have paid for their land out of the proceeds of one crop. Splendid climate, good schools, excellent railway facilities, low freight rates, wood, water and timber easily obtained.

For pamphlet "Last Best West," particulars as to suitable location and low settlers' rate, apply to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or to Canadian Gov't Agent.

H. M. WILLIAMS

Law Building Toledo, Ohio

(Use address nearest you.)

PILES

"I have suffered with piles for thirty-six years. One year ago last April I began taking Cascarets for constipation. In the course of a week I noticed the piles began to disappear and at the end of six weeks they did not trouble me at all. Cascarets have done wonders for me. I am entirely cured and feel like a new man." George Kryder, Napoleon, O.

Pleasant, Palatable, Potent, Taste Good. Do Good. Never Sicken, Weaken or Gripe. 10c, 25c, 50c. Never sold in bulk. The genuine tablet stamped C C C. Guaranteed to cure or your money back. 920

The Acme Electric Insoles

Relieves sore, tired feet, cures rheumatism in feet and legs, removes offensive odors from feet. Keeps your feet warm. Lessens liability to colds. Quiets your nerves. EVERY LADY NEEDS THEM. Price by mail 25 cents. Try a pair. Money refunded if not satisfactory.

ACME ELECTRIC INSOLE CO. TOLEDO, OHIO

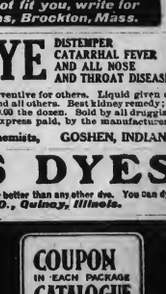
DYOLA DYES

ONE DYE FOR ALL GOODS

16 fast, brilliant colors, 10c per package at dealers. If not in stock send 10c stating color desired and name will be sent with direction book and color card. DY-O-LA Burlington, Vt.

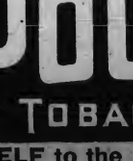
PLANTATION 1, 157 acres, fine land, good improvements, $16,500. Small nine bargain prices; write your wants. Farm Exchange, Fayetteville, O.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.00 $3.50 & $4.00 SHOES



THE LARGEST MANUFACTURER OF MEN'S FINE SHOES IN THE WORLD

Wear W. L. Douglas comfortable, easy-walking shoes. They are made upon honor, of the best leathers, by the most skilled workmen, in all the latest fashions. Shoes in every style and shape to suit men in all walks of life.



If I could take you into my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer and are of greater value than any other make.

CAUTION.—See that W. L. Douglas name and the retail price is stamped on the bottom. Take No Substitute.

BOYS SHOES $2.00 & $2.50

Wherever you live, W. L. Douglas shoes are within your reach. If your dealer cannot fit you, write for Mail Order Catalog. W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.

FOR PINK EYE DISTEMPER CATARRHAL FEVER AND ALL NOSE AND THROAT DISEASES

Cures the sick and acts as a preventive for others. Liquid given on the tongue. Safe for brood mares and all others. Best kidney remedy; 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle; $5.00 and $10.00 the dozen. Sold by all druggists and horse goods houses, or sent express paid, by the manufacturers.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO., Chemists, GOSHEN, INDIANA

PUTNAM FADELESS DYES

Color more goods brighter and faster colors than any other dye. One 10c package colors all fibers. They dye in cold water better than any other dye. You can dye any garment without ripping apart. Write for free booklet—How to Dye, Bleach and Mix Colors. MONROE DRUG CO., Quincy, Illinois.

CHEW AND SMOKE MAIL POUCH TOBACCO

"TREAT YOURSELF to the BEST"

COUPON IN EACH PACKAGE CATALOGUE OF VALUABLE ARTICLES SENT FREE ADDRESS MAIL POUCH TOBACCO CO. DEPARTMENT A, WHEELING, W. VA.

SAVE THE COUPONS

Kentucky is being congratulated at home and abroad over the result of the recent vote on the proposed Good Roads amendment to her constitution. The following is from the Atlanta Constitution:

"One of the most advanced steps in any of the Southern States in the direction of substantial public roads improvement is recorded by Kentucky, where the people have just approved an amendment to the State Constitution providing for a tax levy for the building and betterment of roads.

"While the amendment went through safely with a good majority vote, there will be, nevertheless, much surprise at the attitude of the rural districts, where the vote was about evenly divided for and against the measure.

"It is difficult to account for such opposition from those to whom the benefit is the greatest.

"Every mile of country road built or improved is an asset appreciable in dollars and cents to those who make use of it.

"However, the Kentucky movement is one of State-wide import and advantage, and the progressive sections of the State, with the assistance of progressive farmers, prevented the failure of the measure.

"Significance of the Kentucky action must impress itself upon every State and section.

"When a State is willing to amend its Constitution and levy taxes especially for road construction, it means its citizens are wide awake both to advantage and necessity.

"It is a lesson, a splendid pattern for other States and other communities.

"Every road improvement which enables the farmer to do in one day the work of transportation which formerly required two is equivalent to just that much cash in his pocket.

"Those counties and sections of the South which have come into full realization of this fact are the ones which to-day are attracting most attention from investors and substantial settlers.

"The secret of it is because they are the most progressive and prosperous.

"The counties with the best roads are the counties with the biggest bank deposits.

"The States of the South must meet the demand, begun like a little sand spiral, but grown now to cyclonic proportions, for better country roads.

"There are various methods by which they may do this. Georgia has begun well in the distribution of her convict forces upon the State highways. Kentucky finds the need so great that she is going to collect and invest the actual cash. Other States may find other means more adaptable.

"But to the great work of substantial road building they must speedily turn their best energies and efforts.

"It is a question now not so much of supremacy as keeping up, and some of the States have set a healthy and a steady forward pace."

Statistics gathered by Prof. J. G. Crabbe, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, show, according to a Frankfort dispatch, that there are 417,664 children of school age in Kentucky who are not attending school. The total number of pupils enrolled is 519,192, but the average daily attendance is only 311,192. That the number of children outside of school should exceed the number in daily attendance is not encouraging to those who are looking for signs of educational uplift in Kentucky. It is an indication that the progress that is being made in eliminating illiteracy is not as rapid as it should be.

There are some other features of Prof. Crabbe's compilation that are not creditable to Kentucky. There are 7,282 white and 948 colored schools, but only 687 schools are taught for a term longer than six months. More than 3,000 teachers hold second-class certificates. More than 600 hold third-class certificates. Obviously the normal schools were not established any too soon.

It appears that there are 740 log school houses remaining in the State. A log schoolhouse is better than no schoolhouse at all, and it is probable that some few of these log houses are more comfortable than some others that are more pretentious. Nevertheless, the log schoolhouse, like the log cabin of pioneer times, has had its day and should be superseded by something better. There is room for vast improvement along this line all over the State. Many of the school buildings are poorly constructed, badly located and meagerly equipped to serve the purposes for which they are built. Frequently they are not fenced in and there is no adequate or convenient water supply. There are hundreds of localities where the civic improvement idea has no currency.

It is possible that if more of the schoolhouses were attractive and well kept there would be more pupils in attendance. There is hope of better roads in the near future and the improvement of the highways would have a tendency to increase the school attendance. Perhaps better roads also would help toward better schoolhouses.

There has been a distinctly progressive movement in educational affairs in recent years. The figures in Prof. Crabbe's compilation doubtless would reflect this movement if compared with statistics of previous years. At the same time the fact that more than 400,000 children of school age are out of school is not a matter that affords material for agreeable contemplation.—C.-J.

Congressman Rhinock is quoted by a Washington newspaper correspondent as saying he has never said he would not be a candidate for reelection.

GET READY FOR THE

Xmas Holidays

By making your purchases at BALDON'S, where you will find Quantity and Quality to select from,

Cranberries, Prunes, Peaches, canned and dried,
Mince Meat, Dates, Figs, Raisins, Oranges, Bananas,
Nuts of all kinds, a fine assortment of Candies,
Nice line of Stationery, suitable for Xmas presents,
New Crop of Southern Syrup Molasses—very fine.

Nice Line of Fire Works.

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

To Winterquarters in Good Shape.

W. W. Grimsley, the old Democratic war hoss, who holds down the extreme southwest corner of the county, was in Burlington, one day last week, apparently in good condition to meet hardships of winter.

Looking One's Best.

It's woman's delight to look her best but pimples, skin eruptions, sores and boils rob her of joy. Listen! Bucklen's Arnica Salve cures them; makes the skin soft and velvety. It glorifies the face Cures Pimples, Sore Eyes, Cold Sores, Cracked Lips, Chapped Hands. Try it. Infallible for Piles. 25c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

Church Greatly Refreshed.

After a three weeks' period the colored revival at Burlington First Baptist church, colored, closed last Friday night. The preacher, Rev. Miller, labored hard during the services, and was rewarded by quite a number of additions to the church. The baptising took place last Sunday. The members say the church was greatly refreshed.

All Christians Were Barred.

Rev. E. G. B. Mann, pastor of the Methodist churches in Lexington, recently, held a series of meetings at his church, from which all professed christians were barred, nobody but sinners being admitted. A committee of preachers and laymen made daily rounds of Lexington saloons and other places in an effort to correl the lost sheep. The meetings are said to have been immensely successful. Many years ago Rev. Mann had charge of the Petersburg circuit in this county and is well remembered by the members of the Methodist churches at East Bend, Burlington, Petersburg and Taylorsport.

Want Old Time Religion.

We want a religion that softens the step, and tunes the voice to melody, and fills the eye with sunshine, and promptly checks the impatient, exclamation and harsh rebuke—a religion that is polite and deferential to superiors, courteous to inferiors and considerate to friends—a religion that goes into the family, and keeps the wife from being cross when her husband is late for dinner, and keeps the wife from fretting when he tracks the door with his muddy boots, and makes him mindful of the scraper and door mat, and keeps the mother patient when the baby is cross, and amuses the children as well as instructs them; cares for the servants besides paying them promptly; projects the honey moon into the harvest moon and makes the happy home like the Easter fig tree, bearing in its bosom at once the tender blossom and the glory of the ripen fruit. We want a religion that shall interpose between the ruts and the gullies and the rocks of the ways of life, and the sensitive souls who are traveling over them.

Joseph Weaver, of Union neighborhood, has a new girl at his house.

Jack Eddins is looking after the consolidated 'phones during the disability of lineman, Wm. Wilson.

An oyster supper will be given at the Grange Hall, Bullittsville, December 24th from 3 to 11 p. m. Adults 25 cents. All are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Aylor announce the marriage of their daughter, Jennie Pearl, to Mr. Harmon Hayes Jones, Wednesday, Dec. 22, 1909.

Miss Grace Anderson and pupils of Frogtown school will give an entertainment and Christmas tree Wednesday evening December 22 at eight o'clock at the Excelsior Grange Hall.

Robert Fisk, who is charged with stealing Robert Allen's horse, a few weeks ago, was brought out from Covington, yesterday, and lodged in jail here. The grand jury will investigate the charge.

Rev. Noel Gaines delivered his very interesting lecture from The Log Cabin to the Pulpit to a very appreciative audience at the local Methodist church, Monday night. Mr. Gaines has a very pleasing address and all who hear him are delighted. Revs. Bradley and Gaines are now engaged in a union meeting at the Methodist church here.

For Sale—Good fresh aged Jersey cow and calf. Apply to C. E. Rector, Burlington, R. R. 2.

FOR SALE—Sow and 7 pigs. Apply to Henry Lewis Tanner, near Hopeful church, Florence, Ky.

Wanted—500 Turkeys, will pay the highest price—delivered at my place Hebron, Ky. C. E. Clore.

Stops Hair Falling

Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, will certainly stop falling of the hair. Indeed, we believe it will always do this unless there is some disturbance of the general health. Then, a constitutional medicine may be necessary. Consult your physician about this.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Ayer's — Formula with each bottle. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it, then do as he say

The reason why Ayer's Hair Vigor stops falling hair is because it first destroys the germs which cause this trouble. After this is done, nature soon brings about a full recovery, restoring the hair and scalp to a perfectly healthy condition

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

The Company of the People!

The premium rates of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company are lower than those of any other American life insurance company.

This company has more premium paying business in force in the United States than any other company, and for EACH OF THE LAST FIFTEEN YEARS HAS HAD MORE NEW INSURANCE ACCEPTED and ISSUED THAN ANY OTHER COMPANY.

Plans, Rates, Etc., furnished by local representative.

Stanley Crouch,

Petersburg, Ky.

J. W. EWBANK,

BRASHEAR, KY.

—AGENT FOR—

Victor and Edison Talking Machines.

These Machines I will sell for cash or on time to suit purchaser, at Lowest Prices.

Machines on Display at My Store.

Mail orders for Machines or Records promptly filled. Catalogues and prices sent on request.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

J. W. EWBANK, Brashear, Ky.

FOR SALE.

Farm of 81 acres of land on which is a five room house and all necessary outbuildings. This farm is situated two miles east of Hebron, Ky., and is known as the Southern farm. Enquire of Mrs. Jas. Hood or Mont Southern, 309 Bakewell Street, Covington, Ky.

For Sale or Trade.

A Bradley full Circle Hay Press, size of bale 14 x 18; has automatic plunger draw making, easy on hand. Capacity 8 to 12 tons per day. Will make some one a bargain if sold soon.

EDGAR W. SMITH, Milan, Ind.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

FOR RENT.

Boone Hotel in Burlington, Ky., two story frame, 20 rooms, good barn and other out buildings. Apply to G. G. Hughes, Burlington, Ky., or address L. N. Crigler, Bartow, Florida.

Good Things are Coming for You

Florida Oranges, doz....15 & 20c	Shelled Pecans, lb.....60c	Can Green Tiny Lima Beans—elegant.....15c
Florida Grapefruit, each..5 & 8c (never so cheap before)	Shelled California Walnuts, pound.....40c	Can Garden Sugar Beets—fine 10c
Cranberries, 3 qts.....25c	Shelled Valencia Almonds, pound.....50c	Can Pork and Peas.....15c
Malaga Grapes, lb.....15c	Shelled Jordan Almonds, lb..60c	Can Sweet Potat 10c
Dates, 3 pounds.....25c	Loose Muscatel Raisins, lb..8½c	Can Sweet Potatoe—mistletoe brand.....15c
Figs, Sweet Smyrna Figs, lb.12½c	Seeded Raisins, lb.....10c	Two for.....25c
Mixed Nuts Best quality, our own mix , lb.....17c	Three pounds for.....25c	Cavalier Peas 10c, 3 cans...25c
The pounds.....50c	Cleaned Currants, lb.....10c	Shoepeg Corn, 10c, 3 cans....25c
California Soft Shell Walnuts, lb. 18c, two lbs.....35c	Citron—best quality, lb.....20c	Carquinez Brand California Peaches, Pears and Apricots, can.....20c
Jumbo Pecans—the sweet kind pound.....18c	Orange & Lemon Peel, lb....20c	Spanish Peppers, can.....12c
Terragona Almonds, lb.....18c	Peaches, pound.....10c	Pure Cream Tartar Baking Powder, lb.....30c
Sicily Filberts, lb.....15c	Three pounds.....25c	Golden Blend Coffee, lb.....20c
Large Brazils or Cream Nuts, pound.....12½c	Prunes, pound.....10c	Moneyworth Coffee, lb.....17c
Peanuts, quart.....05c	Three pounds.....25c	Three pounds.....50c
	Apricots, pound.....15c	CAPITOL FLOUR—
	Dry Apples, pound.....08c
	Honey, pound.....10c

Geo. C. Goode, Agent

Pike and Washington Streets,

Covington, - Kentucky.

GREAT-REMOVAL-SALE!

We are up against it—we were to be in our new building last month, but it will not be completed before January 1st, consequently we are overstocked, as we bought goods for our new store and we must dispose of them at once. There is only one way to do that and that is to put the knife into it so deep that the goods will sell on sight. This is your chance in a life time to buy up-to-date, ready-made wear at such prices. We have marked down every article in the store to less than one-half price.

Read Every Item Carefully and Come in and Compare Them.

ONE LOT LADIES' DRESS SKIRTS—full pleated and trimmed in Silk folard. Regular Price $2.98 Removal price. $1.50

ONE LOT of LADIES' FINE DRESS SKIRTS of all wool materials and fine tailor-made. Regular Price $4.98 Removal price 2.98

ONE LOT of LADIES' WAISTS—Lawns and Lingerie, elaborately trimmed in fine lace or embroidery, long sleeves. Regular price $1.50 and $1.98. Removal price..... 59c

ONE LOT of LADIES' WAISTS laundried collars and cuffs. Regular price $1.50. Removal price..... 69c

ONE LOT of LADIES' TAILOR-MADE SUITS, the latest models in all the leading shades. Regular price $15.00. Removal price..... $7.50

ONE LOT of LADIES' BLACK JACKETS, heavy weight Kersey, and nicely made. Regular price $5. Removal price. $2.98

ONE LOT of LADIES' LONG CLOAKS, the latest Cloak out. Regular price $10.00. Removal price..... $4.98

ONE LOT of CHILDREN'S CEOAKS, sizes 6 to 14 years in all colors. Regular price $3.98. Removal price..... $1.98

ONE LOT of LADIES' FURS, large Muff and Scarf—black or brown. Regular price $5.00. Removal price..... $2.50

ONE LOT of LADIES' MINK FUR SETS, this is the best wearing furs made. Regular price $10.00. Removal price... $5.00

One Lot of Ladies' Trimmed Hats, made of Silk Velvet shapes and elegantly trimmed in plumes and wings; Regular price up to $5.00. Removal price..... $1.98

One Lot of Children's Fur Sets, in white, brown, gray and red, large muff and scarf. Regular price $2.50. Removal price..... 98c

SEE OUR LINE OF HOLIDAY GOODS, SUCH AS

Handkerchiefs, Mufflers, Silk Scarfs, Fancy Combs, Toilet Sets, Smoking and Shaving Sets, Manicure Sets, Sewing Boxes, Military Brushes, Gloves, Purses, etc., we have marked down these goods the very same way, as we must dispose of our entire stock by January 1st. Mail Orders will receive prompt attention the same day received, and your money back if not satisfactory.

Simon's Bazaar, 36 Pike Street, Covington, Ky.

A NICE LINE OF

Holiday Furniture

will be found at

HENRY KNORR'S FURNITURE HOUSE,

Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Where you save money, and find just what you want in.

Parlor Suites, Library Furniture such as Globe Weirnick Secritaries, Book Cases, Tables, Morris Chairs and Rockers.

IN DINING-ROOM SUITES

a fine selection.

The best and most desirable Kitchen Cabinet on the market from $12.50 up to $30.00, will be best appreciated as a Christmas present by Housekeepers. Other articles such as Foot Stools, Taboretts, Medicine Cabinets, Etc.

A fine selection on hand. We will be much pleased to welcome all his Kentucky friends during the Holiday Season.

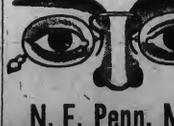
HENRY KNORR,

Next to Peoples' Bank.

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. If left six months and four per cent cent. If left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,



WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.

CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.

JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.

Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

A DULL HEADACHE

is Nature's sounding the alarm that something is going wrong. Seventy-five per cent of headaches are caused by refractive errors that can be relieved by properly fitted glasses. We always make a thorough examination and give honest advice as to the condition and care of the eyes.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,

613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Phone, South 1746.

10 Per Cent

DISCOUNT SALE ON ALL

Men's Suits and Overcoats

We do this in Order to Introduce you to the Newest, Largest and Best Clothing Store in the City.

NOW IT IS UP TO YOU

ROSENTHAL BROTHERS,

Big Store Building, RISING SUN, INDIANA.

10 Per Cent

Local Happenings.

Go to Baldon's for Christmas goods.

Books, Books, Books, at Mrs. Shermans.

J. C. Revill was sick a day or two last week.

Only a few days more in which to hunt quails.

Sore eyes are afflicting some of the Burlingtonites.

Plenty of ice five inches thick last Saturday morning.

Watch for Goode's holiday advertisement next week.

A beautiful line of box paper at Mrs. Sherman's, Rising Sun.

Some of the trappers have been making some profitable catches.

The cold weather as usual caught a good many short on fuel.

Mrs. Dudley Rouse entertained the literary society, last Friday night.

The freeze last week was of no benefit to the young wheat and grass.

Mrs. Sherman, Rising Sun, can show you a nice line of Christmas presents.

The wheat would have been benefitted by a good blanket of snow, last week.

The attorneys will be a busy set of men up about the court house this week.

The number of hogs in this county will be much larger at this time next year.

It will pay you to buy wall paper now at Mrs. Sherman's, and lay it away for spring.

This part of the country has been having winter good and proper all this month.

When in Rising Sun doing your Christmas shopping do not forget Mrs. Sherman.

The weather people say there will be sleighriding during the Christmas holidays.

Christians and sinners alike stood in slippery places last Saturday—if they didn't fall.

The wool growers of the State are attempting to organize a pool to cut out the middle man.

Dr. E. W. Grant, Louisville's new health officer, is going to give the city a general clean up.

The cold weather last week hastened the death of many a fat hog in this part of the country.

Mrs. Dix was unexpectedly called to her former home in Morehead, Rowan county, last Thursday.

Post cards, penny ones a specialty, booklets, post cards albums, etc., etc., at Mrs. Sherman's, Rising Sun.

Jesse Kirkpatrick and Lennie Eddins spent the cold period with T. G. Willis in Bullittsburg neighborhood.

Pedestrians took to the middle of the streets last Saturday, as the sidewalks were much more dangerous.

Blacksmiths had more work than they could do last Saturday. Slick roads are worth more to them than any one else.

Everybody about town, who had a pair of skates, was on them last Saturday morning, and great sport was the result.

Some of the local thermometers registered four above zero last Thursday morning between five and six o'clock.

Your attention is called to the advertisement of J. W. Ewbank, of Brashear. If you want anything in his line, write him.

Your attention is called to the holiday advertisement of C. M. Baldon. You will find in his store just what he advertises.

There has been a complete change in the service at the livery stable, Lawrence Phipps has charge of the mail wagon.

Lawrence Phipps broke in, last week, as driver of the Burlington and Erlanger bus. It is a job that will suit Lawrence to a T.

Teams that were caught without toes on their shoes, last Saturday morning, were put out of business by the heavy sleet.

Read the advertisement of H. VonLehmen, of Covington. He now has a good trade in Boone county, which he seeks to increase.

Stanley Crouch, of Petersburg, who is writing life insurance has an advertisement in another column, to which your attention is called.

Hartman Bros., who live at Lawrenceburg ferry, sold, recently, 40 hogs that averaged 390 pounds, receiving eight and one-half cents a pound.

The B. B. & L. Turnpike company has issued a considerable installment of nice tickets to be used at the gates. They are in five denominations.

They do say that the new mercantile firm at Richwood has made a very flattering beginning, and have promise of a very large holiday trade.

Rumor says there will soon be a $1,000,000 combine of telephone companies. Talk will then be expensive instead of cheap.

Should work on the traction line and the pipe line begin in this county in the spring, it would make an abundance of work for both teams and men.

The fruit trees that threatened to produce a second crop this year, were put out of business very suddenly by the local change in climatic conditions.

There has been very little sickness in this locality so far this winter, and it is sincerely hoped that there will be no change in the local health conditions.

There is not so much talk this winter about the coming tobacco crop as was being indulged at this time last year. So far the winter crop has been very short.

Kentucky has entered upon an improvement of her public school system, and has voted to push the improvement of the public roads, consequently the tax rate is bound to be increased.

The boys were out on the streets skating early Saturday morning. It is seldom that as heavy a sleet is seen in this part of the country as that of last Friday night.

The daily papers came in very irregularly last week. Several times the Cincinnati papers failed to arrive until twenty-four hours after publication.

When it comes to beautiful but intense cold weather that of last week seldom has an equal. The temperature was regular and the sun shone brightly every day.

Charles Clore, the Hebron turkey broker, is buying for the holiday trade. He has quite a number of private customers in the city, whom he supplies every year.

A butcher who cannot convince a buyer that a four-year-old rooster is a spring chicken, or cut a porter house steak from a link of bologna, isn't up to the twentieth century snuff.

The sudden change in the weather pinched the rural mail carriers considerably. Bert Smith, subbing for Elmer Conley, got a taste of genuine winter on Tuesday, the first of the year.

The people in Beileview and that neighborhood have pretty good roads on which to travel. To Burlington and Waterloo they have pikes, while the roads in the river bottoms being sandy never get bad.

Deputy Sheriff W. D. Cropper went to Covington, last Friday night, to help boost the Big Bone, Union and Covington traction road, which had a franchise proposition before the Covington city council that night.

The case of the Burley Tobacco Society against J. E. Gateskill and others will be decided by the court of appeals in the next few days, it is expected. This is the action in which a receiver was appointed for the Burley Society.

The town of Florence is so located as to have a good chance to be a point touched by any of the several traction roads that are now being discussed, and her citizens will be liberal towards the company that first puts her on the map as a traction road town.

Luther Adams, who has the position of car inspector for one of the railroads that enters Sanford, Florida, sends the Recorder the following message: "Kentucky is alright—so is Florida for me." Glad Luther is well pleased in the South, for he is a deserving young man.

The crop reporting board of the Department of Agriculture estimates that the newly seeded area of winter wheat is 7.9 per cent. greater than the revised estimated area sown in the fall of 1908, equivalent to an increase of 2,449,000 acres, the indicated total area being 33,483,000 acres.

—o—

The salaries of teachers, which is to be their Christmas money, will be sent out this month in time for the teachers to spend it for Christmas presents. The money is not due until December 16 and at that time the teachers will find their checks honored by the State. To the county school teachers will be paid $816,000 and to the city school teachers $205,000.

—o—

John T. Aylor, of Hebron, was in Burlington, last Saturday, to meet Mr. Brown, Supt. of the Covington street railway, to make settlement with him for injuries to Edgar Aylor, his son, who was injured several weeks ago when his hay wagon collided with a street car near the Lagoon dam at Bromley. The damages to the wagon having been satisfactorially settled.

—o—

Has Been Approved.

County Supt. D. M. Snyder is in receipt of the following communication from State Superintendent Crabbe:

"I am in receipt of the Course of Study for the Boone County High School, Burlington, Ky. The State Board of Education has carefully examined the Course of Study as presented and compared it with the course required for County High Schools of the First class, and which has this day been approved."

TO OUR FRIENDS OF BOONE COUNTY!

We are pleased to announce that we will display during the Holidays an exceptionally fine selection of Holiday Goods.

—OUR STOCK OF—

Dry Goods and Notions

—IS COMPLETE.—

Our Cloaks are of Great Variety and represent the Newest Models.

You are cordially invited to visit our store and examine our stock. Very Respectfully,

B. & A. GRISWOLD,

RISING SUN, INDIANA.

BARGAINS

IN A FULL ASSORTMENT OF

Surries, Buggies, Runabouts and Spring Wagons.

Will close out Cheap in Order to make room for Our Spring Stock. If you want to buy, we can Save you Money.

REPAIRING AND PAINTING PROMPTLY DONE.

H. Von Lehmen,

152 to 156 Pike Street,

Phone S. 148. COVINGTON, KY.

C. E. GARRISON. W. P. ROBINSON.

WILL OPEN THEIR

GENERAL STORE,

At Richwood, Kentucky,

Monday, December 13th.

—DEALERS IN—

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Coal, Salt and Farm Implements.

—GIVE US A CALL.—

Garrison & Robinson.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.

Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

FARM BARGAIN.—A fine farm of 74 acres in Boone County, near Rabbit Hash, on Gunpowder creek, 2 miles from river, 50 acres hillside, 12 acres bottom land, 10 acres timber; fine tobacco land. Farm made $2,000 last year. Has good 4 room box house. Land on east hillside. Price $3,000, one half down, balance on easy payments. Call on or address J. R. Wallace, Warsaw, Ky.

RAW FURS.—Get my prices. Highest ever known. No lot too large for me. H. Kirkpatrick, Burlington, Ky.

Reduction Sale.

Desiring to reduce my stock of goods, preparatory to moving my place of business, I will sell from now until Jan. 1, all untrimmed hats from 25c to 75c; Pattern hats at $1.50 to $3.50; all ribbons at cost—Veils, Ladies' and Children's Hose and Supporters, Underwear, Belts, Barettes, Kerchiefs, Scarfs, etc. Come early and get choice. Thanks for past favors. Sincerely,

dec8-4t MRS. B. L. CLEEK

Subscribe for the Recorder.

OUR FIRST FALL SHIPMENT OF

GODMAN SHOES

IS ABOUT GONE.

Our Second Fall Shipment Just Opened Up. Come at once and get a Good Selection before numbers are broken. These Shoes are, without doubt, the

Best Shoes Ever Sold in our Store

ALREADY FAMOUS FOR GOOD SHOES.

WE HANDLE THE FAMOUS

Ball Band Wool Boot and Rubber

OUR WINTER STOCK OF

Blankets, Comforts, Woolens, Yarns, Underwear, Etc.,

IS NOW COMPLETE.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

GIVE US A CALL.

We can advise you what to give for a useful

CHRISTMAS PRESENT.

WHAT WOULD BE MORE APPROPRIATE —THAN A—

Suit or Overcoat?

We have a large assortment for the Men and for the Little Ones. We can show you some GREAT BARGAINS IN

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing.

A serviceable Present would be one of our Corduroy Duck or Leather Coats; Cordurov or Jeans Pants, or one of our Warm Wool Jackets or Sweater Coats.

VISIT OUR STORE BEFORE BUYING.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET,

Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co

Rising Sun, Indiana.

Dr. T. B. CASTLEMAN, DENTIST.

Will be at Burlington to practice on County Court day and the following day of each month. You remember his painless extraction of teeth.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,

HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices. All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,

HEBRON, KY.

FOR SALE.

My farm of about 200 acres, on good road near Francesville, 3 miles north of Hebron, Boone county, Ky. On this farm is a 4 room residence and all necessary outbuildings, all under new roof. There are 50 acres of timber and 50 acres of good tobacco land, and four never failing springs. This land is two miles from the Ohio river and 15 miles from Cincinnati. Rural route and telephone. For terms call at the farm or address C. W. McFEE,

R D 3, Burlington, Ky.

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.

JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

Take your County Paper.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. - KENTUCKY.

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed Into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

Dr. N. D. Hillis of Brooklyn would rather be a preacher than a millionaire. Recently he discovered a rich coal vein in a ranch he owned in British Columbia. He sold the property to western men at a profit of $75,000. Now the coal is said to be worth $5,000,000.

William H. Robertson, American consul at Tangier, Morocco, who is in New York on a vacation, advocates the abolition of his office as unnecessary.

The two children of the late Mary Crocker Burton Harrison, first wife of Congressman Burton Harrison, will inherit nearly $2,000,000 each from the estate left by their mother, who was a daughter of the late Charles F. Crocker of San Francisco.

A. J. Hoskins, a farmer of Upper Alton, Ill., has sold to the United States for $300,000 his patent rights to a range finder.

Sherburn M. Becker, widely known throughout the country as "the boy mayor" of Milwaukee, has purchased a seat on the New York Stock Exchange for $96,000, and in a short time will make his home in New York.

Andrew Carnegie has awarded a $5,000 annual scholarship to Dennis Chahot, a boy pianist of Pittsburg, Pa., who will study in Europe.

Judge William H. Holt of Louisville, is said to be the choice of President Taft for minister to Switzerland.

E. L. Poole of Havana, Cuba, has bought of the Philippine government the San Jose Friar estate of 55,000 acres in the island of Mindoro, to be used as a sugar plantation. The purchase price was $367,000. It is understood the buyer represented the Havemeyers.

GENERAL NEWS.

Seven sailors are known to have perished, 13 others are adrift on Lake Erie or frozen to death or drowned, two vessels, the steamer Clarion and the steamer W. C. Richardson, have been lost as a result of the storm which has raged over the lakes. The Clarion burned to the water's edge in Lake Erie, off Southeast Shoal, Point Pelee, Ontario, and the steamer W. C. Richardson went to the rocks five miles west of Buffalo.

Official returns from 128 of the 206 precincts in Los Angeles, Cal., cut down the lead of Mayor Alexander over George Smith, the Republican candidate, from 1,800 to 52. The result is now in doubt.

Mrs. Susan Stewart, wife of Paymaster General Stewart, U. S. N., retired, of South Orange, N. J., died in Washington at the home of Rear Admiral Andrew Dunlap, where she was visiting. She will be buried in the National cemetery at Arlington.

Open-air schools for children in the tenement districts are recommended in the annual report of the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, which is making a crusade against tuberculosis.

Teachers in St. Mark's public school in West Orange, N. J., got a new piano by selling roasted peanuts, after the school board refused to provide the instrument.

Attorney General William H. Stead was ordered to appear before the Illinois supreme court and file a brief and argument in the case of Booth versus The County Clerk of Sangamon County, the question at issue in which is the constitutionality of the amendment to what is known as the "Juul" law, passed by the general assembly at its last session.

The annual meetings of Oklahoma Live Stock Breeders' associations opened in Enid, together with an extensive stock show and auction sales of hundreds of blooded horses, cattle and hogs.

President Taft was re-elected president of the American National Red Cross.

Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh issued a detailed explanation of the workings of the new income tax, with instructions for the guidance of all kinds of corporations.

High prices of foodstuffs are being investigated by the United States district attorney's office at New York because of complaints by the largest wholesale grocers that there seems to exist a conspiracy among some manufacturers to maintain prices to the consumer.

Carl Wojciechowski and Adam Buliszyk, confessed murderers of 14-year-old Hattie Zinda of Milwaukee, were taken into court unexpectedly and pleaded guilty. They were sentenced to life imprisonment.

The battleship fleet sailed from Magdalena bay for Japan and China.

The American Federation of Labor will support the railroad switchmen who are on strike in the northwest to the extent of its powers. This announcement was made by Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, after an extended conference with Frank Hawley, president of the American Switchmen's union.

More than 25,000 banks with an excess of 25,000,000 deposit accounts, capital aggregating $1,855,987,368 and individual deposits of more than $14,000,000,000 are the stupendous figures revealing the vast extent of the banking business of the United States as shown in the annual report for the year ending October 31, of Lawrence O. Murray, comptroller of the currency, laid before congress. The aggregate deposits on April 28 last were about $14,425,523,165.

At a monster meeting in Albert hall, London, Herbert Henry Asquith, the British prime minister, laid down the policy on which the liberal government is appealing to the country. He pledged that if the party was returned to power the government would demand the limitation of the power of the house of lords and would grant self-government to Ireland.

The American Ice Company at New York was found guilty in the state supreme court of restricting competition in and attempting to create a monopoly of the sale of ice. The court imposed the maximum sentence of $5,000 fine.

Consternation reigned in D. A. R. circles at Washington when the Daughters learned that Miss Sarah B. MacLay, one of the most prominent and respected members of the organization, for 14 years curator of the society, had confessed that for years past she has been systematically robbing the mail of the organization. The amount of Miss MacLaay's peculations is not known and is estimated at from $1,000 to $10,000.

The National Rivers and Harbors convention at Washington adopted resolutions appealing to congress for an appropriation of $50,000,000 for waterways work, and asking for the creation of a bureau of public works with a cabinet officer at its head.

Commissioner Cabell of the internal revenue bureau in Washington has issued an economy order of wide scope. One feature is that taxicabs are to be used only in cases of absolute necessity and then their use must be explained.

To avoid arrest after holding his family in terror, O. E. Boley shot and killed Sheriff Jacob Bell at Shreve, O. hing the mail of the organization. The amount of Miss MacLaay's peculations is not known and is estimated at from $1,000 to $10,000.

Secretary Wilson intends by means of the federal inspection of dairy herds to make Washington serve as an example to other cities in the prevention of the sale of infected milk.

A. E. Shephard, senior vice-president of the Order of Railway Conductors, who has been in St. Paul, Minn., for a few days, issued an order to all conductors that they must observe strict neutrality and that they should "act as they did before the switchmen's strike, no more, no less."

Mark Hanna, a Russian who took an American name and sought a license to wed at Newport, Ky., had to wait two days because he forgot the name of the prospective bride. Her name was Fannie Dozortzkov.

Inquiry by the coroner's jury into the causes of the St. Paul mine disaster at Cherry, Ill., came to an abrupt close without a verdict being reached or any steps being made to fix the responsibility for the attending loss of life. The jurors refused to consider the finding of a verdict until two missing witnesses were produced.

Adam Pietrzyk, aged 25 years, has confessed to the Milwaukee police that he murdered Hattie Zinda, 14 years old, on November 12 and implicated Karl Wojciechowski, who is also under arrest.

Thirty-five passengers on a street car were injured, none fatally, and few seriously, when the car was struck by an in-bound Pennsylvania passenger train at an Indianapolis street crossing and hurled 30 feet.

Given carbolic acid by her daughter by mistake for brandy, Mrs. William Tate of Toledo, O., ill with tuberculosis, died before medical aid could reach her.

George Preston Sheldon, deposed president of the Phenix Fire Insurance Company of Brooklyn, lying at death's door at his Greenwich (Conn.) home, was indicted for larceny in the first degree by the grand jury in New York for alleged misappropriation of funds of the company, of which he was the head for 22 years.

William Crandall, on trial for the killing of his wife at Battle Creek, Mich., last August, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury at Marshall, Mich. Crandall cut his wife's throat.

Ex-President Cardenas of Nicaragua, who was overthrown by Zelaya in 1891, has taken the field against his old enemy and is heading an expedition from Costa Rica into Nicaragua, according to advices received at New Orleans by the sympathizers of the revolutionary movement in the latter country.

A drastic proposition to meet the strike of the switchmen on the railroad lines entering St. Paul is made in a bill, amending the Erdman act, was introduced in the house of representatives by Representative Steenerson of Minnesota, providing for receiverships of the roads involved, if necessary.

Rubber bulbs filled with red fluid, which made the one biting into them appear to have hemorrhages, were used to swindle "fake" foot race victims at Council Bluffs, Ia., according to testimony in the case against E. L. Powers at Denver, Col.

Interesting Kentucky News

DUEL WITH BAYONETS

Fought by Soldiers of First Kentucky Regiment at Armory.

Louisville, Ky.—A hand-to-hand duel with bayonets was fought in the main corridor of the First regiment armory, by two militiamen, as a direct result of the stringent orders issued to put down dissension in the ranks. That neither man was injured was due to the quick interference of other militiamen. The trouble started when Private Clarence Chaftain, Company K, was challenged by Private William Hardy, of Company F, sentry on duty before the guardhouse. Chaftain refused to leave the vicinity of the guardhouse, and drew his bayonet to resist the effort of the sentry to force him to leave. Hardy drew his bayonet and the two men slashed at one another for several minutes before they were separated. Chaftain was haled before Judge James P. Gregory, sitting in the summary court, who fined him $10. Being unable to pay his fine, he was sent to jail.

TO RAISE TRUANCY AGE

From 14 to 16 Years Will Be Asked of Next Legislature.

Lexington, Ky.—School Superintendent M. A. Cassidy, of this city, will ask the next legislature to raise the truancy age from 14 to 16 years. He says there are in Lexington and elsewhere in the state a number of children between the ages of 14 and 16 that can not be compelled to go to school and are not permitted to work at gainful occupations because they have not the necessary school qualifications to entitle them to exemption from the child labor law, which prohibits the employment of children under 16 except under specified conditions.

SHERIFF McELROY SUED

For $36,000—Says He Settled Regularly with State.

Lexington, Ky.—Sheriff John McElroy, who in a suit for $36,000, filed by State Revenue Agent Huntsman, at Frankfort, is alleged to have received that sum, less a penalty of 20 per cent, in excess of $13,000 a year from his office the past three years, said he did not care to make a formal answer. "However, I do not believe I have been getting too much money for the conduct and management of my office," he said. "I have, I feel, received no more than the law allows. I have made my settlements regularly and promptly with the state."

Louisville, Ky.—Grain dealers of Louisville held a meeting here to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the new milling-in-transit rules, which go into effect Jan. 1. The rules have been issued by the interstate commerce commission and as they now stand protect the railroads from the substitution of grain shipped into Louisville under the milling-in-transit clause on the waybill.

Owensboro, Ky.—For the first time in eight years Owensboro is under a democratic administration. Mayor S. Lambert took his seat and the democratic city council elected R. S. Todd, city attorney; Jos. Couty, city clerk; Henry Talbott, engineer; G. F. Reynolds, chief of police, and John Logsdon, fire chief.

Lexington, Ky.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Third National bank of this city it was voted to increase the capital stock of that institution from $200,000 to $300,000. The new issue of stock is to be offered at a premium of $50 per share, the premium to go to the surplus fund of the bank.

Frankfort, Ky.—Mayor James H. Polsgrove announced that one of the first steps that would be taken during his administration for the benefit of the city would be the sale of the opera house and the erection of a new city hall. Council will be urged to raise the license for whisky to $1,000 a year.

Lexington, Ky.—Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, state president of the W. C. T. U., went to Washington to attend the national conclave of temperance workers. On her return to Kentucky she will go to Corbin to conduct the campaign for local option where an election is to be held Dec. 22.

Frankfort, Ky.—The state board of valuation and assessment, comprising Auditor James, Treasurer Farley and Secretary of State Bruner, fixed the assessment on whisky at $9 per barrel. The tentative assessment had been fixed at $10 a barrel.

Lexington, Ky.—Grand Secretary R. G. Elliott made the announcement that there are now in Kentucky 377 lodges of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the number 377 having just been given the lodge at Calhoun, McLean county.

Frankfort, Ky.—The board of survey closed a lease for the McNutt farm, 14 miles from Louisville, to be used as the state range for the First regiment. The government will equip it with $7,000 worth of targets.

SPECIAL TRIAL GRANTED

Moonshiners So They Can Serve Time Before Planting Time.

Richmond, Ky.—As a special request, in order that they may serve their sentence during the winter months and be out in time to put in crops next spring, William Still, Joe Plyman and Tom Goosey, three of the moonshiners arrested in Estill county recently, were taken to Catlettsburg for trial at the present term of the federal court, in session there. Deputy United States Marshal Mays says he would not have any fear whatever of putting them on a train alone and trusting them getting off at their proper destination.

FIVE YEARS AT HARD LABOR

Is Sentence Imposed Upon ex-Bank President Parrish.

Frankfort, Ky.—J. H. Parrish, president of the Defunct Owensboro Savings Bank and Trust Co., must spend five years in the penitentiary for assenting to receiving deposits in the bank after he had knowledge of its insolvency. This judgment was imposed by the Hancock circuit court and affirmed by the court of appeals in an opinion written by Judge Carroll. Parrish, therefore, must go to prison and remain there at hard labor for the five years unless he is pardoned. Judges Hobson and Barker dissented in the opinion.

SEARCH FOR WIFE ENDS

When Kentuckian Identifies Body Found in Indiana Canal.

Cynthiana, Ky.—A telegram from Connersville, Ind., from Maurice Keller to a friend of his states that the body in the morgue that was found in Whitewater canal some days ago is his wife, and the body will be brought here for burial. It has been four weeks since Mrs. Keller left her husband, wandering in a helpless mental condition. She leaves five small children.

ETHICAL DEVELOPMENT

For Men, Women and Children Discussed at Federal Council Meeting.

Louisville, Ky.—Nationwide instruction for the children in religion, to be carried on in conjunction with common-school education and the establishment of a central bureau to be supported by all the Protestant churches of the United States, to work for the ethical development of men, women and children, were two of the most important topics under discussion at the closing business meeting of the session of the executive committee of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Lexington, Ky.—According to L. C. Price, the local pony breeder, and a member of the American Shetland Pony club, there are no more ponies in the Shetland Isles that can be brought over and registered under the rules of the American club. He say that at the recent meeting of the club in Chicago one member was expelled for bringing over ponies known as "inspections" and registering them as full-blooded Shetlands.

Lexington, Ky.—Articles of incorporation for the Lexington Tobacco Hogshead Co. were filed here. The officers are: Col. Milton Young, president; Henry Lloyd, secretary and treasurer. Among the stockholders are Miss Alice Lloyd, of the Burley Tobacco society; Sheriff-elect Dan W. Scott and W. L. Spears. The capital stock is $10,000, three parts paid in. The plant has a capacity of 200 hogshead per day.

Frankfort, Ky.—Reforms in the development of education in the state are urged by State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. G. Crabbe, in his annual report to the general assembly. He makes eight recommendations, which include the appointment of two inspectors, a new school text-book law and the fixing of a minimum and maximum salary for the county school superintendents.

Lexington, Ky.—The city council abolished the board of public works, composed of W. M. Bateman, A. M. Harrison and W. H. McCorkle. The ordinance is effective Jan. 1. This board has been in existence one year. The combined salaries were $3,900. The ordinance provides for a street superintendent at a salary of $1,500.

Lexington, Ky.—The Central Kentucky Presbyterian Ministers' association was formed here to meet in this city on the first Monday in each month. Rev. E. W. McCorkle, of Nicholasville, was elected president; J. W. Tyler, of Midway, vice president, and H. G. Moody, of Mt. Sterling, secretary and treasurer.

Louisville, Ky.—Archie Keeton, a street railway conductor, shot and probably fatally wounded W. C. Ramsey, who until recently was a member of the Louisville police force, when he returned to his home and found Ramsey in company with his wife, Mrs. Inez Keeton.

TORCH APPLIED

To Tobacco Barn by Riders—Neighbor Is Threatened.

Cynthiana, Ky.—Night riders burned the tobacco barn of Ed Judy with 5,000 pounds of tobacco, uninsured, at Beaver Baptist, this county, and fired several shots at Judy's brother, who came to see what the cause of the fire was. All the telephone lines in that community were cut by the raiders, shutting off all communication with that section of the county. Judy was an anti-association man and had sold his tobacco to a local buyer to be delivered later. Sheriff Eugene Gragg went immediately to the scene of the fire, but was unable to get any clew of the marauders. Smith Ward, a neighbor, an independent grower, has been threatened several times if he did not pool.

CREW ESCAPED,

But Steamer Park City, with Cargo of Whisky, Went to the Bottom.

Louisville, Ky.—The steamer Park City, plying in the Kentucky river trade between Louisville and Valley View, sank near Glen Mary, Ky. The crew of 15, with about 35 negro roustabouts, escaped, but the boat is a total loss. There were no passengers on board. Among the heavy miscellaneous cargo carried were 600 cases of whisky and a large number of barrels of whisky. According to the advices received here the bottom was torn out of the Park City and her boiler went to the bottom. The steamer had but recently been repaired.

STICKERS ON BREAD

Are Prohibited by Pure Food Authorities of Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky.—Hereafter bakeries in the state of Kentucky are absolutely prohibited from placing stickers or labels of any kind on their bread or cakes. This was one of the many stringent rules determined upon in a conference held here between the master bakers' committee and the pure food authorities of the state. Other measures of sanitary precaution were adopted, and the county health officer and the Kentucky Federation of Women's clubs have declared that they will see to their enforcement.

TELEPHONE MERGER

In Kentucky, with Capital of $1,000,000, Voted Upon Favorably.

Louisville, Ky.—The merger of about 100 independent telephone companies in Kentucky, with a total capital of $1,000,000, was voted upon favorably by representatives of the companies. A committee was appointed by President Frank G. Hoge, of Hopkinsville, to agree upon the terms of the merger. Reports of the possible encroachment of the Bell interests caused the meeting to be called.

Henderson, Ky.—The balance of the 1909 crop of dark tobacco, consisting of a million or more pounds, was sold by the Stemming District association to W. G. Head & Son at an average of seven cents. This completes the sale of the 23,000,000 pounds of the 1909 pooled tobacco in the counties of Webb, Henderson, Union, Crittenden and Hopkins.

Lexington, Ky.—The initial steps looking to the formation of a pool of the wool crop of Kentucky were taken when an organization was formed, with J. W. Newman, of Versailles president, and Dr. C. F. Crecilius, of Pendleton county, secretary. A call was issued for a meeting in every county in the state for Dec. 18.

Williamstown, Ky.—Railroad companies must keep the turn tables under their control and operation locked, or else be liable for any injury that may occur to children who get hurt playing on them. This rule was laid down by the court of appeals in the case of Thomas Brown against the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Co.

Somerset, Ky. — Somerset went "wet" by 96 majority. The cause is assigned to the business men, who have taken a stand against "blind tigers" flourishing, and also a heavy special tax voted on them by the council to make up the deficit in the city treasury.

Williamstown, Ky.—As a compromise to a mob which was determined on lynching Earl Thompson, a negro convicted of criminally attacking Mrs. Ransom Roberts, Judge Cammack, at the close of the trial, agreed to order the negro hanged within a month.

Lexington, Ky.—Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, state president of the W. C. T. U., said that it is the intention of the prohibitionists to contest the local option election held in Winchester. She says the breweries used money lavishly to carry the election.

Louisville, Ky.—Alma Kellner, the 7-year-old daughter of J. F. Kellner, Jr., was kidnaped, supposedly for ransom, while on her way to church, five blocks distant from her home. The parents are distracted.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. G. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2028.
Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL,..... $30,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in..... $50,000
Surplus,.. ..... $8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building,
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $9 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A. Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy.,
R. F. D.—1, Ludlow, Ky.
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky. and
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early,

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
Ed POPE Agent, - - Aurora, Ky

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me.
Write for printed list

CHRISTMAS A HUNDRED YEARS FROM NOW

CHRISTMAS a hundred years from now will be the same old Christmas, no doubt, but it will be celebrated under such vastly different conditions that if you should go to sleep now and wake up a century later you would think you were in a different world.

The Christmas spirit will be the same. But whether it is a hundred years from now or a thousand we may be sure that when the Christmas season comes the world will be full of the Christmas spirit. Little children and grown men and women still will be made happy by giving and receiving, grudges and grouches will be forgotten, enemies forgiven and good will will prevail. Nothing can kill that. The golden motto: "Peace on earth, good will to men," will be just as sacred and as new to the hearts of men as it was nineteen hundred years ago. Everybody will give everybody else a present—but the presents will be different.

VISITING GRANDMA CHRISTMAS MORNING AT HER HOME 245 STORIES ABOVE THE GROUND

THE MECHANICAL TOYS OF 2009 WILL BE MARVELS OF PERFECTION

Little Johnny will not covet a railroad train. Real cars on a real track, pulled by a real locomotive that makes smoke will not seem a wonderful thing to him, as it does to the little Johnny of to-day. The lad of the next century will want a model of the latest airship in his Christmas stocking. He will expect a working model, too—one that will sail through the flat like a live bird, and perhaps carry his own weight.

Within the last hundred years steam and electricity have been developed and it is entirely reasonable to imagine that within the coming century men will travel through the air as commonly as they now travel over the land. The automobile, the trolley car, the railroad train, and the horse as a draft animal—all will be gone. Men will use the earth, as the birds do, for a resting place for their homes and the principal source of food supply; but when they want to move from one place to another, they will mount into the ether, even as the birds do, and flay swiftly and safely to their destination.

It is probable that there will not be a wheeled vehicle of any kind on the streets of a great city on Christmas day, in the year 2009. Our tunnel system will have developed until the vast subterranean net work of bores, chutes and pneumatic tubes will carry on the heavy traffic of the city without noise or confusion. The streets will be given up to pedestrians—to those who walk for pleasure or wish to travel short distances. The sidewalk as it is now will be no more, but the entire width of the street will be given up to foot passengers. There will be neither car tracks nor moving vehicles to annoy.

The suburbanite who does not fly to work in 2009 will be shot through a pneumatic tube, traveling the five, ten, or fifty miles of distance in a space of time that may be only a few seconds, and certainly cannot be more than a few minutes. It may be that few people will walk anywhere in the year 2009. When man learns to fly he will scorn walking as too slow a means of progress. Perhaps our great-great-grandchildren, who no doubt will live in immense apartment buildings towering a half mile from the ground, may go for weeks at a time without setting foot to the earth.

With the passing of the Christmas sleigh there will be no longer any need for reindeers for Santa Claus. He, too, will travel by airship, and while the old Santa Claus will be a myth, the new Santa Claus will be as real as the bewhiskered and befurred boys who now entertain the children in the department stores.

It is not hard to imagine that the big stores will develop the Santa Claus idea to the point that Christmas purchases will be delivered on Christmas eve by an airship driver made up to impersonate Santa Claus. A hundred years from now, if you want to avoid the rush and do your Christmas shopping in your own apartments, the scientists probably will have provided for you a combination of telescope and moving picture machine by means of which you can connect your room with the toy department and see the display by wire—or perhaps by wireless—and at the same time you get prices and leave your order with the clerk by telephone.

But perhaps the woman of 2009 will enjoy the mad rush of the shops as much as she does to-day during the holiday season, and then she will go to the big store and order her toys and presents. The store could deliver them through the pneumatic package tubes which will go to all parts of the city, but it will be more poetic to have them delivered by Santa Claus.

Christmas eve a score or a hundred Santa Clauses will set out from the various shops with their airships laden with Christmas gifts to be delivered at the various addresses. It will no longer be necessary to "deliver all goods in the rear" of the big apartment building, but whether you live on the twentieth or two hundred and twentieth story of the big house you will have your own private airship landing, and while the family is gathered at the door to receive Santa Claus the airship will settle on the landing and the cheerful "Merry Christmas" of the aeronaut will greet you as he hands in the packages.

The Christmas tree of a hundred years from now will be an electrical marvel. Festoons and wreaths of rainbow colored lights and "chasers" will scintillate from its green branches. But the presents that hang on it will be even more wonderful.

There will be dolls as large as the little girls who will receive them. There will be dolls that can walk and with the improved phonographic arrangements of another century there will be dolls that can talk and others that can sing beautiful songs. Some of them, no doubt, will be able to dance gracefully and to do tricks that would seem miraculous if performed by an automaton to-day.

The mechanical toys of 2009 will be marvels of perfection. The most imaginative man cannot possibly conceive of the new things that will be invented in the way of machinery, but it is safe to assume that the wireless transmission of power will be perfected. Wheels will spin without any visible motive power. Power may be taken from the sun's rays or wireless power stations may be operated by the waves, the waterfalls, or even the winds. Before the coal supply is exhausted the need for coal, either for warmth or power, will have passed away.

And whatever triumphs men make in the industrial world they impart to their games and recreation. So it is certain that the Teddy bear and the toy dog of the coming century will be mechanical marvels. The "Rover" dog that the little boy gets will be life size. He will prance about on his four furry legs and lie down and roll over at the bidding of his master.

Perhaps the most wonderful feature of all in our Christmas in 2009 will be the changed methods in our daily life. The housekeeping arrangements of that time would seem incomprehensible to the woman of to-day if she could picture them in her mind. The lack of comforts and the inconvenience of life in a cottage, it is possible, will drive most of the city dwellers into the apartment buildings, which will grow bigger and taller as the years pass until they will be literally "skyscrapers" within a century.

In one of these big buildings, while the machinery will be out of sight, domestic affairs will be so mechanical, even automatic, that you can get almost anything the family needs simply by turning on a switch or pressing a button.

The flat dweller of that distant day will not be bothered with servants or the servant problem. By pressing a button the Christmas dinner will come up noiselessly from the kitchen on the mechanical waiter or perhaps in a pneumatic tube.

After your Christmas dinner is over the dishes will disappear as silently and swiftly as you could wish. Some sort of mechanical dish washer in the kitchen will take care of them—or, what is more likely, they will be made of a cheap composition and will be destroyed by burning after they are used once. The antiseptic precautions of the modern surgeon will be common to the kitchens of the next century and hygiene will be a real science.

When you have eaten your Christmas dinner, if you want to go out for the evening you can press a button and an aerocab will come to the landing at your door. Or, if you prefer it, you may drop down the pneumatic elevator to some point 50 or 100 feet below the surface of the earth and be whirled through the pneumatic subway at a dizzy rate of speed to your destination. Only the speed will not make you dizzy. You will not be able to feel it. You may sit in your cushioned car, well lighted and warmed and ventilated by some process yet to be discovered, and before you realize it the miles will speed away and you step out to the opera or the play.

If you prefer to remain at your apartments the telautoscope attached to your telephone may be connected to any theater you desire, and you can sit in your easy chair and smoke while you see the play projected on the wall like the most perfect moving picture. All the stage settings will be there to make the play seem real, and the improved telephone will bring every shade and subtle inflection of the actor's voice to your ear.

It seems certain that this telautoscope arrangement—the exact word to describe it will be coined after the process is discovered—will be one of the triumphs of the coming century. It will enable you to see the person you are talking to over a telephone.

The flight of the coming airship probably will be so rapid that the business man and even the salaried worker, if he loves the country, can have a villa or a cottage at a great distance from the city and go to work in his own airship at slight cost.

On Christmas day in the good century to come this flight in the air will be the means of many family reunions that are impossible now. A few hours will take one to the most distant part of the country, and the practical cessation of business during the holiday week will leave all free to forgather with the loved ones and pay deferred visits.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.
Phone, M. 2393.
The Applegate-Piper Co.
MERCHANT TAILORS.
Room 610, Traction Building,
Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,
BURLINGTON, KY.
The Oldest Bank in Boone County,
PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,
With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR
THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.
NOBETTER COFFEE.
17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.
This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.
THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR
Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,
Covington, - - Ky.

M. L. Swetnam Clarenc E. Swetnam Russell E. Swetnam
M. L. Swetnam & Sons,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
15 to 21 E. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.
Phone South 170. FREE AMBULANCE.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Director and Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.
Lexington Pike. - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Covington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR
CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP
—TO—
C. C. SEAL & CO.
Union Stock Yards,
CINCINNATI. OHIO
And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.
J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Wm. T. Black spent a day last week in Cincinnati on business.

Harry C. Menefee of Crittenden, spent last Friday here on business.

Henry C. Diers left, Monday, for Bracken county, where he will canvass in the interest of his nursery.

Mrs. Louisa DeJarnette, of Middletown, Ohio, spent the past week here, guest of her sister, Mrs. T. J. Crowe and brother E. C. Osborn.

Rev. John S. Steers, of Dry Ridge, will preach at the old Salem Baptist Church, Saturday and Sunday December 18th and 19th, to which all are invited.

H. Clay Roberts, of Nebraska, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Ruth Roberts, left last week for Camden, Deleware, on a visit to his daughter, expecting to remain several weeks.

Mrs. J. D. Moore, of Big Bone, was here last Thursday enroute to Cincinnati, accompanied by Dr. J. G. Slater, of Walton, for the purpose of taking special treatment for nose and throat.

J. Claude Hume and wife, of Verona, were visitors here Friday, guests of their aunt Mrs. J. A. Plunket, who was operated on for cancer some time ago, and we are glad to say is now about well and growing strong and hearty.

Real estate agent, W. E. Vest, sold the farm of How Cleek consisting of [illegible] acres near Verona, to Joseph Rednour, of Crittenden, for $4,250, possession to be given on March 1st. Mr. Cleek has not yet decided where he will locate.

Jno. L. Vest and D. B. Wallace spent part of the past week in Chicago, where they closed a deal for 62 lots in the town of Franklin Park, a suburb of Chicago, the lots being purchased for Messrs. Vest, Wallace and J. G. Tomlin.

Dr George Byland, a prominent citizen, of Crittenden, and a noted phrenologist, died there on December 5th in his 65th year. Rev. D. T. Buck, of the Christian church conducted the funeral services at Crittenden, December 8th.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Snedker and daughter, Miss Grace, of Cincinnati, Iowa, spent part of last week here with their cousins, J. D. Daubman and wife. Dr. Snedker has sold his property interests in Iowa and expects to locate in California where there is a milder climate.

Rev. Edgar Riley, of Burlington, has resigned as pastor of the Walton Christian church, and Rev. Merritt Owens, of Covington, has accepted the position and will hold services every Sunday, which will greatly augment the organization of the church and upbuild the interest.

Charles Robinson and wife, of Berkshire, were here Saturday making a settlement with their attorney, Jno. L. Vest, in the suit for the life insurance policy on Mrs. Robinson's former husband Charles Sutton, who was killed at Patriot, Indiana, July 4th, 1906. Mr. Vest collecting $760 on a contested policy on Mr. Sutton's life, which he paid to Mrs. Robinson.

James Gayle, the popular manager of the Worthville and Carrollton Railroad, and Miss Prudence Catherine Wilson, a charming young lady of Carrollton, were married at Louisville, Dec. 8th, and will make their home at the Hotel Richland, Carrollton. Their many warm friends in this quarter extend their best wishes for a long and happy future with the choicest of blessings.

Mrs. Sidney Hume entertained in a most delightful manner at her hospitable home last Friday night with a euchre party at which there were the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Jno. L. Vest, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee Gaines, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Byland, Mrs. B. K. Menefee, Mrs. Laura Wood, J. Ed Bristow, John Ingram, Roy B. Stamler. A delightful evening was spent. The pleasures of the euchre was followed by the serving of elegant refreshments.

The Walton Thespian Club, composed of some of our brightest and best dramatic talent, has two very entertaining plays under rehearsal which the club expects to present to the public at the opera house in about a month. The plays are entitled, "The Turn of the Tide," and "The Moonshiner's Daughter." Each play will be rendered in two performances, and the public may look for something good as the company is composed of some very talented young people.

Tuesday night of last week during the intense cold weather, Lewis Lampton, a farmer near Independence, in returning from Covington, where he had been selling a wagon load of hay, became so cold that he lapsed into a bewildered state and wandered about all night and was found next morning almost dead. He was taken home and a physician summoned. One of Mr. Lampton's hands was badly frozen, and while he suffered intensely from the effects of the cold yet he will recover, and no serious results will follow.

Miss Isabelle Tompkins was tendered a surprise party last Friday night at the home of her parents by a number of her young friends. The young people spent a delightful evening in games and other pleasing social enjoyments. Dainty refreshments were served. The following were present: Misses Verena Byland, Mary Vest, Bessie Houston, Lutie Miller, Marie Aiken, Sarah Gaines, and Ruth Boulden; Messrs. Harry Houston, Wilson Kinsleae, Earl Rouse, Harry Dowling and Ralph Edwards.

The pupils of grades first and second of the Walton public school room taught by Miss Jean Summers, will give a very pleasing entertainment at the school house Thursday, Dec. 23d, in the evening and an admission of 10 cents will be charged, the proceeds to go for the purchase of books for the school room much needed. A good program is being prepared, and with such bright children and the efficient tutilage of Miss Chambers there is every assurance of a delightful afternoon for all who attend.

Last Wednesday evening a beautiful wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. F. Curley, when their daughter, Miss Pauline Alice Curley was given in marriage to Dr. Ben W. Stallard in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and intimate friends. At the appointed hour, 6:30 o'clock, the soft strains of the beautiful Mendelsshon's wedding march from the piano under the skillful touch of Miss Mayme Northcutt, announced the approach of the wedding party, who slowly and gracefully came from the bridal room and took a position under the bower of evergreen at the head of the hall and in front of the officiating minister Dr. W. W. Evans, of the Presbyterian church, the bridal procession being composed of first Wayne Byland and Charles Ransler as ushers; then the bride's maid Miss Katie Bentz, followed by Miss Zella Mayhugh and Miss Gladys Wilson, then Miss Gertrude Curley a sister of the bride, and Prof. C. O. Morgan followed by two little Misses who carried the marriage ring on a bridal pillow, the little girls being Misses Marie Curley and Nellie Slater, then came the lovely bride and the handsome groom. The ceremony was lengthy but beautiful in all of its features, and free from any tiresome details, its impressiveness and solemnity being attuned in a way not to become dreary. The closing of the ceremony was a prayer by Dr. Evans for the future happiness of the worthy young couple. Then came hearty congratulations from the large number of friends. A telegram of congratulations was received just at the close of the ceremony from Frank E. Curley, of Tueson, Arizona, a brother of the bride, wishing happiness and sunshine all the days of the young couple's future. The young bride was beautifully attired in a wedding dress of embroidered net over silk with pearl trimmings and wore a handsome bride's veil and pearl ornament. The groom wore the conventional black. It was indeed a very handsome couple, and the future seems to be one of great happiness for both, as there is that affectionate affinity between them that blesses marriage with all that makes the lives of two young people an indivisable union. The hall way in which the ceremony was performed was very tastefully trimmed in smilax, palms and ferns, as was also the several rooms. After the congratulations refreshments of orangeade and cake were served. The presents were very numerous and beautiful and came from many quarters, representing the vast number of admiring friends the young couple have. The happy couple left on the L. & N. train about eight o'clock for their future home in Columbus, Ohio, where Dr. Stallard has charge of a large dental office. They were attended to the depot by a large charivari party who with various instruments endeavored to make music, heralding the arrival of the wedding party. Dr. Stallard is one of the finest young men that has ever resided at Walton and is one that makes a favorable impression wherever he goes. He recently left Walton for Columbus as the opportunity was better for his advancement in his profession. The pretty bride who was born and reared at Walton, numbers her friends among her entire acquaintance as she is very popular because of her many excellent qualities of heart and mind, and being of a most lovable disposition. The out of town guests were, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Stallard, of Sparta, a brother of the groom, and his two aunts Misses Benjamin Stallard, and Cora Stallard of Fairfield, Ky. The best of good wishes from a host of friends is tendered Dr. and Mrs. Stallard for a long, happy and prosperous life together.

FOR SALE—Thoroughbred Jersey heifer. Call on W. O. Richey, Walton, Kentucky.

For Sale—Fine shepherd pup. Apply to Jno. T. Aylor, Hebron.

Mrs. J. B. Harris is much improved, after a long illness.

Dr. A. N. Jones, who has been on the sick list is able to be about again.

Jacob D. Daubman spent part of the week at Burlington attending circuit court.

Mrs. Oliver Maxwell has about recovered from her protracted attack of typhoid fever.

Dr. Harry W. Hamilton spent the first of the week in Cincinnati in the interest of his dental practice.

John C. Miller, of the Equitable Bank, spent a day the past week in Cincinnati on business.

Mrs. Mollie Ford enjoyed the pleasure of a visit to relatives and friends in Gallatin county, last week.

Ury S. Wills, of Lima, Ohio, arrived here last week on a visit to his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Diers.

Mrs. Geo. W. Taylor, who occupies the Dr. Adams property spent part of the past week on her farm in Kenton county.

C. Presley Adams, cashier of the Gibson House, Cincinnati, spent Saturday evening and Sunday here with friends and relatives.

Chas. L. Griffith, the popular president of the Equitable Bank and Trust Company, spent part of the week at Burlington attending the session of the circuit court.

Hon. J. G. Tomlin and Jno. L. Vest left Monday, for Burlington, to attend the Boone circuit court, expecting to be there all week, having a number of cases for trial.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church will give a social entertainment Dec. 28th, at the home of Sister Mrs. J. M. Stamler, the proceeds to go for the benefit of the church. A very pleasant evening is promised all who attend and a cordial invitation is extended to everybody.

Joseph Huey, of Union, was a visitor here Monday, coming to meet Robert and Warren Lassing, of Newpport, who came out to spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. Huey at their country home near Union, and to enjoy the pleasures of a hunt. Their little brother, John, who has diphtheria at home in Newport has about recovered from the disease.

December has come down the lane with plenty of good winter weather if anybody asks you.

FURS WANTED.

We want 5,000 Minks.
50,000 Muskrats,
20,000 Skunks,
10,000 Raccoons,
15,000 Opossums.
B. F. Wilson Fur Co., Tuscola, Illinois, Box. 17.

Pain

Nearly all woman suffer some pain at times, due to the ailments peculiar to their sex. If your trouble is yet in a mild form, take Cardui to prevent it becoming more serious. If you have suffered long years, get Cardui at once. Use persistently and it will help you.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. L. Eells, of New Hartford, Ia., was afflicted for 24 years. She writes: "For the past 24 years I have been afflicted with womb trouble, causing extreme nervousness, pain in right side and back — altogether making life a burden. I tried doctors and various other remedies without relief. Finally I began using Wine of Cardui. Now I am entirely cured. I cheerfully advise all women similarly afflicted to try Cardui." Sold everywhere. E 44

That Present!

While you are Studying as to what to give for a Christmas Present---just give the following YOUR CONSIDERATION:

FOR HIM.

Hats, 50c to $3.00.
Caps, 25c to $2.50.
Gloves, 25c to $1.50.
Shoes, $1.50 to $4.00.
Slippers, 50c to $2.00.
Rubbers—Old Prices.
Socks, Leggings, Overgaiters.

FOR HER.

Felt Fur Trimmed Slippers, (Xmas Special) 90c to $1.
Mufflers, all colors, 25c & 50c.
Warm Lined Shoes, $1.25 to $2.
Shoes—Fine Shoes, Heavy Shoes, then some Rubbers — Dry feet consequently good health; Leggings and Overgaiters.

Big assortment of Shoes, Caps, Gloves and Leggigns for the Kids. Not a thing on sale at Davis' but what will make a useful and acceptable Christmas Present.

DAVIS, the Shoe Man

LET HIM SHOW YOU. RISING SUN, IND.

Now is the time to Buy a Piano for Christmas.

We will Save you $100.00 on a strictly

High Grade Piano or Player Piano.

THE TONE, QUALITY AND DURABILITY OF OUR PIANOS CANNOT BE EXCELLED ANYWHERE.

Cash or Easy Payments. Large Stock to Select from

When in Covington call in and see us.

Ben J. Wagner Company,

NO. 82 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

Watch Values at Motch's

Is a generally accepted fact made positive by a long Established record. The principal reason is this—we sell our Watches under a Guarantee of reliability and accuracy that protects the buyer absolutely—and we show you over 500 watches to

MAKE YOUR SELECTION FROM.

FOR THE LADIES.		FOR THE GENTLEMEN.
LADIES' SOLID GOLD Watches, plain and engraved	$16 up	GENTLEMEN'S WATCHES Solid Gold from.....	$30 up
LADIES' SOLID GOLD Watches, set with diamonds	$25 up	GENTLEMEN'S "Very Thin" open face Elgin or Waltham	$15 up
LADIES' GOLD FILLED Watches, Elgin movement	$10 up	GENTLEMEN'S Gold filled Watches, any mov. you want	$8 up
LADIES' 25-yr CASE, fitted with our "Motch Special" mo	$14 up	GENTLEMEN'S Nickle Watches.....	$1 up

BEST WATCH OFFERED AT ANYWHERE NEAR THE PRICE.

MOTCH, THE JEWELER,

613 Madison Avenue, - Covington, Kentucky.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President. S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated--1. D. 1892.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.

Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

Warning to Hunters.

Any person or persons tresspassing or hunting with dog or guns on the lands of the undersigned will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

WALTON PRECINCT.

W. H. Senour	W. E. Dixon
G. W. Taylor	M. E. Fields
G. E. Carroll	Bryant Campbell
J. O. Byland	Mrs Jane Kennedy
J. C. Mayhugh	A. R. Johnson
Robt. Chambers	L. S. Wolfe
Ira Aylor	S. C. Hicks
Batty Long	J. S. West
Lawrence Ryan	Clay Baker
S. Taylor	John Mardis
S. M. Hudson	R. O. Hughes
Theo. Kennedy	Martha C. Hudson
Ben Cleek	Rebecca J. Hudson
J. C. Bedinger	Kate Hudson
John Goodridge	O. S. Gincken
J. J Hudson	Geo W Ranson
Rev. Lafe Johnson farm.

BURLINGTON PRECINCT.

Mrs Elizabeth Utz	W L B Rouse
Oscar Gaines	Bart E Aylor
Clarence Easton	Karl Rouse
T. J. Walton.	Peter Buchart.
Hewitt Bros.	Chas. A. Gaines
Mrs. A. Harding.
Minerva Weaver.

BELLEVIEW PRECINCT.

Julia Dinsmore

BULLITTSVILLE PRECINCT.

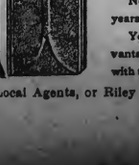
Mrs Mary Gaines	John W Clore
Elbert Rouse	Huey Aylor
Jeff D Cloud	Harvey Aylor
H L McGlasson	Ben Pedcock
R O McGlasson	C E Clore
E J Aylor	Chester Hood

UNION PRECINCT.

E L Rouse	W H Wilson
Jas Delahannty	H F Utz

PETERSBURG PRECINCT.

F M Voshell C L Voshell



HAMILTON PRECINCT.

R. Lee Huey

FINE DRIVING SNOW CANNOT PENETRATE

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

THIS is only one of the advantages of these shingles.

They're fireproof, windproof, make the handsomest kind of a roof, and when they are once on they're there to stay, for "Cortright Metal Shingles" last as long at the building itself.

No trouble, no care; a coat of paint once every five years is all the attention they need.

Yes, they're cheap, quite cheap, considering their advantages, and we're sure you'll be more than satisfied with them from the minute you see them on your roof.

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

C. H. ACRA, AUCTIONEER

GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

STALLION FOR SALE.

Bay Stallion, Five years old, 16 hands high, sired by Addington. W. G. Riddell, Hebron, Ky.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875. Subscription $1.50 year. Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 22, 1909. NO 10

Buy Where You Get the best and We have everything Good to Eat for Xmas and you can depend on what you get here.

Save Money Too.

Make Our Store your Headquarters Last Xmas was a banner one and we want to make this one beat it, and believe we will.

Leave Your Packages Here, and Don't Forget to Put Your Name on Packages

Don't Forget to Ask for One of those Cardui Calanders or Weather Charts.

Candy

We do not buy Candy a month before Xmas, but get it fresh from the factory just in time for the trade.

GUM DROPS—Cook did not use all of them. Just the thing for cold weather, lb only 6c

STICK—Fancy Twist Stick in two lb. boxes. Clean, pure and wholesome. Pound 10c, 2 lb. box only ... 18c

GROCERS' MIXED—A good cheap Candy; no gluecase, lb. only 7c

CHOP-MIX—Fine clear, hard candy. Everybody likes it; lb. only 9c
Three pounds for 25c

TAFFY MIX—Large pieces and fine assortment of kinds that everybody likes, lb only 9c; 3 lbs for ... 25c

FRENCH CREAMS—A good mixture, lb. only 10c; 3 lbs. for 25c

PEANUT ROCK—lb. only 10c
Three pounds for 25c

KISSES—Everybody loves kisses—They're so good, lb only 10c 3 for .. 25c

COCOANUT BON BONS—Very fine 3 different coatings, red, white chocolate, lb. only 12c

CHOCOLATE CREAMS—Assorted. Just as good as you pay 20c for. Pound 15c; two pounds for 25c

PRINCESS HAND-MADE CREAMS—Extra nice; ponud only 15c

FANCY HAND-MADE CREAMS—Our best; pound only 20c

ROCK CANDY—On strings; lb only .. 12c

CINNAMON IMPERALS—lb. only ... 15c

PURE FRUIT TABLETS—lb. only ... 25c

PURE HOAR HOUND TABLETS—Pound only 25c

Nuts

We have always put out the finest grade of Mixed Nuts in town—not how cheap but how good. We use the same quality as we do separately—three lbs. of good nuts are worth six lbs. of cheap grades of small, old stock.

BEST MIXED NUTS—Pound only 17c, 3 lbs for 50c

CALIFORNIA SOFT SHELL Walnuts, No. 1, best quality, pound only 18c, two pounds for 35c

JUMBO SWEET PECANS—These are the large Sweet Pecans that everybody likes. Best of all Nuts. Pound 18c, 2 lbs for 35c

TERRAGONNA ALMONDS—Pound only 18c, 2 lbs for 35c

JUMBO BRAZILS or Cream Nuts—These are good, lb. 13c, 2 lbs. for .. 25c

SICILY FILBERTS, lb. only 15c

JORDAN SHELLED Almonds, lb 60c

VALECIA SHELLED Almonds, lb . 50c

SHELLED CALIFORNIA WALNUTS, pound 40c

SHELLED PECANS, lb 60c

SHELLBARK HICKORY NUTS—Quart 10c, ½ peck 15c

BLACK WALNUTS, ½ peck 5c

COCOANUTS—Full of milk, each 7 to 10c

PEANUTS—Fresh Roasted, quart 5c

SALTED PEANUTS, package 10c

Fruits

Oranges—Cheaper than apples—just think of it; we can all eat Oranges this year.

SMALL SIZE—Sweet Florida Oranges, dozen only 12c

MEDIUM SIZE—dozen only 15c

LARGE SIZE—dozen only 20c

SWEET TANGARINE or Kid Glove Oranges, dozen only 25c

FLORIDA GRAPE FRUIT—medium size, only 5c

LARGE SIZE only 8c
Try them—Everybody eats them now.

DATES—New Sweet Golden Dates—pound only 8c, three for 25c

FIGS—Sweet Turkish Layer Figs—Large Size, pound, only 15c
Medium Size, pound only 12½c

LOOSE 3 CROWN RAISINS, lb 8½c

LAYER RAISINS, lb only 10c

CLUSTER RAISINS—large, fat meaty, pound only 15c

SEEDED RAISINS—Full pound box 10c, 3 lbs for 25c

CLEANED CURRANTS, lb only 10c

NEW CORSICAN CITRON—Pound only 20c

ORANGE and LEMON PEEL—Candied, pound only 20c

CRANBERRIES—Quart only 10c, 3 quarts for 25c

Apples, Bananas, Celery, Etc.

DON'T FORGET---"CAPITOL FLOUR."

Golden Blend Coffee, - 20c Pound.

Pure Cream Tartar B. Powder, 30c Pound.

Groceries

Lots of fine things in stock to add to your Christmas Dinner.

OLIVES—Large Queen Olives bottle ..... 10c to 50c

STUFFED Olives, bottle ..... 10c to 25c

MARASCHINO Cherries, ½ pt bot 20c
" " 1 pt bot 40c
" " 1 qt bot 65c

WELCH'S GRAPE Juice, pt bottle ... 25c
" " " qt bottle ... 50c

GREEN LIMA BEANS—Try a can just as good as fresh, only 15c

ROYAL HAWAIAN PINE Apple—Delicious, packed in the orchard—slices just fit the can, large can ... 25c

GARDEN SUGAR BEETS—Extra nice, can only 10c

SUCCOTASH—can only 12c

SWEET POTATOES—Victory brand can only 10c
Mistletoe brand, can 15c

CAVALIER PEAS—This is a snap, can 10c 3 for 25c

LAKESIDE BRAND Pork and Peas—Try them, can 15c

ASPARAGUS TIPS, can 15c 2 for 25c

ASPARAGUS—Tall square can—green ..... 20c; white 25c

ELBO MACARONI—This is good, pound 10c 3 for 25c

N. Y. CREAM CHEESE, lb 20c

NATIONAL CRACKERS & CAKES STONE'S CAKES ..... 10 and 15c

BIRCH CANOE—Fancy Maine Sugar Corn, can 10c, 3 for 25c

HEINZ SWEET PICKLES—Dozen 10c, three for 25c

HEINZ MINCE MEAT, lb 18c

ATMORE'S Best Mince Meat, lb 12c

NONE SUCH Mince Meat, package 10c, three for 25c

ATMORE'S PLUM Pudding, can 20c

Medicines

Just as well lay in a good supply of Medicines for bad weatheo. We save you from 25 to 100 per cent

CASTORIA 23c
SYRUP of FIGS 38c
PERUNA 71c
SWAMP ROOT 71c
QUININE, ounce 50c
SODA PHOSPHATE, lb box 20c
CAPSULES, 100 ..... 8c
EPSOM SALTS, pound 5c
SULPHUR, pound 5c
COPPERAS, pound 3c
ALLCOCK'S POROUS Plasters 2 for 25c
DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS 40c
CUTICURA SOAP 18c
KING'S DISCOVERY 40c
DANDERINE ..... 20c, 40c and 71c
FELLOWS' SYRUP $1.00
ANTIPHLOGISTINE 40c, 75c
VASELINE, pound 25c
BUTTER COLOR 20c
MENNEN'S and COLGATES Talcum Powder 15c
HOT WATER BOTTLES 59c
FOUNTAIN SYRINGE 69c
NIPPLES, each 4c
PRATT'S ROUP Cure 25c
GARFIELD'S TEA 20c
PAZO PILE OINTMENT 40c
PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN 40c
SLOAN'S LINIMENT 20c
GOMBAULT'S CAUSTIC Balsam .. $1.15
STUART'S DYSPEPSIA Tablets 40c
SCOTT'S EMULSION 71c
WINE of CARDUI 71c
BLACK DRAUGHT 20c
BAY RUM, pint 30c
HAND LOTION, ounce 5c

Everything - at - Cut - Rate.

GEO. C. GOODE, Agt., Groceries and Medicines,

N. E. Cor. Pike & Washington, COVINGTON, KY.

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

IDLEWILD.

Dec. 18.—Fraud exists only because men believe it to be profitable.

For Sale—Fresh cow. Apply to T. C. Masters of Ashby, or address him by mail R. D. 1, Petersburg.

Mrs. Marsh, of Versailles, Ind., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gray, returned home Wednesday.

Ed Loniaker moved Tuesday from Happy Hollow to Idlewild into the house vacated by Mr. Johnson.

What is the difference between charity and a tailor? One covers a multitude of sins, the other a multitude of sinners.

T. G. Willis killed hogs, Friday, and Andrew Gaines, today. We judge from the crowd they had a jolly time at each killing.

Give your for sale and want ads to Idlewild correspondent, as everybody reads Idlewild, and an ad planted there usually brings quick results.

Born to Ed Loniaker and wife, Dec. 15th, a bouncing baby boy. Ed is so electrified that he is making much better time in getting in with the mail.

Wanted—A hired man—man with a family. Apply to Wm. Seikman, of Taylorsport. Anyone wanting a position of the kind cannot better themselves.

If everybody phones the news to the editor it will put the correspondents out of business. Any old way, so the Recorder is the newsiest county paper in the State.

Edgar Warford, who was married by Rev. C. V. Brooks at his residence Dec. 7th, married a Cousin, and yet she wasn't his cousin. His wife was a Michigan lady and is a relative of undertaker Stiers, of Aurora, and it was there he made her acquaintance a year ago. I have seen the name spelled Warford and Warfford. Edgar says the proper spelling of the name is Wafford.

BELLEVIEW.

We are experiencing some very cold weather.

Good health prevails in this neighborhood.

Charlie Clore and wife are in Cincinnati where he has a good job.

R. K. Aylor and family are visiting John Humphrey and family in Huntington, Virginia.

J. O. Botts returned, a few days ago, from an extended visit out west among his children.

Andrew Acra, of Middle creek, who has been quite poorly for the past few weeks, is some better.

Joe West is spending time and money on his new purchase of Dode Pope.

Miss Julia S. Dinsmore and her neice, Mrs. S. R. Selms, returned last week from a visit in the northern part of the State.

A merry Christmas and a happy New Year to the editor, staff, correspondents and readers of the dear old Recorder, is the wish of its oldest correspondent.

The Christian Sunday school teacher who, next Sunday, shows the largest attendance in their class during the last quarter, will receive a prize from their Supt.

—o—

RABBIT HASH.

Mrs. Colon Kelly is sick with quinzy.

Mrs. Myra Stephens, who has been very sick, is improving slowly.

Dr. Carlyle returned from Louisville Thursday, after making a short visit.

Mrs. Lou VanNess was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Dolph, of McVille, Friday.

Miss Jennie Riggs will start for Danville, Ill., on Tuesday after Christmas to visit relatives.

Miss Lou Stephens entertained the Bachelor Girls, Thursday evening. A delightful time was had in making decorations and ornaments for the Christmas tree.

Miss Lou Stephens entertained Misses Jennie Riggs, Gladys Ryle and Harriet VanNess and Mr. Clifford Ryle Thursday night. Flinch was the game played. Miss Jennie was champion.

There will be a Christmas tree at the hall here on Christmas eve. Everyone is invited. Admission free. The children are especially invited, as Santa Claus will be there with a gift for every child at or under the age of 13 years.

—o—

HATHAWAY.

Dec. 20.—Five more days until Christmas.

C. B. Mason has moved to Florence.

The butchering act is about completed here.

Lewis Sullivan sold his horse to Manly Ryle one day last week for $130.

W. S. White and wife spent last Wednesday night and Thursday with Edward Brady near Landing.

Mrs. Mary Aylor and son's of near Big Bone church, went to the city last Friday on a shopping tour.

Dame rumor has it that there will be a wedding to report from this vicinity during the next week or so.

J. P. Johnson, of Normansville, will move to the place he recently purchased of J. W. Cunningham near here.

The deacons of Big Bone Baptist church held their regular meeting at the church on Thursday of last week.

Ransom Ryle and family, of East Bend road, spent last Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Will Sebree, near Beech Grove.

Only a few more days in which to shoot quails. We have heard of no person who has killed any great number this season.

A spelling bee was the attraction at Locust Grove last Friday night. A good crowd was in attendance and all enjoyed the fun.

Turkey buyers are paying 16 cents a pound for live turkeys. The crop is somewhat short this season on account of the wet summer.

This writer made a business trip to Normansville last Thursday. While there he saw Kirb Crisler pass with a drove of porkers going to the river to ship them.

BULLITTSVILLE.

Regardless of what is being said by outsiders, the Bullittsville Amusement Company will pay the amount it bid for the piano at the recent sale of the property of Mt. Pleasant Grange to the order from which the instrument was purchased.

—o—

ERLANGER.

Little Russell Earl Carroll is very ill.

Capt. and Mrs. Robert M. Shearer left last week for Chicago.

Mrs. T. Geiger was the guest of Mrs. J. Geiger last Thursday.

Mrs. Charles Gurney entertained the afternoon Club Thursday.

Mrs. Anna Belle Coe is in Norwood, guest of her sister, Mrs. E. Nelson Hight.

Mrs. Willa Kayser, of Sayler Park, Ohio, will be the guest of Miss Margaret Terrill, this week.

The Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of the Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. Southerland, last Thursday.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson was held last Monday from her home on Commonwealth Ave. Rev. J. J. Herget of the 9th street Baptist church had charge of the services.

—o—

ROSEDALE.

Owing to the fact of a larger attendance than usual at Circuit Court last week, the writer, at the request of Judge Cammack, opened ed his house and had the pleasure of entertaining for several days and nights a quartet in which the following states were represented: Indiana, by W. N. Durbin, of Anderson Foundry and Machine works, Anderson, Ind., Illinois, by A. J. Kutz, of Chisholm, Boyd and White county; Chicago, Ga., by P. F. McLaughlin, of Savannah, former employee of A. F. W. Co., and Kentucky by H. B. Mackoy, Atty., of Covington, and representing A. F. W. Co. in the case of said company against the Walton Brick Co. I can truly say, the above named gentlemen were as social, congenial, courteous and entertaining guests that has been my pleasure to know. It was Mr. Mackoy's first appearance before a Boone county jury, and he made quite a favorable impression upon the jury and the bar of this county in the gentlemanly manner in which he practiced law.

DEVON.

Dec. 20.—We are having some fine winter weather.

W. W. Woodward killed hogs Monday.

Most everyone is through with hog killing.

Mrs. W. H. Perry, who has been sick is much better.

Prof. Walter Perry was the guest of his parents, Saturday.

Miss Mary Dixon was real sick with the grip, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss May Sandfords sister was visiting her last Thursday and Friday.

Mr. T. J. Hutsell bought some nice shoats from Oscar Mann. Price $4 per head.

Mr. Wm. Ransler the contractor from Walton, will soon have Mr. Simpsons new house completed.

There will be an entertainment and Christmas tree at the school house Thursday eve. The little folks are anticipating meeting Santa Claus there.

—o—

PT. PLEASANT.

Mrs. J. W. Riggs is visiting relatives at Crescent Springs.

Miss Mabel Huron is the guest of her sister, Miss Dollie Huron.

Hazel Walton entertained Eliza Poston, M. I. Baker and Carl Garnett Sunday.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at Mrs. B. F. McGlasson's Wednesday afternoon. The Society is increasing in members and has plenty of work promised.

A mistake was made last week in the date of the Christmas entertainment which will be given at the church Christmas eve, Dec. 24, at 8 p. m. All are invited.

—o—

HEBRON.

Born, on the 16th, to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ellis, a boy.

The Masons will have an all day meeting here on the 27th.

Greenwood Grange will have its annual meeting on the 29th.

The annual congregational meeting will be held at Hebron church Jan. 1st, at 10 o'clock.

J. H. Mannin and wife spent Saturday and Sunday with Henry Quick and wife, in Ludlow.

The oyster supper Saturday night was quite a success and was well attended considering the weather.

FOR SALE—Fresh cow. Edgar C. Riley, Burlington, Ky.

GUNPOWDER.

There will be appropriate Christmas exercises at Hopeful on Sunday at 1 p. m.

Clint Blankenbeker killed a hawk last week that measured four feet and one inch from tip to tip.

Mrs. Media Tanner, who took seriously sick very suddenly, one day last week, has improved somewhat.

Great preparations are being made for a union Christmas exercise at Florence Christian church Christmas eve.

James Barlow, James Acra and W. P. Beemon shipped a load of sheep, hogs and cattle to Cincinnati last Friday.

Wishing the Recorder, its correspondents and its readers a merry Christmas and happy and prosperous New Year, I am as ever your friend.

J. H. Aylor received a horse from Bracht Station, last week, which he purchased some time since thus adding another to his stable of prize winners.

L. M. Rouse, of Union neighborhood, was delivering some beef in our burg, last Friday, and presented this writer with a choice roast for which we are very thankful.

—o—

FLORENCE.

J. G. Renaker spent Saturday night and Sunday in the city.

Mrs. Fannie Clutterbuck entertained several at dinner, Wednesday.

Miss Lorena Hafer was the guest of her grandparents a few days last week.

Mrs. Charles Fulton is spending Christmas with relatives at Maysville.

Mrs. Sallie Fulton entertained Rev. Campbell and wife Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. R. P. Rice has returned from the hospital, where she has been for several weeks.

Mrs. Carl Clutterbuck is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McKenney, at Erlanger.

Wallace Tanner lost a fur glove between Florence and Erlanger. Finder will please return it to him.

Mrs. Henry Tanner and daughter, Coreta and Arminta, were the guests of Edgar Aylor and wife, Monday.

There will be an entertainment and Christmas tree at the Christian church here, Friday evening, Dec. 24th, at 7 o'clock.

THE RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. - KENTUCKY

IMPORTANT NEWS NOTES OF A WEEK

LATEST HAPPENINGS THE WORLD OVER TOLD IN ITEMIZED FORM.

EVENTS HERE AND THERE

Condensed Into a Few Lines for the Perusal of the Busy Man—Latest Personal Information.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Horace B. Taft, wife of a brother of President Taft, died at the Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, where she had been a patient of Dr. Harvey Cushing. At the hospital all information relative to the case was refused.

George Parish, an English expert on statistics, who is in New York, says England is the greatest money-lender in the world and the United States is the greatest borrower in the world. He places the wealth of Great Britain at $1,775 per capita and of the United States at $1,310 per capita.

Gen. W. W. Dudley of Indiana, formerly commissioner of pensions, died at Washington of Bright's disease.

John E. Berwynd, the millionaire coal man, has given $100,000 in New York for the care of poor women about to become mothers and the treatment of infants during the first weeks of their lives.

Emmett Delton Williams, a direct descendant of Roger Williams, founder of Rhode Island, died at his home at Kansas City, Mo., aged 54. He was president of a paint company.

Charles N. Crittenton, founder of rescue missions in many cities, left an estate of $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 at New York. Half of his wealth is bequeathed to the missions.

President Taft nominated Judge John Harmon Lurton of Tennessee to be an associate judge of the supreme court of the United States, and George A. Carpenter of Chicago for United States district judge in the northern district of Illinois to succeed Judge Bethea, deceased.

GENERAL NEWS.

Knights of Columbus from all parts of the country will make a pilgrimage next August to Rome and Genoa, the birthplace of Christopher Columbus, according to an announcement made in New York.

Sensational charges of manipulation of funds and the reckless expenditure of money of the Federal Life Insurance Company, an Illinois old line concern, are made in an affidavit filed in the circuit court at Chicago by Burton D. Smith, a stockholder and former director of the company. Isaac Hamilton Miller, president of the company, is accused of borrowing from its funds, using dummies in securing other loans and in using money of the company to finance other companies he is interested in.

The bodies of two men, blown to pieces by some high explosive, were found near Tulsa, Okla. They are believed to have been bank robbers, killed accidentally by dynamite they carried to blow safes.

Two girls are missing and 14 others narrowly escaped death in a fire, which destroyed the six-story factory building of Schrack & Sherwood, manufacturers of coffins and undertakers' supplies at Philadelphia. The monetary loss is estimated at $250,000.

Charles Bowler of Asbury Park, N. J., decided to save a few dollars by repairing his own automobile. He is in bed with painful injuries. While searching for a leak with a lighted match he was blown through the side of the garage and auto and garage were both wrecked.

A report on steerage conditions, based on information obtained by special agents of the immigration commission, traveling as steerage passengers on different trans-Atlantic steamers, was made public at Washington through presentation to the senate with recommendations for legislation to better conditions. Conditions found in many of these vessels are described as appalling.

The death of King Leopold is imminent. He had a serious relapse and is being kept alive through artificial means. Court circles have practically no hope of the patient's recovery.

Gen. Estrada's troops had a sharp encounter with the Zelayan forces at Rama. Reports sent out by the government claim a sweeping victory, but this is doubted in some quarters, as the Zelaya partisans control all the telegraph lines and confirmation is next to impossible.

The steamer Jesse Spalding is safe at Harbor Beach, Mich., where it sought shelter from the storm. It was feared the vessel had gone down.

Although a reward of $3,000 has been offered for the finding of Alma Kellner, the Louisville girl, the police are still without a clew.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway has just been awarded a gold medal for the large map of the United States exhibited by that company at the Golden West exhibition, Earl's court, London, last summer. This map was over forty-nine feet in length and over thirteen feet in height.

Head hunters of the Solomon Islands are on the warpath because of marriages between their women and white men, according to news from the antipodes, brought by the Royal Mail steamer Aorangi.

The bonded debt of New York city has reached $1,000,000,000, according to a report issued by the comptroller. This amount, however, includes more than $200,000,000 held by the city sinking fund.

After sending his resignation to the Nicaraguan congress, President Zelaya sent a conciliatory cablegram to President Taft, saying that he had shown his good faith by resigning in order that Nicaragua might resume friendly relations with the United States. He added that he proposed to leave the country, but stood ready to account for his acts as president.

The "white slavery" issue was brought before the house at Washington in tangible form when a drastic compromise bill was reported from the immigration committee. The bill imposes imprisonment and a heavy fine for any person importing women into this country for immoral purposes or harboring them after their arrival here.

Joseph Bergin, a business man of Burlington, Ia., was brought to Joliet, Ill., on extradition papers issued by Gov. Deneen and honored by Gov. Carroll of Iowa to answer to the charge of bigamy. Bergin was married recently to Miss Olive Lord, a prominent young woman of Plainfield, Ill., and is alleged to have another wife living at Burlington.

It is learned at Copenhagen that Captain Loose's statement has been compared with Dr. Cook's and various points literally correspond. The general opinion in university circles is that the committee will withhold the acceptance of Cook's claims on the basis that they have not been substantiated.

Attorney General W. H. Stead uttered a withering arraignment of the Illinois Central railroad in the hearing of the great suit of the state of Illinois at Springfield, Ill., to compel an accounting from the road since 1877 and to pay taxes amounting to $30,000,000, which it is charged the Illinois Central evaded paying through fraud.

A jury found guilty five of the six employes of the American Sugar Refining Company who have been on trial for the past three weeks charged with criminal conspiracy to defraud the government of customs duties on imported raw sugar. In the case of James F. Bendernagel, a former cashier of the company's Williamsburg plant, the jury disagreed.

The American grip on Bluefields, Nicaragua, was tightened when Commander Shipley of the cruiser Des Moines issued a proclamation formally stating that no fighting would be allowed at Bluefields. Taken in connection with the rushing of 700 marines to Corinto, the order of Captain Shipley is construed practically as a move toward occupation.

The filing of the will of King Leopold shows that he divided $3,000,000 between his three daughters, Princess Louise, Princess Stephanie and Princess Clementine. This practical disinheritance of his children signalizes the beginning of a gigantic legal battle to obtain the king's wealth similar to that which ensued on the death of their mother, Queen Henrietta. The exact amount of Leopold's fortune probably never will be revealed.

Mrs. Maud W. Johnson, on trial at Seattle, accused of being a professional claimant, was identified by a number of railway claim agents as a woman who collected damages from them in various cities.

Pursuant to the call of Chairman H. B. Perham, the railroad employes' department of the American Federation of Labor met in St. Paul, Minn., to take up the switchmen's strike.

Capt. B. S. Osbon of New York, secretary of the Arctic club, announced that Capt. August W. Loose's story that he had faked polar records for Dr. Cook was concocted for sale without regard to the truth. Capt. Osbon declared Capt. Loose has admitted his affidavit as published in a New York newspaper had no foundation in fact. Capt. Loose denies this alleged verbal confession with the statement that he was offered $4,000 if he would contradict his affidavit. He says he spurned the offer and stands by his original story that he supplied fake records to Dr. Cook.

Following the payment by Arbuckle Bros. of nearly $700,000 to reimburse the United States treasury for deficits due to false weighing, it was announced that the National Sugar Refining Company is prepared to settle with the government as the Arbuckles have done as soon as it has been officially informed of the amount the government claimed to be due.

Three sisters now occupy separate cells at East Orange, N. J., charged with the murder of Osey Snead, who was found dead in a bathtub. Her mother is one of the accused, her two aunts are the others.

Leopold II., king of the Belgians, is dead. The end came as a surprise even to the physicians in attendance. The aged and wasted body of the monarch was unable to stand the great strain to which it was subjected.

A feat in engineering is the construction of a siphon 14 feet in diameter under the Colorado river to carry water for 14 miles and irrigate 55,000 acres in the Yuma valley.

A loss of $200,000 was caused by a fire that burned the Grand opera house building in Peoria, Ill.

A plot of ground bought by the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian church in New York 50 years ago for $45,000 has been sold for $650,000.

The navy department has asked congress for $100,000 for the equipment of the training station at North Chicago.

BIG HOLIDAY TRADE

Records Being Made For Volume of Business in Many Parts of the Country.

New York.—Bradstreet's says: Retail and holiday trade has been helped by seasonable weather and the approach of Christmas, and makes good comparisons with preceding years, a few markets, in fact, reporting a record turn-over for the season. Best reports come from the north and west, but southern trade also shows expansion, though this class of buying is not yet at its fullest. Jobbing trade reports are cheerful, with special stress laid upon the volume of reassorting demand to fill broken stocks. Wholesale trade and demand from manufacturers tend to quiet as the stock-taking period approaches, but order books for future delivery are well filled.

In many lines of raw materials there is a tendency to quiet down and to postpone buying till after the new year, but it is to be noted that while iron and steel are rather quiet so far as new business is concerned, and pig iron shows weakness, the volume of specifications on orders expiring with the year is very full. Industrial operations are still very active on old orders, examples of this being furnished by manufacturers of crude and finished iron and steel.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending with December 16 were 273, against 259 last week, 311 in the same week of 1908, 300 in 1907, 227 in 1906 and 235 in 1905.

Business failures in Canada for the week number 33, which contrasts with 30 last week and 31 in the same week of 1908.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending December 16, aggregate 3,845,258 bush, against 3,990,457 bush last week and 5,645,286 bush this week last year. For the 24 weeks ending December 16 exports are 80,270,705 bush, against 107,822,467 bush in the same period last year.

Corn exports for the week are 1,078,625 bush, against 569,924 bush last week and 1,660,120 bush in 1908. For the 24 weeks ending December 16 corn exports are 5,694,498 bush, against 8,043,330 bush last year.

High Prices Now Accepted As Certain.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The year is closing with the volume of business back to more than the normal point and with confidence fully restored. The prevailing high commodity prices indeed produce considerable irregularity, and there is much discussion among close students of economic conditions as to their effect on the money market and the industrial and labor situation. But the business world seems to be adjusting itself to the conviction that an area of high prices has set in to continue for an indefinite period. The sustained value of raw cotton, following the Government cotton report, has confirmed selling prices of cotton goods, and additional advances are made in bleached goods, denims, colored, cotton and wide print cloths for converting purposes. Men's wear lines for fall 1910 are about ready and staple overcoatings have been opened at prices ranging from 10 to 20 per cent advance over last fall in lines offered by the large producers. The lower priced lines show the least proportional increase.

A good volume of business is received by New England shoe factories, and most of them are busy. Heavy shipments reflect a substantial increase in footwear production. All kinds of leather are only moderately active, but the prices hold firm throughout the market. Sole leather is especially moderate supply. Dullness continues to pervade the hide market, especially in packer stock, as prices are above the tanners' views.

An advance of $1 per ton on wire nails and other wire products became effective last Saturday, and the present level is now $5 a ton above the low point touched last May, although still $4 under prevailing prices a year ago. Some seasonable curtailment of demand for finished products is apparent, but consumers continue to specify heavily against contracts expiring at the end of the current month, and there is promise of extensive buying during the first half of 1910.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Dec. 18.—Flour—Market firm; winter patent $5.75@6.10, spring patent $6.75@6.10, rye $4.70@4.90. Wheat—Fair and easier. No. 2 red $1.28@1.30, No. 3 red $1.18@1.25. Corn—Market easier, demand fair; No. 2 white 62@62½c, No. 2 mixed, 61½@62c. Oats—Firmer; No. 2 white 48½@49c, No. 2 mixed $47@47½c. Hay—Receipts light, market steady; No. 1 timothy $15.75@16.25, No. 1 clover mixed $14.50@15, No. 1 clover $15.75@16.25. Rye—Steady; No. 2, 77@79c. Mill Feed—Bran $21.50@22.50, middlings $24.50@26.50.

Live Stock Markets.

Cincinnati, Dec. 18.—Cattle—Receipts 470 head; market quiet; extra $5.60@5.85, good to choice $4.85@5.60, heifers, extra $5.25@5.35; cows, extra $4.65@4.75. Calves—Market weak and lower; extra $8.50@8.75, fair to good $6.50@8.50. Hogs—Receipts 2,749 head; market active; good to choice butchers $8.45@8.50, mixed packers 8.15@8.40, pigs (110 lbs. and less) $5.50@7.75. Sheep—Receipts 427 head; market slow; extra $5.25, good to choice $4.50@5.75. Lambs—Extra $7.75, good to choice $7.25@7.65.

"MOIETY" CLAIMED BY RICHARD PARR

For Exposing Big Sugar Duty Frauds May Reach the Sum of One Million Dollars.

New York.—William Loeb, jr., collector of the port of New York, has approved the claim to moiety by Richard Parr, the deputy collector and original informer in the sugar frauds, on the $2,135,148 paid into the United States treasury by the American Sugar Refining Co. as restitution for duties evaded by underweighing.

According to the statutes regulating such awards, Parr will receive "not exceeding in amount one-half of the net proceeds," which will mean in this case, if the claim is approved by the treasury department, approximately $1,000,000.

Mr. Loeb approved the claim only after a thorough investigation by Harrison Osborn, solicitor of the customs.

He said that the claim was valid in that Parr on November 26, 1907, discovered a steel spring which was used by the company's checkers to influence the weight of draughts of sugar adversely. This laid bare the scheme to defraud, and it was due to the evidence obtained as the consequence of the events of November 20 that the jury, in the civil suit against the company last spring, gave a verdict of guilty, which was followed by the paying of the penalty, $135,486.32, and the restitution of $2,000,000 following.

Parr is not the only claimant for the award. He has had a serious rival in Edwin I. Anderson, another customs employe, but the inference is that Parr will win out, for the treasury department has ratified practically every move of Mr. Loeb in the various sugar scandals.

There is some conflicting of statutes concerning payments of this character, but it is said that in any event Parr will receive 30 per cent of the amount named, or approximately $700,000. Parr was seen at his home and confirmed the report that Mr. Osborne has acted favorably on his claim, and that Mr. Loeb had ratified the decision.

"I don't know exactly how much I will receive," said Parr. "In exceptional cases the government awards 50 per cent, but more usually 30 to 35. All the other claims were before the solicitor, but the fact that mine was upheld speaks for itself."

"Moiety," as used in connection with the claim, denotes a part or portion of, as the definition of the word indicates. The statutes prescribe: "That whenever any officer of the customs, or other person, shall detect and seize goods, wares or merchandise, in the act of being smuggled, he shall be entitled to such compensation therefor as the secretary of the treasury shall award."

It was largely upon Parr's evidence as the discoverer of the steel spring that five former employes of the American Sugar Refining Co. were convicted here. At present he has charge of the weighing department of the customs service.

FLYER DITCHED ON CURVE

Engineer and Fireman Killed Beneath the Debris—Score of Passengers Hurt.

Tucson, Ariz.—The Rock Island flyer on the Southern Pacific went into the ditch near Benson, Ariz., killing two and injuring 30.

The accident was caused by taking a sharp curve at high speed, the engine, tender, mail and the baggage cars, chair car and tourist sleeper going straight ahead into the ditch. The sleeper kept the track and ran about 500 yards beyond the wreck.

The engine turned completely over and buried the engineer and fireman and both met instant death.

The mail clerks were all badly scalded and otherwise injured. The baggage car, chair car and tourist sleeper turned on their sides, but were not demolished.

Toy Stove Exploded.

East St. Louis, Ill.—Minnie Comin, aged 6, was burned to death; her mother, Mrs. Katherine Comin, injured fatally, and her father hurt badly when a toy stove exploded. The child started to build a fire in the stove and when she applied a match the stove cracked and exploded. The burning oil flew over the child's dress and she ran screaming to her mother. In trying to extinguish the flames the mother picked the little girl up and rushed out into the front yard. In doing so her own clothes ignited. The husband and father, Edward Comin, heard the screams and with difficulty put out the flames.

Tobacco Market.

Lexington, Dec. 18.—Sales for the week were 1,986,965 lbs., at an average of 14c. Total sales for season 9,500,000 lbs. Flyings $9@14, trash $1@17, lugs $12.50@16, bright leaf $14@25, red winter $16, tips $8@12, green and damaged $7@9.

Manager Theatrical Company Slain.

Mabem, Miss.—Charles Evans, manager of a theatrical company, is dead, and Harry Johnson is wounded as a result of a street fight, which ended in a three-cornered struggle for the weapon that did all the damage.

Train Struck By Snow Plow.

Denver, Col.—A Rio Grande train on the Crested Butte branch was lost in a snowstorm. A snow plow with three engines back of it collided with the train buried in the snow. Three men were killed.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. B. PIPER.

Phone, M. 2393.

The Applegate-Piper Co.

MERCHANT TAILORS.

Room 610, Traction Building.

Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,

BURLINGTON, KY.

The Oldest Bank in Boone County,

PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,

With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR

THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.

17c Pound---6 pounds for $1.00.

This is what everyone likes--
The Green---8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR

Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.

Geo. W. Hill & Co.,

27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,

Covington, - - Ky.

M. L. Swetnam Clarenc E. Swetnam Russell E. Swetnam

M. L. Swetnam & Sons,

UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,

15 to 21 E. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.

Phone South 170. FREE AMBULANCE.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,

WALTON, KY.

Embalmer & Funeral Director,

LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.

First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.

Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.

Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,

Funeral Director & Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.

First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.

I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.

Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.

Leave Order at J. C. [illegible] Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP TO

C. C. SEAL & CO.

Union Stock Yards,

CINCINNATI. • • OHIO

And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.

J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.

General Merchants,

BELLEVUE, KY.

Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.

Coal Kept in the Yard.

Country Produce taken in Trade.

OMINOUS GESTURE.

"So your fiancee is smaller than you."

"Yes, she comes up just to there."

SORE EYES CURED.

Eye-Balls and Lids Became Terribly Inflamed—Was Unable to Go About —All Other Treatments Failed, But Cuticura Proved Successful.

"About two years ago my eyes got in such a condition that I was unable to go about. They were terribly inflamed, both the balls and lids. I tried home remedies without relief. Then I decided to go to our family physician, but he didn't help them. Then I tried two more of our most prominent physicians, but my eyes grew continually worse. At this time a friend of mine advised me to try Cuticura Ointment, and after using it about one week my eyes were considerably improved, and in two weeks they were almost well. They have never given me any trouble since and I am now sixty-five years old. I shall always praise Cuticura. G. B. Halsey, Mouth of Wilson, Va., Apr. 4, 1908."

Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Public Sentiment Aroused.

Every state west of the Mississippi except Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and New Mexico has now joined the fight against tuberculosis. State sanitoria for the treatment of tuberculosis patients have been now established in Minnesota, Idaho, Missouri, Arkansas, North Dakota, South Dakota and Oregon. State Anti-Tuberculosis associations have been organized and are at work in Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona, Montana, North Dakota, Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana. In all these states, strenuous efforts to wipe out tuberculosis are being taken.

Diet of the Old.

A sane diet for a person of 70 or 75 should be made up largely of vegetables and fruit, some fish, some eggs, a little meat and simple cereals, if there is no inclination toward obesity.

Drinking with one's meals is not considered advisable, especially as liquids are apt to wash down the food before it is properly masticated. Two quarts of water, or more, should be taken between meals, however, during the day. Hot water is especially good for one who does not exercise much, as it flushes out the entire system. Stimulants, such as tea and coffee, should not be very strong.—Harper's Bazar.

Just Married.

Gwendolyn seemed a bit unhappy. "What is it, dearest?" murmured Harry solicitously.

"I was merely thinking how terrible it would have been!" said Gwendolyn, with a shudder.

"Terrible? What would have been terrible?" gasped Harry.

"Oh," returned Gwendolyn, "if your father and mother had never met! Or mine had never met! Or we'd never have been born! Or hadn't loved each other—or, Harry—Oh! wouldn't it have been too terrible!"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

STATE OF OHIO CITY OF TOLEDO. } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & CO., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D., 1886.

{ SEAL } A. W. GLEASON, NOTARY PUBLIC.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists, 75c.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Then the Scissors Cut In.

"You may be sharp," said the thread in the needle, "but I notice you are always getting it in the eye."

"Oh, I don't know," answered the needle, "I notice that whenever you get in a hole I have to pull you through."

"Hush up, you two," cried the thimble. "If it wasn't for my push you would neither of you get along."

Important to Mothers.

Examine carefully every bottle of CASTORIA, a safe and sure remedy for infants and children, and see that it

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over 30 Years.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Disapproval.

"What makes those two women turn up their noses at each other so superciliously?"

"Possibly," replied Miss Cayenne, "each got a glimpse of the current novel the other was reading."

DO NOT ACCEPT A SUBSTITUTE when you want Perry Davis Painkiller, as nothing is as good for rheumatism, neuralgia and similar troubles. 70 years in constant use. 25c, 35c and 50c.

The man who can maintain a reputation for wisdom in the presence of a youth just out of college is a wonder.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.
For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

We don't blame a man for growling if his wife treats him like a dog.

The New Year

WHAT ITS SIGNS OF PROMISE ARE

by REV. WM. GARDAM.

NEW HOPES, ASPIRATIONS AND AMBITIONS SPRING UP IN THE HEART ON THE FIRST DAY OF THE YEAR.

NEW YEAR'S DAY has ever occupied a peculiar relation to the three hundred and sixty-five days on which are etched the doings and history of a whole calendar year. The Romans observed the day as a public holiday, and on this day all litigation and strife were suspended, social visits were exchanged, presents were given and received, and feasting throughout the empire was the order of the day. The early Christians at first set themselves against the usages of the day as observed by the Romans until the fixing of Christmas day on the 25th of December, and New Year's day came to be observed as the octave of the Nativity and also as the Festival of the Circumcision.

The observance and spirit of the day have not changed very greatly in the onrush of the centuries. We might go back across the long stretch of years between the day we live in and the day when the Romans interchanged their social visits and their good wishes and both gave and received their strenae, and between the then and the now the identity of feeling, emotion and sentiment concerning this day is readily discovered.

So many sentiments crowd themselves into New Year's day and all are mostly children in the way in which the day appears to them and in the simple feelings and emotions by which it is observed. The greeting: "A Happy New Year!" pushes up through the hard strata of the year, and the simple emotions, which make the whole world kin, bring friend nearer to friend and melt life together into a richer affection, and good will becomes the keynote of life on this day. Grudges are dropped, resentments dissolved, and the average man with the average endowment of affection for his fellows finds it almost impossible to vitalize any of his hatreds through the emotion-laden moments of New Year's day. The personal life has many things to say to itself; it is at once a closing of accounts and the opening of a new career. Old things pass away and all things seem to become new. The things that might have been and have not become are forgotten in the new hopes and aspirations and ambitions which spring up in the heart on the first day of the year.

Of course, nobody will ever be what the hopes and faith of the day project for the individual life. The most ardent believer in the better day, the most sanguine architect of the richer fortune yet to be will fall short of the ideal that controls his imagination. But the very fact that the day stirs these noble impulses and floods the prospective days with the glow of hope is in itself an assurance that the year shall be rich in the gifts and the good will of the gods.

Another year! another year!
The increasing rush of time sweeps on!
Wheim'd in its surges, disappear
Man's hopes and fears—forever gone!

Oh, no! forbear that idle tale!
The hour demands another strain,
Demands high thoughts that cannot quail,
And strength to conquer and retain.

'Tis midnight—from the dark blue sky
The stars, which now look down on earth
Have seen ten thousand centuries fly,
And given to countless changes birth.

Shine on! shine on! With you I tread
The march of aces, orbs of light!
A last eclipse o'er you may spread—
To me, to me, there comes no night!

The sentiment that phrases itself in the quite depressing words:

The world is very evil,
The times are wearing late, is hardly in tune with the modern spirit when life is thought of as a corporate business and this modern spirit takes account of its own enlarged and enlarging kingdom.

Not the most credulous and believing prophet a generation ago could have forecast the world we know and are perfectly at home with to-day. Bulwer Lytton in his short book, "The Coming Race," endeavored to tell the story and achievement of mankind in the day that was shortly to be, but his seeming impossible world has been more than realized in our own day. The half has not been told. The great note of the day is the large grasp human life possesses over its own career and destiny, the growing confidence that this old yet ever renewing world is solving its own problems, and, under the guiding of that Providence which Pope's well-known lines so beautifully express;

All nature is but art, unknown to thee;
All chance, direction, which thou canst not see.
All discord, harmony, not understood;
All partial evil, universal good, is working for the day of a perfectly ordered and perfectly adjusted civilization. The greater power man is accumulating and employing over his own bodily life, his mastery of the secrets of life which have been hid from the foundation of the world, the realization that man himself is his own providence in a vastly larger degree than hitherto he has dreamed of, and that the "greater things" the greatest of all Teachers foretold ages ago that he should be endowed with competence to do—these he is doing in this very day with a miraculous confidence and a mighty faith. He has discovered that his own commission over life, over the happiness and health and the fruitage of the life that now is, as well as of that which is to come, is a vastly larger commission than the world hitherto has dreamed of. He is finding out that Providence is a partnership and that no man may be a sleeping partner in the business of living without the penalty of losing the very thing that life is—a world of potencies converted into achievement.

This is the note, surely, as civilization faces the year 1910—the note of competency, the sense of added powers to life, the feeling that the greater things are coming on the earth, and that man is using the key to unlock the treasure-house of his own life with a sureness and a wisdom that give promise of a vastly better, richer, juster universe than he has yet known.

Another note of our time is the fact that life mirrors itself in such a wonderful way and the things and forces that make for the better day to be are known and read of all men. We live in the open, and no man may become champion of any cause and keep the world in ignorance of the character of the cause and the nature of his championship. No man to-day may hide his light under a bushel. It is a tell tale world, and, more than any past time, the world to-day has a juster sense of values and knows both the things that are saving it and the things also that threaten and endanger it. Public service was never so responsible as it is to-day, because civilization never had the almost miraculous power of analyzing and testing the value of public service as in this present year. Public life is an open book and the most impossible of all impossible things to-day is that any national or international movement should be misunderstood or misinterpreted by the world's best mind. And what is true of public movements is true of public men. No public man can deceive his constituents to-day, for his constituents are the world. And the strong man to-day is the man who frankly recognizes this.

Startling Figures.

The lives of all the 85,500,000 residents of the United States are worth $250,000,000,000.

Unnecessary deaths every year cost in capitalized earnings, $1,000,000,000.

Workmen's illness annually costs in wages $500,000,000.

Care of the sick and dead every year costs $160,000,000.

Tuberculosis taxes the nation $1,000,000,000, annually.

Typhoid fever costs $350,000,000

Malaria costs $200,000,000

HOW TO MAKE NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

RESOLUTION FOR YOUNG WOMEN

NOT SO ERUDIT ON DRAINING A DANGLING FRAYON A RAG'S

RESOLUTION FOR YOUNG MEN

NOT TO SMOKE A PIPE IN CHURCH

STRIKE up the band, here comes the good resolution. Let the whistles blow their heads off, let the bells ring out, let the fog horn on the lake front shatter the atmosphere to atoms, let the similar gladsome noises be let loose upon the vibrant ozone even in the uttermost corners of our beautiful city. For the good resolution is marching forward. Only a few days more and we will bask in its splendid presence.

Like the village drum major it comes proudly prancing toward us through the week. Get a seat early and avoid the crowd if you would behold it in its glory. Keep your eyes glued to the splendid spectacle, keep your ears open for the lofty sounds, for it will not be long in passing

It's safe to say that if all the high resolves that go into effect on New Year's day had half the endurance of a Marathon runner the millennium would come so fast that we'd have to enact new speed laws to keep it from melting the asphalt.

If good resolutions were salt mackerel what a universal thirst would spread abroad!

Human experience seems to indicate that progress in any line is necessarily gradual. Take the flying machine, for instance. At present the scientists engaged in the development of this interesting device are in a position to assert that many of their problems are already solved. They can get up into the air without the aid of dynamite and they can come down again with practically no effort. Of course there are other difficulties to be overcome such as the tendency on the part of the machine to select its own time and place for coming down. But these problems are minor and doubtless the answer is in the book somewhere if they can only find it.

The practice of resolving presents a similar aspect. It is not entirely perfect at present. But considering the few years since Adam inaugurated the outdoor sleeping fad and became grandpa to the human race it is not surprising that some details are still to be worked out. The forming of the resolution has been beautifully worked out, till almost any one, the merest novice, can resolve. The date, too, has been firmly fixed as on the first of January. The chief difficulty that still remains has to do with keeping the resolution once it is made. Something like keeping your aeroplane right side up once you have established a neighborly relation with the stars.

Probably several years will elapse before the custom of resolving reaches perfection and in the meantime it might be well to adopt a makeshift for the present unattainable.

It would seem as if the difficulty might be minimized by more attention to the subjects taken for resolving purposes. It is well to use care in selecting our resolutions, and because of the proximity of January 1, a few suggestions may not be out of place.

For a young woman—Try this one. "I hereby resolve with earnestness to no longer insist on grandma wearing French heels." There are several advantageous features to this resolution. To begin with it is humane. Just think of forcing the poor old lady to teeter down the street with little church steeples under her sole leather! Her silver locks bob under her dignified black bonnet and at every painful step she whispers "Ouch." Fie upon you! Shamey! Remember grandma is not so young as she once was and the penitential efficiency of a bunion is greatly enhanced by the shoving forward of the foot as accomplished by the French heel. Command the old lady to do a cake-walk once an hour around the dining room table if you will, but let her do it in comfortable shoes. Another item in favor of trying this resolution is the fact that you have probably never asked grandma to wear any kind of shoes she didn't like, so it should be that much easier to keep to your resolution not to do so.

For a young man—"I resolve from this day never again to smoke a pipe in church." This sample is highly recommended. The practice against which you issue the edict of banishment is reprehensible in the highest degree. Smoking, while of course it might be a solace to you during the sermon, could not but annoy your neighbors and fellow worshipers. The men envy you, leading to countless domestic difficulties for them. The preacher is unable to see whether all the deacons are awake or not by the haze from your pipe. Moreover, just as a distinguished statesman once officially declared that the odor of cigarettes annoyed him there are those to whom the smell of a pipe is a nuisance and the offertory collector might be one of these. Besides, you would probably be thrown out or arrested or something.

For men who ride much in street cars "henceforth I will not mind the feathers." This is one requiring considerable care—but if strictly adhered to will be found of great assistance in your daily life. When depending from a strap and resting your toes on some neighbor's a long stiff quill suddenly jabs you in the nose giving to that feature the rich red that which another class of resolvists have already acquired, do not release your temper. Smile and pretend you like it. Oftimes you can make yourself believe it, after due practice, of course. But the principal advantage to be cited in this resolution's favor is that "you might just as well." So long as the fashion remains the same you will have your daily communion with the tail feathers of an ostrich or of a rooster and if you resolve not to mind, how much more placid the temper!

For any one who does not raise chickens—"I hereby resolve and determine not to eat any more strictly fresh eggs for several weeks to come." This is in some respects the prize resolution. Its advantages are many, but all the others are overshadowed by this one—you can't get any to eat.

In spite of all the teacher may do the pupil will not learn unless he himself studies. You cannot make successful use of these sample resolutions without effort on your part. But you should find one among them which can be kept with the minimum of struggle. If you have no choice or you are skeptical as to your ability, try the last one.

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

J. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2020. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL..... $50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
INCORPORATED 1893.
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in..... $50,000
Surplus,.. ..... $8,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
208 F. & T. Bank Building.
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
HITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is 59 cts, less than one per cent per $1,000
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V Pres., Gunpowder, "
F. A Utz, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., "
R. F. D. 1 Ludlow, Ky.
R B Buer, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, "
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Warerooms
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
BA POPE Agent, Walton, Ky.

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me
Write for printed list

The new two million dollar State House at Frankfort barely escaped being wrecked, last Saturday, by a premature explosion of dynamite being used by workmen who were excavating near the building.

In a recent opinion rendered by the court of appeals it is held that where property is sold by the sheriff for taxes the State holds a fee simple title therein for seventeen years, if the property is not disposed of by the State during that time.

It is reported that as high as twenty-eight jugs of whiskey reach this town a day coming from outside the state. This is certainly a bad law that allows other states to do what is forbidden by our own people, thereby taking the money to other states. —Owen Democrat.

Louis Lanvermeyer, the Washington township farmer, who was brutally assaulted by three men near Aurora, recently, as stated in last week's Press, swore out warrants for the arrest of John W. Kinnett, of Ohio county and Frank Kinnett and Harry Edwards of this county.—Lawrenceburg Press.

Alfred Pate, a well known farmer residing on Laughery creek about six miles above Milton, Dearborn county, Indiana, caught his left hand in a horsepower cutting box which he was operating. His hand was cut off, and the arm was so badly mangled as to necessitate amputation midway between the wrist and elbow.

In his report to the Auditor on November 15th, last, Capt. Noel Gaines as inspector, goes after the distilleries and warehouses, pretty strong. He says the State has been defrauded out of $250,000 taxes due it from its 147 warehouses and distilleries. He says whisky is not assessed according to law, and charges that in one year a distillery designated in his report will defraud the State out of $39,533. The next General Assembly should call Capt. Gaines before it, and secure the facts as a data upon which to base a law that will compel the whisky manufactured in Kentucky to pay its share of the taxes. He will be glad of an opportunity to assist the legislature along that line.

RICHWOOD.

Our new merchants are at home to their friends.

Woodford Carpenter lost a nice horse, last week.

Miss Gladys Carpenter is out after a siege with bronchitis.

W. E. Glacken killed a hog Saturday that weighed 500 pounds.

Cary Carpenter's horse was severely hurt by corking itself.

John Powers is about well after a tussle with a fractured rib.

Walter Robinson is back on the mail route after a few weeks' absence.

James Donnely and others shipped a carload of hogs from here, Monday.

Miss Grace Anderson's school will give an entertainment and Christmas tree at Excelsior Grange Wednesday evening the 22d.

Lewis Lampton, who was so badly frozen near Independence, was raised here and is a brother of Mrs. John Ransler. He is still in a precarious condition, but the doctor has hopes for his complete recovery.

Here's wishing the Recorder's staff and ruler devil and all, with its hosts of readers far and near, a very merry Christmas and a most happy New Year.

PETERSBURG.

Anyone wishing to donate clothing, either new or worn, provisions, or money, can send by me, if they wish, as I intend to visit the Orphans' Home at Louisville, Christmas day. John C. Sebree.

Thomas Fowler, nephew of Mrs. J. F. Blythe, and Miss Maude Hume, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Hume, eloped last Friday evening about 6:30 o'clock. A telegram and a letter received from them, last Sunday, stated that they were married in Indianapolis. They tried in Cincinnati, Covington, Newport, and Lawrenceburg, but failed to secure a license. Mr. Hume was not at home when they eloped, but started in pursuit of them as soon as he was informed of what had happened. He arrived home last Monday evening having been unable to locate them.

If the Indians continue to increase and prosper, the time will soon come when the government will cease to treat them as wards. The present Indian population is in excess of three hundred thousand, or nearly forty thousand more than when the last census was taken. The number of taxed Indians in 1900 was almost double the number in 1890. "Playing Indian," if the sport keeps up with the times, may become a game of managing a successful farm instead of scalping white settlers.

The honor roll for the third month of the Boone County High School is as follows: 3d year—J. Huey, 95 2-3; Alice Carver, 95+; 2d year—Ruth Kelly, 90 4 5; 1st year—Pauline Kelly 92+. Robert McGlasson 91+. These grades are based up the most exact grading of monthly examination papers. EVERETT L. DIX, Prin'l.

Lost—Near Lee Cropper', on the way home, a fine fur glove. The finder will please return to Dr. E. W. Duncan, Burlington.

Ellen Clarkson, colored, 40 years an inmate of the county infirmary, died there a few days ago.

The protracted which Revs. Bradley and Gaines are engaged in will close tonight.

GET READY FOR THE

Xmas Holidays

By making your purchases at BALDON'S, where you will find Quantity and Quality to select from,

Cranberries, Prunes, Peaches, canned and dried,
Mince Meat, Dates, Figs, Raisins, Oranges, Bananas,
Nuts of all kinds, a fine assortment of Candies,
Nice line of Stationery, suitable for Xmas presents,
New Crop of Southern Syrup Molasses—very fine.

Nice Line of Fire Works.

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

The Crecellus Law and Little McChord Bill.

At the last meeting of the District Board of the Burley Tobacco Society, December 7, 8 and 9, a resolution was passed to ask all newspapers in the counties in which tobacco is pooled to carry a copy of the Crecellus Law and the Little McChord Bill. This was done because certain persons had violated their contracts, claiming they did not know that the above laws were in existence. These laws are as follows:

CRECELLUS LAW.—CHAP. 8.

Acts of the General Assembly, Commonwealth of Kentucky, 1906.

AN ACT to amend section 3 of an act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, approved March 21, 1906, entitled "An act permitting persons to combine or pool their crops of wheat, tobacco or other products and sell same as a whole, and making contracts in pursuance thereof valid, approved March 21, 1906, being Chapter 117 of the acts of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky for the year 1906," and to amend section 3 of an act entitled, An act permitting persons to combine or pool their crops of wheat, tobacco or other products and sell same as a whole, and making contracts in pursuance thereof valid, approved March 21, 1906, being Chapter 117 of the acts of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky for the year 1906, and the same is hereby amended and re-enacted so as to read as follows:

Such person so entering into such an agreement or contract as set out in the foregoing sections are hereby permitted to select an agent or agents through or by or with whom said parties so entering into such an agreement may classify, grade, store, hold, sell or dispose of said crop, or any of them, and said agent or agents shall have the right to take, hold, store, classify, grade, sell or dispose of said crop so placed in said agreement, for the purpose of accomplishing the object of such combination or agreement between such principals, and contracts and agreement entered into by such agent or agents for the purpose of classifying, grading, storing, holding, selling or disposing of said crop so combined, united or pooled, either in parcel or as a whole, are hereby permitted, and shall not, because of any such combination or purpose of such original agreement of such principals so entering into such combination, or of such agent or agents, be declared illegal or invalid. All contracts heretofore made by any person or persons for the purposes set out in the foregoing sections are hereby declared valid, if otherwise legally binding on the parties.

INJUNCTION MAY ISSUE TO PREVENT BREACH OF CONTRACT.

To prevent any breach or violation of any contract made for the purposes set out in the foregoing sections a restraining order and writ of injunction may be issued by the proper officer, as prescribed in the Civil Code of practice.

DAMAGES MAY RECOVER FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT.

For any breach or violation of this contract entered into for the purposes set out in the foregoing sections, the injured party may recover the damages sustained by him by reason of such violation of such contract of the persons violating the same and also of any person who shall induce or persuade another to violate such contract, which damage shall include the reasonable expense and attorney's fees incurred by the injured party in prosecuting an action to recover such damages, or to prevent a violation of such contract, if the party complaining shall succeed in doing so, which may be recovered in the same action or original proceeding.

PENALTY FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT.

Said agent when so elected as herein provided shall have the sole right to sell said crop so pooled or combined, and it shall be unlawful for any owner of such crop to sell or dispose of same and for any person to knowingly purchase the same without the written consent of such agent, and upon conviction thereof he or they shall be fined in any sum of amount not exceeding $250.00 for each offense, to be fixed by the jury in their discretion.

EMERGENCY.

2. Whereas, many crops of tobacco and other products have been combined and pooled in this State, under contract and agreement entered into for the purpose set out in the above section, and an emergency is now declared to exist, which requires that this act should and shall take effect from and after its passage and approval by the Governor.

Approved March 12, 1906.

LITTLE McCHORD BILL.—CHAP. 9.

Acts of the General Assembly, Commonwealth of Kentucky, 1906.

An act to prevent the sale or transfer of Personal Property where the possession is in one person and the Title is vested in another.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

1. It shall be unlawful for any person having the possession of personal property, the title of which is vested in another to sell or otherwise dispose of such property without the written consent of the person in whom the title is vested. Any person guilty of such offense shall be fined not less than One Hundred Dollars, nor more than Five Hundred Dollars for such offense. Any person having notice of the manner in which such property is held, who shall purchase it of the person having the possession thereof, or of any other person in whom the title is vested, shall be fined not less than One Hundred Dollars, nor more than One Thousand Dollars for offense.

2. An emergency exists for the immediate operation of this law, therefore, the same shall be in force from and after its enactment.

Approved March 24, 1906.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO TOBACCO GROWERS.

The District Board of the Burley Tobacco Society at its meeting December 7, 8 and 9, passed a resolution that notices be given to the members of the 1906 pool, requesting them to deliver their tobacco to their county warehouses on the stick.

It was also resolved that where part of the crop is pooled and part unpooled notices should be given the County Board of Control before the crop was divided.

Alone in Saw Mill at Night

unmindful of dampness, drafts, storms or cold, W. J. Atkins worked as Night Watchman at Banner Springs Tenn. Such exposure gave him a severe cold that settled on his lungs. At last he had to give up work. He tried many remedies but all failed till he used Dr. King's New Discovery. 'After using a bottle" he writes, "I went back to work as well as ever." Severe Colds stubborn Coughs get quick relief and prompt cure from this glorious medicine. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free, guaranteed by Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger.

RAW FURS.—Get my prices. Highest ever known.
No lot too large for me.
H. Kirkpatrick, Burlington, Ky.

A Cough Medicine

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a regular cough medicine, a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine. Good for easy coughs, hard coughs, desperate coughs. If your doctor endorses it for your case, take it. If not, don't take it. Never go contrary to his advice.

We publish our formulas
Ayer's
We banish alcohol from our medicines
We urge you to consult your doctor

The dose of Ayer's Pills is small, only one at bedtime. As a rule, laxative doses are better than cathartic doses. For constipation, billiousness, dyspepsia, sick-headaches, they cannot be excelled. Ask your doctor about this.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

The Company of the People!

The premium rates of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company are lower than those of any other American life insurance company.

This company has more premium paying business in force in the United States than any other company, and for EACH OF THE LAST FIFTEEN YEARS HAS HAD MORE NEW INSURANCE ACCEPTED and ISSUED THAN ANY OTHER COMPANY.

Plans, Rates, Etc., furnished by local representative.

Stanley Crouch,

Petersburg, Ky.

J. W. EWBANK,

BRASHEAR, KY.

—AGENT FOR—

Victor and Edison Talking Machines.

These Machines I will sell for cash or on time to suit purchaser, at Lowest Prices.

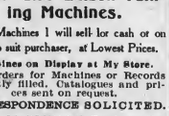
Machines on Display at My Store.

Mail orders for Machines or Records promptly filled. Catalogues and prices sent on request.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

J. W. EWBANK, Brashear, Ky.

FOR SALE.



Farm of 8¼ acres of land on which is a five room house and all necessary outbuildings. This farm is situated two miles east of Hebron, Ky., and is known as the Southern farm. Enquire of Mrs. Jas. Hood or Mont Southern, 309 Bakewell Street, Covington, Ky.

For Sale or Trade.

A Bradley full Circle Hay Press, size of bale 14 x 18; has automatic plunger draw making, easy on hand. Capacity 8 to 12 tons per day. Will make some one a bargain if sold soon.

EDGAR W. SMITH, Milan, Ind.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

FOR RENT.

Boone Hotel in Burlington, Ky., two story frame, 20 rooms, good barn and other out buildings. Apply to G. G. Hughes, Burlington, Ky., or address L. N. Crigler, Bartow, Florida.

GREAT - REMOVAL - SALE!

We are up against it—we were to be in our new building last month, but it will not be completed before January 1st, consequently we are overstocked, as we bought goods for our new store and we must dispose of them at once. There is only one way to do that and that is to put the knife into it so deep that the goods will sell on sight. This is your chance in a life time to buy up-to-date, ready-made wear at such prices. We have marked down every article in the store to less than one-half price.

Read Every Item Carefully and Come in and Compare Them.

ONE LOT LADIES' DRESS SKIRTS—full pleated and trimmed in Silk folard. Regular Price $2.98 Removal price. $1.50

ONE LOT of LADIES' FINE DRESS SKIRTS of all wool materials and fine tailor-made. Regular Price $4.98 Removal price 2.98

ONE LOT of LADIES' WAISTS—Lawns and Lingerie, elaborately trimmed in fine lace or embroidery, long sleeves. Regular price $1.50 and $1.98. Removal price..... 59c

ONE LOT of LADIES' WAISTS laundried collars and cuffs. Regular price $1.50. Removal price..... 69c

ONE LOT of LADIES' TAILOR-MADE SUITS, the latest models in all the leading shades. Regular price $15.00. Removal price..... $7.50

ONE LOT of LADIES' BLACK JACKETS, heavy weight Kersey, and nicely made. Regular price $5. Removal price. $2.98

ONE LOT of LADIES' LONG CLOAKS, the latest Cloak out. Regular price $10.00. Removal price..... $4.98

ONE LOT of CHILDREN'S CLOAKS, sizes 6 to 14 years in all colors. Regular price $3.98. Removal price..... $1.98

ONE LOT of LADIES' FURS, large Muff and Scarf—black or brown. Regular price $5.00. Removal price..... $2.50

ONE LOT of LADIES' MINK FUR SETS, this is the best wearing furs made. Regular price $10.00. Removal price... $5.00

One Lot of Ladies' Trimmed Hats, made of Silk Velvet shapes and elegantly trimmed in plumes and wings; Regular price up to $5.00. Removal price..... $1.98

One Lot of Children's Fur Sets, in white, brown, gray and red, large muff and scarf. Regular price $2.50. Removal price..... 98c

SEE OUR LINE OF HOLIDAY GOODS, SUCH AS

Handkerchiefs, Mufflers, Silk Scarfs, Fancy Combs, Toilet Sets, Smoking and Shaving Sets, Manicure Sets, Sewing Boxes, Military Brushes, Gloves, Purses, etc., we have marked down these goods the very same way, as we must dispose of our entire stock by January 1st. Mail Orders will receive prompt attention the same day received, and your money back if not satisfactory.

Simon's Bazaar, 36 Pike Street, Covington, Ky.

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co

Rising Sun, Indiana.

Dr. T. B. CASTLEMAN, DENTIST.

Will be at Burlington to practice on County Court day and the following day of each month. You remember his painless extraction of teeth.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.

Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices.

All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

FOR SALE.

My farm of about 200 acres, on good road near Francesville, 3 miles north of Hebron, Boone county, Ky. On this farm is a 4 room residence and all necessary outbuildings, all under new roof. There are 50 acres of timber and 50 acres of good tobacco land, and four never failing springs. This land is two miles from the Ohio river and 15 miles from Cincinnati. Rural route and telephone. For terms call at the farm or address C. W. McFEE,
R D 3, -Burlington, Ky.

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property knowu as Laughery Island is posted against all kinds of trespass.

JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

FARM BARGAIN.—A fine farm of 74 acres in Boone County, near Rabbit Hash, on Gunpowder creek, 2 miles from river, 50 acres hillside, 12 acres bottom land, 10 acres timber; fine tobacco land. Farm made $2,000 last year. Has good 4 room box house. Land on east hillside. Price $3,000, one half down, balance on easy payments. Call on or address J. R. Wallace, Warsaw, Ky.

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits; three per cent. if left six months and four per cent cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1900. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,
WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.
CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.
Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

A DULL HEADACHE

is Nature's sounding the alarm that something is going wrong. Seventy-five per cent of headaches are caused by refractive errors that can be relieved by properly fitted glasses. We always make a thorough examination and give honest advice as to the condition and care of the eyes.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon

HARNESS

OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of

Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at

PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.
Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

Xmas is Here

And so are we with a nice line of

New Groceries

Also all of those good things that make Xmas enjoyable,
Mince Meat, Cranberries, Oranges,
Bananas, Figs, Dates, Raisins, Prunes,
Dried Peaches, Canned Goods of all kinds,
A Nice lot of Candies,
AND PLENTY OF OYSTERS.

Garrison & Robinson.
Richwood, Kentucky.

Local Happenings.

For nuts, candies, oranges, lemons, etc., go to C. M. Baldon's.

Go to Baldon's for articles to compose your Christmas dinner.

Dirt roads got so rough last week, as to make travel very unpleasant.

Some of the local thermometers registered three above zero, last Sunday morning.

Read C. M. Baldon's advertisement and make from it your order for a Christmas dinner.

One or two mornings, last week, the cold pinched those who came from a distance to attend court.

The snow brought better luck for the rabbit hunters, at least they found more of the moilies.

The boys had considerable sport coasting, last week. All the sleds that could be found were brought into use.

Ask C. L. Gaines for one of his new magazine catalogs before subscribing for any magazines or periodicals.

Hon. W. W. Dickerson attended court but one day. His sojourn in Ohio appears to agree with him, physically at least.

The first week in January will be the Recorder's bargain week. Read the announcement at the head of the local column.

Aibert Conner has made a fine record shooting quails this season. He has killed 79 out of 100 shots, feathered 9 and winged 2.

Have you selected that big, fat turkey for your Christmas dinner? If you have to buy it count on paying about 20 cents a pound for it.

The Recorder wishes all its friends a merry Christmas and all the turkey and oysters they devour for dinner on that day.

National banks in this state pay their state taxes just the same as state banks, is the decision of the Court of Appeals.

The change in the weather last week dispelled all fear as to the condition of the meat that was killed a few days prior to the change.

You can make no better Christmas or new year's gift than some good magazine. C. L. Gaines is agent for all kinds of magazines and periodicals.

C. M. Baldon keeps nineteen different brands of chewing tobacco and has ordered three more brands. A good place to buy your chewing tobacco.

The instalment of winter weather appeared to have a very perceptible effect on the quantity of mail matter that came to Burlington last week.

B. B. Hume has charge of the German Coach stallion which was sold by the Verona Horse Company, recently, and which will be shipped to Ammarilla, Texas.

Burlington people who think that 27 cents a dozen is a high price for eggs will probably be surprised to learn that at Seattle, Washington, eggs are selling at 70 cents a dozen.

It is believed that those farmers who absolutely prohibited hunting on their lands have saved enough quails from the slaughter to stock this part of the county again next year.

At a recent meeting of the Capitol Commission it was decided that the dedication exercises of the Capitol would not be held until May 24, 1910. The Capitol cannot be completed before thattime.

The Harrison county turkey pool disposed of twelve thousand turkeys at 15 cents a pound, and it is being predicted that Cincinnati people will have to pay 25 or 30 cents a pound for their Christmas turkeys.

The weather this month has not been very favorable for the work of stripping tobacco where the grower was not provided with a good stripping room which everyone should provide where very large crops are grown.

The annual crop bulletin issued by the Agricuitural Department at Washington shows that a total of three hundred and five thousand acres more tobacco produced this year than last, the crop being nearly or quite a billion pounds.

Bert Smith, sub on rural deiivery No. 2 out of Burlington, was on duty last Friday. Bert says a big holiday wedding is expected in his neighborhood, but he could not be induced to give names of the parties to the transaction.

The Recorder is in receipt of a copy of the address of W. W. Finley, president of the Southern Railway Company, at a meeting of farmers in Salisbury, N. C., on the 17th of last month, but owing to its great length the Recorder cannot compiy with the request to publish as it would require about four columns of space.

The thrifty farmer is one who has his plows, harrows, &c., overhauled and put in first-class order at this season of the year that they may be ready for use at the earliest opportunity. He also overhauls his harness and oils them and has them in good condition that his team can work with comfort when the busy season comes.

The Boone County Medical Society met in the office of Dr. Peddicord, Wednesday, Dec. 15th. The following Doctors were present: L. C. Hafer, S. B. Nunneiiy, H. H. Hays, F. L. Sayre, F. L. Peddicord, P. E. Blackerby, and Robert W. Thomas, of Cincinnati, also Rev. Riley and Rev. Bradley. A very interesting and profitable program was rendered.

There is not much doubt but what the wool pool, which an effort is being made to organize will be a go. A pool of that crop would be much easier to manipulate than is the tobacco pool, and at a very light cost to the grower. It is argued that the pool would count out the profits of three or four middle men, thereby bringing to the grower several cents more per pound for his wool.

Responding Promptly.

The Recorder sent out quite a number of statements of indebtedness on account of subscription, a few days since, and the promptness which responses were received at this office was certainly gratifying.

Prof. F. M. Hughes Dead.

Prof. F. M. Hughes, who, several years ago taught the public school in Burlington, died of appoplexy at his home in Hugo, Oklahoma, on the 3d inst. He was never conscious after he was stricken. At the time of his death he was superintendent of schools in the county of his residence.

Busy Packing His Grip.

Hon. John W. Berkshire, of Petersburg, is busy packing his grip fort, where he will take part in for a sixty day sojourn at Frankfort the State's lawmaking stunt. Mr. Berkshire will not make much noise in the legislative halls at the capital, but he will be found voting about right on all important questions.

Looking One's Best.

It's woman's delight to look her best but pimples, skin eruptions, sores and boils rob her of joy. Listen! Bucklen's Arnica Salve cures them; makes the skin soft and velvety. It glorifies the face Cures Pimpies, Sore Eyes, Cold Sores, Cracked Lips, Chapped Hands. Try it. Infallible for Piles. 25c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

Will be a Great Health Resort.

M. E. Hance, of Big Bone, was in Burlington, last Thursday, closing a land deal in his neighborhood. He has great confidence in the future of that section of the county and is taking over the title to considerable real estate. He says when the traction road to Covington is compicted Big Bone will be one of the greatest health resorts in the United States.

Doctors Can't Agree.

The doctors of Grant county have gotten into about as great an argument over the smallpox situation as Cook and Peary over the discovery of the north pole. Sunday a specialist from Cincinnati came out to see the alieged smallpox case at Col. R. T. Dickerson's. He alleged that the disease was not smallpox but was chickenpox. Monday a member of the State Board of Health came out and declared the disease was Smallpox. The child has about recovered and there does not seem to be any danger of a spread of the disease in Williamstown.

Robbed and Didn't Know it.

Rev. Bradley teiis a good one on Capt. Noel Gaines, to the truth of which the Captain confesses. He says Capt. Gaines was teiling a crowd on the street in Frankfort, one day about his success as a detective, and when the narrative was concluded, a man in the crowd handed to Capt. Gaines his (the Captain's) watch, pocket book, knife, lead pencil and several other articles he had taken from the Captain's pockets while he was telling of his success as a detective. Capt. Gaines said he feit like he couid have sunk into the ground, he was so surprised.

L. W. Moore Robbed.

L. W. Moore, proprietor of the Ivory Wood No. 5, a junk boat piying the Ohio river between Cincinnati and Madison, reported to the authorities here at 8 p. m. of Monday that three men had attacked him on the wharf near his boat, which is anchored at the foot of Walnut street, and robbed him of $500. One man he says pinioned him from behind, another thrust a revoiver into his face while a third went into his inside coat pocket where he had a $500 bill in an envelope and took it. Other sums in different pockets were untouched. Sheriff White, Constable Slater, Detective Nich. Oberting, Marshal Snyder and the entire police force thus far have failed to find even a clue to the perpetrators of the deed.—Lawrenceburg Press.

Must Have the Recorder.

In renewing his subscription, E. L. Arnold, of Oxford, Kan., writes: "I came to Kansas nine years ago last August, and have received the Recorder every week except two, and don't see how I could get along without it. I hope to make old Kentucky a visit next summer in time for the fair, and if I do I will call in and see the Recorder and Burlington friends. J. H. Rogers was one of my old neighbors when I lived in Kanlucky. We are having some winter, snow and sleet. The thermometer was at zero on the 8th and 9th, but we have had very fine weather all fail. Here is wishing you and all the good old Kentucky folks a merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

TWO FOR ONE.

The Recorder and Cincinnati Enquirer One Year for Only $1.50 to New Subscribers

We have made arrangements to place the Cincinnati Weekiy Enquirer, a large 24-page newspaper, containing all the news of the world, free; absolutely free, to every new subscriber during the first week in January, 1910. All you need do is to subscribe for the Recorder one year, sending one doliar and fifty cents direct to the Recorder, Burlington, Ky. and you will receive both newspapers one year for oniy one dollar and fifty cents. Everybody knows The Enquirer as the best and biggest newspapers in the United States. Every person in Boone county ought to be a subscriber for the Boone county Recorder. No commissions allowed on this offer.

TO OUR FRIENDS
—OF—
BOONE COUNTY!

We are pleased to announce that we will display during the Holidays an exceptionally fine selection of

Holiday Goods.

—OUR STOCK OF—

Dry Goods and Notions

—IS COMPLETE.—

Our Cloaks are of Great Variety and represent the Newest Models.

You are cordially invited to visit our store and examine our stock. Very Respectfully,

B. & A. GRISWOLD,

RISING SUN, INDIANA.

A Large Hog Story.

Here is the biggest hog story of the season. C. L. Renaker, of Dry Ridge, says he fed, raised and fattened a hog that weighed 747 1-2 pounds. He made 70 ibs. of sausage, 33 gals. of lard, and staked the two hams, the two sides and the shoulders. The hog was a cross between a Poland China, duroc jersey and white Chester.—Grant County News.

Try Us With a Shower.

A popular social affair among the newspaper boys is a "subscription shower." It is a good deal like the linen and china showers given in honor of prospective brides. A number of subscribers whose subscriptions are due get together and induce all their neighbors who are not subscribers to join them. They go in a body to the newspaper office, where each one planks down the money and takes a year's subscription. If the editor's face is wreathed in smiles the affair is a success. If he looks glum and grouchy, the affair is a failure and not worth trying again. Try it once and see if it isn't a success.

Don't Be Too Severe.

"The editor of a newspaper is often accused of leaving out certain items of news purposely, because of a dislike of the person to be mentioned, or from prejudice or another cause. This is all bosh. The editor has something like a million different things to think of in connection with the issue of one paper and it is not surprising if he misses an item occasionaiiy or sometimes forgets one which has been called to his attention. Nine out of ten people you ask for news items will tell you they can't think of any. But in most cases they expect the editor to think of them all and criticise him if he fails in a single item. The best way is to give the editor credit for what he does find and mention and for some things that he finds and doesn't mention.—Ex.

A Card.

Next Saturday we will celebrate Christmas, which is supposed to be the anniversary of the birth of Christ. Will some thinking christian fiend teii us, thru the columns of the Recorder, why is it that we, as an intelligent, thinking, christian nation, celebrate it with such a fabulous myth as Santa Claus, &c? We know to be a christian is to be "Christlike," who would not sanction anything but purity and truth. We say it is only a little, innocent deception for the children. Is any deception innocent? especially when used on this occasion, or is it right because it is done nationally? Is it any wonder the little ones learn to prevaricate so young, when we teach them their first lesson? I am a lover of chiidren and believe in gifts for them at this time, but cannot help thinking we mix things awfully along this line. But will some one answer?

Respectfuiiy, Kirtiey Rice.

Rich Men's Gift Are Poor.

besides this: "I want to go on record as saying that I regard Electric Bitters as one of the best gifts that God has made to woman, writes Mrs. O. Rhinevault, of Vestal Center, N. Y., "I can never forget what it has done for me." This glorious medicine gives a woman buoyant spirits, vigor of body and jubilant health It quickly cures Nervousness, Sleeplessness Meiancholy, Headache Backache, Fainting and Dizzy Speiis; soon builds up the weak, ailing and sick iy. Try them. 50c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

Miss Minnie Ackley, of Pittsburg, spent several days last week in Burlington. She has an interest in a tract of land at the mouth of Garrison creek, this county, and believing that there is oil in that neighborhood, she was securing oil leases in that locality with a view to having wells sunk in an effort to tap the veins.

Mr. John Stephens, a native and until recentiy a citizen of this county, celebrated the 84th anniversary of his birth at his home in Erlanger, last Friday. A big dinner was enjoyed by a host of the old gentieman's friends.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The suit of the Anderson Foundry and Brick Company, of Anderson, Indiana, against the Walton Brick Company, occupied the attention of the court and a jury three days last week. A stock coipany was organized at Walton about two years ago for the manufacture of dry pressed brick. The machinery for the plant was purchased of the Anderson Foundry and Brick Company. For some cause the company was unable to operate the machinery successfully, and refused to pay a deferred payment of $1,000 thereon, which amount the Anderson people brought suit, being represented by attorney H. B. McCoy, of Covington, while the Walton Brick Company was represented by J. G. Tomlin and Jno. L. Vest, of Walton. Every point in the case on each side was strongly contested and was heard by the following jury: Owen Beemon, G. W. Smith, Robt. Huey, J. H. Tanner, Batty Long, Harry Kilgore, E. T. Clegg, Sherman Riggs, P. J. Allen, Wm. Batterson, J. J. Cleck, Daniei B. Dobbins on interrogatories indicated, by the finding of which the following is the substance, to-wit:

Eleven jurors agreed that the clay of the Walton Brick Co., when properly burnt, will make brick equal to the sample furnished it by the plaintiff.

The entire jury agreed that the brick press was worth as much as the press mentioned in the contract.

The jury could not agree that the brick made by the Walton Co., were made in such a manner that they could be turned into dry pressed brick equal to sample furnished by the plaintiff.

Ten of the jury agreed that the man furnished by the plaintiff to operate the machine was competent to adjust and operate it.

The jury agreed that the machinery was sufficient and proper machinery, when properly adjusted and operated, to make properly burned brick equal to sample furnished by plaintiff to defendant.

One panel of the petit jurors was discharged about ten o'clock last Friday morning, ten of them being allowed six doliars each and two, eight dollars each.

The indictment against Mrs. Edith McAvoy, charging her with arson, the burning of John Ransier's house, was continued until next term for trial.

A great many cases were set for trial on certain days of the next term, and if the partics are not ready then the Judge will be wanting to know why.

The friends of John S. Gaunt were glad to see that he has entirely recovered his health which was very poor a few years ago.

The name of Henry Clore, who lives near Burlington, was omitted from the list of petit jurors that served last week.

The grand jury returned eight indictments, last week, three or four of which charge serious offenses.

From the exhibits in the case against the Walton Brick Company it looked like each of the lawyers may have had a brick in his hat.

Fisk, the young man indicted for taking Robert Allen's horse will remain in jail until next term.

The above cause will be tried by Judge Cammack at the next term.

Quite Convenient.

Understand that the firm of Phippe & Stephens, who own the Burlington livery stable and carry the Burlington, Florence and Erlanger mail, will handle all kinds of farm implements, keeping them on hand that a purchaser can get the impiement immediately upon buying it. Such a business will be a convenience never heretofore enjoyed by the farmers of the community.

The Good Roads Amendment.

The good roads amendment to the constitution which was adopted at the November election does not, as is by many erroneously supposed, automatically tax any county. It simpiy gives the people of a county the right to vote for the issue of bonds, or for other means to secure funds, to improve and maintain the turnpikes and other public roads. No county is taxed unless the people of that county vote the tax on themselves.

OUR FIRST FALL SHIPMENT OF
GODMAN SHOES
IS ABOUT GONE.

Our Second Fall Shipment Just Opened Up. Come at once and get a Good Selection before numbers are broken. These Shoes are, without doubt, the

Best Shoes Ever Sold in our Store
ALREADY FAMOUS FOR GOOD SHOES.

WE HANDLE THE FAMOUS
Ball Band Wool Boots & Rubber

OUR WINTER STOCK OF
Blankets, Comforts, Woolens, Yarns, Underwear, Etc.,
IS NOW COMPLETE.

W. M. Rachal & Co
Union, Kentucky.
GIVE US A CALL.

We can advise you what to give for a useful
CHRISTMAS PRESENT.
WHAT WOULD BE MORE APPROPRIATE
—THAN A—
Suit or Overcoat?

We have a large assortment for the Men and for the Little Ones. We can show you some GREAT BARGAINS IN

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing.

A serviceable Present would be one of our Corduroy Duck or Leather Coats; Corduroy or Jeans Pants, or one of our Warm Wool Jackets or Sweater Coats.

VISIT OUR STORE BEFORE BUYING.

Rolfes & Wachs,
RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,
No. 1 PIKE STREET,
Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

BARGAINS
IN A FULL ASSORTMENT OF
Surries, Buggies, Runabouts and Spring Wagons.

Will close out Cheap in Order to make room for Our Spring Stock. If you want to buy, we can Save you Money.

REPAIRING AND PAINTING PROMPTLY DONE.

H. Von Lehmen,
152 to 156 Pike Street,
Phone S. 148. COVINGTON, KY.

That Present!

While you are Studying as to what to give for a Christmas Present---just give the following YOUR CONSIDERATION:

FOR HIM.
Hats, 50c to $3.00.
Caps, 25c to $2.50.
Gloves, 25c to $1.50.
Shoes, $1.50 to $4.00.
Slippers, 50c to $2.00.
Rubbers—Old Prices.
Socks, Leggings, Overgaiters.

FOR HER.
Felt Fur Trimmed Slippers, (Xmas Special) 90c to $1.
Mufflers, all colors, 25c & 50c.
Warm Lined Shoes, $1.25 to $2.
Shoes—Fine Shoes, Heavy Shoes, then some Rubbers — Dry feet consequently good health; Leggings and Overgaiters.

Big assortment of Shoes, Caps, Gloves and Leggigns for the Kids. Not a thing on sale at Davis' but what will make a useful and acceptable Christmas Present.

DAVIS, the Shoe Man
LET HIM SHOW YOU. RISING SUN, IND.

INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNET

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT 1908 BY A.C.MCCLURG & CO.

"You Sneak! You Sham Gent!"

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were towed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, stunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was crippled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He started a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights. The trio secured eggs from the cliffs. Miss Leslie's white skirt was decided upon as a signal. Miss Leslie made a dress from the leopard skin. Blake's efforts to kill antelopes failed. Overhearing a conversation between Blake and Winthrope, Miss Leslie became frightened. Winthrope became ill with fever. Blake was poisoned by a fish. Jackals attacked the camp that night, but were driven off by Genevieve. Blake returned after nearly dying. Blake constructed an animal trap. It killed a hyena. On a tour the trio discovered honey and oysters. Miss Leslie was attacked by a poisonous snake. Blake killed it and saved its poison to kill game.

CHAPTER XVII.—Continued.

When he came to the ant-hill, he found companions and honey alike gone. He went on to the cocoanuts. There he came upon Winthrope stretched flat beside the skin of honey. Miss Leslie was seated a little way beyond, nervously bending a palm-leaf into shape for a hat.

"I say, Blake," drawled Winthrope, "you've been a deuced long time in coming. It was no end of a task to lug the honey—"

Blake brushed past without replying, and went on until he stood before the girl. As she glanced up at him, he held out the crimson blossom.

"Thought you might like posies," he said, in a hesitating voice.

Instead of taking the flower, she drew back with a gesture of repulsion.

"Oh, take it away!" she exclaimed.

Blake flung the rejected gift on the ground, and crushed it beneath his heel.

"Catch me making a fool of myself again!" he growled.

"I—I did not mean it that way—really I didn't, Mr. Blake. It was the thought of that awful snake."

But Blake, cut to the quick, had turned away far too angry to heed what she said. He stopped short beside the Englishman; but only to sling the skin of honey upon his back. The load was by no means a light one, even for his strength. Yet he caught up the heavy pot as well, and made off across the plain at a pace which the others could not hope to equal.

As Winthrope rose and came forward to join Miss Leslie, he looked about closely for the bruised flower. It was nowhere in sight.

"Er—beg pardon, Miss Genevieve, but did not Blake drop the bloom—er—blossom somewhere about here?"

"Perhaps he did," replied Miss Leslie. She spoke with studied indifference.

"I—ah—saw the fellow exhibit his impudence."

"Ye-es?"

"You know, I think it high time the bounder is taken down a peg."

"Ah, indeed! Then why do you not try it?"

"Miss Genevieve! you know that at present I am physically so much his inferior—"

"How about mentally?"

Though the girl's eyes were veiled by their lashes, she saw Winthrope cast after Blake a look that seemed to her almost fiercely vindictive.

"Well?" she said, smiling, but watching him closely.

"Ah, indeed. However, this is now quite another matter. Has it not occurred to you, my dear, that this entire experience of ours since that beastly storm is rather—er—compromising?"

"You—you dare say such a thing! I'll go this instant and tell Mr. Blake! I'll—"

"Begging your pardon, madam—but are you prepared to marry that barbarous clodhopper?"

"Marry? What do you mean, sir?"

"Precisely that. It is a question of marriage, if you'll pardon me. And, you see, I flatter myself, that when it comes to the point, it will not be Blake, but myself—"

"Ah, indeed! And if I should prefer neither of you?"

"Begging your pardon—I fancy you will honor me with your hand, my dear. For one thing, you admit that I am a gentleman."

"Oh, indeed!"

"One moment, please! I am trying to be able to you, as delicately as possible, how embarrassing you will find it to have these little occurrences—above all, to-day's—noised abroad to the vulgar crowd, or even among your friends—"

"What do you mean? What do you want?" cried the girl, staring at him with a deepening fear in her bewildered eyes.

"Believe me, my dear, it grieves me to so perturb you; but—er—love must have its way, you know."

"You forget. There is Mr. Blake."

"Ah, to be sure! But really now, you would not ask, or even permit him to murder me; and one is not legally bound, you know, to observe promises—a pledge of silence, for example—when extorted under duress, under violence, you know."

Miss Leslie looked the Englishman up and down, her brown eyes sparkling with quick-returning anger. He met her scorn with a smile of smug complacency.

"Cad!" she cried, and turning her back upon him, she set out across the plain after Blake.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Eavesdropper Caught.

EVEN had it not been for her doubts of Blake, the girl's modesty would have caused her to think twice before repeating to him the Englishman's insulting proposal. While she yet hesitated and delayed, Winthrope came down with a second attack of fever. Blake, who until then had held himself sullenly apart from him as well as from Miss Leslie, at once softened to a gentler, or, at least, to a more considerate mood. Though his speech and bearing continued morose, he took upon himself all the duties of night nurse, besides working and foraging several hours each day.

Much to Miss Leslie's surprise, she found herself tending the invalid through the daytime almost as though nothing had happened. But everything about this wild and perilous life was so strange and unnatural to her that she found herself accepting the most unconventional relations as a regular consequence of the situation. She was feverishly eager for anything that might occupy her mind; for she felt that to brood over the future might mean madness. The mere thought of the possibilities was far too terrifying to be calmly dwelt upon. Though slight, there had been some little comfort in the belief that she could rely on Winthrope. But now she was left alone with her doubt and dread. Even if she had nothing to fear from Blake, there were all the savage dangers of the coast, and behind those, far worse, the fever.

A little before dawn he dipped two of his new arrow-heads in the sticky contents of the cigarette case, fitted them carefully to their shafts and stole away down the cleft. Down found him crouched low in the grass where the overflow from the pool ran out into the plain along its little channel. He could see large forms moving away from him; then came the flood of crimson light, and he made out that the figures were a drove of huge eland.

His eyes flashed with eagerness. It was a long shot; but he knew that no more was required than to pierce the skin on any part of his quarry's body. He put his fingers between his teeth and sent out a piercing whistle. It was a trick he had tried more than once on deer and pronghorn antelope. As he expected, the eland halted and swung half around. Their ox-like sides presented a mark hard to miss.

He rose and shot as they were wheeling to fly. Before he could fit his second arrow to the string the whole herd were running off at a lumbering gallop. He lowered his bow and walked after the animals, smiling with grim anticipation. He had seen his arrow strike against the side of the young bull at which he had aimed.

So great was the abundance of meat that Blake worked all the remainder of the day and all night stringing the flesh on the curing racks, and Miss Leslie tried out pot after pot of fat and tallow, until every spare vessel was filled and she had to resort to a hollow in the rock beside the spring. Blake promised to make more pots as soon as he could fetch the clay, but he had first to dress the eland hide and prepare a new stock of thread and cord from parts of the animal which he was careful not to let her see.

Whatever their concern for the future—and even Blake's was keen and bitter—the party, as a party, for the time being might have been considered extremely fortunate. They had a shelter secure alike from the weather and from wild beasts; an abundance of nutritious food, and, as material for clothing, the bushbuck, hyena and eland hides. To obtain more skins and more meat Blake now knew would be a simple matter so long as he had enough poison left in the cigarette case to moisten the tips of his arrows.

Even Winthrope's relapse proved far less serious than might reasonably have been expected. The fever soon left him and within a few days he regained strength enough to care for himself. Here, however, much to Blake's perplexity and concern, his progress seemed to stop, and all Blake's urging could do no more than cause him to move languidly from one shady spot to another. He would receive Blake's orders with a smile and a drawling "Ya-as, to be sure!"—and then absolutely ignore the matter.

Only in two ways did the invalid exhibit any signs of energy. He could and did eat with a heartiness little short of that shown by Blake, and he would insist upon seeking opportunities to press his attentions upon Miss Leslie. He was careful to avoid all offensive remarks; yet the veriest commonplace from his lips was now an offense to the girl. While he needed her as nurse she had endured his talk as part of her duty. But now she felt that she could no longer do so. Taking advantage of a time when the Englishman was, as she supposed, enjoying a noonday siesta down towards the barricade, she went to meet Blake, who had been up on the cliff for eggs.

"Hello!" he sang out, as he swung down the tree, one hand gripping the clay pot in which he had gathered the eggs. "What you doing out in the sun? Get into the shade."

She stepped into the shade and waited until he had climbed down the pile of stones which he had built for steps at the foot of the tree.

"Mr. Blake," she began, "could not I do this work—gather the eggs?"

"You could, if I'd let you, Miss Jenny. But it strikes me you've got quite enough to do. Tell you the truth, I'd like to make Win take it in hand again. But all my cussing won't budge him an inch, and, you know, when it comes to the rub, I couldn't wallop a fellow who can hardly stand up."

"Is he really so weak?" she murmured.

"Well, you know how— Say you don't mean that you think he's shamming?"

"I did not say that I thought so, Mr. Blake. I do not care to talk about him. What I wish is that you will let me attend to this work."

"Couldn't think of it, Miss Jenny! You're already doing your share."

"Mr. Blake—if you must know—I wish to have a place where I can go and be apart—alone."

Blake scowled. "Alone with that dude! He'd soon find enough strength to climb up with you on the cliff."

"I—ah—Mr. Blake, would he be apt to follow me, if I told you distinctly I should rather be alone?"

"Would he? Well, I should rather guess not!" cried Blake, making no attempt to conceal his delight. "I'll give him a hint that'll make his hair curl. From now on, nohody climbs up this tree but you, without first asking your permission."

"Thank you, Mr. Blake! You are very kind."

"Kind to let you do more work! But say, I'll help out all I can on the other work. You know, Miss Jenny—a rough fellow like me don't know how to say it, but he can think it just the same—I'd do anything in the world for you!"

As he spoke, he held out his rough, powerful hand. She shrank back a little and caught her breath in sudden fright. But when she met his steady gaze, her fear left her as quickly as it had come. She impulsively thrust out her hand and he seized it in a grip that brought the tears to her eyes.

"Miss Jenny! Miss Jenny!" he murmured, utterly unconscious that he was hurting her, "you know now that I'm your friend, Miss Jenny!"

"Yes, Mr. Blake," she answered, blushing and drawing her hand free. "I believe you are a friend—I believe I can trust you."

"You can, by—Jiminy! But say," he continued, blundering with loose stupidity, "do you really mean that? Can you forgive me for being so confounded meddlesome the other day after the snake—"

He stopped short, for upon the instant she was facing him, as on that eventful day, scarlet with shame and anger.

"How dare you speak of it?" she cried. "You're—you're not a gentleman!"

Before he could reply she turned and left him, walking rapidly and with her head held high. Blake stared after her in bewilderment.

"Well, what in—what in thunder have I done now?" he exclaimed. "Ladies are certainly mighty funny! To go off at a touch—and just when I thought we were going to be chums! But then, of course, I've the whole thing to learn about nice girls—like her!"

"I—ah—must certainly agree with you there, Blake," drawled Winthrope, from beside the nearest bush.

Blake turned upon him with savage fury: "You dirty sneak!—you gentle man! You've been eavesdropping!"

The Englishman's yellow face paled to a sallow mottled gray. He had seen the same look in Blake's eyes twice before, and this time Blake was far more angry.

"You sneak!—you sham gent!" repeated the American, his voice sinking ominously.

Winthrope dropped in an abject heap, as though Blake had struck him with his cinh.

"No, no!" he protested, shrilly. "I am a real—I am—I'm a not—"

"That's it—you're a not! That's true!" broke in Blake, with sudden grim humor. "You're a nothing. A fellow can't even wipe his shoes on nothing!"

The change to sarcasm came as an immense relief to Winthrope.

"Ah, I say now, Blake," he drawled, pulling together his assurance the instant the dangerous light left Blake's eyes, "I say, now, do you think it fair to pick on a man who is so much your—er—who is ill and weak?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Uncle William—Yes, Willie, I have had my nose to the grindstone all my life.

Willie—Is that what made it so red uncle?—Stray Stories.

COUNTRY WHOSE SOIL SPELLS WHEAT AND OUT OF WHOSE FARMS THOUSANDS ARE GROWING RICH.

WHAT PRESIDENT TAFT AND OTHERS THINK OF CANADA.

Another Fat Year for the Canadian West.

Our Canadian neighbors to the north are again rejoicing over an abundant harvest, and reports from reliable sources go to show that the total yield of 1909 will be far above that of any other year.

It is estimated that $100,000,000 will this year go into the pockets of the Western farmers from wheat alone, another $50,000,000 from oats and barley, while returns from other crops and from stock will add $40,000,000 more. Is it any wonder then that the farmers of the Canadian West are happy?

Thousands of American farmers have settled in the above mentioned provinces during the past year; men who know the West and its possibilities, and who also know perhaps better than any other people, the best methods for profitable farming.

President Taft said recently in speaking of Canada:

"We have been going ahead so rapidly in our own country that our heads have been somewhat swelled with the idea that we are carrying on our shoulders all the progress there is in the world. We have not been conscious that there is on the north a young country and a young nation that is looking forward, as it well may, to a great national future. They have 7,000,000 people, but the country is still hardly scratched."

Jas. J. Hill speaking before the Canadian Club of Winnipeg a few days ago said:

"I go back for 53 years, when I came West from Canada. At that time Canada had no North-West. A young boy or man who desired to carve his own way had to cross the line, and to-day it may surprise you—one out of every five children born in Canada lives in the United States. Now you are playing the return match, and the North-West is getting people from the United States very rapidly. We brought 100 land-seekers, mainly from Iowa and Southern Minnesota, last night out of St. Paul, going to the North-West. Now, these people have all the way from five, ten to twenty thousand dollars each, and they will make as much progress on the land in one year as any one man coming from the Continent of Europe can make, doing the best he can, in ten, fifteen, or twenty years."

It is evident from the welcome given American settlers in Canada that the Canadian people appreciate them. Writing from Southern Alberta recently an American farmer says:—

"We are giving them some new ideas about being good farmers, and they are giving us some new ideas about being good citizens. They have a law against taking liquor into the Indian Reservation. One of our fellows was caught on a reservation with a bottle on him, and it cost him $50. One of the Canadian Mounted Police found him, and let me tell you, they find everyone who tries to go up against the laws of the country.

"On Saturday night, every bar-room is closed, at exactly 7 o'clock. Why? Because it is the law, and it's the same with every other law. There isn't a had man in the whole district, and a woman can come home from town to the farm at midnight if she wants to, alone. That's Canada's idea how to run a frontier; they have certainly taught us a lot.

"On the other hand, we are running their farms for them better than any other class of farmers. I guess I can say this without boasting, and the Canadians appreciate us. We turn out to celebrate Dominion Day; they are glad to have us help to farm the country; they know how to govern; we know how to work."

Another farmer, from Minnesota, who settled in Central Saskatchewan some years ago, has the following to say about the country:—

"My wife and I have done well enough since we came from the States; we can live anyway. We came in the spring of 1901 with the first carload of settlers' effects unloaded in these parts and built the first shanty between Saskatoon and Lumsden. We brought with our car of settlers' effects the sum of $1800 in cash, to-day we are worth $40,000. We 'proved up' one of the finest farms in Western Canada and bought 320 acres at $3 per acre. We took good crops off the land for four years, at the end of which we had $8000 worth of improvements in the way of buildings, etc., and had planted three acres of trees. Two years ago we got such a good offer that we sold our land at $45 per acre. From the above you will see that we have not done badly since our arrival."

Prof. Thomas Shaw of St. Paul, Minnesota, with a number of other well known editors of American farm journals, toured Western Canada recently, and in an interview at Winnipeg said in part:—

"With regard to the settlement of the West I should say that it is only well begun. I have estimated that in Manitoba one-tenth of the land has been broken, in Saskatchewan one-thirtieth and in Alberta, one-hundred and seventy-fifth. I am satisfied that in all three provinces grain can be grown successfully up to the sixtieth parallel and in the years to come vast vacant land will be taken at a rate of which you have at present no conception. We have enough people in the United States alone, who want homes, to take up this land.

"What you must do in Western Canada is to raise more live stock. When you are doing what you ought to do in this regard, the land which is now selling for $20 per acre will be worth from $50 to $100 pre acre. It is as good land as that which is selling for more than $100 per acre in the corn belt.

"I would rather raise cattle in Western Canada than in the corn belt of the United States. You can get your food cheaper and the climate is better for the purpose. We have a better market, but your market will improve faster than your farmers will produce the supplies. Winter wheat can be grown in one-half of the country through which I have passed, and alfalfa and one of the varieties of clover in three-fourths of it. The farmers do not believe this, but it is true."

Keeping pace with wheat production, the growth of railways has been quite as wonderful, and the whole country from Winnipeg to the Rocky Mountains will soon be a net-work of trunk and branch lines. Three great transcontinental lines are pushing construction in every direction, and at each siding the grain elevator is to be found. Manitoba being the first settled province, has now an elevator capacity of upwards of 25,000,000 bushels, Saskatchewan 30,000,00, and Alberta about 7,000,000, while the capacity of elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur, on the Great Lakes, is upwards of 20,000,000 more.

Within the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta there are flour and oatmeal mills with a combined capacity of 25,000 barrels per day, and situated along some famous water powers in New Ontario, there are larger mills than will be found anywhere in the Prairie Provinces.

Last year the wheat crop totaled over 100,000,000 bushels. This year the crop will yield 30,000,000 more. A recent summary shows that on the 1st of January, 1909, the surveyed lands of the three western provinces totaled 134,000,000 acres, of which about 32,000,000 have been given as subsidies to railways, 11,000,000 disposed of in other ways and 38,000,00 given by the Canadian Government as free homesteads, being 236,000 homesteads of 160 acres each. Of this enormous territory, there is probably under crop at the present time less than 11,000,000 acres; what the results will be when wide awake settlers have taken advantage of Canada's offer and are cultivating the fertile prairie lands, one can scarcely imagine.

THEIR PLACE OF MEETING

Inference Plainly Set Forth Was Not by Any Means What the Lady Dean Meant.

The lady dean of a well-known girls' college, being very much annoyed that the girls after chapel on Sunday morning waited around the entrance of the assembly room and stood in groups on the stairs instead of dispersing at once, resolved to institute a reform. So at the regular chapel service one morning she arose with much dignity and made the following remarks:

"I have noticed a growing tendency among the young women to linger about the chapel Sunday mornings, blocking the halls and stairs. Hereafter the following order will be preserved in leaving chapel: First the president will pass away. Then I will pass away. Then the faculty members will pass away, and finally the student body by classes will pass away, and we will all meet below—"

It is needless to say why she never finished her sentence.

Is Prayer Geographical?

Not long ago, in an important county in Ohio, the woman and others prayed that it would go "dry" and it did. A few days later, the people in Nassan and Suffolk counties, Long Island, prayed that these counties would become desiccated and a count of the votes showed that there was nothing doing. In both cases only those people prayed who were accustomed to that form of weapon. Accordingly there is a strong suggestion that prayer, like the tariff, is a local issue.

The Country's Spread.

While the area conceded to the 13 original states by the peace treaty of 1783 was 828,000 square miles, their present area is but 326,000 square miles, the other 502,000 square miles forming in whole or in part 13 other states.

A Rare Good Thing.

"Am using Allen's Foot-Ease, and can truly say I would not have been without it so long had I known the relief it would give my aching feet. I think it a rare good thing for anyone having sore or tired feet. —Mrs. Matilda Holtwert, Providence, R. I." Sold by all Druggists, 25c. Ask to-day.

A Burden.

Stella—Was her divorce satisfactory?

Bella—No, she has to keep the children the whole year.

Some people suffer continually with tired, aching and swollen feet. Little do they know how soothing is Mantina Wizard Oil. Rub it in at night and have thankful, happy feet in the morning.

What a young man earns in the daytime goes into his pocket, but what he spends in the evening goes into his character.—Dr. Cuyler.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM has been used successfully for years for deep-seated coughs, colds and bronchitis. Everybody should know about it. It is simple, safe and sure.

A good guesser always boasts of his intuition.

CLIP THIS OUT.

Valuable Recipe When Afflicted with Rheumatism or Backache.

This is a renowned doctor's very best prescription for rheumatism.

"One ounce compound syrup Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint high grade whiskey. Mix them and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed time. The bottle must be well shaken each time."

Any druggist has these ingredients or he will get them from his wholesale house.

IMPERTINENT.

Missionary—You haven't been to Sunday school for a month. I don't expect to meet you in heaven!

Kid—Gee! I didn't know you wuz as bad as all dat!

Stamps of German Domestics.

Each week there is pasted in the little blank book that every servant girl in Germany must possess a postage stamp to the value of about five cents.

This stamp is a donation, compulsory under the German law, which the mistress must afford the servant. Should the girl fall ill, the stamps are redeemed by the government, or the servant may retain the stamps indefinitely until, when she has attained a ripe old age, the government pays her a premium for them.—The Sunday Magazine.

Home-Made Bitters.

Loss of appetite at this season accompanied by lassitude is a symptom of weakened vitality. Improve the appetite and digestion and nature will do the rest says a well-known medical man. This is highly recommended and much used in some parts of the country. Ask any good druggist to mix one ounce compound fluid balmwort and one ounce syrup sarsaparilla compound to a half pint of good whiskey and take a tablespoonful three to six times a day. Excellent too as a tonic system cleanser.

A Remnant of the Dark.

A colored man died without medical attendance, and the coroner went to investigate.

"Did Samuel Williams live here?" he asked the weeping woman who opened the door.

"Yassuh," she replied between sobs. "I want to see the remains."

"I is de remains," she answered, proudly.—Everybody's Magazine.

Dyola is the Best Dye

I have ever used. It makes a nice color on any kind of goods, cotton, wool or mixed goods. So Mrs. Corbett writes. 10 cents per package at dealers. If not in stock, send 10 cents to Dyola, Burlington, Vt. Mention color desired and we will send you same with color card and direction book.

The Strategic Point.

"General, we are outgeneraled."

"Caramba! But how is that?"

"The other side has beaten us to the cable office."

You can't blame the man who has got his winter's coal in for feeling just a little better than the rest of the neighborhood.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES

FOR RHEUMATISM, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, DIABETES, BACKACHE

$1.75 *Guaranteed

ABSORBINE

Removes Bursal Enlargements, Thickened, Swollen Tissues, Cysts, Fluid Tendons, Soreness from any Bruise or Strain. Cures Spavin, Lameness, Allays Pain. Does not blister, remove the hair or lay the horse up. $2.00 a bottle. Horse Book 1 E free. ABSORBINE, JR., (mankind) Strains, Bruises, Varicose Veins, Varicocele, Hydrocele, Allays pain. Your druggist can supply and give references. Will tell you more if you write. Send for free book and testimonials. Mfd. only by W. F. YOUNG, P. D. F., 310 Temple St., Springfield, Mass.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

A preparation of superior merit for relieving Coughs, Hoarseness and Irritation of throats of great benefit in Long Troubles, Bronchitis and Asthma. Free from opiates or any harmful ingredient. Price, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00 per box. Sample mailed on request.

JOHN I. BROWN & SON, Boston, Mass.

A DOSE OF PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

is as safe as it is effective. Guaranteed to contain no opiates. It is very palatable too—children like it.

All Druggists, 25 Cents

Interesting Kentucky News

DOCKET OF COURT OF APPEALS

For January Term Will Be a Record-Breaker.

Frankfort, Ky.—No time for play will be had by the judges of the court of appeals during the January term for Napier Adams, clerk of the appellate court, has completed the docket for the January term, and it is long and replete with difficult law cases. There are 20 commonwealth cases which will be disposed of before the civil and equity cases are taken up. There are 268 appearance and continued cases, so that altogether the docket for the January term will be put down as a record-breaker. Clerk Adams has noted on the docket that March 29 will be the last day for filing appeals for the April term. The docket contains many important cases involving a new construction of the law, as is the case with each docket of a term. During the September term there were some very important cases decided, and among them were the cases of the Kentucky racing commission against the Latonia Agricultural association, James H. Parrish against the commonwealth, Beach Hargis against the commonwealth, and a number of cases involving the local option and educational laws of the state. The January term begins the first Monday in January.

MILITIAMEN LOSE CASE.

Judge Evans Holds First Regiment Is Not a Part of U. S. Army.

Louisville, Ky.—Capt. Clements and other officers of the First regiment, arrested for failure to attend drill, and who secured their release from the militia authorities on writs of habeas corpus, lost their cases in the United States court. Judge Evans held that the First regiment was not a part of the United States army, and said the officers and men were representing the state.

Danville, Ky.—Nathan Pipes, a wealthy farmer, charged with poisoning four brood mares and 20 export steers belonging to his neighbor, W. G. Cowan, was acquitted at the examining trial in Hustonville. The stock was poisoned by paris green given them in salt. A tin bucket found in the field contained particles of salt and paris green. Gov. Willson and Farmer Cowan have both offered rewards for the capture of the guilty parties.

Lexington, Ky.—Claude E. King, of this city, who alleges that he was wrongfully ejected from a Cincinnati Southern train at Erlanger, Ky., last October, brought suit against the company for $2,000. King claims that he bought a ticket to Lexington for $8.40 at the office of the C., L & L., in Chicago, and that he was traveling on this ticket when the conductor put him off the train.

Lexington, Ky.—Matt S. Cohen, who was the leader of the faction opposing that headed by Gen. John B. Castleman for control of the American Saddle Horse Breeders' association, announced that a compromise had been effected and that the suit filed in Louisville last April has been withdrawn. The factions are reunited and will work earnestly for the motives of the association.

Frankfort, Ky.—Because the names of several stations on the Frankfort & Cincinnati railroad were the same as those of stations on the Louisville & Nashville railroad the names of three stations between this city and Georgetown have been changed. Johnson is called Schiff, Elkhorn is called Elsonore and Summit Top Land.

Lexington, Ky.—The athletic committee of Kentucky State university has made a proposition to Jesse Tannehill, of the Washingtons, whose home is at Newport, to come here early in March and coach the university baseball team. It will be indoor work, by way of preparation for spring practice.

Louisville, Ky.—The strange disappearance of a father and child was reported to Chief of Police Lindsay by Mrs. William Spaulding, of 2722 Cedar street, who told the chief that her husband, about 25 years old, and their daughter, Estella, 3 years old, left home and have not been heard from since.

Lexington, Ky.—Chief of Police Reagan has begun a crusade against the working of insufficiently fed, lame and decrepit horses in this city. He notified owners of a number of teams to get new horses or submit to arrest on charges of cruelty to animals.

Mt. Sterling, Ky.—The democratic members of the house and senate will hold separate caucuses at Frankfort to select candidates for speaker, president, clerks and other officers on Jan. 3. A joint caucus will be held Jan. 4.

Cleveland, O.—Mayor-elect Herman Baehr appointed Andrew B. Lea, a democrat, and former county engineer, as director of public service, and Frank G. Hogen, president of the Cuyahoga Roofing Co., director of public safety

INDICTMENT IS FOUND

By Federal Grand Jury Against Big Grain Concern.

Catlettsburg, Ky.—As the result of an investigation which has been in progress for several weeks under the direction of the division of prosecutions of the interstate commerce commission, the United States grand jury of the eastern district of Kentucky, it is reported, voted to return an indictment against the Van Leunen Co., an Ohio corporation, engaged in the grain and hay business in Cincinnati and Covington, for underbilling of weights. The bill contains a number of counts. The Van Leunen Co. is charged in the indictment with making a false report of the weight on 10 different shipments of hay from Covington to various points in the south. It is said that the investigation was started at the instance of the southern weighing and inspection bureau, which has jurisdiction over practically all of the railroads south of the Ohio river. Several months ago officers of the bureau reported to the interstate commerce commission their suspicions that correct weights were not being given for record.

RECORD BUSINESS DONE

By Kentucky's Secretary of State in Issuing New Charters.

Frankfort, Ky.—Secretary of State Bruner filed his report with Auditor James of the number of articles of incorporation filed with him from Dec. 1, 1908, to Dec. 1, 1909. There have been 725 domestic companies organized and 169 foreign corporations have filed articles, making a total of 894 articles of incorporation filed during the year. The capital stock represented by the articles is $150,000,000 in round numbers, one of the largest, if not the largest, amounts for any one year since the creation of the office of secretary of state.

NEW CHARTER ADOPTED

By Burley Society Without Insurance Feature.

Frankfort, Ky.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Burley Tobacco society here it was decided to drop the insurance feature of the Burley Tobacco and Insurance Co., and file articles of incorporation of the Burley Tobacco Co. The capital will be fixed at $2,000,000. The attorneys of the Burley Tobacco society were instructed to draw up the new articles of incorporation and file them at once.

Lexington, Ky. — Superintendent Dave Peel, of the St. James stud, left here for New York to receive the imported stallion St. Savin, by St. Simon—Aboyne, by Hampton, which will arrive from England on the Minneapolis. Peel will bring the stallion to Lexington. Sanford Lyne is in receipt of a letter from his son, Jockey Lucien Lyne, in which the rider advises him that he will spend the winter in Switzerland.

Frankfort, Ky.—The Blue Grass Poultry and Pet Stock association's show will be held in Lexington, Jan. 10 to 14 inclusive. A meeting of the poultry breeders of Kentucky will be held at th's show for the purpose of organizing a state poultry association, and the state meeting of the National Black Langshan club will be held at the same time.

Louisville, Ky.—In the federal court Judge Evans granted an appeal to the supreme court of the United States in the case involving the validity of the claim of the Cumberland Telephone Co. (the Bell organization) to a perpetual franchise in Louisville. This claim was recently passed upon favorably by Judge Evans.

Lexington, Ky.—On the petition of the Burley Tobacco society in circuit court an order restraining John G. Witt, of Clark county, and the Central Kentucky Tobacco Warehouse Co., of this city, from selling a four-acre crop of pooled tobacco was granted.

Lexington, Ky.—The campaign to lift the Young Men's Christian association's debt of $55,000 and to save its building in this city, closed successfully. The committee in charge reported that it has $59,032 in cash and pledges.

Bowling Green, Ky.—Sister Jane Cowan, 80, and for 40 years head of the Shaker colony at South Union, is dead. To her influence is due in a large measure the holding together of the colony, which owns 10,000 acres of the finest land in this section.

Lexington, Ky.—Dave Brewer, a saloonist, was shot and killed by Thos. Sloan, a horse trader, in William Morton's grocery and saloon here. Brewer and Sloan were friends and had been on a drinking excursion to various saloons.

Toledo, O.—That clever bill raisers are working Toledo was learned when the cashier of the Mechanics' Savings bank discovered that a five-dollar bill of the Second National bank, Toledo, had been raised from $5 to $10.

WATCHFUL GROCERS

Will See That Peddlers Do Not Sell Without License.

Frankfort, Ky.—Thirty-five to 40 detectives will be turned loose in this city for the remainder of the year to find out who have and have not licenses, and the city council will be asked by each member of the Retail Grocers' association in Frankfort to pass an ordinance protecting their business to the extent of putting a license on peddlers of groceries, meats and canned goods. Each member of the Retail Grocers' association will make a special effort to find out who has and who has not licenses, and the matter will be reported to City Marshal Williams, who will take up the case and find out if the peddler reported has the necessary license. It is believed by the members of the Retail Grocers' association that hundreds of dollars will be collected for the city from this source.

GOVERNOR ACTS AS JUDGE

And Imposes Fine of $100 Against Adjt. Gen. Johnston.

Frankfort, Ky.—Assuming the authority of the court, and, at the same time, acting as the state's chief executive, Gov. Willson convicted Adjt. Gen Philip P. Johnston of the charge that he assaulted Denny B. Goode, a Louisville editor, imposed a fine of $100 and then ordered that all criminal prosecution now pending against the adjutant general be dismissed. The adjutant general must pay the $100 fine, says the governor.

Lexington, Ky.—San Francisco (2:07¾), the 6-year-old trotter by Zombro (2:11), out of Oniska, by Nutwood Wilkes, second dam Bay Line, by Direct Line, has been purchased by L. V. Harkness from W. P. Hodges, of Detroit, and is now at Walnut Hall farm. There are, however, some contingencies, and until these are straightened out the purchase price, which is said to be considerably in excess of $10,000, will not be paid.

Frankfort, Ky.—National banks in Kentucky must pay their state taxes just the same as state banks, is the decision of the court of appeals, Judge Hobson writing the opinion, in the case of D. P. Richardson, city tax collector of Frankfort, against the State National bank of this city.

Lexington, Ky.—At a meeting of the Lexington Commercial club President Watkins was instructed to call a mass meeting of citizens for Dec. 20 to discuss the advisability of seeking through the next session of the legislature a commission form of government for this city.

Lexington, Ky.—Coincident with an examination of the books of the Lancaster Building and Loan association, which is being made in this city by John H. Danahy, J. C. Hemphill, secretary of the association, was arrested at Lancaster on the charge of embezzlement.

Frankfort, Ky.—The state convention of the Kentucky Union of the American Society of Equity will be held at Frankfort Jan. 13 and 14. Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, of Scott county, is president of the Kentucky society.

Frankfort, Ky.—The East Tennessee Telephone Co. announced that, beginning the first of the year, all country phones are to be put on a standard rate basis of $1.55 per phone for the first five miles and 25 cents for each additional mile.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—President A. B. Newell, of the Tennessee Central, stated while here that very probably that road would put into operation in the near future an auto car, to make hourly trips between Hopkinsville and Clarksville.

Williamstown, Ky.—It is stated here that instead of erecting a new scaffold on which to hang the negro, Earl Thompson, the gallows on which Jackson and Walling, the Pearl Bryan slayers, were hung, will be used.

Frankfort, Ky.—At a meeting of the capitol commission it was decided that the dedication exercises of the capitol would not be held until May 24, 1910. The capitol can not be completed before that time.

Madisonville, Ky.—A rescuing party found the bodies of the seven miners entombed in the Baker mine, of the West Kentucky Coal Co., near Wheatcroft. The men had been entombed when an explosion, presumably caused by a wild shot, resulted in a cave-in.

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Willson offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the kidnapers of Alma Katherine Kellner, of Louisville. The reward will not be paid unless there is a conviction.

Oxford, O.—John E. Chatten, 82, who has been an Odd Fellow longer than any other man in the state, was presented with a handsome gold jewel by Invincible Lodge No 138. Mr. Chatten joined the local lodge in January, 1849.

NOTHING REMARKABLE.

The Mayor—Just think, admiral, I've married 20 people in two hours.

The Admiral—Well, that's only ten knots an hour.

FOR THE PUBLIC

New Formula Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Hoarseness in Five Hours.

Much is being done in these days to stop the ravages of consumption, but probably nothing has been so effective as teaching the public how to break up a cold and cure coughs, bronchitis, tonsilitis, etc., with simple home-mixed medicine. A laxative cough syrup, free from whiskey is the prime need. A cough indicates inflammation and congestion and these in turn are due to an excess of waste and poisons in the system. A tonic laxative cough syrup rids the system of congestion, while relieving the painful coughing. Get the following and mix at home: One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one pound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less, according to age. Cut this out and save it for some friend.

Rather Ambiguous.

The Rev. Mr. Dozen had not gained the golden opinions of his congregation, who were unanimous in asserting that he was foolish and conceited.

He considered himself greatly slandered, and, meeting an old German friend of his in the street one day, began to retail his woes, ending up by saying:

"And the church warden actually called me a perfect ass. My cloth prevented me from resenting insults, but I think I shall refer to it in the pulpit next Sunday. What would you advise?"

"Mine friendt," replied the German soothingly, "I know not, but I tink dat all you can do vill be youst to bray for them as usual!"—Detroit News-Tribune.

The Mother of Invention.

An insurance man in a small town was giving a dinner to a friend particularly high up in insurance circles. Alas! he recalled at the last moment his friend smoked. It was too late. Every cigar stand was closed. What could he do? An idea occurred to him and he went out into the hall. There hung his friend's overcoat. It might contain—he was now searching the pockets. In a moment he brought forth a cigar.

Nonchalantly he returned to the library. "Ah," he said, pausing on the threshold, "here is an unusually fine cigar. Will you not try it? I don't smoke, you know."

A Test.

"Well," said Mr. Cumrox, "your party was a great success."

"How can you tell?" asked his wife.

"Whenever a crowd comes along that makes me feel like a stranger in my own house I know it's a brilliant occasion."

Worth Its Weight in Gold.

PETTIT'S EYE SALVE strengthens old eyes, tonic for eye strain, weak, watery eyes. Druggists or Howard Bros., Buffalo, N. Y.

A married man can always get a little off his sentence for bad behavior.

The Wretchedness of Constipation

Can quickly be overcome by CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Purely vegetable—act surely and gently on the liver. Cure Biliousness, Headache, Dizziness, and Indigestion. They do their duty.

Small Pill, Small Dose, Small Price.

GENUINE must bear signature: Brent Good

WESTERN CANADA

What Prof. Shaw, the Well-Known Agriculturist, Says About Its ——

"I would sooner raise cattle in Western Canada than in the corn belt of the United States. Cattle can be cheaper and often better fed on the prairies. Your markets will improve faster than your farmers will produce the supplies. Wheat can be grown up to the 60th parallel [illegible] north of the International boundary. Your vacant land will be taken at a rate beyond [illegible] expectation. We have enough room in the United States alone who want homes to take up this land." Ready

70,000 Americans

will enter and make their homes in Western Canada this year. 1909 produced another large crop of wheat, oats and barley. In addition to which the cattle exports was an immense item. Cattle raising, dairying, mixed farming and grain growing in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Free homestead and pre-emption areas, as well as land held by railway and land companies, will provide for millions.

Adaptable soil, healthful climate, splendid schools and churches, and good railways.

For settlers' rates, descriptive literature "Last Best West," how to reach the country and other particulars, write to Dept. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or to the Canadian Government Agent.

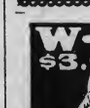
R. M. WILLIAMS
Law Building, Toledo, Ohio
(Use address nearest you)

Salts and Castor Oil—bad stuff—never cure, only makes bowels move because it irritates and sweats them, like poking finger in your eye. The best Bowel Medicine is Cascarets. Every Salts and Castor Oil user should get a box of CASCARETS and try them just once. You'll see. 224

CUT THIS OUT, mail it with your address to Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago, Ill., and receive a handsome souvenir gold lion Lion FREE.

A Light or a Close Shave
NO STROPPING NO HONING
TRADE Gillette MARK
KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

KNOWN SINCE 1836 AS RELIABLE
PLANTEN'S TRADE MARK
C & C OR BLACK CAPSULES
SUPERIOR REMEDY for URINARY DISCHARGES
DRUGGISTS or BY MAIL on RECEIPT of 50
H. PLANTEN & SON 93 HENRY ST. BROOKLYN N



PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or mail. U.S. mail box. Agents wanted. Get catalog. Fur Journal Newsletter

PATENTS FRANKLIN H. HOUGH, Washington, D. C. No attorney's fee until patent is obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 52-1909.

For DISTEMPER Pink Eye, Epizootic, Shipping Fever & Catarrhal Fever

Sure cure and positive preventive, no matter how horses at any age are infected or exposed. Liquid, given on the tongue; acts on the Blood and Glands; expels the poisonous germs from the body. Cures Distemper in Dogs and Sheep and Chicken in Poultry. Largest selling live stock remedy. Cures La Grippe among human beings and is a fine Kidney remedy. 50c and $1 a bottle. $5 and $9 a dozen. Cut this out. Keep it. Show to your druggist, who will get it for you. Free Booklet, "Distemper, Causes and Cures." Special agents wanted.

Chemists and Bacteriologists SPOHN MEDICAL CO., GOSHEN, IND., U. S. A.

THE FIRST APPLICATION OF RESINOL STOPS ITCHING

ITCHING ERYSIPELAS PETTLE RACH POISON IVY ECZEMA SCALDS

CHAFING ABRASIONS RING WORM ERUPTIONS HERPES BURNS

In itching and irritable conditions of the skin produces a feeling of comfort to the sufferer never before experienced. It is the recognized specific for itching piles and the standard remedy in eczema. 50 cents a jar all druggists, or sent direct on receipt of price.

RESINOL CHEMICAL COMPANY, BALTIMORE, MD.

As an application for Eczema, Burns and Scalds, I consider Resinol Ointment better than anything else. Mrs. George H. Brash, Beatrice, Neb.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.00 $3.50 & $4.00 SHOES

THE LARGEST MANUFACTURER OF MEN'S FINE SHOES IN THE WORLD

Wear W. L. Douglas comfortable, easy-walking shoes. They are made upon honor, of the best leathers, by the most skilled workmen, in all the latest fashions. Shoes in every style and shape to suit men in all walks of life.

If I could take you into my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer and are of greater value than any other make.

CAUTION.—See that W. L. Douglas name and the retail price is stamped on the bottom. Take No Substitute.

BOY'S SHOES $2.00 & $2.50

Wherever you live, W. L. Douglas shoes are within your reach. If your dealer cannot fit you, write for Mail Order Catalog. W. L. Douglas, Brockton, Mass.

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

Finley Shepard, of Berkshire, was a visitor here Friday.

Dr. J. G. Slater spent Wednesday in Cincinnati on business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Edwards spent last Thursday in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Northcutt spent last Thursday in Cincinnati.

Silas Lamkin, of Big Bone Springs, spent Friday here on business.

Mrs. E. K. Stephens enjoyed a pleasant visit to Cincinnati last Wednesday.

Mrs. Delia Percival, of Banklick, spent part of last week here with her cousin, Mrs. J. G. Tomlin.

Miss Sallie Herndon, of Ludlow, arrived here Saturday on a visit to her sister Mrs. J. G. Tomlin.

A. Ralph Edwards, the popular deputy postmaster, spent Saturday in Cincinnati with friends.

Hon. John C. Byland spent part of last week in Louisville in relation to his insurance business.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Moore are arranging to go to Florida to spend a part of the winter months.

Miss Graham Roberts, the popular telephone operator at Walton spent a day last week in Cincinnati.

Joseph Schulker, an enterprising farmer of Kenton county, near Demossville, was here Friday on business.

J. E. Kenney, one of the up-to-date farmers of the Beaver Lick neighborhood, was a visitor to friends here Friday.

A. B. Tompkins, the hustling traveling salesman for the Graf, Morsback Saddlery Company of Cincinnati, spent part of last week here with his family.

Dr. and Mrs. B. K. Menefee and two daughters Misses Cecile and Marie spent part of last week in Cincinnati with friends.

Dr. C. T. Coleman spent part of the past week in Kenton county visiting his parents and enjoying the country life on the farm.

Mrs. Mollie Ford spent last Friday in Cincinnati visiting her son Claude Ford who is paying teller in the Fifth-Third National Bank.

Lost—Large black silk muffler, between Burlington and Walton, last Saturday. Return to Recorder office or to J. D. Daubman, Walton.

Rev. Jas. W. Rogers left, Friday, for Napoleon, Gallatin county, on a visit to his old home and many friends, expecting to remain there several days.

Mrs. W. B. Lamaster, of Lexington, spent the past week here the guest of Rev. and Mrs. D. T. Buck, and all enjoyed a visit to Cincinnati last week.

Miss Fannie Mae Buck, who is teaching school in Hunters Bottom, Carroll county, arrived home Saturday to spend the holidays here with her home folks.

Rev. J. B. Harris, who has been at the bedside of his wife who has been quite ill, returned to Lexington, Saturday, to resume charge of his work as pastor of the Epworth church, expecting to remain several days.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Snedker and daughter, Miss Grace, of Cincinnati, Iowa, who have been here on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Daubman, left last Friday for California, where they expect to make their future home.

A. B. Tompkins' baby son, John Carroll Hamilton, became quite ill with tonsilitis and had a high fevee and the danger of traveling caused them to postpone for the presen t their contemplated trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Wm. Miller, of near Butler, Pendleton county, who recently bought twenty acres of land near Richwood, from Mrs. Johnny Carpenter—DeMoisey for $1,500, was here last Thursday arranging to close a contract with George P. Nicholson to build a nice two story house on the ground.

J. Wait Cross, who has been traveling for the Capewell Horse Nail Company, in Missouri, arrived home last week to spend the holidays after an absence of several months during which time he had remarkable success as a salesman. Mr. Ceross' many friends were pleased to welcome him home and proud of his success.

Chas. T. Best spent part of last week in Bracken county, with relatives and friends near Brookville, and while there purchased a fine span of horses by Bracken Chief for S. C. Hicks for $700. The horses are a very fancy drivers, sixteen hands, gravel, and six and seven years old, respectively. Messrs. Hicks and Best bought them for a special customer.

Irvin E. Jones, the popular county assessor of Gallatin county, residing at Napoleon, was here Wednesday, enroute to Burlington, to appear before the grand jury by special summons. Mr. Jones made the race for the Democratic nomination for sheriff of Gallatin county not long ago but was defeated by Geo. W. Snyder of Warsaw, in a very closely contested race.

The Sunday schools of the M. E. and Christian church at Walton will meet at their respective churches, Friday morning, Dec. 24, at 11 o'clock, to dispense the gifts and Christmas offerings usually given the members of the Sunday school at this season. At seven o'clock the same evening the members of both churches will hold a union service at the Christian church, and a most enjoyable evening is promised all who attend.

The big saw mill of George W. Maines began sawing last week. Mr. Maines has been very busy the past several months storing his mill yard with logs, timber that he has purchased from the farmers in this locality, and he now has over one thousand fine logs, chiefly large oak that he is cutting into lumber. His teams did most of the hauling during the good weather and dry roads, and will do the sawing when conditions for haulng is not so favorable.

Frank R. Buck, the popular son of Rev. D. T. Buck, was united in the bonds of holy wedlock to Miss Elizabeth Borham, of Wisconsin, in the parlors of the Grand Hotel, Cincinnati, Dec. 22d, in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The young couple will make their home in Chicago. Mr. Buck is connected with a large lumber concern and is one of the best young men to be found anywhere, having a high moral standard, industrious and enterprising, and of the highest intellectual qualifications. His charming bride has resided in Chicago for some time, where the young couple first met and their acquaintance developed an affection that lead to the marital altar, and their many freinds hope for them long, happy and prosperous life together.

Married—Charles Ransler and Miss Katie Bentz were united in the bonds of holy wedlock at the Fifth street Christian church, Covington, at high noon last Thursday, Dec. 16th, Rev. Edgar Riley, of the Christian church, Burlington, performing the ceremony in his usual happy but impressive manner. The young couple were accompanied by George J. Grubbs and Miss Myrtle Murphy, of Walton, and Lewis DeMarque and Arthur Crouch, of Erlanger. The bride was attired in silk wisteria and the groom wore the conventional black. The happy young couple left that evening to spend part of their honeymoon with relatives and friends at Lexington and Paris. The groom is one of the finest young men in Boone county and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ransler, of Walton. He has all of the excellent gentlemanly qualities that stamp him as a first class citizen and worthy of the splendid young lady he won for his bride. The bride is a pretty and charming young lady, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bentz, and is very popular with a large circle of friends because of her sunny disposition and lovable womanly qualities. The host of friends of the young couple wish them unalloyed bliss and a long and prosperous life together. Both are active in every good and moral work in the community and their useful lives make them valuable to society and the higher aspirations in life, and both are beloved by the entire community.

For Sale--A thoroughbred Jersey heifer. Call on W. O. Richey.

VERONA.

N. B. Hamilton and family have moved to their town residence.

Ray Stone, of Georgetown College, is home for the holidays.

Mrs. J. G. Kennedy and daughter spent Saturday in Cincinnati.

Pauline McCormack has been quite sick during the past week.

Ben Wisenberg spent part of the past week in Covington and Cincinnati.

Miss Mattie May spent Saturday and Sunday with her brother at Sulphur.

Mrs. Dudley Vest spent part of the past week with her son, Atty. John L. Vest, at Walton.

Mrs. Wm. Hume and little daughter left, Tuesday, for Nashville, Tenn., to visit her mother.

E. C. Showers, the popular druggist, of Crittenden, was calling on his parents here, last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Powers and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hume spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hume.

Mrs. Laura Gaines, who has a profitable dressmaking and millinery establishment at Russell, is home visiting her mother and little son.

There will be a Christmas tree at New Bethel Baptist church, Friday evening Dec. 24th, given by the S. S. Everybody cordially invited to bring gifts for the tree and watch Kris Krinkle distribute them among their friends. Admission for adults 5 cents; children, 12 years of age and under, free. Doors open at 7 p. m.

HAMILTON.

A merry Christmas to all.

J. L. Jones shipped a bunch of very fine hogs to market, one day last week.

The river is full of ice, and if this cold weather lasts a few days longer it will be blocked.

Charlie Feldhaus has gone to the sunny South to visit relatives and friends during the holidays.

Bert Stone vacated the Kite property, moving to Jesse Gregory's place, in Indiana, one day the past week.

One of the large hogs of Kirb Crisler, of Grange Hall, was driving to Hamilton for shipping, got overheated and died.

The Hamilton school is doing nicely under the management of Miss McAtee. The children all seem to be much pleased with her.

Most of the tobacco in this section that was not in the pool, was sold to Brodle, of Rising Sun for good prices, and has been delivered.

Homer Shinkle and wife, of Terre Haut, Indiana, are at his father's, Wm. Shinkles to spend the holidays. Homer has a good job on the railroad.

The court of appeals has reversed the Clark county circuit court in the action wherein it appointed a receiver for the Burley Society. The opinion is very brief and says that the action asking for a receiver was premature and that none should have been appointed. The money which had been turned over to receiver will be returned to the society.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. B. B. Allphin, of Walton, is the guest of Mrs. B. B. Hume.

Garnett Tolin arrived home last Thursday from Danville to spend the Christmas vacation.

Mrs. Ada Conner has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Nannie McAtee, in Ludlow, for several days.

Mrs. Belle Brady fell over a coal vase in her room, a few days ago, and was hurt considerably.

Miss Virginia Botts and Bernice Corbin, of Belleview, were guests at D. M. Snyder's Saturday night and Sunday.

W. M. Rogers, of Walton, is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. C. C. Roberts. Mr. Rogers was four scorc and ten years old last Sunday.

J. Esten Snyder, of Bullittsville precinct, representing The Radium Sanitary Co., of Cincinnati, was a caller at this office, last Friday. He has been a knight of the grip for several years, and is quite a successful salesman for any linc of goods he represents, besides being an all-round gentleman.

Miss Mildred Gullion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Gullion, of Carrollton, who is official stenographer for this judicial district, was present during the trial of the suit against the Walton Brick Company. Miss Gullion's mother is a daughter of the late John O. Campbell, many years ago proprietor of the Boone Hotel in Burlington. Miss Mildred is a very competent official, of a retiring disposition and her very ladylike manners make admirers of all. She met many of her mother's old associates while here.

LIMABURG.

Aunt Betty Aylor is still sick.

Chester Tanner and wife spent Sunday with J. W. Utz.

Oliver Russ spent Sunday with parents in Taylorsport.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rouse starts, Monday, for the sunny south.

Jake Utzinger and wife spent Sunday with Ed AndeUrson and family.

Ezra Popham raised corn this year that yielded 100 bushels to the acre.

Miss Laura Aylor entertained several of her school friends Sunday afternoon.

Clifford Tanner, wife and son, James Louis, spent Sunday with Major Popham and family.

While going to the I. O. O. F. Lodge, Saturday night, James Brown's horse fell in front of C. W. Myers' store and seriously injured his left limb.

Stung For 15 Years

by Indigestion's pangs— trying many doctors and $200.00 worth of medicine in vain. B. F. Ayscue, of Ingleside, N. C., at las t used Dr. King's New Life Pills, and writes they wholly cured him. They cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headachh, Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowel troubles. 25c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

FURS WANTED.

We want 5,000 Minks.
50,000 Muskrats,
20,000 Skunks,
10,000 Raccoons,
15,000 O'possums.
B. F. Wilson Fur Co., Tuscola, Illinois, Box. 17.

Reduction Sale.

Desiring to reduce my stock of goods, preparatory to moving my place of business, I will sell from now until Jan. 1. all untrimmed hats from 25c to 75c; Pattern hats at $1.50 to $3.50; all ribbons at cost—Veils, Ladies' and Children's Hose and Supporters, Underwear, Belts, Barettes, Kerchiefs, Scarfs, etc. Come early and get choice. Thanks for past favors. Sincerely,

dec8-4t MRS. B. L. CLEEK.

When Sick

Women suffering from headache, backache, pain inside, or nervousness, or any other ailment resulting from female trouble, should get Cardui and use it regularly. Cardui has been found, by thousands of ladies, to relieve female weakness, by restoring to health the weak womanly organs.

Take CARDUI

Mrs. F. S. Mills, Murietta, Calif., tried Cardui and writes: "I don't think anyone can recommend a medicine more highly than I can Cardui. I had a mishap, followed by inflammation. I positively believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui. When I began taking it, I could not stand on my feet. After taking two bottles, I was cured, and I now weigh 165 pounds." Try Cardui—It will help you. Sold everywhere.

E 45

For Sale—Fine Percheron stallion. For particulars call on or address C. L. Voshell, Moores Hill, Indiana, R. D. No. 2.

Now is the time to Buy a Piano for Christmas.

We will Save you $100.00 on a strictly

High Grade Piano or Player Piano.

THE TONE, QUALITY AND DURABILITY OF OUR PIANOS CANNOT BE EXCELLED ANYWHERE.

Cash or Easy Payments. Large Stock to Select from

When in Covington call in and see us.

Ben J. Wagner Company,

NO. 82 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

Watch Values at Motch's

Is a generally accepted fact made positive by a long Established record. The principal reason is this—we sell our Watches under a Guarantee of reliability and accuracy that protects the buyer absolutely—and we show you over 500 watches to

MAKE YOUR SELECTION FROM.

FOR THE LADIES.		FOR THE GENTLEMEN.
LADIES' SOLID GOLD Watches, plain and engraved	$16 up	GENTLEMEN'S WATCHES Solid Gold from.....	$30 up
LADIES' SOLID GOLD Watches, set with diamonds	$25 up	GENTLEMEN'S "Very Thin" open face Elgin or Waltham	$15 up
LADIES' GOLD FILLED Watches, Elgin movement	$10 up	GENTLEMEN'S Gold filled Watches, any mov. you want	$8 up
LADIES' 25-yr CASE, fitted with our "Motch Special" mo	$14 up	GENTLEMEN'S Nickle Watches.....	$1 up

BEST WATCH OFFERED AT ANYWHERE NEAR THE PRICE.

MOTCH, THE JEWELER,

613 Madison Avenue, - Covington, Kentucky.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.
S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

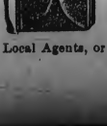
Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated--A. D. 1892.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50,000. Surplus, $10,000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.



Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE US.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

FINE DRIVING SNOW CANNOT PENETRATE

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

THIS is only one of the advantages of these shingles.

They're fireproof, windproof, make the handsomest kind of a roof, and when they are once on they're there to stay, for "Cortright Metal Shingles" last as long at the building itself.

No trouble, no care; a coat of paint once every five years is all the attention they need.

Yes, they're cheap, quite cheap, considering their advantages, and we're sure you'll be more than satisfied with them from the minute you see them on your roof.

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

Warning to Hunters.

Any person or persons trespassing or hunting with dog or guns on the lands of the undersigned will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

WALTON PRECINCT.

W. H. Senour	W. E. Dixon
G. W. Taylor	M. E. Fields
G. E. Carroll	Bryant Campbell
J. C. Byland	Mrs Jane Kennedy
J. C. Mayhugh	A. R. Johnson
Robt. Chambers	L. S. Wolfe
Ira Aylor	S. C. Hicks
Batty Long	J. S. West
Lawrence Ryan	Clay Baker
S. Taylor	John Maidis
S. M. Hudson	R. O. Hughes
Theo. Kennedy	Martha C. Hudson
Ben Cleek	Rebecca J. Hudson
J. C. Bedlinger	Kate Hudson
John Goodridge	O. S. Glacken
J. J Hudson	Geo W Ranson
Rev. Lafe Johnson farm.

BURLINGTON PRECINCT.

Mrs Elizabeth Utz	W L B Rouse
Oscar Gaines	Bart E Aylor
Clarence Easton	Karl Rouse
T. J. Walton.	Peter Buchart.
Hewitt Bros.	Chas. A. Gaines
Mrs. A. Harding.
Minerva Weaver.

BELLEVIEW PRECINCT.

Julia Dinsmore

BULLITTSVILLE PRECINCT.

Mrs Mary Gaines	John W Clore
Elbert Rouse	Huey Aylor
Jeff D Cloud	Harvey Aylor
H L McGlasson	Ben Paddock
R C McGlasson	C E Clore
E J Aylor	Chester Hood

UNION PRECINCT.

E L Rouse	W H Wilson
Jas Delahannty	H F Utz

PETERSBURG PRECINCT.

F M Voshell	C L Voshell

HAMILTON PRECINCT.

R. Lee Huey

C. H. ACRA, AUCTIONEER

GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

STALLION FOR SALE.

Bay Stallion, Five years old, 16 hands high, sired by Addington. W. G. Riddell, Hebron, Ky.

It will pay you to advertise your Business in this Paper. Try it.

BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

ESTABLISHED 1875.
Subsciption $1.50 year.
Try it One Year.

VOL. XXXV. BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 29. 1909. NO 11.

The Recorder Wishes Everybody A Happy and Prosperous New Year

County News Items

Interesting Facts Gathered During the Week by Our Regular Correspondents.

IDLEWILD.

Everybody who has an ice house is filling it with good thick ice.

W. L. Cropper and wife were in Cincinnati, Wednesday, shopping.

Huckster Masters was out last Tuesday gathering up turkeys for the Christmas market.

T. G. Willis and Sol Winkle sold their tobacco, a few days ago to Wingate & Thompson at 12 cents.

James A. Duncan, of Burlington, spent last Sunday with Milton and Andrew Gaines, near here.

Luther Scothorn and wife were entalning their first boy baby. You just ought to see Luther strut.

Geo. McGlasson, of Bullittsville, finished delivering about 350 bushels of wheat to the Petersburg mill, last Tuesday.

If you appreciate you neighbor tell him so. The habit of leaving such courtesies until the man is dead is too common.

Several from here intend going to Lawrenceburg for their holiday supplies, but did not on account of the ice in the river.

Geo. Pfalzgraf is again unable to shoe horses. It is only a question of time when he will have to retire from that work entirely.

No difference what the weather is, there is no use to grumble and complain. The weather is governed by fixed laws of nature and our grumbling will not change it.

John McCoy will move into the house on George Kreylich's place that Sol Winkle will vacate. Sol will move back to Walton's farm in the vicinity of Grandview.

We often hear the expression, "I haven't time." Have you not noticed that men who accomplish the most have time enough for everything and time to enjoy them selves?

There ought to be another saw mill at Idlewiid so as to give the crowd that gathers a good opportunity to see all that is going on. The present mill is too badly crowded.

It would have been a pleasure to atteded the supper at Bullittsville, but owing to our indisposition we deemed it best to give up the pleasure as we would have to be exposed to the bad weather.

T. G. Willis reports hog—killing in the neighborhood a thing of the past for this season. Everyone has some particular part that he is an expert at. Mr. Pfalzgraf, of Idlewiid, cooks out or renders the lard.

We are under obligations to 4 or 5 of our neighbors for favors. We will see that they lose nothing by their kindness. We are always under obligations to James Day. We would be in a bad row for stumps were it not for Mr. Day.

—o—

DEVON.

Miss Bridget Cary was shopping in the city Thursday.

All those who have ice houses better be filling them.

Ollie Rouse lost a valuable colt, recently. It slipped on the ice, and afterwards was killed.

Robert Rouse will spend Christmas week with friends in Independence.

Mr. Herman and Joseph Meiman spent Sunday with John Meiman and family. Herman, who returned recently, from the far west had much to say about the beauty of the western country.

Miss Gertrude and Lorreta Meiman spend Thursday to spend the holidays with their parents. Miss Gertrude brought the glad tidings that she was on the role of honor in her school.

—o—

Wm. Rice and family were guests at Uncle Thos. Rice's, Christmas day.

Miss Emma and Arthur Conley entertained several friends at dinner, Sunday.

Wm. Brown, of Covington, visited his sister, Mrs. Theodore Groger, Christmas day.

Mrs. Edward Lawler, of Norwood, O., will be the guest of relatives here this week.

The friends of Louis Lampton are glad to hear he is improving, and will soon be out again.

Misses Lucy and Evelyn Scott and brothers entertained a number of friends, Sunday evening.

Dr. Shadler, of Oakley, Ohio, arrived here Friday evening and was the guest of his parents until Saturday evening.

Mrs. Sallie Rector returned home Wednesday after spending a fortnight with her daughter, Mrs. Ben Cleek, of Kensington.

Miss Mary Conrad, of Indianapolis, Indiana, arrived Monday evening and will spend the holidays here with her parents.

Several from here attended the dance given by Miss Juanita Williams, of Banklick, Wednesday evening. All reported a fine time.

Emile and Alfred Rivard, of Covington, were guests of their parents, Christmas day. Emile remained over till Monday morning.

Mrs. Kate Cahill, of Indianapolis, arrived Friday evening and was the guest of her son, John, until Monday. She will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Conrad during the coming week.

Mrs. Jeff Carpenter was given a very pleasant surprise Sunday. It being her birthday about forty were present and all had a fine time. She received a number of remembrances. We wish her many many happy returns of the day.

The entertainment given by Miss Sandford's pupils, Thursday evening, was much enjoyed. The children spoke their pieces well, doing credit to themselves and their teacher. The Christmas tree was beautiful. All the pupils were well remembered by Santa Claus. The fish pond added much amusement.

—o—

HATHAWAY.

Those who had sleighs had them out Sunday.

Big Bone Sunday school gave its pupils a treat, Sunday morning.

Santa Claus visited all the little ones in this neighborhood, Friday night.

Ernest McNeely came up from Gallatin county to spend the holidays with his parents.

The schools at this place, and Beech Grove, are both called off until the holidays are over.

The writer and family spent from Saturday morning until Sunday afternoon with G. L. Smith and wife.

This is typical winter weather, a good time to sit by cheerful fires and to feed and care for stock.

Here is wishing the Recorder, its readers and correspondents all a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Clay White, of the north part of the county, came down Sunday evening to spend a day or so with his parents.

Edward Brady and family, John C. White and family, and W. M. Rector and family spent Monday at W. S. White's.

Wood Stephens and Jas. Stephens have recently purchased of Owen Allen the farm he got from F. J. Rue near here. Mr. Rue will move to Petersburg.

Wm. L. Stephens, of near Grange Hall, has rented and will move to Mrs. Eliza Riddell's farm on Gunpowder.

—o—

GUNPOWDER.

There will be a meeting of the F. and U. Telephone Co., Jan. 4th, at 1 o'clock.

H. F. Utz and wife ate turkey with her parents, B. C. Surface and wife, Christmas day.

With a four inch snow and sharp west wind it seemed very much like a Christmas of olden times.

The regular annual congregational meeting will be held at Hopeful, Jan. 6th, at 10:30 a. m.

Those who were fortunate enough to have Christmas turkeys to sell received fancy prices for them.

The Erlanger and Florence banks are making their annual distribution of calendars, the designs of which are very beautiful.

The shower given Miss Jennie Aylor was attended by a large number of her friends. She received quite a number of valuable and useful presents.

In a letter of recent date Rev. J. H. Wakerick said they reached their destination all right and are very comfortably located in their new home.

As was previously announced Mr. Harmon Jones, of Burlington, and Miss Jennie Aylor were married at Erlanger, on the 22d, Rev. Lappin officiating. They have a host of friends who wish them a long and happy life.

The Christmas exercises at Hopeful were a cantata, very appropriate for the occasion and very beautifully rendered by the school. One special feature of the program was a nice treat given each pupil at the close of the exercises. On account of the extreme cold weather there was rather a small attendance.

The Christmas exercises at the Christian church in Florence were attended by a large and attentive audience. The entertainment was splendid and enjoyed by all present. We would especially note the manner in which the little ones acquitted themselves under the training of Mrs. C. C. Bradford, Mrs. Fisk and others. At the closse of the exercises Santa Claus appeared and gladdened the hearts of the little ones by giving each a nice treat of candy and other presents.

Officers Elected.

Burlington Masonic Lodge elected the following officers last Monday afternoon:

W. J. Rice, Master;
Malchus Southgate, Senior Warden;
W. L. Riddell, Junior Warden;
N. E. Riddell, Secretary;
Dudley Rouse, Treasurer;
G. G. Hughes, Steward & Tyler;
Geo. McGlasson, Senior Deacon;
John Cloud, Junior Deacon.

On Friday of next week Grant county will pull off a legal hanging at Williamstown.

RICHWOOD.

The Wolfe Bros., put on 96 shoes, 80 of them with toes in one day.

J. W. and Cary Carpenter and families spent Tuesday with J. T. Powers.

Will Rice and family were Friday, Saturday and Sunday guests of Thomas Rice.

Earl Robinson and Miss Hannah Hearne are home from Lexington for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Carpenter entertained in honor of Mrs. Mary Carpenter, Sunday.

W. E. Glacken, Ben Northcutt, Robt. Robinson and Claude Robinson, of Ludlow, and families spent Christmas day with Gaines Robinson.

Samuel Cummins and family, of Covington, and Mrs. and Miss Daughters, of Cincinnati were guests of Wm. Dobbins Christmas day and Sunday.

One day the past week a woman drove through our town persuading a horse along with a piece of board and as she passed the store she gave him a sound whack which cracked like a pistol. Sam Hick's horse took fright and broke loose and ran into Wood Carpenter's rig tearing it up considerable and then ont o Waiton, where it was captured.

A large crowd attended Miss Anderson's entertainment at Excelsior Grange Hall, Wednesday. An excellent program was carried out, the tableau feature being well received. All the pupiis did exceedingly well and much credit is due Miss Anderson. Mrs. Susie Surface with the organ and Mrs. P. P. Hunter with her Edison phonograph filled in the program. The tree afforded many gifts and much fun.

PLATTSBURG.

Miss Pearl White, of Aurora, is a guest at Tom Barnett's.

Some turkeys have been sold for 20 cents per pound.

Misses Pearl and Emma Aylor left, Tuesday, for a visit with their aunt, Mrs. Frank Maxwell, of Covington.

Courtney Jarrell and wife entertained Ben Hensley and family, James Burnes and family, Joe Pappet and family and several others last Monday.

Quite a crowd gathered at the Woolper school house Sunday afternoon for Sunday school, but the Superintendent failed to arrive and open the house.

—o—

HERE AND THERE.

Here's wishing all a happy and prosperous new year.

Santa Claus presented Jas. Bruce and wife a nice baby boy.

About all the ice-house in this neighborhood have been filled.

J. F. Lambert feasted his children on turkey on Christmas day.

Eighteen cents a pound was the ruling price here for Christmas turkeys.

Leslie Sebree, Harry Passons and Russell Finn spent Christmas in the city seeing the sights.

Leonard Hewitt got one of his hands badly mashed between two cakes of ice one day last week.

Patrons of the Waterloo and Woolper Telephone Co are requested to pay their switch-dues to B. F. Akin at once.

Fox hunters were out in full force last Saturday, expecting their dogs would pick reynard up on the ground, but no such performance been reported yet by any of the owners of the dogs.

We Thank

The People of Boone County for their Liberal Custom that helped to Make this the Biggest of all Years. May you Live Long and Prosper.

Geo. C. Goode

Covington, Ky.

HEBRON.

All who have sleighs are making good use of them.

M. L. Aylor and son, Earl, spent Sunday at James Riddell's.

Mrs. Katharine Hafer, of Florence, is a guest at Lewis Hardin's.

W. H. Clayton and wife spent last week with relatives in Brookville, Indiana.

Wilford Bullock and wife entertained Everett Aylor and wife, of Richwood, Saturday and Sunday.

Emmet Riddell and Miss Olia Dye were united in the holy bonds of wedlock in Covington, last Wednesday, and left Thursday morning to spend part of their honeymoon with relatives in Illinois. A host of friends wish them a happy and prosperous life.

—o—

CONSTANCE.

Heavy ice sent Capt. Kotmyer's ferry boat into the harbor.

The first time for several years there is good coasting on the river hill.

A coal fleet laid up here one night last week on account of ice and dense darkness.

Quite a number of Constance people attended the entertainment at Pt. Pleasant.

An eight year old boy was struck by an engine and killed near Anderson's Ferry, last Friday.

Miss Edith Peno, 17, daughter of James Peno, and Lewis Riddell, 21, of Cincinnati, were married last Wednesday.

Misses Flora Youell and Ida Hodges treated their pupils to candy before dismissing school for the holidays. Miss Ida is spending the holidays at her home in East-bend.

Willis Cox, formerly a resident of this place, was crushed to death on Monday of last week, while at work for the West End Gas Co., Cincinnati. He fell three stories through a chute, followed by 12,000 pounds of coke which fell on him. He was interred in the cemetery here after funeral services conducted by Rev. Mali.

The politicians have made up the slate which they expect to put through as officers of the two houses of the General Assembly when it meets next week.

BELLEVIEW.

Several ice houses here have been filled.

C. H. Acra sells the finest of post cards.

Forest Brown spent Christmas in Owen county.

Continued cold weather caused heavy ice in the river.

Fine sleighing at this writing and the bells are heard often.

Children in this community have fared well in the matter of Christmas presents.

A couple of the daughters of Lucien Ryle, of Indiana, are visiting relatives here.

John and Will Rogers spent a couple of days last week with their brother Ome at Erlanger.

Rev. Edgar Riley will preach at Belleview Christian church on the third Sunday in January at 10:30 a. m.

The entertainment given at the graded school house last Friday afternoon was a success in every particular.

Joseph Mauer entertained all his children at a turkey dinner, a few days since. It was a very enjoyable family reunion.

Ed Rice, of Idlewild, was down Sunday, to meet his uncle, Cal Riddell, of Rabbit Hash, who went back home with him.

Allen Tewel, formerly of Burlington, but now of Indiana, was united in marriage with Miss Ella Gloyd, of Aurora, on the 22nd inst.

Your scribe and wife received a box of turkey, cake, apples and candies presented by Mrs. Joseph Mauer, Mrs. Carrie Staley and Mrs. Clara Smith. Accept thanks, ladies.

The teachers' contest began by the Christian church Sunday school last October has closed, and teachers reported class attendance as follows: Ewing Flick 97, Carrie Staley 65, Carrie Deck 103, Grace Louden 94. The prize was awarded Miss Carrie Deck. The red and the blue button contest will begin next Sunday.

—o—

Heavy ice in the river prevented considerable Kentucky trade from going to Rising Sun, Aurora and Lawreneeburg the latter part of last week.

Remember that next week is the Recorder's bargain week. Read the tree ad in another column, and then send in your dollar and a half.

WILLIAM H. GRIFFITH

A Prominent Citizen of Boone County Passes Away Suddenly at His Home Near Beaver Lick.

Boone county lost one of its best and most highly esteemed citizens last Sunday morning in the death of William H. Griffith, who passed peacefully to his heavenly reward at his home near Beaver Lick, at about 4 o'clock. His death was sudden and a great shock to his large circle of friends and relatives. On Christmas day quite a number of relatives and friends gathered at his home and enjoyed a fine dinner prepared for the occasion, and no one present was happier and jollier than the genial host who declared he never felt better or enjoyed a day more. Alas, how uncertain is life; truly in the midst of life we are in death. Mr. Griffith retired at about nine o'clock, and about four o'clock next morning arose and called his wife, requesting her to get him something to relieve the pain with which he was then suffering. His wife gave him such simple remedies as were at command and called her nearest neighbors to her assistance, but Mr. Griffith soon lapsed into unconsciousness, and died before a physician could reach his bedside. His devoted wife was horror stricken at the suddenness of her husband's death, thinking over the happy, joyful day they had just spent together with their friends. Apoplexy is supposed to have caused his death. Though he had been ill some time before, yet he had not been complaining for some time, and spoke of how well he felt the day before. Mr. Griffith was born in Kenton county, near Covington, May 4th, 1838, and was the eldest son of John W. Griffith, a native of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter-Griffith, a daughter of Rev. Wm. Carpenter, a pioneer minister who came here from Virginia. Mr. Griffith's grandfather, Wm. Griffith, resided on the Brandywine river and his home was Gen. Washington's headquarters during the revolutionary war, and four of his brothers lost their lives on the battlefield for the independence of their country while another brother was so maimed in that sanguinary conflict that he never recovered his manly vigor. Wm. H. Griffith, our departed friend, was one of the best citizens that Boone county ever possessed. His feelings were always awakened by the cry of distress, while every moral religious sentiment received his earnest support. In all these matters he had the helpful co-operation of his devoted wife to whom he was married August 27th, 1868, her maiden name being Miss Hattie Johnson, a daughter of Thos. A. Johnson, deceased. His widow and one daughter, Mrs. R. E. Ryle, and a grandson (William Ryle) three-years old, survive him, as do three brothers, T. J. Griffith, of Verona, J. O. Griffith, of Beaver Lick, and Chas. L. Griffith, of Walton; and two sisters, Mrs. Attilla Finnell, of Union, and Mrs. L. D. Jackson, of Richwood. He united with the Beaver Lick Baptist church in 1883 and was ordained deacon the same year, and was one of its constituted members. He was always devoted to his church and his home was always open to the pastor as his home, setting apart a nicely furnished room that he called the "Preacher's room." He donated a part of his farm to the church for a cemetery, and in this sanctified ground his remains were laid to rest Tuesday morning, the funeral taking place at 11 o'clock, Rev. Wm. McMillan and the pastor, Rev. Lucas, conducting the services in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends. Mr. Griffith resided on the farm on which he died for over fifty-three years, and was in his 72nd year when his useful and praiseworthy life ended on this earth. To the bereaved relatives the heartfelt sympathy of a large circle of sorrowing friends is sincerely tendered. This was the first death in the Griffith family though all have traveled a good journey along life's highway. Chas. Griffith being the youngest, and he has passed the fifty second milestone.

Reply to Kirtley Rice's Card.

You ask some one to answer thru the columns of the Recorder why Christmas is celebrated with Santa Claus, etc. Santa Claus is the offspring of satan; satan is trying to ruin the church of Christ, he has his agents—Santa Claus is one—Santa Claus makes fun for the church. St. Paul says, "Such are lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God." The devil is a great deceiver and liar; he lied to Eve in the beginning—Gen. 3-4. He says to the church of to-day, eat of the fruit of the tree, and ye shall not surely die. When Eve saw the forbidden fruit was pleasant to the eyes, she eats thereof and dies.

Yours very friendly,
JOHN H. CARPENTER.
R. D. 1, Erlanger, Ky.

Mrs. Lydia Scott, 88, widow of the late Charles Scott, a well known Baptist preacher many years ago, died at her home at Crescent Springs, Kenton county, last Friday. Interment at Hebron cemetery.

WANTED—At once, a live agent to handle a high-class proposition in each community. Article sells itself to farmers, merchants and others. Write at once for particulars. W. T. BURNS, Rising Sun, Ind.

J. L. Johnson, many years ago a citizen of this county and who moved to Kingsville, Pulaski co., and from there to Oregon, where he now resides, is visiting his relatives and friends in Walton, this county.

WEDDING AT LANDING.

Mr. John Aylor and Miss Winnefred Jones United in Marriage.

Wednesday, December 22d, at high noon, a very beautiful wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Jones, when their handsome young daughter, Miss Winnefred, was given in marriage to John Aylor, one of our model young men, the ceremony taking place in the parlor of the parental home in the presence of a number of relatives and invited guests. Rev. B. M. Nelson of the Methodist Church tying the nuptial knot in a beautiful and impressive ceremony, binding two happy young lives in that high estate that promises a bright and prosperous future. The bride who is a very pretty young lady of 17, appeared even more attractive than usual in a wedding gown of wisteria silk, while the manly groom wore the usual black. He is in his 19th year, and it was indeed a handsome couple plighting their lives together in this solemn but happy engagement. They were attended by Miss Jane Jones, a sister of the bride, who wore a dress similar to that of the bride, and Mr. Aylor an uncle of the groom. The wedding room was beautifully and tastefully decorated with smilax and ferns, and the approach of the wedding party was delightfully heraled by the sweet strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin from the piano under the skillful touch of Prof. A. Lunburg, with violin accompaniment by Miss Sallie Jones and Fred Miller. Immediately following the ceremony and congratulations all were invited to the dining room where a bounteous feast of all the good things of the season was spread for the delectation of the guests. The tables were nicely arranged and the bride's table was designated by pretty decorations of carnations and ferns. For nearly two hours the guests enjoyed the wedding feast, interspersed with conversation and the merriment incident to the occasion, and truly "all went merry as a marriage bell." After the adjournment from the tables where there was enough left to feed a host, the guests repaired to the parlor where some beautiful selections were rendered on the piano by Miss Marie Allen, Miss Lutie Miller, and Fred Miller on the violin. The sun was kissing the western horizon when the guests departed for their respective homes, all feeling that it was one of the happiest and prettiest weddings they had ever attended. The young couple were the recipients of many valuable, useful and handsome presents, many coming from distant states as kindly remembrances. The groom who is a very promising young man of the highest moral character and industrious habits, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Aylor, and is in every way worthy of the amiable young lady he has won as his bride. A host of friends tender them their heartfelt wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life together. The guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John C. Miller and daughters, Misses Lutie and Jane, and son Fred, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Allen and daughter, Miss Marie, of Walton, Rev. and Mrs. B. M. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs Joseph E. Green, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Aylor and sons Kenneth and Bryan, Miss Cora Aylor, of Covington, J. H. Aylor, daughter, Miss Roxie, and son Will, Robert Aylor and daughter, Mrs. F. M. Howlett and daughter, Miss Ollie, Miss Georgia Carroll, of Louisville, Mrs. L. R. Miller, W. J. Rice and grandsons, Lloyd and Robert Ross, Harry Jones and children, and H. R. Roberts, of Walton.

—o—

Presser-Wingate.

Riley Presser, son of H. C. Presser and wife, of Latonia, and Miss Etta Wingate, were united in marriage a few days ago. The groom has many friends and relatives in this county who congratulate him and his bride.

—o—

Dickerson-Williams Marriage.

Archie Dickersson, : of Union neighborhood, and Miss Alva Williams, daughter of J. W. Williams, the Gunpowder merchant, were married by Rev. Edgar Riley at his residence in Burlington, last Thursday.

—o—

Jones-Aylor Marriage.

Harmon Jones and Miss Jennie Aylor were married on the 22nd inst., and on the Friday following they came to the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jones, who reside two miles west of Burlington, where they were received and entertained in a handsome manner. On Saturday night several of the groom's friends gave the happy couple an old time charivari. Mr. and Mrs. Jones' many friends wish them a most happy and prosperous life.

—o—

Snyder-Cowen Marriage.

Grover Snyder, son of County Superintendent D. M. Snyder, and Miss Edna Cowen, daughter of R. S. Cowen, all of Burlington, hied themselves to Erlanger last Thursday afternoon, where they were met by Rev. H. C. Wayman, pastor of Burlington Baptist church, who united them in marriage. The wedding took place at the residence of W. W. Teliaferro. The young people were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kite, of Waterloo, Mrs. Kite being a sister of the bride. This was one of the quietest weddings in the history of the town, very few knowing anything about it until after the ceremony had been pronounced at Erlanger. The young people have a host of friends who congratulate them and extend their best wishes.

THE RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL, Publisher.

BURLINGTON. - KENTUCKY

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

Latest News of Interest Boiled Down for the Busy Man.

PERSONAL.

Threatened with pneumonia and in a weakened condition, William J. Bryan was forced to cancel his lecture at Jacksonville, Fla. He is under the care of physicians at the residence of his cousin, William S. Jennings, Florida member of the Democratic national committee.

Another young monarch was added to the reigning sovereigns of Europe when Albert I. ascended the throne of Belgium at Brussels. The official ceremony was brilliant and the popular acclaim genuine.

Commander Peary very strongly intimated, in a speech at the banquet of the New England society at New York that the expedition which he led successfully to the north pole might also try for the south pole.

United States Senator A. J. McLaurin expired suddenly from an attack of heart trouble at his home in Brandon, Miss., at the age of 61 years. Death came without the slightest warning.

Percy E. Rockefeller, son of William Rockefeller, is convalescing at Greenwich, Conn., after an operation for appendicitis performed a fortnight ago.

William A. Harris, former United States senator from Kansas and three years ago Democratic candidate for governor of that state, died at the home of Mrs. Lydia M. Mackey, Chicago, of heart disease.

Spencer F. Eddy, who landed at New York and is on his way west, says he resigned as minister to the Balkan states because he has become tired of living abroad.

Owen Kildare, the author and playwright, is critically ill at a hospital in New York. His physicians say that his death may be expected at any time.

Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, criticised the constitution in an address at Washington because it leaves the government no jurisdiction over impure food unless it enters interstate commerce.

Dr. Jose Madriz, former judge of the Central American court of justice at Cartago, and Zelaya's candidate, was elected president of Nicaragua by the unanimous vote of congress. The session was a stormy one, but there seemed to be perfect unanimity with regard to the election of Madriz.

Baroness Vaughan, whom Leopold made his queen in fact, if not in name, quietly left Belgium for France, accepting the hint of the government that if she did not depart voluntarily she would be expelled from the country.

GENERAL NEWS.

The fourth international sanitary convention, called by Dr. Walter Wyman of Washington, chairman of the international sanitary bureau, began its sessions in San Jose, Costa Rica, with all the American republics represented.

Fire that started in the store of the Siegel Company in Grand Rapids, Mich., caused $100,000 damage.

Indefinite postponement of the case of Mrs. Howard Chandler Christy against her husband, the artist, to recover possession of her daughter, is announced at Zanesville, O.

At least three lives were lost and many persons were seriously hurt in a fire which destroyed the big drapery store of Arding & Hobbs at Clapham, a southwestern quarter of London, England. The damage is estimated at $2,500,000. All the customers made their way to the street in safety.

Walter R. Carroll, a former policeman, who was killed by a train at San Jose, Cal., has been identified as a robber who held up many San Francisco drug stores.

Cape Breton was shaken by an earthquake which paralyzed the telegraph system.

Five indictments on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government by the sale of water rights were returned at Boise, Idaho, by the federal grand jury, which has been investigating the affairs of the Great Western Beet Sugar Company, a defunct corporation.

A million-dollar endowment fund for the support of the Florence Crittenton missions throughout the United States will be raised as a memorial to their founder, the late Charles Nelson Crittenton. The movement has been started in New York.

West-bound passenger train on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad collided with a freight train at Blakely, Minn. Fireman Joe Zinnell and Mail Clerk F. Torgerson, both of St. Paul, were killed. None of the passengers was injured seriously.

A gas explosion in mine A of the Chicago & Carterville Coal Company at Herrin, Ill., killed eight men, among them the civil engineer and his helpers. It is supposed that the explosion was caused by the surveyor and his party walking into an old worked-out room which has gas and which was set off by the lamps they carried. Three hundred men escaped uninjured.

The state department at Washington received a cablegram from Consul Moffat, at Bluefields, that a horrible condition is presented at Bluefields as the result of the battle between the Nicaraguan army and the revolutionists and that disease and death by starvation is threatening the 2,000 incapacitated men of both armies. The department started immediate steps for relief in the shape of food, clothing and other supplies, the Red Cross assisting.

Declared to have no equal afloat as a first-class fighting machine, the battleship Utah, the greatest warship ever built in the United States, was launched from the yard of the New York Shipbuilding Company at Camden, N. J.

Secretary MacVeagh and Senator Aldrich, chairman of the senate finance committee, have clashed over the manner of replenishing the treasury, which is rapidly being depleted of its surplus. Aldrich is of the opinion that nothing but an out-and-out bond issue will suffice to strengthen the treasury. Mr. MacVeagh believes that any new bond issue should be delayed as long as possible and that in the meantime the Panama canal bonds already authorized should be issued as a protector for the gold reserve. President Taft has aligned himself with Secretary MacVeagh.

Edward H. Harriman was worth $200,000,000 at the time of his death, although a recent appraisal of his estate placed its value at $149,000,000. Since Mr. Harriman's death his estate has profited by a rise in market values and it is stated that the wealth of Mrs. Harriman may be conservatively estimated at $220,000,000.

A $50,000 monument to firemen of New York city who died at their posts of duty will be built in Union square next year.

An exposition will be held in New Orleans to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal and incidentally the two hundredth anniversary of the founding of the city.

A codicil to the will of George Rbodius, filed for probate, leaves the residue of his estate, or about $500,000, to be applied for improvement of parks in Indianapolis. The original will gives only $50,000 to Elma Date, who has appealed to the Indiana supreme court for the annulment of her marriage to him.

Robbers blew open the safe of the State bank of Centerville, Kan., and escaped with $1,500. One of the robbers was fired upon by C. H. Brown, president of the bank. The robber returned the fire, drove Brown to cover and escaped. Neither was wounded.

Robert E. Entriken, a fireman, was killed and several other persons were injured in fighting a fire at Downington, Pa., which badly damaged the large mill plant of S. A. Bicking & Son.

Estrada forces at Tatumbla and Recreo, near Rama, routed and defeated the forces of Zelaya after desperate fighting of several hours. A great many were killed. One hundred were wounded and 150 prisoners were taken by the revolutionists.

Charles L. Warriner, the defaulting treasurer of the Big Four Railroad Company, when sentenced at Cincinnati to six months at hard labor in the state penitentiary, exclaimed: "I'm free for the first time in ten years."

Reaffirming his complete confidence in Dr. Cook, Rear Admiral W. S. Schley, retired, called publicly upon Commander Peary to submit his proofs that he reached the north pole to some scientific body other than the National Geographic society.

The heaviest snowstorms known in the history of Arizona have tied up freight traffic on the Santa Fe lines in the northern part of the territory and have seriously interfered with the movement of trains on the Southern Pacific farther south. Passenger trains are being operated with difficulty.

During 1909 Columbia university has received gifts reaching nearly $5,000,000, an amount believed to be a record for educational institutions in the east. These include the Crocker gift of $1,500,000 and the Kennedy bequest of $2,500,000.

A hundred or more scantily clad lunatics roamed about the country after being liberated from imprisonment by a fire which destroyed the north wing of the Northern Hospital for the Insane at Jacksonville, Ill. Several firemen were injured by falling walls in the fight to prevent the blaze from spreading to the main part of the building. No one was killed.

St. Paul passenger train No. 43, running north at 35 miles an hour, spread the rails one-half mile east of Good Thunder, Minn., near Mankato, and plunged into the ditch. Forty passengers were hurt, none fatally.

Isaac G. Harriman of Milwaukee, engineer of the train, was held responsible by a coroner's jury for the wreck of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad train near Evanston, Ill., December 12, in which two passengers were killed. Recommendation was made by the jury that he be held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter.

On the answer to the question whether W. J. Laffargue or his wife died first in an automobile accident at Ailain, N. J., depends the distribution of an estate of $100,000 between Mr. Laffargue's son and his wife's two daughters by a previous marriage.

OVERCOMING THE WORLD

By the Rev. J. H. Jowett

"These things have I spoken unto you that in me ye may have peace. In the world ye have tribulation; but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world."—John 16:33.

I HAVE overcome the world." And yet could there be anything more suggestive of failure than the circumstances in which these words were spoken? Treachery had broken out in the disciple band. Judas had gone out bent upon the malign purpose of selling the Lord. A mob was even now assembling to drag him to judgment, and Calvary, and death. And it was in conditions like these that the Master proclaimed his triumph!

And who was the conqueror? A poor Galilean peasant, speaking a provincial accent, obscure and uninfluential, having no place to lay his head! Let me say it again, he is about to be betrayed, to be deserted, to be put to the most contemptuous and humiliating death! And yet this man claims to be wearing the purple of sovereignty, to be trailing mystic clouds of glory even while he was marching to the tomb! He had not gone down before the world, he had not shared its tone, he had not been infected by its contagion, he had not bowed to its compromises, he had not been ensnared by its seductions, he had not sunk to its degradations. He had "overcome the world." Let us contemplate the prominent features of the victory.

He had overcome the smiles of the world. And that is ever the subtlest and most paralyzing of all enticements. If we can make comparisons between the different moments in Christ's life, one would say that the peril was greater when they "took him by force to make him a king" than when "all men forsook him and fled." Many a man can keep his moral health in defeat who is overcome with success. An illustration can be found on the public platform. Every public man knows that there is nothing so insidious as the snare of applause. A man can walk the narrow way when he is confronted by a hostile audience, but he is in great jeopardy when he is met by nothing but cheers. It is then he is liable to be "carried away" by the enthusiasm into grave imprudences. Ben Jonson used to say that "of all wild beasts, preserve me from the tyrant; and of all tame beasts, a flatterer." I suppose that the culminating point of temptation in the life of the apostle Paul was not when he encountered the violence of the mob at Lystra, but when the people magnified his importance and declared that "the gods are come down" in the guise of men. Now, the Lord met this seductive smile of the world, and did not succumb to it. He was not deluded into a shining servitude.

Superior to World's Suspicions.

And Jesus had overcome the suspicions of the world. There is something very affrighting in the contemplation of an untrue eye. Men are frequently overcome by the malicious eyes of their fellows. And this was the kind of "look" which was ceaselessly fixed upon the Lord. "And they watched him!" It is the kind of sight which misinterprets all it sees. It imputes ill motives and turns everything awry. Before that kind of onslaught many men succumb. They are driven from the post of duty by malicious tongues; they retire from the fight. A man said in my hearing some little while ago that "public life has become intolerable," and that he was determined to retire into privacy. And this man allowed the world to drive him from the field of service. But that was not the way of the Master. He would not turn back because men fixed upon him an evil eye. He would not turn aside from the appointed way because of the unfriendly gaze of his enemies. He stood up, and strode on, unaffrighted and undeterred by malice and frown.

And he overcame the contempt of the world. Many a man can bear a wrong who cannot bear an insult. Our Lord was "despised." "He hath a devil and is mad." He was denied common courtesy. He was refused the ordinary amenities of hospitality. There was no water for him when he came in from the dusty way. There was no kiss of recognition and welcome. "He was despised and rejected of men." And yet he was not unmanned by the contempt. It did not make him hard, unforgiving, resentful, and revengeful. It did not turn him sour. He was not overcome by the treatment. He went through it in sovereign and unimpaired health and holiness. All these antagonisms, arising from smiles, and frowns, and contempts, and neglects, he faced and conquered. And in what disposition was the triumph won? He overcame the world by a refusal to stoop to use the powers of the world. He would never use the world's sword. He would never use the fires of persecution. He never put his hand to mere coercives and compulsions. He sought spiritual ends by spiritual means, and he never sought to elicit the aid of unworldly kings. Herod sought his friendship. "He was desirous to see him of a long season," but the Lord refused the intercourse, and "He answered him nothing."

He overcame the world by a calmness that was nourished in heavenly places. He never exposed himself to the peril of feverishness and passion. In the moments of temptation he retired to the mount. Even in the midst of the crowd he had quiet communion with the eternal. He knew how to make a solitude even in the very heart of publicity. He could make a sanctuary amid the very clamor of the market-place. And so he kept his spirit cool, and the perilous fire was never kindled. "I am not alone, the Father is with me."

He overcame the world by a patience which waited for the hour to strike, and which would not be hustled into premature action. One of the first temptations with which the devil assails a man is in the attempt to prove to him that his noble purpose is infamous, or needless, or impossible. If he fails in this temptation he proceeds on quite another tack. Seeing that we are immovable in our resolve, he next attempts to make us precipitate in its execution. "Don't wait," he says. "Get it over at once!" And so we are frequently "rushed," and the holy purpose is spoiled by its lack of holy restraint. Jesus refused to be rushed. "Mine hour is not yet come!" He waited 30 years before beginning his ministry, and there is a wonderful sense of quiet leisureliness about him characterizing even his public life. He waited for the clock to strike, and when it had struck he acted, and never swerved. And he conquered the world by a love that flowed fresh and full to the very end of his days. Even Calvary did not embitter his spirit! Even the shadow of death did not sour his soul by the sense of defeat. The reviling of those who passed by the cross brought no cynical response. And so he died, a conqueror in dying, having overcome the world in the very moment when it seemed the world was most triumphant.

Finding the Perfect Peace.

Now we have to face the same antagonisms. "In the world ye have tribulation." We have to be in the same straits. We have to encounter the perils of the smile, and the frown, and the contempt, and the suspicion, and the neglect. We, too, have to pass from shine into shadow, and to face the menace of the sword and the seductions of the crown. "But be of good cheer, I have overcome the world." But what is that to thee and me? It is everything to thee and me. There is power in the Lord's conquest to make conquerors of all. "In me ye may have peace." Not in ordinances, not in bare religious exercises, not in human fellowship, not in nature's oratory; these may all be helpful means, but they are not radical and ultimate. The deep fundamental peace is to be found only in Christ. "In me ye may have peace," but to be in Christ is to be more than a companion. Earthly relationships supply no word sufficiently intimate and immediate. It is nearer than linked arms and clasped hands; it is the inconceivable union of oneness of spirit. It is the union of the branch with the vine. Our lives can become embedded in the Lord, and his conquering energies, like rising sap, will fill our moral and spiritual powers, until we, too, become triumphant. We become more than conquerors through him that loves us. "Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."—The Standard.

Sowing for Eternity.

"In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening withhold not thine hand."—Eccl. xi. 6.

It is a law of the harvest that we reap more than we sow. Then how careful ought we to be of the seed we are sowing day by day, if we would reap a rich harvest of golden grain for the Master. Very much depends upon the manner in which the seed is sown, and the fertility of the soil to receive the seed, that it may take deep root and spring up and remain productive. In nature, like produces like, often in tenfold ratio. In grace, the seed sown sprang up and brought forth some thirty, some sixty, and some a hundred-fold. Are we sowing constantly what it will be our joy and pleasure to reap in the vast eternity that lies before us all?

Being Through Doing.

It is a great deal more important to do right than it is to want to do right, or to enjoy right. The only people who really hunger and thirst after righteousness are the people who are practicing righteousness. The desire comes from the practice, not the practice from desire. Enjoyment is a chief consideration in the playing of games, yet in any game of real skill there is little enjoyment until one has worked at the game enough to master its first principles. Right living demands skill; why should we think that enjoyment can come more easily here than in the playing of a game? It is proper to ask God to create in us the desire for his will, but it is also necessary to recognize that he answers that prayer chiefly for those who are doing his will.

Willing Doers of His Word.

Foolish is the man who holds back when God is calling to him to come on. It is always safe to follow a Providential leading, and it is never safe to refuse such divine guidance. Every Christian man should properly be a pathfinder, along some road of progress which will, if pursued, advantage humanity. When Jehovah would send him abroad on errands of ministry to mankind let no Moses hang back. Means and strength to perform the mission will in due time be provided by the Lord for those who as faithful servants strive to do his bidding. Let us each be willing doers of his word.

The religion we most like to recount may be that which does not count at all.

BIG HOLIDAY TRADE

Demand For Commodities Surpass Production—High Prices Working Havoc in Primary Cotton Market.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Holiday trade has been, on the whole, very satisfactory, especially in the west, where some of the cities report a retail distribution in excess of all previous years. The colder weather has contributed to more wholesome trade conditions in several lines, but in most industries this is a season when there is usually a slackening of activity, and attention is directed to the stock taking and settlements incident to the close of the year.

The general business situation, therefore, presents a somewhat mixed appearance, though there is no fundamental change in conditions, the outlook being, in the main, exceedingly bright.

The recent advance of cotton to above 16 cents for the May option was one of the incidents of the week and is in line with the general tendency of higher prices, due both to the heavy gold output and to the fact that production of commodities is not increasing in equal ratio to the consumption demands of a rapidly growing population in a time of wonderful wealth.

Conditions in iron and steel remain somewhat mixed, dullness and weakness still being apparent in the pig iron markets, whereas on the other hand there is quite an active demand for steel products generally. In some lines producers are not disposed to quote for later than first quarter delivery.

Retail holiday trade in dry goods is excellent in the metropolitan district with a very considerable purchasing of substantial merchandise, and similar reports reach here from other large retail centers. In the primary markets the usual holiday quiet is apparent, although cotton goods purchases by converters have been fair and fancy overcoatings for fall are being ordered. Southern yarn mills are planning for curtailment to offset the trying conditions due to high cost cotton. Prices on cotton goods are firm and have shown further advances in some directions to a parity with the advancing raw material market. The best export business in cotton goods is reported with the Philippines and South America.

Holiday quietness prevails among New England footwear manufacturers, most of whom are now taking inventory of stock, while the jobbing trades generally is dull. The hide market continues to be easy and packer hides are especially dull, stocks in many varieties beginning to accumulate.

Failures and Exports.

New York.—Bradstreet's says: Business failures in the United States for the week ending December 23 were 264, against 273 last week, 196 last year, 248 in 1907, 161 in 1906 and 212 in 1905. Business failures in Canada for the week number 23, which compares with 33 for last week and 21 the like week in 1908.

Wheat, including flour exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending December 23 aggregate 3,769,928 bush, against 3,845,258 bush last week and 2,024,059 bush last year. For the 25 weeks ending December 23 exports are 84,040,633 bush, against 110,847,058 last year.

Corn exports for the week are 1,852,314 bush, against 1,078,636 bush last week and 995,332 bush in 1908. For the 25 weeks ending December 23 corn exports are 7,546,812 bush, against 9,038,682 bush last year.

Nine People Crushed and Mangled.

Mt. Pleasant, Pa.—Nine persons were crushed and mangled, two of whom will die, when a West Penn railway's street car crushed into the rear of another car at the Standard works of H. C. Frick Coke Co.'s plant.

Died on Train.

Chicago, Ill.—Mrs. Sarah Premo, of Bay City, Mich., died on a Michigan Central train as it entered Chicago. She was on her way to spend Christmas with her son here.

MARKET REPORTS.

Cincinnati, Dec. 24.—Flour—Market firm; winter patent $5.75@6.10, spring patent $4.35@4.45, rye $4.70@4.90. Wheat—Light and firm; No. 2 red $1.28@1.30, No. 3 red $1.20@1.26. Corn—Market firm, demand good; No. 2 white 63½@64c, No. 2 mixed 62@62½c. Oats—Firm; No. 2 white 47½@48c, No. 2 mixed 46½@47c. Hay—Timothy liberal, market good; No. 1 timothy $15.75@16.25, No. 1 clover mixed $14.50@15, No. 1 clover $15.50@16. Rye—Steady; No. 2, 77 @79c. Mill Feed—Bran $21.50@22.50, middlings $24.50@25.50.

Live Stock Markets.

Cincinnati, Dec. 24.—Cattle—Receipts 241 head; market quiet; extra butchers $5.85@6, good to choice $5@5.75; heifers, extra $5.35@5.50; cows, extra $4.75@5. Calves—Market dull and lower; extra $8.25, fair to good $6@8. Hogs—Receipts 2,489 head; market slow; good to choice butchers $8.20@8.40, mixed packers $8.15@8.35, pigs (110 lbs. and less) $5.50@7.75. Sheep—Receipts 264 head; market steady; extra $5.30@5.50, good to choice $4.75@5.25. Lambs—Extra $7.75, good to choice $7@7.65

G. G. Hughes,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
BURLINGTON, KY.
Will practice in all the courts. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

N. E. Riddell,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Prompt Attention given to Collections Will practice in all the courts.

S. Gaines,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in all the courts, and prompt attention given collections. Office—Over D. Rouse's Store.

D. E. Castleman,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Burlington, Ky.
Will practice in the Courts of Boone Kenton, Grant and Gallatin. Collections pushed energetically.

H. C. CLORE, W. W. DICKERSON
E. T. CLAYTON.
Clore, Dickerson & Clayton,
ATTORNEYS-at-LAW
Will practice in the State and U. S. Courts of Northern Ky., and Southwestern Ohio. Cincinnati Office: N. E. Cor. 6th & Vine; Phone, Main 2030. Mr. Dickerson will spend a portion of his time at the Williamstown office.

BOONE CO. DEPOSIT BANK
(Incorporated 1856.)
CAPITAL,.....$50,000
Surplus and undivided profits $7,000
—)o(—
Our facilities enable us to receive on favorable terms accounts of individuals and corporations. Collections promptly remitted for at Lowest Rates.

ERLANGER DEPOSIT BANK.
(INCORPORATED 1893.)
ERLANGER, - - KENTUCKY
Capital Stock paid in.....$50,000
Surplus,.....$5,000
Careful attention given collections, and remittances promptly made. Deposit accounts solicited.

Dr. J. L. Adams,
DENTIST,
306 F. & T. Bank Building.
COVINGTON, - KY.
—will be in office—
AT ERLANGER EVERY THURSDAY.

W. E. VEST,
Real Estate Agent.
Farms Bought, Sold or Exchanged, Money to Loan on Real Estate, Notes bought, sold & Negotiated. All communications addressed to W. E. VEST, Walton, Ky.

CHAS. GARNETT,
AUCTIONEER.
Will be in Burlington every court day. Fees for selling stock reasonable. Public Sales given special attention.

INSURE AT HOME
The Farmers' Mutual Fire
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OF BOONE COUNTY,
Is now completely organized and receiving applications for insurance.
Its RATES are LOWER
Than those of any other Company and gives the farmers of Boone Co.
WITHERTO UNKNOWN ADVANTAGE
in keeping their property insured.
Average cost of insurance on $1,000 for a period of five years is $3 45, less than one per cent per $1,000.
Every Farmer in the County should take a policy at once.
Edgar Cropper, Pres., Burlington, Ky.
Noah Tanner, V-Pres., Gunpowder, Ky.
F. A. Uts, Treas., Florence, Ky.
Malchus Souther, Secy., Ludlow, Ky.
R. F. D.—1,
R. B. Huey, Agent, Burlington, Ky.
J. E. Smith, Assessor, Burlington, Ky.
Executive Board—Legrand Gaines, J. W. Conner, Solon Early.

F. W. Kassebaum & Son,
GRANITE & MARBLE
MONUMENTS,
Burial Vaults and Cemetery Work of all Kinds.
Building Stone, Flagging, Settees and Vases.
Office and Wareroom:
70 and 72 Main Street,
AURORA, IND.
Has POPE Agent, - - Grant, Ky

C. L. GRIFFITH,
DEALER IN
REAL ESTATE
and Negotiable Notes,
WALTON, KY.
If you want to buy or sell Town Property or Farms, write me. Write for printed list.

Interesting Kentucky News

GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE

In Tobacco Troubles Is Not Warranted, Thinks Gov. Willson.

Frankfort, Ky.—When the tobacco growers of the burley district read the story that the federal government's strong arm would insert a probe in the tobacco situation in Kentucky, they went up in the air, and are now wondering "where they are at." The leading tobacco growers fail to see the loophole through which Uncle Sam must squeeze to get jurisdiction in the tobacco cases, and although Gov. Willson is the foe of the "night rider" and the friend and supporter of the independent grower, he, too, doesn't see just exactly why Uncle Sam should stir up trouble in times of peace. "I don't see what authority is given the federal government to [illegible] into the tobacco situation at this time," said he, "but I feel certain that the government officials know what they are doing or else they would not act. As for my opinion, I have none just now, as I am not familiar with the Sherman anti-trust law, and don't want to say anything about it. There has been no trouble for some time, and there seems to be no danger of an outbreak in the future."

POLICE OFFICERS DISMISSED

From Force for Alleged Conspiracy to Aid Slayer.

Louisville, Ky.—Two patrolmen, alleged to have conspired to lighten the weight of evidence against Val Zeigler, charged with murder, were dismissed from the police force by the board of public safety. The two men dismissed, Jesse Fugitt and William Bourland, were the arresting officers in the Zeigler murder case. Zeigler shot and killed Patrolman Will Murphy several weeks ago, and was arrested by Fugitt and Bourland. The testimony against Zeigler immediately after the shooting was most convincing, but when the case came up for trial the prosecution was so weak that Major Lindsey, chief of police, ordered an investigation. The result was that Fugitt and Bourland were cited to appear before the board of safety and explain their lack of diligence in aiding the commonwealth. Their explanation did not satisfy the members of the board and they were dismissed in disgrace.

Somerset, Ky.—After being in the hands of a receiver for the past three months the First National bank, of Burnside, resumed business with a new directorate and new officers. Capt. A. B. Massey is president, F. E. Bradshaw cashier, and L. E. Mann vice president.

Lexington, Ky.—Alma Muth, the seven-year-old daughter of P. Muth, a local baker, was literally snatched from the jaws of death by W. P. Berry when the child, on her way to school, while crossing the street in front of an interurban car, stumbled and fell.

Louisville, Ky.—In his annual report to the directors of the Model License League meeting here President T. M. Gilmore asserted that the Anti-Saloon League is crippled financially, and will live but two years more. All the officers of the league were re-elected.

Frankfort, Ky.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in the federal court here by R. L. Dixon, of Georgetown. The assets are placed at $3,846.04, the liabilities $2,997.35. Dixon is a plumber and too liberal credit to people for whom he did work is the cause of the failure.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—While standing before an open fireplace at her home at Cerulean Springs, the dress worn by Miss Annie Turner, the 17-year-old daughter of R. H. Turner, caught fire, and the girl was so badly burned that she will die.

Louisville, Ky.—Through a mistake in setting the time lock on the vault of the National Bank of Kentucky officials were unable to secure the books, notes and papers, and the bank had to wait until the clock ran down before the vault could be opened.

Corbin, Ky.—Corbin remained dry in a local option election by 28 majority. Men, women and children formed in parade and marched over the streets of the town, led by Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, president of State W. C. T. U.

Lexington, Ky.—Senator Joseph W. Bailey, en route from Washington to his home in Gainesville, Tex., for the holidays, visited his Fairland stock farm, near this city, and inspected his trotters.

Louisville, Ky.—Capt. Willis Levi, 73, a pioneer resident of this city, former steamboat and fire department captain, died at his residence here from a sudden attack of organic heart disease.

Barbourville, Ky.—A fifty-barrel oil well was drilled in Clay county by Guffy & Galey. The strike is the first in that section.

RAMPAGE OF KENTUCKY MINER

Results in Triple Slaying and a Suicide.

Pittsburg, Ky.—William Murray, a coal miner, went suddenly insane and in the short space of 20 minutes killed his wife, mother-in-law, Melinda Chestnut, and Delbert Cole, who, he claimed, had wrecked his home, and then shot himself, dying beside two of his victims. Murray and his wife had been separated for several weeks over her alleged intimacy with Cole. About the time of their separation Murray beat his wife on several occasions, and threatened to kill her. She left his home and went to live with a neighbor. Murray continued to visit her, and continued to be so abusive that she finally had him arrested and placed in London jail in default of a bond required of him to keep the peace. After he had been in jail several days, with his wife's consent the authorities released him from jail on his promise on oath to leave the county.

HALF A MILLION ON HAND

To Meet Claims Aggregating $14,000,000 Against Companies In Hands of Receiver.

Lexington, Ky.—Judge Watts Parker, in circuit court, heard arguments on exceptions that had been made to the report of Receiver J. C. Rogers on claims that had been filed with him against the Southern Mutual Investment Co. and the American Reserve Bond Co. Ben F. Washer, of Louisville, as attorney for the receiver, made the statement that the receiver has in his possession about $450,000, and that the claims against the two companies amount to about $14,000,000. He said that he is of the opinion that about $50,000 of underwriting claims that have been filed can not participate in the funds now at hand. The court sustained the receiver in his unfavorable report on the claim filed by William Friedman, solicitor for Ulric King, on behalf of the Western Gas Co. for $152,000.

Louisville, Ky.—Local bankers who are members of the Louisville Credit Clearing House crossed arms in a conference held in the manager's office over the proposed adoption of the use of gold certificates in the payment of daily balances and to abolish the old system of eliminating the balance each day. The project was voted down by a majority of two votes, four members not voting because of the intense feeling that was thrown into the discussion of the measure.

Lexington, Ky.—Thomas Sloan, the horse trader who shot and killed Dudley Brewer, a saloonist, who was his friend and hacker, in William Morton's grocery, was acquitted of the charge of murder at his trial before Judge Frank A. Bullock in the county court. Sloan proved conclusively that he had shot Brewer in self-defense after Brewer had cut him with a knife and was again advancing upon him with the weapon.

Frankfort, Ky.—State Inspector and Examiner Thatcher filed his report with Gov. Willson of the investigation of the offices of Knott county. He collected from County Clerk Amburgey, $244.72; Trustee of the Jury Fund Whallen, $180; Sheriff Napier, $69; Police Judge Craft, of Hindman, $1; County Attorney Ritchie, $30, and Circuit Clerk Sloan, $236, making a total of $757.52.

Lexington, Ky.—The Rhodes scholarship committee for Kentucky, at a meeting here, selected W. S. Hamilton, of Brandenburg, as the next holder of the Rhodes scholarship at Oxford university, England. Hamilton is an alumnus of State university, and is at present an assistant instructor in Greek, Latin and mathematics in the academy of State university.

Glasgow, Ky.—Blue Grass King, one of the most noted harness stallions in the south, and owned by George Ellis, a wealthy stockman of this county, was found dead in his barn. He was a winner at the State Fair, together with all local fairs. Pellegra is supposed to have caused his death.

Versailles, Ky.—Mrs. Mary Casey Reynolds, 50, wife of William L. Reynolds, died of heart trouble. Mrs. Reynolds was a daughter of the late James D. Casey, at one time one of Covington's wealthiest citizens, and a niece of Louis Casey, for many years editor of the Covington Commonwealth.

Lexington, Ky.—Matthew Young, a Jessamine county bachelor farmer, owning about 400 acres of land, was adjudged by the Fayette circuit court incapable of managing his estate, and a committee will be appointed to take care of his property.

Lexington, Ky.—Green R. Keller, of Carlisle, announced his candidacy for the office of chief clerk of the senate at the forthcoming session of the Kentucky legislature.

Versailles, Ky.—The Woodford bank and the Farmers' Bank and Trust Co., of this city, will consolidate under the name of Woodford Bank and Trust Co.

REFORM IN PRISONS

More Necessary in Kentucky Than Anywhere Else, Says Noted Lecturer.

Frankfort, Ky.—Prison reform is needed worse in Kentucky than any other place he has ever visited, says J. Adams Puffer, of Needham, Mass., the noted lecturer on the delinquencies of boys. Dr. Puffer says he has never seen any place where the purpose of the prison misses the mark so widely as it does in Kentucky, and that the people of Kentucky ought to be ashamed to permit the prisons to be run in politics, and to make money for the state. Dr. Puffer prepares his own interviews for publication, so that he can not be misquoted. He had a talk with Senator Watkins, of Sturgis, who will look into prison reforms during the next session of the general assembly.

BURLEY SOCIETY VICTORIOUS

In Suit Against Larue County Tobacco Grower.

Louisville, Ky.—The suit of the Burley Tobacco society against G. D. Wright, a Larue county grower, who had pledged his tobacco to the society and who had shipped four hogsheads of the pledged tobacco to C. A. Bridges & Co., was ended when Judge Kirby, in the circuit court, entered an agreed judgment by which the Burley society gains every point for which it contended. By the judgment Wright and C. A. Bridges & Co. are enjoined permanently from selling the tobacco in question and it is ordered returned to the burley pool at Hodgenville, Ky.

WOOL GROWERS ORGANIZE

For Higher Prices—Will Operate as Branch of Society of Equity.

Louisville, Ky.—The Kentucky Wool Growers' association completed its organization, electing J. W. Newman secretary of the State Fair association, as president. The association decided to operate as a branch of the American Society of Equity. From 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 pounds of wool are sold in Kentucky each year, and members of the association declare the new method of marketing will save from $500,000 to $1,000,000 for the grower annually by doing away with the middle man's profits.

Louisville, Ky.—In one of the most caustic sermons ever delivered in a Louisville pulpit, Dr. E. B. Patterson, pastor of fashionable Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, bitterly criticised Louisville police for consulting mediums and clairvoyants in an effort to recover 8-year-old Alma Kellner, kidnaped daughter of Fred Kellner, of this city.

Louisville, Ky.—Gov. Willson approved the verdicts returned recently by a court-martial, which tried members of the First Kentucky regiment for non-attendance at drills and found three privates guilty. Their punishment was fixed at the payment of a fine of $5 or the service of a sentence of five days in the county jail.

Lexington, Ky.—Three boys in the Greendale Reform school got Christmas gifts from the prison board in the shape of a parole. They are John B. Adams, of Paintsville; Clyde McKenna, of Paducah, and Joseph McNulty, of Lexington.

Louisville, Ky.—Denny G. Goode editor of a weekly paper published here, filed suit for $5,000 against Adjt. Gen. P. P. Johnston, alleging that he was damaged to that extent when Gen. Johnston entered his office on Aug. 3 and assaulted him with a cane.

Bellevue, Ky.—Robert A. Nagel, brother of Senator-elect Chas. A. Nagel, died suddenly at his home of apoplexy. He served a term as police judge of Bellevue, and was a member of the Knights of Pythias and the Loyal Americans.

Frankfort, Ky.—Heart failure is given as the cause of the sudden death of S. M. Van Cleave, 47. For years he had been a professor in the colored normal and industrial institute in this city. He was probably the most widely known negro educator in Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky.—W. George Dunlap, Jr., 25, who committed suicide in Chicago, was a native of Lexington. His father is a prominent republican. Dunlap was an expert billiard and pool player, and was the champion roller skater of Kentucky.

Georgetown, Ky.—Ex-County Judge George Viley Payne died here. He was for 20 years county judge, and served as president of the Farmers' bank here and treasurer of Georgetown college for 25 years.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—Hardening of the arteries, from which he had been suffering seven years, caused the death of Dr. John A. Gunn. He was 69 years of age and a confederate soldier.

Frankfort, Ky.—The executive committee of the Elks' Reunion association decided to hold the state meeting of the Elks in this city next August.

TEMPESTS SWEEP ATLANTIC COAST

Leaving Several Dead and Doing Much Damage to Property—Chelsea, Mass., Inundated.

Boston, Mass.—Two thousand men, women and children are homeless and being cared for in theaters and public halls and two score are reported as missing, as the result of the inundation of a section of the city of Chelsea, Mass., half a mile square, in the district which was devastated by the great conflagration of not quite two years ago.

The known drowned, whose bodies have been recovered, are an aged couple, Cornelius Hawkins and his wife, whose bodies police officers in a rowboat took from their flooded home.

The terrific hurricane which has raged along the New England coast, littering it with wrecks, was responsible for the second Chelsea disaster of the decade.

The gas plant is in the flooded district, and owing to the great mass of live wires in the streets the electric light company was ordered not to turn on the power and Chelsea is in total darkness.

Although the flooding of a large section of Chelsea did not result in as great financial loss as that which attended the former catastrophe, fully as many pathetic and tragic scenes were furnished by the fleeing, panic-stricken thousands.

An aged sea wall, unrepaired since it was built 65 years ago, gave way before the gale and high-beating waves in three different sections, and through each breach tons of water poured and roared through streets flanked by newly-erected dwelling houses.

The police were quick in coming to the rescue and did great work in aiding women and children from their homes to places of safety.

One of the refugees, a young woman, evidently scarcely out of her teens, with a baby in her arms, started to walk to Boston through the spow and slush, in places knee deep. She was but partially clad and the infant in her arms had nothing on but a thin shirt. She eluded those who endeavored to stop her until she finally dropped exhausted. They were taken to the Chardon Street home, in Boston.

In the Frost hospital and other institutions at Chelsea there are hundreds of women and very young children who suffered seriously from exposure.

Women with children in their arms are sleeping on the stages and in the seats of the two theaters in Chelsea.

Chairman William McClintock, of the Chelsea board of control, appointed to govern the city after its recent staggering disaster, said that work would be begun at once to repair the sea wall and that hereafter the city would assume the responsibility of keeping it in repair.

The dike was built by the owners of the property it immediately protects from the ocean, each of whom declined responsibility for not keeping it in repair. The wall was 30 feet wide at the bottom, 10 feet wide at the top and 10 feet high.

Shortly after nightfall the refugees were thrown into a second panic by three alarms of fire coming in one after the other. Many of them had passed through the great Chelsea conflagration, and, with that in mind, were anxious to get out of the city altogether. The fires, however, proved to be of no great consequence.

One woman, with three small children, sought refuge at the home of ex-Mayor Beck, in the Powder Hill section, high above the flooded district. They were taken in, and when the police came to take them to one of the relief stations the terror-stricken woman refused to leave the hill and remained at Mayor Beck's house through the night.

In Boston and the greater city the damage wrought by the hurricane, heavy snowfall and extraordinary high tide, it is estimated will run over a million.

At Revere, Beechmont and various north-shore points and at Hull, on the south shore, many people were taken from their homes in boats.

In Boston proper the greatest damage was along the water front. Old sailors declared they had not seen such a storm or such a remarkably high tide since 1852, when Minots' Light was dashed from its support.

The damage to the warehouses along river front is estimated at about $300,000. The water was five feet deep in the Revere Beach & Boston railway station.

At Long Wharf, where the government maintains its immigrant station, the waves dashed up against the quarters of the immigrants in Niagara fashion. Inside the immigrants were panic stricken. Some of them knelt down and prayed, and others beseeched the officers to take them from the water front. Thousands of dollars worth of freight at the piers of the various steamship lines were flooded and ruined.

Motorman and Conductor Drowned.

Seymour, Ct.—A trolley car, running beside the Naugautic river, during a storm, jumped the track and plunging down the bank crashed through the ice. The conductor and motorman were drowned.

Consul Cloud Recalled.

San Francisco, Cal.—Frederick D. Cloud, formerly United States consul at Mukden, but who has been recalled, arrived, en route to Washington. He said he did not know why he had been recalled.

O. P. APPLEGATE. W. E. PIPER.
Phone, M. 2393.
The Applegate-Piper Co.
MERCHANT TAILORS.
Room 610, Traction Building,
Fifth and Walnut Sts., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Boone Co. Deposit Bank,
BURLINGTON, KY.
The Oldest Bank in Boone County,
PAYS 3 PER CENT. INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS,
With $100,000 protection to its Depositors as follows:

Capital Stock	$30,000
Surplus and Undivided Profits	40,000
Liability of Stockholders	30,000
Total Security for Depositors	$100,000

COURTESY EXTENDED TO ALL.

RARUS FLOUR
THE HIGHEST GRADE WINTER PATENT.

NOBETTER COFFEE.
17c Pound—6 pounds for $1.00.
This is what everyone likes—
The Green—8 pounds for $1.00.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE FOR
Groceries, Field & Garden Seeds.
Geo. W. Hill & Co.,
27-29 Pike Street, 26 W. Seventh St.,
Covington, - - Ky.

M. L. Swetnam Clarenc E. Swetnam Russell E. Swetnam
M. L. Swetnam & Sons,
UNDERTAKERS AND EMBALMERS,
15 to 21 E. Seventh St., COVINGTON, KY.
Phone South 170. FREE AMBULANCE.

SCOTT CHAMBERS,
WALTON, KY.
Embalmer & Funeral Director,
LIVERY, BOARDING & SALE STABLE.
First Class Rigs for Hire at All Times.
Dealer in High Class Harness and Saddle Horses.
Raymond City Coal for sale at all times.

H. G. BLANTON,
Funeral Dirctor and Embalmer

LIVERY, BOARDING and FEED STABLE.
First-class Carriages for hire with careful Drivers for Families, Parties, Weddings, Etc.
I Have a Nice White Funeral Car.
Lexington Pike, - - - ERLANGER, KY.
Leave Orders with J. C. [illegible] Burlington, Ky.

CONSIGN YOUR
CATTLE, HOGS and SHEEP
—TO—
C. C. SEAL & CO.
Union Stock Yards,
CINCINNATI. • • OHIO
And receive the Highest Market Price. We make a specialty in filling orders. Write us your wants.
J. M. CONNER.

Rogers Bros.
General Merchants,
BELLEVUE, KY.
Keep on hand a General Stock of MERCHANDISE.
Coal Kept in the Yard.
Country Produce taken in Trade

River craft began hunting harbors last week, the most popular on the river being in the mouth of the Kentucky river at Carrollton.

By this time next week Kentucky's Solons will be assembled at Frankfort for a sixty days' term adjusting the laws of the Commonwealth.

Among the additional duties Uncle Sam imposes on his wards for the year 1910 is a long list of questions to answer, which will be submitted by the census enumerators.

Is Mr. Peary willing to submit his artic observations to the same body of scientists who passed on Dr. Cook's and found them insufficient to establish his claim that he reached the north pole?

Legislators of the 1910 Assembly will get suggestions from the State Executive Department in "broken doses," and not in a long winded message covering a multiplicity of subjects.

Dr. Cook proved a miserable failure as a fakir. A few weeks ago nealy everybody was for Mr. Cook, but now he is without friends, only another evidence how quick the undeserving can go from the top of the ladder to its foot.

The First National and the Farmers and Traders Banks in Covington have merged the new bank to be known as the First National Bank of Covington. The merger makes the concern one of the strongest financial institutions in Kentucky.

Hon. Henry Prewitt, chairman of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committees, has issued a call for a meeting of the Democratic members of the Legislature at Frankfort on Monday, January 8, 1910 for the purpose of organization.

It is said that instead of erecting a new scaffold on which to hang the negro, Earl Thompson, the negro ravisher, at Williamstown, the gallows on which Jackson and Walling, the Pearl Bryan slayers, were hung at Newport, will be used.

Declared to have no equal afloat as a first class fighting machine, the battleship Utah, the greatest warship ever built in the United States, was last Thursday launched from the yard of the New York shipbuilding company at Camden, N. J.

Congressman Ollie James told a newspaper reporter in Frankfort, one day last week, that he would let his friends know in time what he intended to do in regard to being a candidate for United States Senator to succeed Senator Paynter.

It is said that Gov. Willson will inform the General Assembly at the start that he will not approve any appropriation made during the session, except an emergency one, until he knows provisions have been made to raise the money with which to meet it.

A man in British Columbia has paid $250 for a copy of the New York Herald announcing the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, but that's a mere bagatelle compared with what a Republican insurgent would give for a copy of the Herald announcing the retirement of Mr. Aldrich and Mr. Cannon.—C.-J.

Says the Paducah News-Democrat: The jug trade with river points is an annual feature of the river business, and is always anticipated. Thousands of jugs are sent from here to thirsty Tennesseans every year, and this year because of the ultra-dryness prevailing all over Tennessee it is expected that the trade will run into the tens of thousands.

The wool growers of Kentucky have effected a permanent organization, the object of which is to form a pool for all the Kentucky growers. Recent government figures show that there are over six hundred thousand sheep raised annually in the State, the average yield of wool per sheep being three pounds, making a total production of at least three million pounds of wool annually. The pool hopes to save to the growers several thousand dollars by securing better prices for wool.

Leonard Mann, 62, a prominent Kenton county farmer living near Visalia, perished in the flames that destroyed his home last Friday morning. The neighbors discovered the fire about 7 o'clock, and when they reached the burning building they saw Mr. Mann lying unconscious on the floor, but the fire prevented the recovery of his body, the charred remains being taken from the ruins later in the day. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Mann was a widower and lived alone.

The Kentucky Department of Education has issued as a bulletin a report on the schools of Germany prepared by E George Payne, the head of the department of training in the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School at Richmond. Mr. Payne devoted two years to the study of the German schools. In his report he mentions such features as impressed him, and while he does not think the German system could be transferred to America he expresses the conviction that "our German cousins are very much nearer the solution of a proper educational system than we are." Again, he remarks that "one must recognize it as infinitely better than our haphazard methods."—C.-J.

FREE!

We have made arrangements to place the Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer, a large 24-page newspaper, containing all the news of the world—FREE; absolutely free; to every new subscriber during the first week in January, 1910. All you need to do is to subscribe for the RECORDER one year, sending $1.50 direct to the RECORDER, Burlington, Ky., and you will receive bot' newspapers one year for only $1.50. Everybody knows The Enquirer as the best and biggest newspaper in the United States. Every person in Boone county ought to be a subscriber for the Boone County RECORDER. No commission allowed on this offer. Cash must accompany each order.

The annual report on the United States postal service is issued and shows the largest deficit in history. The report says that the chief source of the shortage arises from the transportation of newspapers and magazines that are carried at a low rate because of their educational value to the public. Also that the postal equipment, facilities and area of the country are being enlarged and improved.

Although there was one of the heaviest corn crops this year that has been known for many years, the price of corn per barrel has reached the $3 mark and the probability is that before corn comes again it will reach $5 a barrel. One of the many reasons given for high prices is that niany cattle are being fed in the country this winter and that they will consume a large per cent of the surplus.—Lexington Gazette.

President Taft has issued his expected statement defining "whisky." The President declared the Roosevelt-Bonaparte-Bowers rule too stringent, and gives the brand "blend" a much broader meaning. Under the definition of the President "blends" may include a mixture of straight whisky and neutral spirits, but the presence of neutral spirits must be noted on the label. He said that it is ample protection to the public to mark the character of the goods on the packages, so that "straight" and "rectified" liquors may be known, and that the truth can work no injustice to anyone.

The brass cannon which was captured by Kentucky troops at the Battle of Saratoga during the Revolutionary war, and again recaptured in the war of 1912, has been installed in the historical rooms at Frankfort. The cannon has reposed in the State Arsenal since it was given by Congress into the keeping of Gov. Shelby, the State's first executive. Adjt. Gen. Johnston felt that the cannon more properly belonged to the custody of the Historical Society than among the present-day instruments of warfare, and it was gladly taken over by the society and will make a valuable addition to the relics on display there.

The declaration by Editor Henry Lawrence, of Trigg county, that he would support James B. McCreary, of Madison county, for the Democratic nomination for the Governorship is the chief gossip in Democratic circles thru Central Kentucky. Lawrence in the past has been one of former Gov. Beckham's closest lieutenants, and went into the Speaker's chair under Beckham's administration, and from there into the office of Adjutant General of Kentucky. Gov. Beckham, as editor, has not a word to say relative to the Lawrence editorial or to the possibility of the candidacy of Senator McCreary.

Here is what a schoolboy thinks about geese: "Geese is a low, heavy-set bird, composed mostly of meat and feathers. His head sits on one side and he sits on the other. Geese can't sing much on account of the dampness in the moisture. There ain't no between to his foes, and he carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep from sinking. Geese has only two legs and they are set so far back on his running gear they come pretty near missing his body. Some geese when they get big are called ganders and have curls on their tails. Ganders don't have to set or hatch, but just loaf, go swimming and eat. If I was a goose I had rather be a gander every time. Geese does not give milk, but gives eggs, but for me give me liberty or give me death."

A boom has been started for Senator James B. McCreary for the Democratic nomination for the next Governor of Kentucky. Senator McCreary is strong with people and if he allows his name to go before the Democrats of Kentucky as a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination the man who beats him will not only know that he has been in a contest, but will be the party's nominee. Senator McCreary is the best piece of gubernatorial timber in the Democratic party in Kentucky, and the party would be honoring itself by honoring him with the nomination. The Recorder is for McCreary first, last and all the time if he will accept the nomination. The Democratic party in Kentucky is sadly in need of more James B. McCrearys in the management of its affairs.

The Crecelius Law and Little McChord Bill.

At the last meeting of the District Board of the Burley Tobacco Society, December 7 and 8, a resolution was passed to ask all newspapers in the counties in which tobacco is pooled to carry a copy of the Crecelius Law and the Little McChord Bill. This was done because certain persons had violated their contracts, claiming they did not know that the above laws were in existence. These laws are as follows:

CRECELIUS LAW.—CHAP. 8.

Acts of the General Assembly, Commonwealth of Kentucky, 1908.

An Act to amend section 3 of an act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, approved March 31, 1906, entitled "An act permitting persons to combine or pool their crops of wheat, tobacco or other products and sell same as a whole, and making contracts in pursuance thereof, and to repeal an act approved March 21, 1905, being Chapter 117 of the acts of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky for the year 1906."

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

1. That section 3 of an act entitled, An act permitting persons to combine or pool their crops of wheat, tobacco or other products and sell same as a whole, and making contracts in pursuance thereof, and to repeal an act approved March 21, 1906, being Chapter 117 of the acts of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky for the year 1906, be and the same is hereby amended and re-enacted so as to read as follows:

Such person so entering into such an agreement or contract as set out in the foregoing sections are hereby permitted to select an agent or agents through or by which such said parties so entering into such an agreement may classify, grade, store, hold, sell or dispose of said crop, or any of them, and said agent or agents shall have the right to take, hold, store, classify, grade, sell or dispose of said crop so placed in said agreement, for the purpose of accomplishing the object of such combination or agreement between such principals, and contracts and agreement entered into by such agent or agents for the purpose of classifying, grading, storing, holding, selling or disposing of said crop so combined, united or pooled, either in parcel or as a whole, are hereby permitted, and shall not, because of any such combination or purpose, such original agreement of such principals so entering into said combination, or of such agent or agents, be declared illegal or invalid. All contracts heretofore made by any person or persons for the purposes set out in the foregoing sections are hereby declared valid, if otherwise legally binding on the parties.

INJUNCTION MAY ISSUE TO PREVENT BREACH OF CONTRACT.

To prevent any breach or violation of any contract made for the purposes set out in the foregoing sections a restraining order and writ of injunction may be issued by the proper officer, as prescribed in the Civil Code of practice.

DAMAGES MAY RECOVER FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT.

For any breach or violation of this contract entered into for the purposes set out in the foregoing sections, the injured party may recover the damages sustained by him by reason of such violation of such contract of the persons violating the same and also of any person who shall induce or persuade another to violate such contract, which damage shall include the reasonable expense and attorney's fees incurred by the injured party in prosecuting an action to recover such damages, or to prevent a violation of such contract, if the party complaining shall succeed in doing so, which may be recovered in the same action or original proceeding.

PENALTY FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT.

Said agent when selected as herein provided shall have the sole right to sell said crop so pooled or combined, and it shall be unlawful for any owner of such crops to sell or dispose of same and for any person to knowingly purchase the same without the written consent of such agent, and upon conviction thereof he or they shall be fined in any sum or amount not exceeding $250.00 for each offense, to be fixed by the jury in their discretion.

EMERGENCY.

2. Whereas, many crops of tobacco and other products have been combined and pooled in this State, under contract and agreement entered into for the purpose set out in the above section, and an emergency is now declared to exist, which requires that this act should and shall take effect from and after its passage and approval by the Governor.

Approved March 12, 1908.

LITTLE McCHORD BILL.—CHAP. 9.

Acts of the General Assembly Commonwealth of Kentucky, 1908.

An act to prevent the sale or transfer of Personal Property where the possession is in one person and the Title is vested in another.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

1. It shall be unlawful for any person having the possession of personal property, the title of which is vested in another to sell or otherwise dispose of such property without the written consent of the person in whom the title is vested. Any person guilty of such offense shall be fined not less than One Hundred Dollars, nor more than Five Hundred Dollars for such offense. Any person having notice of the manner in which such property is held, who shall purchase it of the person having the possession thereof, or of any other person in whom the title is vested, shall be fined not less than One Hundred Dollars, nor more than One Thousand Dollars for each offense.

2. An emergency exists for the immediate operation of this law, therefore, the same shall be in force from and after its enactment.

Approved March 24, 1908.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO TOBACCO GROWERS.

The District Board of the Burley Tobacco Society at its meeting December 7, 8 and 9, passed a resolution that notices be given to the members of the 1909 pool, requesting them to deliver their tobacco to their county warehouses on the stick.

It was also resolved that where part of the crop is pooled and part unpooled notices should be given the County Board of Control before the crop was divided.

For Sale or Trade.

A Bradley full Circle Hay Press, size of bale 14 x 18; has automatic plunger draw making, easy on hand. Capacity 8 to 12 tons per day. Will make some one a bargain if sold soon.

EDGAR W. SMITH, Milan, Ind.

Dr. H. W. Hamilton,

DENTIST

Will be at Verona, Monday; at Crittenden, Tuesday of each week; the remainder of the time

At Office—Equitable Bank Building, WALTON, KY.

Reduction Sale.

Desiring to reduce my stock of goods, preparatory to moving my place of business, I will sell from now until Jan. 1, all untrimmed hats from 25c to 75c; Pattern hats at $1.50 to $3.50; all ribbons at cost—Veils, Ladies' and Children's Hose and Supporters, Underwear, Belts, Barettes, Kerchiefs, Scarfs, etc. Come early and get choice. Thanks for past favors. Sincerely,

dec8-4t MRS. B. L. CLEEK.

FURS WANTED.

We want 5,000 Minks.
50,000 Muskrats,
20,000 Skunks,
10,000 Raccoons,
15,000 O'possums.
B. F. Wilson Fur Co., Tuscola, Illinois, Box. 17.

For Sale—Eight nice shoats. Apply to Frank Rouse, Burlington.

A Cough Medicine

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is a regular cough medicine, a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine. Good for easy coughs, hard coughs, desperate coughs. If your doctor endorses it for your case, take it. If not, don't take it. Never go contrary to his advice.

We publish our formulas
Ayer's
We banish alcohol from our medicines
We urge you to consult your doctor

The dose of Ayer's Pills is small, only one at bedtime. As a rule, laxative doses are better than cathartic doses. For constipation, billiousness, dyspepsia, sick-headaches, they cannot be excelled. Ask your doctor about this.

—Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

Bargains are What You Want.

The Best Model Cook Stove.
The Best Oak Heaters.
The Merrit Range—none better for the price.
The Best Line of Hardware.
We have the Best Buggies on the market.
The Brown Wagon—none better.
The Best and Finest Line of Saddles.
We carry the only Hand-made Harness in Rising Sun—stitched by hand.
We will give you the Heavy Wire Fence for the least money.
Everything marked in open figures

THE ONE PRICE STORE.

C. J. Stegemiller & Co

Rising Sun, Indiana.

The Company of the People!

The premium rates of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company are lower than those of any other American life insurance company.

This company has more premium paying business in force in the United States than any other company, and for EACH OF THE LAST FIFTEEN YEARS HAS HAD MORE NEW INSURANCE ACCEPTED and ISSUED THAN ANY OTHER COMPANY.

Plans, Rates, Etc., furnished by local representative.

Stanley Crouch,
Petersburg, Ky.

J. W. EWBANK,

BRASHEAR, KY.
—AGENT FOR—
Victor and Edison Talking Machines.

These Machines I will sell for cash or on time to suit purchaser, at Lowest Prices.

Machines on Display at My Store.
Mail orders for Machines or Records promptly filled. Catalogues and prices sent on request.
CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.
J. W. EWBANK, Brashear, Ky.

Dr. T. B. CASTLEMAN, DENTIST.

Will be at Burlington to practice on County Court day and the following day of each month. You remember his painless extraction of teeth.

POSTED.

Notice is hereby given that my property known as Laughery Island is post ed against all kinds of trespass.
JOHN SMITH, Grant, Ky.

FOR SALE.

Farm of 81 acres of land on which is a five room house and all necessary outbuildings. This farm is situated two miles east of Hebron, Ky., and is known as the Southern farm. Enquire of Mrs. Jas. Hood or Mont Southern, 309 Bakewell Street, Covington, Ky.

FARM BARGAIN.—A fine farm of 74 acres in Boone County, near Rabbit Hash, on Gunpowder creek, 2 miles from river, 50 acres hillside, 12 acres bottom land, 10 acres timber; fine tobacco land. Farm made $2,000 last year. Has good 4 room box house. Land on east hillside. Price $3,000, one half down, balance on easy payments. Call on or address J. R. Wallace, Warsaw, Ky.

WE PAY INTEREST

on time deposits: three per cent. if left six months and four per cent. if left twelve months. Mail remittances given prompt and careful attention; register money by mail, checks by mail will insure delivery. We handle everything in the banking line, and our Trust Department gives the best facilities in the management of estates, qualifying as executor of wills, administration of estates, guardianship of children, and everything in the way of a fiduciary capacity. The successful management of this bank is accentuated by it being able to declare a dividend the first year to its stockholders, and an additional semi-annual dividend of three per cent. April 1st, 1909. Careful, conservative business methods is what produced these results. We want your business, and offer you everything a safe, careful bank can afford to give its patrons as an incentive. Try us; you will be pleased.

The EQUITABLE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY,
WALTON, Boone County, Kentucky.
CHAS. L. GRIFFITH, President. D. B. WALLACE, Cashier.
JOHN. C MILLER, Assistant Cashier.
Telephones: 16 and 16-Y, Walton.

A DULL HEADACHE

is Nature's sounding the alarm that something is going wrong. Seventy-five per cent of headaches are caused by refractive errors that can be relieved by properly fitted glasses. We always make a thorough examination and give honest advice as to the condition and care of the eyes.

N. F. Penn, M. D. with Motch, Jeweler,
613 Madison Avenue, - - - COVINGTON, KENTUCKY
Phone, South 1746.

Buggy, Carriage and Wagon
HARNESS
OF ALL KINDS

Riding Saddles in all Styles; Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Carriage Heaters. Also a full line of Trunks, Traveling Bags and Suit Cases at PRICES REASONABLE.

Chas. Mahlmann, Jr.
Phone, S. 1398-X 32 Pike Street, COVINGTON, KY.

Xmas is Here

And so are we with a nice line of

New Groceries

Also all of those good things that make Xmas enjoyable,
Mince Meat, Cranberries, Oranges,
Bananas, Figs, Dates, Raisins, Prunes,
Dried Peaches, Canned Goods of all kinds,
A Nice lot of Candies,
AND PLENTY OF OYSTERS.

Garrison & Robinson.
Richwood, Kentucky.

TO OUR FRIENDS OF BOONE COUNTY!

We are pleased to announce that we will display during the Holidays an exceptionally fine selection of Holiday Goods.

—OUR STOCK OF—
Dry Goods and Notions
—IS COMPLETE.—

Our Cloaks are of Great Variety and represent the Newest Models.

You are cordially invited to visit our store and examine our stock. Very Respectfully,

B. & A. GRISWOLD,
RISING SUN, INDIANA.

FOR SALE.

My farm of about 200 acres, on good road near Francesville, 3 miles north of Hebron, Boone county, Ky. On this farm is a 4 room residence and all necessary outbuildings, all under new roof. There are 50 acres of timber and 50 acres of good tobacco land, and four never failing springs. This land is two miles from the Ohio river and 15 miles from Cincinnati. Rural route and telephone. For terms call at the farm or address C. W. McFEE,
R D. 3, Burlington, Ky.

FOR RENT.

Boone Hotel in Burlington, Ky., two story frame, 20 rooms, good barn and other out buildings. Apply to G. G. Hughes, Burlington, Ky., or address L. N. Crigler, Bartow, Florida.

J. Bullock & Son,

PRACTICAL TAILORS,
HEBRON, - KENTUCKY.
Our Fall and Winter samples are ready for inspection and we invite you to call and see them and learn the prices.
All work guaranteed and done under my own supervision.

J. Bullock & Son,
HEBRON, KY.

RAW FURS.—Get my prices. Highest ever known. No lot too large for me. H. Kirkpatrick, Burlington, Ky.

Local Happenings.

Do you know that the days are getting shorter?

No excuse for empty ice houses next summer.

It was a regular old time Christmas in many respects.

The local merchants enjoyed a pretty good holiday trade.

Two more days and this year will take its place in the past.

December fully sustained its reputation as a winter month.

Charles Clore handled about 800 turkeys for the Christmas holidays.

The young man who has no sleigh is not inside of the sport this week.

Turnpikes have been in excellent condition most of the time this month.

Chas. Clore, of Hebron, paid from 15 to 20 cents a pound, gross, for Christmas turkeys.

The public schools are closed for the holidays, and the pupils are enjoying themselves hughly.

Stock will take care of roughness nicely during such weather as that of the past several days.

William Wilson, the telephone lineman, who was badly crippled several weeks ago is getting along nicely.

The crop of ice harvested last week was very fine. There is no excuse for having an empty ice house in 1910.

Can you look back over the year 1909 and see any genuine, unselfish sacrifices you have made for the benefit of a fellow man?

There has been a great local demand for calendars during the past two weeks, and many have quite a collection of the 1910 print.

Jonas Stephens, of Idlewild neighborhood, is prepared to take oil leases in his neighborhood for Miss Minnie Ackley, of Pittsburg.

Rural merchants all report an unusually large holiday trade. The country being full of money was the cause of so much good cheer.

Master Joe Revill Furnish and sister, Sarah Gayle, are holiday guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Revill, near town.

Most of the holiday weddings have been celebrated in due and appropriate form, and many a couple will begin the new year as man and wife.

Don't forget that next week is the Recorder's bargain week. Take advantage of it and get two good papers during the year ten for the price of one.

The old time eggnog as a Christmas delicacy has about played out in this part of the country, eggs being too valuable to spoil the straight goods with.

Rice Bros., of Idlewild neighborhood, sold their turkeys at 20 cents a pound on foot weighed at home. That would make them worth about 30 cents a pound net.

The services of the Bullittsville Christian church have been changed from the first and third Sundays to the second and fourth Sundays, commencing January 9, 1910.

A small band of charivariers called on Grover Snyder and bride last Saturday night, but the groom passed out the cigars so quick the anticipated fun lasted but a short time.

Mail clerks and express messengers are among those who are glad the holiday rush of business is over, the volume of which increases annually in the mails and at express offices.

It commenced to snow Christmas eve and by Sunday morning four or five inches of snow was on the ground, and sleighs and bells were in evidence in every direction at an early hour.

Many a rural blacksmith went home every night last week with a bent, tired back. They were simply overrun with work, only one of the many proofs that it is an ill wind that blows nobody good.

Lee Masters, of Bullittsville, who fell off of a barn on which he was at work several weeks ago, breaking one of his arms badly near the wrist, has so far recovered as to be in a condition to have the plaster cast removed from the limb.

J. E. Rouse sold last week to Jos. Gibson, of Somerset, five registered cows, four bulls and one heifer calf.—Dogs got into the flock of sheep of Mr. J. E. Rouse Saturday afternoon and killed 3 fine ewes and wounded five.—Georgetown Times.

Farmers, generally, were well prepared to sit back and take things easy during the recent cold weather. They had their crops about all gathered and a bountiful supply of fuel on hand. When a farmer is properly fixed no one can be fixed better.

There never was a busier old bachelor than J. H. Rogers, county clerk-elect, has been for several days, and by the way it was all occasioned by his preparation to embark in housekeeping. Don't understand by this that he is going to get married.

At the price turkeys have been selling for the last few years they will become a favorite crop in this part of the country. It does not take long to convert them into cash, and the labor required to raise them is almost nominal when compared to that required by other farm products.

Last week the Recorder said that W. M. Rogers is four score and ten years old, when it should have said four score. Mr. Rogers was receiving the congratulations of friends on his advanced age and excellent physical condition. Mr. Rogers did not mind, but rather appreciated, the congratulations but could not stand for the statement that he was ninety years old.

Butchered a Junk Shop.

Thomas Horn, of Mercer county killed a hog last week that weighed nearly 300 pounds and was healthy and thrifty, and in its stomach was found 257 nails and 27 iron taps and small bolts. It was fattened in a lot where an abandoned blacksmith shop stood.

Contest Withdrawn.

The Recorder has been compelled to call off its contest in which a package of old bachelors was offered as prizes. This step has become necessary because an undue excitement was resulting among the numerous old maids who wanted to take advantage of the opportunity to secure a helpmate.

Stung For 15 Years

by Indigestion's pangs—trying many doctors and $200.00 worth of medicine in vain. B. F. Ayscue, of Ingleside, N. C., at last tried Dr. King's New Life Pills, and they wholly cured him. They cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headachh, Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowel troubles. 25c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

An Interesting Meeting Closed.

The union meeting conducted by Rev. Noel Gaines, of Frankfort, this State, at the Methodist church in Burlington, closed last Wednesday evening. Considering the very cold weather the attendance was good, and considerable interest was manifested. There were no confessions but the minister is confident the good seed sown during the meeting will ultimately result in considerable benefit to the community. Rev. Gaines is an interesting speaker and an ernest worker in religion.

Good Cheer at the Infirmary.

Christmas day brought good cheer at the county infirmary. First, Supt. Blythe was remembered by his friend, Hon. D. Linn Gooch, of Covington, with a check for $100; then the ladies of Burlington Baptist church mite society presented each of the beneficiaries of the infirmary with a nice little rememberance, and last but not least Supt. Blythe and wife served a very fine chicken dinner, which was enjoyed immensely by every person big or little, young or old, black or white about the institution.

The "Two Flag's" Contest.

Several of the pupils of the Burlington school participated in the essay contest inaugurated by Rev. Noel Gaines during his stay in Burlington, and quite a number, the subject of which was the two flags, was submitted for him to pass upon. The decisions were as follows: Of those submitted by the boys Howard Huey's was selected as the best, while John Walton and Wilber Kelly were each given honorable mention. On the part of the girls, Mary Castleman's was selected as a first choice, and Marie Craven and Ruth Kelly each entitled to honorable mention. Rev. Gaines complimented very highly the production of each of the pupils who participated in the contest.

From the "Show Me" State.

James Hind, of Lewistown, Mo., in renewing his subscription, to the Recorder, writes: "You will please find $1.50 enclosed to pay for the Recorder for the year 1910. The paper reaches us just about noon every Friday. We are always glad to get the Boone County news. We have it for our second course or dessert. One of the family reads the Verona and Walton news for the rest of us while at the table. We are much pleased with our new home. We are within one and one fourth miles of LaBelle, a town of about 1,500 inhabitants. We receive our mail from Lewistown because of the R. D. from that place. We have in LaBelle five churches besides the colored folks church, one high school, one Grammar school, two banks, four dry goods stores, five groceries, two restaurants, hotel, bakery, two meat shops, two poultry houses, a monument or tombstone establishment, one harness shop, a shoe store, three livery barns, two hardware stores, three drug stores, a furniture and undertaking establishment, printing office, picture gallery, jewelry and piano store, two blacksmith shops and wagon factory, factory for making concrete blocks, one feed mill, ice plant, and light plant which furnishes light for the town. Water works, lumber yard and granitoid walks over town. Five doctors and three dentists. Several men in our town are said to be worth from $25,000 to $100,000, who live in residences that cost from $15,000 to $30,000. It is said that Missouri is the only State in the union that could live on her own resources were she surrounded by a stone wall. So varied are her resources, enough is permitted to go to waste every year to feed a half million people. Notwithstanding we have so much wealth and such great resources, Missouri, as well as Kentucky and other states, always has some poor with them. The Master said, on one occasion, "The poor ye have always with you." As it is about time for the equalization board to meet, I want to say, "Hello" to them and Judge Cason through the Recorder. I will think of them though absent from them. I understand R. O. Powers is my successor. You will find him to be a jovial, good fellow. I trust you will do good work and have a good time.'

Looking One's Best.

It's woman's delight to look her best but pimples, skin eruptions, sores and boils rob her of joy. Listen! Bucklen's Arnica Salve cures them; makes the skin soft and velvety. It glorifies the face Cures Pimples, Sore Eyes, Cold Sores, Cracked Lips, Chapped Hands, Tetter, Infallible for Piles. 25c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

Why You Should Advertise.

"I have done business for 30 years without advertising; why should I start now?" asks many a business man. In the opinion of C. R. Lippman, advertising manager of the Genuine Badger State Company, this is a very natural question for the founder or manager who has built up a profitable business without advertising.

But, says Mr. Lippman, time and methods are changing and the successful business man is changing his tactics accordingly. There was a time when few commercial travelers used the railroad. Nowadays who would not use it?

There was a time when the telegraph and the telephone were considered toys, and used only by the shrewdest business men, says the Fourth Estate in an editorial recently. Advertising is an evolution like these inventions Like them it increases speed, ease and economy of communication.

It utilizes the ever growing "reading habit" of the public. Fifty years ago there were only 2,000 newspapers and periodicals in this country. To-day people read more and more people read. The printed word rules the land.

And how much we owe the printed page from the "First Reader" of our spelling days to this morning's newspaper! What we learn from personal observation and conversation is only a drop compared with the ocean of information obtained from reading.

The fundamental effect of the "graphic" page on the public mind is well illustrated by the name of this continent. It was not named after its discoverer; but—without official decree—after Amerigo Vespucci, the man who first showed what it looked like in "black and white."

The reading habit is so deeply rooted that we readily place confidence in the printed page, if it is at all plausible. We say this country contains some 80,000,000 people. We never counted them. We read it. We say this year's corn crop is worth $1,400,000,000. We never figure it up. We read it.

To utilize this general hunger for reading through the channels of advertising is as natural as utilizing the "concourse" habit of the public by locating along the most frequented thoroughfares.

Benefits of Rural Routes.

The rural delivery service has developed in twelve years from an experiment requiring an appropriation of $40,000 to one of the largest branches of the postal establishment, with an annual expenditure exceeding $35,000,000. The postage on matter mailed on rural routes is estimated at about $7,000,000. The importance of this service to a large number of people is fully appreciated. It brings the farms and villages into closer communication with commercial and educational centers. It encourages the improvement of the country roads. By making rural life more attractive it stimulates agriculture. No doubt it is partly responsible for the increase in farm values. Owing to the marvelously rapid growth of this service, however, it is but natural that defects have developed. The cost of rural delivery is probably much greater than it should be.

Help Your Carriers.

Rural Route patrons should have consideration for their obliging carriers—no country in the State has a lot that are more so than those who serve the good people of Boone county—and to this end every person who receives mail on a route should feel it encumbent upon himself to keep a supply of stamps on hand, especially during the cold months, and not make a practice of dropping pennies in the boxes to pay postage. Also equip your boxes with coin-holding receptacles in order to help your carrier. This is no more than a reasonable request and should be complied with.

Rich Men's Gift are Poor.

besides this: "I want to go on record as saying that I regard Electric Bitters as one of the best gifts that God has made to woman, writes Mrs. O. Rhinevault, of Vestal Center, N. Y., "I can never forget what it has done for me." This glorious medicine gives a woman buoyant spirits, vigor of body and jubilant health It quickly cures Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Headache Backche, Fainting and Dizzy Spells; soon builds up the weak, ailing and sick ly. Try them. 50c at Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger, Ky.

Executed Bond.

B. B. Hume executed the several bonds required of him as sheriff, last week, the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, of Baltimore, Maryland, being his surety. D. M. Snyder, Burlington, and G. E. Carroll, of Walton it is understood are to be his deputies.

Dies Suddenly.

William Griffith, a prominent citizen of Beaver, died last Saturday night of heart trouble. He was in his usual health last Saturday, and on that day he and his wife entertained with a turkey dinner.

Hebron Masonic Lodge held its annual election, last Monday, after which an elegant dinner was served by the order, and which was one of the holiday events in that part of the county.

It is probable that as a result of the meeting of Covington council committees, the City Solicitor and Engineer and representatives of the C., L., L. & M. and Covington and Big Bone Traction lines, that franchise grants will be prepared and offered for sale, and by the bidding of the two traction lines, they can indicate whether or not they want a right of way through the streets of Covington.—Ky. Post.

Alone in Saw Mill at Night

unmindful of dampness, drafts, storms or cold, W. J. Atkins worked as Night Watchman at Banner Springs Tenn. Such exposure gave him a severe cold that settled on his lungs. At last he had to give up work. He tried many remedies but all failed till he used Dr. King's New Discovery. 'After using a bottle" he writes, "I went back to work as well as ever." Severe Colds stubborn Coughs get quick relief and prompt cure from this glorious medicine. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free, guaranteed by Bentler's Drug Store, Erlanger.

Personal Mention.

Prof. Dix is spending the holidays at Morehead, Rowan county.

N. E. Riddell was transacting business in Belleview, last Thursday afternoon.

Lewis Beemon expects to start to Bartow, Florida, about the first of next month.

Rev. Wm. McMillan pastor of Big Bone Baptist church, made this office a pleasant Christmas eve call.

Miss Laura Frances Riddell entertained with a party last night. The little folks had a very delightful time.

Dr. Carlyle and Lee Stephens, of Rabbit Hash, and Jacob Lodge, of Hebron, were callers at this office yesterday.

Miss Charlotte Hall spent from Friday night until Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hall of this place.

A. B. Renaker and wife spent Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Renaker, of Dry Ridge, Grant county.

H. G. Blanton, of Erlanger, was in Burlington one day last week distributing handsome 1910 calendars advertising his business.

C. H. Acra, of Belleview; T. G. Graves and Geo. Riley, of Bullittsville, and J. H. Aylor, of Gunpowder, were among those transacting business in Burlington, last Monday.

John Hogan, of Hebron neighborhood, was transacting business in Burlington, last Monday. Mr. Hogan always feels at home when mingling with the people of the old town.

James Bullock called at this office, one day last week, and subscribed for the Recorder to be sent during the year 1910 to his sister, Mrs. F. B. Jackson at Camden, Ohio.

Bert Parsons, of Cincinnati, called at this office as he was on his way home after having spent several days down on Middle creek with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parsons.

Dr. O. S. Crisler arrived home last Thursday, from Indianapolis, to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Crisler. He will graduate from the Indianapolis Veterinary College next April.

Bert Parsons and Herbert Kirkpatrick, two base ball enthusiasts, engaged in a fanning bee at this office, yesterday afternoon, and, strange to say the Burlington magnate was a poor second in the event.

Miss Lucy Russell, teacher of Burlington common school, presented each of her pupils with a box of nice candy before dismissing school Friday afternoon for the holidays. The children appreciated the treat.

Judge H. G. Betts, of Owenton, Owen county, made J. C. Revill a brief visit last Thursday as he passed through Burlington enroute to Petersburg on business pertaining to the insurance on a large flour mill destroyed in his town by a recent fire. Mr. Betts is a prominent attorney at the Owen county bar.

Temp Graves, leader of entertainment-loving element in his neighborhood, came over, last Monday, and met the manager of the Zellers string band, and was negotiating with him to make music at the Bullittsville halt that night, where Mr. Graves had an entertainment billed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gaines chaperoned a party of Burlington young people, who attended a party at W. B. Watkins, near Commissary, last Monday night. The party was the social event of the season in that neighborhood, and the young guests are loud in their praises of their entertainment.

Misses Emma Adams and Nellie Kirkpatrick, who operate the Burlington telephone exchange, request the Recorder to thank the many friends who remembered them with Christmas presents. Quite a number of the subscribers remembered these young ladies with tokens of their appreciation of the service they have rendered during the past year. They are always, kind, polite and accommodating when serving the patrons of the lines.

—o—

Clarence Utz, colored, of Bullittsville neighborhood, shot his wife in the calf of one leg, last Monday night. One report says the wound is not serious and was the result of an accident, while other reports are not so favorable to the shootist.

—o—

Up to last night about six inches of snow had fallen, and indications were good for a fall of several more inches. The snow has been too dry for good sleighing, although the roads are full of those conveyances.

—o—

The county board of education will hold its regular monthly meeting in Burlington next Monday.

—o—

The young people were entertained out at Charles Kelly's with a cotillion party last night.

—o—

For Sale—Fine Percheron stallion. For particulars call on or address C. L. Vashell, Moores Hill, Indiana, R. D. No. 2.

OUR FIRST FALL SHIPMENT OF

GODMAN SHOES

IS ABOUT GONE.

Our Second Fall Shipment Just Opened Up. Come at once and get a Good Selection before numbers are broken.

These Shoes are, without doubt, the

Best Shoes Ever Sold in our Store

ALREADY FAMOUS FOR GOOD SHOES.

WE HANDLE THE FAMOUS

Ball Band Wool Boot and Rubber

OUR WINTER STOCK OF

Blankets, Comforts, Woolens, Yarns, Underwear, Etc.,

IS NOW COMPLETE.

W. M. Rachal & Co

Union, Kentucky.

GIVE US A CALL.

We can advise you what to give for a useful

CHRISTMAS PRESENT.

WHAT WOULD BE MORE APPROPRIATE —THAN A—

Suit or Overcoat?

We have a large assortment for the Men and for the Little Ones. We can show you some GREAT BARGAINS IN

Men's, Boys' & Children's Clothing.

A serviceable Present would be one of our Corduroy Duck or Leather Coats; Corduroy or Jeans Pants, or one of our Warm Wool Jackets or Sweater Coats.

VISIT OUR STORE BEFORE BUYING.

Rolfes & Wachs,

RELIABLE CLOTHIERS,

No. 1 PIKE STREET, Cor. Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

BARGAINS

IN A FULL ASSORTMENT OF

Surries, Buggies, Runabouts and Spring Wagons.

Will close out Cheap in Order to make room for Our Spring Stock. If you want to buy, we can Save you Money.

REPAIRING AND PAINTING PROMPTLY DONE.

H. Von Lehmen,

152 to 156 Pike Street,

Phone S. 148. COVINGTON, KY.

GET READY FOR THE

Xmas Holidays

By making your purchases at BALDON'S, where you will find Quantity and Quality to select from,

Cranberries, Prunes, Peaches, canned and dried, Mince Meat, Dates, Figs, Raisins, Oranges, Bananas, Nuts of all kinds, a fine assortment of Candies, Nice line of Stationery, suitable for Xmas presents, New Crop of Southern Syrup Molasses—very fine.

Nice Line of Fire Works.

C. M. BALDON,

Burlington, Kentucky.

James T. Gaines and wife, of Idlewild, entertained the young people last Saturday night in a most delightful manner. The bad weather interfered somewhat with the attendance, several young people being kept away by the rough weather. Mr. and Mrs. Gaines, always good entertainers, were at their best on the occasion above mentioned.

This has been a delightful Xmas for young people to get about over the country in pursuit of pleasure.

For Sale—One eighteen month old Jersey bull. W. H. Goodridge, Florence, Ky.

For a temperance man President Taft seems to know a great deal about whisky.

DEVELOPMENT OF CENTRAL CANADA

THE STORY OF BIG YIELDS OF GRAIN COMES FROM EVERY SECTION.

When the man in the States was told that he could get 160 acres of land in Central Canada—comprising the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—that under cultivation would produce from 20 to 30 bushels of wheat to the acre, or if seeded to oats the yield would be 40 to 60 bushels, he was skeptical. The same story was told the man who wished to get nearer to existing lines of railway, and was only asked to pay $10 to $12 an acre. But many tried it, some one plan and some another. The man who accepted the 160 acres as a free gift, as a homestead, and was willing to put in the required residence duties of three years has now a farm worth from fifteen to twenty dollars an acre. The man who chose to purchase, and did so, took up his residence just the same. He has land, that, in many cases, is worth twice the money he paid for it. Both have found that the story of splendid yields was verified. They have had crops exceeding that promised; they have seen oats that yielded 100 bushels to the acre, and have grown wheat that averaged 40 and as high as 50 bushels to the acre. Their wheat was not a 57 lb. to the bushel article but 62 and 63 lbs. They have seen within the past year or two trunk lines of railway constructed through their district, and throwing out branch lines to the gates of their farm. They have seen schools established in their neighbourhood and the Government contributing largely to their expense. Churches have been erected, villages have been established, towns have sprung into existence and cities are rapidly springing up, as if the magic hand of some unseen conjurer was at work. But it was not; it was the legitimate offering of the wealth of the field which made all these things come about, naturally, and easy. The prairie that three years ago was merely prairie, a patch of brown, just waiting for the ploughman, is to-day dotted with tilled farms and splendid homes. The line of elevators with their glistening metalled fireproof sides and roofs, indicate the location of the town and the railroad. There is the glow of newness about it all, but the elevator, the splendid store buildings and the comfortable hostelries denote wealth, beyond that of the strength of the man who fashioned and built them but the wealth of the soil, which means that the newness will be followed by a steady growth. The writer recently was a passenger over the Grand Trunk Pacific, the latest factor in this great marvelous field of development. The rapidity with which towns were being built up, the farmsteads occupied, was something even his experienced eye had not looked for. Everywhere along the line of this new transcontinental was the distinguishing mark of progress. There was not a mile of the length of the road from Winnipeg to Edmonton and west that did not bear token of its ability to pay tribute to the revenue of the road. Mention is made of this line, not because it is the last in the field, but because it is one of the best built roads on the Continent and traverses one of the best districts of an excellent country. It is well operated, and already has gone into active service as another means of making it possible to secure more speedily transit from the grain fields to the shipping centres. It had been the intention in this article to have spoken of some of the yields of grain that have made the farmers of Central Canada contented this year, but space will not permit, so that delightful task will be taken up in another issue. In the meantime it would be well for the reader, if he is interested, to put himself in touch with some official of the Canadian Government and get information that might be useful in making a selection for a home in Central Canada, and become one of those who will be instrumental in building up a great country to the north. In doing so, you will be assisting the United States. In a few years' time the United States will be a wheat importer. Canada will supply the wheat and you will be one of the producers.

Eve's New Costume.

"Oh, dear!" said Eve, after she had secured all the best fig leaves there were to be had, "I'm so unhappy."

"Come, dear, cheer up," replied Adam. "Things might be worse than they are. We still have each other."

"Yes, but now that I've got to wearing clothes there's no other woman with whom I can talk about them."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Then They Came to Blows.

"What started the fight between Lobster and Shrimp?"

"Why, Shrimp called Lobster a measly little shrimp,' and he called Shrimp a 'lobster.'"

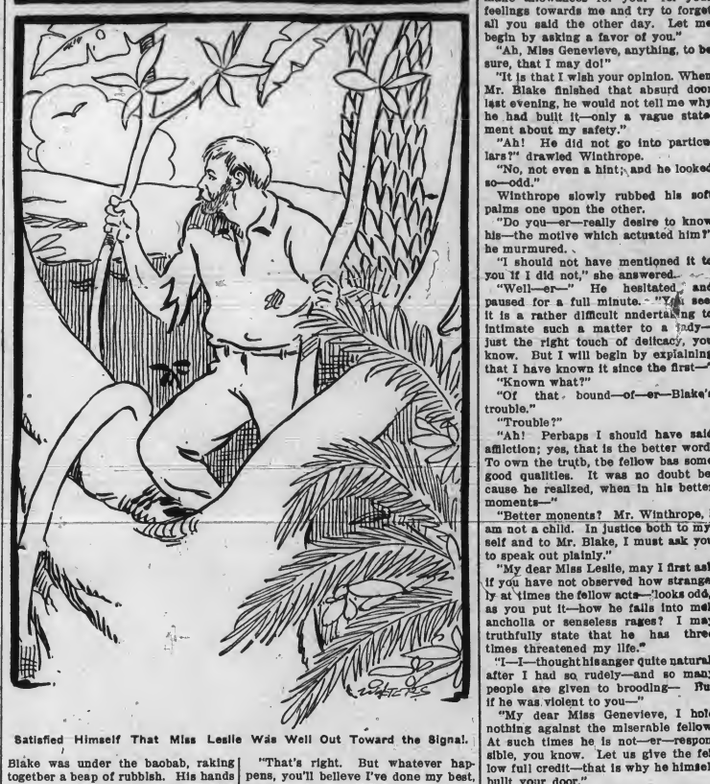
QUICKEST WITH SAFETY

PISO'S CURE

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS and COLDS

For the baby often means rest for both mother and child. Little ones like it too—it's so palatable to take. Free from opiates.

All Druggists, 25 cents.



INTO THE PRIMITIVE

BY ROBERT AMES BENNETT

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY A. C. MCCLURG & CO.

Satisfied Himself That Miss Leslie Was Well Out Toward the Signal.

SYNOPSIS.

The story opens with the shipwreck of the steamer on which Miss Genevieve Leslie, an American heiress, Lord Winthrope, an Englishman, and Tom Blake, a brusque American, were passengers. The three were tossed upon an uninhabited island and were the only ones not drowned. Blake recovered from a drunken stupor. Blake, shunned on the boat, because of his roughness, became a hero as preserver of the helpless pair. The Englishman was suing for the hand of Miss Leslie. Blake started to swim back to the ship to recover what was left. Blake returned safely. Winthrope wasted his last match on a cigarette, for which he was scored by Blake. Their first meal was a dead fish. The trio started a ten mile hike for higher land. Thirst attacked them. Blake was compelled to carry Miss Leslie on account of weariness. He taunted Winthrope. They entered the jungle. That night was passed roosting high in a tree. The next morning they descended to the open again. All three constructed hats to shield themselves from the sun. They then feasted on cocoanuts, the only procurable food. Miss Leslie showed a liking for Blake, but detested his roughness. Led by Blake they established a home in some cliffs. Blake found a fresh water spring. Miss Leslie faced an unpleasant situation. They planned their campaign. Blake recovered his surveyor's magnifying glass, thus insuring fire. He [illegible]ted a jungle fire, killing a large leopard and smothering several cubs. In the leopard's cavern they built a small home. They gained the cliffs by burning the bottom of a tree until it fell against the heights. The trio secured eggs from the cliffs. Miss Leslie's white skirt was decided upon as a signal. Miss Leslie made a dress from the leopard skin. Blake's efforts to kill antelopes failed. Overhearing a conversation between Blake and Winthrope, Miss Leslie became frightened. Winthrope became ill with fever. Blake was poisoned by a fish. Jackals attacked the camp that night, but were driven off by Genevieve. Blake returned, after nearly dying. Blake constructed an animal trap. It killed a hyena. On a tour the trio discovered honey and oysters. Miss Leslie was attacked by a poisonous snake. Blake killed it and saved its poison to kill game. For the second time Winthrope was attacked by fever. He and Blake disagreed.

CHAPTER XVIII.—Continued.

"That's it—do the baby act," jeered Blake. "But say, I don't know just how much eavesdropping you did; so there's one thing I'll repeat for the special benefit of your ludship. It'll be good for your delicate health to pay attention. From now on, the cliff top belongs to Miss Leslie. Gents and book agents not allowed. Understand? You don't go up there without her special invite. If you do, I'll twist your damned neck!"

He turned on his heel and left the Englishman cowering.

CHAPTER XIX.

An Ominous Lull.

THE three saw nothing more of each other that day. Miss Leslie had withdrawn into the baobab and Blake had gone off down the cleft for more salt. He did not return until after the others were asleep. Miss Leslie had gone without her supper, or had eaten some of the food stored within the tree.

When, late the next morning, she finally left her seclusion Blake was nowhere in sight. Ignoring Winthrope's attempts to start a conversation, she hurried through her breakfast, and, having gathered a supply of food and water, went to spend the day on the headland.

Evening forced her to return to the cleft. She had emptied the water flask by noon, and was thirsty. Winthrope was dozing beneath his canopy, which Blake had moved some yards down towards the barricade. Blake was cooking supper.

He did not look up, and met her attempt at a pleasant greeting with an inarticulate grunt. When she turned to enter the baobab, she found the opening littered with bamboos and green creepers and pieces of large branches with charred ends. On either side, midway through the entrance, a vertical row of holes had been sunk through the bark of the tree into the soft wood.

"What is this?" she asked. "Are you planning a porch?"

"Maybe," he replied.

"But why should you make the holes so far in? I know so little about these matters, but I should have fancied the holes would come on the front of the tree."

"You'll see in a day or two."

"How did you make the holes? They look black, as though—"

"Burnt 'em, of course—hot stones."

"That was so clever of you!"

He made no response.

Supper was eaten in silence. Even Winthrope's presence would have been a relief to the girl; yet she could not go to waken him, or even suggest that her companion do so. Blake sat throughout the meal sullen and stolid, and carefully avoided meeting her gaze. Before they had finished, twilight had come and gone, and night was upon them. Yet she lingered for a last attempt.

"Good-night, friend!" she whispered.

He sprang up as though she had struck him and blundered away into the darkness.

In the morning it was as before. He had gone off before she wakened. She lingered over breakfast; but he did not appear, and she could not endure Winthrope's suave drawl. She went for another day on the headland.

She returned somewhat earlier than on the previous day. As before, Winthrope was dozing in the shade. But Blake was under the baobab, raking together a heap of rubbish. His hands were scratched and bleeding. To the girl's surprise, he met her with a cheerful grin and a clear, direct glance.

"Look here," he called.

She stepped around the baobab and stood staring. The entrance, from the ground to the height of 12 feet, was walled up with a mass of thorny branches, interwoven with yet thornier creepers.

"How's that for a front door?" he demanded.

"Door?"

"Yes."

"But it's so big. I could never move it."

"A child could. Look." He grasped a projecting handle near the bottom of the thorny mass. The lower half of the door swung up and outward, the upper half in and downward. "See, it's balanced on a crossbar in the middle. Come on in."

She walked after him in under the now horizontal door. He gave the inner end a light upward thrust, and the door swung back in its vertical circle until it again stood upright in the opening. From the inside the girl could see the strong framework to which was lashed the facing of the thorns. It was made of bamboo and strong pieces of branches, bound together with tough creepers.

"Pretty good grating, eh?" remarked Blake. "When those green creepers dry, they'll shrink and hold tight as iron clamps. Even now nothing short of a rhinoceros could walk through when the bars are fast. See here."

He stepped up to the novel door and slid several socketed crossbars until their outer ends were deep in the holes in the tree trunk, three on each side.

"How's that for a set of bolts?" he demanded.

"Wonderful! Really, you are very, very clever! But why should you go to all this trouble, when the barricade—"

"Well, you see, it's best to be on the safe side."

"But it's absurd for you to go to all this needless work. Not that I do not appreciate your kind thought for my safety. Yet look at your hands!"

Blake hastened to put his bleeding hands behind him.

"Go and wash them at once, and I'll put on a dressing."

"No, thank you, Miss Jenny. You needn't bother. They'll do all right."

"You must! It would please me."

"Why, then, of course— But first, I want to make sure you understand fastening the door. Try the bars yourself."

She obeyed, sliding the bars in and out until he nodded his satisfaction.

"Good!" he said. "Now promise me you'll slide 'em fast every night."

"If you ask it. But why?"

"I want to make you perfectly safe."

"Safe? But am I not secure with—"

"Look here, Miss Leslie; I'm not going to say anything about anybody."

"Perhaps you had better say no more, Mr. Blake."

"That's right. But whatever happens, you'll believe I've done my best, won't you?—even if I'm not a— Promise me straight, you'll lock up tight every night."

"Very well, I promise," responded the girl, not a little troubled by the strangeness of his expression.

That night Miss Leslie dutifully fastened herself in with all six bars. She wakened at dawn, and hastened out to prepare Blake's breakfast, but she found herself too late. There were evidences that he had eaten and gone off before dawn. The stretching frame of one of the antelope skins had been moved around by the fire, and on the smooth inner surface of the hide was a laconic note, written with charcoal in a firm, bold hand:

"Exploring inland. Back by night, if can."

She bit her lip in her disappointment, for she had planned to show him how much she appreciated his absurd but well-meant concern for her safety. As it was, he had gone off without a word and left her to the questionable pleasure of a tete-a-tete with Winthrope. Hoping to avoid this, she hurried her preparations for a day on the cliff. But before she could get off, Winthrope sauntered up, hiding his yawns behind a hand which had regained most of its normal plumpness. His eye was at once caught by the charcoal note.

"Ah!" he drawled; "really now, this is too kind of him to give us the pleasure of his absence all day!"

"Ye-es?" murmured Miss Leslie. "Permit me to add that you will also have the pleasure of my absence. I am going now."

Winthrope looked down, and began to speak very rapidly: "Miss Genevieve, I—I wish to apologize. I've thought it over. I've made a mistake—I—I mean, my conduct the other day was vile, utterly vile! Permit me to appeal to your considerateness for a man who has been unfortunate—who, I mean, has been—er—was carried away by his feelings. Your favoring of that bloom—er—that—er—bounder so angered me that I—that I—"

"Mr. Winthrope!" interrupted the girl, "I will have you to understand that you do not advance yourself in my esteem by such references to Mr. Blake."

"Aye! aye, that Blake!" panted Winthrope. "Don't you see? It's 'im, an' that blossom! W'en a man's daffy—w'en 'e's in love!—"

Miss Leslie burst into a nervous laugh; but checked herself on the instant.

"Really, Mr. Winthrope!" she exclaimed, "you must pardon me. I—I never knew that cultured Englishmen ever dropped their h's. As it happens, you know, I never saw one excited before this."

"Ah, yes; to be sure—to be sure!" murmured Winthrope, in an odd tone. "The girl threw out her hand in a little gesture of protest.

"Really, I'm sorry to have hurt—to have been so thoughtless!"

Winthrope stood silent. She spoke again: "I'll do what you ask. I'll make allowances for your—for your feelings towards me and try to forget all you said the other day. Let me begin by asking a favor of you."

"Ah, Miss Genevieve, anything, to be sure, that I may do!"

"It is that I wish your opinion. When Mr. Blake finished that absurd door last evening, he would not tell me why he had built it—only a vague statement about my safety."

"Ah! He did not go into particulars?" drawled Winthrope.

"No, not even a hint; and he looked so—odd."

Winthrope slowly rubbed his soft palms one upon the other.

"Do you—er—really desire to know his—the motive which actuated him?" he murmured.

"I should not have mentioned it to you if I did not," she answered.

"Well—er—" He hesitated, and paused for a full minute. "You see, it is a rather difficult undertaking to intimate such a matter to a lady—just the right touch of delicacy, you know. But I will begin by explaining that I have known it since the first—"

"Known what?"

"Of that bound—of—er—Blake's trouble."

"Trouble?"

"Ah! Perhaps I should have said affliction; yes, that is the better word To own the truth, the fellow has some good qualities. It was no doubt because he realized, when in his better moments—"

"Better moments? Mr. Winthrope, I am not a child. In justice both to myself and to Mr. Blake, I must ask you to speak out plainly."

"My dear Miss Leslie, may I first ask if you have not observed how strangely at times the fellow acts—looks odd, as you put it—how he fails into melancholia or senseless rages? I may truthfully state that he has three times threatened my life."

"I—I—thought his anger quite natural, after I had so rudely—and so many people are given to brooding— But if he was violent to you—"

"My dear Miss Genevieve, I hold nothing against the miserable fellow. At such times he is not—er—responsible, you know. Let us give the fellow full credit—that is why he himself built your door."

"Oh, but I can't believe it! I can't believe it!" cried the girl. "It's not possible! He's so strong, so true and manly, so kind, for all his gruffness!"

"Ah, my dear!" soothed Winthrope, "that is the pity of it. But when a man must needs be his worst enemy, when he must needs lead a certain kind of life, he must take the consequences. To put it as delicately as possible, yet explain all, I need only say one word—paranoia."

Miss Leslie gathered up her day's outfit with trembling fingers and went to mount the cliff.

After waiting a few minutes Winthrope walked hurriedly through the cleft and climbed the tree-ladder with an agility that would have amazed his companions. But he did not draw himself up on the cliff. Having satisfied himself that Miss Leslie was well out toward the signal, he returned to the baobab and proceeded to examine Blake's door with minute scrutiny.

That evening, shortly before dark, Blake came in almost exhausted by his journey. Few men could have covered the same ground in twice the time. It had been one continuous round of grass jungle, thorn scrub, rocks and swamp. And for all his pains he brought back with him nothing more than the discouraging information that the back-country was worse than the shore. Yet he betrayed no trace of depression over the bad news, and for all his fatigue maintained a tone of hearty cheerfulness until, having eaten his fill, he suddenly observed Miss Leslie's frigid politeness.

"What's up now?" he demanded. "You're not mad 'cause I hiked off this morning without notice?"

"No, of course, not, Mr. Blake. Nothing of the kind. But I—"

"Well, what?" he broke in, as she hesitated. "I can't, for the world, think of anything else I've done—"

"You've done! Perhaps I might suggest that it is a question of what you haven't done." The girl was trembling on the verge of hysterics. "Yes, what you've not done! All these weeks, and not a single attempt to get us away from here, except that miserable signal; and I as good as put that up! You call yourself a man! But I —I—" She stopped short, white with a sudden overpowering fear.

Winthrope looked from her to Blake with a sidelong glance, his lips drawn up in an odd twist.

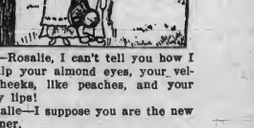
There followed several moments of tense silence; then Blake mumbled apologetically: "Well, I suppose I might have done more. I was so dead anxious to make sure of food and shelter. But this trip to-day—"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

It is asserted by a traveler that the best cigaret tobacco in the world comes from Macedonia; that the best tobacco (when it is tobacco at all) in European cigarets comes from Macedonia, and that when it does not come from Macedonia it is said to come from there."

Habitual Constipation

May be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs & Elixir of Senna, which enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with when no longer needed, as the best of remedies when required are to assist nature, and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, proper efforts, and right living generally.



To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine,

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS

ONE SIZE ONLY—REGULAR PRICE 50¢ PER BOTTLE

AT FIRST SIGHT.

He—Rosalie, I can't tell you how I worship your almond eyes, your velvet cheeks, like peaches, and your cherry lips!

Rosalie—I suppose you are the new gardener.

FAMILY COUGH SYRUP

Cures Any Cough in Five Hours.

NEW PRESCRIPTION HERE.

Here is given the most effective cough prescription known to the medical world. It is a mild laxative, too, and this is what a body needs when suffering with cough and cold on the lungs. A cough or cold indicates poisons in the system, causing inflammation and congestion. Nearly all cough syrups relieve, but make the trouble worse by their constipating effects. This prescription not only relieves quickly, but it cures any cough that is curable. Get one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Mix in a bottle. Take for acute cough or bronchitis twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. A few hours' treatment will cure and heal the throat and lungs of all but consumptives. Cut this out and give it to some friend who may need it to be saved from an early death by consumption.

To Spare His Neighbors.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, discussing in New York her book on the rearing of children, said:

"Children must be trained to be unselfish and tactful. Without this training the average child is as inconsiderate as a Dark Harbor fisherman the Maine folks tell about.

"This fisherman, walking along the road one day, saw a very ugly man sitting on a fence whittling a stick. He stopped and looked at the man for some time in disgusted silence. Then he said:

"'Well, you're ugly for fair.'

"'I can't help it, can I?' the ugly man asked, in a hurt tone.

"The fisherman thought a moment. Then he said, indignantly:

"'You could stay in the house, couldn't you?'"

Would Depend.

She—You've seen Charley's wife. Would you call her pretty?

He—I might if I were talking to Charley.

PERRY DAVIS' PAINKILLER has an enviable reputation of over seventy years as a reliable remedy for lumbago, sciatica, pleurisy stitches, etc., 25c, 50c and 90c. At all druggists.

When doctors disagree they are apt to make sarcastic remarks about each other that savor of the truth.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature is on each box. 25c.

The girl who accepts a man seldom takes him at his own valuation.

Worms

"Cascarets are certainly fine. I gave a friend one when the doctor was treating him for cancer of the stomach. The next morning he passed four pieces of a tape worm. He then got a box and in three days he passed a tape-worm 45 feet long. It was Mr. Matt Freck, of Millersburg, Dauphin Co., Pa. I am quite a worker for Cascarets. I use them myself and find them beneficial for most any disease caused by impure blood."—Chas. E. Condon, Lewiston, Pa., (Mifflin Co.)

CUT THIS OUT, mail it with your address to Sterling Remedy Company, Chicago, Illinois, and receive a handsome souvenir gold Bon Bon FREE. 931

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Don't overcrowd the young stock.

Study the individual cows and do not feed all alike.

Clean food and clean stables are a good preventive of disease.

Let the young calves have access to good, clean hay at all times.

Take care of the pigs or you will have no hogs to take care of.

A barn for sheep without a floor is preferable if it can be kept dry.

Coal oil applied to the roosts in small quantities will kill parasites.

Cow stables should have no cellar under them nor storage place above.

The flesh of birds differs in quality, according to the food on which they feed.

Poultry droppings, treated with land-plaster, is one of the high grade fertilizing agents.

The hog is preeminently the most corn and grain-condensing animal on the American farm.

By careful attention to proper methods of combining feed the cost can be greatly reduced.

One of the shrewdest bankers in the country rates his customers largely by their ability to raise hogs.

The breeding ewes should be fed and gotten into good condition in the fall, after the lambs are weaned.

Eliminate the hog's part in the economy of farm feeding operations and you will remove the factor of profit in many cases.

If milk weeds are of any use to the dairyman it might be a good plan to save the rag weeds to make the traveling junk dealer happy.

The hog will make from twelve to fifteen pounds of pork, live weight, from a bushel of corn; the sheep from five to eight, the steer from four to five.

In the vineyards of France, growers not only use smudges to keep off the frosts but to protect the vines from the sun's hot rays the morning after the freeze.

Profit in the orchard depends upon the perfection of the fruits raised and the quantity. And the trees cannot produce their full capacity unless they are well cared for.

The Oregon experiment station has decided that the scab on the prunes which is more or less troublesome to them is caused by the weather and not by fungus growth.

In homes where the children always like to spend their spare time elsewhere, the parents should take a day off to think and see if they can tell why. "There is a reason."

It is surprising how the value of horses keeps up in face of the fact that there has been an enormous increase in the number of automobiles used in towns and cities, as well as in the country.

By getting the shock corn in early the field can be used for late fall pasture. The corn ground may be clean but the grass along the fence rows is worth a considerable amount. The more often the pasture can be changed the better it is for both stock and pasture.

The cattle should be fattened as quickly as possible. It never pays to prolong the feeding even though a man may think he will strike a better market later. While heavy feeding is not so good at the start, the amount of grain should be increased from time to time until the cattle are on a full feed. Plenty of roughness should always be provided, and the herd should have free access to pure water and good salt.

Unquestioned experiments show that there is 15 to 20 per cent. more value in grain fed a hog on good pasture than fed in a pen or yard. The pig will do very well on clover pasture alone, but a little grain will give enough better pig to pay for the additional cost several times. A good supply of milk with a very little grain on alfalfa pasture makes excellent pork and makes it at the lowest cost. Both pigs and hogs will do better, be freer from disease when in sunshiny quarters than they will in dark, damp quarters.

Low-down wagons are not good.

A poor hen makes a poor mother.

Paint the ladders and store them under cover.

A run in the pasture is a fine remedy for an ailing horse.

Cultivate the strawberry bed as long the soil remains unfrozen.

Cement is replacing lumber in many forms of farm construction.

Salt should be kept in the mangers. It is a purifier and a mild tonic.

Truly speaking, the turkey is the only true American bird we have.

Get around to a new hen house this fall if you can. It will pay you to do it.

No owner of work animals can afford to let their shoulders get sore.

When soft-shelled eggs are laid you are feeding a ration too rich in protein.

The hog having a clean place to wallow is rarely troubled with lice or mange.

The old-timers of the range are rapidly thinning, but we still have quite a few left.

Good, substantial shelter not only adds comfort to the sheep, but money to the purse.

Hard wood ashes are valuable to spread around the grape vines and in the strawberry patch.

In Norway and Iceland fish meat is used as a cattle food. Such a diet gives the milk a fishy taste.

In marketing, eggs should be graded before they are offered for sale. Put them in boxes according to size and color.

Because hogs utilize grain products so efficiently and economically, the mistake of feeding grain exclusively is too often made.

The subsistence ration is an expensive one; plenty of wholesome food is necessary to farm animals' well-being and good service.

Many farmers never attribute the failure of their orchards to produce good fruit to lack of plant food in the soil but just let their trees drift along until they die.

Where there is still plenty of native burr oak timber growing the farmers do not know what the fence post problem is, but the prairie farmer is not so fortunate.

The greatest menace to hog raising has always been disease, but now the Missouri experiment station has found a real cure for cholera there will be little loss in the business.

The feeding of late corn fodder to dairy cows should be continued just as long as the corn is at all green. It is a splendid supplementary feed with the short autumn pasture grass.

Warping of timber is caused by the movement of its fibers in adjusting themselves to the "moisture within the wood and in the atmosphere," based upon the external conditions.

A New York man who has an orchard of 1,000 trees planted 20 feet apart each way, plants currant bushes five feet apart each way except in every other space running in the longest way of the field.

When one has purchased a bull of the conformation and breeding desired the main idea will be to so use and care for him that he will be a sure breeder and will reproduce in his offspring the desirable characteristics possessed by himself.

The difference between aged sows and gilts seems to be that a sow two years old or more is fully matured and easily kept in good flesh, usually farrowing much larger pigs than a gilt. She is a much better suckler and gives so much more milk that the pigs get a better start earlier in life and thus grow very rapidly, making gains younger in life.

Good sanitation is more and more coming into practice in modern dairying. Build a sanitary barn if you can, and if you cannot, then remodel the cow stalls and make them as comfortable and sanitary as possible. Floors that can be kept dry and clean, and walls and ceilings that do not catch dirt, or are easily cleaned, and plenty of light and ventilation are essentials for good dairy stable sanitation. The work may be done a little at a time.

There are all sorts of arguments brought forward to prove that inbreeding is sane breeding. Some point to wild fowl; others to the Jersey breed of cattle at home; others quote their own experience covering a few years, but the majority of level-headed poultrymen agree that incestuous inbreeding will, if continued, result in lack of stamina and diminished size of fowls. Where a breeder who has studied birds can, from the appearance of his birds, judge somewhat as to which are fit to use for inbreeding, the common breeder who pays little attention to his flock would be all "at sea."

Living Up to an Ideal

"There were three teachers in the building," remarked the eighth-grade teacher to the sympathetic friend, "whose interest in the new principal last year was purely professional.

"The first of the three was Miss Smiley, who recently had become engaged to what she called 'the best and dearest man in the whole wide world;' the second was Mrs. Allen, who had a worthless husband to support, and the third was Miss Ball, who is now instructing the children of the boys and girls to whom she taught the alphabet at the beginning of her career.

"The rest of us, however, being young and free from serious entanglements, couldn't be expected to ignore the fact that the new principal was handsome and under 30, now, could we?"

"Of course not," murmured the sympathetic friend.

"But isn't it astonishing," continued the young woman who presides over the eighth grade, "how easily some girls can modify their tastes and opinions to accord with those of a more or less attractive member of the opposite sex?"

"It is," agreed the friend, "until we remember that it is one of the surest ways of arousing the interest of the average man."

"That accounts for it, of course," said the eighth-grade teacher.

"At any rate," she went on, "no one had any trouble in discovering just what this particular young man did and didn't admire. He was just out of college and stood ready to deliver a well-formed opinion upon any subject you could mention, from vanity bags to vivisection.

"The very first week of school he proclaimed himself an ardent admirer of Wagner; whereupon, Miss Flickersham, who had been in the habit of dismissing Wagner's music with the remark, 'Difficult, yes, but why should one want to do it?'—forsook Italian opera on the spot and declared that it would be a good thing for real music if Caruso should lose his voice permanently! Some women positively have no opinions that an attractive man couldn't undermine in five minutes! But of course the young man was pleased; they used to discuss Wagner by the hour!

"A few days later, the first primary teacher, who had passed her entire vacation on the links, heard him say that he didn't approve of athletic women; so she promptly concealed her golf clubs, reformed her swinging stride and began to apply to her nut-brown face and hands every bleach, cream and lotion known to the beauty columns.

"Then Miss Smith happened to see two or three reproductions of Paul Helleu's pictures in the principal's office and, as somebody once had told her that she was the perfect image of the 'Helleu girl,' she concluded that all she had to do was simply to exist—but she's that kind of girl anyway.

"The girl in the room next to mine actually bought $28 worth of false braids and puffs, just because he made a remark about abundant tresses being a woman's crowning glory—"

"How absurd," murmured the sympathetic friend.

"I must admit," continued the other, "that he talked very interestingly on some subjects and one is always glad to be set right. Of course, I wasn't a suffragette, but I did think that women ought to vote until I heard him talk about woman's true sphere and how much more influence she might wield through—well, in other ways—and then I saw that I had really been open to conviction. I think it's important to keep one's mind in a receptive state."

"Oh, very important," declared her friend. "Well?" she added, expectantly.

"Oh," replied the eighth-grade teacher, "he was perfectly lovely to all of us—even to old Miss Ball—but he was married at the end of the summer vacation to a girl he'd known since they were children."

"Have you called on the bride?" asked the friend, after a brief silence.

"After a proper interval," was the reply. "I didn't go too soon, because that would look as though I was trying to show that I didn't care, and I didn't wait too long, because that would look as though I did care."

"I suppose you were curious—"

"Not in the least. You see, we all knew exactly what his ideal was—slender, with a mass of dusky hair and very feminine and devoted to Wagner—"

"And is she—"

"No! She's short, with a tight little wad of lightish hair and she doesn't know the first thing about music, and she's crazy about every sort of outdoor game—the house is so full of cups that she's won that they use them for sugar bowls and ash receivers. And what do you think was the first thing I saw when I entered the reception room? A motto—'Votes for Women!'"

French Capital for Argentina.

It is reliably reported that a French company is being formed with a capital of $20,000,000 under the auspices of the owners of the French railway in the province of Santa Fe for the construction of important railway lines in Argentina. There are fully 100,000 Frenchmen in the Argentine Republic, many of whom are extremely wealthy, and are endeavoring to induce their countrymen to invest money there.

WAS A CASE OF EMERGENCY

Here, If Ever, Was a Time When Telegraphic Limitations Were to Be Deplored.

Wilbur Wright was discussing in Dayton a very imaginative magazine story about aeroplanes.

"The story," he said, "was full of errors. Aeroplanes can't do what this chap claims. He doesn't understand them.

"In fact, he's like old George Kettle of Trotwood. George rushed into the Trotwood telegraph office the other day with a small package wrapped in a newspaper under his arm.

"'Telegraph this to my wife down to Dayton, Harvey,' he said to the telegraph clerk, thrusting the package through the little window.

"'No, no, George; we can't do anything like that,' laughed the clerk.

"'Drat ye,' said George, angrily, 'ye got to do it. It's my wife's teeth.'"

WOULD BE THERE.

"Hey, janitor, come quick. Dere's a man fell down de coal hole!"

"All right, sonny, I'll look into it!"

SKIN HUMOR 25 YEARS

"Cuticura did wonders for me. For twenty-five years I suffered agony from a terrible humor, completely covering my head, neck and shoulders, so even to my wife, I became an object of dread. At large expense I consulted the most able doctors far and near. Their treatment was of no avail, nor was that of the —— Hospital, during six months' efforts. I suffered on and concluded there was no help for me this side of the grave. Then I heard of some one who had been cured by Cuticura Remedies and thought that a trial could do no harm. In a surprisingly short time I was completely cured. S. P. Keyes, 147 Congress St., Boston, Mass., Oct. 12, '09."

Face Covered with Pimples

"I congratulate Cuticura upon my speedy recovery from pimples which covered my face. I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent for ten days and my face cleared and I am perfectly well. I had tried doctors for several month but got no results. Wm. J. Sadlier, 1614 Susquehanna Ave., Philadelphia, May 1, 1909."

Two of a Kind.

Mrs. Boggs—I hate to have a man always complaining about some little thing. Now, my husband is continually harping on the lace curtains.

Mrs. Wogge—Yes, and my husband has been kicking on our front door every morning at three o'clock for the last 20 years.—Puck.

Rough on Rats in Out Buildings.

In setting Rough on Rats in out buildings after mixing it well with any food decided upon, separate into small bits, place on several pieces of boards, and put these here and there under the floors. Close up all openings large enough for Dogs, Cats or Chickens to enter, but leave some small openings for Rats to get in and out. One 25c. box of Rough on Rats, being all poison, will make enough mixture to clear out in one or two nights settings, hundreds of Rats and Mice. 15c., 25c., 75c., at Druggists. E. S. Wells, Jersey City, N. J.

Cupid's Cynicism.

"Is it so, that you used to call regularly on that girl?"

"Yes; she always sang a song to me that I loved."

"Why didn't you marry her?"

"I found I could buy the song for 50 cents."—The Circle.

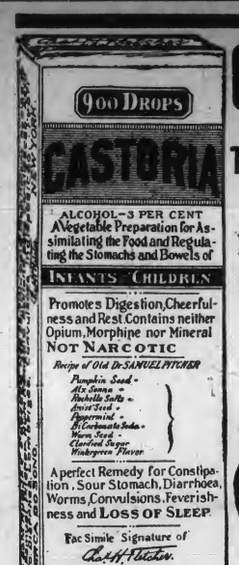
Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists, Price, 75c. per bottle.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A Whisper of Hope.



Knicker—Several thousand shirt waist makers are on strike.

Henpekt—Do you suppose it would do any good for the shirt waist buttoners to strike?

Take for LaGrippe.

Add to a half-pint of good whiskey, one ounce compound fluid balmwort and two ounces glycerine, shake well and take in tablespoon doses three to six times daily. This will check, prevent and cure colds and lagrippe quicker than anything known. Any druggist can supply it.

If you are ever beaten it will be by your own self. Nobody else can beat you.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use for Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Hubby Was Too Willing.

In the midst of her tears over a late disagreement she announced that she would take a trip of three weeks in the country for a rest from his abuse.

Hooray! Hooray!

He hurried to the station, bought tickets, hurried back home, pulled off his coat, plunged into the cellar, lugged out her trunks and commenced to pack.

Lying on a couch, she watched him through her tears with great curiosity. From time to time, in reply to many questions, she advised him what articles would be useful in the country, and they were eagerly included.

Perspiring and exhausted after some hours of preparatory detail for her departure, he sank into a chair and said:

"Everything is ready now. You have abundant time to catch your train."

"I have decided," she said, softly, "not to go."

You Can Rely on Resinol to Do Its Work Quickly and Perfectly.

Have been troubled with dry Eczema for several months, and have tried many different remedies, but I have gotten more relief and better results with two applications of Ungt. Resinol than all other remedies. Will gladly recommend it whenever and wherever I can.

A. E. Hatch, D. D. S., Cleveland, Ohio.

Ship's Figurehead.

Carvings for more than 500 vessels were made by William Southworth, who recently died at Bath. He made a specialty of the carving of figureheads for many years, and some splendid ones were the product of his skill. The rise of commercialism has blotted out the poetic significance of the figurehead and few figureheads are seen nowadays.—Kennebec Journal.

Salesmen

—Best Commission Offer on Earth. New—all retailers—samples, coat pocket. "Boston," Dept. C 1, Iowa City, Iowa.

A woman may be as old as she looks, but it makes a difference whether it's before or after she is dressed to go out.

Hamlins Wizard Oil will knock the spots off a sore throat. It's use makes tonsilitis, quinsy and diphtheria impossible. It is simply great for the relief of all pain, soreness and inflammation.

Once in a while you encounter one of those cheerful individuals who never borrow trouble, in spite of the fact that they borrow everything else.

BREAK UP THAT COUGH

with Allen's Lung Balsam, the popular family remedy. It cures where other remedies fail. All dealers. 25c, 50c, $1.00 bottles.

Compliments should be thoroughly Fletcherized before they are swallowed.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS.

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded, 50c.

Some people's morals are like their best clothes—only worn on extraordinary occasions.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

For children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind colic. 25c a bottle.

One man's hobby may be another man's nightmare.

WESTERN CANADA

Senator Dolliver, of Iowa, says:

"The stream of emigrants from the United States to Canada will continue."

Senator Dolliver recently paid a visit to Western Canada, and says: "I have in a land between the hearts of English speaking people this will account for the removal of so many Iowa farmers to Canada. Our people are pleased with its Government and the excellent administration of law, and they are coming to you in tens of thousands, and they are still coming."

Low-priced land is largely to the 70,000 American farmers who made Canada their home during 1909. Field crop returns alone during year added to the wealth of the country upwards of

$170,000,000.00

Grain growing, mixed farming, cattle raising and dairying are all profitable. Free Homesteads of 160 acres are to be had in the very best districts. 160 acre pre-emptions at $3.00 per acre within certain areas. Schools and churches in every settlement, climate unrivalled, soil the richest, wood, water and building material plentiful.

For particulars as to location, low settlers' railway rates and descriptive illustrated pamphlet, "Last Best West," and other information, write to Supt of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or to Canadian Government agent.

N. M. WILLIAMS
Law Building Toledo, Ohio
(Use address nearest you.)

The Army of Constipation

Is Growing Smaller Every Day.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS are responsible—they not only give relief, they permanently cure Constipation. Millions use them for Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Sallow Skin.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

GENUINE must bear signature:

Brent Good

ABSORBINE

Will reduce inflamed, strained, swollen Tendons, Ligaments, Muscles or Bruises. Cure the Lameness and stop pain from a Splint, Side Bone or Bone Spavin. No blister, no hair gone. Horse can be used. $2.00 a bottle.

Horse Book 2 F free.

ABSORBINE, JR., for mankind, $1 and $2. Reduces strained torn ligaments, enlarged glands, veins or muscles—heals ulcers—allays pain. Your druggist can supply and give references. Will tell you more if you write. Book Free. Made only by W. F. YOUNG, P. D. F., 310 Temple St., Springfield, Mass.

DYOLA DYES

16 fast, beautiful colors, 10c per package at dealers if not in stock, send us 10c stating color desired.

ONE DYE FOR ALL GOODS

Color card and book of directions free by writing Dy-o-la, Burlington, Vermont.

DYOLA DYES

RUBBER STAMPS Seals, Stencils, Badges, Trade Checks, etc. We are no farther from your home or office than the nearest phone or U.S. mail box. Agents wanted. Get catalog. Barnes-Manford Co.

National Correspondence Club. For Ladies and Gentlemen. Both results. Strictly confidential. Demand for Lady Correspondents. Send stamps for particulars. P.O. Box 1890, Spokane, Wash.

PATENTS FRANKLIN H. HOUGH, Washington, D. C. No Attorney's fees until patent is obtained. Write for Inventor's Guide.

W. N. U., CINCINNATI, NO. 1–1910.

CHEW AND SMOKE

MAIL POUCH TOBACCO

STANDARD FOR OVER 30 YEARS

WALTON DEPARTMENT.

D. B. WALLACE, Manager.

Hand your news items to Mr. D. B. Wallace at the Walton Equitable Bank and Trust Co.'s building. He is also authorized to receive subscriptions and collect other accounts.

A. W. Smith has gone to Sandford, Fla., for a two weeks' visit.

J. C. Hume and wife of Verona, were guests of friends here yesterday.

John T. Williford, of Ryle, Gallatin county, spent Thursday here on business.

Born, on the 26th inst., to Rev. and Mrs. Jno. E. Roberts, a nine pound son.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller spent Thursday in Cincinnati enjoying the holiday displays.

Born, to Robert Littrell and wife, of Beaver Lick, a daughter, Dec. 18th, Dr. J. G. Slater attending.

Wm. Galloway, the contractor and builder of Independence, spent a day here last week with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rice and family spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hogan, of Union.

Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Jones, of Louisville, spent the holidays here with her uncle, Ed Fullilove and wife.

Hon. J. G. Tomlin spent part of the past week in Covington on business pertaining to his law practice.

Miss Bessie Lee Rice will spend the remainder of the holidays with [illegible] Wm. Wilson, of Covington.

Dr. J. G. Slater was in Cincinnati a day last week taking in Master George Napier for an operation on the nose.

John Ransler sold a nice horse to Smiley & Co., of Lexington, last week through Chas. Best, getting $180 for the animal.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Green and daughter, Miss Louise, spent last Wednesday in Cincinnati and Covington with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Miller and daughter, Miss Lutie, and son Fred, attended the Aylor–Jones wedding at Landing, last Wednesday.

Leslie Jones, who attends the state college at Lexington, is at home here spending the holidays with his parents, Dr. A. N. Jones and wife.

Mrs. John Fink and little daughter and her mother, Mrs. John Grubba, enjoyed the pleasure of a visit to Santa Claus in Cincinnati, a day last week.

Mrs. James Stapleton and children enjoyed a delightful visit to her parents Mr. and Mrs. Mike Madden, of Bellevue, Newport, during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Northcutt left, Monday for French Lick Springs, Indiana, to take advantage of the recuperative powers of the waters of the springs.

Mr Mrs. J. J. Wilger, of Covington, have moved to Walton to the property of O. S. Watts. Mr. Wilger will run a wagon and sell merchandise in this neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Allen and two children of Landing, and Mr. and Mrs. Buford L. Allen and son, of Erlanger, spent part of the holidays here with G. M. Allen and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Vallandingham and two daughters have moved to Walton from Science Hill, Shelby county. Mr. Vallandingham is the telegraph operator at Kensington, and is a very clever gentleman.

Joseph McCormick, of Verona, spent Thursday here with friends. He has been filling the position of his brother, Will McCormick, as station agent at Verona the past week while the latter was enjoying a vacation.

S. W. Bevarly, the accommodating station agent of the L. and N. railroad of this place, has been on the sick list the past week with an effection of the eyes, and Emery Wilson of Bracht station has been filling his place.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Snedeker and daughter, Miss Grace, of Cincinnati, Iowa, spent part of last week with H. C. Redman and family. Mrs. Snedeker is a cousin of Mrs. Redman. The visitors left for California last week to make their home.

Mrs. Lora Wills, of Lima, Ohio, arrived here last Thursday on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Diers. Her husband has been here on a visit the past couple of weeks but expects to leave shortly for the west to take a position as engineer on a railroad there.

David Shelburn Buck, of Franklin, North Carolina, where he is engaged in the lumber business, Miss Fannie Mae Buck, who is teaching school in Hunter's Bottom, Carroll county, and Ernest Buck, who is attending school at Campbellsburg, spent the holidays here with their parents, Rev. and Mrs. D. T. Buck.

The patrons and friends of the telephone company remembered Miss Graham Roberts, the popular day operator, with 33 presents and Miss Maud Stilley, the accommodating and clever night operator, with a number of presents. The Grant county telephone company gave their operators a six per cent increase in salary as a present.

John Ratcliff, who left Crittenden, about 26 years ago and located in Kansas, spent the past week in this locality visiting old friends and relatives. He is the president of the Cunningham State Bank at Cunningham, Kingman county, Kansas, and has prospered exceedingly in his western home. Mr. Ratcliff came home with B. V. Meyers and wife, who have been in Kansas on account of Mr. Meyers' health, and he being quite feeble Mr. Ratcliff assisted him home to Crittenden.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hedges received a nice present from their son C. C. Hedges who is attending Cornell College at Ithaca, New York, where he also instructs a part of the time, being in the department of chemistry. He and his wife regret they could not be home here with their relatives. Prof. Hedges recently refused a position of $1,200 per year with the Diamond Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, in their chemical department, preferring to remain at Cornell and complete his studies.

Mrs. Edward M. Caldwell, of Hinton, Scott county, spent part of the past week here the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Doubman. Mrs. Caldwell had been in Cincinnati arraging to bring suit against the Cincinnati Southern railroad company for $30,000 damages, alleged to have been sustained by the death of her husband a couple of years ago, by a head on collision near Mason, Ky. Her attorney had been, Frank Tracy, who has recently been elected Circuit judge of Kenton county and consequently had to withdraw from the case, and Mrs. Caldwell then employed, Clore, Dickerson and Clayton, attorneys of Cincinnati. The case is to be called in the Grant circuit court, at Williamstown, February 9th, 1910.

In memory of L. C. Morris, who died Nov. 9th, 1909, aged 48 years. He has gone from his dear ones, his wife he so willingly toiled for and loved as his life. Oh, God; how mysterious and how strange are Thy ways to take from us this loved one in the best of his days Farewell dear, but not forever, there will be a glorious dawn, when we shall meet never to part. Tho thy darling form lies sleeping in the cold and silent tomb, thou shalt have a glorious waking, when the blessed Lord doth come.

His loving wife, Addie Morris.

The Walton Sunday schools celebrated the occasion with beautiful exercises Christmas eve. The Sunday schools of the M. E. church and the Christian church held their exercises together at the Christian church and the children rendered a very entertaining and attractive program. Rev. Campbell, pastor of the M. E. church, delivered a beautiful and appropriate address, and then Bro. J. D. Daubman of the Christian church very attractively dressed as old Santa Claus, distributed the presents from a heavily ladened Christmas tree, there being an unusually large number, and a delightful evening was enjoyed by all in attendance. The members of the Baptist church had a fine entertainment and a big Christmas from which Santa Claus, represented by A. K. Johnson, distributed a large number of presents and 180 bags of nuts and confections and fruits, the largest number ever distributed by the Baptist Sunday school. The tree was beautifully decorated with evergreens. Santa Claus presented Miss Mayme Northcutt with a $10 gold piece as a slight token of the high appreciation of the Sunday school and church for her services as organist. The entire affair was splendidly managed by Assistant Supt. Wayne Byland, Secretary Wilmot Kinsiear, Mrs. H. W. Nelson, Misses Mabel Powers, Sallie Allen and Mayme Northcutt.

Frank Rhodess Buck and Miss Elizabeth Borham, of Chicago, were united in the bonds of holy wedlock at the Grand Hotel, Cincinnati, Wednesday, December 22, the father of the groom Rev. D. T. Buck, of the Christian church, performing the ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and friends. Mr. Buck is a prosperous lumber man, of Chicago, where he met his fbride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace J. Borham. of Wisconsin. Following the wedding ceremony the wedding party enjoyed a supper at the Grand Hotel, and then came to Walton to spend a few days with the groom's parents, who on Thursday entertained with an elegant dining in honor of the bride and grocm, the guests being the relatives and a few intimate friends, those present being Mr. and Mrs J. D Mayhugh, Rev. and Mrs. D. T. Buck, Miss Harriet Boreham, of Wisconsin, a sister of the bride, D. Shelburn Buck, of Franklin, North Carolina, Ernest Buck, Miss Fannie Mae Buck, D.B. Wallace, and the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Buck. The dinner was truly a wedding feast, and was enjoyed with that hearty good cheer that should characterize an event of this kind. After dinner social conversation and music on the violin, piano and cornet by Frank Buck, Miss Fannie Mae Buck, Ernest Buck, and Mr. and Mrs. Mayhugh, were very pleasing feature. The young couple returned to Chicago, Sunday night. The best of good wishes for their happiness and prosperity is tendered Mr. and Mrs. Buck by their many friends.

The St. Louis Republic says: "Joseph Rist of 1708 Olive street, is confident he has solved the river transportation problem. He has invented a steamboat which he says, will carry 5,000 tons and over in four feet of water. The new boat will, he says, relegate the present steamboat to the ash heap. It will draw only two feet of water unburdened. The boat will be constructed of steel and iron. A patent has been applied for. A model of the newest thing in steamboats is on exhibition in a vacant store at Fifteenth and Pine streets. It is as different from the steamboat now plying the Mississippi as the difference between an aeroplane and a gas balloon. The model is of tin and is representative of a boat 500 feet long and fifty feet beam. It is constructed in sections and can be lengthened or shortened at will. The engines control three different sets of paddles. The objects of the sections are many. Large consignments can be stored in a single section and instead of delaying the boat at ports along the route where these consignments are to be delivered, a simple operation cuts loose the section and the steamer plows on its course. Further along the line the boat can take on a similar loaded section within a few minutes time. In case of conflagration passengers can leisurely stroll to an end section and cut loose from the trouble. The paddles are so arranged that they can be raised and lowered as desired in shallow or deep water. This feature, combined with the sectional idea solves the snag and sandbar difficulty. If struck on a sandbar, the boat can be parted, thus easily freeing itself of the obstruction. If wedged hopelessly in the saud, the section which is pinched can be abandoned. Mr. Rist is 63 years old and an iron molder. Several influential foundry men are confident he will have no trouble in raising the necessary funds to launch his project. So far as the model is concerned, Mr. Rist's invention looks practical to river-men."

FARMS FOR SALE!

We have the following farms for sale These farms have been bought by us for the standing timber. We have no use for the farms and will sell them on easy payments.

FARM NO. 1.

120 acres, 1-2 mile from Morris, 3 miles from Batesville on a free gravel road pike. Bell Independent Telephone passes place, R. F. D. mail passes place, 1-2 mile from public school and churches. One 14-room brick house, slate roof, all rooms fresh painted, cellar under whole house, brick out buildings, an orchard containing 80 fruit trees, good vineyard, one large cattle barn, 36x80, one horse barn, 36x80, a large granery and tool house at lin good condition. Land is all level with good drainage, 14 acres standing timber, 35 acres on which timber was removed the pas tthree years is now in good pasture, balance of land in cultivation. The buildings on this farm could not be replaced for $20,000.00. There has been harvested this year 30 bushels of wheat to an acre and 50 bushels of corn to an acre. Our price on this farm is $9,500.00.

FARM NO. 2.

147 acres, 5 miles from Newport, Ind., 2 miles from Enochburg 6 1-2 miles from Batesville, Ind. One 5-room frame house, a large barn, granery and tool house. This land is rolling, a self-binder was used on every part of the land, 25 acres of good creek bottoh, 60 acres now in standing timber, 30 acres wheat sown and in good condition. This farm will raise good tobacco, corn and wheat.

Our price on this farm is $4,000 and we reserve all standing timber over 15 inches on stump 18 inches from ground.

FARM NO. 3.

151 acres, lays 3-4 mile from Haymond, Ind., which has a public school, Catholic church and M. E church. Four and a half miles from Morris, a railroad station. A 3-room frame house and good barn and granery. This land is rolling [illegible] has been under cultivation, some bottom ground, good fences around entire farm. Sixty acres standing timber. This farm will make a good tobacco farm and will raise wheat and corn. Our price is $3,500.

FARM NO. 4

500 acres, 4 miles from Metamora, 6 miles from Brookville, county seat of Franklin county. This farm is rolling land, 250 acres new ground on which timber has been removed three years. Three large tobacco barns, 3 good frame dwelling houses and other buildings. There was two crops of tobacco raised on this farm the past two years, quality and quantity was first class. If you are interested in this farm write us and we will give you additional information.

We expect to sell all of the above farms within the next 30 days We will furnish abstract showing clear title and can give possession of any of the above farms. Our terms are 1-4 cash, balance ten yearly payments, secured by mortgage with 6 per cent interest. Batesville is located on the Chicago Division of the C. C. C. & St. L. railroad, 50 miles from Cincinnati, O., and 60 miles from Indianapolis, Ind. Call on us and we will show you these farms or write us.

THE HILLENBRAND CO.
Batesville, Ind.

"$2,000.00"

Mr. Luther Guthrie, of Beaufort, N. C. spent money freely in employing doctors to cure his wife from continual headache. He writes:

"One bottle of Cardui did my wife more good than anything she has taken for ten years past. She had suffered with headache for ten years and I had spent $300.00 for doctors' bills for her, but nothing did her any good.

Take CARDUI

She has taken two bottles of Cardui and it has done her two thousand dollars ($2,000) worth of good. Just as long as it is made, I shall have Cardui in my home."

For all forms of female pain, like headache, side ache, pain in limbs, dizzy feelings, dragging down sensations, etc —Cardui has been found to be an effectual remedy. Don't wait till you are "all run down." Try Cardui at once. Sold everywhere.

E 46

Now is the time to Buy a

Piano for Christmas.

We will Save you $100.00 on a strictly

High Grade Piano or Player Piano.

THE TONE, QUALITY AND DURABILITY OF OUR PIANOS CANNOT BE EXCELLED ANYWHERE.

Cash or Easy Payments. Large Stock to Select from

When in Covington call in and see us.

Ben J. Wagner Company,

NO. 82 PIKE STREET,

COVINGTON, - KENTUCKY.

Watch Values at Motch's

Is a generally accepted fact made positive by a long Established record. The principal reason is this—we sell our Watches under a Guarantee of reliability and accuracy that protects the buyer absolutely—and we show you over 500 watches to

MAKE YOUR SELECTION FROM.

FOR THE LADIES.		FOR THE GENTLEMEN.
LADIES' SOLID GOLD Watches, plain and engraved	$16 up	GENTLEMEN'S WATCHES Solid Gold from.....	$30 up
LADIES' SOLID GOLD Watches, set with diamonds	$25 up	GENTLEMEN'S "Very Thin" open face Elgin or Waltham	$15 up
LADIES' GOLD FILLED Watches, Elgin movement	$10 up	GENTLEMEN'S Gold filled Watches, any mov. you want	$8 up
LADIES' 25-yr CASE, fitted with our "Motch Special" mo	$14 up	GENTLEMEN'S Nickle Watches.....	$1 up

BEST WATCH OFFERED AT ANYWHERE NEAR THE PRICE.

MOTCH, THE JEWELER,

613 Madison Avenue, - Covington, Kentucky.

W. A. PRICE, President. E. H. BLANKENBEKER, Vice-President.
S. L. WEBB, Cashier.

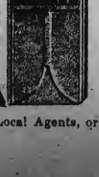
Erlanger Deposit Bank

Incorporated--I. D. 1893.

Erlanger, Kentucky.

Capital, $50.000. Surplus, $10.000.

Undivided Profits, $5,000.



Although located just over the line in Kenton-co., still this Institution is a Boone county product. The organizers were all Boone county people, a majority of its board of directors are Boone county people. 80 per cent of the stock is owned by Boone county citizens, and it is patronized and maintained by her people. Courteous treatment is accorded to all, and your business, large or small, is solicited, which shall have our careful attention. You are always welcome when passing this way. STOP AND SEE Us.

We pay 3 per cent Interest on Time Deposits.

FINE DRIVING SNOW CANNOT PENETRATE

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

THIS is only one of the advantages of these shingles.

They're fireproof, windproof, make the handsomest kind of a roof, and when they are once on they're there to stay, for "Cortright Metal Shingles" last as long at the building itself.

No trouble, no care; a coat of paint once every five years is all the attention they need.

Yes, they're cheap, quite cheap, considering their advantages, and we're sure you'll be more than satisfied with them from the minute you see them on your roof.

Local Agents, or Riley & Gaar, General Agents, Bullittsville, Ky.

Warning to Hunters.

Any person or persons trespassing or hunting with dog or guns on the lands of the undersigned will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

WALTON PRECINCT.

W. H. Senour	W. F. Dixon
G. W. Taylor	M. E. Fields
G. E. Carroll	Bryant Campbell
J. C. Byland	Mrs Jane Kennedy
J. C. Mayhugh	A. R. Johnson
Robt. Chambers	L. S. Wolfe
Ira Aylor	S. C. Hicks
Batty Long	J. S. West
Lawrence Ryan	Clay Baker
S. Taylor	John Mardis
S. M. Hudson	R O Hughes
Theo. Kennedy	Martha C. Hudson
Ben Cleek	Rebecca J. Hudson
J. C Bedinger	Kate Hudson
John Goodridge	O. S. Glacken
J J Hudson	Geo W Ranson
Rev. Lafe Johnson farm.

BURLINGTON PRECINCT.

Mrs Elizabeth Utz	W L B Rouse
Oscar Gaines	Bart E Aylor
Clarence Easton	Karl Rouse
T. J. Walton.	Peter Buchart.
Hewitt Bros.	Chas. A. Gaines
Mrs. A. Harding.
Minerva Weaver.

BELLEVIEW PRECINCT.

Julia Dinsmore

BULLITTSVILLE PRECINCT.

Mrs Mary Gaines	John W Clore
Elbert Rouse	Huey Aylor
Jeff D Cloud	Harvey Aylor
H L McGlasson	Ben Paddock
R O McGlasson	C E Clore
E J Aylor	Chester Hood

UNION PRECINCT.

E L Rouse	W H Wilson
Jas Delshannty	H F Utz

PETERSBURG PRECINCT.

F M Voshell	C L Voshell

HAMILTON PRECINCT.

R. Lee Huey

C. H. ACRA,
AUCTIONEER
GRANT, KY.

Your Patronage solicited

STALLION FOR SALE.

Bay Stallion, Five years old, 16 hands high, sired by Addington. W. G. Riddell, Hebron, Ky.